The Government of Pakistan greatly appreciate the assurances contained in para 5 of the Government of India's Note, in particular that the Act would be enforced only against persons who were clearly established to be new and undesirable immigrants and that as regards other cases the matter would be carefully considered at the highest level before any action was taken under the Act and that the persons affected would be given the fullest opportunity to defend themselves.

The Government of Pakistan regret, however, to note that the Government of India consider that no useful purpose would be served by holding a conference now at Minister level to discuss this matter. The Government of Pakistan, on the other hand, feel that even if the Government of India should find themselves unable to annul the Immigrants (Expulsion from Assam) Act, such a conference would be highly desirable inasmuch as it would enable the Governments of India and Pakistan to evolve, with the consent of the Governments of Assam and East Bengal, a mutually satisfactory procedure to ensure that the application of this discriminatory piece of legislation is confined to cases of only such Muslims in Assam whose stay in that state is proved to be "detrimental to the interests of India" and not misused to enforce the "Line System" or keep out of Assam any of the unfortunate Muslim victims of the recent disturbances or against those Muslims who entered that state prior to Partition but whom the Assam Government regard as merely "squatters", although they are clearly Indian citizens under the Indian Constitution.

The Pakistan High Commission take the opportunity to renew to the Government of India the assurances of their highest consideration.

Letter from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Deputy Prime Minister Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel.

New Delhi October 1, 1950

My dear Vallabhbhai,

You wrote to me about new Muslim immigrants going to Assam from East Bengal*. I mentioned this matter in Cabinet Yesterday. We have, I believe, drawn the attention of the East Bengal Government to this and we should endeavour to discourage this entry. It is not clear, however, how we can do so effectively. There is no permit system and people can travel freely either way. Of course, any such persons who come to Assam have to be considered quite separately form returning migrants. The Assam Government has no responsibility for them of any type and there are not many ways that they can adopt to discourage them. The number involved thus far does not appear to be very big, and, according to the papers you sent me, the actual figure was one hundred twenty on a certain day. Normally, there are these movements of people searching for employment.

I have been informed that on an average two hundred Muslims are going back to Western Pakistan from India daily via the Sind border. These people are going without permits and without any facilities being given to them.

Yours

Jawaharlal

On 29th September, Patel sent a report based on a sample checking undertaken at the main entry points into Assam which showed that 1,428 Muslims had entered Assam from East Bengal on 13 September. The percentage of new entrants was between fifteen and twenty, less than half of which represented permanent settlers. Patel suggested that either Pakistan be asked to stop the migration or the Assam Government be advised to send back the new immigrants.
Letter from Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

New Delhi, October 3, 1950.

No. 41 (30) CORD/50 Karachi, October 3, 1950.

My dear Pandit Nehru,

I received your letter no.1329-PM dated 12th September, 1950 (Document No.3066.) while on tour and could not therefore reply to it earlier. I deal below with the points raised in the various Paragraphs of the letter.

PARA 2

The joint tours of the two Central Ministers have undoubtedly done a great deal of good. They have helped to restore courage and confidence in the minority communities and have brought I believe consciousness of their duty towards the minorities among the majority communities. Unfortunately, due to the hostility of a large section of West Bengal Hindus to the Delhi Agreement and the difficulties which this has created for the West Bengal Government, the joint tours have not been as beneficial in West Bengal as they have been in East Bengal, where there is great public support for the policy and principles embodied in the Agreement. To give you an idea of the conditions prevailing in parts of West Bengal, I enclosed a copy of letter (annexure I (not enclosed here)) received by me from Dr. Malik a few days ago regarding the joint tour of Bankura Distt., by the two Central Ministers during the last month. I am informed that a copy of the letter has been sent to Mr. Biswas. As regards the treatment of individual cases, I shall deal with this in my remarks under para 6, where you have reverted to it again.

PARA 3

I regret to find that Mr. Biswas has given you an erroneous impression regarding Dr. Malik’s availability for joint consultations. In the first place, it is not correct that Dr. Malik has no office at Dacca. He set up an office immediately after reaching there in May, 1950, but the accommodation was not adequate. The lack of accommodation in Dacca is exceedingly acute and it is not surprising, that suitable accommodation could only be found after some time. Secondly, the impression about Dr. Malik’s frequent visits to Karachi is also not correct. Since he left Karachi on 16th May for his new duties, he has visited Karachi on three occasions (not, of course, including the four- day visit made by him in the company of Mr. Biswar). On the other hand, he has visited Calcutta on fourteen occasions. In the circumstances, it is not fair to say that he has not been available for joint consultation with Mr. Biswas whenever wanted. Dr. Malik does not recollect any occasion which Mr. Biswas had expressed a desire for a joint consultations which he has not been able to fulfil.

Again, the statement that Provincial Minority Commissions and District Minority Boards do not appear to be functioning satisfactorily in East Bengal is not supported by facts. Dr. Malik has sent to Mr. Biswas a statement showing the number of meetings held in various districts in East Bengal. The Provincial Minority Commission has held 7 meetings since the Agreement and although the number of meetings of each District Minority Board is not as high as this, I am informed that in addition to the formal meetings, a considerable number of informal meetings were held. The real difficulty has been the non-attendance of the members of the minority community. Some members who persistently failed to attend meetings have had to be replaced by others. On the other hand, Dr. Malik is still awaiting a list of meetings in West Bengal and Assam. He is not aware of any District Minority Boards having been set up in Assam and even the Provincial Minority Commission in Assam was appointed only recently. According to his information, no meetings have been held in some districts in West Bengal. My instructions to the East Bengal Government are that the Commission and Boards should be made to function as effective instruments for the implementation of the agreement and I have again emphasized this. I hope you will issue similar instructions to West Bengal and Assam. I am particularly worried about West Bengal in parts of which according to my information the minority community is so demoralized that it does not dare even to make complaints for fear of the consequences which usually follow such action on their part.

I agree with you that the two Central Ministers should make larger use of their powers of making joint recommendations and the Provincial Governments concerned should normally give effect to these recommendations. I have asked Dr. Malik to act accordingly. I hope you will ask Mr. Biswas in similar terms. At the time when there were differences over the interpretation of clauses B (v) and B (vi) of the Agreement relating to restoration of properties and establishment of Trust Committees, Mr. Biswas agreed with Dr. Malik as to the correct interpretation of on a number of occasions, but could not see his way to make a written joint recommendation, perhaps in view of the known opposition of the West Bengal Government to that interpretation. Recently, however a joint recommendation affecting proposed legislation for the establishment of Trust Committees has been made by the two Central Ministers. I hope the West Bengal Government will accept it.
I am afraid the suggestion that the Central Ministers might communicate direct with the Provincial Government of the other State would create complications and would not help to expedite matters. The Provincial Governments concerned communicate direct with each other both at the Secretariat level and at the Ministerial level. The two Central Ministers also correspond with each other and with the Governments of their own Provinces or States. In fact, some confusion is already being caused by the same case being referred through different channels e.g. from your office in Delhi to mine in Karachi, from Mr. Biswas to Dr. Malik and from the West Bengal Government to East Bengal Government. To mind the really important thing is that the machinery of the Provincial Governments should function effectively and we should avoid cluttering it up with too much paper work.

I agree with you that Central Ministers should not lose themselves in a morass of individual cases. Unless they leave themselves free to deal with the general aspects of the situation, they would lose their usefulness a great deal. Occasionally and in exceptional circumstances, they might attend to individual cases. Unfortunately, Mr. Biswas has ignored this and has referred a very large number of individual cases to Dr. Malik - sometimes at the rate of 15 to 27 separate letters per day each dealing with an individual case. The investigation of these cases has necessarily to be done in the districts by the authorities concerned and this process inevitably takes time. I am assured, however, that each individual case is being attended to. Although the well-known difficulties of communication in East Bengal might mean some delay in a reply reaching Mr. Biswas, it does not mean that no attention has been paid to the case.

Dr. Malik is replying direct to the letter which Mr. Biswas has written to him. There are, however, one or two aspects to which I should like to draw your attention.

I think it was unfortunate that Mr. Biswas did not discuss his proposed press statement on the Bakarganj visit with Dr. Malik before he issued it for publication. Dr. Malik tells me that Mr. Biswas did not thrash out his doubts and apprehensions with him after the tour, nor did he put forward and discuss any proposals he might have had in his mind. Instead he went and made certain very controversial points in the statement issued by him to the press in Calcutta. Dr. Malik informs me that though he took Mr. Biswas to every place he desired to visit in the District and arranged for him private interviews with everyone of the minority leaders he wanted to see and what is more put before him for cross-examination or questioning every administrative officer available in the district. Mr. Biswas not only did not reveal his impressions frankly to him during the visit but left him to read them for the first time in the newspapers. As might have been expected, Mr. Biswas's statement was at once seized upon by the hostile West Bengal press. Dr. Malik was therefore left with no course but to issue a statement to the press to correct the wrong impression created by Mr. Biswas's statement. You will no doubt have got a copy of Mr. Biswa's Press statement. I enclose a copy of Dr. Malik's Press statement (Annexure II- (not included here)).

You have referred to the reports you are getting not only about Bakarganj but about other districts of East Bengal giving instances of widespread lawlessness, decoities, molestation of women, etc. If these reports were correct, I would myself be greatly distressed. The first concern of any Government is to see that law and order is maintained and it would be utterly failing in its duty if it allowed a state of general lawlessness to arise and continue. But the truth is far from what the reports you have received have led you to imagine. The real trouble is that a powerful and unscrupulous Press fed and supported by a large section of West Bengal Hindus who are determined to create and exploit communal unrest in this area have so maligned East Bengal that people are inclined to believe anything about it. Speaking with a full sense of responsibility I can say that in the maintenance of law and order, East Bengal compares favourable with West Bengal, Assam and any other States in India. To give you an Idea of the highly exaggerated and wrong reports circulated about East Bengal, I enclose a summary (Annexure III- (not included here)) of the enquiries recently made by the East Bengal Government in to allegations made by the West Bengal Government. You will see that only about 5% of the complaints have been found to be true.

I have personally looked into this question of crime in East Bengal and the extent to which Hindus are its victims. I find that in comparison with pre-partition days there has been some increase in crime in a number of districts. In other districts, on the other hand, the position has either remained stationary or has improved. Both Hindus and Muslims continue to be victims of crime and the proportion of crime against Muslims has gone up, in others that against Hindus has increased. One feature which stands out is that the stories about molestation of women are wild exaggerations of the actual facts. The crimes against women show no perceptible increase during the last three year in so far as Hindus are concerned. In fact the number of crimes against Muslim women is much higher than the population ratio would warrant. As you would yourself realize there is a certain level of crime in every society depending upon a number of social economic and cultural factors. This does not, however, mean that we should be content with the position as it is. We are determined to put down crime with a firm hand although it would be unrealistic to expect that we would succeed in extirpating it entirely.

I have the deepest sympathy with those unfortunate people who have suffered during the disturbances and I have asked the East Bengal Government to give them all the relief that is possible either as grants or as loans for re-building houses and setting up work. Unfortunately, the very limited financial resources of East Bengal which have been further severely stained by those migrations are not adequate for giving relief on the scale we would like to give. We are supplementing these resources by assistance from the Centre and I have exhorted the East Bengal Government to pay particular attention to relief for the minority community. Maintenance grants will also be given where necessary.

I am informed that a bigger grant is being given for the Relief and Rehabilitation Organization in Bakarganj district. If it is found to be inadequate, I shall have it augmented further.

PARA 9 & 10

I have already referred to the great importance I attach to the maintenance of law and order not only in Bakarganj but every other district. Bakarganj district does present some special problems. The incidence of crime in this district has always been high. Due to lack of communications it is not very easy to reach each part of the district quickly and therefore control of law and order presents unusual difficulties. The disturbances in this district arose as a result of the passions aroused by news of communal riots in Calcutta and Howrah. Great mischief was done by rumour that Maulvi Fazlul Haq and his son had been murdered. However, the district authorities acted with great energy and soon brought the situation under control. You will see from the press statement issued by Dr. Malik (Annexure II) what action has already been taken and is being taken. In addition to what is stated in Dr. Malik’s Press statement, I am told by the East Bengal Government that contrary to the belief in West Bengal, bail was refused in the first few months in a great majority of cases arising out of the disturbances even though normally bail would have been admissible. A large number of arrests including one of the most important political figures in the districts have been made. Enquiries are still going on and so is the search for sufficient evidence to enable action to be taken against those guilty. All who are found guilty will be duly punished. I have asked the East Bengal Government to give publicity to the punishments inflicted.

As regards cases of detention, I am informed that excluding 10 confirmed communists twelve Hindus were arrested under the Bengal Special Power Ordinance since the disturbances in Bakarganj district in February 1950. Three were released and in two cases conditional release orders have been issued already. The other cases will also come for quarterly review shortly. I understand that the detention of these persons have nothing to do with communal affairs. They have been detained on account of activities subversive to the State and in such matters security of the State as you will agree, is the guiding consideration.

I am convinced that in spite of the difficulties and disappointments that may be felt in both our countries, the course that we have set for ourselves in entering upon this agreement is the right course in which we must persist. On the whole, I feel encouraged by the measure of success we have had so far.

Your sincerely,

Sd/- Liaqual Ali Khan

The Hon’ble Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru,
Prime Minister of India.
New Delhi.

3070. Letter of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to President Dr. Rajendra Prasad.

New Delhi, October 23, 1950.

My dear Rajendra Babu,

As you are going to Assam, I might mention one matter which might be raised there. The Chief Minister has been writing to us about Muslims, other than returning migrants, coming to Assam from East Bengal. He is greatly worried about it and wanted us to introduce the permit system. We have deliberately avoided having this system in the East because we have all along felt that this would be harmful to our interests and to the interests of the large numbers of Hindus in East Pakistan. At the present moment more especially, the flow of returning Hindu migrants to East Pakistan is great. You might be interested in a week's figures of the movements of Hindus and Muslims between East and West Bengal. They are as follows:
We cannot and should not do anything to interfere with this gradual return to normality. The West Bengal Government would be strongly opposed to it. It is clear that we cannot have a permit system just for Assam only. It will have to spread to West Bengal also. It would mean a complete upsetting of all the processes that are going on now, which are, on the whole, to our advantage. It would mean also a charge by Pakistan that we are violating our Agreement, and that there would be some justification for that charge.

A Cabinet Committee considered this matter today and was very definitely and strongly of opinion that we should not have this permit system in the East. They were further of opinion that action should not be taken under the Undesirable Immigrants Act.

As a matter of fact, the Chief Minister of Assam is some what needlessly alarmed. The actual figures that he himself gives, or that our Intelligence supplies, are relatively small in numbers. Some kind of movement always takes place between two countries. In any event it is better to watch developments than to do anything to impede them at present.

I am writing to you, as it is quite possible that the Chief Minister might mention this matter to you. I enclose a copy of my letter to him. (not included here)

Yours sincerely,

Jawaharlal Nehru

3071. Summary of the Reports of the Commissions of Enquiry set up in (1) West Bengal and (2) Assam, to enquire into the communal disturbances which took place early in 1950.

The Commission of Inquiry of West Bengal set up under the Indo-Pakistan Agreement in its report published today rejects compulsory or forced exchange of population as a means of solving the minority problem and make positive recommendations for a lasting solution of the communal problem based on wholehearted cooperation between India and Pakistan.

The Commission has recommended the setting up of a permanent organization, called the Indo-Pakistan Commonwealth, to deal with problems of common concern between the two States in respect of (a) trade and commerce, (b) customs, (c) currency, (d) human relations, and providing for an arbitral organization for settling disputes relating to any of these subjects. The Commission is of the opinion that Indo-Pakistan cooperation in mutual trade and commerce is essential for peace and order in both the States. A political partition, it says cannot sever all economic relations which have grown through a period of centuries and any attempt to create economic separation is bound to cause, as it has done, great discontent and bitterness of feelings between Hindus and Muslims, both in India and Pakistan.

The organization envisaged by the Commission will ensure a well regulated and uniform control and direction of trade between the two countries. The subsidiary suggestions in this connection are:

(a) Formation of a customs union between India and Pakistan which will formulate customs policies and regulate their execution for mutual benefit.
(b) A rupee block for the Indo-Pakistan Commonwealth with stable and dependable parity of rates of exchange on which could be built economic peace and stability;
(c) Provision for travel and transit, intellectual and cultural cooperation, including scientific research and system of education in either country, so that citizen may be trained not in the way of hatred and rivalry as against one state or the other;
(d) High power machinery, for prevention and control of riots and disturbances; and
(e) Setting up an arbitral organization with a permanent panel of members in either State to which may be referred any Indo-Pakistan disputes.

The Commission points out that the Indian Constitution secures for the minorities in India: (i) linguistic guarantee; (ii) religious guarantee; (iii) educational guarantee, and (iv) cultural guarantee.

The Objective Resolution adopted by the Pakistan Constitution Assembly, however, the Commission adds, has given the impression to the Hindus of West Bengal that Pakistan is an Islamic theocracy where Hindus or non-Islamic people have no guarantee of the human rights. Confidence can be restored, panic allayed, and a constant irritation and the cause of ill-feeling between Hindus and Muslims can be removed by a proper modification of the Objectives Resolution.

The Commission rejects the suggestion for communal representation in public services and recommends that growth of communal parties should be avoided. It adds that education should have the overall objective of highlighting common interests and that every attempt to play off one community against another should be discouraged.

Referring to the actual incidents which took place during the recent disturbances, the commission recommends that those who are found guilty of offences against persons and property especially those who are guilty of any crimes towards women and children, should be given the most exemplary and deterrent punishments. All the cases arising out the disturbances should be speedily tried in special courts as contemplated in the Indo-Pakistan Agreement. Where police officers or others in the services have failed to discharge their duties, they should be adequately dealt with and those who had done good work should receive public recognition. While the Commission is opposed to the imposition of collective fines, they strongly urge that those who suffered in the disturbance should be given compensation.

The Commission, it may be recalled, was set up under the Indo-Pakistan Agreement of April 8, 1950 to inquire into the causes and extent of disturbances in West Bengal and to make recommendations with a view to preventing recrudescence of similar trouble in future. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Prasanta Bihari Mukherji, Judge of the Calcutta High Court was the President of the Commission and Sri Abany C. Bannerjee and Janeb M.A. Haque, were the members. The Commission held its inaugural sitting on June 3, 1950. It received altogether 45,325 representations from different sources including thousands of representations from the Muslim Relief Society, Khilafat Committee and Jamiat-ul-Ulema and a number of individuals from the minority community. They examined 394 witnesses. The Commission, in addition to oral evidence, also inspected some of the areas in West Bengal affected by the disturbances. The Commission has recorded that the best presentation of the Muslim minority case, whether written or oral, came from the Hindus. The Commission has also recorded its appreciation of the numerous incidents brought to its notice where members of the majority community protected, gave shelter or otherwise helped the Muslim minority in distress and in certain cases even at the risk of their lives.

The Commission has recorded that no case of abduction, rape or conversion during the recent disturbances was proved before the Commission. Allegations were made in the representations, submitted to the Commission of four such cases but none of them was substantiated.

The Commission, in another chapter, goes into the causes of the disturbances and points out that the immediate cause of the recent disturbances in West Bengal was the report of atrocities on the Hindu minority in Eastern Pakistan at Bagerhat and Khulna. Among the historic causes the Commission refers to the communal policy followed by the British, including communal electorates, representation in services and encouragement to communal parties. It further refers to the economic political and psychological problems arising out of the partition as having contributed to the disturbances. There was no evidence of any single incident of a communal nature throughout West Bengal in 1949, even though there were economic difficulties between India and Eastern Pakistan in respect of jute, coal, customs restrictions and devaluation of currency. "It was only after the refugees started coming in from Eastern Pakistan, it was only after the people in West Bengal heard from such refugees the tales of oppression and persecution, and it was only after sections of the press had given unrestrained publicity in respect of such atrocities in Eastern Pakistan that the disturbances broke out in West Bengal."

A large section of the people in West Bengal, according to the Commission seemed to discern a design and pattern to drive away Hindus from Pakistan. It says: "People in the State felt that the whole policy of Pakistan has been one of gradually squeezing out of all Hindu minority in Eastern Pakistan: the First phase was the creation of psychological insecurity which drove out the intellectual and middleclass Hindus and when that did not succeed in eliminating the lower middle classes and those who depended on soil, physical oppression was resorted to and its first experiment was in the border areas of Bagerhat and Khulna".

In coming to the conclusion that the causes of the recent disturbances were political and not religious, the Commission says that the disturbances were caused by the consideration in the minds of the people of West Bengal that the Hindus in East Bengal were denied human rights by the Eastern Pakistan Government. Most Hindus of East Bengal have many of their closest kinsmen by marriage among the Hindus of West Bengal. For any proper assessment of the situation, that fact of the close interdependence, family social and economic, between the two Bengals cannot be ignored.
Assam Report

A separate Commission of Enquiry presided over by Mr. Justice Prasants Bihari Mukhorji, which was set up to enquire into the disturbances in Assam also ascribes the causes of the riots in that State to political economic, cultural, ethnological and historical factors and discounts any religious motives. Mr. Justice Mukherji was assisted by Maulvi Faiznur Ali, M.P. and Shri Kamakhya Ram Barooah. The Commission started work on July 14, 1950, and completed hearing of evidence and tours of inspection by November 21, 1950.

The total number of representations made before the commission was 2,484. In the whole State of Assam 125 Muslims and 22 Hindus were killed during the disturbances, the Commission observes in the course of its report. More than 90 per cent of the Muslims who evacuated have already returned to Assam. Except in a few places in Goalpara District, the victims of the disturbances in the whole State were mostly immigrant Muslims. The main drive of the disturbances, it is noticed, was against the Muslim immigrants and not against the indigenous Muslims of the State.

In fact it was reported to the Commission that in some cases indigenous Muslims combined with non-Muslim against the Muslim immigrants, especially at Gaikhnow within Goalakganj Police Station.

Referring to the causes of the disturbances, the Commission says that the most important event in the Assam during the last 45 years has been the invasion by a vast horde of Muslim immigrants from the Districts of East Pakistan, in particular from the District of Mymensingh. This "Invasion" which began some time before 1911, continued even after the partition of India and Muslim immigrants were coming even in 1948 and 1949. Naturally such a vast migration of Muslim population from East Pakistan led to many conflicts and struggles in the economic sphere. This antipathy has been a powerful cause of the disturbances in Assam.

The arrival of a large number of refugees from East Pakistan to Assam and the accounts narrated by them of the atrocities committed against them, the Commission adds, crated a feeling of resentment in the minds of the people of Assam against the Muslims.

The recommendations of the Commission "to prevent recrudescence of similar trouble in future" are on identical lines with those suggested by the Commission of Enquiry for West Bengal.

New Delhi, January 12, 1952.

Prime Minister India

New Delhi, January 12, 1952

My dear Prime Minister,

I have been thinking for some time of writing to you on one or two points arising out of the Prime Ministers' Agreement of April 1950 and the Annexure to the Agreement of August 1950. Since I have been extremely preoccupied with the general elections in India, I could not do so earlier.

Section C(5) of the April Agreement provides that our two Governments shall not recognize forced conversions. Paragraph 4 in Section II of the August Annexure provides "that the two Central Ministers should examine the question of whether any additional powers were necessary to deal with such cases (cases of abducted women with a view to their recovery and restoration) and in particular whether for the purpose of recovery and custody the definition of an 'abducted woman' should be farmed on the model of the "Punjab Acts". I regret to have to say that more than two years have elapsed but the two Central Ministers have not yet been able to come to an agreement on these two important points or even to finish their discussions. I have asked our Central Minister Shri C. C. Biswas to conclude discussions without delay and I shall be grateful if you will also be good enough to write to your Central Minister emphasizing the necessity of expedition in this matter. It is matter of particular regret to me that in the absence of special legislation, efforts to recover abducted women and to allow them to return to their relatives have been considerably handicapped.

Yours Sincerely

Jawaharlal Nehru
3073. Minutes of the discussion of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru with the Editors of newspapers in Calcutta.

Calcutta, October 18, 1952.

N.K. Ghosh: Newspaper in Calcutta are greatly handicapped by the joint press code. They cannot publish full accounts of oppressions of the Hindus in East Pakistan; whereas the press in East Pakistan carry all sorts of fabricated stories of wholesale massacre of Muslims in India, Particularly in West Bengal.

Jawaharlal Nehru: The impression that I have gathered is that the Calcutta newspapers are not following any particular code. In fact, they are only inciting the people. I do not ask you to suppress the truth, but even facts should be presented in a way that they assuage and not incite feelings. I have also noticed with some dismay a tendency of describing the entire population of a country as evil-doers and of condemning particular countries en bloc. For instance, Newspapers in USA regard Russians and Chinese as embodiment of evil. Similarly, communist countries consider Britain or the US as a devil incarnate. Because some people in Pakistan are behaving badly, it is all wrong to condemn the country as a whole.

C.K. Bhattacharya: This renewed exodus of the Hindus from East Pakistan is the outcome of the policy of denuding Pakistan of the Hindus. This policy is being persistently followed by Pakistan ever since she came into being.

J.N.: I do not know what is Pakistan's Policy, but it is a fact that the Hindus are migrating in large numbers from East Pakistan. That is not disputed. The point is - what is the solution? Some people say that war is the only solution, I do not think so. A responsible person cannot think of a war without thinking of the consequences which follow a war. War does not solve a problem. We have seen in our life-time that only after a few years of the First World War, a second World war had to be fought, and today when the scars of the Second World War still remain to be healed up there is again talk of an impending third world war. If war is thrust on us by Pakistan, for example, if she attacks in Kashmir or any other part of India, we must fight that out and we are ready for it. But India will not go to war of her own volition, because she does not believe that any problem can be solved by war. Leaving principles apart, even from a commonsense point of view, India should not go to war with Pakistan. India is no doubt stronger than Pakistan - her industrial resources are larger and military strength greater. But she is not so overwhelmingly strong as to finish Pakistan as if by one single stroke or in a trice. In a war between India and Pakistan, India will win - I have not the slightest doubt on that point, but it will not be anything like the Hyderabad operation. Victory will be achieved after a lot of destruction and misery, and then new problems will arise out of them. Any sensible person must dismiss the idea of declaring war with Pakistan, or for that matter with any other country.

Two other alternatives have been suggested to me. One is exchange of population between East Bengal and West Bengal. Assuming that it was possible, I fail to see how that will solve the problem. West Bengal, even after driving all the Muslims away, will not have enough space to absorb all the Hindus coming from across the border. We shall then have to throw out the Muslims from Bihar and possibly from UP and other States also. If the entire Muslim population of India, nearly forty millions, are sent out, Pakistan will raise a claim for adequate territory to rehabilitate these Muslims.

Another suggestion has been made that India should ask for more territory from Pakistan for the Hindus who are now being squeezed out from there. Many of you are, perhaps, not aware that a constant migration of Muslims from India to West Pakistan through Rajasthan has been taking place for the last two years. On average, nearly five hundred Muslims are leaving India every day through various routes on the western border without any permit, passport or visa. Once we ask for more territory from Pakistan for resettling the Hindus, she, in her turn, will also put forward similar claim for territory from India for these Muslim migrants to West Pakistan.

M.N. Roy: Can we not apply economic sanctions against Pakistan? That course has been suggested by the united organization* of all political parties, excepting the Communists, in West Bengal.

J.N.: Yes. A copy of a resolution adopted in their meeting has been forwarded to me. Of course we can apply economic sanctions. Any nation is entitled to do so without a reference to the UNO. But before applying these sanctions, we must make ourselves sure that these sanctions are going to achieve the desired results. The trade between India and Pakistan is not of such dimension as to justify any hope of putting Pakistan into trouble by the imposition of sanctions. Each country is in a position to carry on without depending on the other. The main items of import, as far as India is concerned, are jute and cotton. We are now almost self-sufficient in jute and as for cotton, though we may have to pay a little more, we can keep our mills running by resorting to imports from Egypt and other places. Pakistan depends on India mainly for coal and cotton textiles.

* Jogendra Nath Mandal and Ganendra Chandra Bhattacharjee of the United Peoples' Organisation, in a statement on 15 October, 1952, urged the Government of India to apply economic sanctions against Pakistan to bring "her into senses in relation to her treatment of minorities in East Bengal." S.P. Mookerjee, addressing, a public meeting on 16 October 1952, said that Pakistan's attitude towards her minorities entitled India to "examine afresh the whole problem of partition and act as any self-respecting nation would." He demanded that the "policy of appeasement" of the Government of India be reversed. Meghnad Saha said that if the enforcement of economic sanctions against Pakistan failed to have any effect then "stronger remedies" would have to be applied.
By refusing to export these commodities to Pakistan, in the first instance, we will create some problems for ourselves because there will be accumulation at pit-heads and factory godowns. Withholding our exports will not bring a collapse of Pakistan, for she will be able to get these commodities from outside - textiles from UK and probably from Japan; fuel from Australia and South Africa - although she may have to pay, comparatively, the highest prices. Economic sanctions therefore will not solve the problem of the Hindus in East Pakistan.

B. Sen Gupta: when the country was divided, we hoped that there would be no cause of further friction between Hindus and Muslims. But it now seems that Pakistan will continue to be inimical towards India.

JN: I think Pakistan is disintegrating. There is not one single personality there who commands respect and support from all sections. There are intrigues and all sorts of internal dissensions and squabbles. Her economic difficulties are also becoming increasingly acute. A section of the mass has already become critical of the Government. One of the tactics of the leaders of Pakistan is to divert the discontent within the country towards India by raising all sorts of false cries. Sometimes they talk of jihad in Kashmir, at another time, they complain of India having stopped their canal waters, etc. We must not play into their hands. If we apply economic sanctions, for example, Pakistan leaders will immediately attribute all the sufferings and miseries of the People in Pakistan to India's hostile action. The wrath of the people which otherwise could have fallen on the Government there would then be directed against us.

M. N. Roy: Sir, to whom will the East Bengal Hindus look forward to? Whose responsibility are they?

J N: Technically, it is obvious that they must look forward to the Government of Pakistan. They are citizens of Pakistan and, legally speaking, their welfare cannot be the responsibility of the Government of India. But we do not take that legalistic view. Until recently they had been part and parcel of the India nation and we do feel for them and will certainly do whatever we can to help them in their hour of distress.

G. Chakravart: You must have seen a news item appearing in the newspaper yesterday that a Hindu woman was molested under the pretext of carrying out a search by the Pakistan military personnel. What steps have the Government of West Bengal and the Government of India taken to ensure that similar unfortunate incidents do not recur?

J N: I could not tell you that. In fact, I have not seen any news item to that effect. I do not read all the newspapers. If there has been any incident like that, I am sure the Government of West Bengal would have taken due note of that.
M.N. Roy: We would like to know from the Prime Minister, if we may, what steps does the Government of India propose to take to solve this problem? Has the Government of India any plan?

J.N.: To think of a remedy, one must have patience. The matter is complicated and cannot be solved by any easy methods. By being impatient and trying to think of a quick and easy solution, we will probably complicate it further and make it beyond redemption. If I may use a metaphor, when the patient is suffering from a serious illness, the wisest course is to go through the scientific system of medical treatment which may be a dilatory process. In their anxiety for quick results if the relations of the patient go to a quack, chances are that the disease will take a more serious turn and the patient will die.

Vivekananda Mukherjee: The general impression in the public mind is that the Government of India always bows down before Pakistan and follows a policy of appeasement.

J.N.: These are mere strong words which do not signify anything in substance. If you read the newspapers published from West Pakistan, you will see that they accuse their Government of weakness and timidity. They complain that the Pakistan Government yields to the Government of India in every matter.

N.K. Ghosh: Newspapers in Pakistan are on warpath.

J.N.: I do not know much about the newspapers in East Pakistan. But I see some of the newspapers in West Pakistan and they do really keep on inciting violence.

C.K. Bhattacharya: We are sorry spectators of a grim tragedy in which the Hindus of East Bengal, who have been in the vanguard of all progressive movements, are being gradually exterminated.

J.N.: I do agree with you that the Hindus of East Bengal have taken prominent part in all progressive movements of their country not only in the political but also in educational and social spheres. Every Indian is proud of them. It is a pity that Pakistan is wasting this valuable material. By squeezing out the Hindus, Pakistani leaders are making their own country poorer. But I do not agree with you that the East Bengal Hindus are being exterminated. Spirit is indestructible. Although individuals may suffer or even die, the outlook and spirit of the people can never perish. As you know, the Industrial Revolution in England was possible mainly because of the refugees from France. I am sure the displaced persons from East Bengal who are coming over to India will also prove an asset to this country.

B.Sen Gupta: Will you be visiting again on your way back from Assam?

J.N.: I am afraid, not possible. I was too much tied on to my desk in Delhi and immediately after Parliament rose, I decided to go round as many states as possible. My programme at the moment is very tight. On my return from Assam, I will be able to spend only a few days in Delhi after which I will be visiting Madhya Pradesh. With the next session of Parliament almost round the corner, I am afraid it will not be possible for me to be in Calcutta again although I would have loved to do so. But I can assure you, if any emergency arises, I will not hesitate to cancel all other engagements and rush to Calcutta.

C.K. Bhattacharya: It would have been a good thing if you had visited the refugees at Sealdah and other border stations.

J.N.: I had hardly any time. As you know, the whole of this afternoon, I have been meeting officials, Ministers and prominent political leaders. But I sent my daughter to the Sealdah station. I know the refugees are having a very tough time. I am sorry for them. My sympathies are always with them. I am trying to do whatever I can for them. My friend and colleague, Ajit Prasad Jain, is here and you can depend on him. He will do all that is possible for helping the migrants.

New Delhi, October 25, 1952.

My dear Bidhan,

… Apart from the general and continuing situation in East Pakistan, which is obviously unfavorable for the Hindus there, I do not see any special development. The proposed introduction of the passport system naturally rather frightened people who thought that they might not be able so come later. There was an influx. Pakistan asked for a postponement for a month. We did not agree, unless the whole system was given up. The continuation of a feeling of uncertainly was bad.

The economic conditions in Pakistan are bad and deteriorating and probably are the chief cause now for people trying to come over. It must be remembered, however, that throughout the past year and up to the middle of September, there was a large number of Hindus going to East Pakistan than was coming away. In fact, the total number of Hindus who have returned there during the past two years is very considerable indeed and greatly in excess of those who have come. I believe it was this large flow back that was one reason for Pakistan to ask for the passport system
On the introduction of passports there was immediately a stoppage of this influx. Many people got rather stranded. They are allowed to come over after due checking and I do not see any difficulty about it.

Meanwhile Shyama Prasad Mookerjee and others continue shouting at first because people were coming and now because they are not coming or have been stopped. I think it is a good thing that this check has been instituted. It is easy enough for people to come who want to, whether as migrants or temporarily. But the check prevents them from coming in large numbers suddenly and on the spur of the moment.

I wonder if you will be coming to Delhi early next month for the Planning Commission meeting.

Yours affectionately
Jawahar

3075. Letter from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Khwaja Nazimuddin.

New Delhi, November 19, 1952.

I have received your telegram No. 4970 dated November 17th.

2. I do not know to what recent reports regarding the communal situation in West Bengal, Assam and Tripura you refer. We have constantly pointed out to your Government that reports in the Pakistan Press are tendentious and sometimes completely baseless. One of these recent reports referred to alleged Malda disturbances. These reports are a significant example of the dissemination of falsehood without any attempt to find out real facts. Nothing of the kind, as reported in the Pakistan Press, happened at Malda.

3. You refer in your telegram to the suggestion made by your Minorities Minister to Mr. Biswas for a joint visit to Malda and that this was not accepted by Mr. Biswas. I am sorry to find that your information is not correct. The proposal for a joint tour to Malda was accepted by Mr. Biswas. It was subsequently pointed out that the condition of the motor roads in the district was not suitable and it was suggested that a Pakistan amphibious plane might be used. Mr. Biswas authorized application for a permit to be obtained from the Delhi civil aviation authorities to allow the Pakistani plane to land in the river Malda. Subsequent information showed that the channel was not deep enough to enable the plane to land. This information was communicated to the Pakistan officials and Mr. Ahmad appreciating the difficulties did not further press for this joint tour to Malda.

4. At Mr. Biswas's instance the West Bengal Minority Commission paid a visit to the areas in question in Malda and they found that the reports of communal disturbances there were unfounded. Mr. Ahmad stated to Mr. Biswas that the source of his information was some member of the local Muslim League at Malda. On the basis of this vague and tenuous information, without further enquiry or attempt being made to verify it, serious charges were made and widely published. I trust you will agree with me that this dose not indicate responsible behavior on the part of those concerned. This kind of publicity creates the very situation that you and I deprecate.

5. You refer also to Mr. Ahmed's request to Mr. Biswas for both of them to go to Calcutta when the proposed protest day was going to be observed. It is not clear to me what Mr. Ahmad or Mr. Biswas, singly or jointly, could do in regard to this protest day by visiting Calcutta. The West Bengal Government is charged with this business and, under our instruction, will take all necessary steps. No one in Calcutta or elsewhere need have apprehensions on this score.

6. Your attention might have been drawn to what I stated in our parliament on the 15th November in regard to the proposed East Bengal protest Day. I condemned in strong language this attempt of some opposition groups in India to try to take party advantage and excite public feelings in regard to a subject which must be dealt with calmly and peacefully. It is not our practice normally to ban public demonstrations. That is against the spirit of our Constitution and we have found that it leads to unfortunate results. Only in very special and limited cases do we ban demonstrations. We have in fact banned the proposed demonstration in Tripura.

7. You must have been informed that certain recent events in Pakistan have powerfully moved Indian feeling. The recent mass exodus from Pakistan to West Bengal and Tripura was undoubtedly partly due to fears connected with the introduction of the passport system. But that was only a temporary cause and it is obvious that the real reason was much deeper. No one leaves his home and lands unless he is obsessed with apprehension and fear. That exodus demonstrated forcibly again that large number of the minority community in Eastern Pakistan live in fear and insecurity. The prospect of not being able to go away after the passport system was introduced suddenly made them rush across the border.

8. We have repeatedly pointed out to your Government that some of the essential provisions laid down in the Prime Ministers’ Agreement of April 1950 were not being acted upon in Eastern Pakistan. The Minority Boards and Commissions have not functioned here at all for a long time. A Member of the East Pakistan Minority Commission has been in prison for about a year and no one has even been appointed to replace him. If even a member of that commission, which was appointed to protect the rights of minorities, cannot protect himself, you will appreciate how others feel about it. The nonfunctioning of Minority Boards and Commissions has had a serious effect on the minorities in Eastern Pakistan. It appears that any member of the minority community who speaks freely of their disabilities is likely to get into trouble. If any variation in the procedure laid down in the 1950 Agreement is to be made this should be done after joint consultation. We are prepared for such consideration.

9. For a considerable time past the Pakistan press as well as some noted personalities in Pakistan have spoken in terms of war with India. Their writings obviously excite passions and create powerful reactions both in Pakistan and in India. Recently I was surprised and distressed to follow the proceeding of the Punjab Provincial Muslim League Conference held at Lyallpur at which you were present. This Conference called upon the Pakistan Government to take direct action on the Kashmir issue. I am unable to understand what direct action means in this context.

10. At the East Pakistan Muslim League Conference you are reported to have said:

   We seek a solution of this (Kashmir) dispute through peaceful means through the United Nations. If this course should fail, we shall have to consider other courses of action that may be open to us.

   You are further reported to have said: "It is the Muslim League which avenged the downfall of the Muslim empire in the Indo-Pakistan sub-continent."

11. Such statement can have only one meaning and that is war. I was not aware till now that it was the purpose of the Muslim League to avenge the downfall of the Muslim Empire. I shall be glad to know if it is a further purpose of the League to establish another Muslim empire in the Indo-Pakistan sub-continent.

12. It is with the deepest regret that I have to bring these instances to your notice. They are only some selected instances of the continuous propaganda that has gone on and is going on in Pakistan against India and in favor of war with India. I would beg you to give thought to the reactions of these statements and this propaganda on the minorities in Pakistan and on all the people in India to whatever religion or other persuasions they might belong. In spite of this, the situation in India has remained surprisingly normal.
13. It is true that some individuals and groups in India express themselves in objectionable and improper language, but the whole force of our Government as well as of our great national organization, the Congress, is used to combat this objectionable propaganda of some groups in India. We have done so with success and we propose to continue to deal with any such propaganda in India adequately both on the governmental and the non-official plane.

14. I would not complain if some opposition groups or individuals misbehaved occasionally. But it is a different matter when the leaders of Pakistan, including the head of the Government, as well as the Muslim League organization, which is the Government party in Pakistan, themselves indulge in exciting communal passion and issuing threats of war. There is a vast difference between irresponsible individuals saying something and responsible leaders and representatives of Government saying the same thing.

15. I recognize that the relations of India and Pakistan are not good. It is because of this that those who are in charge of the destinies of either of these countries have a very special responsibility to discharge. I claim that my Government have endeavored to discharge that responsibility and have not been afraid of saying and doing things which might make them unpopular. But I deeply regret to find a lack of that responsibility in the leaders of Pakistan. Fate and circumstance have placed us in these high positions of responsibility and what we say or do might have far-reaching effect on millions of people. It is a heavy burden we carry.

16. It has seemed to me tragic that anyone should ever talk of war between India and Pakistan. I ventured to suggest to your predecessor, Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan that both countries should declare unequivocally that on no account and for no reason will they go to war with each other for the solution of any problem or any matter in dispute between them. War solves no problems. It is a confession of defeat and surrender to disaster. Unfortunately Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan was not prepared to give that undertaking on behalf of his Government. Even so we have solemnly stated that India will not go to war with Pakistan whatever happens, unless she is attacked. We shall abide by that declaration. I invite you, as I invited your predecessor, to make a similar declaration. If both our countries make it clear that our problems would be solved by peaceful methods alone and that on no account would we go to war with each other, a great burden would be lifted from the minds of millions of people in Pakistan and India. A situation would be created when it would be far easier to solve those problems and to develop the normal friendly cooperative relations between India and Pakistan, which, I am sure, the vast majority of people in both these countries desire. History, geography and many a common heritage dictate this. We should be wise enough to understand this lesson of the past and the present and thus build a future for India and Pakistan which is free from fear and hatred and conflict and in which we cooperate to our mutual advantage.

17. If you share with me the sentiments and objective referred to above, as I very much hope that you do, then it should not be difficult for us to find some way of approach which would lead to a solution of our problems. So far as we are concerned we shall gladly welcome this.

SECRET
Letter from The Deputy High Commissioner in East Pakistan to Commonwealth Secretary B. F. H. B. Tyabji.

Dacca, November 20, 1952.
Office of the Deputy High Commissioner for India In Pakistan
11 Rankin Sr. Dacca.

No. 589/DHC November 20, 1952.

My dear Tyab ji,

You will, no doubt, be interested to know the reactions in East Bengal of the debate on East Bengal in Parliament and also the proposal of some opposition parties, to observe an All-India East Bengal Day on Sunday, the 23rd instant. In my secret D.O.No.570/DEC dated the 14th November 1952 addressed to Issar, I have already referred to the mischievous line taken by the Dacca press during the first week of this month as a counter blast to the proposal for observing East Bengal Day in India. As you know, fantastic stories about the oppression and massacre of Muslims in India were being prominently displayed by the Morning News and also by some other organs of the local press. We have reason to believe that some of the stories put out were officially inspired. A series of "protest" meetings were also being held in different wards of Dacca town as well as in mofussil districts of East Bengal. In spite of this propaganda in the press and from the platform, sections of the people really wanted a communal flare up in East Bengal. I feel that the reason why Government tolerated, and to a certain extent, encouraged this propaganda was because of its obvious political value to themselves, hard-pressed as they were on the economic front. They probably also wanted to keep people psychologically prepared for any outbreak of communal violence during the East Bengal Day in India which was originally proposed to be held on the 16th.

For the last ten days or so, however, we have been noticing some improvement in the tone of the press, and even the big conference recently held at Dacca for supporting an Islamic constitution and laws for Pakistan refrained from indulging in any unbalanced attacks against India or the local Hindus. Another interesting information in that the Muslim refugees from India wished to stage a Sahidi Bharat Day in East Bengal as a counterpoise to the East Bengal Day to be held in India. I am told, however, that the Government discouraged the idea and are, in fact, taking precautionary measures for maintenance of peace at Dacca and elsewhere on the 23rd. Further on the 14th instant Aziz-ud-din Ahmed, Pakistan Minister of State for minority affairs, delivered a speech at Rajshahi where he made the some what unwonted appeal to his listeners to “keep cool even if peace was disturbed and communal riots broke out in West Bengal following the observance of the East Bengal Day”.

I am inclined to believe that this improvement in the attitude of the press and the government is primarily attributable to the Prime Minister’s statement in Parliament which has been very well received here, both in official and non-official circles. There is an under-current of feeling that it should be the duty of all responsible Pakistanis to strengthen the hands of Shri Nehru as against the communalists in India. The second important reason is that both Government and the people in East Bengal are both to receive a fresh batch of Muslim refugees from India as a result of large scale communal disturbances on both sides. Thirdly, it is also possible that as a result of the recent Chief Secretaries Conference at Shillong at which NM Khan, the Acting Chief Secretary of East Bengal was pressed to stop propaganda against India and the minorities in East Bengal, Khan may have discouraged such propaganda.

I need hardly add that the situation is certainly not free from anxiety. Apart from the constant irritation caused by “appeals” to hold East Bengal Day in India and “resolutions” demanding the application of economic sanctions against East Bengal, the effects on the public mind of “horror” stories of atrocities against Indian Muslims, only recently put out by the Dacca press cannot be wiped off in so short a time. The position in effect is that though we are hoping that no untoward incident will happen at Dacca or elsewhere in East Bengal on the 23rd the tension is certainly high, and a few stray incidents of communal nature occurring in India on or after the ‘East Bengal Day’ may well tilt the balance and start "retaliatory" communal disturbances here. Considerable nervousness among the minorities certainly exists.

Yours sincerely,
(B.K. Acharya)

3077. Extract from a Note by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on improving relations with Pakistan.

New Delhi, April 26, 1953.

5. The future of the Hindu minority in East Bengal is dependent upon the larger issue of Indo-Pakistan relations. There is a possibility now, more than at any time in the recent past, of these relations improving. I think this is largely due to the shock that people in Pakistan have received from the realisation that conditions in Pakistan, both political and economic, have deteriorated greatly. In fact fear of some kind of disaster began to grip the people. The reasons for this deterioration were largely of course internal, though sometimes India was blamed. On the whole, however, people in Pakistan realise that these reasons were internal. They also compared regretfully the stable politics of India and her improving economic condition as well as the advance made by us in many directions. Gradually a feeling spread that Pakistan’s leadership was gravely at fault and comparisons were made with India’s leadership to the disadvantage of Pakistan. A vague regret spreads among many people at the fact of partition and its consequences. This must not be taken to mean that anyone really thought of reversing the Partition. History cannot be reversed in this way. But all

* This note was based upon a detailed report by the Indian High Commissioner Mohan Sinha Mehta submitted after a tour of East Pakistan. While spelling out the major disabilities of the Hindu minorities in East Pakistan, Mehta concluded that the allegation that there was a deliberate policy on the part of the East Pakistan Government to squeeze out Hindus was unfounded. He felt that the Hindu political leaders painted an "unduly and unfairly dark picture of the situation" and that their "distrust and condemnation" of the Pakistan Government was only "partially justified."
this did mean a reversal of the old habit of mind of blaming India for everything and a toning down of the ill-feeling against India. Probably, at no time during the last five or six years, has the public of Pakistan been more friendly, or to put it better in a negative way, less unfriendly to India than now. There is a genuine desire both in the public and among the leadership for some way to be found to settle the issues between India and Pakistan, which have created so much trouble and ill will. Whether they can be settled soon or not, it is difficult to say.
But the atmosphere is certainly more favourable for their settlement....

3078. Letter from the High Commissioner C. C. Desai to Pakistan Foreign Secretary J. A. Rahim.

High Commissioner For India
Karachi

No. HC/54/13 March 21, 1955

My dear Foreign secretary,

Will you kindly refer to your letter No. I (II)-11/1/54 dated the 29th October, 1954, regarding the entry of Muslims into West Pakistan through Khokhrapar, addressed to Dr. Mohan Sinha Mehta.

2. The Government of India do not agree that this movement via Khokhrapar is attributable to any feeling of insecurity among the Muslims in India.

3. In the first place, the incidents referred to, which are freely ventilated in the Indian Press, were minor and sporadic, involving members of the two communities and originating from causes like molestation or abduction of Hindu girls, long standing disputes over land, petty quarrels between vendors and customers over the price of articles, slaughtering of cows, etc. Wherever such incidents occur, the local authorities take prompt and effective action to check the mischief and to bring the miscreants to book.

4. Secondly, the position with regard to the Shuddi (purification) movement has been set out fully in our Note No. F.30 (21)/54-Genl dated the 19th August, 1954. As stated therein, the so called Shuddi movement exists more in the imagination of a few reactionaries and of persons interested in maligning India and not in actual fact.
5. It should be added that the blame for whatever little anxiety and uncertainty there may be among the Muslims of India rests squarely with Pakistan. Pakistan newspapers and political leaders, including, we regret to say responsible members of Government, have been continually abusing India and publishing imaginary and exaggerated stories of communal incidents. For instance, in the Ghaziabad riot, mentioned in your letter of the 15th February, all that had happened was that a Muslims Butcher stole a cow belonging to a Jan Sangh Leader and slaughtered it. The incident led to a small fracas in which half a dozen people received minor injuries and property worth Rs.5,000/- was damaged. The police reached the spot immediately and restored order. In Pakistan, however, this incident was magnified into communal riot in which Muslims were killed and their property looted indiscriminately. Further, the Pakistan Press even made out that this riot was the result of a campaign launched by Hindu Leaders against the US Arms Aid to Pakistan. Unfortunately, the power of propaganda is such that no matter how incorrect it is, there are some people somewhere who will believe it sometimes. The principal reason for any sense of insecurity that may prevail amongst any sections of our Muslims is, therefore, the deliberate attempt at such mis-representation, exaggeration and scare-mongering indulged in by Pakistan.

6. With regard to the movement of Muslims from India via Khokhrapar, it is incorrect to say that all of them are actual migrants. As this route has not been accepted by the Pakistan Government as an authorized route under the Indo-Pakistan Passport Scheme, such people do not possess any travel documents (use it). Some of them are Pakistani nationals who came to India without travel documents before the introduction of the Passport scheme or Pakistani passport subsequently and are leaving the country without travel documents, as their stay in India was unauthorized. Many of them are relations of people who had migrated to Pakistan in the earlier days of the partition; they are now leaving India either because they are Pakistani nationals and always wanted to be Pakistani nationals but had stayed behind temporarily for various reasons. It is possible that they are apprehensive that if they apply for emergency certificates to Pakistani Missions in India in the normal manner, they would not get them. Further most of these travelers also find this route more convenient and do not wish to undertake the trouble and expense of traveling via Amritsar Lahore route.

7. In this connection I may also refer you to the editorial comments in Nawa-i-waqt (Lahore) in its issue of the 18th November, 1954, which contain the following passage:

"it is not correct to say that the Muslims who came via Khokhrapar are being forced out of India or that riots have taken place in India which make the stay of Muslims impossible. A large number of persons come to Pakistan under the wrong nation that there are large opportunities of employment in Pakistan. On reaching Pakistan, they got disillusioned, begin accusing the Government of Pakistan and spread discontent among the people."

The paper quotes a Muslim refugee from Rampur in India as having said "My business in Rampur became somewhat dull. I thought I would get better opportunity in Pakistan" and observed "this is not the only example of this kind. There are lakhs of persons who have come like that". These comments in the Pakistan press will serve to refute the suggestions that the movement via Khokhrapar is the result of communal riots in India. The information available to Indian authorities fully corroborates these statements.

8. The Government of Pakistan have not accepted any authorised route for travel between India and Pakistan on the long Rajasthan - West Pakistan border, compelling genuine travelers to adopt either the cumbersome route via Amritsar or to travel illegally via Khokhrapar. The solution lies in the Government of Pakistan's agreeing to a suitable number of check posts on the Rajasthan-West Pakistan Border as well as additional check posts on the Punjab Border.

9. According to figures available with us, the number of non-Muslims who migrated from West Bengal to India (West Bengal, Assam and Tripura) during 1953 on migration certificates issued by India Visa Office in East Bengal was 70,123. Statistics regarding the number of Hindus from East Bengal who migrated to India in 1954 show that during the first 11 months of the year over 80,279 Hindus came in to India (as against 69,367 Muslims leave via Khokhrapar). The Influx of Hindus from East Bengal has steadily been increasing since May, 1954, and was over 10,000 in September and October, 1954, rising to 11,000 and even more in subsequent months. It should be added that we have no figures regarding persons coming to India without migration certifications and crossing the border at places other than authorized check posts. This number is believed to be considerable since large number of Hindus are leaving East Bengal without travel documents.

10. It is somewhat surprising that you should say that since the prime ministers' Agreement of April 1950, there has not been a single communal riot in East Bengal. The numerous cases of dacoity, arson and looting of the houses of Hindus, of rape, abduction and molestation of Hindu women and of forcible conversion of Hindus by members of the majority community which occur almost daily in East Bengal, tell a different story. The incident on the 13th May 1954, at Chilmabazar, P.S. Gopalganj, Distt, Faridpur, in which 5 Hindus were seriously injured; the incidents at Jalirparhat, P.S. Muksudpore, Distt. Faridpur on the 14th May, 1954, and the incident on the 8th May, 1954 at Mijiara, P.S. Tala Khulna, in which over 100 armed Muslims set fire to the house of a Hindu and attacked the local Hindus are specific instances to show that the communal situation in East Bengal gives continuing ground for the feeling of insecurity among the minority community in East Bengal. In this connection, the High Commission's Note No.F.6/(1)/55-Genl. dated the 28th January 1955, bringing to the notice of the Pakistan Government the oppression of Hindus by members of the majority community in Khulna Distt may also be referred to.

11. As regards Mr. Ahmad's letter of the 26th November 1953, to Mr. Mathrani about India taking steps to check the entry of Indian nationals via Khokhrapar, it is clearly for the Government of Pakistan to take steps to prevent such illegal entry into Pakistan territory. The Government of India have repeatedly suggested that the Khokhrapar route should be made an authorized route since there is no other convenient route on the long frontier in this area. The suggestion has been consistently rejected by Government of Pakistan who have declined to open check posts at Khokharpar. We also pressed for the reopening of the rail connection in the route which has also not been accepted by the Government of Pakistan. The Government of India have always given the assurance that they would do all in their power to maintain confidence and sense of security among the Indian minorities at the same time, it is not possible for them to use force on the people who desire to migrate; indeed the assurance of such freedom of movement in itself contributes to the feeling of security. Freedom of movement and protection in transit have been the two cardinal principles that have regulated Government of India's policy in the matter.

12. I have written at some length in view of the specific points raised in your earlier communication. At the same time it is my conviction that the movement of Muslims via Khokhrapar and the contrary movement of Hindus from East Bengal are not matters which can in same way be set off one against the other. Each problem has to be tackled on its own merits and independently of others. Also making allegations against each other or finding fault with each other is not the best of effective way of controlling this evil of migration which no doubts causes grave problems for both of us. You can count upon my whole hearted support in devising practical ways and means to control unwanted movement on both sides, East and West, and I am sure I can count upon similar cooperation from you. It is in this sprit that I would urge you to agree to the proposal set out in paragraph 8 above namely the opening of authorised routes with check posts on the Rajasthan, West Pakistan Border at an yearly date. I am hopeful that this solution will now commend itself to your Government since Sardar Amir Azam Khan has recently declared himself in favor of the proposal. According to the report in Dawn of the 10th March, the Minister of Refugees and Rehabilitation has said that Pakistan had been trying to reach an understanding with India for declaring Khokhrapar as a regular route.

With kind regards,

Your sincerely

3079. Extract from Telegram No.224. dated April 8, 1955 from High Commissioner C. C. Desai to the Commonwealth Secretary S. Dutt.

2. As regards migration, Mohammad Ali did not deny increase in exodus although his information was that about eight thousand monthly against real figure of 25 thousand last month. Mohd. Ali mentioned the reported desire of West Bengal to oust Beharis by inviting labor and agriculturists from East Bengal and was eloquent about Bengali nation language unity and culture as against request to abolition of zamindari and said that this caused certain amount of pressure on Namasudras who might be leaving on that account. Ultimately he ended up by saying that GHYASUDDIN PATHAN was going East Bengal and would study situation and take necessary steps. MEHR CHAND pointed out that there had been no liberalization of benefits or concession to refugees and that East Bengal Hindu was definitely unwelcome to West Bengal Hindu and therefore cause for migration must be traced to insecurity and difficulties in East Bengal.

Karachi, April 9, 1955.

Minutes of the meeting held in the room of the Hon'ble Minister for the Interior, Government of Pakistan, on the 9th April 1955, at 3.30 P.M.

The following were present:

PAKISTAN
1. The Hon'ble General Iskander Mirza, Minister for the Interior.
2. Mr. M.W. Abbasi, Secretary, Ministry of Refugees & Rehabilitation.
3. Mr. M.S.A. Baig, Secretary, Ministry of F.A. & C.R.
4. Mr. S.N. Hasan, Director General, Pakistan Railways.
5. Mr. Hameed–ud–din Ahmed, Deputy Secretary Ministry of Interior.
6. Mr. K.M. Kaiser, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of F.A. & C.R.
7. Mr. A.A. Shah, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of F.A. & C.R.

INDIA
1. The Hon'ble Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna, Minister of Rehabilitation.
2. H. E. Mr. C. C. Desai, High Commissioner for India in Pakistan
3. Mr. K. P. Mathrani, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation
4. Mr. R. T. Chari, Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan
5. Mr. V. C. Trivedi, Director, Pakistan Division, Ministry of Ext. Affairs.
6. Mr. D. M. Gupta, Government of West Bengal.

1. Unauthorized entry of persons from India via Khokhrapar: The question of preventing unauthorized entry of persons from India through Khokhrapar into West Pakistan was discussed. It was agreed that the Khokhrapar – Munabao route should be declared as an authorized route and that check–posts should be established at the border by the Governments of Pakistan and India. The Indian authorities would co–operate with the Pakistan authorities in ensuring that unauthorized traffic did not take place on this route. It was also agreed that the Gandasinghwala – Husainiwala route with corresponding check posts for travel between India and Pakistan should be re–established. The two Governments would also take early steps to re–establish rail connection on both these routes.

2. Improvement of Railway communications between India and Pakistan. Officials of the Railway administrations of India and Pakistan would be meeting shortly in Karachi to work out details for the re–establishment of communications between the two countries.

3. Liberalization of travel facilities between India and Pakistan. It was agreed that the present restrictive system should be liberalized and replaced by a simpler system based on the normal international pattern. Mr. M.S.A. Baig and Mr. V.C. Trivedi were asked to prepare a detailed scheme for the consideration of the Hon’ble Ministers.

The two Ministers agreed that the travelers should not be required to report to the Police either in writing or in person.

4. Hindu exodus from East Bengal: The next item discussed was the rise in the migration of the members of the minority community from East Bengal which was viewed with increasing concern by both Governments. The Hon'ble Minister, General Iskander Mirza, said that his Government was anxious that this movement should stop and that the real causes should be discovered and remedied. For this purpose, the Minority Minister of Pakistan would shortly be touring East Bengal. It was considered that a statement to reassure the minority community in East Bengal that their rights and privileges would be fully safeguarded and further assuring those migrants who wished to return, of a welcome back to their home, would have a beneficial effect. A draft statement for the consideration of the ministers in this connection is appended. This statement when issued would be given full publicity in Pakistan as well as in India (Document No.3081). The Government of India would co-operate with the Government of Pakistan in the efforts being made by the latter to re-assure the minorities.

The two Ministers were of the opinion that increasing contacts at all levels (both official and non-official) in the Eastern Zone were desirable.

The Hon'ble General Iskander Mirza also gave an assurance that complaints from the minority community regarding ill-treatment and discrimination in trade and service would be promptly looked into and redress provided and such additional measures, as might be necessary, would be taken to reassure the minority community.

It was agreed that border trade between the two countries should be facilitated and that restrictions on this traffic should be avoided. In this connection it was suggested that the principles of border trade agreed to at the Border Trade Sub-Committee of the Delhi Conference held in March 1953 should be considered for implementation.

5. Release of Government servants in custody of the two countries: It was agreed that all Government Servants belonging to one country who are in detention in the other country for non-political offences should be released and repatriated to their own country by an agreed date.

Dacca, April 11, 1955.

The Government of Pakistan have viewed with increasing concern the rise in the migration of members of the minority community from East Bengal.

Members of the minority community are reminded that the Government of Pakistan regards them as much citizens of the States as Members of the majority community. They are consequently assured all the rights and privileges of citizenship.

Special machinery has been established for providing early redress of grievances of the members of the minority community.

Whatever might be the reason for the large scale movement of members of the minority community, the Government of Pakistan would be prepared to take back in their original homes all migrants who wish to return. They may rest assured that all measures will be taken to safeguard their interests and security so that they should continue to live in Pakistan with honor and dignity.

With a view to assist in the creation of favorable conditions for the safety and comfort of the minority community the Hon'ble Mr. Pathan, Minority Minister, Pakistan, accompanied by Mr. A.K. Chanda, Deputy Minister, External Affairs, India, will shortly be making a joint tour of East Bengal.

3082. Joint Communiqué issued after the joint tour by the Deputy Minister for External Affairs A. K. Chanda and Pakistan Minister of Minority Affairs of some of the areas of East Bengal affected by increased migration of members of the minority community.

Dacca, April 21, 1955.

[Shri Anil Kumar Chanda, Deputy Minister for External Affairs, Government of India, and Mr. Ghayasuddin Pathan, Minister for Minority Affairs, Government of Pakistan jointly toured some of the areas reported to be affected by increased exodus of Hindus from East Bengal to West Bengal. After After completing their joint tour of some of the areas reported to be affected by increased exodus of Hindus from East Bengal to West Bengal in recent months, Mr. Ghyasuddin Patha, Pakistan Minister for Minority Affairs, and Shri Anil Kumar Chanda, Indian Deputy Minister for External Affairs, today left Dacca for Agartala. In Tripura the Ministers who are accompanied by officials of the two Governments will jointly study progress of implementation of the Delhi Agreement, particularly restoration of property to the Muslims who had migrated to Pakistan in 1950, but have since returned to their homes.

Earlier, in West Bengal the Ministers looked into the problems of members of the minority community in Howrah, particularly about restoration of the property to the Muslims who have returned to their homes after the 1950 disturbances.

In East Bengal the joint tour of the Ministers covered some of the affected areas in Jessore, Khulna, Faridpur and Barisal districts and Dacca.

In all places the Ministers visited they met representatives of minority and majority communities and heard their views on problems of minorities, with a view to ascertaining causes of increased exodus of the Hindus from East Bengal in recent months, and discussed ways and means of removing these causes.

Everywhere Mr. Ghyasuddin Pathan reiterated the solemn guarantee of the Pakistan Government to protect life and property of the minorities and to ensure equal rights and privileges for them. He said it was the approved and earnest wish of the Pakistan Government that migration of members of the minority community should stop. Mr. Pathan appealed to the members of the majority community to consider it their sacred duty to protect members of the minority communities who were as much nationals of Pakistan as the members of the majority community.

Shri Chanda appealed to the members of the Hindu community not to leave their ancestral homes in view of the assurance given by the Government of Pakistan and described as "completely baseless" reports that the Hindus of East Bengal were being allured or induced to migrate to India by liberal advances of money and grants of land on arrival in West Bengal. India and Pakistan, he said, were both desirous that migration which was harmful for both countries should stop and that the minority community should continue to live with honour and security in both countries.
3083. Notes of discussion between Pakistan Minister for Minority Affairs Ghyasuddin Pathan and High Commissioner C.C. Desai.

Karachi, May 9, 1955.

On the invitation of Mr. Ghyasuddin Pathan, the High Commissioner met him at his residence on the 9th May. Mr. Kaiser, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations, and Mr. R.T. Chari, Deputy High Commissioner for India, were also present. The discussion related to the recent joint tour of Mr. Pathan and Shri A.K. Chanda in East Bengal and the problem of migration of Hindus from East Bengal.

2. Mr. Pathan said that he hoped to meet Shri Mehr Chand Khanna (Minister of Rehabilitation) at Calcutta on his return journey, but had unfortunately not been able to do so as he received information in Dacca that his wife was ill at Karachi and had to return urgently. In fact his wife was still ill in hospital. He proposed to resume his tour of East Bengal and was leaving for Dacca in 2 or 3 days. He would then visit some more districts and hoped to stop over at Calcutta on the return journey and have discussions with Shri Mehr Chand Khanna and others.

3. The High Commissioner said that he had received copies of Shri A.K. Chanda's report on the joint tour. He was sorry to note that the conditions were very gloomy and that unless something effective was done, the migration would continue at a high rate. The High Commissioner summarized the findings of Shri A.K. Chanda briefly for the information of Mr. Pathan and added that there seemed to be a lot of tyranny by petty officials in East Bengal. It was clear that the minority community in East Bengal was feeling very insecure, that there were incidents of abduction of women and insults to their honour and that no redress was available from the Governmental authorities. It was clear that, if this condition continues, the entire Hindu population from East Bengal would migrate to India. The High Commissioner said the Government of India were as anxious as the Government of Pakistan that such migration should not take place, but, at the same time, in view of the Prime Ministers' agreement and in view of the circumstances relating to Partition, the Government of India could not close the doors to such migration as long as they felt that the minority community could not continue in East Pakistan in security and honor. The remedy, therefore, was in the hands of the Pakistan Government. He was very distressed to read the detailed report of Shri A.K. Chanda. The High Commissioner also referred to some incidents narrated in this report to show the unsatisfactory conditions in East Bengal.
4. Mr. Ghyasuddin Pathan listened patiently and said that he appreciated the frankness with which the High Commissioner had indicated the Government of India’s views on the subject. On his part he would be equally frank. With regard to the Muslims in Howrah, he said that the conditions were satisfactory and there was nothing wrong and he had no hesitation in saying so frankly.

5. With regard to the minority community in East Bengal, he appreciated the feeling of despondency and gloom voiced by Shri A.K. Chanda. Being an older man, he himself did not take such a gloomy view of the matter. Conditions were certainly not satisfactory. He had fully agreed that the petty officials were behaving in an unsatisfactory way and that the position had to be corrected. In his report to the cabinet, he had not minced words and had used very strong language. He had also spoken equally frankly and bluntly during the tour and told the majority community leaders in East Bengal that he could not believe that the Hindus would be leaving East Bengal where they had resided for many generations merely because some inducements by way of rehabilitation grants were available in India. He had told them frankly that there must be harassment and it was the duty of the majority community to infuse confidence in the minority community by behaving justly and honorably towards them.

6. He agreed that the harassment by petty officials and inferiority complex felt by the minority community as a result of minor incidents were contributory causes to the migration. At the same time, he was convinced that the basic cause was the economic difficulties felt to a greater extent by the minority community. He had found that in the concerned districts, although crops had been poor, no relief measures had been extended by the East Bengal Government because of certain narrow definitions for the conditions of relief. This was equally true of Muslims in the area. In fact, Major General Atal had told him that there were large numbers of Muslims also who were migrating to Tripura owing to economic difficulties in East Bengal. While the Muslims in the affected area had no place to go and had to stick on, it was natural for the Hindus to seek relief by way of migration, particularly because of the pin-pricks, harassment and inferiority complex induced thereby. The rehabilitation grant of Rs. 12/- per person would amount to something like Rs. 50/- per month for a family and was certainly an attraction in such economic distress when compared with the high level of prices in East Bengal and the conditions of distress caused by crop failures. He therefore considered that the primary cause of migration was economic. He had asked in his letter to his Prime Minister that adequate funds should be placed at his disposal for immediate relief work in this area and he hoped to get a favorable reply to this request; once the relief was extended impartially to the Muslims and the Hindus in the affected area, he felt that the migration would die away. He, however, felt that this would take sometime and he beseeched the Government of India to give him 2 or 3 months in which the measures proposed by him could take effect.

7. The High Commissioner said that already the Government of India had issued instructions to slow down the rate of issue of migration certificates. Already thousands of such applications were awaiting issue. It would not be possible for the Government of India to take any action either by announcing the withdrawal of relief measures to migrants or by stopping to any considerable extent the issue of migration certificates in the present circumstances. The High Commissioner felt that, when the Pakistan Government's action remedy the difficulties showed some signs of slowing down the migration, the Government of India could examine such steps.

8. Mr. Pathan said that he would only make one change in that and that is, action on the part of the Government of India to slow down migration should not wait for Pakistan Government's action but should be taken simultaneously with it. This would give him some time in which to bring remedies into effect.

9. Mr. Pathan mentioned that migration certificates took only few days to issue, while people had to wait much longer for visas. He found that the Indian Deputy High Commissioner, Dacca, was very cautious in extending co-operation. The same was true of the West Bengal Government. He had requested the Deputy High Commissioner, Dacca, to give him a list of the villages and taluks from which the largest number of applications for migration certificates were being received. His object was merely to do intensive work in those areas to restore confidence. The Deputy High Commissioner was, however, diffident and said that the matter had to be referred to the Government of India first. The High Commissioner said that he had already written to the Government of India suggesting full co-operation in this matter.

10. Mr. Pathan then mentioned that he wanted the communiqué issued by the Pakistan Government (assuring Hindu migrants in West Bengal that they would be welcome back to their homes and their properties restored) should be publicized by means of Bengali pamphlets. The West Bengal Government was also hesitant in doing this. The High Commissioner informed Mr. Pathan that he had also asked the Government of India to extend their co-operation in this matter.

11. Mr. Pathan said that, apart from the immediate relief he had proposed for economic distress, he had also in mind the long-term remedies. In the first place, the attitudes of the subordinate officials and the constabulary were thoroughly unsatisfactory. At the time of Partition, the educated Hindu Officers had all left for West Bengal with the result that the lower ranks of officials, civil and police, now consisted of persons who are both inefficient and unqualified.
Persons who were not fit ever to be constables had now been promoted to be in charge of Police Stations. There was also a lack of adequate police staff. He had stressed in his report that this position should be remedied and there should be an expansion of qualified and suitable personnel among the lower ranks.

12. He also realized the difficulties caused by the retrenchment of Hindus employed in the zamindari administration. It certainly had affected their economic position and he was examining the possibility of reinstating as many of them as possible. The same applied also to the cancellation of licenses for cloth dealers and oil distributors. He also found that Hindus were not appointed in services up to the quota reserved for them. The East Bengal argument that suitable persons among the minority community were not available did not convince him. He himself knew of 6 Hindu graduates who had sent applications to him for jobs and it would not be correct, therefore, to say that such qualified Hindus were not available. He was taking up this matter also for examination.

13. Mr. Pathan said that the higher officials, the District Magistrate and the Deputy Superintendent of Police, appeared to him to be quite impartial. In fact, the minority leaders had nothing but praise for them. The High Commissioner said that this had also been pointed out by Shri A.K. Chanda. What was necessary was to improve the lower officials and their attitude. If the Government made it known to them that harassment of the minority communities would not be tolerated there was bound to be improvement in the position. It was necessary that disciplinary action for punishment for bad behavior in a few instances should be taken. The High Commissioner referred to the case of Shrimati Mukul Rani who had been abducted about two years ago. The Magistrate had handed her over to the custody of the abductor when she was produced after a long time before the Court. The Magistrate had also made some remarks of an objectionable character like asking the girl whether she did not prefer to stay with the abductor, whom he described as a handsome man. Mr. Pathan agreed readily that the conduct of the Magistrate in that case had been worthy and he was sending for the papers and that some action would be taken against the Magistrate and the others concerned. It was a very sad case which he himself knew personally. He had seen the Hindu husband and was satisfied that he was in love with his wife who had been abducted and was willing to take her back with the children born after abduction. He was convinced of the man's sincerity and had, therefore, made attempts to restore the abducted woman to him but she had refused to go back, and since then the abductor had written to say that he would be willing to produce Mukul Rani before the High Commissioner for India or the Deputy High Commissioner at Dacca, who could persuade her and find out what she really wanted.
14. Mr. Pathan said that many of the Hindu leaders had expressed their anxiety for early restoration of parliamentary government. The High Commissioner said that this was a matter for the Pakistan Government. Mr. Pathan said that there was every chance for early restoration of parliamentary Government and he hoped that this would be conducive to better confidence on the part of the minority community. He also stated that the minority community felt that joint electorates could contribute greatly to their security and integration in the Body Politic and in fact the Cabinet decided to have joint electorates introduced in the new Constitution. He felt that this would also improve the overall position of the minority community and give them the means of redress when anything went wrong.

15. Mr. Pathan said that he was shortly going back to Dacca for a further tour in some of the affected areas and he would be glad if the High Commissioner would also come and see for himself the conditions there during that time. The High Commissioner said that he would certainly be glad to avail himself of this invitation.

16. Mr. Pathan said that, on his way back from this tour, he would stop at Calcutta and have a discussion with Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna and others. In the meantime, he wanted the co-operation of the Government of India in slowing down the migration so that he may have the chance of putting matters right in the meantime. He himself had written a strong report to the Cabinet suggesting various remedies, both short-term and long-term, and if the Cabinet does not accept these proposals, he would no longer be there.

6. As regards minorities, MOHAMMAD ALI desired that both countries should gradually take diminishing interest in other's minorities thus encouraging both confidence in and reliance on Government of one's own country*. He referred to DUTTA being made Minister and said that he would be as soon as possible take further action for encouraging confidence amongst Hindus in East Bengal. He told me to advise such Hindu friends from East Bengal as may seem not to be frightened of the world Islamic which he would occasionally have to use to carry his own people. I told him that our primary interest in matter was to see that exodus was checked. Subject to this we believed in each country looking after its own minorities without let or hindrance from other country, although because of repercussion we could never wholly divest ourselves of interest in what happens in other country.

7. I then told him of agreements made out but not ratified, of agreements ratified but not implemented and of the general atmosphere in Foreign Office here that unless Kashmir problem is settled every other problem must remain hanging. He said that was wrong attitude and as soon as he settles down, he would bring about change of attitude. If he means what he says he should prove successful where his predecessor was a miserable failure. Though anti-Indian he is realistic and firm and far more preferable from our point of view than the previous Prime Minister.

* Relying on the 22nd August Nehru told the High Commissioner to convey to Mohammad Ali that while he agreed with him that "each country should look after its own minorities and produce confidence in them", yet the fact remained that "we continue to have large inflow amounting to about 20,000 per month from East Pakistan to West Bengal."
3085. Statement by Minister of Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna laid on the Table of the Lok Sabha on the large scale migration of Hindus from East Bengal.

New Delhi, March 29, 1956.

The House is aware of the great increase in migration of the Hindu minority in East Bengal to India. The statistical tables show that in the first half of 1954 an average of 6,600 persons migrated to India. This monthly average increased to 13,500 in the second half of 1954. In 1955 the increase continued, the monthly average for the whole year being over 20,000. In January 1956, 19,206 persons migrated and in February the number increased to 45,534.

In the past year or so, we have made several approaches to the Pakistan Government for the purpose of finding ways and means of reducing the exodus.

In April 1955, I visited Karachi and held discussions with General Iskander Mirza, who was then Minister for the Interior, and his colleagues. I also had talks with Mr. Ghulam Mohammad, the then Governor General. I was assured by all that the Pakistan Government did not look with favor at the migration of members of the minority community from Pakistan and that they would take all possible steps to restore confidence among them. The Pakistan Government also gave assurances that there would be no discrimination against the minority community in the matter of trade and of employment in the services. After the meeting, the Pakistan Government issued a statement* assuring members of the minority community that all measures would be taken to safeguard their interests and security so that they could continue to live in Pakistan with honor and dignity. The Pakistan Government also declared that they would be prepared to take back in their original homes all migrants who wished to return and to restore their properties.

As a result of these talks, it was also arranged that the Pakistan Minister of Minorities and the Indian Deputy Minister for External Affairs, deputizing for the Indian Minister for Minorities, would conduct a joint tour of certain districts in West and East Bengal to ascertain the grievances of the minorities. This joint tour took place in April 1955. It was hoped that as a result of this and of the assurances given by the Pakistan Government, effective measures would be taken to remedy the grievances of the minorities and there would be a decrease in the rate of migration.

Unfortunately, our hopes were belied and there was no substantial decrease in the flow of migrants.

* Please See Document Nos.3081 & 3082
In November 1955, I wrote a personal letter to the Governor-General of Pakistan, General Iskander Mirza, drawing his attention to the alarming proportions that the exodus had attained and suggesting that I should go to Karachi once again to discuss the whole problem and particularly certain specific measures, which, if adopted, were likely to improve considerably the situation. The Governor-General's reply was to the effect that his Government felt that they had done all they could to stop the exodus. He referred to the fact that there were then members of the minority community holding Cabinet office, both at the Centre and in East Bengal.

On 6 December, 1954, I moved my headquarters from Delhi to Calcutta. I have been visiting the border stations and talking to the migrants proceeding to West Bengal, Assam and Tripura. From all that they say and from all that I have been able to learn of this problem, I have no doubt in my mind that the main reason for this continually increasing migration is the feeling of insecurity and economic discrimination under which the minority community lives. Economic distress is certainly a factor, but the primary reason which is making these persons leave their hearths and homes, where they have manfully coped with all difficulties for over eight years, is the insecurity and discrimination in their daily lives.

We also feel that a contributing factor has been the recent statement by the Pakistani High Commissioner in India suggesting that the only effective way to stop the migration was to seal the border. I have already described this as a negative approach to the problem. The result of these statements has been to create a feeling of panic among the minority community and to increase the rate of migration.

In this dismal picture there has recently been a relieving feature. Recently the Chief Minister of East Bengal convened a conference which was attended by the leaders of the minority community. The latter submitted a memorandum detailing their grievances and setting out measures which were considered necessary to remedy them and to bring the situation under control. At the conclusion of the conference, the leaders of both the majority and the minority communities issued a joint appeal intended to restore some measure of confidence among the minority community pending the implementation of positive measures to remedy their grievances. The question appears also to be engaging the attention of the Central Government of Pakistan. Their Foreign Minister has recently expressed a desire to discuss the matter further and take necessary action.

This migration of nearly a quarter of a million people in 1955 has added tremendously to the heavy problem of migrants who had come to India previously and whose relief and rehabilitation is one of our most difficult tasks. The increased flow of migration has made the position of West Bengal very nearly intolerable.
Efforts are being made to locate lands in States other than West Bengal where these displaced persons might be rehabilitated. Some states have offered blocks of land, but these will require considerable reclamation and development.

It is obvious that the continued migration in alarming proportions is a matter of the greatest concern to the Government of India. Essentially, it is for the Pakistan Government to take such steps as are necessary to create conditions in which this migration will cease. The Government of India will do all that is within their power to persuade the Pakistan Government to create such conditions.

3086. Joint Communiqué issued by Pakistan and India Delegations at the conclusion of the Minorities Conference.

Dacca, May 6, 1956.

The two-day Indo-Pakistan Conference convened at Dacca to consider the question of Hindu minority exodus from East Pakistan came to end today. Discussions were conducted in an atmosphere of cordiality and, there was a full and frank exchange of views. It was agreed that minorities are the responsibility of the government of the country to which they belong and it is as much the duty of minorities themselves to owe unreserved loyalty to their country and look up to their government for redress of their legitimate grievances as it is that of the government concerned to ensure that they remain happy and contented on terms of perfect equality in all walks of life with the rest of citizens of the country. The proper place for Hindus of East Pakistan is East Pakistan.

It has been further agreed that some positive steps should be taken to eliminate as far as possible the factors that tend to encourage exodus and to achieve this end both the delegations undertook to co-operate wholeheartedly. On behalf of their government the delegation of Pakistan reiterated their firm determination that minorities were their trust and that their right to live honorably as full citizens of Pakistan as guaranteed by Pakistan Constitution would be fully and effectively safeguarded.

In the view of both the delegations, the causes for exodus are many and varied. Broadly speaking they come under categories of psychological factors, economic conditions, social requirements, grievances, the latent gravitational pull of leaders, relations and friends who have already migrated to India, free facilities of crossing Anil K. Chanda, Deputy Minister for External Affairs, who was part of the Indian Delegation headed by the Minister for Minority Affairs C.C. Biswas attending the Conference reported to the Prime Minister that Pakistan blamed the Indian Migration Officer stationed in Dacca for indiscriminate issue of migration certificates which encouraged migration to India. He added that B.C. Roy, Chief Minister West Bengal had also bitterly complained to Mehr Chand Khanna, Union Rehabilitation Minister, that migration certificates have been indiscriminately issued and had suggested the setting up of an efficient organization to ensure the granting of certificates only in deserving cases. After considering the report, the Prime Minister in a note on May 11 to the Commonwealth Secretary M. J. Desai observed that it was clear from the accounts furnished to him that "the person responsible for grant of migration certificates in East Bengal has done his work most over to other side in expectation of rehabilitation among persons of their own culture, religion and ceremonial observances, and propaganda carried on by some persons with the sole object of misleading Hindus into quitting their hearths and homes and migrating to the adjoining Indian states of West Bengal, Assam and Tripura. All the possible factors were exhaustively reviewed and it was agreed that both Governments would lend their unstinted cooperation to the solution of this problem. Steps already taken by Government of East Pakistan to ensure that minorities are not induced to migrate were also brought to the notice of the Conference. Following among others are the measures which had already been taken: an Advisory Board consisting of MLA's of all political parties of the Minority community and some MLA's from the majority community has been appointed with the Chief Minister as President to supervise the implementation of measures considered necessary to counteract inducement for migration. Government have appointed a Hindu C.S.P. officer as Special Officer for Minority Affairs to look after the interest of the members of the minority community. He has been given power to take up any grievance of the members of the minority communities with the District Authorities and all Government Departments.

A circular has been issued to all officers of the Government reiterating once again their duty towards the minorities.

The age limit and academic qualifications for minority community candidates have been ordered to be relaxed as matter of general rule for the purpose of recruitment in suitable cases.

The Special Officer (Minorities) has been directed to examine new recruitment figures to ensure that Hindus get adequate representation.

Under Government instructions the Revenue Department have employed members of the minority communities to the extent of 23 percent of the vacancies in the Estate Acquisition Department.

The Government of India will take early steps to tighten up the machinery for the issue of migration certificates* so as to prevent indiscriminate issue of certificates

* Anil K. Chanda, Deputy Minister for External Affairs, who was part of the Indian Delegation headed by the Minister for Minority Affairs C.C. Biswas attending the Conference reported to the Prime Minister that Pakistan blamed the Indian Migration Officer stationed in Dacca for indiscriminate issue of migration certificates which encouraged migration to India. He added that B.C. Roy, Chief Minister West Bengal had also bitterly complained to Mehr Chand Khanna, Union Rehabilitation Minister, that migration certificates have been indiscriminately issued and had suggested the setting up of an efficient organization to ensure the granting of certificates only in deserving cases. After considering the report, the Prime Minister in a note on May 11 to the Commonwealth Secretary M. J. Desai observed that it was clear from the accounts furnished to him that "the person responsible for grant of migration certificates in East Bengal has done his work most and any abuse or exploitation of this facility by anti-social elements. While making it clear that migration certificates shall be issued only in deserving cases the Government of India agree that proper and detailed scrutiny of each application for migration certificate shall be made and all suggestions by the Government of Pakistan in this behalf would be given full consideration. Both the Governments hope that the steps which the Government of Pakistan propose to take to restore confidence in the minds of the members of the minority community so as to lessen their urge for migration would, together with the steps taken by India for proper scrutiny of migration certificates, progressively result in considerable reduction of minority migration which is the basis of the Nehru-Liaquat Agreement.

inadequately and perfunctorily. For the last many months we have been laying stress on restricting the number of migrants. If, in spite of this, no proper examination of applications was made, it does not speak well for our office at Dacca." He directed that "efficient arrangements should be made for through scrutiny and checking in each case before a migration certificate was issued". He even suggested the replacement of the present Migration Officer if there were doubts about his competence.

The Pakistan delegation at the conference had suggested that the Nehru-Liaquat Ali Pact owed its origin to very peculiar circumstances prevailing in 1950, and could be scrapped altogether. The Indian side, however, maintained that so long as the pact stood, India was morally bound to permit migration if Hindus in East Pakistan genuinely felt that they could not remain there. The Prime Minister too felt that the Nehru-Liaquat Pact as originally framed had since lost its relevance "under the existing conditions" but he was keen that it should be replaced by something else.

It may be recalled that on May 4 in answering a parliamentary question in the Lok Sabha Sadath Ali Khan, Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister has said:

"Migration Certificates are not refused where, after proper examination of each case, the grant of these facilities comes within the rooms. The Policy of Government has, however always be to not to encourage the exodus of the minority community from East Pakistan to India. "Efforts have been repeatedly made urging the Government of Pakistan to create conditions in the East Pakistan to prevent this exodus. The Deputing High Commissioner for India in Dacca has also instructions to endeavor to convince the members of Minority Committee of community to remain in East Pakistan. But when any member of the Minority Committee insist on coming to India, certificates are issued to them after proper examination of each case."

Letter from High Commissioner in Pakistan C. C. Desai to Commonwealth Secretary in the Ministry of External Affairs M. J. Desai.

Karachi, January 23, 1958
High Commissioner for India
Karachi

D.O.No.HC/58/58 23rd January 1958

My dear M.J.,

1. Malik Firoz Khan Noon, Prime Minister of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, addressed a press conference in Karachi on 11th January 1958. This conference was not for any specific purpose but was his 1st conference after assuming office as Prime Minister. So, he touched on a number of points -- Muslim League, smuggling in East Pakistan, Sheikh Abdullah's release, Macmillan's visit, Pakistan National Assembly proceedings, Baghdad Pact and N.A.T.O. etc.

2. One of the questions put to him by a correspondent related to the remarks made by Mian Mumtaz Daultana in the National Assembly during the course of his speech on the debate on measures to check smuggling in East Pakistan on 8th January 1958. The questioner asked whether Noons attention was drawn to the statement by Daultana that nearly 2 lakh Indian citizens were roaming in East Pakistan. It was in reply to this question that Firoz Khan Noon said that he had made "verbal enquiries". He added, in typical Noon style, (according to the report in the DAWN of 12 January) "nobody can deny or accept the figure but there is no doubt that a very large numbers of Bharati citizens are roaming about the province without passports and without visas. I have asked that inquiries should be made. We are going to arrest the whole damn lot of them, and going to put them in concentration camps to build mud roads".

3. The subject was not pursued by the correspondent and Firoz Khan Noon did not elaborate on his statement.

4. The report of the press conference published in the Indian newspapers did not specifically referred to "Indians without passports and without visas" but to Indians only but really that does not make much difference. The Indian press had also played up the story to draw pointed attention to Firoz Khan Noon's remarks. This naturally created a sense of uneasiness. The exact context in which Firoz Khan Noon made the statement was clarified in a Press Trust of India report from Karachi which was also published in the Indian press.

5. No official handout of the press conference has been issued or could be had even though specially approached. The Foreign Office has also stated that there is no authentic version of Firoz Khan Noon’s statement adding that he gave off-the-record replies to pressmen on the spot and that they were not intended to refer to changing the laws of the country or to affect agreements already existing between India and Pakistan. This clarification by the Foreign Office has to be accepted for what it is worth. The original statement was reproduced in all the Pakistani papers and so there is no doubt about the correctness of its having being made. Also knowing Noon as we do, he must have made the statement.

6. I would be prepared to give the benefit of doubt and say what Noon had in mind was Indians staying in East Pakistan without proper passport and visas. But even so, it is a serious statement to make and requires further consideration. Is the Pakistan Government within its rights to arrest Indians in East Pakistan without travel documents, to put them in concentration camps and to treat them as slaves by making them build their mud roads? Would not such a treatment be a violation of Indo-Pakistan agreement or for that matter of general international practice? That such a statement should have been made by the Prime Minister of a neighbouring country is itself a matter both for concern in India and for examination of its implications both in practice and in law. No civilized country or Government or Prime Minister would today talk of concentration camps for foreign nationals or speak of them disparagingly in the way that Malik Firoz Khan Noon has done. We must take strong exception to this statement even after we make allowance for the fact that Malik Firoz Khan Noon is not known for common sense or good sense or responsibility in the use of language. We must take him as the Prime Minister of Pakistan and not as an irresponsible minister in the nature of a buffoon, which he real is. Malik Sahib forgets that there are still large number of Pakistanis roaming about in India without valid passports and visas but nobody in India has, however, spoken of our intension to put them in concentration camps or to use them to make our mud roads. Infect, judging from a report which appeared in the STATESMAN dated 22-1-1958, there is a racket going on in Calcutta under which false and forged passports are issued to these Pakistani nationals to enable them to stay on in India as Indian nationals. Also the effect of such a statement on the minorities in East Pakistan has to be considered. They would pickup any Hindu even though he may be a genuine Pakistani citizens and treat him as an Indian without passport and visa and put him in a concentration camp and use him to make a mud road or their bamboo houses. I, therefore, suggest that a formal and strong protest should be made against the statement of Noon and that such a protest should be handed over to the Pakistan High Commissioner in Delhi personally. Everybody to whom I speak about this statement is apologetic and ashamed and says what else can you expect from Noon. He was speaking not to an individual newspaper man but a full-fledged regular press conference where a large number of Pressmen were present. It is true that only Noon could have made such a statement but that is no reason we should condone or forget it.

With kind regards,

Yours ever,

C.C. Desai

Shri M.J. Desai, ICS, Commonwealth Secretary, Minister of External Affairs, New Delhi.

New Delhi, February 1, 1958.

The Ministry of External Affairs presents its compliments to the High Commission of Pakistan in India and has the honour to refer to reports published in newspapers in Pakistan and in India of a statement made by the Prime Minister of Pakistan at a Press conference on 11th January, 1958. The report in the DAWN (Karachi) of 12th January, 1958 read:

"When his attention was drawn to Mian Mumtaz Mohammad Khan Daulatana's statement that nearly two lakhs Bharati citizens were roaming in East Pakistan, Malik Firoz Khan Noon said that he had made 'verbal enquiries'. "Nobody can deny or accept the figure, but there is no doubt that a very large number of Bharatiya citizens are roaming about the province without passports and without visas. We are going to arrest the whole damn lot and going to put them in concentrations camps to build mud roads".

2. The Pakistan Prime Minister's statement has caused widespread concern amongst the public and the Press in India. The Government of India took immediate action to get an authorized version of the statement through their High Commission in Pakistan. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relations of the Government of Pakistan did not, however, issue any amendment or clarification but merely informed the Indian High Commission that no authentic version of the Prime Minister's statement was available and that the statement was not intended to refer to changing the laws of the country or to affect agreements already existing between India and Pakistan.

3. The Ministry views with serious concern the announcement made by the Prime Minister of Pakistan in an official press conference that all Indians in East Pakistan without passports and without visas will be arrested and put in concentration camps to build mud roads. The Policy announced by the Pakistan Prime Minister is not only against all international practice but is in direct violation of the spirit of all Indo-Pakistan Agreements on Passports & Visas.

4. The Government of India have, since the Pakistan Prime Minister’s statement, received disturbing reports of harassment and arrest of Pakistan nationals of the Minority community and bona fide Indian travelers in East Pakistan. A number of Hindus who had returned to East Pakistan in accordance with the Prime Ministers’ Agreement of 1950 and settled down as Pakistan nationals are reported to have been arrested. Also bona fide Indian travelers who had applied for extension of visas which were expiring have been arrested and sentenced, sometimes to months of rigorous imprisonment, though their overstay was due to reasons beyond their control.

5. The Ministry of External Affairs is gravely concerned at these developments and lodges an emphatic protest against the threat of concentration camps and forced labour made in Pakistan Prime Minister’s statement, the harsh and repressive measures being taken against bona fide Indian travelers in East Pakistan in violation of all normal international practice and the terms of the Indo-Pakistan Passport and Visa Agreement and against Pakistani nationals of the Minority community in violation of the Prime Ministers Agreement of 1950.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission of Pakistan in India the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission of Pakistan in India,

IMMEDIATE

No.68. February 2, 1958.

M.J. From C.C.

Saw NOON this morning and spoke to him about (1) his famous statement regarding concentration camps and mud roads and (2) Agartala Visa Office.
2. He said that he did make the statement attributed to him but there was no question or intention of opening concentration camps or sending Indians there. His object he said was first to frighten Indians without valid passports and visas now staying in Pakistan so that they might themselves leave the country for fear of dire consequences of illegal stay in Pakistan. He said that concentration camps meant construction and feeding and naturally they had no intention of spending any money on this but he would not like, he added, this clarification being made public by our Prime Minister. He then stressed that he was well known for his desire to accord equal treatment to both Muslims and Hindus in Pakistan. He said that he was the first Prime Minister to offer a seat in Cabinet to B.K. Das a Congress leader from East Bengal. In other words he confessed to the statement attributed to him but conveyed that he made it lightheartedly and not in any communal spirit or in violation of accepted international standards.

3. As regards Agartala he said that he took action under pressure from East Pakistan Government which advised that Indians with Pakistani visas entered from Tripura side and indulged in large scale smuggling for prevention of which this step was necessary. Secondly East Pakistan Government told him that Pakistanis possessing lands in Tripura were not being permitted to bring any grains to Pakistan and so Pakistan Visa Office in Agartala served no useful purpose whatever. He can only reopen Agartala Office if requested to do so by East Pakistan Government. My interpretation of this is that they probably wish to use the lever of Agartala Visa Office to press us in regard to Ziratia tenants where we have now taken a certain definite line. My advice is to stand firm as regards Ziratia tenants and if it comes to that to accept Agartala closure despite its inconvenience to our Tripura people. If however we are prepared to revise our attitude about Ziratia tenants matter should be tackled by MAITRA in Dacca with East Pakistan Government and get them to advise NOON differently.

4. NOON then spoke to me about relations between our two countries and asked me to proceed to Delhi and convey even personally to our Prime Minister NOON's earnest wish to settle both Kashmir and Canal Water disputes amicably and by direct negotiation. He said that United Nations or third parties were of no help and were on other hand laughing at us for our quarrels and disputes. He said that if we were prepared to go out one step towards settlement they would take ten steps to meet us when we are not going to fight why beg for armaments and pile up weapons thus denying funds for development and for improvement of lot of our people. He said "We get these things free and you pay for them. We desire that neither should we get them free nor should you waste your resources over armament. You buy something and we press our friends to give us same things and this goes on all the time. It is ruining both of us. I am all for peace and amicable settlement of disputes and my President is aware of my views on this subject."

3090. Statement by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in the Lok Sabha commenting on the Statement of Pakistan Prime Minister Firoz Khan Noon at his press conference.

New Delhi, February 10, 1958.

Newspapers of 12 January 1958, in India and Pakistan, carried reports of a statement made by the Prime Minister of Pakistan at a press conference in Karachi the previous day wherein he referred to arresting Indian citizens in East Pakistan and putting them in concentration camps. The following appeared in the Dawn of Karachi dated 12 January:

There was no doubt in his mind that "a very large numbers of Bharati citizens are roaming about the province without passports and visas." The Prime Minister declared that "we are going to arrest the whole damn lot of them, and going to put them in concentration camps to build mud roads."

The Statement of the Prime Minister of Pakistan naturally caused concern amongst the Indian public. Our High Commissioner in Karachi was therefore telegraphically asked to request the Government of Pakistan for an authentic version of their Prime Minister's statement. The Prime Minister of Pakistan was on a foreign tour and the Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations informed our High Commissioner that no authentic version of Prime Minister Noon's statement was available. They added that what he said to some pressmen was off-the-record and that he did not intend to refer to changing any law or to vary any agreements existing between India and Pakistan.

In view of the unsatisfactory nature of the clarification and the threat of putting Indian citizens in concentration camps and using them as forced labour to build mud roads made in the statement, Government of India protested against this statement of the Prime Minister of Pakistan which was in violation of normal international practice in these matters and also violated the terms of the Indo-Pakistan Passport and Visa Agreement.

Since his return to Karachi, the Pakistan Prime Minister has clarified his earlier statement in an interview given to the press. The following report of the clarification appeared in the DAWN of Karachi dated 3 February:

Malik Firoz Khan Noon pointed out that it was stated by an Opposition member of Parliament during the last session in Dacca that there were 2,00,000 Bharati citizens roaming about in East Pakistan without Passports or visas of any kind.

"I stated in an answer to him the Prime Minister recalled, "that if there were any foreigners without passports or permits they would be arrested and put into concentration camps - since they would be too many for our few jails, and made to build roads, since it would be difficult to provide other labour for them."

"Since there have been no arrests of such persons, it is clear that either there were no such unauthorized persons or if there were any, they must have cleared out of East Pakistan as a salutary result of my statement," he said, and remarked: "Both conclusions are to be welcomed."

I do not wish to add any comments to the various statements made by the Prime Minister of Pakistan.

Movement of persons from India into East Pakistan and from East Pakistan into India is not barred provided the persons concerned carry appropriate travel documents. The so-called operation "Closed Door" conducted on East Pakistan-Indian border is an intensive anti-smuggling drive conducted by the Pakistan authorities and is not meant to be a sealing of borders between India and East Pakistan.

The Government of India have received reports that Pakistan Border Police and the Pakistan Army who are operating on the India-East Pakistan border in connection with this anti-smuggling drive have, in some cases, been responsible for border incidents involving trespass into Indian territory, kidnapping and harassment of Indian nationals, forcible removal of property belonging to Indians and to some extent disorganizing the border trade arrangements between East Pakistan and India. These incidents have been taken up with the Pakistan authorities both at the level of the State and Central Governments. We have also lodged a general protest about these incidents and asked the Pakistan Government to apprehend and punish those responsible for the incidents and to issue clear instructions to the Pakistan Police and Pakistan Army personnel operating on the border not to harass those engaged in border trade in pursuance of the Indo-Pakistan Agreement in this matter.

New Delhi, December 12, 1959.

Government of India have during the last few months, seen reports in the press that no fresh passports were being issued to the minority community in East Pakistan, that the passports presented for renewal were being seized and that the applicants for India - Pakistan passports were being asked to pay a security deposit of Rs. 100/-.

From enquiries, it has been ascertained that the Government of East Pakistan have:

i. undertaken a rigorous check of the antecedents of passport holders, particularly those belonging to the minority community, as a part of the drive against smuggling and large number of passports are held up with the district authorities pending the conclusion of necessary enquiries;

ii. directed that those applying for new India-Pakistan passport should deposit Rs. 100/- before issue of the passports and those who already hold a passport should deposit Rs. 100/- before undertaking travel to India; and

iii. issued instructions that the members of the minority community should be asked to give detailed information about their income, taxes paid, the members of their family living outside Pakistan, remittances made etc.

These measures taken by the Government of East Pakistan and the consequent delays in the renewal of old passports and the issue of new passports have been causing serious hardship to the members of the minority community in East Pakistan. This, in some measure, explains the monthly average figures of migration which have gone up from 411 in 1958 to 609 during the first ten months of 1959.

Our representatives at Dacca and Karachi had taken up this matter with the Pakistan authorities concerned. The Government of East Pakistan have told our representative that scrutiny of antecedents of passport holders has been undertaken with a view to check smuggling and to detect forged passports, large numbers of which have been in circulation. As regards the deposit, the Pakistan authorities have stated that deposits have been asked for to enable the East Pakistan Government, in case of need, to arrange for repatriation of their nationals who have traveled to India and the larger deposits have been asked from those applying for passport facilities to travel to countries other than India. As regards the detailed information about income, taxes paid etc., the East Pakistan authorities have stated that these enquiries are being made with a view to check illicit transfer of funds in violation of the foreign exchange regulations. The Pakistan authorities also informed our High Commissioner in Karachi that the measures taken by them apply to all Pakistan nationals and that there is no basis for the allegation that there is any discrimination against members of the minority community in East Pakistan.

When this matter was raised informally at the last meeting of the Chief Secretaries of the Eastern Zone held in Calcutta in August, 1959, the East Pakistan authorities promised to issue instructions to expedite the enquiries and relieve the hardship caused by the delay in the renewal or issue of passports. Our representatives at Dacca and Karachi are following up this matter with the authorities concerned in pursuance of this assurance given at the conference of Chief Secretaries.

New Delhi, June 6, 1961.

Ministry of External Affairs

The acting High Commissioner of Pakistan saw me this morning at his request. He said that he had nothing specific but he had come to take counsel on the subject of Indo-Pakistan relations and the present deterioration particularly in newspaper publicity.

2. He talked about Laos to begin with and I told him briefly the latest development both between the three princes of Laos who head the various parties to the conflict in Laos and the position reached in the Geneva Conference. I broadly told him that in view of the Vienna meeting and the decision of the three princes to meet in Nice to hammer out compromise arrangements for a coalition government, the trends offered to the hopeful.

3. On the question of Indo-Pakistan relations, I told the High Commissioner about the cloak of secrecy surrounding the serious disturbances that had occurred in East Pakistan. I mentioned to the High Commissioner that according to our information over 500 members of the minority community had been killed in these riots and considerable damage to property had occurred. Several villages had been more or less burnt out. I told the High Commissioner that unfortunate incidents of this sort may occur but the attitude of Government should be frank and direct. I related to the High Commissioner that the attitude we had adopted and the measures we had adopted and are still taking to avoid disturbances of the type that occurred in Jabalpur; by contrast the Pakistan attitude in the case of riots in East Pakistan appeared to be not only secretive and malicious and discriminatory against their own citizens of the minority community. I added that the reference in Pakistan newspapers to the incidents at Jabalpur in India as a justification for what has happened in East Pakistan made matters worse.

The High Commissioner said that he had no information about the facts of these incidents but he appreciated the directness and frankness of the Government of India. I told him that in cases of this sort the main point was the attitude of the government and whether government takes all necessary measures to deal with incompetent or prejudiced officials in-charge and establishes a machinery of administration which makes recurrence of incidents of this sort absolutely impossible. The Acting High Commissioner said that he hoped the Governor of East Pakistan was taking all necessary measures to protect the life and property of citizens in East Pakistan regardless of the community to which they belonged.

4. I mentioned to the Acting High Commissioner the damage being done by rabid and unrestrained propaganda in the Pakistan press particularly the Dawn. I said that the printed word does carry a lot of weight with the masses of our people both in India and Pakistan because they are not well informed particularly in the rural areas. The Pakistan Acting High Commissioner agreed and said that he had been bringing this matter to his Government's notice and asking them to restrain the Pakistan press particularly the Dawn. He added that it may be a good idea for India to take initiative in arranging the six-monthly meeting of the Information Consultative Committee which is due now and which it is India's turn to invite. I told the Acting High Commissioner that I will bring this matter to the notice of the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting and will let him know how the matter is being processed.

5. I mentioned another matter to the Pakistan Acting High Commissioner, namely, our repeated requests for the meeting of the Joint Committee on Shrines and Holy Places. I said that we have been pursuing this matter since some time in 1958, that I had myself talked to successive Foreign Secretaries of Pakistan and also to General Shaikh but nothing seems to have been done. I said that it is a regrettable feature of Indo-Pakistan relations that cooperation in the common interest at functional level is always made dependent upon what might be virtually called political surrender on questions like Kashmir. I said that this game has been played for over 14 years with no advantage to either country and those in authority in both countries should realize that sovereign independent countries will not surrender to political blackmail of this sort. It is best, therefore, to adopt a constructive attitude on various matters of common functional interest. This cooperation may ultimately create a climate between the people and the governments of the two countries which will make settlement of Kashmir question a practical proposition. The best thing is to live with the Kashmir question in its present form without surrendering any vital principle and go on increasing the cooperation in various spheres to the maximum extent possible.

6. I told the Pakistan Acting High Commissioner that I had put these ideas of mine purely on a personal level because he asked for advice and suggestions. He said that he was extremely grateful to me for sparing this time and giving him this opportunity of exchanging ideas on improvement of Indo-Pakistan relations. He mentioned in this connection that a meeting of the Rehabilitation Ministers of both sides is scheduled to take place sometime towards the end of this month and he will, meanwhile, ask his Foreign Office to expedite the question of meeting of the joint Committee on shrines and holy places.

7. CS may see this note for information of his return.

3093. Note from the Pakistan High Commission in India to Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, October 10, 1961.

Office of the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India

No.15(12)P/61 October 10, 1961

The High Commission for Pakistan presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, and has the honor to state that the Government and the people of Pakistan have in the last few days watched with deep anxiety and concern the continuously spreading anti-Muslim riots in certain districts of Uttar Pradesh which have already resulted in loss of life and injuries to a large number of Muslims and to the destruction of their properties.

2. While it may not be necessary to recapitulate the various reports of these anti-Muslim riots as published in the Indian press itself, it might, for the present, suffice to say that, in referring to the atrocities perpetrated on the Muslim minority in Aligarh and other places, the Chief Minister of Uttar Pradesh is reported to have said that “the whole thing was engineered by an organized force from outside the student community” (The Statesman dated October 9, 1961). While confirming this observation of his Chief Minister, the Home Minister of U.P. is also reported to have said that the communal disturbances were due to “an organized attempt by certain political parties” (Times of India dated October 9, 1961). The Home Minister is reported to have further observed that in the current wave of communal frenzy in U.P., one party had nearly all the time been on the offensive and the other on the defensive. He is also stated to have observed that nearly all the casualties in all the cities where the wave of disturbances had spread had been on one side (The Statesman dated October 9, 1961). About the very genesis of these troubles itself, the Link, (October 8, 1961) While narrating the facts, has stated that since Hindu candidates were defeated in the Aligarh University Union elections, and since they could not tolerate the defeat, the supporters of the defeated group from outside the University Union elections, and since they could not tolerate the defeat, the supporters of the defeated group from outside the University raided a hostel and assaulted sympathizers of the victorious group. This statement is also generally in accordance with the sequence of events as related by Colonel B.H. Zaidi, the Vice-Chancellor of the University in his statement to the press on October 5, 1961.

3. The above statement together with the tragic events of the recent past like the Jabalpur riots leads to the alarming conclusion that the current oppression and persecution of the unfortunate Muslims of Uttar Pradesh is the result of a sinister campaign organized by certain well known militant and fanatical sections of the Hindu community which have made no secret of their objective to bring about the complete elimination of the Muslim minority community in India.

4. Although the Government of Pakistan would, ordinarily, wish to avoid any implication of interference in matters which would seem to be the internal affairs of India, the harrowing accounts of the current anti-Muslim riots in Uttar Pradesh have compelled the Government of Pakistan to remind the Government of India of the solemn pledges made in the Prime Ministers’ Agreement of April 1950 by which both the Governments had undertaken to maintain fully the sense of security in respect of life, culture, property and personal honour of the minorities. The people of Pakistan cannot help feeling extremely concerned over the fate of the Muslim minority in India when it is recalled that since April 1950 more than 500 anti-Muslim riots have already taken place in India. The agonizing memories, only a few months ago, of the sufferings of Muslims in Jabalpur and its neighbouring areas are unhappily still fresh in their minds. The wave of anti-Muslim riots which began in the city of Aligarh this time, has, therefore, deeply shocked both the people and the Government of Pakistan again.

5. The Government of Pakistan have instructed this Mission to convey to the Government of India their earnest hope that prompt and adequate steps will be taken by the Government of India, in the true spirit of the Prime Ministers' Agreement of April, 1950, to curb ruthlessly the criminal activities of the many anti-Muslim elements in India which, in their intolerance and fanaticism seek, among their other objectives, to finally destroy such historical and famous Muslim educational and cultural institutions like the Aligarh University. The Government of Pakistan will also request the Government of India to resort to all available resources to stop the present widespread anti-Muslim riots and to take rigorous punitive action against those persons who are responsible for organizing and perpetrating these heinous crimes against a completely helpless minority community.

6. While the Government of Pakistan appreciate that some steps have already been taken by the authorities to restore law and order in the affected areas, news is still being received of fresh attacks on Muslim life and property. Not only does the communal tension continue to persist in such a wide-spread area, but also its extension to further areas like Dehra Dun, etc., cannot fail to leave an impression of inadequacy in regard to administrative measures adopted thus far to cope with the existing serious communal situation. The present inability of the Provincial authorities to localize or contain these riots, unfortunately, does not encourage the hope that the feeling of security and confidence amongst the Muslim minority might be restored for a considerable time to come. In this context, the Government of Pakistan wish to convey to the Ministry their deep regret over the Government of India's unilateral decision to abolish the portfolio of Minister of Minority Affairs established under the Prime Ministers' Agreement of 1950.

7. The reports which have appeared in the India press from day to day seem to be sketchy and very often conflicting. Figures given of casualties amongst Muslims appear deliberately minimized as in certain cases entire Muslim families appear to have been murdered. The Picture obtained thus far, therefore, appears inadequate and unconvincing. With a view to making more objective and reliable assessment of the situation, this Mission has been directed by the Government of Pakistan to seek the ministry's cooperation in affording appropriate facilities to one or more of its officers to visit Aligarh and other affected areas. It is earnestly hoped that the Ministry will be kind enough to give early and favorable consideration to this request.

8. The High Commission for Pakistan avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry of External Affairs the assurances of its highest consideration.

Ministry of External Affairs
New Delhi

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan, and in acknowledging the latter's Note No. 15(12)P/61 dated October 10, 1961 on the subject of recent disturbances in Uttar Pradesh, notes with regret that the Government of Pakistan thought it fit to give advance publicity in the newspapers to their note on the very day on which it was intended to be presented by the High Commission on behalf of the Government of Pakistan. This unfortunate procedure adopted by the Government of Pakistan is not only inconsistent with normal diplomatic practice but defeats the very purpose of the presentation of the note as it inflames communal passions and creates unnecessary tension.

2. The Government of India have been pained to observe that the Pakistan Government's note has also been preceded by several statements by responsible Pakistan leaders who have indiscriminately leveled charges of inefficiency and victimization against the Government of India, without taking cognizance of the strong condemnation of the disturbances by the leaders of the Republic of India whose responsibility it is to direct the activities of the Government of India and immediate steps initiated under their direction to establish law and order and conditions of peace in the affected area. The leaders of Pakistan have by their own statements and by encouraging uncontrolled and irresponsible outbursts in the Pakistan press only added to the tension and inflamed communal passions still further.

3. The Government of India are always prepared to give the fullest possible information to the Pakistan High Commission in New Delhi on matters of concern to the Government of Pakistan on the basis of friendly cooperation. Despite the unfriendly and provocative statements made by leaders of Pakistan and the premature publication in the press of their note, Government of India have promptly responded on 11th October to the High Commission's request for a team of its officers to visit the area of disturbances and accorded through the State Government all necessary facilities for this visit.

4. Attempt has been made in the High Commission's Note on the basis of odd press reports taken out of their context to establish the genesis of the trouble and put the blame on a particular community. Even the statement made by Col. B.H. Zaidi, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Aligarh, on October 5, has been deliberately misconstrued to support this particular thesis. Colonel Zaidi had while regretting the incident, stated that the practice of communal basis for elections in the University which is highly objectionable was brought in this year. The trouble arose thereafter. All successful candidates took out effigies of the defeated candidates. This led to hot words and squabbles between two groups of students leading to injuries to eight - six Hindus and two Muslims. It was this incident on 2nd October that sparked off the recent disturbances.

5. The Ministry has given these facts and genesis of the disturbances only to correct the misleading presentation in the High Commission's note. Regardless of the genesis of the incidents the State Government has taken prompt action to apprehend the wrong-doers and to establish law and order. The anti-social elements who caused these disturbances will be dealt with according to law regardless of their caste or creed.

6. Reference has been made in the High Commission's note to the abolition of the Portfolio of the Minister of Minority Affairs established under the Prime Ministers' Agreement of 1950. As the High Commission is aware, it was the Government of Pakistan who unilaterally closed down the Minority Affairs Office in Dacca and thus left India with no alternative but to close down the Minority Affairs Office in Calcutta and to abolish the Minority Affairs Department. The Indian Minister for Minority Affairs had already addressed a communication on this subject to the Pakistan Minister for Minority Affairs protesting against Pakistan's earlier unilateral decision to close down the Minority Affairs Office in Dacca and conveying the subsequent consequential action taken by the Government of India.

7. The Government of India, in the full consciousness of their responsibilities, wish to assure the Government of Pakistan that they have been taking and will continue to take, when necessary, all such full and complete measures that may be required to protect the person, property and the honour of the citizens of India without any discrimination whatever. The Government of India would be grateful if the Pakistan authorities and the press will cooperate and be good enough to desist from making provocative pronouncements and statements which unnecessarily cause bad blood between various communities.

8. The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

3095. Extract from the Statement of Pakistan Foreign Minister Mohammed Ali Bogra in the Pakistan National Assembly relevant to the Muslims' eviction from Tripura.

He said there were militant organizations in India which indulge in a ceaseless smear campaign against minorities and the situation has been further aggravated by responsible Indian newspapers.

He also accused the Government of West Bengal of trying to encourage migration from East Pakistan to West Bengal in order to uproot minorities from West Bengal.

This, he said, had created serious tensions.

The External Affairs Minister pointed out that there had been many riots in India and according to figures available with him the total now exceeded 540.

He said communal disturbances broke out not only in Jabalpur, Malda, Murshidabad but also in New Delhi, the seat of the Government, and Agra very near to the Capital.

A large number of refugees, he added, had been pouring in from the riot-torn parts of West Bengal recently into the districts of Rajshahi and Bogra.
He said it was to the credit of the people of Pakistan that in spite of most grave provocations they behaved with dignity and restraint and did not victimize the minorities.

He said it was to the credit of the people of Pakistan to take extra special measures to ensure safety and protection to the minorities. So much so that in their anxiety to protect minorities some authorities went to the extent of arresting even some innocent persons on mere suspicions recently in the district of Bogra.

He said Pakistan did not expect India to measure up to the former's standard of justice and fair treatment to minorities. We would have been satisfied if she (India) would emulate even one-tenth of what Pakistan had done to protect minorities in this country.

The Minister said the Pakistan Government had been trying to do all it could do to afford comfort to those Muslims who had been uprooted from their hearth and homes in India and who had sought refuge in Pakistan. But there were limits on the country's resources, particularly of land.

Mr. Ali said Pakistan would have been prepared to accept all the Muslims from India but unfortunately the subcontinent was not partitioned on the basis of population.

He said let there be another partition of India on the basis of population and Pakistan would not hesitate in rehabilitating all the Muslim refugees from India.

He said Indian Premier Nehru was fond of saying "I hang down my head in shame", while referring to communal riots in India. But he (Nehru) was in a position to prevent Indian Eichmanns from committing genocide of Muslims in India.

Proceeding, the External Affairs Minister recalled how India had been shamelessly "back-tracking her agreement and obligations with Pakistan".

He said there was a going-back on Liaquat-Nehru pact on protection of minorities and then there was a going-back in regard to the transfer of Berubari. The Minister said a member had remarked that "Berubari is the road to Tiperari (East Pakistan)".

But he (Mr. Ali) would go to the extent of saying that "Berubari is the road to Timbakttoo".

Mr. Ali said India had also been guilty of violating her international commitment on the right of self-determination for the people of Kashmir. She was not only refusing to fulfill commitments with Pakistan but also with the United Nations.

The Minister said the Government side had every sympathy with the motivations of the mover of the adjournment motion, Mr. Hasan Imam, on the influx of refugees from Indian State of Tripura.

Muslins of India, he said, were "our brothers" sharing a common culture, historical background and a common ethnic background.

"In a way they are fleshe of our flesh and blood of our blood and our hearts go out to them in sympathy."

Referring to Mr. Farid Ahmad's comparison of secular India with Nazi Germany.
Mr. Ali said Hindus in India not only shared with the latter a common symbol of "Swastike" but also the Nazi philosophy of racial superiority. Nazi Germany had one Eichmann but India had the distinction of possessing several hundreds like

Mr. Ali then referred to the fact that many in Pakistan, including President Ayub himself, had repeatedly offered to India to sit around a table and negotiate "on a realistic reasonable and equitable basis" (but not on Indian terms) but he regretted it was never accepted.

The Minister then referred to some Indian Press reports regarding alleged large-scale migrations of Hindus from East Pakistan to West Bengal and strongly refuted them. These he said, were "fabrications, incorrect and baseless." He said even Pandit Nehru had admitted that there had been no abnormal traffic between East Pakistan and West Bengal.

 carga de texto no início da página
Thereafter, some thousands of people, Hindus there wanted and expressed their wish to come over to India. They asked for migration certificates. But for some reason they did not pursue this matter further. Some hundreds came and they went back. We did not refuse them facilities to come. I think the Pakistan Government tried to induce them and succeeded in keeping them back. They did some rehabilitation there too. Many of their huts that had been burnt were rebuilt and some help was given to them. Anyhow, they did not come, except a few hundreds that came. There is always some traffic coming and going. I gave here too, I think, and in the other house figures of people coming from East Bengal to West Bengal and from West Bengal to East Bengal. It was extraordinary that during all this period of high tension, the traffic was more or less normal. I forget what the figures were, five thousand or six thousand either way. It may vary by a few hundreds. Now, when the Muslims were supposed to be, according to the Pakistan press, leaving India in their thousands to go to Pakistan, actually according to our figures, thousands of Muslims in the ordinary course were coming to India from there. In the same way, thousands of Hindus were going actually to Pakistan at the time these occurrences took place or after. Since then, a new development has taken place and that is what occurred in Rajshahi district. I do not know what happened there, but one night a large number, five hundred or six hundred Santhals at 3 a.m. tried to come across the river into the Malda district. That is the Pakistan version and they say of this crowd going at night. The police were naturally concerned and alarmed. They came up, they challenged them, whereupon these people shot arrows from their bows and used spears. And the police fired at them, with the result - the accounts vary - that one or two persons or seven persons were killed about a number came across, may be 100 or 150 and the others went back.

Now, the present position is - I heard it today that about five thousand of these Santhals have come to Malda district from Rajshahi. Apparently, they are coming without any obstruction from the Pakistani authorities.

They have come this time with their animals too. They have come with their animals, bulls, cows, etc., and the Pakistanis have allowed them. Five thousand have come. We do not know how many more may come. It has affected specially the Santhals and there are round about 20,000 Santhals on the other side. More may come. Now, this raises difficult questions for us. For the moment, naturally, we have to give relief to those who come over, but permanent settlement is a difficult question. It was suggested that we should send them to Dandakarnya. Well, we can send some to Dandakaranya. We cannot send any unlimited number. For the moment, it has been decided by the Chief Minister of West Bengal - he has informed us of this - in consultation with our Government here to send a special train carrying about 1,000 of these Santhal refugees to Dandakaranya. And to choose agriculturists from them to go there, because there are many fishermen. Fishermen have no particular place there. There is no fish to be had in Dandakaranya.

An Hon. Member: Have you made any enquiries as to why the Santhals are coming in such numbers? Does it mean that everything is not quite peaceful in East Pakistan?

The Prime Minister: I have said that originally the difficulties arose because of some conflict between Santhals and Muslims. The very first thing was that a Santhal woman was selling some fruit and they had an argument about the price. The woman was slapped on the face. This was in Malda district. This resulted in the Santhals there too later attacking the Muslims, burning some of their huts and killing two or three persons. Then on the ‘Holi’ day, which came soon after, there was another attack by Santhals on Muslims. The Santhals were roused by this incident. On the other side in the major incidents that happened in Rajshahi district Santhals were also sufferers. But I cannot make out one thing, because nothing has been reported to us for the last month or more or six weeks. We thought that was over and we saw this traffic becoming normal.

An Hon. Member: How is it that it has not been reported, because in the Bengal papers also some Pakistan papers come to West Bengal - we did see reports appearing? How is it that Government has not received reports from its Mission in Dacca?

The Prime Minister: We have received full reports. I am saying that in the last month or six weeks nothing has happened not only to our knowledge but apparently to Pakistan Government’s knowledge or Bengal Government’s knowledge. I do not understand why this time particularly Snathals had come out. They had reason to come six weeks ago. May be they were thinking about it and they came to a decision, because they function in more or less in a tribal fashion, in a group fashion.

Dacca, August 2, 1962.

The 35th conference of Chief Secretaries of East Pakistan, Assam and West Bengal and the Chief Commissioner of Tripura was held at Dacca on August 1st and 2nd 1962. The discussions at the Conference reviewed the progress of work of demarcation of international boundary between East Pakistan and Assam, West Bengal and Tripura and considered ways and means of expediting the completion of this work by removing procedural and other difficulties. It was agreed that the work on demarcation on all outstanding sectors should begin on the 1st of November, 1962. The Conference considered the situation arising from the deportation of persons from Tripura and Assam and the influx of refugees from West Bengal to East Pakistan and vice versa. The Chief Secretaries of East Pakistan and West Bengal agreed to facilitate the return of the refugees to their home districts and their rehabilitation therein. The two Chief Secretaries reaffirmed the determination of their respective Governments to maintain peace and communal harmony. In this connection the Chief Secretaries noted with concern that during the recent communal disturbances a section of the press on both sides had published highly objectionable and exaggerated stories which tended to result in inflammation of communal passions and aggravation of tension. The Chief Secretaries decided to appeal to the Press to desist from publishing such material and, instead actively assist in the speedy restoration of normal and peaceful conditions and amity on both sides of the border.

The Chief Secretaries agreed to hold their next meeting at Shillong (Assam) by the middle of November, 1962.

3098. Question in Lok Sabha; "Hindus in East Bengal".
New Delhi, August 18, 1962.

Question
Will the Prime Minister be pleased to state:
(a) whether it is a fact that most of the Hindus, Harijans in particular who had settled in Pakistan after the partition, were converted in to Muslims;
(b) if so, whether Government have any statistics about them; and
(c) whether it is a fact that for such persons as have now remained there, conditions have been so created that either they may change their religion or leave Pakistan?

Answer
The Prime Minister & Minister of External Affairs (Shri Jawaharlal Nehru):
(a), (b), & (c): No, Sir, the Honourable Member’s contention regarding conversion of Hindus and in particular of Harijans to Islam in Pakistan is not correct, nor is that the reason for their migration to India. This is indicated by East Pakistan population census figures for 1951 and 1961:-

The continuing migration of the minority community from Pakistan to India is due to sense of insecurity and discrimination in the spheres of business, employment, travel and remittance facilities and ownership of private property.

3099. Note from Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to the Indian High Commission in Pakistan.
Karachi, August 8, 1963.

Ministry of External Affairs
Karachi

August 8th, 1963

The Ministry of External Affairs* presents its compliments to the High Commission for India in Pakistan and have the honour to state that during the fourth round of the Ministerial talks on the Kashmir dispute at Calcutta, it was agreed that a separate Ministerial level conference would be held in order to resolve the question of the eviction of Indian Muslims from Tripura and Assam. It was also agreed that the proposed Ministerial meeting would also take up a few border problems which were continuing to exacerbate relations between the two countries. As the Foreign Minister of Pakistan and His Excellency Sardar Swaran Singh, the Indian Minister of Railways, were pre-occupied with the series of talks on Kashmir, it was suggested by the Foreign Minister of Pakistan that the two Governments might nominate other Cabinet Ministers to deal with the question of evictions and border disputes so that these matters could receive early attention of the two Governments.

* For some time the Pakistan Foreign Ministry was renamed "Ministry of External Affairs".
2. Unfortunately, however, the Government of India were unable to agree to the Government of Pakistan’s proposal and indicated that, on their side, the Indian Delegation to the proposed talks would be led by His Excellency Sardar Swaran Singh. Since the distinguished Minister was busy with the Kashmir talks, no Ministerial meetings on these subjects could be arranged before the conclusion of these talks. After the end of the Kashmir talks, the Government of Pakistan hoped that the Government of India would find itself able to suggest an early date for the Ministerial meeting with a view to resolving the problem of evictions and border disputes.

3. In response to enquiries by the Government of Pakistan and much to their surprise, the Government of India have now expressed the view that, instead of holding Ministerial level talks, it would be preferable to pursue these matters through the diplomatic channels.

It will be recalled that past efforts made by the Government of Pakistan to seek some modus vivendi for a settlement of this problem through normal diplomatic channels failed to achieve any progress, and it was for that reason that Ministerial level talks were proposed. The High Commissioner for Pakistan in Delhi had, throughout the last year, made several efforts at different levels with the Government of India in order to persuade them to stop these evictions and to find a mutually agreed solution of this human problem. In spite of the Government of India’s assurances from time to time that these evictions would be stopped, the expulsion of these helpless persons across the border into Pakistan continues unabated.

The Government of Pakistan consider that real progress on the settlement of this problem can only be made at a Ministerial level meeting between the two countries.

4. Continued reports of a sustained campaign of eviction of Indian Muslims from Assam and Tripura are causing great anxiety to the Government and the people of Pakistan. Large numbers of helpless men, women and children are still being relentlessly expelled from their homes. They are crossing into East Pakistan thereby creating a progressively more difficult situation for the Government of Pakistan.

Since this grave situation is imposing an increasing strain on the relations between the two countries, it is earnestly requested that a Ministerial level meeting might be held as early as possible and an amicable solution of this problem be found.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for India in Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission for India in Pakistan, Karachi.
3100. Note from the Ministry of External Affairs to Pakistan High Commission in India.

New Delhi, September 2, 1963.

The Ministry of External Affairs presents their compliments to the High Commission of Pakistan in India and have the honour to state that the Note dated 8th August, 1963, from the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of Pakistan, which was delivered to the High Commission of India in Pakistan, has received the careful consideration of the Government of India.

2. In recent weeks, various accounts have appeared from official Pakistani sources attributing to the Government of India views and actions regarding, both, the substance of the problem of the large-scale infiltration of Pakistani citizens into Assam, West Bengal and Tripura, as well as the possible methods of discussing it, which bear no relation to the actual position. The Government of India have so far refrained from taking formal note of these astonishing misrepresentations; they regret to find these reflected in the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of Pakistan, Note under reference, and are constrained to indicate briefly the correct facts.

3. The Note from the Government of Pakistan alleges that India is evicting her Muslim citizens that she is doing so in breach of official assurances that she would stop the evictions, and that she has avoided discussions towards a settlement of this issue which have been suggested by Pakistan. The Government of India must state categorically that there is no basis in fact for any of these allegations.

4. Having patiently endured, for many years, the continued and heavy influx of Pakistani citizens who left their homes, under whatever compulsions, and settled in areas of Assam, West Bengal and Tripura, in some of which even Indian citizens from outside are not allowed to settle, the Indian authorities were, last year, compelled to deal with a certain number of infiltrators, in accordance with the duly prescribed procedure of the Foreigners Act, similar to that under which Pakistan has in the past evicted Indian citizens from her territory. The Government of India would like to emphasis that the action taken by the Indian authorities against infiltrators has not only been under due process of law, but it has been tempered by humanitarian considerations. Elaborate precautions, including the right of appeal to courts of law, have been taken, to ensure that those who are served with notices to quit Indian territory are in fact unauthorized Pakistani infiltrators and that needless hardship is not caused to them. Out of consideration for the representations made by the Government of Pakistan against this action of the Indian authorities, the Government of India ordered the suspension of these deportations, last year, even though these were fully justified in the circumstances and strictly in accordance with the law. Thereafter, the Government of India must emphasize, there have been no further deportations, except in a few cases where action had to be taken in implementation of judgements given by competent courts of law.

5. Many Pakistan nationals, however, left Assam and Tripura voluntarily, when faced with the overwhelming evidence of their foreign nationality. The movement of infiltrators into Pakistan territory, in recent months, is thus due to their awareness that their presence in India is unauthorized; some of them leave when quit notices are served on them, and others in the realization that similar notices will be served on them.

6. The Government of India are unable to understand how there can be any imputation that initiatives to settle the issue have come from Pakistan and met with no response from India. In point of fact, the record suggests the contrary. It will be recalled that from the very outset of the recent Indo-Pakistan talks on Kashmir and other related matters, India pointed out the need to take up, in addition to Kashmir, other problems which were spoiling relations between the two countries. The leader of the Indian delegation specifically listed, in his opening statement, the questions of infiltration and border disputes among the major problems which should be discussed and resolved. However, it was not until March, 1963, that the Government of Pakistan suggested, during the fourth round of inter-Ministerial talks, at Calcutta, that the question of "evictions" might be taken up. India readily agreed on the advisability of discussions, on this issue as well as on border disputes, but when the Government of India decided that Sardar Swaran Singh would represent them on these discussions also, the Government of Pakistan demurred and stated that they would prefer to await the conclusion of the Kashmir talks before taking up these other matters for consideration. Though the inter-Ministerial talks were intended to deal with other matters also, the Pakistani authorities took the stand that a discussion of these other matters would adversely affect the deliberations on Kashmir. The Government of India were unable to appreciate this stand, which was at variance from the declared purpose of the Joint Statement of November 29, 1962. Nevertheless, when the Pakistan delegation proposed at Calcutta that entirely separate meetings on other matters should be held, India readily agreed, but Pakistan laid down a further condition, that these meetings should have different participants. The question of dealing with foreign infiltrators is the exclusive responsibility of the Government of India; nevertheless, for the sake of improving Indo-Pakistan relations, the Government of India were prepared to discuss this matter with the Government of Pakistan, but they were unable to agree that Pakistan had the right to decide who should or should not be India's representative at these discussions.

7. It is thus clear that during the recent Indo-Pakistan Ministerial talks, which lasted nearly six months, India showed her willingness to discuss all outstanding problems between the two countries, including the question of infiltration, while Pakistan steadfastly declined to take up any other matter, except Kashmir. And when she did suggest a discussion of the one issue which interested her, Pakistan laid down a condition regarding the choice of the Indian representative, which no government would accept. It is, therefore, a matter for regret and surprise that the Government of Pakistan Note under reference should suggest that it is the Government of India which has shown unwillingness to hold Ministerial talks on infiltration and border disputes.

8. The Government of India have been consistently anxious to hold discussions with Pakistan to deal with the major irritants coming in the way of good relations between the two countries. They regret to say that the response from Pakistan has been most discouraging. In regard to the problem of infiltration, the only initiatives taken by Pakistan so far have been to accuse the Indian authorities of excesses of which they are not guilty and to put forward proposals and demands to which no sovereign government can agree. They are well aware of the representations made by Pakistan, through diplomatic channels in the past, but venture to suggest that these can hardly be equated with serious attempts to discuss the details of this intricate problem with a view to reaching mutual understanding. The Government of India note that the Government of Pakistan have expressed a preference for initiating discussions at Ministerial level, but it is their considered view that it would be appropriate to discuss these issues, first, at the diplomatic level; they would be prepared to start discussions as soon as possible in Karachi, where the Indian High Commissioner would be assisted by experts from India, so as to deal with the problems exhaustively. The Government of India feel that only after giving detailed consideration to the issues involved at the proposed diplomatic level meeting and earnestly exploring the possibilities of reaching an understanding, could Ministerial level talks prove fruitful.

9. In their Note under reference, the Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of Pakistan have only mentioned, in passing, the border disputes, which the Pakistan delegation at Calcutta agreed should also be discussed at the projected inter Ministerial meeting. The Government of India must point out that the continuing and, indeed, increasing tension in various parts of East Pakistan border with India is causing serious concern to them. They trust that action to redress the situation is being taken urgently; to avoid further aggravation of tensions they would urge that the importance of these problems should also be recognized and taken up for discussion at the proposed meetings.

The Ministry of External Affairs take this opportunity to renew to the High Commission of Pakistan in India the assurances of their highest consideration.

3101. Note of the Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to the Indian High Commission in Pakistan.

Karachi, October 9, 1963.

Ministry of External Affairs
Government of Pakistan
Karachi

This Ministry of External Affairs presents its compliments to the High Commission for India in Pakistan and after a careful study of the Note No. 7652-PI/63, dated the 2nd September 1963, from the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, regret to say that the Government of India have once again grossly misrepresented facts and sought to distort the truth.

2. The Government of Pakistan reiterates that there is absolutely no basis for the allegation that the Muslims being evicted from India are Pakistani “infiltrators”. In fact the evidence in the possession of a vast majority of these persons leaves no room for doubt that they are bona fide Indian nationals, in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Indian Constitution and the Indian Citizenship Act.

3. The statement of the Government of India that the cases of the “infiltrators” had been pursued according to the due process of law, tampered by “humanitarian consideration” is again not substantiated by facts. The arbitrary and heartless manner in which the evictions have been and are being carried out by brutal force leaves no room for the helpless victims to seek the protection of courts of law. It is beyond human comprehension that any person would “voluntarily” leave his hearth and home with young children, and leave all personal belongings behind in order to embark on a long and a perilous journey across the borders into another country where they possess nothing and have no vocation awaiting them. The fact that the movement of Indian Muslims into Pakistan is not “voluntary” but caused by terror and harassment is already well known and needs no emphasis.

The Ministry takes this opportunity to point out that the statement made by the Government of India that in the past Pakistan has employed its Foreigners’ Act for the eviction of Indian citizens from her territory is baseless. On the other hand it is most disquieting to note that the Government of India has employed the Indian Foreigners’ Act for the persecution of their minorities particularly the Indian Muslims.

4. As already pointed out earlier in this Ministry’s Note dated 8th August 1963, it was agreed at Calcutta that a separate Ministerial level conference would be held in order to resolve the question of the eviction of Indian Muslims. It was further agreed that the proposed Ministerial meeting might also discuss Indo-Pakistan border problems.

The Government of Pakistan wish to make it clear that they never objected to the appointment of Sardar Swaran Singh as leader of the delegation to conduct the Ministerial level talks nor did they seek to decide who the Indian representative might be. All that the Foreign Minister of Pakistan had suggested was that in view of his own and His Excellency Sardar Swaran Singh’s preoccupation with negotiations on Kashmir, the two Governments might nominate Cabinet Ministers other than those engaged in negotiations on Kashmir. This suggestion was motivated by a desire on the part of the Government of Pakistan not to side track the Kashmir dispute and at the same time to give early attention to the pressing problems created by evictions and the border disputes.

5. The Ministry of External Affairs is glad to note that the Government of India is “consistently anxious to hold discussions with Pakistan to deal with the major irritants coming in the way of good-neighhourly relations”. It is in pursuance of the same objective that the Government of Pakistan wishes to initiate immediately Ministerial level discussions on the question of evictions. The Government of Pakistan is of the view that owing to the importance of the issue it is essential that negotiations on the substance of the problem should be conducted at the Ministerial level so that these could be fully discussed and workable agreements reached. The Government of Pakistan would be glad to renew discussions of the procedural aspects of this problem through the diplomatic channels so that air could be cleared and necessary ground prepared for the Ministerial level talks. If the Government of India genuinely wish to promote good neighbourly relations, they would no doubt consider the entire problem in its factual perspective and, in pursuance of their earlier agreements, review the present situation through diplomatic channels with a view to preparing for early Ministerial level talks on the question of evictions, so that the continuing misery of innumerable helpless men, women and children might come to an end.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for India the assurances of its highest consideration.

3102. Note of the Indian High Commission in Pakistan to the Pakistan Ministry of External Affairs.

The High Commission of India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of Pakistan and has the honour to state that the Ministry's Note No. PIB-3/3/62 dated October 8, 1963, has received the careful consideration of the Government of India.

2. The Government of India regret that the Ministry's Note under reply repeats the allegations regarding the action taken by the Indian authorities to deal with the sustained and large scale infiltration of Pakistan citizens into Assam, West Bengal and Tripura, which they had refuted in their Note addressed to the Pakistan High Commission in New Delhi on September 2, 1963, and which they again categorically repudiate as wholly baseless. They feel compelled to point out that such misrepresentations of their views and actions are not a happy prelude to constructive discussions on which the two Governments may soon embark. They, however, remain hopeful that the Government of Pakistan may be interested in seeking a genuine improvement of relations between the two countries, and, being themselves anxious to achieve such improvement, they would welcome an agreement with the Government of Pakistan on the opening of discussions on the question of infiltration from Pakistan and on the two pressing problems that have currently caused avoidable tension on the eastern borders, namely, demarcation in the areas of the Lathitilla group of villages and the upper reaches of the Feni River.
3. The repetition of their earlier charges by the Government of Pakistan, in spite of the clear explanations of the true facts given by the Government of India, makes it evident that considerable efforts will be necessary to establish a basis for constructive discussion on the problems raised by the influx of Pakistani citizens into India. The situation in regard to the status quo Areas on the Feni River and in the Lathitilla group of villages, also remains disturbing and requires further attention unless, in the meantime, the demarcation problem in the Lathitilla group of villages is solved on the basis of the proposals pending with the government of Pakistan, for a “crash demarcation” programme in this area, at the level of the Central Surveys of India and Pakistan. The Government of India entirely agree with the Government of Pakistan that the air should be cleared and the ground prepared for inter-ministerial talks, on the above-mentioned problems. They, therefore, propose that preliminary discussions to this end should be held as soon as may be mutually convenient. They would be glad to depute appropriate officers from India to assist their High Commissioner in Pakistan to undertake, in cooperation with nominees of the Government of Pakistan, these preliminary talks and to frame issues for subsequent consideration at Ministerial talks.

The High Commission of India takes this opportunity to renew to the Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

Ministry of External Affairs
Government of Pakistan
Karachi

3103. Message from Pakistan President Field Marshal Mahmmad Ayub Khan to President of India.

My Government has been receiving very disturbing reports about the communal situation in Calcutta in particular and in the neighbouring districts of 24 Parganas, Hooghly, Howrah, Bardwan and certain other areas of West Bengal. According to our Information, the situation in Calcutta is virtually out of control. The Chief Ministry (Minister) of West Bengal Mr. P.C. Sen, in a public statement issued yesterday, appears to have admitted as much and has taken a grave view of the situation. According to him, the Indian Army was immediately taking over administration of five areas in the city and "military rule" would be imposed in six more areas when more troops had flown in. There are reports of wide-spread killing of Muslims and numerous cases of arson involving Muslims' property both in Calcutta as well as other areas already referred to. A foreign news agency report today puts the number of dead so far at 200 and the number of cases of arson reported from Calcutta yesterday alone at 200. Unofficial estimates put Muslim casualties and damage to Muslim property in Calcutta and outside at very much higher figures.

Some indication of the extent to which the Muslim community has been terrorized by those senseless acts of killing, looting and destruction may be had from the fact that yesterday alone fourteen thousand Muslim refugees crossed from the neighbouring West Bengal into East Pakistan and number has since risen to over twenty thousand.

The East Pakistan Government has taken and is determined to continue to take every measure possible to maintain order but you will appreciate that a mass influx of terror-stricken Muslim refugees spreading out into various districts of East Pakistan with their tales of woe could precipitate a very serious law and order situation for the East Pakistan Government. I have issued an appeal to the people of Pakistan emphasizing the supreme need for maintaining communal peace in spite of anxiety and provocation that recent events in West Bengal may have caused in East Pakistan.

I cannot help feeling that in thus taking law into their own hands with a view to driving Muslims out of West Bengal into East Pakistan certain elements in the majority community in West Bengal have drawn encouragement from the policy that the Government of India has been following over two years, despite our protests and appeals, to drive out Indian Muslims living in districts bordering East Pakistan. The number of such refugees who have registered themselves with East Pakistan authorities had by the end of December already reached 95,613. To this number have now been added 20,000 terror stricken Muslims who have crossed over into East Pakistan from riot affected areas in West Bengal.

I am sure you will recognize the gravity of the situation which has been creating anxiety for my Government and I trust that your Government will take effective action immediately to restore order and peace in West Bengal such as would create a sense of security in the minds of the Muslim minority and enable these refugees to return to their homes. I have no doubt you will agree that this will be in the larger interest of both India and Pakistan.

My dear Commonwealth Secretary,

After I had sent my telegram No.11 of January 11, 1964, I thought that I must write to you and give you some of the nuances of my interview with the East Pakistan Chief Secretary, Ali Asghar, on that day. Before I do this, may I give you a little pen-picture of this gentleman. Ali Asghar belongs to the old Indian I.C.S. (now is C.S.P.), Bengal Cadre. He is a handsome man with an amiable and attractive approach but, on closer acquaintance gives one the impression of a certain amount of shiftiness. His original home is Ferozepur in East Punjab and he has been embittered although he does not show it outwardly, because of the killings on the border in 1947. He is a also former Pakistan Foreign Secretary Dehlavi's brother-in-law.

2. I received your telegram No.26400 of January 10 the same night round about 10.30. The first thing next morning, I tried to contact the Governor but was told from Government House that Governor was away in Karachi and would not return till the 16th January. I next tried the Chief Secretary. Our experience of him on previous occasions has been that he is somewhat reluctant to meet us and it does take some time to fix up an interview with him, unlike his predecessor Kazi Anwar-ul-Huq and Hashim Raza, who at least saw one without any fuss, even if they were not very helpful or effective. Ali Asghar is, however, somewhat exclusive and even on this occasion, there was a certain amount of stalling by him. Late in the morning, however, with surprising alacrity, the interview was clinched. That should have made me suspicious as it could have meant that he had by that time also received a message from Karachi from his Foreign Office instructing him to call me in to express their concern etc., over the Calcutta incidents. What appeared on the following day in the morning newspapers here seems to confirm this suspicion; I had sent you later a telegram No.13 about this matter on January 12.

3. I would not like to burden you with what transpired between the Chief Secretary and myself and I had put down all the details in my telegram of January 11. I would however like to mention one or two points which would give an idea of what the Chief Secretary was aiming at. The Chief Secretary made much ado about the entire East Pakistan administration and its "top brass" descending on Khulna, as soon as the news of the disturbances came to be known. He mentioned not only about the Governor and other dignitaries but also that the Helicopter service between Dacca and Khulna/Chalna was taken off its normal schedule of conveying civil passengers and placed at the disposal of the Military. He also made much of the fact that the Governor had himself gone to Bagarhat, which was one of the troubled areas. As it is, that was only hindsight as the governor had really gone there to address a political meeting and the schedule for his Bagerhat visit was drawn long before the troubles had broken out.

4. I knew that the Chief Secretary was going to bring in the incidents in the Calcutta area and the district of 24 Parganas. Here, fortunately, our All India Radio broadcasts came in very handy because they detailed the measures taken by the Government of West Bengal to keep the situation under control. I, therefore emphasized that only a few stray incidents had taken place and these were repercussions of the serious disturbances which had happened in Khulna and its adjoining areas. He then made the surprising statement of 10,000 refugees having spilled over from Bongaon etc. into Jessore. As a matter of fact, I learnt later that originally the Pakistan Radio had announced 5,000 refugees and a member of the National Assembly had mentioned 8,000 refugees. Only today, I saw in one of the papers that 35,000 refugees were mentioned. That is why, when I disclaimed all knowledge of this influx, I mentioned to the Chief Secretary that we could look into it even though the figures seemed excessive.

5. The Chief Secretary talked a lot about the sensational headlines etc. in the India Press and there, fortunately, I had the lurid examples of the Pakistani papers to confront him with.

6. Regarding my request for visiting Khulna and its adjoining areas where disturbances had taken place, the Chief Secretary at first gave no reply and then a little later, said that he would look into it and let me know after his return from Karachi, mentioning at the same time that he hoped that their Deputy High Commissioner in Calcutta would be permitted to visit the disturbed areas. I said that there was no Deputy High Commissioner in Calcutta these days when the Chief Secretary replied that his Government would have to consider sending someone else, he did, however, agree to consider my request on its own merits.

7. I got the impression from the Chief Secretary's reactions to my request for visiting the disturbed areas that he was not at all happy about it and even though he had said that he would consider my request on its own merits, the question of reciprocity seemed to loom large in his mind. However, he has promised to let me know the outcome on his return from Karachi, when I shall meet him again and send you a telegram.
8. I enclose a translation of an article by 'Musafir' which is the pen name of the Editor of the Ittefaq, Mr. Tafazzal Hussain (Manik Mian), who is not only an Editor of repute but a political personality in his own right; the Ittefaq is pursuing a sane and progressive attitude in the present difficult and disturbing situation here.

9. I am also sending a copy of this letter to High Commissioner.

With Best regards

Yours sincerely,

Sd/-

3105. Message of the President S. Radha Krishnan in reply to the message of Pakistan President of January 13, 1964.

New Delhi, January 16, 1964.

I have received your message of the 13th January through our High Commissioner in Pakistan. My Government deplores that riots have taken place in West Bengal as well as those that took place earlier in Khulna district and elsewhere in East Pakistan in which there was widespread lawlessness, causing arson, loot and much loss of life and property to the minority community. According to our information, nearly 200 lives were lost in the Khulna riots and the disturbances are still continuing in many places in East Pakistan, the latest being those at Narayanganj and Dacca.

2. My Government is fully conscious of its responsibility for maintaining law and order and for affording protection to all sections of its population on the basis of equality and has taken the most energetic measures to bring the situation in West Bengal under control. The situation in Calcutta, certain parts of which are affected and elsewhere, has how returned to normal as a result of firm measures taken which will not be relaxed till complete normalcy is restores.
3. The figures of casualties as reported to you are obviously exaggerated, it is also not correct to say that military rule has been imposed in certain areas of Calcutta. The military were called in, in substantial number as a precautionary measure in the first instance, and when the situation worsened in certain parts of Calcutta, they were given the responsibility of restoring order without any diminution of civil authority. My Home Minister, who has just returned from Calcutta has made a statement which you may have seen and which I am asking our High Commissioner in Karachi to transmit to you. A hundred and fifty persons including large numbers of non-Muslims lost their lives, the latter during police firing. The sternest measures have been taken. The police and troops are unhesitatingly using force against those trying to disrupt peace. Several thousand arrests have been made by way of preventive action. At several places collective fines are being imposed as a punitive measure. The response to the appeal made by the Home Minister in Calcutta for cooperation by men of goodwill among all communities has been good and peace brigades are functioning. The Home Minister has reaffirmed the determination of the Government to take the strongest possible measures and to afford the fullest protection to all citizens. Many people who had left their homes are already returning and many leaders of the minority community met the Home Minister and conveyed to him their sense of reassurance.

4. I welcome your statement appealing to the people of Pakistan to maintain calm. I am glad to learn of the East Pakistan Government's determination to maintain order. I also understand your concern caused by the influx of refugees from West Bengal, though here again the figures reported to you are grossly exaggerated.

5. I must confess to you our disappointment at your own statements on the unfortunate theft of the Holy Relic from the Hazratbal Mosque in Kashmir, which was a matter of sorrow for the entire people of India, and was severely condemned by my Prime Minister and myself. Your Foreign Minister's statement in this context was particularly unfortunate. Without a shred of evidence, the theft of the relic was attributed to Hindus and a communal turn to the Hazratbal incident was thus given in Pakistan from the beginning. The Pakistani Press started the most virulent tirade against India and did everything to rouse communal passions to an uncontrollable pitch. While the emotions of the people in Pakistan over the theft of the relic were understandable, I am constrained to observe that irresponsible and unrestrained statements and accusations against India, the false cry of Islam in danger had inevitable effect of inciting the Muslim population of East Pakistan to take revenge on the Hindus still living in Pakistan. A mob of 20,000 which was allowed to form a procession and indulge in violent demonstration, broke loose and started a reign of terror in Khulna and neighbouring areas lasting for several days in which the minority community in East Pakistan from all accounts suffered grievously. It is the serious incidents in Khulna which led to the influx of refugees from East Pakistan and started the vicious circle and resulted in the disturbances in West Bengal.

6. My Government rejects in emphatic terms the thesis advanced that the disturbances in West Bengal are a part of the plot to drive out Indian Muslim living in West Bengal into East Pakistan. India is a secular State and the home of over fifty million Muslims as well as of several million citizens professing other faiths. The policy of the Government of India has always been directed to the fullest realization of the secular ideal and to the creation of a society in which all its citizens enjoy equal rights and equal protection of the law. Despite difficulties, and those too not of our making, my Government have relentlessly pursued this objective.

7. You have, in your message, mentioned specific figures of refugees who have allegedly gone from West Bengal into East Pakistan. These evidently must include in large part Pakistan nationals returning to Pakistan in recent months, who had illegally entered into areas of India bordering East Pakistan without visas or permits from the Indian Government who, under well established international law and practice, had to return to Pakistan. The Pakistan Government in spite of repeated requests by the Government of India have done little to prevent the illegal entry of Pakistan nationals into India. The population of our border districts in Assam and Tripura and West Bengal has been abnormally inflated as a result of the influx of such persons. As you are aware, this matter is separately under discussion between our two Governments. On the other hand, the influx into West Bengal of members of the minority community from East Pakistan, which has continued unabated ever since the partition of India, is a matter of history. The number of such refugees, who have been obliged to flee their ancestral homes in distress because of fear and lack of a sense of security is well over four million.

8. My Government has observed with deep regret and dismay the virulent campaign against India that has been carried on in the Pakistan Press and on the Pakistan Radio in recent weeks. Even yesterday's newspapers in West Pakistan had the most irresponsible and mischievous headlines disseminating entirely false accounts of the Calcutta disturbances. I hope that Your Excellency and your Government will do their utmost to end the tension and disturbances in East Pakistan and to instill into the minority community a sense of security and well-being. In particular, I hope that Pakistan leaders and the Pakistan Press would exercise restraint in their utterances and would do or say nothing to incite communal passions. This is of the utmost importance to both our peoples.

9. It is my sincere belief that the time has come when our Governments should put their heads together and devise ways and means of bringing to an end the recurring cycle of such incidents and disturbances in both countries. These not only poison the relations between our countries but affect the lives of millions of persons who seek nothing but to live as good citizens in their respective countries. I suggest to you, Mr. President, in all earnestness, that we direct ourselves immediately to this task. As a first step I propose that you and I join in an immediate appeal to the people of our two countries for communal peace and harmony. If you are agreeable, my High Commissioner will submit to you a draft of such a joint appeal for Your Excellency’s consideration.

16th January, 1964.

3106. Message of Pakistan President in reply to the Indian President’s message of January 16, 1964.

"Thank you for your message of January 17th which reached me on 18th morning while I was on tour.

You have questioned a number of statements contained in my message of January 13, I regret I am unable to accept information supplied to you or contentions based on those premises. However, I do not wish to enter into a controversy at this unfortunate stage of our relationship. It would I think be most unfortunate if you and I should get involved in an exchange of recriminations. This would deflect attention from our real purpose.

This purpose is that lives and property of minority community must be fully protected, that communal peace must be maintained and that minority community must not be looked upon as a hostage. By blaming, and thus impliedly condoning communal killings and destruction in one country on similar instances in the other, we might unwittingly lend encouragement precisely to those evil forces which it is Government’s duty to curb. Most of Mr. Nanda's (Home Minister of India) public statements of 11th and 14th January to which you have referred are unfortunately marred by this blemish and I was hoping that you will take a more objective and dispassionate view.

What is really needed is that whatever steps are necessary should be most urgently taken to restore law and order and meet out deterrent punishment to criminals who have been responsible for killing innocent men, women and children.
We are Mr. President faced with a grave human problem. It will not be solved by shutting our eyes to it as far example Mr. Nanda’s statement that on January 14th “absolute communal harmony prevailed in Calcutta”. Nor can we solve this problem by blaming others for creating it. Let leaders in each country look into their own hearts and resolve to put their own house in order.

You suggest that you and I join in an appeal to the peoples of both India and Pakistan for communal peace and harmony. As you know I have already issued an appeal to my people. I took the earliest opportunity to do this. I do not see how a second appeal by me would have any greater effect. What is required is that stern measures are taken against those miscreants who are responsible for recent incidents and prevent trouble from spreading. This is what Government of East Pakistan are doing with full backing and support of my Government.

I do not presume to advise you on whether or not you should issue a similar appeal to your own people. That is a matter for you to decide. I may however reiterate my hope that your Government will ensure that law and order is quickly restored in all riot affected areas and that those who have been driven out will be enabled to return to their homes and live with a full sense of security. I reiterate that this would be in the best interest of both India and Pakistan”.

Karachi, January 24, 1964.

The Government of Pakistan have carefully considered the proposal as indicated in the message from the President of Pakistan to the President of India. What is needed most at the present time is that stern measures should be taken to restore law and order and meet out deterrent punishment to the criminals who have been responsible for killing innocent men, women and children and destroying property belonging to the minority community in West Bengal. Such action has been and is being taken in East Pakistan.

Once law and order have been fully restored, Ministers of two Governments may meet initially in Rawalpindi/Delhi to discuss measures necessary to ensure that the refugees of recent disturbances as also those evicted from Assam, Tripura and West Bengal during some two years prior to these disturbances, return to their homes.
The proposed Ministerial meeting could only be convened after law and order have been fully restored, for any suggestion or advice to the refugees that they return to their homes, so long as conditions continued to remain disturbed, would prove infructuous. They would refuse to go back to their homes until peaceful conditions return and they regained the sense of security.

3107A. Statement by Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda suggesting easing of issue of Migration Certificates to the members of the minority community in East Pakistan in view of the prevailing conditions there.

It is being represented that in the conditions which have arisen at present in East Pakistan, migration in to India of the members of the minority community has become almost inevitable. While re-emphasising the responsibility of Pakistan for guaranteeing to its minority complete security of the life and property, for providing full protection when any risks arise and for rehabilitation those who may have suffered, it is true that we in India cannot ignore the human considerations which are involved in the present situation. It is our hope that notwithstanding the unreasonable and unhelpful attitude of the Government of Pakistan, that Government may be persuaded to accept this responsibility and to create condition in East Pakistan which would help to restore the confidence of the minority community in East Pakistan. Nevertheless, in the circumstances which have arisen, the condition for the grant of the migration certificates on compassionate grounds would have to be eased in the case of the members of the minority community in East Pakistan who seek to come to India because they are living in conditions of extreme peril and insecurity and in the existing conditions, it has become impossible for them to stay on in East Pakistan. The problem of refugees is undoubtedly a national problem, but the practical limitations in these respect will of course have to be always kept in view.
3108. Oral message from the Government of India in reply to the orally communicated message of the Government of Pakistan conveyed through the High Commissioner of Pakistan in India.

New Delhi, January 30, 1964.

The Government of India consider that the starting point of the process of consultation and discussion between the Governments of India and Pakistan should be a meeting of Ministers, without delay, to consider way and means of restoring communal harmony and confidence and sense of security among peoples of different communities in both countries.

2. The Government of India have carefully considered the reply given by the Pakistan Foreign Office to our High Commissioner, on January 24th, to the Government of India's proposal for immediate meeting of Ministers. The Government of India regret that Pakistan has chosen to confuse issues, by bringing in, at this stage, the questions of infiltration of Muslims from East Pakistan into Assam, Tripura and Bengal, when the primary need today, is to restore, communal harmony and confidence and create a sense of a security among the peoples of the different communities, in both countries.

3. Thanks to the stern measures, with firm determination, taken by authorities in West Bengal, the disturbances in Calcutta and environs were quickly put an end to. Large area in East Pakistan, including Dacca and Narayanganj in particular, however, continued to be the scene of serious communal disturbances, resulting in large scale destruction of life and property of the minority community.

4. High level Ministerial talks and earnest search for positive and constructive measures are essential for the creation of a favourable atmosphere for the discussion for various Indo-Pakistan differences with a view to their resolutions. The Government of India had agreed to official level talks between the two Governments to be followed by a Ministerial meeting on the question of the movements of people across the border between East Pakistan and Assam, and Tripura. These official level discussions did not take place, as the atmosphere of tension created in the last few months by Pakistan was not conducive to a clam consideration of such a major issue. The Government of India will be willing to begin talks on this problem, as soon as the ministerial meeting they have proposed for restoring communal harmony, has been convened and has made progress. The Ministers themselves can discuss the timing and modalities of the talks between the two Governments on the question of movement of persons across the Eastern borders.

5. The Government of India, therefore, reiterate their suggestion that the Home Ministers of India and Pakistan should meet in Calcutta/Dacca, immediately, to restore confidence and communal harmony, and they are firmly of the opinion that this cannot be done if these meetings are not held immediately at Dacca/Calcutta and scheduled at some distance date and that too at Delhi and Rawalpindi.

New Delhi, February 1, 1964.

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan in India and has the honour to draw the attention of the Pakistan High Commissioner to Press report stating that Mr. Habibullah Khan, Minister of Home Affairs in Pakistan, has stated that “it is very unfortunate step on the part of the Government of India” if it had decided, as had been reported, to facilitate the grant of migration certificates on a liberal scale to minorities in East Pakistan who wish to migrate to India. This reported statement gives the false impression that the Government of India are encouraging the minority community to migrate from Pakistan.

2. The Government of Pakistan is aware that widespread and serious communal rioting had recently taken place not only in Khulna and the adjoining areas but also in Dacca, Narayanganj and in the surrounding areas. In the Dacca area nearly 25 camps were set up where about 80, thousand members of the minority community took shelter. The Deputy High Commissioner of India in his letter no. D.119-PS/64 dated January 21st, 1964, addressed to the Chief Secretary, Government of East Pakistan, had named these 25 camps and requested that immediate measures may be taken to meet their basic necessities of food, clothing and medical assistance. The Bengali language daily Azad of Dacca in its issue of January 20, 1964, carried a news items entitled “improvement in Dacca’s situation; firm resistance against riots from the general public: Continued shortage of food and other necessities in the refugee camps”, named 19 Refugee camps containing over 30,000 persons and went on to state that “apart from this there are 30,000 refugees in the Dhakeshwari and Lakhsmi Narayan Mills in Narayanganj”. It is therefore, clear that, apart from the serious loss of life and property, a vast number of East Pakistan citizens of the minority community have been displaced from their homes due to communal frenzy in Dacca, Narayanganj, etc. and also in other affected areas in East Pakistan. These persons have gone through a frightful ordeal of arson and looting and are naturally in need not only of immediate relief and rehabilitation but also of the maximum possible reassurance regarding their security.

3. The Government of India has already had an unabated flow of migrants and refugees who continued to cross over into India from East Pakistan due to the continuing lack of sense of security of life and property. India has, since August 1947, been compelled to receive 4.5 million refugees and migrants of the Minority community from East Pakistan due to the discriminatory and harsh policies followed by the Pakistan authorities in respect of their own Pakistani citizens of the Minority Community. The Government of India, had, on human and compassionate grounds, to make provision to assist these unfortunate migrants and bear a heavy burden of their resettlement in India.

4. The Government of Pakistan is aware of the full details of the wide-spread and serious disturbances that occurred at various places in East Pakistan during January involving serious loss of life and wholesale destruction of the habitations and property of the Minority Community which rendered 80,000 people homeless and destitute and made them seek refuge in camps started all over East Pakistan. In the light of the unfortunate experience of similar situations in the past having led to large scale migrations into India, the Government in India, had on human and compassionate grounds, to make necessary preparations to receive and to assist to the extent possible in their resettlement in India, such of these terror-stricken destitute migrants as may come over to India because of the failure of their own government to take energetic measures for their rehabilitation and resettlement and to give them confidence about the security of their life and their hearths and homes in East Pakistan. There is no question of the Government of India encouraging any migration whatever from East Pakistan into India. The attached copy of a statement made by Home Minister in Calcutta* will clearly indicate that all that the Government of India intended to do is to carry out their normal human duty to assist those destitute citizens of the East Pakistan Minority Community who decide, because of their recent gruesome experience, to leave their hearths and homes. The prompter and more effective the measures taken by the Government of Pakistan for re-establishing confidence and for rehabilitation and resettlement of these unfortunate victims of arson and looting, the less will be the need for the Government of India to consider any measures for rehabilitation and resettlement in India of these unfortunate East Pakistan citizens who have been victims of terror, loot and arson.

5. The responsibility for taking necessary measures to reassure the members of the Minority Community in Pakistan about their security and for rehabilitation and resettlement of the unfortunate thousands who are in the camps mentioned in para 2 above is that of the Government of Pakistan. The Government of India hopes that quick and energetic measures will be taken by the Government of Pakistan to discharge this responsibility in respect of these Pakistani citizens.

* Please see Document No.3107A.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission of Pakistan,
Sher Shah Road Mess,

3110. Oral Reply of Pakistan Government delivered to the Indian High Commissioner in Pakistan in reply to the Government of India's oral message of 30th January delivered to their High Commissioner in India in New Delhi.

Karachi, February 1, 1964.

The Government of Pakistan have carefully examined the proposal made by the Government of India to the Pakistan High Commission in New Delhi on January 30, 1964.

The Government of Pakistan have consistently believed that the duty of maintaining internal law and order rests with the Government of the country concerned. In his message dated January 20, 1964, to the President of India, the President of Pakistan had unequivocally stated that stern measures were being taken against those miscreants who were responsible for the recent disturbances in East Pakistan. The local Government took prompt and effective action to restore law and order and the situation in East Pakistan was, thus, restored to normal. Since it is the duty of the Government concerned to maintain peace and order and establish communal harmony, and a sense of security amongst its minorities, the Government of Pakistan earnestly hopes that the Government of India would take firm steps to restore peace and order in West Bengal and devise ways and means of giving a sense of security to the Muslim minority in West Bengal.

In his massage dated 13th January 1964, to the President of India, the President of Pakistan had stated unequivocally with regard to the genesis of the recent disturbances in West Bengal, that in his view, in taking the law into their hands with a view to driving out Muslims, certain elements in the majority community had drawn encouragement from the policy that the Government of India had been following over the last two years, despite protests and appeals from Pakistan, to drive out Indian Muslims living in districts bordering East Pakistan. It is therefore a matter of utmost importance that in dealing with the communal situation in Pakistan and India the root cause of the problem should be tackled and that as soon as law and order is restored, Ministers of the of the two Governments should meet to discuss measures necessary to ensure that all refugees of the recent disturbances as well as all those who have been evicted in the past two years from Assam, Tripura and West Bengal should be enabled to return to their homes. Far from confusing issues, as alleged by the Government of India, the Government of Pakistan have sought to deal realistically with the basic problem which has arisen on account of the unfortunates policies that the Government of India has followed during the last 8 years, which have inevitably resulted in the present tragedy involving the killing of innocent men, women, and children and driving away many thousands of human beings from their homes in India.

The Government of Pakistan further consider that should the Government of India agree with their proposals, the appropriate avenue for a meeting of the two central ministers would be either Rawalpindi or Delhi.

Ordinance No. 1 of 1964

The East Pakistan Disturbed persons (Rehabilitation) Ordinance, 1964

An Ordinance

To Provide for the speedy rehabilitation of persons affected by the civil disturbance in East Pakistan in January, 1964, and for the protection of the immovable property of the minority communities.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the speedy rehabilitation of persons affected by the civil disturbance in East Pakistan in January, 1964, and for the protection of the immovable properties of the minority communities in the manner hereinafter appearing;

And whereas the Provincial Assembly of East Pakistan is not in session and the Governor is satisfied that circumstances exist which render immediate legislation necessary;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by Article 79 of the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan and all other powers enabling him in that behalf, the Governor is pleased to make and promulgate the following Ordinance, namely:-

(1) This Ordinance may be called the East Pakistan Disturbed Persons (Rehabilitation) Ordinance, 1964.

(2) It extends to the whole of East Pakistan.

(3) It shall come into force at once.

(4) It shall remain in force up to the 31st day of December 1964.

2.(1) Any Magistrate or other officer specially empowered in this behalf by the Provincial Government by general or special order may, after such local enquiry and with such police or other help as he may consider necessary, evict summarily any person who may have occupied or taken possession in any manner whatsoever of any house, hut, structure or land which any other person has had to leave or has left on account of or in apprehension of, the civil disturbance in January, 1964.

(2) The Magistrate or other officer referred to in sub-section (1) shall, as early as possible, restore possession of such house, hut, structure or land to the person who as proved to his satisfaction to have been in possession thereof and has left it in the circumstances referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) When the person found to be in possession of any such property before the civil disturbances of January, 1964, is not traceable, the magistrate or the other officer referred to in sub-section (1), may order the property to be put under the management of the Evacuee Property Management Committee under section 3 of the East Bengal Evacuees (Administration of Immovable Property) Act, 1951.

3. (1) Any person aggrieved by summary eviction of himself from, or by restoration of possession to any other persons of, any house, hut, structure or land, may appeal to the District Judge having jurisdiction, within thirty days of such eviction or restoration and the District Judge may, if he allows the appeal, cause such person to be put back in possession with such police or other help as he may consider necessary.

(2) The decision of the District Judge referred to in sub-section (1) shall be final.

(3) It shall not be competent for a District Judge to grant any interim injunction or stay order in respect of any eviction or restoration under the provisions of section 2.

4.(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, no transfer of any immovable property belonging to a member of a minority community shall be deemed to be valid and legal unless it has been made with prior permission of the Deputy Commissioner of the District concerned in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2).

(2) On receipt of the application, the Deputy Commissioner shall cause an inquiry to be made to ascertain whether the proposed sale has been brought about, --

(i) by coercion, threat, intimidation, undue influence, misrepresentation or fraud; or

(ii) in due course of business of the transferor.

He will refuse permission in cases falling under clues (i) and may grant permission in cases falling under clause (ii).

(3) No instrument for transfer of immovable property of person who is a member of the minority community shall be admitted to registration unless it has been accompanied by the permission of the Deputy Commissioner under sub-section (2).

5. (1) If, on any enquiry under section 2, any Magistrate or other officer specially empowered under that section is satisfied that any person is in possession of any house, hut, structure or land under an instrument registered under the Registration Act, 1908, within a period from the 1st January, 1964, to the date of commencement of this Ordinance, obtained under coercion, threat, intimidation, undue influence, misrepresentation or fraud, he shall refer, or the transferor may apply, to the District Judge within thirty days of the completion of the enquiry, for cancellation of the instrument.

(2) The District Judge shall, after notice to the transferee and hearing the parties, pass an order within a month of the receipt of reference or application canceling the instrument and ordering restoration of possession to the person who is proved to his satisfaction to have been in possession thereof before the civil disturbance of January, 1964; provided that the District Judge may extend the time for good and valid reason to be recorded in writing.

(3) when the person found to be in possession of any such property before the civil disturbances of January, 1964, is not traceable, the District Judge may order the property to be put under the management of the Evacuee Property Management Committee under section 3 of the East Bengal Evacuees (Administration of Immovable Property) Act; 1951.

6. Save as provided in sections 2 and 5, no action taken, no decision given and no order passed under this Act shall be called in question in any civil or criminal court or Tribunal.

7. No proceedings shall lie in any civil or criminal court for anything done, any action taken or any decision given in good faith by any District Judge, Magistrate or Officer or other person in pursuance of the provisions of this Ordinance.

3112. Press note issued by the Deputy High Commissioner of India in East Pakistan clarifying the position regarding issue of Migration Certificates.

It is being alleged that Deputy High Commissioner of India in Dacca is giving unrestricted migration to minority community. This is not true. Owing to unprecedented demand application forms are being supplied to those who ask for them. But each application will be carefully scrutinized and applicant interviewed in accordance with current procedure. Only in real hardship cases, migration certificates will th be granted in accordance with the rules after production of the necessary certificates.

Those who are approaching Migration Office for forms merely because of rumours that migration has become unrestricted are advised not to believe such rumours.

3113. Note from the Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to High Commission of India in Pakistan.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs
Karachi

No.PIB.I.1(5)/64. 19th February, 1964.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs presents its compliments to the High Commission for India in Pakistan and with reference to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India’s Note dated February 1, 1964, has the honour to observe that the statement made by the Minister of Home Affairs, Government of India (appended to the Note under reference) does not seem to bear the meaning or interpretation ascribed to it in the Note. The Minister of Home Affairs of the Government of India in his statement has made the Government of India’s policy unequivocally clear when he says: "Nevertheless, in the circumstances which have arisen, the conditions for the grant of the migration certificates on compassionate grounds would have to be eased in the case of members of the minority community in East Pakistan who seek to come to India...". In their editorials on 31st January 1964, the leading news papers of India, such as the Hindustan Times, the Times of India, the Indian Express etc. have welcomed this change of policy on the part of the Government of India and appear to have recognized its obvious meaning.

2. It was with reference to this turn in the Government of India’s policy that the Home Minister of Pakistan in his statement of January 30, 1964 was constrained to observe unequivocally that such a change in policy would unsettle the minorities in East Pakistan and the decision of this nature amounted also to an unwarranted interference in the internal affairs of Pakistan.

3. It is needless to remind the Government of India that major anti-Muslim riots broke out in West Bengal and Calcutta after their Minister of Home Affairs made a most unfortunate statement on 9th January 1964, in which he threatened to take proper action to deal with the situation created by the "communal riots" in Khulna and Jessore in East Pakistan. Within hours of this and other inflammatory speeches delivered by responsible Indian leaders, violence and killing directed against the Muslim minority community in Calcutta and other West Bengal districts, was let loose. Even according to modest estimates the death toll on January 12 is reported to be over 500. In one day alone 14,000 terror stricken Muslim refugees crossed into Pakistan and by the following day the figure had mounted the over 20,000. In Calcutta alone there were over 500 cases of arson and as many as 75,000 Muslims were rendered homeless. The number of Muslim refugees who have since entered East Pakistan so far exceeds 50,000.

4. On their part, the Government of Pakistan took the sternest measures to contain and keep under control the communal situation in Pakistan. The President of Pakistan issued an appeal to the people of Pakistan on 13th January 1964 when the entire nation was intensely agitated by the reports of atrocities in Calcutta and West Bengal and urged upon his countrymen to remember that it was their duty to protect the minority community and called upon them to maintain complete law and order, the hallmark of any civilized nation. The President of Pakistan again appealed to the people in his broadcast to the nation on February 1, 1964, and counselled them not to let their emotions get the better of their good sense and added: "But the real solution of the problem is that law and order and complete security to the minority community must be ensured in both countries so that refugees can go back to their hearths and homes, to their lands and trades. We are resolved to do that on our side and would like to assure the minority communities in Pakistan that we will use all the resources of the State to provide them complete security and freedom to pursue their normal avocations and their faith".

5. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs wishes to draw the attention of the High Commission for India in Pakistan that during the tragic days of anti-Muslim rioting in West Bengal, over 70,000 terror stricken Indian Muslims approached the Office of the Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan in Calcutta to issue them with Emergency Certificates so that they could migrate to Pakistan. This pressure still continues. In accordance, however, with their settled policy not to encourage such migration the Government of Pakistan advised its Mission in Calcutta not to issue permits to these applicants for migrating to Pakistan. They were instead advised to return to their homes. The Government of Pakistan propose to continue to maintain this policy so as not to complicate an already difficult situation.

6. While the figures mentioned in Para. 2 of Government of India’s Note under reference are grossly exaggerated, the Government of Pakistan on its part, has no intention to minimize the seriousness of incidents which occurred recently in East Pakistan. They did not consider that they should engage in propaganda exercises with the Government of India on this human question but they regard it essential that each Government must face realities of the situation and ruthlessly deal with those who disturbed communal peace. In accordance with this policy, the authorities in East Pakistan took the sterner measures to put down disorders, meted out severe punishment to miscreants, and firm steps were taken to protect the life and property of the members of the minority community in spite of the provocation caused by the news of anti-Muslim atrocities in West Bengal.

7. The Government of Pakistan on its part, is greatly concerned with what seems to be the confluence of the persons in authority in India and those Indian militant groups who are determined to drive Indian Muslims out of India and more particularly in recent times from areas bordering East Pakistan. Recent events in West Bengal have disclosed a disturbing pattern of this nature. About two years ago the Government of India embarked upon their policy of ruthlessly evicting Indian Muslims from their homes in Assam and Tripura. By the end of 1963, the number of victims of this policy had already exceeded 100,000.

8. The recent out break of communal fury in Calcutta and West Bengal is the outcome of a deep rooted malady, namely the denial of human rights to Muslims minority in India. It may be recalled that the President of Pakistan, in his message to His Excellency the President of India on 13th January 1964, also pointed out that, in taking the law into their own hands with a view to driving the Muslims out of West Bengal into East Pakistan, certain elements in the majority community in West Bengal had drawn encouragement from the policy that the Government of India has been following over the two years, despite the protests and appeals from the Government of Pakistan, to drive out Indian Muslims living in districts bordering East Pakistan. The Indian Home Minister’s statement dated 14th November, 1963, according to which the Government of India have "discovered" nearly a million persons whom they propose to brand as infiltrators and would seek to drive them out of their homes into Pakistan was not only not based on facts, but it also aggravated the anti-Muslim passions of the Hindu majority in India. This statement taken together with the unfortunate statement of the Indian Home Minister referred to in Para. 3 above, helped only to set the stage for violent anti-Muslim riots which occurred in Calcutta and West Bengal in January. It is significant that these anti-Muslim riots in Calcutta and West Bengal last month were not a spontaneous or involuntary affair, but were highly well planned and well organized. The principal target of the organizers of anti-Muslim atrocities in West Bengal was to destroy homes, shelter, and the means of livelihood of Indian Muslims. After organizing and executing large scale riots against the Muslim minority as a result of which thousands of helpless victims were forced to move across into East Pakistan, these same Indian leaders and representatives of militant groups with the assistance of the Indian press started to demand exchange of population on the plea that the Hindu minority in East Pakistan was being persecuted and was suffering from insecurity.

9. In connection with foregoing observations, the Ministry wishes to refer to reports (Ananda Bazar Patrika of February 4, 1964) that "Forward Block" and "PSP" have decided to agitate openly in favour of total migration of all Pakistani Hindus to India at the expense of the Government of India in order to step up their drive to push the Indian Muslims out of India. The aims and objectives of Jan Sangh regarding the future of Indian Muslims are well-known, well proclaimed and need no mention here. It is disturbing to note that such Indian newspapers as the Hindustan Standard apparently held in high esteem in India, have carried articles under the caption: "Population Exchange as Permanent Solution", and "In the Steps of Nazis". (Hindustan Standard of February 1 and 2 1964)

10. Since the Government of Pakistan is convinced that the shift of policy embodied in the recent statement of the Indian Home Minister is bound to create very serious complications, it would once again urge upon the Government of India to review their decision and to refrain from extending encouragement to the Hindu minority in East Pakistan to leave their homes and migrate to India. It is possible that the Government of India is not yet fully aware of the tragic and far reaching consequences of their unfortunate decision. The Government of Pakistan sincerely hopes that the Government of India will adopt a constructive policy, namely, take firm steps to restore law and order in the affected areas, restore a sense of security, and arrange for the return of all the refugees, including those who had been driven out during the last two years or so from their homes in Assam, Tripura, and West Bengal.

11. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for India in Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

3114. Note of the Ministry of External Affairs to the Pakistan High Commission in India.

New Delhi, February 29, 1964.

Ministry of External Affairs
New Delhi

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan in India, and with reference to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Pakistan's Note No. PIB.I. 1 (5)/64, dated February 19th, 1964, has the honour to state that the Government of India has no desire, whatsoever, to enter into polemics with the Government of Pakistan in regard to the intensely human problem of minorities with which the two Governments are now faced with in East Pakistan.

2. The Government of Pakistan is aware that vast crowds are continuing to besiege the Office of the Deputy High Commission in Dacca for Migration Certificates since the serious communal riots in East Pakistan. These members of the Minority Community are applying for migration in spite of the Press Note issued by the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Dacca to the effect that migration to India has not become unrestricted. He is also making daily announcements to this effect over the loudspeakers and issuing hundreds of printed hand-bills to these oppressed persons. The text of the Press Note, daily announcements and hand-bills is as follows:-

"It is being alleged that Deputy High Commissioner of India in Dacca is giving unrestricted migration to Minority Community. This is not true. Owing to unprecedented demand, application forms are being supplied to those who ask for them. But each application will be carefully scrutinized and applicant interviewed in accordance with current procedure. Only in real hardship cases, Migration Certificates will be granted in accordance with the rules, after production of the necessary certificates.

Surely, the Government of Pakistan must realise that men, women and children would not voluntarily elect to abandon their hearths and homes if they were enjoining security of their lives and properties in East Pakistan. The Government of Pakistan is also aware that not only are there these hoards of applicants each day outside The Deputy High Commission for India in Dacca, but that about 50,000 Hindus and Christians have, during the past 4 or 5 weeks, crossed over into Assam from the Mymensingh district of East Pakistan without either travel documents or Migration Certificates. What is the explanation for this mass exodus by the Minority Communities into India? The Pakistan Government would like it to be believed that the Government of India is encouraging migration by issuing Migration Certificates but the influx into India of these 50,000 Hindus and Christians does not prove Pakistan’s contention. These 50,000 men, women and children have been driven out of their country of domicile, which is Pakistan, by their fellow-citizens of the majority community, while the Government of Pakistan remains a disinterested spectator of this inhuman spectacle. These helpless minorities are being left with no alternative but to seek refuge on the soil of India. If the leaders and the Government of Pakistan would effectively ensure communal harmony in East Pakistan, there would be no need for the Deputy High Commission for India in Dacca to issue a single migration certificate or for the Hindus and Christians to flee into Assam from the Mymensingh district of East Pakistan. All that is needed is to assure the minorities in East Pakistan of security of their lives and property. It is even now not too late for the Government of Pakistan to take these simple measures in the name of humanity.

3. The Government of India is quite confident that if the Government of Pakistan would make an earnest endeavour to restore communal harmony and rehabilitate the riot-stricken minorities in East Pakistan, these Pakistan nationals would not be compelled to give up their domicile in East Pakistan. The Government of Pakistan can take as their example the completely successful measures adopted by the Government of West Bengal to restore communal peace and harmony which fully rehabilitated all persons affected by the recent disturbances. The proof of the degree of success achieved by these earnest steps taken by the Government of West Bengal with the willing co-operation of the Government of India, is that the Pakistan nationals and others who had applied for migration facilities at the Deputy High Commission for Pakistan in Calcutta, referred to by the Government of Pakistan in para 5 of their note, have not continued to crowd the Pakistan Mission's office in Calcutta, because they have been fully rehabilitated in an atmosphere of communal harmony. In contrast, there is a pathetic situation prevailing outside the office of the Deputy High Commission for India in Dacca, and mass exodus of Hindus and Christians fleeing persecution in East Pakistan, continues. The Pakistan Foreign Minister has had to admit that "some exodus" of Christians from Mymensingh district of East Pakistan into Assam has taken place and regretted on behalf of his Government that this "unfortunate exodus" is due to "acts of highhandedness" by Muslims. Further-more, an Article in the Ittefaq of Dacca, dated February 24th, 1964 has also spelled-out the motivation which is prompting the minorities in East Pakistan to flee to safety in India. The Article has stated that "The riots have stopped in both countries, but what is going on now is in a way more dangerous. There is an increasing stream of migrants from both countries.... We are aware that as a result of the riots in West and East Bengal, the minorities in both countries have lost their sense of security. Therefore, the minorities of this country will unthinkingly go across the borders in search of security…… we admit that it is the majority community which is responsible by its failure to ensure security of life and property. Those of us who are in a position to think clearly about these migrations realise that they are not only promoting the ruin of the minorities, but must inevitably lead to deterioration in the relations between the two countries and severely affect their economy. …….. We know of course that merely by appeals from the minority leaders, this migration will not stop. The leaders of the majority community also, particularly the educated sections, the social workers and the political leaders must go to the villages and towns, hold meetings and talk to the minorities to give an assurance of security……. In fact the East Pakistani newspapers, students, teachers, writers and political leaders had started their movement here during the riots without waiting to point a finger at Calcutta or West Bengal. It is unfortunate that because of the short-sighted policy of some officials, their progress was checked after sometime. As a result of official curbs on non-official activities and newspapers, the initiative of such institutions was curbed. This restriction has been removed only yesterday......... The people in power should have known that what can be achieved by the friendly assurances of neighbors cannot be done by the police or the military. We must employ all our strength to prevent migrations and ensure the return of confidence among the minorities; ensure through the local members of the majority community the security of their life and property, otherwise the refugees problem will bring us ruin……."

4. The Government of India sincerely hopes that the Government of Pakistan will have compassion on the plight of these helpless men, women and children, who, though they are nationals of Pakistan, are not being accorded their birth right of domicile in Pakistan, only, because they do not profess Islam as their religious faith.

5. The Government of Pakistan must now fulfill its responsibilities as a mature nation by accepting its minorities as equal citizens of its country.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission of Pakistan,
Sher Shah Road Mess, New Delhi.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs presents its compliments to the High Commission for India in Pakistan and with reference to the Note No. P.(P.IV) 283 (II)/64, dated 13 February 1964, of the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, has the honour to state that the allegations contained therein are baseless and constitute a malicious distortion of facts.

2. The facts pertaining to this particular incident, as already communicated to the Government of Assam by the Government of East Pakistan are that some members of Garo tribes had been lured by inducement from across the border to migrate to India. A Peace Mission consisting of local villagers and escorted by a few personnel of East Pakistan Rifles tried to persuade these tribesmen to return to their homes. The armed tribesmen suddenly attacked the members of the Peace Mission, injured several persons and killed a civilian Ansar on the spot. The escorting party of East Pakistan Rifles was compelled to open fire in self-defence and as a result it would appear they injured some tribesmen.

3. It is quite obvious that the Government of India had not taken the trouble to ascertain the facts of the incident at all when leveling accusations against the Government of Pakistan. It is evident from the text of their aforementioned Note in which they remind the Government of Pakistan of their responsibility towards "the Minority Community" in East Pakistan. It is well-known and understood that by "the Minority Community" in East Pakistan the Government of India have always meant the Hindu nationals of East Pakistan.

4. It may, however, be again stated for the Government of India's information that the Government of Pakistan have taken adequate measures to safeguard the security and well being of all its minorities. It is, on the other hand, the Government of India which has been offering open inducements to minority communities in Pakistan with a view to encouraging them to migrate to India. This unfortunate fact has already been brought to the notice of the Government of India at some length in the Ministry's Note No. PIB.I-I (5)/64, dated 19th February 1964. Since then reports that a very large number of persons have been and are being given migration certificates by Indian officials have only confirmed the fears of the Government of Pakistan. The Government of India have unfortunately paid no heed to all the protests and warnings of the Government of Pakistan in this regard and have persisted in pursing their ill-advised policies which have had the effect of unsettling the minority communities in India as well as Pakistan. Nevertheless, the Government of Pakistan would continue to urge upon the Government of India to refrain from following their misguided policies and desist from encouraging the Minority Community from leaving their homes in Pakistan and migrating to India.

5. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for India in Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

3116. Letter of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan President Mohammad Ayub Khan.

New Delhi, March 19, 1964.

Dear Mr. President,

For the last two months there has been an increasing influx of refugees from East Pakistan into India. This is causing us great concern not only because of the tremendous burdens thrown on us in the reception and rehabilitation of the thousands who are coming to India but because it presents a tragic human problem.

I know that these movements of refugees across the border are causing concern both to the Government of East Pakistan and to your Government.

There are many problems between our two countries. It is our wish to resolve them peacefully and in a spirit of cooperation and understanding. I feel however that the problem presented by the recent movements of the refugees is of the highest importance and priority, which, if not resolved, will further embitter our relations and add to the unhappiness of our peoples.

We have asked our High Commissioner to present to you a memorandum containing certain proposals of the Government of India for a Minister-level meeting. I will be glad if you can receive him personally and give earnest consideration to the proposals contained in the memorandum which our High Commissioner has been asked to clarify and elaborate, if necessary.

With kinds regards,

Yours sincerely

Jawaharlal Nehru

His Excellency Mr. Mohammed Ayub Khan, President of Pakistan,
Rawalpindi.

MEMORANDUM

The recent communal disturbances have resulted in a mass exodus of minorities from East Pakistan into India. Over 3,000 destitute refugees are coming into India every day. Already over 125,000 refugees belonging to the minority communities have come into India and many more thousands are expected to come in the near future. Already the resources of the Government of India are taxed to the utmost and the prospect of being swamped by such a large number of refugees from East Pakistan is one which, apart from the enormous burden of relief and rehabilitation of these vast numbers which Government of India must shoulder, is bound to have and is having serious repercussions on the already strained relations between India and Pakistan.

2. Since the persons coming into India as refugees are Pakistan nationals, it is evident that, whatever the causes, they are doing so because of fear and a sense of insecurity in East Pakistan. The problem has assumed a magnitude and character which deeply involves future relations between India and Pakistan and is making future settlement of outstanding differences between the two countries more difficult.

3. There was, following the disturbances, some movement of members of the minority community from West Bengal into East Pakistan in January last. This movement ended within a few days due to prompt measures taken for restoration of law and order and establishment of full sense of confidence for the security of the minorities in West Bengal.

4. It is necessary that earnest efforts should be made to prevent the situation from assuming more dangerous proportions, and to tackle urgently the political and economic problems created by this intensely human problem. It is in the interests of India and Pakistan to cooperate with each other in solving this serious problem.
5. That there is a mutuality of interest between India, and Pakistan in this matter is obvious. This has been recognized in the past when, in a similar though somewhat less serious situation, the Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan met and concluded the Nehru-Liaquat Agreement on the 8th April, 1950. In that Agreement the two Governments committed themselves to admirable principles in regard to the treatment of minorities in their respective countries. To quote from the Agreement:

"The Governments of India and Pakistan solemnly agree that each shall ensure to the minorities throughout its territory, complete equality of citizenship, irrespective of religion, a full sense of security in respect of life, culture, property and personal honour, freedom of movement within each country and freedom of occupation, speech and worship, subject to law and morality. Members of the minorities shall have equal opportunity with members of the majority community to participate in the public life of their country, to hold political or other office, and to serve in their country's civil and armed forces. Both Governments declare these rights to be fundamental and undertake to enforce them effectively."

Then followed an agreement on a number of points relating to the treatment of, and facilities available to the migrants going from one country to the other. The Agreement was subsequently ratified by both Governments.

6. On 16th January 1964, the Government of India made a proposal to the Government of Pakistan, for a meeting of the Home Ministers. This proposal was conveyed orally by the Indian High Commissioner in Karachi when delivering the President of India's message in reply to President of Pakistan's message of 13th January. In their oral reply dated January 24, 1964, the Government of Pakistan did not consider such a meeting necessary. They, however, said that once law and order had been fully restored, the Ministers of the two Governments may meet initially in Rawalpindi/Delhi to discuss measures necessary to ensure that refugees of recent disturbances as also those evicted from Assam, Tripura, and West Bengal should be enabled to return to their homes. In their reply dated January 30, 1964, the Government of India pointed out that they had already agreed to official level talks between the two Govern-ments to be followed by a Minister-level meeting on the question of the infiltrators into Assam and Tripura from East Pakistan. These official level discussions did not take place as the atmosphere tension created in the last few months was not conducive to a calm consideration of this issue. The Government of India reiterated their willingness to begin talks on this problem as soon as the Minister-level meeting they had proposed for restoring communal harmony had been convened and had made progress. They further suggested that the Ministers themselves could discuss the timing and modalities of the talks between the two Governments on the question of movement of persons across the eastern borders.

7. The Government of India are convinced that the present situation makes it imperative that representatives of the Governments of India and Pakistan should confer together in the spirit of the declaration and agreement made by the two Prime Ministers on the 8th April 1950, and devise ways and means for dealing with the most urgent and indeed, the most vital question of restoring complete harmony amongst the different communities of their citizens and restoring in full confidence as regards their security and welfare in their homelands. This is necessary not only in the interest of the human problems created by panicky migrations across the border but also in the interest of good relations between India and Pakistan. No time should, therefore, be lost in tackling this urgent and vital problem. They, therefore, propose again that the Home Ministers of the Governments of India and Pakistan, assisted by their advisers, meet immediately as did the Prime Ministers in 1950, to consider the question. Every aspect of the problem of minorities and movements of refugees both ways can be discussed with a view to reaching mutually satisfactory arrangements.

8. Equal treatment and the fullest guarantee and protection of the rights of the minorities is the fundamental principle of India’s Constitution. This principle is one which has governed and will continue to govern the policies and actions of the Government of India. The President of Pakistan, in the course of his broadcast from Radio Pakistan on March 1, 1964, also said:

“We regard the minority communities as a sacred trust entitled to equal rights and privileges. Anyone who has been disturbed is welcome to return where he belongs and in this he will have all the support and assistance from us. We expect the same from India.”

9. In view of this common ground of intentions and objectives, the Government of India trust that the Pakistan Government will promptly respond to the proposal of the Government of India. The Home Minister of the Government of India is ready and willing to meet the Home Minister of Pakistan at any time and place of the latter’s choosing, and as soon as possible.

Dear Mr. Prime Minister,

I thank you for your letter No.125-PMH/64, dated March 19, 1964 which your High Commissioner handed over to me on March 20th.

2. I have read your letter and the enclosed memorandum with care. I am glad that the Government of India have found it possible to accept the suggestion we made on January 24, namely, that once law and order have been fully restored, Ministers of the two Governments should meet to discuss measures necessary to ensure that refugees from the recent communal disturbances as also those evicted from Assam and Tripura prior to those disturbances return to their original homes.

3. On the other hand, I regret to note that, while you express concern about the refugees from East Pakistan, you have expressed no concern or even a word of sympathy for the thousands of Indian Muslims who have suffered in the recent riots in India and have fled in panic to East Pakistan, and those who have been forcibly evicted from their homes in Assam and Tripura. Only a few days before you wrote, an entirely unprovoked and obviously pre-planned attack on Muslims in Calcutta resulted, according to official statements, in 21 deaths. Since then, again according to Indian press reports, riots have taken place in places as far apart as Jamshedpur (55 persons killed), Rourukela (53 persons killed by March 21) where according to a PTI report the situation was described as “critical”, Jharpada, Raigarh (9 persons killed), Kharsia, Jamgaoon, Jharsuguda and Samalpur, I doubt whether the figures of casualties published by the Indian press portray anything like the actual loss of innocent lives or the suffering of the Muslim community in the affected areas. I cannot help feeling that if the suggestion of my Government of January 24 for a Ministerial meeting, which you have now accepted, had been accepted earlier; perhaps this latest series of communal disturbances might have been averted.

4. However, it is not my purpose to start a controversy on this subject. The important thing is that the Government of India recognizes, as we do, the dangers inherent in the present situation and is aware of the urgent need to re-establish conditions which would enable the up-rooted members of the minority community to live in their original homes with a full sense of security.

5. I therefore agree that Ministers of the two Governments meet at an early date to discuss the measures necessary for this purpose. We would be agreeable also to the meeting being held in Delhi. Further details in connection with the proposed meeting will be settled in consultation with your High Commissioner in Karachi.

Yours sincerely

3118. Note of the High Commission for Pakistan in India to the Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, March 24, 1964.

Office Of The High Commission For Pakistan In India
New Delhi

No.F.13 (I)P/64: 24th March 1964

The High Commission for Pakistan in India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, and has the honour to draw the Ministry’s attention to a report by the Press Trust of India from Bhubneshwar dated 23rd March 1964 in the course of which Mr. B. Patnaik, former Chief Minister of Orissa, now Chairman. State Planning Board, undertaking an official assessment of communal riots during last week in Rourkela and other places is reported to have laid the blame for the riots on the so-called agent provocateurs of Pakistan. This report has been published in the Hindustan Times, Delhi of 24th instant and in other Indian papers.

2. Mr. Patnaik is reported, inter alia, to have said the following:

“Pakistani agent provocateur methods are clear. They spread various kinds of rumours which will incite local population against the Muslims. They concentrate in major industrial areas in India so that the nation's production is badly affected. They also know that the troops are to be called out wherever such commotions take place thereby depleting the strength of the army in border areas and then make our frontier more vulnerable to enemy attacks”.

3. The Government and the people of Pakistan have been deeply distressed by the inhuman atrocities committed on the Muslim minority community in various parts of India during last week beginning with the gruesome tragedy on the 16th March at Belgoria in the 24-Parganas district in West Bengal where a group of Muslim workers of a local Mill were attacked and brutally murdered by masked swordsmen under cover of darkness created by switching off the street lights. This ghastly killing was followed soon after by arson, loot and murders in Raigarh, Rourkela, Jamshedpur, Sundergarh, Rajangpur, Bisra, Bir Nitapur. Longa, Kansabhal, Kalunga, Balangir, Kiriburur, Jharsuguds, Belpahar in the States of Madhya Pradesh, Bihar and Orissa. According to Indian press reports (Indian Express, Delhi, dated 23rd March) it has been stated by Mr. Patnaik himself that thousands of adivasis - local tribals- "were at large with their bows and arrows, pillaging and killing". The dimension of the communal riots assumed such alarming proportions as to compel the clamping of curfew and air lifting of armed personnel from far off places. In a statement before the Lok Sabha on 23rd March Mr. G.L. Nanda, Home Minister, gave the figure of 200 deaths in the communal violence during the week. Reliable, though unofficial, sources put the figure of causalities far higher than the official one. Following, as these riots of last week did, the communal carnage in Calcutta during January 1964, the current wave of anti-Muslim violence in so many places spread over a vast area demonstrated once again a woeful lack of vigilance on the part of the authorities and an incredible apathy towards the safety of life, property and honour of the minority community in the so-called secular State of India. Whereas the need of the hour was to devote all energies and resources, both political and administrative, to maintaining communal harmony, challenged with relative impunity and in such agonizing frequency by well-organised anti-Muslim elements in the majority community. It is most regrettable to observe that a leader of the standing and influence of Mr. Patnaik should be indulging in such utterly baseless accusations as have been done against the so-called Pakistani agents.

4. The attempt on the part of the Indian leaders and of the press to pin responsibility on Pakistani agents for communal disturbances in India seems to have become a matter of continuing recurrence. As is no doubt well known, there have been many references, during and after the Calcutta riots of January 1964, by persons in responsible position in the Government and in the political life of the country, to the so-called Pakistani conspiracy or instigation in bringing about communal killings in India. The press in India, particularly in West Bengal seems to have persuaded itself almost as an article of faith to discharge what it considers to be a public duty to blame Pakistan agents, including the Pakistan Deputy High Commissioner in Calcutta and his officials for communal riots in India. All evidence proving the baselessness of such charges presented time and again by the Pakistan authorities have been totally ignored. The Calcutta press have refrained, no doubt deliberately from publishing the fact that at the time of the Calcutta riots, the Pakistan office there was in charge of only one junior officer and that during the riots, a large number of Pakistani staff families were in distress. The serious situation faced by the Pakistan office in Calcutta, the enormity of suffering undergone by the Muslims, and such significant fact as the part played by the thousands of tribals would demonstrate to all sober-minded people the utter absurdity of the charge that the Pakistani agents were responsible for organizing them.

5. The High Commission, taking a serious view of these baseless and mischievous charges, - made apparently with a view to misleading the world opinion - against a neighbouring State, lodges a protest with the Ministry.

6. In the interest of promoting better Indo - Pakistan relations and also of communal harmony in the two countries, the High Commission would urge the Ministry to take prompt and effective steps to counteract the mischief being created by such statements as that made by Mr. Patnaik.

7. The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Ministry of External Affairs
Government of India,
New Delhi.
The Government and the people of Pakistan are greatly concerned over the outbreak of widespread anti-Muslim rioting in India. According to Indian press reports, riots directed against the Muslim minority had flared up on a large scale during the last fortnight in the Indian States of West Bengal, Madhya Pradesh, Orissa, and Bihar. The latest figures reported by Reuter to be officially admitted by the Government of India mount up to 277 people killed in organized attacks on Muslims in these States.

The Chief Minister of Bihar was reported to have told the State Assembly in Patna on 25th March that 164 Muslims were killed in Jamshedpur alone. Earlier official estimates in India had put the death toll of Muslims in Rourkela at 70. It may, however, be pointed out that according to the information based on the reports received from western residents in Rourkela, the number of Muslims killed at Rourkela alone may be as high as 200. A reference was made to these estimates by the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India when the called on the Indian Prime Minister on March 25, 1964. Similarly the western observers resident in Jamshedpur estimated the number of Muslims killed at Jamshedpur at over 500 and as late as 25th March killing was still reported to be going on. Many of the Muslims were killed inside the plant while on their job. The most horrifying aspect of the carnage for these foreign observers was the abominable way in which women and children were killed. According the these reports, the authorities were not in full grip of the situation as yet. It is believed by these observers that if instead of taking action in various places after the outbreaks, a determined efforts had been made to maintain law and order, the riots could have been brought under control and even avoided altogether in many places. The facts that certain Western diplomatic mission in India were compelled to undertake evacuation of their nationals from the riot-torn areas and that the Indian army had to be called to deal with the critical situation underline the gravity of the deterioration of the situation at Rourkela and Jamshedpur.

Reports have also been received about widespread anti-Muslim riots in Raigargh in Madhya Pradesh, and in Ranchi and Singbhum districts of Bihar and in other parts of India.

What causes Government of Pakistan the greatest concern is that while rioting, looting, and arson against the lives and property of Muslims in India has gone on unchecked, the Indian press, the Indian political leadership and even the highest spokesmen of the Government of India have tried not only to hide or minimize these happenings but have sought to find excuses and justification for these riots by blaming them on the alleged ill-treatment of the Hindu minority in East Pakistan where, in actual fact, complete communal peace and calm prevails.

It is a matter of great regret that even the Indian Prime Minister, in his broadcast on March 26, blamed Pakistan for the existence of all evils in India went on to say that Pakistan had come into being on the basis of hatred and intolerance. When communal peace and calm prevails in Pakistan it is most ironical that Mr. Nehru should engage himself in blaming Pakistan while anti-Muslim rioting in India is taking a heavy toll of the lives of the helpless minority.

Less than a fortnight ago, Mr. Meharchand Khanna, the Union Minister of Housing and Rehabilitation, chose to make a statement at Ambala, characterizing Pakistan as India's Enemy Number One. Such a statement could only help to further inflame passions in India against Pakistan which unhappily have recently been turned against the Muslim minority in India. The Indian Home Minister, who would be expected, when faced with such a situation, to be devoting all his energies to the restoration of law and order in the riot-torn areas, chose merely to minimize the gravity of the situation. According to a report published in the Statesmen of 25th March 1964, the Indian Home Minister, with some casualness, observed that it was a matter of "shame" that a small number of hooligans should be able to cause so much suffering. It is inconceivable that thousands of people could have been killed by a "small number of hooligans".

During a recent visit to Assam, the Indian Home Minister is reported to have told a delegation of the State Congress Committee at Gauhati that "deportation" of "infiltrators" was going to be expedited under a "multi-pronged" programme. He is reported to have expressed his dissatisfaction over the present rate of evictions and assured the press that administrative arrangements had been tightened up to carry out his new plans. Again, this statement has been made at a time when the Home Minister might well have been engaged in restoring law and order in the riot torn areas of Bihar and Orissa.

As another instance of cynicism on the part of the Indian leaders, it may be mentioned that the Chief Minister of Orissa, Mr. Patnaik, blamed the recent Killings of Muslims in Rourkela on Pakistan. At Bhubaneshwar on March 22, 1964 Mr. Patnaik is reported to have made an astonishing claim. He is reported to have said that it was obvious from an on the spot study that these disturbances were totally inspired by an "outside agency" and that it was "a concerted game for advancing Pakistan's case in the Security Council."

It is an extraordinary spectacle that in the extensive debates in the Union and State legislatures in India in recent weeks, the burden of the speeches of Indian leaders has been to find excuses for the communal frenzy in India by accusing Pakistan of mistreatment of Hindu minority and thereby lending further encouragement to those who have been responsible for crimes of bloodshed and arson against the Indian Muslims.

It is a cruel irony that, whereas the Muslim minority in India has been made a victim of inhuman and callous atrocities, some political organizations in India should be holding demonstrations to "save" the minority community in East Pakistan where complete communal peace prevails. It would be recalled that it was as a result of some highly inflammatory pronouncements by the "Save Pakistan Minority Committee" in Calcutta that 29 innocent Muslim mill workers were put to death in a matter of hours.

Unfortunately, Indian leaders and press are still busy expressing great "concern" on account of the "exodus" which has taken place recently from East Pakistan. As the Indian Government may well realise, this migration was not due as much to any ill-treatment of the minority community as to the encouragement offered by the policies of the Government of India itself who according to an earlier statement of the Indian Home Minister, decided some time ago to "ease" the grant of migration certificates to the member of Hindu minority in East Pakistan. It will be recalled that when this policy was announced, the Government of Pakistan advised the Government of India to reconsider it because it was bound to have serious repercussions by unsettling members of the minority community and encouraging them to migrate to India which would give impetus to further exodus of peoples in both directions.

The Government of Pakistan have watched these developments with great distress and concern. It is their earnest hope that the Government of India would, instead of minimizing the seriousness of the communal situation in India and instead of blaming the situation in India on Pakistan, would take the most urgent measures to restore law and order and punish the culprits who have been responsible for such senseless and indiscriminate killings of innocent Muslims and wanton destruction of their property. Such events as are taking place in India appear to be a prelude to open and organized genocide of the Muslim minority in India.

Karachi,
3120. AIDE MEMOIRE of the Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of India to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Pakistan.

New Delhi, April 3, 1964.

The Government of India are surprised at the story woven out in the Pakistan Government's Aide Memoire handed to the High Commissioner for India in Karachi on March 28, on the basis of frigments of information and specious reasoning and inferences. The Government of India deeply regret that at a time when every effort should be made by the Government of Pakistan to calm the situation and restore the sense of security, lack of which has led to thousands of persons fleeing East Pakistan into India, with the grimmer prospect of many thousands more leaving East Pakistan, that Government should indulge in exaggerated statements and incorrect allegations which they must know would inevitably have the effect of further inflaming the majority community in East Pakistan against the Hindu, Christian and Buddhist minorities.

2. From Pakistan newspapers it appears that, not content with presenting an Aide Memoire to the Indian High Commissioner, the Pakistan Government have taken steps to ensure that the contents of the Aide Memoire are widely published in the Pakistan press. This is in striking contrast with the policy adopted by the Government of India not to emphasize the killings, carnage, arson and wholesale destruction of life and property committed throughout East Pakistan in January 1964,. It is a matter of regret that the Pakistan Government have chosen quite the contrary course. Already nearly 200,000 Pakistan citizens have poured into India as terror-stricken refugees among whom are included nearly 35,000 Christians and some thousands of Buddhist Faith. The Pakistan Government's campaign as reflected in the publicity given to the highly exaggerated figures of those killed in the recent riots in certain parts of India, can only serve to accelerate this mass movement of East Pakistan refugees by causing in them apprehension of reprisals by the majority community in East Pakistan.

3. A week ago there were communal disturbances in certain areas of Bihar and Orissa but these were sternly dealt with. Police and at some places military forces were called in to assist the civil authorities, as precautionary and preventive measures. Law and order have been restored and the situation has now returned to normal. The Government of India deeply regret these riots and the loss of life that has occurred. The figures of casualties have been freely reported in the Indian Press which unlike the press in Pakistan is not officially controlled nor subjected to censorship. It is, however, a pity that the Government of Pakistan should have relied on un-verified reports.
4. The Government of India do not minimize the gravity of the loss of a single life of the minority community as a result of communal frenzy but deplore the exaggeration indulged in by Pakistan Government.

5. On per with the exaggerations contained in the Pakistan Note in regard to the recent incidents in India, are the repeated assertions that complete peace and calm prevails in East Pakistan. Such a claim is patently falsified by the mass exodus of minorities from East Pakistan into India. Between three and four thousand refugees from East Pakistan are arriving in India every day. It is absurd to suggest that these large numbers of people are coming into India because of the complete communal peace and calm prevailing in East Pakistan as asserted by the Pakistan Government. It is unnatural for persons to abandon their properties and their homes, where they and their forefathers have lived for generations, and migrate to India. According to all reports, including numerous reports from incoming refugees, there is no security of life and property for the minorities in East Pakistan. Not only have thousands of them been killed and hundreds of villages inhabited by the minority communities burnt down but hundreds of women belonging to the minority communities have been molested or abducted, forcibly converted and passed off in marriage. The Government of Pakistan have by an ordinance prohibited the sale of property by members of the minority communities except with the permission of the Deputy Commissioners.

6. The contention of the Pakistan Government that the migrations are taking place because India is encouraging and inviting the members of the minority community to come away from East Pakistan is entirely groundless. It is a specious idea designed to hide the true nature and causes of these migrations. It is not the invitation of the Government of India but the compulsion of the situation in which the minorities find themselves in East Pakistan which forces thousands of them to leave their hearths and homes and seek refuge in India. On compassionate and humanitarian grounds, the Government of India are obliged to receive them. An intending migrant not only has to fulfil certain criteria already laid down by the Government, but he has to present himself for a personal interview. The normal processes laid down many years ago, which have been known to the Government of Pakistan, are followed. It is the privilege of all States - and one they value and cherish - to give asylum to those who are fleeing persecution. The Government of India are doing on more than what any civilized State would do in such circumstances. The Government of India would be happy if conditions were created in Pakistan which will lead to abatement and cessation of migrations into India.

7. The Government of Pakistan have complained of the statements by the Ministers of the Government of India attributing recent communal disturbance in India to the happenings in East Pakistan. The Ministers have only given expression to the conviction of Government of India that it is the ill treatment and persecution which the minority communities in Pakistan are suffering and the sufferings of the refugees who are coming into India in such large numbers which are, unfortunately, inflaming the minds of the people of India. This would not have happened if the Pakistan Government had taken adequate measures to maintain law and order, to suppress the goonda elements in East Pakistan, to prevent the abduction of females belonging to the minority communities, and generally to create conditions of security and confidence among the minorities in East Pakistan. The Government of India urge the Pakistan Government to discharge their responsibility towards the minorities, a responsibility which the President of Pakistan in his broadcast of the 1st March has characterized as a 'sacred trust', but which they have failed to discharge. The Government of India, on their part, are doing everything possible to maintain law and order. They have taken the sternest measures to put an end to communal disturbances which have unfortunately taken place in India as a reaction to the outrages against the minorities in East Pakistan. They have succeeded in restoring calm and order in the disturbed areas. It is a source of satisfaction to them that, barring a few areas where trouble has taken place, communal harmony prevails between the various communities in India.

8. It is a small wonder, when the minority communities in East Pakistan have been victims of genocide on such a large scale, that they would, in a state of panic, seek to migrate to the safety and security of the soil of India.

9. Rev. Lawrence Graner, Archbishop of Dacca, in his Easter massage of March 29, which appeared in the Protibeshi dated the 29th March, 1964, published by the Roman Catholics of Dacca, has given the following picture of the current conditions in East Pakistan:

"Perhaps never has there been so much real physical and mental suffering in this Archdiocese as during the past month or two. As you know, the Catholic and other Christian communities in the District of Mymensingh have suffered very much. They have been the victims of harassment, of mental affliction, of physical mistreatment. Their homes have been violated, their security of body and peace of mind lost. Conditions were so bad that the Christians, almost 30,000 of them, fled from their homes into India, leaving behind all their earthly possessions. Some lost their lives; others were wounded; some are still under treatment in hospitals and camps.....

"It has been a sad experience for these refugees, a time of real sorrow. Likewise, it has been difficult for those who have remained behind. The sorrow of the Priests, Brothers, Sisters, and of myself is hard to put into words. Not all of you are aware of these happenings. But I was aware of the danger long ago, and I warned the Government of what was likely to happen if strict measures were not taken to stop these injustices. Unfortunately, my warnings were not heeded. I have spent a great deal of time during these months in the border area, trying to keep our people from going away. You would not believe that such things could happen in such a short time."

Furthermore, the thousands who daily besiege the Indian Deputy High Commissioner's Office in Dacca for migration applications are eloquent refutation of the Pakistan Government's claim that perfect calm and communal peace prevail in East Pakistan.

New Delhi, April 3, 1964.

3121. Joint Communiqué issued on the conclusion of Talks between the Home Ministers of India and Pakistan.

New Delhi, April 11, 1964.

The Home Ministers of India and Pakistan, assisted by their advisers met in New Delhi from April 7 to April 11, 1964, and discussed the problems of minorities and communal harmony in India and Pakistan.

During the course of his visit the Home Minister of Pakistan laid a wreath on the Samadhi of Mahatma Gandhi. He also took the opportunity of calling on the President of India, the Vice-President of India, the Prime Minister of India and the Minister without Portfolio, Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri.

The discussions between the two delegations were held in a frank and cordial atmosphere and a free exchange of views took place.

The Home Minister of Pakistan impressed upon the Home Minister of India the view that eviction of a large number of persons from Assam and Tripura and other States had led to tensions as a consequence thereof. The Home Minister of India, on the other hand, explained his Government's position regarding the problems relating to the migration of minority communities from Pakistan into India and the consequences arising there from.

Efforts were made by the two delegations to arrive at a mutually satisfactory solution of these questions. The two delegations were in full agreement over the necessity of promoting urgently communal harmony between various communities in each country and then need to establish a sense of security and confidence in the minds of the minorities.

The two delegations were agreed that the responsibility for the protection and well-being of the minority communities and the redress of their grievances lay with their respective Governments. They felt that there was imperative need to ensure that the minorities throughout their territories enjoyed complete equality of citizenship, irrespective of religion, a full sense of security in respect of life, culture, property and personal honour and all other rights which have been guaranteed to the citizens of each country under its Constitution.

A number of proposals for the promotion of communal harmony, restoration of law and order in affected areas and for taking prompt and effective action against those responsible for crimes against the minority communities and the rehabilitation of the persons affected by the disturbances were considered. The two delegations reaffirmed their respective Government's determination to adopt all measures for the early attainment of these objectives.

In view of the great importance of the issues involved and the complex nature of the problems, it was agreed that discussions between the two Home Ministers will be resumed at Karachi/Rawalpindi in the near future.

The Home Ministers expressed their firm determination to take all measures to maintain communal peace in their respective countries and appealed for cooperation in preserving communal harmony.

***************

Proposals made by India and Pakistan for Consideration of the Conference.

Indian Proposals

PART I

(i) Ways and means of promoting communal harmony should be considered keeping in view that the minorities must look to their own Government for their protection and the preservation of their fundamental rights. Each Government should take all necessary steps to instill a sense of confidence in the minority community and to make them feel that they are in an integral part of the entire community of the State.

(ii) All factors which cause distrust and suspicion between different communities should be eliminated from the social fabric.
(iii) The good offices of local leaders and local bodies should be fully utilised for promotion of communal harmony.

(iv) Vigilance and timely intelligence are of great importance. All agencies of Government should, therefore, be used for collection of intelligence regarding apprehension of any trouble.

(v) Citizens' Committees should be set up utilising, as far as possible, the existing institutions such as union councils, municipal committees and gram panchayats, and where the minorities are not adequately represented on such bodies, members of minority communities should be associated with them.

(vi) The industrial areas pose a special problem. Adequate security arrangements should be made in these areas, and in addition committees consisting of trade union leaders and the representatives of management and Government set up.

(vii) The administrative machinery should be used to put down promptly and sternly all disturbances. Any failure on the part of officers to take prompt and effective action should be treated as grave dereliction of duty and should be punished as such.

(viii) Anti-social elements and those who instigate or finance them should be put under preventive detention.

(ix) There should be quick investigation, speedy trial and deterrent sentence in case arising out of communal disturbances. Special procedure should be provided for by legislation, if necessary, if the existing machinery and procedure are found inadequate.

(x) Wherever necessary, quartering of punitive police, imposition of collective fines and enrolment of special constables should be resorted to.

(xi) It is imperative expeditiously to rehabilitate affected persons. Rehabilitation should in every case include restoration of immovable properties; and the legal provisions and procedures should be simple and expeditious. Grants, loans and other assistance for rehabilitation should be adequate. These should check migration to the other country.

(xii) The Radio should be used to promote communal harmony through special programmes. Care should be exercised in presentation of news and views.

(xiii) The cooperation of the Press should be secured in the cause of communal peace and harmony. A common code of conduct for the guidance of the Press should be evolved, and a Committee set up in each country to ensure its observance.

(xiv) There should be freer circulation of newspapers between the two countries.

(xv) Text books in use in schools should be examined from the point of view of promotion of communal harmony, and any distortion of history or any material which might lead to communal discord excluded. There should also be positive elements in the curricula designed to promote communal harmony.

(xvi) There should be exchange of cultural delegations, scholars, sports teams, etc. These are likely to help improve the relations between the two countries and promote communal harmony. Even (where) there are difficulties in joint observance of festivals, endeavour should be made by each country to promote social and cultural contacts between members of various communities by every possible means.

(xviii) Minority Commissions on the lines provided for in the Nehru-Liaquat Agreement should be revived, as this is likely to have a particularly reassuring effect on the minority community.

(xix) The restrictions imposed by Pakistan in 1960 on the category ‘B’ visas should be removed. This is likely to check tendency to migrate.

(xx) Meetings of Chief Secretaries should take place as often as necessary and whenever required by either side and to start with, there should at least be one meeting in every three months, and later once in six months.

(xxi) There should be meetings between the two Central Home Secretaries whenever necessary.

(xxiii) Ministers should undertake joint tours of an area in either country where communal harmony and peace are disturbed. The objective of these tours would be not the encouragement of the growth of extra-territorial loyalties but to enable the visiting Minister to re-pressure his own people by giving them a correct picture and thus check the dissemination of wrong or exaggerated facts which inflame communal passions.

(xxiv) Quick, effective and deterrent action in cases of crimes against the persons or honour of women is imperative. Use should be made of the relevant provisions of the Nehru-Liaquat Pact and the annexure thereto.
In addition, a high powered committee, including the members of the minority community, should be appointed in each country to examine the magnitude of the problem, and consider whether any further legislation, etc. is necessary.

(xxv) The protection and welfare of the minority communities in each country should be the special responsibility of the Home Minister.

PART II

1. There shall be freedom of movement for intending migrants from East Pakistan to India.
2. Adequate protection shall be provided for such intending migrants during transit.
3. Intending migrants shall not be required to produce income-tax clearance certificate and other similar certificates before migration.
4. There shall be no harassment of intending migrants. They shall not be subjected to check by customs or other authorities. They shall not be deprived of their belongings in transit or at customs posts or otherwise subjected to vexatious procedures.
5. There shall be liaison officers of the other Government posted at the customs posts to ensure that there is no harassment of migrants.
6. The Indian Government should be permitted as a temporary measure to establish more visa offices in East Pakistan to deal with the increased number of applicants for migration.
7. Every intending migrant shall be permitted to remove as much of his movable properties and personal household effects as he may wish to take with him. This shall include personal jewellery. The maximum cash allowance to each adult migrant shall be Rs.150 and to each migrant child Rs.75.
8. A migrant may deposit such of his personal jewellery or cash as he does not wish to take with him with a bank. A proper receipt shall be furnished to him by the bank for cash or jewellery thus deposited and facilities shall be provided as and when required for their transfer to him subject as regards cash to the exchange regulations of the Government concerned.
9. Rights of ownership in or occupancy of the immovable property of a migrant shall not be disturbed. If during his absence such property is occupied by another persons it shall be returned to him provided that he comes back by 1st May 1965. Where the migrant was a cultivating owner or tenant, the land shall be restored to him provided that the returns not later than 1st May 1965.

10. In the case of a migrant who decides not to return, ownership of all his immovable property shall continue to vest in him and he shall have unrestricted right to dispose of it by sale, by exchange with an evacuee in the other country or otherwise.

11. A Committee consisting of three representatives of the minority and presided over by a representative of Government shall act as trustees of the owner. The Committee shall be empowered to recover rent for such immovable property according to law. Necessary legislation shall be enacted to set up these committees.

12. The East Pakistan Disturbed Persons (Rehabilitation) Ordinance, 1964 and its amendments issued on 4th April, 1964 restricting the right of members of the minority community of transferring their immovable properties by sale, exchange, mortgage, etc. should be abrogated.

13. Employees of Government, local bodies, private firms, etc., who may be intending migrants shall be permitted to draw their provident fund and their pension according to their conditions of service or employment and to remit money out of their provident fund and pension to the other country subject to the foreign exchange regulations in force.

PART III

1. The Indian Delegation explained to the Pakistan Delegation in detail the procedures adopted to scrutinize individual cases for ensuring that quit notices are served only on foreigners. They also explained the legal remedies open to any person aggrieved by service of such quit notices.

2. The Government of India, however, are prepared to review the existing procedures in Assam and Tripura preceding the service of quit notice, with Pakistan. They will be glad to consider any modifications or improvements of the procedures which may be necessary.

3. In consideration of the Government of India’s earnest desire to help in the restoration of communal harmony and establishment of conditions of security and confidence for the minorities in both countries, the Government of India will be prepared to agree not to serve quit notices for a period of two months. This is without prejudice to their legal rights and without suspension of the normal legal processes. Notwithstanding the above, persons physically detected crossing the frontier illegally from Pakistan to India will be deported. The same will apply to persons who have come with passports and visas from Pakistan into India and the period of the validity of whose visas has expired.

4. The Government of India will be prepared to review and re-examine the cases of any persons who have gone away to Pakistan under quit notices but who claim to be Indian citizens, on application made by the individual concerned to the Indian Deputy High Commissioner at Dacca.

PAKISTAN’S PROPOSAL

In consideration of the earnest desire on the part of the Governments to help in the restoration of communal harmony and establishment of conditions of security and confidence for the minorities in both countries, the two Governments agree to the establishment of an impartial tribunal consisting of one Pakistani Judge of the rank of Supreme Court Judge, one Indian Judge of the same status and a mutually agreed impartial Judge from another country. The tribunal will examine the general claim of the Indian authorities that all evictees deported from Assam and Tripura and other parts of India were Pakistani infiltrators.

If the aforementioned tribunal finds that the view of the Government of India that the evictees are Pakistani nationals is not valid then the two Governments will set up a joint machinery in the form of a number of subsidiary tribunals each consisting of a Pakistani Judge of the rank of a High Court Judge and an Indian Judge of the similar status with a chairman from a third country to examine the cases of all the persons who have been evicted on the ground that they are Pakistani infiltrators. These tribunals will also devise means of repatriation of such of the above persons as are not Pakistani infiltrators to their homes in India. The tribunal proposed in the sub-para above should also handle the cases of any persons who have been or may be declared by Indian authorities as Pakistani infiltrators and thus face a threat of eviction.

Till the result of the enquiries made by the first tribunal are made available and subsidiary tribunals have started functioning the eviction of any person on the ground that he is a Pakistani infiltrator should remain suspended.

The Indian authorities in Assam, Tripura and elsewhere would also take adequate steps to ensure that no private person or organization, by physical violence, threat or intimidation, is permitted to evict Muslims from their homes.

MIGRATION

The two Governments agree---------

(i) that there shall be freedom of movement and protection in transits though authorized routes, subject to possession of valid travel documents
(ii) Rights of ownership in or occupancy of the immovable property of a migrant shall not be disturbed. If during his absence, such property is occupied by another person, it shall be returned to him, provided that he comes back by 31st July 1964. Where the migrant was cultivating owner or tenant, the land shall be restored to him, provided that he returns not later than the 31st July 1964.

The two Governments further agree that they shall---------

(i) Continue their efforts to restore normal conditions and shall take whatever measures are necessary to prevent recurrence of disorder.

(ii) Take prompt and effective steps to prevent the dissemination of news and mischievous opinion calculated to rouse communal passion by Press or Radio or by an individual or by an organization. Those guilty of such activity shall be rigorously dealt with.

(iii) Not permit propaganda in either country directed against the territorial integrity of the other or purporting to incite war between them and shall take prompt and effective action against any individual or organization guilty of such propaganda.

New Delhi, April 13, 1964.

In the middle of January 1964 the Government of India felt gravely concerned at the wave of communal disturbances which swept across East Pakistan and parts of West Bengal. On the 16th of January 1964 the President of India communicated a message to the President of Pakistan through our High Commissioner in which he said "It is my sincere belief that the time has come when our Governments should put their heads together and devise ways and means of bringing to an end the recurring cycle of such incidents and disturbances in both countries......As a first step I propose that you and I join in an immediate appeal to the people of our two countries for communal peace and harmony. If you are agreeable, my High Commissioner will submit to you a draft of such a joint appeal for Your Excellency's consideration." The High Commissioner of India in Pakistan was also instructed while handing over the President's message to say that he had been instructed by the Government of India to make a further suggestion for the consideration of the President of Pakistan that the Home Ministers of India and Pakistan accompanied by the Chief Ministers of West Bengal and East Pakistan meet urgently to impress upon the people of both countries the earnest desire of the Governments of India and Pakistan to establish harmony and peace amongst all communities in their respective territories and to take all measures necessary to that end. He was further instructed to say that such a high level meeting following an appeal by the two Presidents would be most effective in securing communal harmony and peace amongst all communities in both countries. The Home Minister of India and the Chief Minister of West Bengal would be prepared to participate in this high level meeting at Dacca or Calcutta, at short notice. On the 24th of January the Pakistan Foreign Office communicated their reply verbally to the Indian High Commissioner rejecting the proposal for a joint appeal by the Presidents of the two countries, but stating “Once law and order have been fully restored, Ministers of two Governments may meet initially in Rawalpindi/Delhi to discuss measures necessary to ensure that the refugees of recent disturbances as also those evicted from Assam, Tripura, and West Bengal during some two years prior to these disturbances, return to their homes.” On the 19th of March the Prime Minister of India wrote to the President of Pakistan reviving the proposal for a Minister-level meeting between the two countries. The President of Pakistan replied to the Prime Minister of India on March 23 agreeing to a meeting of the Ministers of the two countries and suggesting that the meeting might be held in Delhi.

A Conference between a Delegation from Pakistan led by the Home Minister Khan Habibullah Khan and including Mr. Hafiz-ur-Rahman, Finance Minister of East Pakistan, and an Indian Delegation led by me including the Chief Ministers of Assam and West Bengal met in Delhi from the 7th April to the 11th April, 1964. At an early stage of the Conference it became clear that the problems confronting the two countries which called for discussion fell under three heads:

(i) Restoration of communal harmony and the establishment of conditions of security and confidence for the minorities of the two countries;

(ii) The problems of migration and the movement of refugees from one country to another;

(iii) Eviction of persons from Assam and Tripura, described by Pakistan as Indian Muslims and regarded by India as illegal infiltrators from Pakistan.

A preliminary discussion of the problems as viewed by India and as viewed by Pakistan took place on the opening day at a plenary session. Later the three issues were remitted for examination to two committees of officials. Finally discussions were carried on in a more informal atmosphere between the Home Minister of Pakistan and the Finance Minister of East Bengal on the one side and myself and the Chief Ministers of Assam and West Bengal on the other. A number of proposals for the promotion of communal harmony and the establishment of conditions of security and confidence for the minorities in the two countries including the problem of rehabilitation of persons affected by disturbances in each country were considered.

A measure of agreement was reached on a number of these points. There were also discussions on the question of the facilities to be afforded to the refugees migrating from one country to another. On this subject, too, a fair measure of agreement was reached on a few points. A considerable part of the discussions was devoted to the problem of evictions. The Pakistan Delegation proposed that the Government of India should immediately suspend all further evictions and that they should set up a Tribunal consisting of an Indian Judge and a Pakistani Judge and a Judge from a neutral country to go into the general question of the propriety of the action taken by the Government of India so far. They further proposed that similar Tribunals should be established later to deal with cases of individual persons already evicted or those who may have to be evicted in the future. The proposal of the Pakistan Delegation for the establishment of these Tribunals was found totally unacceptable. The Indian Delegation, however, offered to consider any suggestions which Pakistan may have to make with regard to modifications and improvements in the procedures preceding the issue of quit notices. In order to enable such a review of the procedures to be made and further if the Pakistan Government would be prepared to agree to the grant of certain facilities to refugees coming from East Pakistan to India and if they would further agree to certain other measures proposed for the establishment of communal peace and harmony, the Indian Delegation indicated that the Government of India would be prepared not to issue quit notices on any persons for a period of two months. During this period of two months however, the other legal processes would continue. The Pakistan Delegation, however, laid great insistence on their proposal for the establishment of joint Tribunals for examining the whole question of evictions. As this proposal was not acceptable to the Indian Delegation and as the discussions of the many other outstanding matters raised at the Conference would require still further time, it was agreed that discussions between the two Home Ministers would be resumed either at Karachi or at Rawalpindi in the near future.

I lay on the table of the House brief heads of the proposals made by us to the Pakistan Delegation relating to the three issues which were the subject matter of discussion. I also place on the table of the House the proposals of Government of Pakistan on the two issues of the facilities to be granted to refugees from one country to another and on the question of evictions.
3123. Note from Indian Deputy High Commissioner in East Pakistan to the Government of East Pakistan.

Dacca, June 2, 1964.

Deputy High Commissioner for India In East Pakistan
6/3 Topkhana Road Dacca.

No. DHC (Pol)/115/4/64 the 2nd June, 1964.

The Deputy High Commission of India presents its compliments to the Government of East Pakistan and has the honour to state that gruesome accounts of assault and rape on Hindu women fleeing across the Pakistan border, are being continuously received by this Mission from the areas near Benapole in Jessore District.

2. It is distressing to note that the sad tales narrated by these refugees who often bear marks on their bodies of torture inflicted by their oppressors, reveal that these cases of rape and assault are neither sporadic nor committed by an insignificant group of Muslims. They fit into pattern of a deliberate, vicious and ruthless plan adopted by the Majority Community in the border area in collusion with the local Pakistan Police to rob the refugees of all their belongings and rape their women-folk.

3. The modus operandi of these miscreants who pose as dalals (touts) and who operate in collusion with the local police is to hover at or near about Benapole Railway Station and spy on the refugees, travelling without documents. These dalals then approach and cajole these bewildered people and assure them that they would safely take them across the border for payment of a 'reasonable amount'. If any family refuses to fall in for the reasonable offer of the dalals, the Police steps in and makes the family get down from the train/bus and force them to accompany the dalals, but not without openly snatching away whatever valuables they can lay their hands upon and chance permitting, molesting their ladies also.

4. The helpless families under the charge of these dalals are then taken by them generally to a Muslim house in village Asra (near Benapole International Check Post), where they are detained sometimes for days together according to the caprice of their tormentors.

5. In their detention, armed gangs of these sadists fall on their preys like wolves and torture their captives in most inhuman and indescribable ways. Men are assaulted mercilessly. Women are raped successively by dozens of these brutes in front of their husbands. All are then stripped of their belongings except for the clothes barely sufficient to cover their bodies. In these barbaric orgies local Police also fulfill their own quota of brutality. The destitute are then herded like cattle and driven across the border at pleasure of these anti-social elements.

6. Sometimes a slight change occurs in this usual pattern, when the refugees, instead of being detained, are mercilessly assaulted at some lonely spot on the uninhabited foot paths across the border and their women-folk ravished by dragging them to nearby bamboo groves.

7. The Deputy High Commission strongly protests to the Government of East Pakistan against these barbarities being perpetrated on the refugees and would request the Government of East Pakistan to institute immediate enquiries into the matter, apprehend these sadistic criminals who are a menace to the civilised society and bring them to justice. Positive steps may also be taken to remove immediately the delinquent policemen from the border and award deterrent punishment to them for their misdeeds and depravity.

8. The result of the action taken in the matter may please be communicated to the Deputy High Commission as soon as possible.

The Deputy High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Government of East Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Chief Secretary to the Government of East Pakistan, Dacca.

3124. Letter from Home Minister of Pakistan Khan Habibullah Khan to Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda.

Rawalpindi, June 24, 1964.

Minister for Home and Kashmir Affairs
Government of Pakistan
Rawalpindi

the 24th June 1964

My dear Nandaji,

You may have seen reports of my recent tour of certain districts of East Pakistan. Wherever I went, I met leaders of the minority community separately and, in majority of cases, local officials were not allowed to be present. I also addressed important local officers. At some places, I jointly addressed members of both the communities. After visiting these districts and addressing meetings of the leaders of the minority community, I am glad to inform you that I am convinced that the members of the minority community have been reassured. I have also taken administrative steps to ensure that local officers at the lower level do not neglect the duty that has been imposed upon them by Government policy that they must protect the life, property and honour of the minority community. I have also taken steps to ensure that local leaders, both Muslim and Hindu, by appropriate means, restore and maintain a full sense of security and confidence in the minds of the minority community. At the conclusion of my tour of East Pakistan, I also broadcast a message to the people of East Pakistan making an appeal to them to live in peace and harmony with each other. And I also appeal to you as the Home Minister of India to tour the riot-affected areas of Eastern India so that the minority community in that part of your country is reassured. I am sure you will agree with me that as long as influx of Muslims from India into East Pakistan continues, the Hindus in East Pakistan will feel apprehensive. Similarly as long as exodus of Hindus continues from East Pakistan, Muslims in India are likely to feel panicky. I said in my broadcast: "if India and Pakistan fail to protect their respective Minorities, their Governments cannot be said to be civilized Governments. Leaders of both the countries will then have to hang their heads in shame before the world".

2. If my work in East Pakistan is to have a lasting effect, I would appeal to you to tour the riot-affected areas of Eastern India and take suitable steps to reassure the Muslim minority there so that a sense of confidence and security is restored in them.

With kind regards.

Yours sincerely

(Khan Habibullah Khan)

His Excellency Mr. Gulzarilal Nanda, Minister for Home Affairs,
Government of India,
New Delhi

Letter from Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda to Pakistan Home Minister Khan Habibullah Khan.

New Delhi, July 13, 1964.

My dear,

I thank you for your letter dated June 24, 1964, which your High Commissioner Arshad Hussain handed over to me personally. I am glad to learn that your tour of East Pakistan has been helpful in restoring confidence in the minds of members of the minority community. I fully share your feeling that our Governments to deserve being called civilized Governments, must be able to protect their respective minorities.

Arshad Hussain gave me a note on "Muslim Evictees and Refugees from India to Pakistan". In our conference, we have fully discussed the question of Assam evictees. You are aware of our views in the matter. We would like to perfect our procedures to ensure that not a single Indian citizen is thrown out or even put to any harassment. Our Constitution guarantees equal rights to all without distinction of race, religion, etc. We are anxious that these guarantees are effective. Some fifty million Muslims enjoy, with the rest of the population, equal rights as citizens of India. You will appreciate, therefore, that the sole reason why some persons are being evicted from Assam is because they are foreigners who have entered the country without permission.

I am surprised at the figures of the number of persons entering East Pakistan from West Bengal as given in the note handed over to me by Arshad Hussain. After the unfortunate disturbances at Jamshedpur and Rourkela, which were dealt with firmly, there has been complete peace and tranquility throughout India. I requested Arshad Hussain to give me some more information, namely, to indicate the parts of our country from which persons have migrated to East Pakistan. If we could have more precise information about the approximate number and districts of origin, we could check up the information at our end to verify if there has been any migration due to a feeling of insecurity, and if there is any such feeling we shall take steps to remove it. I would be very willing to visit such areas myself. But I feel that my visit would be purposeful if I had in my possession some definite information about the matter.

Yours sincerely,

Sd/-

(G.L. Nanda)

Khan Habibullah Khan,
Minister of Home Affairs,
Pakistan, Rawalpindi
Note on the meeting of Pakistan Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto with members of the Minority Communities in Dacca during his visit to East Pakistan.

Dacca, September 2, 1964.

On 29.8.1964, at a very short notice, about 15 members of the Minority communities from Dacca, were asked to see the Foreign Minister, Z. A. Bhutto, to discuss their problems. Bhutto wanted to know the reasons as to why the Hindus were still leaving Pakistan for India as also Muslims were coming to Pakistan from India. The following members of the Minority communities met Bhutto:-

1. Rai Bahadur Khagen Mitra, ex-Public Prosecutor.
2. Rai Bahadur Prafulla Ghosh, Member, Evacuee Custodian Board.
4. Bepin Sana, Advocate.
5. Dr. Sailen Sen, ex-M.P.
6. Gour Das Muktear,
8. Devapiya Barua, Buddhist (Publicity Officer, EPIDC),
9. Dr. C.M.Bamik, Pathologist.
10. Rasharaj Mandal, ex-Minister of Central Govt.
13. Poddar, a goldsmith.
14. and another.

2. Bhabesh Chandra Nandy, an old Congress worker, complained to Bhutto that Hindus in East Pakistan who were full-fledged citizens of Pakistan and who still constitute about a crore of the total population of East Pakistan, have been denied the right to sell or dispose off their properties. He criticised the Ordinance concerned as bereft of any moral or even legal sanctity, and requested the Foreign Minister to justify how the Ordinance depriving Hindus of the right to sell property, was beneficial to them. Bhabesh Nandy also complained to Bhutto about the harassment the Hindus have to undergo in obtaining passports. He appealed for withdrawal of the security deposit of Rs. 100/- and easing out of restrictions on issuing passports to the Hindus. Bhabesh Nandy further complained against the lack of any representation of the Hindus in the Assemblies, both Central and Provincial, and in the Administration of the country.

3. President Ayub, on 27.8.64, at a Reception given to him by the Conventionist Muslim League, had reiterated a two nation theory and said that there was nothing common between the Muslims and the Hindus. Their ways of life, philosophy and culture were entirely different. Bhabesh Nandy pointed out that if the President meant what he said, then in all fairness, arrangements should be made to separate educational and cultural institutions for the Hindus, who are full-fledged citizens of Pakistan and have a right to exist. Bhabesh Nandy complained against the campaign of vilification carried on against the Hindus by a certain section of the Press in East Pakistan as well as the Radio Pakistan.

4. The next to speak was Shri Devapriya Barua, the Buddhist leader. He spoke of the harassment of the Buddhists in Chittagong and elsewhere. He supported Shri Nandy on all his points.

5. The last to speak was Dr. Sailen Sen, a Hindu Surgeon of Dacca, who firmly supported all the points raised by Shri Nandy.

6. Bhutto replying to the discussion said that he would issue orders for relaxation of restrictions imposed against the sale of property by Hindus, by authorising D. Cs and S. D. Os to accord such permission and thereby dispensing away with the cumbersome procedure of having to take permission from the Relief Commissioner. While discussing travel restrictions, Bhutto mentioned that a second journey to India within a year has been permitted to all. He, however, hinted that Pakistan would not much like the citizens of Pakistan to maintain links with India in the long run, in the same way that Palestine is gradually severing all links even on personal planes! with those in the Arab world.

7. The Minority leaders wanted to see the President. Bhutto hinted that the Minorities should waste no time in meeting the President and representing their grievances 'to him personally.

8. Ayub's visit to East Pakistan was with an eye on the next elections. Ayub probably realises that the Hindus in East Pakistan are likely to play an important role during the elections. It is likely that he might have asked Bhutto to meet the Minority leaders to win their support.

9. The Foreign Minister's reference to Palestine and the Arab world vis-a-vis East Pakistan and India was considered to be quite significant by the Minority leaders. During the meeting, Alam, Director, in the Liaison Office of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Dacca, was present. At the end he sought permission of Bhutto to say a few words. He mentioned that he had been to Khulne and Jessore recently where he had met many members of the Minority community who were returning “disillusioned” from India. Alam mentioned that according to them the Ordinance which prohibits sale of property by the Hindus was a boon since it was this Ordinance which would help them to get back their properties and he concluded by saying that the Ordinance on sale of properties was really meant to be of benefit to the Hindus.

3127. Notification of the Government of India setting up an Enquiry Commission to enquire into the exodus of minorities of East Pakistan into India.

New Delhi, January 8, 1965.

No.9/28/64-1 the 8th January,1965.

Ministry of Home Affairs
New Delhi

NOTIFICATION

S.O..........WHEREAS the Central Government is of opinion that it is necessary to appoint a Commission of Inquiry for the purpose of making an inquiry into a definite matter of public importance, to wit, the exodus of the minorities of East Pakistan into India, particularly since the first day of January, 1964,

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 3 of the Commissions of Inquiry Act, 1952 (60 of 1952), the Central Government hereby appoints a Commission of Inquiry consisting of the following persons, namely

1. Shri Jivan Lai Kapur, Retired Judge, Supreme Court of India.- Chairman.
2. Shri Renupada Mukherji, Retired Judge, Calcutta High Court.-Member
3. Shri Justice Abdul Hakim Khan, Judge, Madhya Pradesh High Court.-Member

(i) The terms of reference to the Commission shall be as follows:-
(a) to inquire into the circumstances which brought about the exodus of the minorities of East Pakistan into India, the nature and magnitude of the exodus and the problems created thereby-

(b) to suggest the measures which may be adopted for preventing the recurrence of such an exodus;

(c) to consider such other matters relating to the exodus as the Commission may think fit.

(ii) The Commission shall complete its enquiry and submit its report to the Central Government by the 15th April, 1965.

2. AND, WHEREAS the Central Government is of opinion having regard to the nature of the inquiry to be made by the Commission and other circumstances of the case, that all the provisions of sub-section (2), sub-section (3), sub-section (4) and sub-section (5) of section 5 of the Commissions of Inquiry Act, 1952 (60 of 1952), should be made applicable to the Commission, the Central Government hereby directs, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (l) of the said section 5, that all the provisions of sub-section (2), sub-section (3), sub-section (4) and sub-section (5) of that section shall apply to the Commission.

3128. SECRET

Memorandum from the Ministry of Home Affairs to the State Governments of Assam, West Bengal and Tripura regarding enforcement of entry requirements for persons from East Pakistan into the States.

New Delhi, April 6, 1965.

Ministry of Home Affairs
Government of India
New Delhi

No.1/20/65-F.III April 6, 1965

To : The Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Assam, Shillong,
    The Chief Secretary to the Govt. of West Bengal, Calcutta,
    The Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Tripura, Agartala.
Subject: Restrictions on the entry into India of migrants from East Pakistan without travel documents.

Reference this Ministry's Wireless message No. 44/31/64-Poll(l), dated the 16th March, 1965, in which the State Governments were informed that from 1st April 1965 the entry into India of persons from East Pakistan will be restricted to those holding valid travel documents, such as migration certificates and passports. This may give rise to certain practical difficulties. In the first place, it would not be possible to seal the border against illegal immigrants without a very large increase in the number of check posts and of policemen to patrol the border, and if this is not done, the likelihood of continued entry of illegal migrants would still be there. Secondly, when an illegal immigrant is detected, he may have to be prosecuted under the Indian Passport Act, 1920, and the Foreigners Act, 1946. The question of deporting an illegal immigrant either after he has undergone his sentence or even without prosecution, would also arise. If any physical force has to be used in deporting an immigrant, there may be a great deal of public resentment in the country, apart from possible incidents involving Pakistan border forces.

2. Even though there are difficulties as mentioned above, the Central Government have come to the conclusion that on the whole it would be desirable to impose a ban on illegal entry. At the same time, they consider that the ban may not be enforced rigorously but with caution and discretion. The point at which the entry of illegal migrants can be prevented effectively or controlled is at the border check-post. The check-post officers should explain to those seeking asylum that conditions for their rehabilitation in India are difficult and try to persuade them to go back to their homes in East Pakistan. Those who still manage to enter India may be screened to find out whether they are genuine refugees and can stay in India under their own arrangements with their relatives or friends, without expecting any assistance from Government. Such persons, may at the discretion of the State Government be allowed to continue to stay in India without being prosecuted for illegal entry. As regards others, it may be necessary to prosecute them under the Indian Passport Act, 1920, and the, Foreigners Act, 1946, and to make them return to their homes in East Pakistan.

Fateh Singh
Joint Secretary to the Govt. of India
Letter from the External Publicity Division of the Ministry of External Affairs to Indian Missions abroad regarding Pakistani propaganda about illegal migrants from East Pakistan.

New Delhi, April 24, 1965.

No.XPP/3070/25/65 April 24, 1965

Dear Mission,

Pakistan has been carrying on propaganda that the number of Indian Muslims entering East Pakistan from Indian States of West Bengal, Tripura and Assam has crossed the figure of 5 lakhs and that over 35,000 Hindus who had earlier migrated to India have returnee to East Pakistan. The figures put out by Pakistan are not only incorrect and misleading but have no relation to facts.

2. A total of 1,43,857 Pakistani nationals who entered India without valid documents have been deported to Pakistan from January 1961 to January 1965. The movement of Hindu migrants to East Pakistan during the years 1961, 1962 and 1963 has been negligible. During the year 1964, about 9,000 Hindu refugees who had earlier migrated to India returned to East Pakistan. On the other hand, a total of 8,96,311 Hindus entered India from East Pakistan from January 1961 to December 1964, out of which 8,55,000 entered India in 1964 alone.

3. A comparative study of 1961 Census shows that during the decade 1951-61 there has been a considerable out-migration of Muslims from East Pakistan to the Indian States bordering East Pakistan. It also shows that had there been no out-migration, the decadal rate of growth among Muslims in East Pakistan would have been higher than 30% for the same period (1951-61). This is borne out by fact that the Muslim population in East Pakistan on the basis of 30% decadal increase in 1961 should have been 4,18,94,631 as against 4,08,90,481 showing a decrease of 10,04,150. There has been a corresponding increase in the Muslim population of Indian States (Assam, West Bengal, Tripura, and Purnea District of Bihar) bordering East Pakistan. On the basis of 27.5% decadal increase of Muslim population in these areas, the Muslim population in 1961 should have been 91,11,202 as against 1,11,44,732; thus showing an excess of 10,33,440 during the same period.
4. It is not known what is the effectiveness of Pakistani propaganda on this account in the country of your accreditation. But if and when exaggerated reports inspired or put out by Pakistan appear in the local press, you may contradict the same with the help of the figures given above. It may be mentioned that the year 1964 saw a big influx of refugees from East Pakistan as a result of large scale communal violence and persecution of Hindus which was officially incited.

Yours ever

To All Indian Missions & Posts abroad.

3130. Note of Pakistan High Commission in India to the Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, May 11, 1965.

Office of the High Commission for Pakistan in India
New Delhi

The High Commission for Pakistan In India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India and has the honour to refer to their Note No. P(PIV)290(46)/64, dated the 21st April, 1965, with which letter No.3(19)/65-Commn, dated the 20th April, 1965 from the Commission of Enquiry (Exodus of minorities from East Pakistan), New Delhi, addressed to His Excellency the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India, was forwarded to the High Commission.

2. The High Commission has to point out that the Government of India have no right to set up a Commission to enquire into the conditions of a section of the people of Pakistan. In doing so however, the Government of India appear to aim at propaganda gains but seems to lose sight of the fact that such a step will only help create communal tension. This is borne out by the Government of India refusal to accept an impartial and independent enquiry into the question of eviction of Indian Muslims from India, which is the root cause of continuing communal tension.

The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry of External Affairs the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Ministry of External Affairs,
Government of India, New Delhi.

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖
Note from the Pakistan High Commission in India to the Ministry of External Affairs.

Office of High Commissioner of Pakistan in India
New Delhi

No. F. 3/4-1/65. 28/29 July, 1965

The High Commission for Pakistan is India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, and has the honour to state that stories of atrocities alleged to have been perpetrated on the minorities in Pakistan continue to the given wide and un-checked publicity in India as a result of the activities of the so-called Minorities Exodus Commission. The High Commission in its Note of even number dated the 7th July, 1965, had pointed out to the Ministry that such irresponsible and baseless allegations were likely to have the undesirable effect of inflaming communal elements in India and creating further communal tension.

2. Since then another P.T.I, report dated June 21, has appeared in the Indian newspapers. A clipping from the Patriot dated June 22, is enclosed for ready reference. This report again speaks of alleged abduction, rape and forcible conversion to Islam as reasons compelling members of the minority community to leave East Pakistan and seek refuge in the Indian Union. Witnesses are reported to have narrated to the Minority Exodus Commission at Goalpara Town on June 20, their "agonizing experience" at the hands of Muslims in Pakistan where they were not allowed to perform religions ceremonies and had their properties, cattle and crops looted.

3. The High Commission notes with regret that in spite of its having drawn the Ministry’s attention to the false character of such allegations, they continue to appear in the Press. The unfortunate repercussions such reports can have in inflaming communal passions cannot be over-emphasised. Already several communal riots have taken place in India in the past few months at Gorakhpur, Barrely, and elsewhere which have been separately brought to the notice of the Ministry.

4. The dangerous consequences of such inflammatory reports have been noticed and commented upon even by the Indian press. The daily Dawn in its issue of June 8th, 1965 while referring to the statements of the refugees before the Commission has said that "when such reports are carried by the press those inevitably have a disastrous effect on conditions in the country and nobody can say how strong a reaction in the majority community it would produce." Similarly the weekly Awami Daur in its issue of June 13, 1965, while referring to the A.I.R. broadcasts in which allegations were made that in Pakistan the Buddhists and Hindus were subjected to inhuman treatment and cruelty, asks the pertinent questions: ‘Will not such broadcasts prove extremely baneful to communal harmony?’ Copies of the clippings from the two newspapers referred to above are enclosed for the Ministry’s ready reference.

5. The High Commission reiterates Its protests to the Ministry against the continued circulation of false and baseless reports in violation of the Liaquat-Nehru Pact and requests the Ministry to ensure that this campaign of propaganda against Pakistan is discontinued.

The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, New Delhi.

3132. Note from the Ministry of External Affairs to the Pakistan High Commission in India.

No. P (PIV)290 (46)/64 August 5, 1965.

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan in India, and with reference to the High Commissions note No. P3/4-P/65 dated the 25/29th July, 1965, has the hounour to state that the allegations contained in the High Commission’s Note are totally unfounded.

The experiences of these persons who have been forced to migrate to India by persecution and oppression in East Pakistan not only by the majority community but also by the acts of the authorities themselves are harrowing in the extreme. Since January 1964 over a million members of the minority communities including a large number of Christians and Buddhists have been compelled to migrate to India from East Pakistan.

The Government of India was subjected to an unabated flow of migrants and refugees who crossed over into India from East Pakistan due to the continuing lack of sense of security of life and property there. India has, since August 1947, been compelled to receive over 4.5 million refugees and migrants of the Minority Communities from East Pakistan due to the discriminatory and harsh policies followed against them in East Pakistan. The Government of India, had, on human and compassionate grounds to make provisions to assist these unfortunate migrants and bear the heavy burden of their resettlement in India.

The large scale communal rioting, incited and pre-planned, which broke out in Khulna and Jessore from January the 3rd, 1964, onwards and later in Dacca and Naryanganj, caused considerable concern to the Government of India. These riots were un-precedented in their violence; large number of persons were killed while the Police and local authorities apparently stood by and took no action. The looting of property, abduction of women and arson on a large scale remained unchecked. The responsibility for the exodus from East Pakistan to India which followed this calculated outburst of violence must rest squarely with the authorities of Pakistan.

Since then though conditions have eased somewhat, cases are reportedly being brought to the notice of the Government of India by members of the minority communities who are the victims of incidents, where their wives are abducted or raped and they and their families forcibly made to change their religion on pains of their lives. Numerous occasions these cases were taken up with the Government of Pakistan but no satisfactory reply is ever received to such representations, in spite of the fact that the responsibility for taking necessary measures to reassure the mentors of the minority communities in Pakistan about their security is that of the Government of Pakistan.

It will be evident, therefore, that the stories recounted by those personas who have had to flee in fear of their lives from Pakistan arise from the personal experience of those who are afflicted. The Government of India hope sincerely that conditions will be assured in East Pakistan by the authorities there so that the local inhabitant can continue to stay on peacefully in their own country.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

New Delhi, December 6, 1965.

Office of the High Commissioner For Pakistan in India
New Delhi

No. 4 (11) - CSVI/65 December 6, 1965

The High Commission for Pakistan in India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs and has the honour to state that according to press reports published in the Madras edition of the Indian Express of November 24, 1965, and in the Al jamiat of November 25, 1965, communal riots took place on November 22 and November 23 in the Malavali Taluka of Mandya District of Mysore State. A mob of about 200 persons is reported to have attacked two passenger buses near Itanhali, pulled out Muslim passengers and looted and manhandled them. A communalist mob is also reported to have looted several shops in Malavali, and to have set fire to some houses. In another village Dhangoor, about 2,000 communalists are reported to have had a free hand in attacking Muslim houses and shops.

2. The High Commission requests the Ministry to institute urgent enquiries into these communal incidents which have resulted in the death of three persons. The result of these enquiries may kindly be intimated to this High Commission.

The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

New Delhi, December 24, 1965.

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan in India and with reference to the High Commission's Note No. 4(11)-CSV1/65 dated the 6th December, 1965, has the honour to state that the incident in Malavalli which was originated with an explosion in the house of a Muslim of village Kirugavvalu on November the 13th had nothing of communal nature about it. The explosion caused some agitation among the population of the area and some incidents of attack on property in Malavalli town occurred. The agitation heightened somewhat by a rumour that the over-head tank in Malavelli had been poisoned and a mob set fire to some tongas and looted a shop in the neighbourhood. There was also a incident in which some 13 passengers were dragged out of a Bus at Ittanahally and robbed of their belongings. Situation was swiftly brought under control and was quiet by November the 22nd. The version of the incident given by the High Commission for Pakistan has been greatly exaggerated.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

3135.  Note of Pakistan High Commission in India to the Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, February 17, 1967.

Pakistan High Commission
New Delhi

No.4(8)-CSV1/66 February 17, 1967.

The High Commission for Pakistan presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs and with reference to their Note No. P(PIV)307(1)/66, dated November 24, 1966 and has the honour to state that the fear of the Government of India that the reporting of these events by the Pakistan press may inflame communal passions is misplaced. Complete communal harmony has prevailed within Pakistan and there is no hint of communal violence in any part of the country. Reports published in the Pakistan press about the events in India were generally international agency reports carried by the world press at large. It is not understood how their publication in Pakistan can amount to violation of the Tashkent Declaration.

2. Any political agitation in India, whether by the name of anti-cow slaughter or otherwise, which brings about loss of life and property to Muslims cannot pass unnoticed in Pakistan. The fact that anti-Muslim riots have occurred in India in several places as sequel to the anti-cow slaughter movement is well-known; nor can the seriousness of such riots be diminished by calling them "isolated Incidents". The Pakistan High Commission in its note of 16th November, 1966, has cited the Chief Minister of Rajasthan himself, as stating that the communal riot which took place in Udaipur on November 14, 1966, had been carefully planned in advance and those who indulged in arson and rioting had been given special training in sabotage and such activities. With regard to the riots in Calcutta, it is particularly regretted that during the police firing chiefly Muslims were killed and the loss of property was mainly borne by Muslims.

3. It is for the Indian Government to bear responsibility for the maintenance of calm and communal harmony in India and thus prevent the inflammation of communal feelings and tension between the two countries.

4. On the other hand there is a virulent and increasing campaign in the Indian press against Pakistan and Muslims in general.

The High Commission for Pakistan avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

New Delhi, March 12, 1968.

No. 4 (12)-CSVI/6S. March 12, 1968

The High Commission for Pakistan presents its compliments to Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, and with reference to the statement of a member of the Parliament on February 12, 1968 that during last 20 years 7,500 communal riots took place in India, 29 during the last two months, has the honour to state that the Government of Pakistan views this fast deteriorating communal situation in India, resulting from the inability of the Government of India to take adequate measures in accordance with its obligation under the Liaquat-Nehru Agreement, with serious concern. Attention of the Government of India is particular drawn to communal riot in Karimganj (Assam) on March 2, 1968 in which according to the Chief Minister, Mr. Bimla Prasad Chaliha, 7 persons were killed and 43 injured. In his statement in the State Assembly Mr. Chaliha is reported to have said that rioters also set fire to about 30 houses and a few shops causing fairly heavy loss.

Coming in the wake of the Meerut riots, the Karimganj episode is bound to create a feeling of unrest and harassment amongst the Muslims in India and may result in serious public repercussions in Pakistan.

While attention of the Government of India has already been drawn to the Meerut riots vide note No.4(11)-CSVI/68 dated the 20th February 1968, an earlier riot at Chak Manglore (Mysore) which started on January 6th, needs also to be mentioned. According to the Indian press reports the riot started with the desecration of Muslim graveyard by some member of the majority community. It soon spread to the town where, no less than 100 Muslim houses and shops were ransacked or burnt. The loss is roughly estimated to be about 75 lakh rupees. The communal tension in Chak Manglore, it is understood, had been building up for some time past. Despite several representations from leaders of the minority community, little was done to ease the situation. In view of the indifference shown by the law and order authorities, it appears that the riot was pre-meditated and pre-planned.

The High Commission would, therefore, urge the Government of India to conduct an immediate enquiry into the riots at Chak Manglore and Karimganj and by justly punishing the culprits to prevent reoccurrence of such deplorable incidents. The High Commission would be grateful to be informed of the measures taken regarding compensation for the loss of life and property.

It may be mentioned that the High Commission has been, from time to time, bringing various incidents of communal riots to the notice of the Government of India, whose response has been regrettably very poor. Some of the Notes, which have remained un-anwered, are mentioned:-

(i) Note No. 4(40) CSVI/67 dated 24.10.67. regarding riot at Sitamarhi.
(ii) Note No. 4(44)-CSVI/67 dated 26.10.67. regarding riots in Amina Bazar, Murshidabad District.
(iii) Note No. 4(47)-CSVI/67 dated 28.11.68 regarding at V. Mansa, Madhya Pradesh.
(iv) Note No. 4(50)-CSVI/67 dated 12.12.67 regarding riots in Village Bankura (West Bengal).
(vi) Note No. 4(52)-CSVI/67 dated 22.12.67 regarding riots in Village Rampur P.S. Bulsand.

It is earnestly hoped that the Government of India would take expeditious measures of enquiry, as requested in the above mentioned Notes and let the High Commission be kindly informed of the results thereof.

The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Ministry of External Affairs
Government of India
New Delhi.
Note from Pakistan High Commission in India to Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, April 8, 1968.

No. 4 (16) - CSVI/68

April 8, 1968.

The High Commission for Pakistan in India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs and has the honour to express its deep concern at the progressive deterioration of the communal situation in India. According to the annual review of the Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India, as reported in the press, the number of anti-Muslim riots showed a marked increase from 133 in 1966 to 209 in 1967. Nearly eight months have elapsed since the devastating riots in Ranchi, but no action has yet been taken against those responsible for killing, looting and arson, although their names are well known. This apathetic attitude of the Government cannot but create the impression that the perpetrators of communal crimes are above the law, and, thus, contribute to unstrained indulgence in communal violence.

2. The riots in Ranchi were closely followed by Sursand riots, details of which had already been communicated in the Note No. IN(2) - I-I (17)/67 dated October 25, 1967 from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. A fresh wave of large-scale rioting has broken out since the beginning of this year.

3. On January 6, 1968 a communal riot broke out in Chak Manglore in Mysore in which 50 shops and 100 houses belonging to the Muslim community were looted and a number of Muslims injured. The total loss of property and cash is estimated to be about Rs.20/- lakhs. The hooligans also forcibly entered and desecrated a mosque and damaged minarets of the Eid Gah.

4. On January 28, 1968 serious riots broke out in Meerut in Uttar Pradesh on the occasion of the visit of Sheikh Abdullah. In these riots at least 16 Muslims were killed and 80 injured.

5. On March 2, 1968 widespread communal riots took place in and around Karimganj in Assam. In these riots 17 Muslims were killed and about 90 injured. Similarly 30 houses in Karimganj, 20 shops in Tilabazar, 2 houses in Faqirabazar, 1 house in Badrpur, 1 house in Nalarpur, 8 houses in Karimganj and 20 houses in Mirgram and a whole row of houses near Ratabari Railway Station all belonging to the Muslims were burnt down by the members of the majority community.

6. On March 14, 1968 a violent communal riot broke out in Narkeldanga, Rajabazar, Mirzapur, Kalabagan, Tollygunj, Jorasanko, and other areas in Calcutta as well as in Uttarpara, Chinsura, Rishra and Magra in the District of Hooghly. It is reported that at least 20 Muslims were killed and 70 injured in these riots.

7. On March 16, 1968 a serious riot broke out in Allahabad in Uttar Pradesh. According to reports reaching the High Commission, 11 Muslims were killed, the number of injured being unknown. Six shops owned by Muslims in Chowk Gadheri, Sarai and Thaleri Bazar were burnt and several other looted. A copy of the Holy Quran was torn to pieces and burnt at Zero Road. A large number of shops belonging to Muslims at Roshan Bagh, Johnson Ganj, Zero Road, G.T.Road, and other parts of the city were looted and burnt. This was done in the presence of the police, who led the rioters and opened fire on the Muslims who tried to defend themselves. Similarly arson and looting of Muslim shops took place in Muthiganj, Kotwali Mirkhanj, Bahadur Ganj, Ghas Ki Satti and Khuldabad. A mosque was set on fire in Onnch Mandi area. The connivance of the police is evident from the fact that most of the killings and arsons were committed during the curfew. The police also arrested all the leading Muslims and encircled some of the Muslim localities preventing escape to safer areas while the rioters were allowed a free hand.

8. On the 31st March, 1968, a communal riot broke out in Tinshukia in Assam, involving arson, looting and attack on the members of the minority community. The details of this riot are still awaited.

9. A consolidated list of major communal riots, including those mentioned, above, which took place after the Ranchi riots is attached (not included here).

10. The High Commission would once again draw the attention of the Ministry of External Affairs to the solemn obligations of the Government of India, under Liaquat-Nehru Agreement of April 8, 1950, to ensure the security of the lives, personal honour and properties of the Muslims and in terms of this agreement the High Commission urges the Government of India to take prompt measures for punishing the culprits as well as for compensating and rehabilitating those affected by the riots.

11. The Ministry is well aware that these riots are not always spontaneous, and that these are more often than not carefully organised by political parties, which are openly anti-Muslim, that in some instances authorities have connived at these disturbances or failed to take prompt action and that instead of abating, these riots continue to spread from state to state. The High Commission, in recalling the Liaquat-Nehru Agreement earnestly hopes that no time would be lost in dealing with this regrettable situation and that full protection of every type would be afforded to the Muslim minority.
12. The High Commission would be grateful to be informed of the action taken by the Government of India in this regard as early as possible.

13. The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Ministry of External Affairs,
Government of India, New Delhi.

New Delhi, July 3, 1968.

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan in India and with reference to the High Commission's Note No.4(l2) CSVI/68 dated the 12th March and 4(16)CSVI/68 dated the 8th April,1968, has the honour to state that the High Commission has exaggerated the recent disturbances in India beyond all proportion, and seems to base its reactions rather on the distorted accounts that have appeared in the Pakistani press than on actual facts. In most of the cases and particularly at Karimganj, Calcutta and Allahabad the troubles had their origin in local petty squabbles which resulted in group clashes involving different communities. The allegations that these riots were carefully organised and that in certain cases even the authorities had connived at them, are unfounded, malicious and far from the truth. Nor is it correct to say that the incidents were organised against any particular community. The victims of these unfortunate incidents belonged not only to the minority communities but also to the majority community.

It should be obvious to any objective and impartial observer that the authorities have invariably taken prompt measures to deal firmly with such law and order situations whenever and wherever they have occurred. Mischievous elements and those found guilty of disturbing the peace have been dealt with severely. A large number of arrests have taken place of those involved, collective fines have been imposed and additional police stationed at the places of disturbance set up. The Home Minister of India in a statement in the Lok Sabha on the 8th March and in the Rajya Sabha on the 13th March categorically reiterated the resolve of the Government to protect the right of citizens irrespective of their religion and to enable them to live and work in peace and honour. The High Commission has already been informed of the Commission that has been set up to enquire into some of the major incidents.

Although the Government of India have taken essential steps, both preventive and corrective, in the matter, the Ministry would like to point out that Pakistani information media have made an orchestrated attempt to exacerbate feelings between different communities in this country. These media have put out exaggerated accounts of the incidents and given a communal twist to even minor problems of law and order, with the evident desire of creating disaffection among various communities in India. The Government of India have repeatedly drawn the attention of the Government of Pakistan towards such insidious propaganda which is in complete violation of Article IV of the Tashkent Declaration. The Ministry would like to reiterate that by permitting or encouraging propaganda aimed at creating communal ill-will in India, the Government of Pakistan are not only violating the Tashkent Declaration but also the Nehru-Liaquat Pact, under Article C (7) of which the two Governments agreed to "take prompt and effective steps to prevent dissemination of news and mischievous opinion calculated to rouse communal passion by press or radio or by any individual or organisation. Those guilty of such activity shall be rigorously dealt with. The Ministry hopes that the Government of Pakistan would, for their part, refrain from encouraging or countenancing the Pakistani press or radio from trying to exacerbate the situation or otherwise interfering in this country's internal affairs.

The Ministry avails itself of the opportunity to renew to the High Commission the assurances of its highest consideration.

New Delhi, June 13, 1969.

Ministry of External Affairs
New Delhi

No. PII/284/23/88

June 13, 1969

The Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission of Pakistan in India and with reference to High Commission's note No.1 (31)-CS.VI/68 dated April 22, 1969, has the honour to state that the Government of India totally reject the allegation made by the High Commission of Pakistan that there is "resurgence of communal frenzy in India against the Muslim minority." The charge is not only baseless but malicious and has been made in line with the Government of Pakistan's policy to create Hindu-Muslim disunity in India, weaken India and place Pakistan in a better position to realize its territorial ambitions against India. The fact that Pakistan has been doing its best to excite communal frenzy in India is clear from the Pakistani broadcasts beamed to India. A random selection from the broadcasts beamed to India are attached (not included here) and make the Pakistani design quite clear.

2. Another objective of this propaganda is to instill into the minds of the people of Pakistan a false picture of conditions in India and to excite Muslim religious feelings against India. This policy to deliberately foment hatred against India among the people of Pakistan is not only a violation of Article. IV of the Tashkent Declaration but seeks to prevent the improvement of relations between the two countries.

3. The Ministry of External Affairs would, once again, urge the High Commission of Pakistan in India to move the Government of Pakistan to bring a stop to anti-Indian propaganda.

4. The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission of Pakistan in India the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission of Pakistan,
New Delhi.

3140. Letter from Ministry of External Affairs to the Government of West Bengal.

New Delhi, June 27, 1969

To : Shri K.G. Basu, IAS,
Joint Secretary to the Govt. of West Bengal Home Department (Political),
Commonwealth Relations Section, Calcutta.

Subject: Return of Muslim evacuees to India to claim their exchanged properties

Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter No. 258-CRS, dated the 28th April, 1969, on the above subject,

2. On a similar reference from the West Bengal Govt. in 1964, this issue was got examined in the Ministries of External Affairs, Home Affairs and Rehabilitation. The Government of India were of the view that the claims of the Indian Muslim evacuees returning to India and re-claiming possession of their exchanged properties from Hindu refugees should not be made an official concern. Should any person returning from East Pakistan desire to re-claim his previous properties, he should do so either by mutual arrangement with the present occupant/owner or through a competent Court of Law. So far, there has been no change in this position and these instructions should apply.

3. Regarding the citizenship issue, the Ministry of Home Affairs are of the opinion that the cases in which Migration had taken place prior to the commencement of the Constitution on 26th January, 1950, but after the first day of March, 1947, will fall within the mischief of the provisions of Article 7 of the Constitution and the persons concerned will have to be treated as having migrated to Pakistan and as having not become Indian citizens under the provisions of the Constitution. As regards those who migrated after the 26th January, 1950, the position is that they will continue to retain Indian citizenship acquired by them earlier till the Central Government, acting under section 9(2) of the Citizenship Act, 1955, read with rule 30 of the Citizenship Rules, 1956, and the rules of evidence contained in Schedule III thereto, and after going through the prescribed procedure, hold that the persons concerned have voluntarily acquired the citizenship of another country.

4. This position may kindly be explained to the District Authorities concerned.

Yours faithfully
(R.N. Malhotra)
Under Secretary to the Govt. of India.
3141. Note from Ministry of External Affairs to Pakistan High Commission in India.

New Delhi, April 30, 1970.

Government of India
Ministry of External Affairs
New Delhi

No. PII/282/10/70 April 30, 1970.

The Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, presents its compliments to the High Commission for Pakistan in India and has the honour to state that the Government of India have received disquieting reports about large-scale influx of refugees from East Pakistan to India of late.

2. It has been ascertained that since January 1970, about 28,000 persons have been forced by circumstances within East Pakistan to enter India through unauthorised routes and without travel documents. On interrogation of these migrants, it has been learnt that they had entered India through unauthorized 'routes' by walking across the border with the help of touts operating within East Pakistan. According to them, while they were crossing the border the members of the East Pakistan Rifles forcibly took away all their belongings. The bulk of refugees so crossing the border belong to Khulna District of East Pakistan. They hail from villages within the jurisdiction of police stations Dumuria, Rampal and Baithaghata.

3. It has also been learnt from these refugees after careful interrogation that they left East Pakistan on account of the generally insecure conditions facing the minorities in Pakistan, namely, thefts, robberies, deoities and, in particular, offences against women, like rape, molestation, abduction and forcible marriages of Hindu girls to Muslims. It is universally complained that the Pakistan police take no action on complaints from the Hindus. The general feeling of insecurity is stated to have been further accentuated by the recent election campaign during which some communal parties have been making sinister insinuations questioning the minority community's very loyalty to Pakistan.

4. The Government of India have noted with concern that this influx of refugees is continuing unabated. The Government of Pakistan will no doubt realise that men, women and children in East Pakistan would not voluntarily elect to abandon their hearths and homes if they were enjoying security of life, property and honour. The Government of Pakistan will also appreciate that such large-scale illegal migration from Pakistan tends to create a totally undesirable and sensitive situation. The Government of India are also faced with the immediate problem of giving relief and rehabilitation assistance to these innocent refugees, on humanitarian considerations, as they are unwilling to return to their hearths.
and homes in Pakistan, apart from the problem of maintaining law and order in circumstances exciting the feelings of the people where the migrants tend to collect.

5. The Government of India protest against the failure of the Government of Pakistan to ameliorate the continuing unhappy plight of the minority community in Pakistan and are constrained once again to urge the Government of Pakistan to take effective measures to assure the security of the life, property and honour, and to enable them to live in peace and honour as equal citizens of Pakistan. The Government of India also request the Pakistan Government to punish the persons causing harassment to the members of the minority community and to restore confidence amongst them so that further illegal migration of these Pakistan nationals of the minority community does not take place. Attention of the Government of Pakistan is once again drawn to the Nehru-Liaquat Pact of 1950, which requires them, inter alia, to guarantee to their minorities, security, full freedom and equality of rights,

6. The Government of India would appreciate being informed of the action taken in this regard, if there is no objection.

7. The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission for Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission for Pakistan,
Chanakyapuri, New Delhi.

3142. Note from Pakistan High Commission in India to Ministry of External Affairs.

Pakistan High Commission
New Delhi

The High Commission for Pakistan in India presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, and has the honour to draw the Ministry's attention to the following provisions of the Agreement between the Governments of India and Pakistan signed by the two Prime Ministers on April 8, 1950, popularly known as the Liaquat-Nehru Pact:-
a) Para 2 of Annexure (Communal Incidents) to the Pact provides that "each and every incident reported by one Government to the other should be enquired into promptly and if facts are established, action to bring the wrong-doers to book. The result of the enquiry and the action taken should be communicated to the other Government".

b) Para 5 of the above Annexure provides that "an area where serious communal disturbances takes place or where there is a succession of incidents involving oppression or harassment of the minorities and where the inhabitants have either themselves been responsible for the crimes or have not been diligent in preventing the commission of such crimes should be penalized by the levy of a collective fine or the imposition of a Punitive Police Force."

c) Para 8 of the above Annexure provides that "only agreed figures of migrant traffic at checking stations in East Pakistan and West Bengal should in future be published".

2. The High Commission regrets to note that the Government of India has been consistently failing to observe the above provisions of the agreement. Over the last few years the High Commission has brought to their notice several hundred communal riots and disturbances and has requested for appropriate action, under the terms of the above-mentioned agreement, to enquire into the incidents, bring the guilty parties to book and inform the High Commission of the action taken. Despite repeated reminders, extending over several months and in some cases several years, no substantive reply has been forthcoming from the Government of India in these cases. The Government of India's failure to observe the relevant provisions of the agreement in these cases tends to confirm the worse suspicions about the magnitude of the riots and disturbances and the inaction of the authorities concerned. It also enhances the feeling of insecurity among the minority community which would be mitigated if prompt and effective action was taken to identify the guilty parties and award appropriate punishment to them.

Pakistan has always been willing to fulfil its obligations under this clause, but the necessity has fortunately not arisen, as there has not been any communal incident in Pakistan since 1964.

3. With regard to the provision in the Pact for imposition of a collective fine or a Punitive Police Force, the Government of India would no doubt agree that if this had been enforced as provided for, communal tragedies in India involving extreme human suffering for the minority community could, at least to some extent, have been minimised.

4. It has also been noticed with regret and apprehension that various agencies and representatives of the Government of India, including Honourable Ministers in Parliament, have been giving one-sided and highly inflated figures of the alleged exodus from East Pakistan, in contravention of the very clear provision in Section 8 of the Annexure to the above Pact that only agreed figures of migrant traffic at checking stations in East and West Bengal should be published. Needless to say, such propaganda is fraught with dangerous possibilities as it gives a handle to communal elements among the majority community to engineer and incite violence against the minority community. It also makes it still more difficult for the minority community to feel the full sense of security in respect of life, culture, property and personal honour which Para A of the Agreement enjoins on both governments to provide and which unfortunately continues to elude the Muslim minority in India.

5. The Government of India would no doubt agree that solemn agreements between sovereign nations constitute an indispensable pillar of international life and that it is imperative for such agreements to be observed scrupulously by the parties concerned. Failure to observe them not only vitiates the general atmosphere in relations between two countries but also, in circumstances such as these, leads to tragedies and human suffering which could be prevented if the pledged word of the parties was respected in practice. It is sincerely hoped, therefore, that the Government of India will ensure observance by all their agencies of the provisions of the “Liaquat-Nehru Pact” to which the High Commission has had the honour to draw their attention.

6. The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry the assurances of its highest consideration.

3143. Statement by the Spokesman of Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs commenting on the reported statement of Indian External Affairs Minister Dinesh Singh that the so-called recent anti-Muslim riots in Maharashtra were an internal affair of India.

Islamabad, June 12, 1970.

A spokesman of the Foreign Office said that the Foreign Office had not yet seen the text of Dinesh Singh’s statement broadcast, by All India Radio in which the Indian External Affairs Minister was reported to have described the recent anti-Muslim riots in Maharashtra as an internal affair of India and had warned other countries against taking notice of the plight of Indian Muslims.

The Foreign Office spokesman expressed surprise at the reported statement by the Indian External Affairs Minister which had wide-ranging implications. How can a responsible leader of the Indian Government claim that the massacre of Muslims in India was an internal matter of India? If this was accepted, then it would mean that the Afro-Asian community and liberal forces of the world would be precluded from taking note of the denial of human rights in Rhodesia, of the fate of people of Indo-Pakistan origin in South Africa and the sufferings of Arabs under Israeli occupation. How can the rest of the World watch silently when Indian Muslims were being denied human rights and subjected to organised brutalities? He asked.

The spokesman said the Government of India was mistaken if it believed that by issuing threatening statements it could suppress world conscience or force others to close their eyes to what is happening to Muslims in India, Dinesh Singh’s tirade against Pakistan for exposing the hollowness of India’s claim to secularism was also not understandable in view of the fact that the Liaquat-Nehru Agreement placed a solemn responsibility on both countries for the safety and welfare of their respective minorities.

Dinesh Singh is further reported to have mentioned that 76,000 non-Muslims had left East Pakistan. This figure was a figment of the imagination and had no doubt been mentioned to conceal the organised massacre of Indian Muslims, the spokesman said.

The Government of Pakistan had repeatedly stated that perfect communal harmony exists in East Pakistan. The Indian High Commissioner in Pakistan recently visited the Eastern Wing and publicly confirmed this. The Government of Pakistan provided him with all facilities to visit various places because there was no need to hide anything from him. On the other hand the Pakistan High Commission in India has, despite repeated requests, not yet been permitted to visit any place in Maharashtra or Gujarat where serious anti-Muslim riots took place.

The Foreign Office spokesman concluded by appealing to the Indian Government to take effective steps to safeguard the life and property of Muslims in India. If this was done and the Indian Government sincerely implemented the provisions of the Liaquat-Nehru Agreement, there would be no need for them to threaten other countries which expressed sympathy and support for the unfortunate Muslim minority in India.

Islamabad, March 7, 1972

The Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of Pakistan submitted to the Swiss Embassy in Islamabad the following Note dated 7th March 1972, with the request to communicate its contents to the Ministry of External Affairs of the Government of India:

"According to agency reports anti Muslim riots have taken place in the town of Gulbarga, Mysore State, in India a few days ago. The rioters are reported to have indulged in widespread arson and looting. About 100 persons have reportedly been injured and one person has died in these riots. Under the Liaquat - Nehru Agreement of 1950, the Indian Government is under obligation to take all necessary measures to safeguard the lives, personal honour, and properties of the Muslim community living in India, The Ministry would be grateful if the incidence of these riots is brought to the attention of the Indian Government and they are requested to institute necessary investigations and to punish the culprits responsible for these riots. The Indian Government may kindly also be requested to take suitable measures to prevent recurrence of such incidents in future. The action taken in this regard by the Indian Government may also kindly be intimated to this Ministry."

Islamabad, March 24, 1972.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs
Islamabad

No. SA(III)-1/1/72. March 24, 1972

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Pakistan, presents its compliments to the Embassy of Switzerland, Indian Interests, and with reference to the Embassy's note No.828.11, dated March 16, 1972, regarding the anti-Muslim riots in the town of Gulbarga, has the honour to state the following:

According to paras C & D of the agreement between the Government of India and the Government of Pakistan dated 8th April, 1950, it is obligatory on both the Governments to safeguard the lives, personal honour and properties of the minority communities living not only in the States of West Bengal, Assam, Tripura and East Pakistan, but in any part of India and Pakistan. Paras 1 & 2 of the Annexure to this agreement, dated 16th August, 1950, make this obligation absolutely clear in the following terms:

"(i) It was agreed that whenever a communal incident is brought to the notice of the authorities, it should be promptly investigated and effective action should be taken against the miscreants, including Government servants, if any, who may have been guilty of dereliction of duty.

(ii) It was agreed that each and every incident reported by one Government to the other should be inquired into promptly and, if the facts are established, action taken to bring the wrong-doers to book. The result of the inquiry and the action taken should be communicated to the other Government."

2. The Government of Pakistan, therefore, rejects the contention of the Indian Government that the Liaquat-Nehru Agreement of 1950 is restricted to the States of West Bengal, Assam and Tripura and the Province of East Pakistan only.

3. The Indian Government may therefore, be requested to institute necessary investigations into the communal riots in the town of Gulbarga, and results of these investigations as well as the action taken by the Indian Government to punish the culprits and to prevent the recurrence of such incidents in future be communicated to this Ministry.
3146. Note of Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to the Ministry of External Affairs transmitted through the Swiss Embassy.

The Embassy of Switzerland, Pakistan Affairs Division, transmits the following message, dated July 26, 1974, from the Government of Pakistan:

Begins:

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Pakistan, presents its compliments to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, and has the honour to state that an Adjournment was moved in the National Assembly of Pakistan to discuss the communal riots that took place in Delhi in April/May 1974. The Minister of State for Defence and Foreign Affairs opposed the proposal for lodging a protest to the Government of India, stating that according to reports the Government of India had taken cognizance of the seriousness of the riots and had instituted a high level inquiry into the riots. A minority has to look for the redress of its grievances to the Government of its own State. Considering, however, that such communal riots are bound to cause public concern and resentment in Pakistan, the Minister agreed to convey the feelings of the National Assembly to the Government of India.

The Ministry of Foreign affairs avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India the assurances of its highest consideration.

New Delhi, July 26, 1974.

The following message may kindly be transmitted to the Government of Pakistan:

BEGIN

"The Ministry of External Affairs presents its compliments to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Pakistan and has the honour to refer to their note dated July 26, 1974 conveyed through Swiss diplomatic channels.

2. The Government of India are unable to agree that Pakistan has any right to raise officially a matter which falls entirely within India's domestic jurisdiction. It is all the more surprising that the Ministry of Foreign Affairs should have thought it fit to communicate the so-called concern expressed in Pakistan's National Assembly about the incidents in the Sadar Bazar area of New Delhi when His Excellency the Minister of State for Defence and Foreign Affairs had quite rightly clarified on the floor of the National Assembly that the Liaquat-Nehru Pact was no longer applicable and under the Simla Agreement this matter would be treated as an internal issue. This Ministry would like to point out that in the last two months it has received numerous representations from the leaders of the Ahmadiya community in India asking that the 'repression' to which the Ahmadiya Community in Pakistan is being subjected should be brought to the notice of the Pakistan Government and that this matter should be raised at international forums. However, the Government of India did not consider it appropriate to raise this matter with the Pakistan Government as it was felt that the matter fell clearly within the domestic jurisdiction of Pakistan.

3. The Government of India is of the view that whatever concern there has been in Pakistan regarding the incidents in the Sadar Bazar in quite misplaced and is largely due to the distorted and exaggerated publicity given by Radio Pakistan and the press to this subject. The attention of the Government of Pakistan has already been drawn to this matter vide Government of India's Message dated June 22.

The Ministry of External Affairs avails itself of the opportunity to renew to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration."

INDIA-PAKISTAN RELATIONS

SECTION - XIV

EVACUEE PROPERTY
Ordinance issued by the Government of Pakistan regarding taxes on transfer of property belonging to the evacuees.

Government of Pakistan
Ministry of Law and Labour
Karachi

Ordinance No. IV of 1947.

10 December 1947

An ORDINANCE to provide for the payment of taxes before the recognition of transfer of property.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to provide for the payment of taxes before the recognition of transfer of property.

NOW THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 42 of the Government of India Act, 1935 (26 Geo. 5, c, 2) as adapted by the Pakistan (Provisional Constitution) Order 1947, the Governor–General is pleased to make and promulgate the following Ordinance:

1. Short title, extent, application and commencement. (1) This Ordinance may be called the Transfer of Property (Pakistan) Ordinance, 1947.

   (2) It extends to all the provinces of Pakistan.

   (3) It shall come into force at once in the Provinces of Sind, West Punjab, North West Frontier and Baluchistan, and in other areas as and when the Government of Pakistan may direct.

2. Effect of Provisions with other laws. Notwithstanding any other law for the time being in force the provisions of this ordinance shall have effect throughout the areas to which it applies.

3. Registration of documents. No registering Officer, Revenue Officer, Custodian or other officer appointed to deal with property shall register any document, relating to property other than agricultural land, which is required to be registered under the provisions of clause (a),(b),(c) or (e) of sub–section (1) of section 17 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (XVI of 1908), unless it is certified by an Inspecting Assistant Commissioner of Income tax, in respect of every person whose right, title or interest in the property is or will be transferred, assigned, limited or extinguished under the terms of the document, either that such person is not liable to taxation under the Income – tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 (XV of 1940) or the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947 (XXI of 1947), or that he has either paid or made satisfactory provision for the payment of all existing or anticipated liabilities under any of the said acts.

4. Recovery Proceedings. If any right, title or interest in any property whether moveable or immoveable other than agricultural land, is, or has been transferred, assigned, limited or extinguished after the 14th day of August 1947, and Income–tax Officer may at any time issue a notice to all or any of the parties to the transaction requiring them to produce within one month the certificate prescribed by section 3; and if such certificate is not produced he may forward a statement to the Collector showing the existing and anticipated tax liabilities of each or any of the said parties. The collector shall then proceed to recover the total amount shown in the statement as if it were an arrear of land revenue, and for the purpose of the recovery proceedings he may treat the said property as if it belonged to all or any of the persons named in the statement.

5. Proceedings of suits. No suit, Prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against the Dominion Government, any Provincial Government, any Income Tax Officer or any other person or authority acting under his directions or in pursuance of any claim shown in the statement forwarded to the Collector under the preceding section, for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Ordinance.

December 18 – 20, 1947

ITEM No.I – Insurance Companies.

It is agreed that Companies which have moved their Head Offices to India will advise the Reserve Bank through the Government of India that 15 per cent of the statutory deposits made by them with the Reserve Bank shall be deemed to be held on account of the policy holders now resident in Pakistan until the Superintendent of Insurance has determined the appropriate percentage of policy liability pertaining to persons at present resident in Pakistan.

(2) The Superintendent of Insurance is to be requested to report the appropriate percentage figure by the 15th of January, if possible.

(3) On behalf of the Companies which have moved their Head Offices to India, an undertaking is given that their assets, other than statutory deposits with the Reserve Bank of India, will not be reduced or withdrawn from Pakistan to the detriment of Pakistani policy holders.

(4) Insurance Companies, in particular General Insurance Companies, will be accorded all reasonable facilities by the Pakistani Government in respect of protection and investigation of claims for their representatives who must go to investigate and appraise claims which have already arisen or may arise hereafter. The Government of India will accord reciprocal facilities. Agents of such companies should report to the Home Secretary, Government of West Punjab; and similarly agents of companies in Pakistan should report to the Home Secretary, East Punjab, Jullundur. Both Governments will advise the companies concerned to send out agents and investigators, as far as possible, belonging to communities which prima facie would not require protection.

(5) In respect of investigation of claims in N.W.F.P. and Sind, the procedure agreed upon in respect of West Punjab will apply and the agents of companies concerned will report to the Chief Secretary to the N.W.F.P. and Home Secretary, Sind, for grant of necessary facilities. It is understood that reciprocal facilities will be accorded in the Delhi Province. Agents of Companies concerned will approach the Deputy Commissioner, Delhi, for grant of necessary facilities.

(6) Complaints in regard to delay in settlement of claims will be referred by Pakistan to Mr. Ranganathan, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Commerce, Government of India and complaints from India will be referred to Mr.
Karamatullah, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Commerce, Pakistan, Karachi. It is recognized, however, that settlement of claims can be expedited only after the companies concerned get their records, equipment, furniture, etc.

(7) It is agreed that as soon as the provisional allocation under para. I has been made, the companies concerned may remove their Head Office records, equipment, furniture fittings, etc., and for this purpose they should make application to the Custodian of Evacuee Property, West Punjab, Lahore.

(8) The same procedure should apply in respect of any insurance companies in other parts of Pakistan, who may have removed their Head Offices to India.

Sub Item (I) Under Item III – Articles Held in safe custody, safe deposit in banks or safe deposit accounts

It is agreed that

(a) The depositor must be deemed to be the person entitled to claim such property and take possession thereof; and

(b) If any person other than the depositor claims the whole or part of the contents standing to the account of a depositor, either as a pawner or a bailor, such claim must be lodged by a prescribed date.

In regard to Lahore it is understood that the District Magistrate fixed 15th December 1947 as the last date on which such claims must be lodged. It is agreed that the last date for lodging of such claims in respect of other places in West Punjab shall be the 10th of January 1948.

(2) In respect of deposits against which no claim is lodged by the prescribed date, depositors concerned will be allowed full facilities to operate the deposits or to withdraw them partly or completely. The procedure in this behalf will be that the depositor or his duly accredited agent will present an application to the Custodian of Evacuee Property, West Punjab, who will grant the necessary permission as a matter of course. In districts of West Punjab, other than Lahore, such application will be made to the Deputy Custodian concerned, who again will grant permission as a matter of course. In the N.W.F.P. such application will be made to the Controller appointed under Section 3 of Ordinance X of 1947 promulgated in that province.
(3) As for deposits in respect of which a claim has been lodged, it is agreed that, when the depositor or his duly accredited agent presents an application to the Custodian of Evacuee Property or to the Deputy Custodian concerned in the West Punjab, or to the Controller concerned in N.W.F.P. this officer will immediately release such part of the deposit as is not in dispute and against which there is no claim. In regard to the balance, a final decision shall be made as speedily as possible. The same procedure will apply in Baluchistan and applications will be made to the Custodian of Evacuee Property in that Province.

(4) So far as the Custodian, Deputy, Custodian, or Controller is concerned, a permit to operate a deposit will be issued in the name of the depositor and not his accredited agent. It will be for the bank etc. to satisfy itself that the person presenting the permit is the depositor himself or his duly accredited agent.

(5) No restrictions on operation of vaults, bank deposits etc. have been imposed by India so far; but in the spirit of the agreement reached with Pakistan in this matter, if any person now resident in Pakistan has any difficulty whatsoever in regard to deposits of this nature, he or his accredited agent should apply to the Custodian of Evacuee Property, East Punjab or Delhi Province, as the case may be, who will give such assistance as may be necessary.

(6) In regard to States in either Dominion, the Dominion Governments agree to endeavour to have the same procedure implemented.

(7) If at any time hereafter restrictions on operation of safe deposit vaults etc. are imposed in the Indian Union, the Government of India agree to implement the same procedure as has now been agreed upon in respect of West Punjab, N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan.

Reported By Joint Sub – Committee.

Immovable Property

General Plan Regarding Treatment Of Property Left Behind By Evacuees:

(1) It is agreed and re-affirmed that ownership of all immovable property left by an evacuee in either Dominion remains undisturbed and continues to vest in that evacuee.

(2) (a) It is agreed that out of the immovable property left by evacuees and vested in the Custodian, the Rehabilitation authorities of the Dominion concerned may take over for temporary use for a fixed period of years such property as is required by them bona fide for purposes of rehabilitation of refugees from the other Dominion, but not for other or collated purposes.

(b) The maximum period for which the Rehabilitation authorities may take over immovable evacuee property should not exceed the following:

(i) Residential property – 3 years.
(ii) Commercial and Industrial undertaking – 4 years.
(iii) Agricultural property – 3 years.
(iv) The question of properties owned by Institutions and Trusts would be considered later separately.

(c) In respect of property taken over by Rehabilitation authorities, from the Custodian, the rentals payable by the Rehabilitation authorities to the Custodian should be determined by the Custodian, with reference to fair value and not with reference to the rents at which the Rehabilitation authorities decide to make available the use of those properties to refugees. It is the intention that concessions given to refugees should be at the cost of the Rehabilitation authorities and not of the evacuee owners.

(3) Where the property is not required by the Rehabilitation authorities, and if the owner makes his own arrangements for the proper management of such property on his application to the Custodian such property shall be restored to him for management and/or disposal as the owner may deem fit. Where the management has not yet been taken over by the Custodian, he may on the owner’s application allow him to retain the management.

(4) Where property is taken over by the Rehabilitation authorities the owner shall have full right and facilities to transfer, by sale, exchange or otherwise, such property subject to the retention of the property by the Rehabilitation authorities for the period of years mentioned in para. 2 (b).

(5) Where property has been returned to the owner for management or is not required by the Rehabilitation authorities, the owner shall be given full facilities for transfer of the property whether by sale, exchange or otherwise. These facilities will include the employment of private dealers and brokers to arrange exchanges or sales.

(6) Where the owner, in spite of the freedom and facilities to transfer his property, considers or finds himself unable to do so he may proceed in the following manner:
(i) Urban Property

(a) He may at any time apply to the Government of the Dominion to which he has moved for transfer of the property through official agency.

(b) For dealing with such applications the two Dominions will set up a joint agency for the purpose of joint valuation of the property in question by means of assessors acting under the joint agency.

(c) The joint Inter – Dominion agency will take all possible steps to arrange for disposal of the property at or above the value arrived at by assessment by the joint agency. In this respect the joint Inter – Dominion agency will act merely as agents of the owner on each side. Urban property at the price assessed by joint evaluation.

(ii) Agricultural Property

(a) any owner of agricultural property who considers or finds himself unable to arrange transfer of it, by sale, exchange or otherwise, by private means may apply to the Government of his Dominion requesting disposal through official agency.

(b) The two Dominions will set up a joint agency which will draw up a schedule of prices for agricultural property in both Dominions with reference to, firstly classification of different types of land such as homestead, chahi, nahri, barani, banjar, etc. and secondly with reference to territorial divisions which may be districts, sub – divisions, tahsils or in any particular case other convenient territorial division.

(c) When the schedule of prices has been decided upon by the joint agency, all agricultural property in respect of which transfer through official channels has been applied for. Will be valued and assessed with reference to such schedule. The particulars of holdings and rights therein will be determined from the preparation of village record.

(d) Each Dominion undertakes to take over at the value assessed in the above manner all agricultural property lying in its territory and to make payment to the other Dominion of the said assessed value, the Dominion concerned will be free to dispose of it in any manner it chooses and any profit or loss arising there from will not concern the other Dominion.

(e) Each Dominion, after taking over agricultural property in its territory in accordance with above will arrange to pay to evacuee owners for their territory the assessed value of their holdings in the other Dominion. Such payment may be by way of allotment of land or in cash or both.

(7) It is agreed that the basis for valuations as also for fixation of rentals will be “fair-value”.

(8) It is agreed that no restrictions will be placed by either Dominion on remittances of sale proceeds of property or of cash differences in value in cases of exchanges of property.

(9) It is recognized that in respect of the Dominion to Dominion liability arising out of the taking over by each Dominion of agricultural property jointly valued, the Dominion owing a net amount after evaluation and adjustment may require time for payment. The period and method of payment may be determined by a further agreement between the Dominions after the amount payable have been estimated or determined.

Moveable Property.

It was agreed that the right of ownership of any moveable’s continues to vest in the owner and that the owner should be given the right either to remove them or to dispose of them himself or to receive reasonable compensation therefor subject to the following:

(a) Moveables required by Government for Governmental purposes i.e. in respect of administration: the acquiring authority will acquire from the Custodian on payment of fair value.

(b) Moveables required by the rehabilitation authorities for purposes of rehabilitation of refugees may be acquired from the Custodian on payment of fair value.

(c) Moveables of a commercial or industrial undertaking where the owner at any time before disposal of such moveables applies to the Custodian for return of the undertaking to him for the purpose of his running it at its original site, may be restored to the owner by the Custodian on such conditions as he thinks fit. This permission may or may not include the permission to operate through agents.

(d) Moveables not comprised in (a), (b) and (c) above which nonetheless considered essential to the life of the community and cannot, therefore, be allowed to go outside the Dominion – In this category will fall those moveable’s the export of which has been prohibited by a prohibitory order by the Dominion or the Provincial Government. In such cases on application from the owner the Custodian will allow the owner to make his own arrangements for the disposal of the moveables within the Dominion.
(e) As regards the balance the owner will be given the right and full facilities to deal with or dispose of as he thinks fit including permission to remove outside the Dominion.

(2) Para. II (i) is subject to any agreements subsisting or to be made between the Dominions with regard either to export or import of articles or on other matter affecting moveables.

(3) In respect of moveables comprised in commercial or industrial undertakings the following facilities will be given to owners in respect of inventories and valuation:

(a) Within a period of one month of a date to be prescribed for the purposes, the owner may apply to the Custodian informing him that he will either appear personally or through a specified agent for the purpose of being present at the time of preparation of inventories or for being heard with regard to valuation of the moveables by the Custodian. During this period of one month no action to the prejudice of the owner will be taken.

(b) Each Dominion may appoint Liaison Officers at such places as it may desire for the purpose of assisting evacuees who have moved to that Dominion in regard to preparation of inventories and valuation. It shall be open to the owner to appoint such Liaison Officer as his agent.

(c) In regard to any undertaking in respect of which the owner has signified his desire to appear personally or be represented by his agent, the Custodian will arrange that freedom and facilities are given to the owner or his agent to be present at the time of preparation of inventories and at the time when the valuation is decided by the Custodian.

(d) Where the orders passed by any officer under the Custodian require confirmation by the Custodian, the owner or his agent shall be given an opportunity to be heard by the Custodian before the order confirming or varying valuation is passed.

(e) Where an order of valuation has been passed by an authority subordinate to the Custodian himself, and the order does not require confirmation by the Custodian, the owner shall have the right to appeal to the Custodian.

(4) (a) With regard to household effects, under the subsisting agreement between the Dominions the evacuee has a right to remove all his household effects. This right when exercised in relation to household effects in the meantime allotted to or taken possession of by a refugee tends to create a condition of insecurity for the refugee and hinders rehabilitation. Therefore, it is proposed that a list be drawn of articles of household goods which are required for rehabilitation and which the Rehabilitation department may ask the Custodian to retain for use of the refugee on full compensation in cash being paid. This cash value will be payable to the evacuee and he will be allowed to remove outside the Dominions.

(b) It is agreed that in regard to the household effects owners on both sides should be expected to remove them as early as possible and should be required to do so within three months from the date of operation of arrangements to be made in that behalf. It was agreed that arrangements facilitating the removal of such goods should be made by the two Dominions.

(c) The household goods belonging to evacuees which, are not removed by the evacuee by the end of the said three months may be disposed of by the Custodian to the best advantage and the money credited to the account of the evacuee.

(5) Moveables which are known to be property of evacuees but which are not identifiable to particular evacuees will be sold by the Custodian to the best advantage and the amount kept under a separate account. The disposal of such monies will be discussed by the Dominions at a subsequent date.

(6) The above principles will generally apply to moveable property. It is recognized that special categories or special articles will require special treatment, and each Dominion agrees at the suggestion of the other Dominion, to hold discussions to consider the establishment of special arrangements with regard to particular commodities or categories of articles.

RESOLUTION

The Conference considered the joint plan regarding treatment of property left behind by evacuees, produced by the Sub–Committee consisting of:

(1) Mr. Justice A. Rehman, Custodian of Evacuee Property, West Punjab,
(2) Mr. Mueen–ud–din, Commissioner of Rehabilitation, West Punjab,
(3) Mr. Y.K. Puri, Deputy Secretary, Ministry Without Portfolio,
(4) Mr. K.B. Lall, Deputy Secretary, Partition Office.
EVACUEE PROPERTY

It was agreed that this paper be considered by Government on both sides and each Dominion furnish its own scheme for treatment of property both moveable and immovable to a Joint Committee not later than 5th January 1948.

It was further agreed that the Joint Committee should report on the two schemes not later than the 12th January. This would probably give one week to the two Dominions to consider the report of the Joint Committee before the Inter – Dominion Ministers Conference which should meet as soon as possible after the 20th of January.

The Conference felt that the membership of the Joint Committee may well be increased. The consensus of opinion was that the membership should not exceed eight i.e., four representatives from each Dominion.

INTERIM ARRANGEMENTS REGARDING PROPERTY

(1) Sec. 4(3) (b) of the West Punjab Ordinance No. VII of 1947 will not be brought into operation until final decision in an Inter – Dominion agreements have been reached.

(2) Sec. 5(2). The intention is that the Custodian will scrutinize the terms and conditions in arrangements made by the Rehabilitation Authorities and revise them where necessary with a view to bring them into conformity with the principles now agreed upon.

(3) Sec. 9. A press note is to be issued to the effect that in regard to Sec. 9 of the W.P. Ordinance VII of 1947, the question of permitting transfers etc. is under discussion between the two Dominions and it is the intention of the Government of Pakistan that until the conclusion of such discussions, no action will be taken under the provisions of this section to the prejudice of parties to the transfer of persons claiming under such transfers of property or rights. But such persons should nonetheless within the prescribed period apply to the Custodian for registration of such transfers.

(4) Sec. 12(d) (ii). In the interim period action under this clause will not be taken and applications made will be kept pending.

(5) Sec. 12 (e). It was explained by the Custodian that it was not intended to make refugees a charge on evacuee property. Mr. Puri suggested that in order to avoid mixing up funds held for evacuees and funds disbursed for rehabilitation purposes the normal procedure of separate account heads for the two items – one of receipts and other of expenditure – should be adopted. Mr. Rehman and Mr. Mueen–ud–din promised to examine the matter.

(6) Sec. 12 (i). Refer to Note under Sec. 4(3) (b).

(7) In the interim period, action regarding sales, allotments etc., of moveable’s forming part of commercial or industrial undertakings will be suspended, except in regard to essential industries and businesses. A list of such essential industries and business will be supplied by each Government immediately. Instructions will be issued that in regard to such a clear week’s notice will be given in certain predetermined papers. The Rehabilitation Department will not proceed to allot or make inventories till the week’s notice has expired. Owners will in the interim period enjoy the right of representation at the time of making inventories and valuations.

The Conference considered the question of interim arrangements to be made regarding property until a long term settlement could be reached. The paper produced by the Sub–Committee ‘Interim arrangements regarding property’ was adopted with the following modification:

In paragraph 3 pertaining to Section 9 of West Punjab Ordinance No. VII of 1947 the clause ‘No action will be taken under the provisions of this Section to the prejudice of persons claiming under such transfer of property rights’ was amended to read ‘No action will be taken under the provisions of this Section to the prejudice of parties to the transaction or of persons claiming under them’.

In regard to paragraph 7, the Commissioner of Rehabilitation, West Punjab explained that the list of essential industries and businesses may not be quite small because the procedure contemplated in paragraph 7 and the procedure contemplated in regard to the long term settlement would mean that the process of rehabilitation would probably be held up for quite two months; which in his opinion, would be unfortunate. The representatives of India pointed out that the procedure contemplated under paragraph 7 was intended to make immediate satisfactory arrangements for the interim period which period it was hoped would be a short one, and therefore pressed that the lists of essential industries and businesses should be kept down to the minimum. After some discussion it was agreed that the lists would be made as short as possible.

The Pakistan representatives agreed that action contemplated in various paragraphs of this paper would be taken immediately.

The Government of India representatives drew attention of the Pakistan Government representatives to Ordinance No. IV of 1947 issued by the Governor General of Pakistan from Karachi on 10th December 1947 in regard to registration of documents pertaining to transfer of property. It was pointed out that the effect of this Ordinance was, practically, to stop all transfer of property and that this Ordinance operated very harshly against such non-Moslems as may be wishing to liquidate their properties in order to come over to India. The Pakistan representatives said that they had not been briefed on this point and that therefore they would like to receive a memorandum so that the matter may be examined on their side. It was agreed that this paragraph would be treated as the memorandum of India on the subject. The Pakistan Representative agreed to have the matter examined quickly and to send a reply as soon as possible.

ITEM III – TREATMENT OF PROPERTY LEFT BEHIND BY EVACUEES

The Pakistan representatives suggested that the scope of agreements pertaining to the West Punjab and North-West Frontier Provinces on the one side and the East Punjab Province on the other regarding evacuee property and other connected matters, should be extended to State within East Punjab Province which have acceded to the Indian Union, and the States of Bharatpur and Alwar. The representatives of India thought that this request was reasonable and agreed to have the matter brought to the notice of Ministry of States, India. The representatives of India expressed the hope that there would be full reciprocity in this matter in regard to Bahawalpur, Khairpur and other States which had acceded to the Dominion of Pakistan.

ITEM IV – SAVING BANK DEPOSITS, POSTAL CASH CERTIFICATES AND OTHER CERTIFICATES, e.g., NATIONAL SAVINGS

(a)(1) In regard to Post Office Saving Bank Accounts it is recognized that there are two categories:

(i) Where the pass-books are available;
(ii) Where the pass-books have been lost or misplaced.

In regard to (i) it is understood that the Director – General, Posts and Telegraphs, Pakistan has been in correspondence with his opposite number in India and that a satisfactory procedure had been devised. It is agreed that the proper procedure should be for persons resident in Pakistan to hand over pass – books at Pakistani Post Offices and that the D.G., Posts and Telegraphs, Pakistan, should consolidate such cases and forward a list to the D.G., P. & T., in India who would arrange transfer of accounts without insisting on production of pass – books or on verification of signatures.
As to (ii), where pass—books have been lost or misplaced, persons resident in either Dominion should apply to the D.G., P. & T. concerned giving particulars of post offices where they had savings bank accounts. Consolidated lists of such cases could be exchanged between the D.Gs. of the two Dominions, who would make the necessary investigations and have the accounts transferred. Once the accounts have been transferred, the responsibility of a particular Dominion towards the depositor will cease. The two D.Gs. should clear legal and procedural difficulties between themselves.

(2) It is agreed that the same procedure will apply to Post Office Five Year Cash Certificates, Defence Savings Certificates and National Savings Certificates.

It is agreed that consolidated lists on both these items, separately, should be exchanged by the two D.Gs. at regular intervals weekly or fortnightly. This is a matter for the two D.Gs. to arrange between themselves.

(b) Deposits with Co-operative Societies, Central Co-Operative Banks, Unions etc.—The Conference is of opinion that the question of Deposits with these various Societies, Banks and Unions and of loans owing to these concerns is a complicated matter. It is, therefore, agreed that the Registrars of Co-operative Societies, East and West Punjab, should discuss the matter and submit joint recommendations to their own Governments as soon as possible. The Conference trusts that the two Registrars will make joint recommendations not later than the 29th January, 1948.

ITEM V – PENSIONS

It is agreed that all Provincial Governments in either Dominion should take definite measures to facilitate transfer of pension papers with the least possible delay. It is further agreed that all complaints of pensioners in either Dominion should be made to the Auditor General of the Dominion in which the pensioner is now residing and all such complaints will be cleared between the two Auditors General. Pending transfer of pension papers the Conference agrees to accept the suggestion made in Pakistan’s Memorandum on this item. The agreement is as follows:

(1) When a pensioner presents his half of the Pension Payment Order, the A.G. concerned will, after obtaining the following documents authorize a Treasury Officer or Post Master to make provisional payment:

(a) A certificate from a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer certifying the pensioner’s identity.
(b) An Indemnity bond from the pensioner, with two sureties who should either be permanent Government servants or persons certified to be solvent by an Officer not below the rank of Tehsildar, agreeing to refund any amount wrongly paid.

(2) Such payment should be authorized for pensions due for the period ending 31st March, 1948.'

(3) In regard to pensioners who have lost their halves of the Pension Payment Order, the Conference agrees that following procedure be observed until the Treasury half of the Pension Order can be transferred from one Dominion to the other. It is understood that on receipt of the treasury part of the Pension Payment Order the A.G. concerned will issue a fresh Order. Meanwhile pensions should be paid for the period ending 31st March, 1948 on production of the following:

(a) Certificate from a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer certifying the pensioner's identity;

(b) An Indemnity bond from the pensioner with two sureties, who should either be permanent Government servants or persons certified to be solvent by an Officer not below the rank of Tehsildar, agreeing to refund any amount wrongly paid;

(c) Other corroborative evidence to show that he was in fact a pensioner and the Department and office from which he retired;

(d) A declaration stating the amount of his monthly pension, the month up to which he had received payment and the name of the Treasury or Post Office from which he received payment;

(e) The number of Pension Payment Order, if possible.

(4) Under this procedure, pensions will be payable for the months of August 1947 to March 1948 inclusive.

(5) In order that fresh permanent Payment Orders may be issued, the Auditors General of the two Dominions will collect all cases in which P.P.Os. have been lost by persons now resident in their territories and refer such lists to each other so that Treasury Halves of the P.P.Os. may be quickly transferred.

(6) The Procedure agreed upon above will apply to all Provinces of either Dominion.
ITEM No. VII – REMOVAL OF ASSETS OF TRUSTS, EDUCATIONAL, CULTURAL, AND RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS

(1) The assets of the institutions concerned may be divided into two categories – (a) Moveable and (b) Immoveable.

(2) In regard to Moveable assets, it is agreed that on application being presented to the Custodian of Evacuee Property, West Punjab a quick decision shall be made in regard to equipment etc. which the Provincial Government wish to retain for their own purposes. In regard to the rest of the assets, the Custodian will grant a permit authorizing removal by the party concerned. In making the decision for retention of a part of the Moveable assets, due regard will be paid to mutual needs of equipment, furniture, fittings, etc. Above all special consideration will be given to articles to which the institution attaches special cultural, sentimental, or religious importance and as far as possible such articles will be released.

(3) In regard to immoveable assets India requested that this category of property be taken up for special consideration apart from the general case of treatment of immoveable property of non-Muslim evacuees and proposed that the Pakistani Government and Provincial Governments concerned consider the question of taking a quick decision in regard to acquisition of such property or its release so that the trustees or managers could liquidate it otherwise. The Pakistani representatives said that as India’s original memorandum did not raise this issue, there had been no occasion to consult the Governments concerned but agreed to put up India’s suggestion and communicate a decision at an early date.

(4) In regard to Nankana Sahib, at the request of Pakistani representatives, the representatives of India agreed to furnish a detailed memorandum. The Pakistani representatives agreed that they would endeavour to obtain a decision on the case before the Ministers’ meeting sometime in January. The Pakistani representatives raised the question of Qadian and, while India’s representatives maintained that the case of Qadian was not quite comparable to the case of Nankana Sahib, they agreed that if a memorandum containing definite suggestions regarding Qadian was furnished, a decision would be obtained and communicated as soon as possible.

(a) The statement of fact made in the Pakistani Dominion Memorandum was noted and the East Punjab representatives agree to make necessary enquiries and take up the matter directly with the West Punjab Government.

(b) The Finance Secretary, East Punjab Government, stated that the rules which are now under consideration by the East Punjab cabinet will be shortly forwarded to the West Punjab Government. It is understood that whatever rules are mutually agreed upon, will be implemented in due course by both sides.

(Note 1). – The Conference agreed that the Dominion Governments should recommend to their Provincial Governments that the arrangements made in respect of Government servants in this paragraph should apply to similar cases in their territories.

(Note 2). – The Conference agreed that the Dominion Governments themselves should sympathetically consider cases of Government servants who were killed or injured in similar circumstances between the 1st and the 15th of August 1947.

(c) The East Punjab representatives have taken note of the comments in the Pakistani Memorandum.

(d) The matter has been settled.

(e) This is covered by the agreement on pensions.

ITEM IX – EXCHANGE OF UNDER – TRIAL PRISONERS

The Pakistani representatives furnished copies of West Punjab Notification No. 507 – Legislative, dated the 15th December 1947, which promulgates West Punjab Ordinance No. VIII of 1947.

(2) In regard to Part II which covers transfer of persons in custody between the Provinces of West and East Punjab, it was agreed that the Home Secretaries of the two Governments should work out the mechanics. It was felt that the most convenient practice would be for the persons in custody to be collected at convenient centers from which they could be cleared. On the request of the representatives of India regarding clarification of the definition of ‘Hindu’ in Section 19 (c) the Pakistani representatives stated that the word includes members of the scheduled castes.

The representatives of India requested that the same arrangement may well be extended to the N.W.F.P. The Pakistani representatives promised to consider the request and give a reply at an early date.

(3) With regard to Part III of the Ordinance and the schedule under Section 19 pertaining to Pakistani employees of all Provinces of the Dominion of India and of States that have acceded to the Dominion of India and Moslem prisoners in the States of Alwar, Bharatpur and the States previously known as the Punjab States excluding Malerkotla, Bahawalpur and Khairpur, the representatives of India pointed out that the Government of India could not at this stage speak for the various Provinces and States, and at the request of the Pakistani representatives agreed that the Government of India will ascertain the views of the Provinces and States concerned in this matter. It was suggested that this matter would obviously have to be discussed and decided at a level higher than that of the present Conference and it was proposed that this matter should be placed on the Agenda of the Inter – Dominion Ministers’ Conference to be held in January 1948.

ITEM XI – FACILITIES FOR REMOVAL OF RECORDS AND EQUIPMENT BY EAST PUNJAB GOVERNMENT

(a) It was agreed that East and West Punjab Provinces should respectively nominate an officer who can clear outstanding matters between themselves.

(b) The Dominion Governments will likewise appoint officers to investigate the present position and have necessary records, etc., transferred to Pakistan.

Item No. 1 of the Supplementary Agenda. – Companies (other than Insurance Companies and Banks) incorporated under the Indian Companies Act.

With regard to Companies (other than Insurance Companies and Banks) incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, the Dominion representatives agree to recommend to their respective Governments, the modification by Ordinance of the provisions of Section 76 and 131 of the Indian Companies Act to enable the Companies incorporated under the Act, which had their registered offices in their territories, but whose management has been mainly in the hands of persons who have now left those territories, to compile their accounts, file their balance sheets and profit and loss accounts and convene their General Body meeting up to 31st March 1948 or within a period of six months from the termination of the period permissible to each such company under the Act, whichever is later.

(2) A draft of the Ordinance to be issued is attached for consideration by each Dominion Government.

(VIDE SUPPLEMENTARY ITEM I)

AN ORDINANCE further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913.
WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary further to amend the Indian Companies Act 1913 (VII of 1913), for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

NOW, THEREFORE, in exercise of the powers conferred by Section 42 of the Government of India Act, 1935 (26 Geo. 5f, c.2), as adapted by the Pakistan/India (Provisional Constitution) Order, 1947, the Governor – General is pleased to make and promulgate the following ordinance:

1. Short title and commencement.

(1) This Ordinance may be called the Indian Companies (Amendment) Ordinance, 1947.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. Amendment of Section 76, Act VII of 1913. To subsection (1) of Section 76 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, the following proviso shall be added, namely:

‘Provided that, in the case of a company whose directors, or the majority of whose directors, have during the year 1947 left for places in India/Pakistan on account of civil disturbances or the fear of such disturbances, the period shall be deemed to have been extended by six months or up to the 31st day of March, 1948, whichever is later.’

4. Effect of expiry of Ordinance. On the expiry of this Ordinance, Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), shall apply as if this Ordinance were an enactment then repealed by a Central Act.

ITEM IV OF THE SUPPLEMENTARY AGENDA

Taxation of all property to be paid by Custodian of Evacuee Property in respect of properties left behind in Pakistan.

The representatives of India put forward the following proposals:

(1) That all tax demands against evacuees which remain unsatisfied should be paid by the Custodian of Evacuee Property, either from the income of the property of the evacuee or, if there is no income, from his pool, provided that the total charge so raised does not exceed 50 per cent of the Custodian’s own evaluation of that property. It is suggested that if this proposal were accepted the Custodian would be amply covered for the charge so raised against the property. The Pakistani representatives agreed that their request was not unreasonable and that they would be prepared to recommend it to their Government.
(2) The representatives of India also proposed that the provision in the Income Tax Act for the levy of penalty in the event of an assessed tax not being paid should be waived up to the end of the year 1948 in the case of non-Moslem evacuees.

SUPPLEMENTARY ITEM No. IX – UNPAID BILLS OF CONTRACTORS

The Finance Secretary East Punjab explained that an agreement had already been reached between the Governments of East and West Punjab and a satisfactory procedure devised. A claimant puts in a claim in duplicate to the Chief Secretary of the Province where he is resident. The Chief Secretary forwards one copy of the claim to his opposite number who after having the necessary verification made replies whether payment may be made. Action is then taken accordingly. The principle is clear that authority to pay the claim must be given by the Government in whose territory the service or supply in respect of which the claim arises, was rendered or made. The Conference agrees that this principle and practice are satisfactory and should be extended to all Provinces of either Dominion. In all Provinces the Officer to whom correspondence should be addressed is the Chief Secretary, unless the Provincial Government nominates someone else.

ITEM No. XI – SUPPLEMENTARY – TREATMENT OF NON-MOSLEMS IN WEST PUNJAB AND N.W.F.P.

It was agreed that item XI should not be discussed in detail. But it was recognized on both sides that if there were any individual cases of maltreatment and they are brought to notice, suitable action will be taken.

1. Recovery of Abducted Women.

(1) The working of the agreement of the 6th December 1947 on the recovery of abducted women was reviewed. It was agreed that results had fallen short of expectations. India claimed that this was due to the limited role assigned to the troops in the recovery work and pressed that, under the agreement, the recovery parties visiting the villages should also include troops of both the Dominions. Pakistan did not agree with this interpretation of the agreement and in fact considered that the hostile feeling engendered in villages of one Dominion by the visit of troops of the other Dominion, militated against success in recovery. In their view, troops of one Dominion were, under the agreement, to be employed only as guards on transit camps and for escort duty. The difference of opinion remained unresolved.

(2) In Pakistan's view it was not therefore possible in any circumstances to permit troops of one Dominion to form part of village recovery parties in the other Dominion; they would however continue the present arrangements for recovering abducted women, namely recovery parties consisting of Police, social workers and D.L.Os. of the two Dominions. The function of the troops would, as at present, be confined to guarding Transit Camps to which recovered women are brought and to escorting parties of recovered women from one Dominion to the other or from one camp to another.

(3) A the suggestion of the Inspector – General of Police, West Punjab, it was agreed between the two Dominion that the Police Officers of West Punjab deputed for recovery work will nominate as colleagues for operations in East Punjab those officers of the East Punjab Police who in their opinion will be most effective for this type of work. A similar right or nomination of West Punjab Police officers will be accorded to the East Punjab Police officers deputed for recovery work in West Punjab of abducted women will be nominated by the Inspector General of Police, East Punjab, and vice versa. It was agreed that this arrangement for selection of Police staff in East Punjab and West Punjab would not apply to States.

(4) Pakistan pressed that it was high time that the East Punjab States and the States of Alwar and Bharatpur should arrange to set up an organization for the recovery of women on the same lines as had been working in East Punjab and should agree to receive detachments of Pakistan troops (for guard and escort duty) accompanied by Pakistani Police parties, Liaison Officers and social workers. Transit camps should be set up, though the location of each camp will be left to the States’ discretion. If for any reason it was not possible to do so, Pakistan felt that they had no alternative but to withdraw all troops from East Punjab and to ask that all Indian troops should be withdrawn forthwith from Pakistani territory. Pakistan added that the States that had acceded to Pakistan would adopt the arrangements now in force in the districts of West Punjab.

(5) India said that they would consult their States immediately and send a reply on this point but pointed out that as already intimated, the Pakistani troops going into the States would be under the command of the Commander of the State forces and that the Police parties would work under the direction of the Inspector – General of Police of the States concerned.

(6) In Pakistan’s opinion further consultation with Indian States was unnecessary as their assent had been obtained and communicated in the Prime Minister of India’s telegram No. 947, dated the 8th March 1948. India could not accept the view that the proposition put forward in that telegram was the same as the arrangement now proposed. Therefore, consultation with Indian States was essential, but every effort would be made to get an immediate decision.

(7) Pakistan felt that the stage had been reached when troops could be gradually withdrawn from this work and said that they had decided in any case that no more Pakistan troops should operate with the M.E.O. in the districts of East Punjab after 31st March, all being withdrawn on 1st April, and in the States of East Punjab, after 15th April, all being withdrawn on 16th April. The reason for the later withdrawal from the States was that the work had been started there at a much later date. The corollary of this decision would be that no Indian troops should remain in Western Pakistan after the 16th April. Pakistan also intended to limit their troops employed for this purpose in the States to 2 companies, and asked that the strength of the Indian troops should be reduced proportionately.

(8) Pakistan made it clear that even after the withdrawal of the troops, the work of recovery of abducted women and clearance of pockets would continue through joint parties of police, liaison officer and social workers. The M.E.O. Headquarters would continue for liaison work but would have no troops under its control. The troops of the Dominion in which the recovery work and clearance of pockets was to be continued would replace the troops withdrawn by the other Dominion.

(9) India considered that for inspiring confidence among the women to be recovered and converted persons to be evacuated, it was desirable to retain the present arrangements whereby the troops of the Dominion to which the persons belonged participated in this work. They were, therefore, of opinion that the proposed withdrawal dates were premature and would adversely affect the work of recovery. Pakistan said that these dates were final; India took note of this statement.

(10) It was agreed as under

(a) Civil road transport (together with drivers) required for actual recovery operations in West Punjab will be furnished by the East Punjab Government and vice versa. Those vehicles will be provided on payment with petrol, etc., by the Dominion in which they operate.

(b) For movement from district to district or from one Dominion to another civil or military transport may be employed as convenient.

(c) In no case will customs duty be charged by either Dominion in respect of vehicles used for rescue, district liaison or other evacuation work. In order to avoid disputes such vehicles will be specially listed and the drivers will be furnished with special permits.

(d) Existing arrangements will continue until the new arrangements be implemented.

(11) The Conference considered the question of recovered women who are unwilling to be restored to their people in the other Dominion. It was agreed that special camps should be established for such women, one in West Punjab and one in East Punjab. Non-Moslem women recovered in Pakistan who are unwilling to be transferred to India will be taken to the special camp in East Punjab. Similarly Muslim women recovered in India will be taken to the special West Punjab Camp. After a period not exceeding a fortnight the wishes of these recovered women will be ascertained by social workers of both Dominions acting jointly and action will be taken in accordance with their wishes. Pakistan urged that such camps should be managed by a neutral organization. India agreed to the scheme except to management of the camps by a neutral organization. Pakistan attached considerable importance to this and intimated that they would pursue the matter further, but meanwhile agreed to the special camp being set up in India in the manner desired by India.

(12) It was agreed that any dispute as to whether a woman or child was abducted or forcibly converted before or after 1\st March 1947 shall be determined by joint enquiry held in Lahore or Jullundur, as the case may be, by the two senior most police officers of the special recovery staff of the two Dominions.
(13) It was felt that the decision now taken would improve the present arrangements for recovery. It was realized that the basis of all efforts so far made for recovering abducted women had been voluntary in character. Both Governments agreed that if despite the improvements in arrangements effected by the decision recorded above quicker and better results were not achieved, stern legislation might have to be enacted to deal with offenders.

2. Exchange of Prisoners.

(14) India pointed out that the delay in implementing the agreement reached in the December 18th – 20th, 1947 Conference at Delhi and later rectified by both Governments was due only to Pakistan having informed India of their inability to implement the agreement because of a legal defect in the West Punjab Legislation. Pakistan had been advised that central legislation was essential. The Pakistani representatives stated that a Central Ordinance was under issue and that the text when received, would at once be communicated to India; it was hoped to implement exchange on the basis of that Ordinance, provided that agreement was reached in respect of Delhi Province, as to which Pakistan awaited a reply to their proposal that exchange of prisoners from Delhi Province should be limited to persons under trial or convicted on or after 15th August 1947, and to their request for information as to the number of prisoners in each State and in Delhi Province. India suggested immediate start of exchange of prisoners between East and West Punjab, as agreed in December last; Pakistan did not agree in the absence of a reply to their proposal about Delhi. India said that the Delhi question was under consideration and enquired whether Sind prisoners would be transferable under the Pakistan Ordinance. The Pakistani reply was that this, if desired, was unlikely to present any difficulty as it would be possible to extend the Ordinance to Sind.

(15) Both Dominions desired that actual exchange of prisoners should start in the near future. Meanwhile it was agreed that the Provincial and State Governments concerned should issue instructions to ensure that the prisoners affected should be given adequate food and clothing and proper treatment.

3. Evacuation of Moslem ex–Servicemen from Patiala State.

(16) Pakistan pressed for early decision as to the evacuation of discharged Muslim soldiers of the Patiala State Forces and their families. India agreed to use their good offices to secure that these persons should be removed from Patiala State at a very early date and given the option of staying in India or going to Pakistan. The Hon’ble Mr. Neogy assured the Hon’ble Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan that he would have this matter treated as one of the top priority.

4. Joint Enquiry into Incidents.

(17) Certain Instances were discussed in which one Dominion was dissatisfied with finding of fact by the other Dominion on complaints arising out of incidents involving hardship and injustice to individuals. It was agreed that in future, wherever possible, such matters could best be resolved by speedy joint enquiry. The Dominion in whose territory the cause of action had arisen would hold an enquiry and request the other Dominion to nominate a representative to assist in the enquiry. It was agreed that drastic and exemplary action must be taken against offenders, particularly those guilty of offences against women.

5. Possible effect of currency and exchange regulations, etc., on transfer of evacuee property.

(18) India suggested that an assurance should be given by both Dominions that no legislative or administrative action would be taken to prejudice transfer of property or proceeds of the property of evacuees from one Dominion to the other; this was particularly necessary in view of possible developments in regard to currency exchange and restriction of movement of precious metals.

(19) The Minister for Refugees, Pakistan, expressed his inability to deal with this matter, but promised to refer it for urgent consideration to the Finance Minister of Pakistan.

(20) India requested that a very early decision should be taken on this matter, if possible within a week or so.

6. Vaults and Safe Deposits with Banks.

(21) India pointed out that in previous discussion emphasis had been laid on clearing the vaults and deposits in Lahore in Pakistan, and in Delhi, Jullundur and Amritsar in India. It was suggested that arrangements should be made by Lahore Banks with their outlying branches in Pakistan for the contents of local vaults and safe deposits belonging to non-Moslems now resident in India to be transferred to Lahore, Similar arrangements should be made on the other side at Jullundur, Delhi or any other convenient place.

(22) Secondly India suggested that instead of all individual evacuees having to come to Lahore, Pakistan should agree to hand over safe deposits and contents of vaults to an India governmental agency holding powers of attorney from evacuee depositors in India. Individuals would still be free to come themselves if they did not wish to use this agency. India assured Pakistan of complete reciprocity. Both Dominions accepted these suggestions. Pakistan suggested that Indian States should be brought within the scope of the proposed arrangement. India agreed to advise the India States to accept this arrangement and promised to use their good offices to secure their early consent.

(23) India pointed out that there were over 4,000 lockers and safe deposits still to be cleared in West Punjab and pressed that the numbers of permits to be granted should be substantially increased to a minimum of 250 permits per day. The Minister for Refugees, Pakistan, was of the opinion that this was not practicable, but promised to use his good offices with the Custodian to increase substantially the number of permits to be granted. Pakistan requested that permits be issued freely by the East Punjab Custodian, and India agreed that results in West Punjab in regard to the two suggestion made would be influenced by the measure of reciprocity in East Punjab. The Chief Secretary, East Punjab Government, stated that he undertook to secure that no application were left unattended to and that every application for a permit would be promptly dealt with.

7. Restoration of licensed arms.

(24) It was agreed that licensed arms of evacuees held by each Dominion will be restored to licensees on their application, or to such governmental agencies as the other Dominion may appoint.

(25) For the purpose of this agreement every license that was valid on 14th August, 1947 shall be deemed to be still valid.

(26) Pakistan suggested that this agreement should be applied to States also, and both Dominions agreed to use their good offices to secure the consent of their States.

8. Personal belongings of evacuees seized during Evacuation, for which receipts have been given.

(27) It was agreed that such property should be restored by both Dominions on presentation of the receipts. Property may be claimed by individual owners or by a Government agency on production of receipts issued by Government officials. Where personal belongings cannot be restored in conformity with any inter – Dominion Agreement, compensation will be paid for them directly to the owners or to the Government agency acting on their behalf.
Both Dominions agreed to use their good offices to secure the consent of their States to similar arrangements.

The Conference considered the Joint report of Mr. K.J.Headington (Pakistan) and Mr. Sachdeva (India), embodying Mr. Headington’s note regarding transfer of Government Securities between the two Dominions dated the 9th March, 1948, and their joint addendum to the note in substitution for its original final paragraph (see Appendix A).

Both Dominions accepted the proposals contained therein and agreed to implement them with immediate effect. They also agreed to use their good offices to secure the consent of their States to similar arrangements.

10. Funds of Co-operative Societies etc.

The Registrars of Co-operative Societies West and East Punjab, presented their joint report in pursuance of the decision IV (b) of the Delhi Inter-Dominion Conference of December 19 – 20, 1947, endorsed also by Mr. Headington (Pakistan), Mr. M. R. Sachdeva (India) and Mr. P.K. Kaul (India) (See Appendix B).

The Conference approved the recommendations made in the joint report, subject to the concurrence of the Government of West Punjab; the concurrence of the Government of East Punjab was conveyed to the Conference by the Chief Secretary (Mr. Sachdeva).

11. Treatment of Property as abandoned which has never been abandoned.

It was agreed that such cases in Pakistan should be brought to the notice of the Refugees Ministry of Pakistan by the High Commissioner. The Refugees Minister of Pakistan stated that he would take up these cases personally and see that immediate orders were issued. India agreed to take similar action.

12. Miscellaneous.

The questions of transfer of securities and other assets of the Trusts etc., and the restoration of property to evacuees who wish to return to their homes were postponed for consideration by the Inter-Dominions Sub-committee which is to meet on the 22nd March.

The agreed Press Statement signed by both Ministers and released after the Conference is appended (Appendix C).

APPENDIX A
(See para. 29 of the Minutes)

Note Regarding Transfer of Government Securities between the Two Dominions

The ownership of Government securities and Provincial loans can, in the majority of cases, be ascertained from a scrutiny of the endorsements on the reverse of the notes, and I am of an opinion that a large proportion of such securities held by Banks can be released without endangering the rights of the proper owner who might have pledged his securities to some other person. The transfer of Government securities between the two Dominions has been withheld to ensure that the interests of nationals of both Dominions are fully protected but as a result much inconvenience has been caused to the rightful owners of such securities due to this ban, and the matter has now become of great urgency by reason of the fact that, after the 31st March, 1948, restrictions will be placed by each Dominion on the enfacement of such securities for the payment of interest at treasuries in the other Dominion.

(2) The following classes of Government securities and Provincial loans could, in my opinion, be released at once:

(a) Clean Government Securities (i.e. securities which bear no endorsements on the reverse) – Government securities falling in the above category usually stand in the name of the holding bank to facilitate the collection of interest and the question of a pledge does not, therefore, arise. Even where such securities stand in the name of an individual, there can also be no question of a pledge in the absence of an endorsement on the reverse. Such Government securities, could, therefore, be released at once.

(b) Government Securities bearing a last endorsement from a recognized firm of brokers in favour of the holding bank or an individual. – Government Securities falling under the above category have obviously been purchased through a firm of brokers and represent a genuine purchase in the open market. The question of a pledge cannot arise in such cases, as it is obvious that the selling broker has endorsed the securities to the genuine buyer. These securities could, therefore, be released at once.

(c) Government securities held by a Branch of a Bank on behalf of another Branch of the same bank: - Government securities falling under the above category have been transferred from one Branch of a bank to another Branch to facilitate the collection of interest as, for example, in the case of Punjab Government Loans, a large number of which are held in the West Punjab. There can be no question of a pledge in such cases, as the last endorsement has been made by one Branch of the Bank in favour of another. These securities should, therefore, be released at once.

(3) There remains for consideration those securities which have been endorsed by one individual to another individual, and it is in such cases that doubt regarding the actual ownership has been established after a reference to the Custodian.

(4) To summaries my proposals, I would recommend that, as regards securities, including Provincial Loans, in the first three categories mentioned above, banks should be allowed to transfer them in the ordinary course of business, if necessary, under the supervision of a Government official. As regards those securities endorsed by one individual to another, these should not be transferred but should be set aside pending receipt of further instructions from the Custodian.

After securities in the first three categories have been released, lists of those securities which have not been transferred should be prepared by the Banks and submitted to the Custodian for his scrutiny and further orders. Such securities should from a very small portion of the whole, and my proposals, if approved, will relieve the Custodian of a great deal of work which would arise if he is called upon to examine all securities now in the possession of Banks.

Suitable instructions will be issued to the banks on the lines indicated above, and it is recommended that similar action be taken by the Indian Dominion.

(5) It is suggested that Government securities should also include Post Office Cash Certificates, which are not transferable and in connection with which the question of ownership is undisputed.

Addendum to the note of Mr. Headington dated 9 – 3 – 48. To be substituted for the deleted paragraph 6.

There is no objection to the removal from either Dominion of Joint Stock Company shares and debentures or of bonds issued by individual banks or of National or War Savings Certificates.

The reason for this decision is that in the case of Joint Stock Cos.’ Shares, the holder only derives his title by the express consent in writing of both parties – so that if the owner has not received full value of his shares, he can refuse to sign this transfer deed; in which case the holder cannot get any benefit out of the transfer.
In the case of bonds issued by individual banks or National or War Savings Certificates, and there is no point in their removal being disallowed.

APPENDIX B
(See paragraph 31 of the Minutes)

A conference between the representatives of the Co–operative Departments of the West Punjab and the East Punjab was held at 10 a.m. on the 15th March 1948.

The following decisions were agreed to:

(1) All government Securities belonging to East Punjab Co–operative institutions and lodged with the Punjab Provincial Co–operative Bank Ltd., Lahore, either for safe custody or for purposes of overdraft or collection of interest, will be transferred by the Punjab Provincial Co–operative Bank Ltd., Lahore, before 31st March 1948, to the Ambala Central Co–operative Bank, which has been declared by the East Punjab Government as their Provincial Co–operative Bank, provided that the East Punjab Central Co–operative Bank Ltd., Lahore, and provided also that such institutions repay the deposits of their evacuee individual depositors, the evacuee individual depositors of their constituent societies and societies whose membership consist entirely of Moslems and have evacuated.

The Central Banks in the West Punjab will also repay the deposits of their individual evacuees depositors, the deposits of the evacuee individuals of their constituent societies and of the societies which consisted wholly of non–Moslem evacuees.

The East Punjab Co–operative institutions owning Government securities will send to the Punjab Provincial Co–operative Bank Ltd., Lahore, their authority for getting their securities transferred to the Ambala Central Co–operative Bank.

(2) In order to execute the above decision, the two Registrars should immediately exchange lists of deposits and have the balance adjusted before 31st March 1948.

(3) In the case of primary societies of which the membership is mixed, no division of assets will be undertaken but it is understood that deposits of individuals of such societies who have evacuated will be repaid before 31st March 1948.
(4) In the case of societies whose membership consisted entirely of evacuees, all assets will be transferred to the dominion to which the evacuees have migrated and the Registrar concerned will register necessary amendments in their bye – laws making such change of address permissible.

(5) The debts owned by the societies which, as a result of partition, have now gone over to the other Dominion will be paid to the creditor Central Bank by the Provincial Bank of the Dominion concerned by adjustment or otherwise as may be agreed to by both the Registrars.

(6) The amounts paid by the Industrial Societies in the advertisement fund of the Amritsar Industrial Bank will be paid back by the Industrial Bank to the Punjab Provincial Bank, Lahore.

(7) All amounts received by the Industrial Co–operative Bank, Amritsar, on account of war supply orders will be adjusted or paid by the Industrial Bank to the societies concerned, as may be settled by the two Registrars.

(8) All amounts belonging to employees of co–operative institutions by way of salary, provident fund, security deposits, etc., will be repaid by institutions of both the dominions through their respective Provincial Bank before 31st March 1948.

(9) The question of the division of assets of
(i) Punjab Provincial Co–operative Bank Ltd., Lahore,
(ii) Punjab Co–operative Union, Lahore,
(iii) N.W.R. Co–operative Society, Lahore,
(iv) Industrial Co–operative bank Ltd., Amritsar, was considered, but it was pointed out that since the matter was before the Arbitration Tribunal, it could not be discussed, being sub–judice.

(10) All decision arrived at will be implemented by the Governments of the West Punjab and the East Punjab.

(11) It is recommended that the date 31st March 1948 may be extended to 30th April 1948.

APPENDIX C
Agreed Press Statement

The Refugee Ministers for Pakistan and India have been holding discussions at Lahore for three days and have examined a great many matters outstanding between the two Dominions, with the assistance of administrative officers concerned.

(2) Three important considerations have influenced the discussions and the decisions taken. The first is that there should be reciprocity on both sides in full and generous measure so that an atmosphere of lasting goodwill may be created. The second is that, in so far as possible, both Dominions will use their good offices to persuade States that have acceded to either Dominion to fall in line with the decisions taken during this meeting. The third is that from time to time, complaints have been made by one Dominion to the other in regard to incidents involving hardship and injustice to individuals. It has been agreed that in future, whenever there is a complaint, the Dominion concerned will promptly make arrangements to investigate the incident and ask for association with the enquiry of a representative of the other Dominion. The two Ministers have agreed that drastic and exemplary action will be taken against offenders.

(3) The Ministers feel that one of the most important matters which must be dealt with very quickly, concerns the recovery and restoration of abducted women. The machinery that exists for the purpose and results achieved so far have been reviewed and it is recognized that results have fallen short of expectations. An improved machinery is being set up and an all–out effort is called for and will be made. The basis of all efforts hitherto made for the recovery of abducted women has been voluntary in character. If despite the improved new machinery, quick and satisfactory results are not achieved, stern legislation may have to be enacted to deal with the situation.

(4) Exchange of prisoners has been delayed owing to certain legal technicalities. The Pakistani Government is enacting almost immediately a Central Ordinance and it is expected that India will enact similar legislation as soon as the text of the Pakistan Ordinance is available. The Pakistani Government have emphasized the importance of bringing the Delhi Province within the scope of the scheme for exchange of prisoners in respect of cases arising after the 15th of August 1947. The Government of India are examining the question in relation to Delhi Province and a decision may be expected shortly. It is hoped that actual exchange of prisoners will be started in the near future. Meanwhile, instructions are being issued to ensure that the prisoners concerned will be treated well and taken care of in the jails of the two Dominions.

(5) The Government of Pakistan have specially raised the question of discharged Moslem soldiers of the Patiala forces and their families. The Government of India agreed to use their good offices to secure that these persons are removed from Patiala at a very early date and given the option of staying in India or going to Pakistan. The Hon'ble Mr. Neogy has assured the Hon'ble Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan that he will have this matter treated as one of top priority.

(6) The decision regarding recovery of contents of vaults and safe deposits with banks has been reviewed. It is felt that the work should be expedited and steps are being taken to secure this.

(7) A satisfactory agreement has been reached in regard to transfer of Government securities, certificates, bonds, debentures and shares of Joint Stock Companies held by evacuees in the two Dominions. It is expected that the work of transfer will be expedited.

(8) It has been agreed that licensed arms detained by either Dominion during the process of evacuation will be restored to owners. Machinery has been set up to expedite the restoration and it has been decided that arms licenses of evacuees which were valid on 14th August 1947 will be deemed to be valid for this purpose.

(9) It has been agreed that property of evacuees which has been detained in either Dominion during searches or otherwise and for which receipts have been issued by Government officials will be restored to the owners on production of such receipts.

(10) As regards funds of co–operative banks in East and West Punjab Province, the Registrars of Co–operative Societies of the two Governments have evolved an agreed scheme in pursuance of a decision taken at the Conference held in December, 1947. It is hoped that the scheme will be implemented immediately. Although the matter is not directly concerned with the agreement between East Punjab and West Punjab Provinces, both Dominions have agreed to use their good offices to secure substantial application of principles of the scheme to States on either side.

(11) Among other matters discussed were Provident Fund of Government and non–Government employees, including teachers, settlement of contractors dues, extension period of validity of cheques issued to such contractors and exemption from Customs search and duty of personal belongings of evacuees. For most of these matters, satisfactory solutions have been reached and it is expected that others will be settled shortly.

(12) Three important questions pertaining to property will be discussed by a Committee of Administrative Officers of the two Dominions on the 22nd March. These are:

(i) Transfer of movable property of evacuees,

(ii) Restoration of property to evacuees who wish to return to their homes, and

(iii) An Inter – Dominion settlement in regard to immovable property.

3151. Decisions of the Rehabilitation Ministers of India and Pakistan at their Meetings.

Lahore March 16, 1948.

The Refugee Ministers for Pakistan and India have been holding discussions as Lahore for three days and have examined a great many matters outstanding between the two Dominions with the assistance of the administration in a joint communiqué issued today.

The Communiqué says three important considerations have influenced the discussions and the decisions taken. It has been agreed find that there should be reciprocation both sides in full and generous measure so that an atmosphere of lasting goodwill may be created.

Second, that in so far as possible both Dominions will use their good offices to persuade states that have acceded to either Dominion to fall in line with the decisions taken during this meeting.

Third, that whenever a complaint is made by one Dominion to the other in regard to incidents involving hardship and injustice to individuals, the Dominions concerned with promptly make arrangements to investigate the incident and ask for association with, the enquiry of a representative of the other Dominion.
The two Ministers have agreed that drastic and exemplary action will be taken against offenders.

ABDUCTED WOMEN

The Ministers feel that one of the most important matters which must be investigated very quickly concerns the recovery and restoration of abducted women. The mainstay that exists for the purpose and results achieved so far have been reviewed and it is recognized that results have fallen short of expectations.

As improved machinery is being set up and an all-out effort is called for. The basis of all efforts hitherto made for the recovery of abducted women has been voluntary in character. If despite the improved machinery, quick and satisfactory results are not achieved; stern legislation may have to be enacted to deal with the situation.

Exchange of prisoners has been delayed owing to certain legal technicalities. The Pakistan Government is enacting almost immediately a central ordinance and it is expected that India will enact similar legislation as soon as the text of the Pakistan ordinance is available.

DELHI PROVINCE

The Pakistan Government have emphasized the importance of bringing Delhi Province within the scope of the scheme for exchange of prisoners in respect of cases arising after August 15, 1947. The Government of India are examining the question in relation to Delhi Province and a decision may be expected shortly.

It is hoped that actual exchange of prisoners will be started in the near future. Meanwhile, instructions are being issued to ensure that the prisoners concerned will be treated well and taken care of in the jails of the two Dominions.

The Government of Pakistan has specially raised the question of discharged soldiers of Patiala forces and their families. The Government of India agreed to use their good offices to secure that these persons are removed from Patiala at a very early date and given the option of staying in India or going to Pakistan.

Mr. Neogy has assured Mr. Ghazanfar Ali Khan that he will have this matter treated as one of top priority.

DEPOSITS

The decision regarding recovery of contents of vaults and safe deposits with banks has been reviewed. It is felt that the work should be expedited and steps are being taken to secure this.
As satisfactory agreement has been reached in regard to transfer of Government securities, certificates, bonds, debentures and shares of joint stock companies held by evacuees in the two Dominions, it is expected that the work of transfer will be expedited.

It has been agreed that licensed arms detained by other Dominion during the process of evacuation will be restored to owners. Machinery has been set up to expedite the restoration and it has been decided that arms licenses of evacuees should be valid for this purpose.

It has been agreed that property of evacuees which has been detained in either Dominion during searches or otherwise and for which receipts have been issued by Government officials will be re-stored to their owners on production of such receipts.

As regards funds of cooperative banks in the East and West Punjab Province, the registrars of co-operative societies of the two Governments have evolved an agreed scheme in pursuance of a decision taken at the conference held in December 1947. It is hoped that the scheme will be implemented immediately.

STATES

Although the matter is not directly concerned with the agreement between the East Punjab and West Punjab provinces, both Dominions have agreed to use their good offices to secure substantial application of the principles of the scheme to States on either side.

Among other matters discussed were provident fund of Government and non-Government employees including teachers, settlement of contractors dues, extension of the period of validity of cheques issued to such contractors and exemption from custom search and duty of personal belongings of evacuees.

For most of these matters satisfactory solutions have been reached and it is expected that others will be settled shortly.

Three important questions pertaining to property will be discussed by a committee of administrative officers of the two Dominions on March 22. These are transfer of moveable property of evacuees; restoration of property to evacuees who wish to return to their homes; and an inter-Dominion settlement in regard to immovable property.

Including the two Ministers; Mr. K.C. Neogy and Mr. Ghazanfar Ali Khan other officials who attended the conferences were:

Pakistan: Sir Wilfred Grigson, Mr. E.D.V. Moss, Maj Gen Abdur Rehman, Maj Gen Iftikhar Khan, Khan Qurban Ali Khan, Malik Mohammad and Yar Khan.

India: Mr. S.K. Kirplani, Mr. K. L. Punjabi, Dewan Chaman Lal, Mr. Aftab Rai, Mr. Mohandra and Mr. Sachdev.

3152. Note by India - Pakistan Joint Committee appointed to consider Schemes for treatment of Evacuee Property.

March 25, 1948.

The Joint Committee consisting of representatives of both the Dominions appointed on the 19th December 1947 to consider the schemes referred to it for the treatment of evacuee property has considered these schemes and on their basis prepared the attached scheme. This scheme is now submitted for being considered by an Inter-Dominion Ministers’ Conference. It is suggested that this conference be held as soon as possible in the first half of April 1948.

2. The Committee also considered the question of special treatment to be accorded to the property of Trusts, cultural, educational and religious institutions. In view of the complex legal aspects of the matter, it is agreed that:—

(1) a note on the subject be exchanged between the two Dominions by the 3rd April, 1948;

(2) a committee of two legal experts from each Dominion should be set up to examine this question. This committee should meet at Delhi on the 5th April 1948 and will endeavour to frame the principles on which trusts and trust property should be treated. This committee should also be assisted by an officer—each of the Rehabilitation Ministries of the two Dominions so that it may consider what supplemental facilities should be accorded to trust property both movable and immovable.

3. During the discussion, India’s proposals:—

a) to remit stamp duties on exchanges made in accordance with the Inter-Dominion agreement on the treatment of immovable property, and

(b) to include in the agreement a provision to the effect that taxes payable by owner or occupier shall, as a rule be paid by occupants and not by the Custodian on behalf of the evacuee owner, were considered but it was felt that these were matters of detail and should be remitted to the Inter-Dominion Commission proposed to be set up in the attached scheme.

Draft Scheme For Inter-Dominion Evacuee Property Agreement (Prepared by Joint Official Committee at Lahore, March 22nd-25th, 1948).

Part I.—General

1. Areas to which Applicable.— This scheme shall apply in the first instance in Pakistan to West Punjab, Sind, N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan and the States of Bahawalpur and Khairpur, hereinafter referred to collectively as Western Pakistan, (N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan should be taken to include States which have acceded to Pakistan but to exclude un-Administered Agency Areas), and in India to the Provinces of East Punjab and Delhi, and to all the States formerly known as the Punjab States except Malerkotla, Bahawalpur and Khairpur, and to the States of Bharatpur, Alwar and Bikaner; these areas are hereinafter referred to as agreed areas of the Indian Dominion.

2. General Principles:—

   (1) Except in accordance with the terms of this agreement the evacuee's rights in his immovable property shall not be affected by reason of the vesting of his property in the Custodian.

   (2) In the evacuee's absence, the duty of preserving his property and safeguarding his rights and interests therein shall devolve upon the Government of the Province in which the property is situated.

   (3) “Evacuee Property” shall be so defined as to exclude from its operation property belonging to Joint Stock Companies with Head Offices in India, maintaining branches in Pakistan, and vice versa:

   Provided that where the Custodian or the Rehabilitation Authorities have already taken over the property, which owing to the disturbances was wholly or partially abandoned, such occupation shall continue, if so desired by the Government of the Province, for the period laid down in section 9 of Part II and Section 2 of Part III.

   Note:— the position of Joint Stock Companies which claim to have transferred their head offices from one Dominion to the other after the 15th August 1947 may have to be examined separately.
3. Administration of Evacuee Property. —

(1) The Provincial Government concerned shall appoint a Custodian of Evacuee Property.

(2) Evacuee property situated in a Province shall, for purposes of management, be vested in the Custodian.

(3) It shall be the duty of the Provincial Government to take all necessary action for the preservation of evacuee property and for safeguarding all the evacuee’s rights and interests therein. In particular the Provincial Government shall require its Custodian of Evacuee Property to:

   (a) compile and maintain full and complete record of all evacuee immovable property, separately for each town and village;

   (b) make arrangements to be in a position as soon as possible to furnish to the evacuee (on demand by him) information in respect of administration of his property;

   (c) take into consideration such information as the evacuee may furnish to him regarding his property while dealing with matters connected with the administration of the concerned property;

   (d) keep the interests of the evacuees paramount save in accordance with the provision of any law for the time being in force;

   (e) provide full facilities to the other Dominion or its representatives to represent to the Custodian the viewpoint and interests of any evacuee.

Part II

Agricultural Property

1. Definitions: —

   1) “Agricultural Property” means:

   (a) land which is not occupied as the site of any building in a town or notified area and is occupied or has been let for agricultural purposes or for purposes subservient to agriculture or for pasture and includes the sites of building and other structures (including wells) on such land;

   (b) other rights and interests, therein e.g. rights of lessees, grantees, mortgagees, etc., but not including assignments of land revenue.

   Notes —
(i) Land occupied or let for agricultural purposes and the like within or in the immediate vicinity of a built-up area in a town or notified area will be treated as urban immovable property.

(ii) Houses, shops and industrial and business premises in villages are dealt with in part IV.

(2) “Evacuee owner”— in this Part means an owner of evacuee agricultural property or a holder of any rights or interest therein.

(3) “Fair Value”— will mean the value determined according to the average of the prices prevailing for similar land between June 1927 and June 1947.

This formula will not apply to those lands, the character of classification of which has been changed by special development schemes, such as extension of irrigation facilities and colonization or by other special causes during the last 20 years. For such lands the Valuation Board set up under Section 3 below should vary the formula suitably.

2. General Principles.—

(1) The Dominion in which the evacuee agricultural property is situated, shall acquire it on payment of fair value, except that part thereof in respect of which the Government concerned has accorded permission to exchange, or sell by private treaty, or has allowed restoration.

(2) Where permission to sell or exchange is granted by the Government concerned, the owner shall be free to —

(i) exchange or sell his property privately; or

(ii) claim restoration of his property for management either directly or by agents appointed by him in his behalf.

3. Valuation Board. — To implement section 2 of this Part, the two Dominion Governments will take the following steps:—

(a) They will exchange the Tehsil copies of the Jamabandis brought up to date till the 15th August 1947 in East and West Punjab, or such dates as may be agreed upon for other areas. Extracts of relevant entries from these Jamabandis will be taken by the Dominion to which the Jamabandis have been temporarily transferred and the Jamabandis will be returned to the original Dominion within six months.

(b) A Board will be set up for the purpose of drawing up a Schedule of prices, based on fair value of agricultural property, in the agreed areas of both Dominions with reference to, firstly, classification of different types of land such as Chahi, Nohri, Barani, Banjar etc. and, secondly, with reference to territorial divisions which may be districts, sub-divisions, tehsils, assessment circles or, in any particular case, any other convenient territorial division.

(c) This Board shall consist of one officer each, not below the rank of a Commissioner, if possible with settlement experience, nominated by each Dominion.

(d) This Board will have the entire responsibility for fixing prices based on fair value and dividing the Provinces into such sub-areas as they deem fit.

(e) This Board will have the right to set up as many joint committees of officers and others of the two Dominions as they think fit. These committees will work in local areas designated by the Board. The reports of these committees will be checked and finalized by the Board before being issued.

(f) In case of disagreement between the two members of the Board the matter, shall be referred to an Arbitrator, acceptable to the two Dominions, who will be appointed at the forthcoming Ministerial Level Conference.

(g) The Board's decision or the Arbitrator's award, as the case may be, shall be forthwith published for general information.

4. Publication of lists of evacuee owners and the value of their holdings— After the Schedule of Prices and the list of right owners has been prepared the two Governments will publish lists declaring the money-value of the holding of each owner. These lists may be objected to on the basis of rights, but not on the basis of values. The decision on any question of rights will be given exclusively by the Dominion in which the evacuee owner is settled. The manner in which these disputes are to be decided will be prescribed by the Dominion itself. If the parties to the dispute are nationals of different Dominions, the matter will be referred to a Joint Tribunal to be set up in agreement between the two Dominions.

5. Private transfers and sales.— (1) Any evacuee owner, who desires that his land should be excluded from exchange through government Agency, shall within two months of the publication of the schedule of prices take one of the following steps:—

(a) apply to the Custodian of Evacuee Property asking him to continue to manage his property, or

(b) ask for permission to sell, exchange or transfer his rights in his evacuee property, or apply to the Custodian for restoration of his property to him for management directly or through agents appointed by him in this behalf.

(2) It will be open to the Government or the Custodian concerned to accept or reject applications under clauses (a), (b) or (c) of sub-section (1) or in accepting any such application to impose such conditions as they think fit.

6. Taking over of other property by Dominion Governments. — All property with regard to which no application has been received or permission for private sale, exchange or restoration has been refused, shall be taken over by the Dominion in which it is situated at the fair value.

7. Payment of value — To facilitate payment, the two Dominions shall mutually transfer their respective liabilities towards their evacuee owners and adjust any difference between the totals of these liabilities by payment in the form of Bearer Bonds of a general issue, current at the time, open to the nationals of both Dominions, and not specifically raised for this purpose alone, bearing 1½ per cent interest, free of income-tax, and of not more than 20 years' maturity. Such bonds shall be freely transferable between the two Dominions.

8. Payment to Evacuees. — Both Pakistan and India shall be free to determine the method and procedure for discharging their respective liabilities to evacuee owners in their respective Dominions.

9. Applicability of certain provisions of Part III to this part.— Till any agricultural property is taken over under section 6 of this part the following provisions shall apply to such property:

(a) Section 2 of Part III (mutatis mutandis), provided that the maximum period for which agricultural property may be requisitioned shall be three years;

(b) Clause (a) of Sub-section (1) of Section 8 of part III,

(c) Sections 9 and 10 of Part III (mutatis mutandis).

PART III

URBAN IMMOVABLE PROPERTY

1. Definitions.—(i) “Urban Immovable Property” means:

(a) land or building or other permanent structures fixed to the earth

(b) other rights or interests therein, e.g. rights of lessees or mortgagees;

(c) Commercial and industrial undertakings including shops, factories, workshops and businesses; wholesale or other, and the goodwill of such undertakings;
(d) land as in notes to Part II Agricultural Property, Section 1.

Note.— Houses and shops in villages are dealt with in Part IV (2) “Evacuee Owner” means an owner of evacuee urban immovable property or a holder of any rights or interests therein.

2. Rights of Provincial Government.— The Government of the Province in which evacuee urban immovable property is situated shall have the right to:

(a) acquire such property as it may need for a public purpose, which may include the rehabilitation of refugees or the economic rehabilitation of the Province, on payment of fair compensation to be determined by a Joint Government Agency for Sales and Exchanges;

(b) requisition such property as it may need for a public purpose, which may include the rehabilitation of refugees or the economic rehabilitation of the Province, on payment of fair compensation to be determined by a Joint Urban Assessment Board. The maximum period for which the Provincial Government will be entitled to requisition shall be limited in the case of

(i) residential property to 3 years;

(ii) commercial property to 3 years;

(iii) industrial establishments to 5 years;

Explanation— The term “requisition” shall include taking over and assuming control of evacuee property for the purpose of rehabilitation under any law for the time being in force.

Note.— Property owned by institutions and trusts will also be governed by this paragraph unless and until a separate agreement is arrived at regarding such property.

3. Conditions of leases. — (1) The conditions on which such requisitioned property is leased out shall be such as to cast upon the lessee an obligation to:

(a) safeguard and preserve the leased property;

(b) give full facilities to the proprietor or his duly authorized agent to arrange for inspection and to take all such action as may be necessary for canvassing buyers and for effecting sales or exchanges.

(2) In the case of industrial and commercial undertakings the lease conditions may also provide for depositing security against loss or damage.
(3) The conditions shall provide for the imposition of a penalty for any breach thereof.

4. Responsibility of Dominion Government.—

(1) The Government of the Dominion in which the evacuee immovable property is situated shall provide facilities to evacuees (as also to private agencies working on their behalf) to enable transfers to be effected by sale, exchange or otherwise.

(2) To supplement the efforts of evacuees and private agencies, the two Dominion Governments shall set up a Joint Government Agency for Sales and Exchanges. The two Governments shall enjoy equal representation on this Agency. The Agency shall have the right to appoint assistants and assessors in any local area where these may be needed for purposes of valuation or facilitating transfers. The functions of the Agency in respect of transactions handled by it will be:—

(i) to assess, on application from evacuees, the value of their property (The value shall be assessed on the basis of “fair value”. For this purpose “fair value” shall be the price which the property would fetch in the open market under the present conditions, provided that no organized attempt is made to keep the price unduly low by forming a ring, syndicate or by boycott, or otherwise);

(ii) to find purchasers, on request by an evacuee owner, for his property at or above its assessed value;

(iii) to arrange for exchange of evacuee urban immovable property; and

(iv) to ensure the grant of facilities for;

(a) legal formalities in regard to transfers and exchanges being completed;

(b) disposal of sale-proceeds.

(3) The Agency shall have the right to charge a commission which shall not exceed 2 per cent of the value of the property transferred, payment being made in equal shares by the transferer and the transferee. Any surplus left over with the Agency after meeting its expenses shall be divided equally between the two Dominions.

5. Rights of Evacuees.—

(1) The evacuee owner shall have the right to transfer his property by sale, exchange or otherwise, subject to such right as may have been acquired by the Provincial Government (or by other persons claiming through the Provincial Government) as a result of the exercise of the powers referred to under Section 2 above, provided that no transfer will be permitted till the agency mentioned in Subsection (2) of section 4 of this part has come into existence. In case the setting up of the agency is delayed by more than six weeks after the coming into effect of the agreement, transfer will be permitted, notwithstanding the fact that the agency has not yet been set up.

(2) All such transfers shall be registered with the Custodian of the area concerned, who shall register the transfer unless

(a) the transferer fails to produce a certificate signed by the prescribed Income-tax Authority certifying that the transferer has paid all taxes due from him to the Income-tax Department in respect of his property, business or undertaking or has made satisfactory arrangements for the payment thereof; or

(b) he has failed to pay any other dues outstanding against him in the Custodian’s registers, in respect of (i) his own property; (ii) third party claims recognized ex parte by the Custodian:

Provided that provision is made for review by the Custodian of third party claims thus recognized.

Note:— the representatives of India were prepared to accept Clause (a) above as it stands if the interpretation placed upon the word “due from him” was “income-tax assessed but not paid”. If, however, the interpretation of these words was to be such as to make it possible for the prescribed income-tax authorities legally to delay the issue of a certificate for a number of years on the ground that income-tax payable for some years has not been assessed, the representatives of India suggested that the transferer should be allowed registration of his transfer provided that he deposited with the Custodian an amount equal to the average of the income tax assessed in the previous three years. In the alternative they suggested that a certificate from the income-tax authorities might be dispensed with in cases where one Dominion undertakes on behalf of the assessee to pay the amount that may be assessed in accordance with the law on the subject.

The Pakistan representatives considered that this matter required careful separate examination.

6. Responsibility of Provincial Government.—

(1) The Provincial Government shall manage, through the Custodian appointed by it for the purpose, such evacuee urban immovable property as has not been acquired or requisitioned by it.

(2) The Custodian shall be free to take such action as he may deem fit in the interest of efficient management of such property subject, in so far as maybe practicable, to the following limitations:—

(i) The period of lease in the case of residential property shall not exceed one year (the lease being terminable at one month’s notice on either side) and in the case of commercial and industrial undertakings, shall not exceed one year or one season, save in cases in which, for reasons to be recorded in writing, the Custodian considers that in the interest of efficient management it is essential to give a longer lease;

Note:— No commercial establishments shall be leased out for more than two years and no industrial establishment for more than three years without obtaining the consent of the evacuee concerned.

(ii) the provisions of section 3 of this Part will also apply mutatis mutandis to the leases given by the Custodian;

(iii) the Custodian shall fix the lease-money in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed by the Provincial Government in this behalf and such directions as may be received therefrom, and on the basis prescribed by the Joint Urban Assessment Board in accordance with Section 7 of this Part.

7. Joint Urban Assessment Board.— The two Dominions shall forthwith establish a Joint Urban Assessment Board, on which each will enjoy equal representation. It shall be the duty of this Board to:

(i) prescribe the basis for assessing the lease money for various categories of urban immovable property;

(ii) have prepared a list in duplicate (one copy for each Dominion) for each locality giving particulars of the evacuee urban immovable property situated therein, the names of the evacuee owners and the lease money assessed in accordance with (i) above;

(iii) tour the areas concerned either themselves or through agents appointed by them for this purpose, in order to ascertain if rents have been fixed and lists prepared in accordance with the instructions given by them.
8. Deductions from lease money.—

(1) From the lease money fixed in accordance with Section 7 of this Part, the Custodian will have the right to make the following deductions:

   (a) 10 per cent of the realized rents for management, and

   (b) 10 per cent of the assessed rents for normal repairs

(2) In the case of special repairs the Custodian will have the right to incur expenditure against the capital value of the property.

9. Returns of rental collection information — The Custodian shall prepare for the six monthly periods ending 30th June and 31st of December each year, lists of evacuee property prescribed in clause (ii) of Section 7 of this Part, with additional columns showing the rents collected, the deductions made and the balance payable to each evacuee owner.

10. Inter-Dominion Adjustment.—The Custodian of each Province, State or region will send the lists thus prepared in duplicate to the Auditor-General of his Dominion Government. That officer will forthwith forward one copy of each list to the Auditor-General of the other Dominion and proceed to consolidate the amounts in these lists. The two Auditors-General will adjust the net amount payable by one Dominion to the other through the Exchange Accounts of the two Dominions. If all the lists are not received within two months of the prescribed dates, namely, 30th June and 31st December, by the Auditor-General of the other Dominion, adjustment shall be made to the extent of 50 per cent. of the total amount in the lists received at the expiry of the said two months, the balance being credited to the account of the Dominion to which it is due as soon as the outstanding lists from that Dominion are received.

   Note:—This procedure is provisional and will be reviewed as soon as possible after the first adjustment.

11. Restoration.—Where the owner of any evacuee urban immovable property produces a certificate from the Rehabilitation Commissioner or an authority empowered by the Rehabilitation Department in this behalf that the property is not required for the purpose of rehabilitation of refugees or the economic rehabilitation of the owner, restore the property to the owner or his agent for management or disposal. Where the management has not been taken over by the Custodian, and the owner produces the above certificate, the Custodian may, on the owner’s request, allow him to retain or assume management of such property.

12. Cess for compensating damage during the disturbances.— Each Dominion shall levy a cess at the rate of 2 per cent ad valorem on transfers of urban property within its territory. The proceeds of this cess shall be funded and shared equally by the two Dominions at 6 monthly intervals. Each Dominion will utilize its share of the cess for paying compensation to persons whose property has been damaged or destroyed in the other Dominion in the disturbances.

13. Liabilities and functions of Dominion Governments.— Neither Dominion will be bound to take over urban property at the price assessed by the Agency set up under sub-section (2) of Section 4 of this Part, and both Dominions will act merely as agents of evacuee owners in facilitating the sale or exchange of their properties.

14. Prevention of Attempts to prevent unfair fall of prices.—The Dominion and the Provincial Governments in whose area the property is situated will do everything in their power to see that no organized attempts are made to keep the prices of evacuee property below the market level by forming rings, syndicate, boycotting or otherwise.

PART IV

HOUSES AND SHOPS IN RURAL AREA

1. Substantial houses (if the owner so desires) and substantial shops, and industrial and business premises other than Kachcha sheds will be treated as urban property, and governed by Part III.

2. Other houses, shops and premises will be treated as Agricultural property in accordance with Part II, with the following special provisions:

   (a) The price of premises in villages treated as Agricultural property will be fixed according to a schedule prepared by the Valuation Board on the basis of area, locality and type of structure.

   (b) The account of house property treated as agricultural land will be kept separately from the account of other land and it will be open to the Government of the Dominion concerned to refuse to give land in lieu of the amount standing to the credit of an owner on account of this house property.

PART V

1. General Provisions.—

   (1) Except in accordance with the terms of this agreement, the evacuee’s right in his movable property shall not be affected by reason of the vesting of his property in the Custodian.

   (2) In the evacuee’s absence, the duty of preserving his property and safeguarding his rights and interests therein shall be entrusted by the Government concerned to the Custodian of the Province in which the property is situated.

(3) It shall be the duty of the custodian to:

(a) take all possible precautions for the proper and safe keeping of evacuee movable property;

(b) ensure that full compensation is recovered for movables requisitioned by the Provincial Government or their officers for a public purpose, which may include the rehabilitation of refugees or of the economic life of the Province;

Explanation.—the term “requisitioning” includes taking over for purposes of the rehabilitation of refugees or the economic life of the Province.

(c) make arrangements for the disposal of such movables as cannot be preserved to the best advantage of the evacuee owner;

(d) restore on application to the evacuee owners their movables and to give facilities to them to dispose of or remove the movables so restored;

(e) on application by an evacuee owner, arrange for the disposal of his movables at the best possible price.

2. Rights of Government.—

(1) Provincial Government.—The Government of the Province in which evacuee movable property is situated, shall have the right to acquire or requisition such movable property as it may need for a public purpose, which may include rehabilitation of refugees or the economic life of the Province, on payment of a fair compensation to be determined in accordance with Sub-section (6) of Section 4.

(2) Dominion Government.—The Government of one Dominion shall have the right to prohibit or restrict the export of items of evacuee movable property which may be essential for the life of the community after giving notice to the other Dominion of their intention to do so.

3. Procedure for Acquisition or Requisition or Sale.—

(1) A record will be kept of the goods acquired, requisitioned or sold by the Provincial Government or its officers, including the Custodian and officers subordinate to him. The record shall include separately for each evacuee owner an inventory of the items and quantities acquired, requisitioned or sold, the name and designation of the officers making the order and the price payable or paid.

(2) Reasonable facilities shall be given to evacuee owners and their representatives to inspect the entries concerning them in this record.

(3) The general procedure for preparation of inventories and fixation of prices shall be in accordance with the provisions of Section 4 of this Part.

(4) A nominal roll giving the name of the each evacuee owner and the total amount due to him on account of goods acquired, requisitioned or sold, shall be compiled and furnished every six months by the Custodian to the Auditor-General of his Dominion. The Inter-Dominion settlement will be made in the manner prescribed in Section 10 of Part III.

(5) Opportunity shall be given to evacuee owners or their authorized agents to bring to the notice of the Provincial Government or the Custodian concerned instances of :

(i) deliberate misdescription of goods sold;

(ii) gross undervaluation.

(6) The Custodian may effect the sale of evacuee movable property:—

(i) On application by the evacuee himself;

(ii) after adequate notice (note less than a month) to the evacuee owner individually or to a general class of evacuee owners;

N.B.—If in response to the notice the evacuee owner desires to make arrangements to dispose of his property himself or through his agent, the Custodian will normally accord permission to do so.

(iii) without notice, in case in which, for reasons to be recorded in writing, he holds :

(a) the interest of the evacuee owner is best served by the sale, or

(b) the sale is necessitated by requirements of rehabilitation.

N.B. — The sale of movable property shall, as far as possible, be by auction. The evacuee owner or the representative of the Dominion to which he has evacuated will be given an opportunity to be present at the sale.

(7) Abandoned movables which cannot be assigned to any particular evacuee shall be disposed of according to the law for the time being in force for the disposal of unclaimed property.

4. Procedure for Preparation of Inventories and Valuation.— Evacuee owners of moveables, especially those forming assets of commercial or industrial undertakings, will be given the following facilities in respect of inventories and valuation:

(1) Each Government will have the right to appoint representatives acceptable to the other Dominion in such local areas of the other Dominion as they deem fit. The rehabilitation authorities will inform those representatives whenever possession of a commercial or industrial undertaking is to be taken over by them giving not less than a week’s notice. The representatives will have the right to be present either personally or by an authorized agent at the time of the preparation of the inventory.

(2) If the owner wishes to be present either personally or by an authorized agent at the time of the preparation of the inventory, his presence will not be objected to, provided that the preparation of the inventory shall not be delayed merely to ensure his presence.

(3) After preparation of the inventory a date shall be fixed for the valuation of the property and the representative or owner or agent who has been present at the preparation of the inventory shall be informed of that date by the office preparing the inventory. On the date fixed, the representative of the Dominion, the owner or his agent shall have the right to be heard.

(4) Where an order of valuation has been passed by an authority subordinate to the Custodian and the order requires confirmation by the Custodian, the representative of the Dominion or the owner may signify his desire to be heard before the order is confirmed, and the Custodian will give him an opportunity to be so heard.

(5) Where an order of valuation has been passed by an authority subordinate to the Custodian himself, and the order does not require confirmation by the Custodian, the owner shall have the right to appeal to the Custodian within 10 days of the passing of the order by the subordinate officer. It shall not be necessary to give any notice to the representatives of the dominion or the owner regarding the fixation of value by the subordinate authority.

(6) The rate of compensation will be on the basis of fair value, that is, the price which the property would fetch in the open market under the present conditions provided that no organized attempt is made to keep it low by forming a ring or syndicate, or by boycott or otherwise,
5. Rights of Evacuees.—

(1) The evacuee owner shall have the right to apply for restoration of his movable property. This application shall be normally granted except in cases in which the property in question has been acquired or requisitioned by the Provincial Government or taken over by the Rehabilitation authorities.

(2) The evacuee shall have the right to apply to the Custodian requesting him to sell or dispose of his movable property in accordance with the procedure outlined in section 3 and 4.

(3) On restoration, the evacuee shall have the right to manage or dispose of his movable property by himself or through his agent, which term may include Liaison Officers appointed by the Dominion to which he has been compelled to migrate, in any manner he deems fit, including export to any destination in the other Dominion, subject to any export restrictions that may be imposed under sub-section (2) of section 2 of this Part.

(4) The evacuee shall on application be given permission and facilities to inspect his movables held in the charge of the Custodian or persons claiming through him or any other person.

(5) Evacuee owners who before the evacuation were engaged in organized trades, such as timber, grain, cotton, sugar, iron and steel, non-ferrous metals, etc. shall have the right to form syndicates and to depute small representative committees, on behalf of the owners, to various localities to arrange for the restoration and, subject to the permission of the Custodian, for the disposal or management of the stock in trade belonging to the members of such syndicates.

6. Responsibility of Governments.—

(1) The Provincial Government shall extend the fullest co-operation to the Inter-Dominion Agency set up for the disposal of evacuee movable property set up under Sub-Section 5 of this Section.

(2) The Provincial Government shall be responsible for taking all steps necessary to ensure the safety of the evacuee owners and their agents engaged in managing, disposing of or removing their movables.

(3) The Provincial Government shall also give to evacuee owners and their agents all possible assistance, including, wherever necessary, police protection, to dispose of their movables or to dispatch them by rail or road to any destination in the other Dominion.
The Dominion Governments shall also give all possible transport facilities, including provision of petrol on payment, and grant, wherever necessary, of sufficiently high priority for transport by rail.

The two Dominion Governments shall set up a Joint Government Agency for removal and disposal of movable evacuee property subject to availability of transport. The two Governments shall enjoy equally representation on this Agency. It will, subject to availability of transport and police protection, be the function of this Agency.

(a) to supervise the working of the agreed arrangements in regard to evacuee movable property and in particular, to assist evacuee owners in the expeditious disposal of their requests for help for police protection or special transport facilities;

(b) to set up an organization for facilitating movement by rail or road. (This organization will run its own trucks and secure special booking facilities and whenever possible and necessary run special goods-trains for the movement of evacuee movable property);

(c) to receive complaints and arrange for the redress of grievances of evacuees in the disposal or transport of their movables.

The Agency will pay particular attention to facilities being provided for the disposal, recovery, restoration and movement of:

(a) goods lying pledged with banks;

(b) goods lying at railway stations;

(c) goods lying at docks;

(d) parcels and money orders lying undelivered or unremitted at the Post Offices.

The Agency will also pay special attention to assisting evacuee owners in the recovery and removal of movables and buried underground.

Special Categories of Movable Property.

The previous sections of this Part will apply generally to all movable property.

Without prejudice to this generality, both Dominions recognize that certain special categories or special articles may require special additional treatment and each Dominion will, if requested by the other Dominion, refer to the Inter-Dominion Secretariat Level Commission proposed in Section 1 of Part VII of this Scheme or, if necessary, to an ad hoc meeting, any case requiring such treatment.

(3) The following special additional treatment is hereby agreed upon in respect of the special categories hereinunder specified:—

(a) House hold goods.

(i) The evacuee owner shall be given permission and facilities to remove all items of sentimental, literary and professional value and such personal effects as beddings, personal clothing, radio sets, gramophones, musical instruments, sewing machines, refrigerators, carpets and rugs etc.

(ii) Refugees at present residing in the houses vacated by evacuees will have the first claim for the purchase or hiring of all items which are not covered by (a) above, on payment of fair price.

(iii) A list of the items required by the refugees at present residing in the evacuee’s house shall be prepared. This list shall so far as is possible be prepared in the presence of the evacuee or his authorized representative and as far as possible in the manner laid down in Section 4 of this part.

(iv) For the items required by him, the refugee shall pay to the evacuee fair compensation calculated in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (6) of Section 4 of this part.

(v) The evacuee shall be given permission and facilities to remove all items which are not required by the refugee or for which he is not prepared to pay or does not pay fair compensation.

(vi) Facilities will be made available to the evacuee or the representative of the Dominion to which he has evacuated, to represent to the Custodian cases of misappropriation of the evacuee’s house-hold goods.

(b) Goods buried underground.

(i) The evacuee owner wishing to recover buried valuables shall apply for facilities to the Liaison Officer of the Dominion to which he has evacuated.

(ii) It will be the duty of the Liaison Officer to arrange in consultation with the local Custodian and Police Officers for the search of buried valuables being conducted under conditions of secrecy and security.

(iii) Police protection will be provided by the local authorities.

(iv) Supervision of the arrangements in this connection will be a special responsibility of the Joint Inter-Dominion Agency set up under sub-section (5) of Section 6 of this Part.

(c) Motor Vehicles.

As soon as possible after this agreement is concluded, the Governments concerned on both sides must implement the provisions of Sections 2 and 3, sub-Sections(4), (5) and (6) of Section 4 and Section 6 of this Part in regard to acquisition, requisitioning, sale, valuation, payment of compensation and release of motor vehicles. If either Dominion considers any further special arrangements to be necessary, it shall without delay refer its proposals to the Inter-Dominion Secretariat Level Commission proposed in Section I of Part VII.

PART VI

REMITTANCE FACILITIES —CUSTOMS AND EXPORT AND IMPORT CONTROL

Both Dominions will provide reasonable exchange facilities for remittance arising out of this agreement if and when foreign exchange control between India and Pakistan is instituted.

2. The Pakistan representatives expressed the view that such facilities would be governed by the separate agreement which is at present under negotiation between the two dominions regarding the terminating of the Reserve Bank of India’s functions as the exchange and currency authority in Pakistan.

3. The representatives of India, however, were of the view that some special provision would have to be made whether in the agreement referred to by the Pakistan representatives or in an agreement ancilliary thereto, in view of the special character and magnitude of remittances arising out of this agreement.

4. In regard to Customs and Export and Import Controls, the Sub-committee drew up a separate draft Agreement (Appendix A). A copy of this has been taken by the representatives of the Ministry of Commerce (India) and the Ministry of Finance (Pakistan) to Delhi and Karachi respectively for further immediate action, it being recognized that this matter cannot pend till the Dominions Ministerial level Conference which is to decide the Evacuee Property question.

APPENDIX A
(PART VI)

Draft Agreement Regarding Customs and Export and Import Controls

1. It is agreed that goods which are allowed to be moved by evacuees from one Dominion to the other in pursuance of the arrangements arrived at between the two Dominions shall be exempt from export and import trade regulations, as well as from export and import duties. Such goods will cover the following:

   (i) Goods carried in evacuee special trains;

   (ii) personal and household effects intended for personal and house hold use, including articles like motor cars, cycles, gramophones, radios and radiograms, electrical goods, musical instruments, sewing machines, typewriters, private libraries, professional instruments, apparatus and equipment, cattle and other animals, jewellery, gold and silver currency notes, shares, bond, securities, and licensed arms and ammunition. This exemption will cover accompanied as well as unaccompanied goods, provided that such goods shall be covered by a permit granted by an authority to be designated in this behalf by each Dominion;

   (iii) goods carried by evacuees proceeding by motor convoys straight from district camps in one Dominion to the other. This exemption will also cover vehicles forming such convoys; and

   (iv) trade goods and merchandise including stock in trade belonging to an evacuee, provided that they are covered by a permit granted by an authority to be designated in this behalf by each Dominion.

2. It is agreed that military stores consigned by one Dominion Government to the other or carried by the M.E.O. or vehicles under the command of the M.E.O. whether carrying such stores or not, shall be exempt from export and import trade regulations as well as from export and import duties if any, on production of a certificate from the Ministry of Defence of the Dominion from which they are being exported, or from an officer authorised by such Ministry in this behalf that they are such stores or vehicles.

3. It is agreed that all Government stores other than those covered by para. 2 above, e.g., Railway and P.&T. stores allocated to each of the two Dominions as a result of partition shall be exempt from export and import trade regulations as well as from export and import duties, if any, on production of a certificate from the Ministry concerned of the Dominion from which they are being exported, or from an officer authorized by such Ministry in this behalf that they are such stores. This exemption will also cover vehicles carrying such stores.

4. It is agreed that all vehicles crossing the border if covered by Movement Orders issued by the Joint M.E.O. shall be exempt from export and import trade regulations as well as from export and import duties. This exemption does not apply to the goods carried in such vehicles.

5. It is agreed that all vehicles used by officers of either Dominion in the discharge of their duties and crossing the border shall be exempt from export and import trade regulations as well as from export and import duties on production of a certificate from the High Commissioner or the Deputy High Commissioners of the Dominion to which the officer belongs, or from an officer authorized by them in this behalf that the vehicle is so employed.

6. It is agreed that the Customs authorities will conduct a search on the border only in case where the import or export of goods is, under the aforesaid provisions, required to be covered by a certificate or a permit from an appropriate authority.

7. It is agreed that if, for any reason, any articles are detained by the Customs authorities, a receipt giving details of the articles detained shall be furnished by these authorities to the owner of the articles.

PART VII

1. Inter-Dominion Commission. —

(1) A permanent Inter-Dominion Commission shall be set up at Secretariat level, which will meet at regular intervals, or according to the urgency of the work before it, in each Dominion in turn.

(2) The functions of the Commission will, inter alia, include:—

(a) Review and supervision of the working of the agreed arrangements in regard to:—

(i) the administration, sale and transfer of evacuee property in both Dominions, and

(ii) the payment and remission of moneys etc. connected therewith.

(b) Consideration of matters other than important questions of policy, that may arise in regard to refugees and evacuees between the two Dominions.
(c) Consideration of other matters referred to it by the Government of either Dominion.

(3) The Commission shall consist of the Secretary and one other officer of the two Dominions dealing with refugees, with the addition of such officers as it may be necessary to include for the purposes of any meeting.

2. Inter-Dominion refugees and Evacuees Council. — In addition an Inter-Dominion Refugees and Evacuees Council shall be set up, composed ordinarily of two Ministers each from India and Pakistan. This Council will meet, whenever necessary, to resolve matters on which the Inter-Dominion Commission is unable to agree or to consider questions of policy which require settlement at Ministerial level.

3153. Minutes of the meeting of India – Pakistan Legal Experts and Representatives to draft Agreement on Property of Trusts and Institutions.

F-26-190/48 Pak-I 6th April, 1948

With reference to paragraph 2(2) of the Agreement reached by the Joint Committee at Lahore on the 25th March, 1948, the Committee of Legal Experts and Representatives of the two Dominions consisting of the following met today:—

Pakistan.

(1) Mr. Justice S. A. Rahman.
(2) Mr. Mueen-ud-Din.
(3) Mr. S.M. Sharif.
(4) Mr. Khurshid Zaman.

India

(1) Kanwar Sir Dalip Singh.
(2) Mr. Justice Achhru Ram.
The main difficulties in arriving at a solution of the points involved were:

1. The weight to be attached to the history of the Institution or Trust where there was an actual Trust Deed or a document of Incorporation;
2. The question of the jurisdiction of the court involving:
   a) the location of the controlling body,
   b) the location of the Trust property, and
   c) the location of the activity of the Trust.

With regard to the ascertainment of the intention of the Trust or Institution, it was agreed that:

1. Where there was no written deed or document the practical working of the Trust, the character of the management, the actual beneficiaries from the beginning of the Trust to the present day, the activity and mode of activity and other circumstances would be relevant in determining the intention; and
2. Where there was ambiguity in the Trust Deed or document governing the Trust or Institution, the factors enumerated in (i) above would be relevant in resolving that ambiguity; but
3. Where there was no ambiguity, there was difference of view as to how far the court could take in to consideration the above mentioned factors in construing the written words. The Pakistan view was that where the word were clear the above factors would be irrelevant; the Indian view was that these factors would still be relevant.
3. Location

The present position, it is agreed, is that where the Trust or Institution was from its very nature attached to a particular location, that location could not be shifted under the existing law. But in cases where the location of the place prescribed in the Trust Deed was not conditioned by the previous factor, i.e. no special attachment to the location, then the view of the Pakistan representatives was that the court might in certain circumstances allow the location to be shifted e.g. in a case where the site had become uninhabitable for natural or sanitary causes. They did not agree, however that a change in the composition of the population would be a ground for allowing the shifting of location. The view of the Indian representatives was, however, that in the case of a Trust which, in its inception was meant for a composite population, a considerable change in the composition of the population would be also a justification for allowing the shift of location.

4. Classification of Trust Property. As regards the distinction drawn by the Indian representatives between property which may be styled income producing and property which maybe styled as Trust implementing or activity implementing, it was agreed that a distinction did exist. As regards income producing property, it was agreed that ordinarily speaking, subject to the terms of the Trust Deed and any restrictions imposed by statute or personal law, the discretion of the trustees to deal with such property was unfettered.

As regards the origin of the Trust funds, it was agreed that the general principles above stated would also govern the matter whether the origin was single or multiple.

5. As regards the procedure to be adopted for enabling Trust and Institutions to recommence their activities, it was agreed that if the matter was to be decided by existing courts in accordance with existing practice or law.

i) delay would result;

ii) Multiplicity of legal proceedings would result involving clashes of decision in particular cases;

iii) Courts having necessarily limited jurisdiction may experience difficulties in giving or implementing directions for apportionment etc. where such directions are deemed equitable; and

iv) Difficulties might be experienced in ordering or securing implementation of the orders for shifting the location of the Trust or Institution.

6. Suggestion on Procedure. In order to overcome these difficulties, the Pakistan Delegation suggested that each Dominion should establish a special court with exclusive jurisdiction to deal with Trusts, Institutions and their property.
7. Such a Court may also have to be given powers to deal with problems mentioned in the above para.

8. The Indian representatives, however suggested that the two Dominions should set up an Inter-Dominion tribunal with exclusive jurisdiction, to deal with such Trusts, Institutions and their property. In cases of difference of opinion between the members of the Tribunal, the matter might be referred to an Arbitrator agreed to between the two Dominions at the forthcoming Ministerial Conference.

9. To resolve the difference in views on the question of procedure, the following compromise suggestions were considered.

i) To avoid clashes of jurisdiction and consequent clashes of decision in particular cases, it was suggested that where two/thirds or more of the property of a Trust or Institution was located in one Dominion, the courts of that Dominion alone should have jurisdiction to deal with that Trust or Institution. In other cases the matter would be referred to a Joint Board of the Two Dominions who would decide the question of jurisdiction in accordance with the considerations mentioned in para 2(i) of this Note.

ii) Cases in which courts of either Dominion have jurisdiction over one and the same Trust or Institution, should be dealt with and decided by an Inter-Dominion Tribunal to be set up for the purpose.

iii) Governments of the two Dominions should prepare lists of Trusts and Institutions which, in their opinion, should function exclusively within one Dominion or the other. These lists would be examined by the two Governments and cases where there is agreement on particular items, should be dealt with according to agreement. The remaining cases should be referred to a Joint Tribunal which should deal with those lists.

The two Delegations undertook to place those suggestions before their respective Governments for their consideration.

10. Administration. It was agreed that the general scheme with regard to property would be applicable to Trusts and Institutions except in the following matters:

i) The cess of 2% chargeable under Sub-Section 3 of Section IV of part III of the Draft Scheme shall not be charged with regard to Trust property; and

ii) The income from Trust property should be remitted to Trustees quarterly in the case of Trusts which have secured the permission of competent authority to shift the Trust instead of six monthly as visualized in Section X of Part III of the Draft Scheme.

3154. Communiqué issued by the Indian Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation protesting breach of Agreement on Payment of share dividends to non-Muslims.

New Delhi, May 13, 1948.

The Relief Ministry's Communiqué states: “The Pakistan Government have issued a Press note asking all companies incorporated under the Indian Companies Act of 1913 with their registered offices in West Punjab to give a detailed statement of shares held by non-Muslims in such companies.

“It has also been stated that these shares are evacuee property and vest in the Custodian and dividends accruing thereon should not be paid. This is contrary to the Inter-Dominion Agreement arrived at in the conference of March 13-15 under which shares of joint stock companies are freely transferable form one Dominion to the other.

In India there has been no bar to the removal of such shares nor do they vest in the Custodian. If in Pakistan they vest in the Custodian, obviously they cannot be removed from there to India without his permission and the proceeds of dividends also go to the Custodian. But the March agreement clearly lays down that shares as well as dividends are not evacuee property.

This is evident from the operative clause of the agreement which is as follows: “There is no objection to the removal from either Dominion of joint stock company shares and debentures or of bonds issued by individual banks or of National or War Savings Certificates”.

Non-Muslims’ shares involved add up to a considerable sum. It is hoped that the Pakistan Government will revise their decision and it will not be necessary for the Government of India to take reciprocal action.

EVACUEE PROPERTY

3155. Minutes of the Inter-Dominion Conference held in Lahore on July 22nd, 1948.

Item I of the Agenda.

(1) The draft scheme for Inter-Dominion Evacuee Property Agreement prepared by the Joint Official Committee at Lahore (March 22nd to 25th, 1948) was considered by the Conference, and the following decisions were reached:—

PART I — General

I. Area to which Applicable

(2) It was agreed that the areas should be extended to include in India, Ajmer-Merwara, Malerkotla State, the Matsya and Rajasthan Unions, Saurashtra, Jaipur State, Jodhpur State, and Western Districts of the United Provinces (which shall in any case include the districts of Saharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar). Pakistan was to forward a list of any further areas which they might wish to be included, for India’s consideration.

II. General Principles

(3) The following new sub-section (4) should be added to section 2 as follows:—

“Throughout this agreement whatever has been laid down as applicable to any Province or to its Government shall be applicable to any States or to the Government of any such States as have acceded to either Dominion and are included in the area to which this agreement now becomes or hereafter becomes applicable”.

(4) India said that evacuees had been moving from all parts of one Dominion to all parts of the other and in so far as India was concerned, they were prepared to extend the agreed area to cover the whole of both Dominions. Pakistan agreed to consider this proposal.

PART II — Agricultural Property

(5) The main question to be decided in this part was whether the settlement should be as between the Governments of the two Dominions or as between individual evacuees. Pakistan were of the view that no definite decision could be taken on this point until more data were available. For this purpose special Revenue Officers were to be appointed by both Dominions. Copying of revenue records should start forthwith. A special Joint Committee should be set up to supervise and expedite the whole work.

(6) It was further agreed that with a view to ensuring more equitable management of evacuee properties and the early payment of rents due to evacuee owners during the interim period, an officer of the other Dominion should be associated with the Custodians of Evacuee Property of each Dominion.

PART III- Urban Immovable Property

(7) Here again the main question to be decided was whether the settlement of this type of property should be on a Governmental or an individual basis. India felt that it might be advantageous to pool for purposes of exchange on a Governmental basis all properties valued below a certain figure to be agreed upon between the two Dominions, property above that value would be open to unrestricted private sale and exchange. With this end in view it would be necessary to collect more data in regard to urban property.

(8) Pakistan's view was that while the suggestion might prove practicable, it certainly presented enormous difficulties and would probably take an unduly long period to put into operation.

(9) It was finally agreed that the Joint Urban Assessment Board contemplated in section 7 of this part should be set up and its functions enlarged to include assessment of the value of property. It was further agreed that an officer of the other Dominion should be associated with the Custodians of Evacuee Property of each Dominion with a view to ensuring equitable management and early payment of rents due to evacuee owners. India suggested that pending a final settlement it might be advisable to allow freely exchanges of Urban Immovable Property, Pakistan agreed to consider this proposal.

Part IV — Houses and Shops in Rural Areas

(10) It was decided that whatever decisions were finally taken in regard to Parts II and III should be made to apply to Part IV also, according to the category of property concerned.

Part V— Movable Property

(11) The proposals were accepted by both Dominions subject to the following modifications:

The Joint Government Agency to be set up under sub-section (5) of section 6 should deal with all matters and complaints arising out of the working of this part.

Part VI — Customs, Export and Import Controls

(12) The proposals as contained in the Pakistan’s redraft of this part dated 21st July, 1948, were accepted by both Dominions.

Part VII—Inter-Dominion Commission

(13) The proposals as contained in the draft agreement were accepted.

Item 2 of the Agenda — Trust Property

(14) It was decided to postpone consideration of this item.

Item 3 of Agenda — Damaged Urban Immovable Property

(15) India was unable to accept Pakistan’s proposals as they stood. They had no objection to demolitions or repairs necessary for ensuring safety, protecting health and the life but they could not agree to sales by the Custodians of Evacuee Property. Pakistan undertook to consider India’s counter-proposals.

Additional Item 3-A — Not on the Agenda — Income–tax Assessment

(16) There was at present an agreement between the two Dominions under which no ex parte assessment of income-tax could take place in the West Punjab until 31st July, 1948.

(17) In view of the postponement of Evacuee Property settlement it was suggested by India that the agreement should be further extended up to 31st December, 1948, and should include the N.W.F.P. and Sind.

(18) Pakistan agreed to extend the present date up to 31st August, 1948, and pointed out that its present scope already covered the N.W.F.P. Pakistan was not prepared to extend the agreement to Sind. They would, however, consider the definite proposals from India as contained in Appendix A.

(19) Pakistan stated that no sales against realization of income-tax had taken places either in the West Punjab or the N.W.F.P. so far and they undertook that no such sales would take place at least until 31st August, 1948, in any part of West Pakistan.

Item 4 of the Agenda — Exchange of Prisoners

(20) The question of resuming the exchange of prisoners between the two Dominions which has stood suspended from the 27th April, 1948, was discussed. Pakistan handed over the following draft of what they desired in this connection:

“The exchange of Prisoners between the Dominion of Pakistan and the Dominion of India, which was suspended on the 27th April, will be resumed as soon as a satisfactory agreement has been arrived at with regard to Muslim prisoners of Delhi, whose families have migrated to Pakistan, on the same terms and under the same conditions as applied to the exchange of prisoners from East— and West Punjab.”

Indian undertook to consider this and send a reply as early as possible.

Item 5 of the Agenda — India’s “Permit” System

(21) India explained their reasons for introducing a system of permits, but were prepared to consider its withdrawal if the two Dominions could evolve some system of regulating a two-way, as opposed to one-way, traffic. Pakistan was not satisfied that there was a case for introducing a permit system nor for any form of traffic regulation in either direction and stated that in deference to public opinion they would be obliged to introduce a similar permit system in West Pakistan, which would have to be extended to cover also, movement between East and West Bengal, if India could not see their way to withdrawing their “permit” system forthwith.

Note dated 22nd July 1948 by India on Income-tax Assessment

Appendix A. Referred in Paragraph (18) of the Minutes

There is at present an agreement between the two Dominion Governments governing the East and West Punjab under which no ex parte assessment of Income-Tax can take place. This agreement which expired on the 30th June, 1948, has been extended up to the 31st July, 1948.

We suggest that this agreement should be extended further up to 31st December, 1948, in regard to time and should be covered to include Sind and N.W.F.P. in addition to West Punjab.
Meanwhile the work of assessment can be done either by deputing Pakistan officials to the Indian Dominion and vice versa under the guard and protection of the Dominion concerned; or notice in regard to all evacuees should be served on the High Commissioner of the Dominion concerned who should arrange for the defence of the case in consultation with the evacuee.

Once the assessment is made the Dominion to which the evacuee has gone may collect the Income-Tax and remit it to the originating Dominion or intimate its inability to do so. In the latter event, or at the option of the assessee the originating Dominion will have the right to dispose of the evacuee’s property in fulfillment of the Income –Tax demand.

Pending consideration of this proposal we suggest that no sale of evacuee property should take place in either Dominion in fulfillment of the Income-Tax demands.

3156. Press Note issued by the Government of Pakistan on agreement between India and Pakistan on exchange of Prisoners and evaluation of Property.

Karachi, August 19, 1948

A complete agreement on the exchange of prisoners, setting up of a joint organization for the evaluation of urban property and for the preparation of revenue records and the evacuation of movable property, was reached in Karachi between representatives of the Government of Pakistan and India.

A Press note issued by the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, Government of Pakistan says: “Informal discussions between Messrs M.K. Kirpalani, L.Punjabi, and Khwaja Shahabuddin, and the Secretary for the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation. Government of Pakistan, were held on August 18 and 19 in a cordial atmosphere. These discussions concerned three points:

URBAN PROPERTY

Firstly, it was agreed that a joint organization for valuation of urban property left behind by the evacuees both in Pakistan and in India, and for, the preparation of revenue records and arrangements for evacuation of movable property should be undertaken as early as possible. A joint set up for this purpose was discussed in detail, and it is hoped to establish a nucleus of the machinery by about first week of September.
EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS

The communiqué added: “The procedure for implementing the exchange of prisoners which has been agreed to lay down that by August 30, complete lists of prisoners would be exchanged, and thereafter the actual exchange simultaneously at the border.

“Thirdly, the permits system for entering India was discussed. It is hoped to have a further meeting at a ministerial level in the near future, when a satisfactory solution will be found.”

3157. Press Note issued by the Ministry without Portfolio on the Agreement reached with Pakistan on Moveable Evacuee Property.

New Delhi, August 25, 1948.

Press Note

Agreement has been reached between the Governments of India and Pakistan over the removal and disposal of evacuee movable property. Immediate steps are being taken to set up the necessary machinery for this purpose.

The agreement envisages the setting up of a Joint Government Agency on which the two Dominions will enjoy equal representation. Subject to availability of transport and police protection, it will be the function of this Agency:

(a) to supervise the working of the agreed arrangements in regard to movable evacuee property and in particular to assist evacuee owners in the expeditious disposal of their application to the Custodian of Evacuee Property in each Dominion or their requests for help for police protection or special transport facilities;

(b) to set up an organization for facilitating movement by rail or road (this organization will run its own trucks and secure special booking facilities and, wherever possible and necessary, run special goods trains for the movement of movable evacuee property);

(c) to receive complaints and arrange for the redress of grievances of evacuee in the disposal or transport of their movables.
The area covered by the agreement will be:

In Pakistan: West Punjab, Sind, North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan and the States of Bahawalpur and Khairpur (N.W.F.P., and Baluchistan will include States which have acceded to Pakistan, but will exclude Unadministered Agency Areas).

India: East Punjab, Delhi, all the States formerly known as the East Punjab States, Bikaner, Ajmer-Marwara, the Matsya Union, the Rajastahn Union, Saurashtra, Jaipur, Jodhpur and the Western districts of the United Provinces (which shall in any case include the districts of Saharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar).

As soon as the necessary organization comes into existence the details of the procedure to be adopted by evacuees for submitting their applications will be announced.

3158. Record of the Discussions of the Evacuee Property Committee of the Inter-Dominion Conference held in New Delhi on 6 — 9 December 1948, in the Room of Secretary, Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation.

Present

Representatives of the Government of India

(1) Mr. C. N. Chandra.
(2) Mr. V.D. Dantyagi.
(3) Mr. P.N. Thapar
(4) Mr. Y.K. Puri

Representatives of the Government of Pakistan

(5) Mr. E. de. V. Moss.
(6) Mr. Abdul Qadir.
Introductory

1. The representatives of the Government of Pakistan stated that they were not in a position to give their considered views on certain important items in the Minutes of the Inter-Dominion Conference of July 22, 1948, such as the areas to which the agreement should be extended or the treatment of urban immovable property. The Government of Pakistan had been actively examining the important points involved and as they had not been able to collect all the important data which was necessary to enable them to come to a decision, it was impossible for their representatives to put forward any definite proposals in this Conference. It was for this reason that they had requested India not to include this item in the agenda but had finally agreed only after India had insisted on its inclusion.

The Government of Pakistan representatives also said that their Government was under the impression that these minutes were subject to ratification by both Governments and that the Government of Pakistan for the reasons given above, had not yet ratified them.

They further stated that, in their opinion, another conference should be held shortly, in, say, a month’s time and by then they would be able to come to a final decision on the outstanding points and be in a position to put before the Conference definite proposals.

2. The Indian Dominion representatives, on the other hand, were of the opinion that certain agreements had already been reached at the Minister-Level Conference of 22nd July 1948, and there could be no question of re-opening the agreements already arrived at. Agreements in the past had invariably been acted upon without any formal ratification by either Government. They were rather disappointed at the protracted negotiations, as, in their opinion, very little had been achieved since the Inter-Dominion negotiations in March 1948. Refugees in either Dominion had been led to believe that they would be able to dispose of their property before long and in the meanwhile secure the income accrued to them from their property. These hopes had, unfortunately been deferred too long. It was the firm conviction of the Indian representatives that a very early and expeditious settlement of the property question would go a long way towards the rehabilitation of refugees in either Dominion thus removing a very potent cause of friction which exists at present between the two Dominions.

3. Pakistan representatives regretted that a misunderstanding had occurred but they fully agreed with India that an early settlement of the property question was of vital importance and that Pakistan would do everything in its power to expedite the settlement.
Minutes Of The Conference of 22nd July 1948

Part I— General

I. Areas To Which Agreement Will Apply

4. The representatives of Pakistan Government said that they regretted they were unable to accept at present the proposals contained in the minutes of the Conference of 22nd July 1948 for the extended areas as these have not been approved by their Government. They would prefer to leave the matter open for consideration at the next Conference and in the meantime they would like to work on the old areas as agreed to in the Conference in March 1948, viz., the whole of Western Pakistan, and, in India, the Province of East Punjab, East Punjab States less Maler Kotla State, the States of Alwar, Bharatpur and Bikaner, and the Province of Delhi. The India Government representatives stated that the areas had already been agreed upon on 22nd July 1948 and there was no justification for re-opening the question.

II. General Principles

5. Paragraph (3) of the 22nd July 1948 minutes was accepted by representatives of both India and Pakistan.

6. Paragraph (4) of the 22nd July 1948 minutes — The representatives of Pakistan stated that they would prefer to keep this open till the next Conference.

PART- II Agricultural Property

7. Paragraph (5) of the minutes of 22nd July 1948 Conference — It was agreed that considerable progress had been made in the preparation and exchange of copies of revenue records of Wet Punjab and East Punjab districts and the East Punjab States. In regard to the other States in India, namely Alwar, Baharathpur and Bikaner, and for the Province of Delhi the records were being prepared, but exchange had not yet taken place. In Pakistan similarly, the revenue records of the Provinces of North West Frontier and Sind and the administered area of Baluchistan and the other States in West Pakistan, particularly, Bahawalpur and Khairpur, were being prepared but had not yet been exchanged. It was agreed that the following procedure should be adopted for the exchange of the remaining copies of the revenue records and that every effort should be made to complete the work by the 15th January 1949.

Copies of all the revenue records of the remaining areas in Pakistan should be handed over to the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Lahore.

Copies of the revenue records for the remaining areas in India should be handed over to the Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan at Jullundur.

It was agreed that the Joint Committee of the two Deputy High Commissioners... at Jullundur and Lahore should be set up to see to the work of procurement of the copies of the revenue records and for their expeditious transfer to the representatives of the other Dominion.

8. Paragraph (6) of the minutes of Inter-Dominion Conference of 22\textsuperscript{nd} July 1948—

(a) Representatives of both Dominions agreed that a Liaison Officer of the other Dominion should be appointed to be in close touch with the Custodian of Evacuee Property, for the purpose of —

(i) obtaining information on general principles being followed with regard to management of evacuee property;

(ii) making representations—general or in respect of cases of particular evacuees or properties — for the consideration of the Custodian;

(iii) obtaining information regarding demand statements and account statements regarding properties of evacuees, and generally to expedite by references to the Custodian the implementation of paragraphs 9 and 10 of Part II of the draft scheme of the Joint Official Committee of March 22\textsuperscript{nd} —25\textsuperscript{th}

(b) The Liaison Officer will be attached to the High or Deputy High Commissioner of the Dominion to which he belongs, but will have office accommodation in the office of the Custodian to which he is attached;

(c) The Pakistan representatives agreed to the above on the condition that the office of the Custodian of Evacuee Property, East Punjab, was and would remain at Jullundur.

PART III— Urban Immoveable Property

9. Paragraph (7) of the minutes of the Inter-Dominion Conference of 22\textsuperscript{nd} July 1948.—The Pakistan representative said that they were not prepared at the present moment to consider the question of settlement of urban immovable property. They would like this question to be held over for consideration at the next Inter-Dominion Conference.

10. Paragraph (9) of the minutes of 22\textsuperscript{nd} July 1948. — the Pakistan representative stated that Pakistan was not prepared at the present moment to agree to any proposal for the unrestricted private exchange of urban property. They would like this proposal to be held over and considered at the next Inter-Dominion Conference.

In regard to the proposal for the Joint Urban Assessment Board made in paragraph (9) of the minutes of 22\textsuperscript{nd} July, 1948, the Pakistan representatives stated that in the present circumstances it was impossible for Pakistan to agree to such an elaborate organization being set up.

It was, however, agreed by the representatives of both the Dominions that it was desirable that steps should be taken for early collection of rents for evacuee property and settlement of accounts in accordance with the provisions contained in paragraphs 9—10 of Part III of the Inter-Dominion Draft Scheme dated 22nd — 25th March 1948.

Part V— Movable Property

11. Paragraph (11) of the minutes of 22nd July, 1948.— The Pakistan representatives stated that the Joint Government Agency proposed in the July Agreement was not acceptable at the present moment and suggested that a Joint Committee of the Deputy High Commissioners at Jullundur and Lahore should go into the question and suggest alternative measures for the evacuation of movable property.

The representatives of India stressed the need of a Joint Government Agency, but they had no objection to the two Deputy High Commissioners meeting together to make proposals for consideration.

12. Paragraph (12) of the minutes of 22nd July 1948.— The proposals in this paragraph have been agreed to and are being acted upon.

13. Paragraph (13) of the minutes of 22nd July 1948.— It was agreed that the Inter-Dominion Commission should now start functioning.

14. Paragraph (14) of the minutes of 22nd July 1948.— As the question was not specifically referred to the Pakistan Government before this meeting, their representatives would prefer to postpone a discussion of this item to the next Inter-Dominion Conference.

15. Paragraph (15) of the minutes of 22nd July 1948.— May be referred to the Inter-Dominion Commission.

16. Paragraphs (16) to (19) of the minutes of 22nd July 1948:

Assessment of Income –Tax on Refugee Assesses

Proposals agreed to by the C.B.R. India and Pakistan for the consideration of the Committee.

Government of India will appoint special officers at Delhi and Bombay to whom the refuge assesses in India who have come from West Punjab, N.W.F.P., Sind and Baluchistan will furnish (in duplicate) particulars of their addresses etc. as given in the letter dated 28th October 1948 to the Central Board of Revenue, Pakistan. The Press Note will be modified accordingly.

The special officer in India will forward a copy of these particulars to his counterpart in Pakistan who will distribute them among the Income Tax Officers having jurisdiction to deal with the cases.

The Income-tax Officer concerned will then send the notices calling for returns or evidence through the special officer of Pakistan who will forward them in batches each week to the special officer in India and he will send them to the assesses concerned.

The Income-tax Officer in Pakistan should make an ex parte assessment only after he hears from the special officer in India, that the notice could not be served on the assessee as his whereabouts are not known or that the assessee without valid cause has failed to comply with the notice. In cases where assessments would otherwise become time-barred, an ex parte assessment may be made after the due date for the receipt of return but full facilities should be given for reopening the assessment on valid cause being shown in appeal.

Each Government will arrange for Assesses being represented before the Income-tax Officer, if they so desire by authorized agents to whom the accounts etc. will be sent through the respective High Commissioners.

As soon as an assessment is completed in Pakistan one copy of the demand notice should be sent to the special officer in Pakistan and he will forward it to his counterpart in India who will pass it on to the assessee. Another copy will be sent to the Custodian of Evacuee Property in Pakistan.

The Custodian will adjust against the demand any amount to the credit of the assessee and if the full demand could not be met, the balance shall be communicated to the assessee through the special officer.

Property of the assessee may be attached for the balance of the tax if any due, but shall not be sold in auction except with the consent of the assessee within one year after they are permitted to sell or exchange the properties.

Any ex parte assessments made before the introduction of this procedure on evacuee assesses to whom the “stand-still” agreement applied will be cancelled by the Commissioner and revised assessments made in accordance with the procedure contained herein. As regards other evacuees, appeals against ex parte assessments already made shall be entertained, irrespective of the time-limit, provided the appeals are filed before the 15th January 1949.

The notices intended for assesses in India shall be sent to the special officer in India in special bags through the respective High Commissioners, and the special officer shall send them to the assesses at the addresses given in the statement, and shall after service of the notices, forward the acknowledgments to his opposite number in Pakistan.

Arrangements in Pakistan shall be exactly similar to those in India, and special officers will be appointed at Karachi and Lahore.

When owners of properties are permitted to sell or exchange their properties, such sale or exchange shall be subject to the claim for arrears of tax if any and shall not become final till tax is paid.

The proposals contained in the Central Board of Revenue India's letter to the Central Board of Revenue, Pakistan, mentioned above shall be acted upon except to the extent modified above.

This new procedure shall be announced in the Press simultaneously by both Dominions on the 17th December 1948.

Other Subjects Discussed by the Representatives of the Two Governments

A. Sale and Transfer of Shares

Pakistan representatives mentioned that correspondence was going on between the Governments of India and Pakistan regarding the existing restrictions on transfer and sale of shares in West Punjab. Pakistan representatives stated that if restrictions on such sale and transfer of shares in East Punjab and Centrally Administered areas were removed, restrictions in West Punjab and other areas wherever they exist will be withdrawn by Pakistan Government.

The Indian representatives stated that the restrictions in India were imposed only because they existed in Pakistan and they would be prepared to withdraw the restrictions on a reciprocal basis.

It was agreed that restrictions shall be withdrawn by both the Governments immediately.

B. Money due to Evacuees from Government and Quasi Government Bodies

It was represented by the Pakistan representatives that restrictions existed in West Punjab, East Punjab and Delhi regarding the payment of money due to contractors who have now become evacuees and to Government servants, to servants of Universities and local funds and other local bodies. It was mentioned by the Pakistan representative that at present money payable to contractors was deposited with the Custodian and not paid to the contractor concerned by the Governments on either side. India also pointed out that in the case of the Punjab University employees who had migrated to India, the Provident Fund money had not been paid to the employees for lack of Custodian's permission. Similarly restrictions have been imposed in Delhi. Court deposits and Provident Funds of teachers employed by local bodies were similarly being held up in either Dominion. It was decided that all money due from Government or quasi Government bodies like the University, the District and Municipal Boards and other local bodies, should be payable by them direct to the evacuee concerned without the intervention of the Custodian and should be subject only to any agreements regarding exchange control between the two Governments.

Examples of such payments were sums due to the contractors for work done or goods supplied or otherwise under the contract, pay, leave salary and provident fund amounts of Government servants and servants of Universities, local bodies and quasi-Government institutions, security deposits of contractors and public servants, court deposits and scholarships due to students. These items are illustrative only and not exhaustive.

To enable this agreement to be implemented, immediate amendment of the Custodian of Evacuee Property Ordinance will be necessary in both the Dominions. In the meantime instructions should be issued not later than the 15th January, 1949, to the Custodian to grant general permission for the free movement of money relating to such items.

The Indian representatives pointed out that on both sides a large number of claims from Government and semi-Government departments and institutions are outstanding and evacuees entitled to moneys are not being paid. It was agreed by both the representatives that effective measures should be taken to have all such claims considered and paid as early as possible. It was decided that both Governments should issue instructions to Government departments, semi-Government institutions and to local bodies to expedite payment of claims of evacuees.

Teachers other than those included in B above:— It was agreed that teachers other than those employed by Government and quasi-Government bodies will also be given the benefit of the arrangements agreed to in B above.

C. Changes in Evacuee Property Law in Pakistan

The Indian representatives pointed out that the latest Pakistan Ordinance appeared to be stricter in certain respects than the older law, and contrary to the spirit of the negotiations between the two dominions. The Pakistan Representatives agreed to examine the points raised by the Indian representatives. A detailed note on the subject is to be given to the Pakistan Government representatives and the matter will be discussed at the next Conference.
D. Jagirs and Muafis

The question of Muafi, land grants, assignment of land revenue and jagir grants etc. was raised by the Pakistan representatives and it was decided that both the Governments should examine the position and discuss the matter further in the next Inter-Dominion Conference.

E. Estates under Court of Wards

It was agreed that whether the estates were still under the Court of Wards or had been released and handed over to the Custodian after partition, the wards or ex-wards and dependents or ex-dependents may continue to be paid a suitable allowance direct by the Court of Wards or the Custodian as the case may be, as a special case.

F. Improvement Trust Plots

It was agreed that the rights of the evacuee owner should not be forfeited. The sale of Improvement Trust Plots generally include a condition that the failure to build within a specified period, or to pay the necessary number of instalments, would mean forfeiture of the plot of land by the Improvement Trust. It was agreed that such penal conditions should be held in abeyance. This does not preclude the state from acquiring or requisitioning the land for the purpose of rehabilitation of refugees.

G. Government servants who have migrated from one Dominion to another and who were in pensionable service but had not earned their pension.

The consensus of opinion was that something must be done for these persons, but the question must pend the settlement of an agreement between the two Dominions of the bigger issue of the pensions already earned.

H. Exchange of Undertrial Prisoners on Bail

It was agreed by the representatives of both the Dominions that since the persons who were in prison have already been transferred, there is no reason why those who were on bail should not be considered eligible for transfer. Pakistan representatives pointed out that this matter was under consideration of their Government; but pending a final decision, it was agreed that no action should be taken to forfeit the bail-bonds or personal securities.

I. Transfer of Cases in Mental Hospitals

It was agreed that non-Muslim patients in the mental hospitals in Pakistan and Muslim patients in similar hospitals in India whose relatives have gone over to the other Dominion may be transferred to India and Pakistan respectively subject to the adjustment of any amounts that may be due on their accounts. This will be applicable only to persons already in hospitals on 1st December, 1948.

Record of the Discussions held in the Room of Defence Secretary on Friday, 10th December 1948 at 12 Noon in Regard to the Evacuee Property.

The first point of difference between the representatives of India and Pakistan in the Evacuee Property Committee was the question of areas to which the scheme of evacuee property should apply. In the Secretariat level conference held in March, 1948, the agreed areas were confined to Western Pakistan on the one hand and East Punjab, East Punjab States, the States of Alwar, Bharatpur and Bikaner in India. At the request of Pakistan, this area was extended in the Minister level conference held on 22nd July, 1948, in India to include Ajmer Merwara, Malerkotla State, the Matsya and Rajasthan Unions, Saurashtra, the States of Jaipur and Jodhpur, and Western districts of United Provinces, which were in any case to include the districts of Saharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar. The Pakistan representatives stated that the Pakistan Government had not yet ratified the agreement to this area and that they would like to keep the matter open for the present.

2. At the meeting of July 22nd, the Pakistan representatives reserved to themselves the right to suggest any further area which they liked to be included in the property scheme. The India Government representatives were prepared to consider their proposals and to extend the agreed area to the whole of India and Pakistan if necessary. Pakistan representatives wished to keep this question also open for the present.

3. Agricultural property.— The scheme submitted by the Secretariat level committee, which met on 22nd /25th March, 1948, envisaged both the Governments taking over the agricultural land left behind in either Dominion. The land was to be valued by a Joint Valuation Board to be set up for the purpose of valuing land on the basis of certain principles which were accepted by this official committee. At the conference of 22nd July, 1948, the Pakistan Government wished to collect more information before they could agree to this scheme. Meanwhile the revenue records in both Dominions over the agreed area were to be copied and exchanged. To expedite this work, a special Joint Committee was to be set up. The Pakistan Government representatives stated that it is not possible to accept this official Joint Committee for the present but there was no objection to both Governments proceeding with the valuation of the land left behind in their respective areas. It was pointed out by the Pakistan representatives that the principles accepted by the Joint Official Committee had yet to be formally accepted by their Government.

4. Urban immovable property. — The main hitches in this case were the question of agreed area and whether exchanges should be allowed in regard to urban immovable property. Here again a Joint Urban Assessment Board was contemplated by the official committee of the 22nd/25th March with a view to helping persons who could not exchange their property otherwise. The Pakistan Government representatives were of the opinion that a Joint Urban Assessment Board was impossible at present. While the Indian Government representatives were of the opinion that exchanges may be freely allowed in all cases, the Pakistan Government representatives were not prepared to give an answer till the question of agreed areas was settled.

5. Movable property. — The official committee of 22nd/25th March 1948, contemplated a joint Government agency for the purpose of moving movable property from one Dominion to the other, unless it was taken over or requisitioned by the Government concerned or the export thereof was forbidden under a general order of that Dominion. The Joint Agency was accepted by the Minister level conference of 22nd July, 1948. The Pakistan Government representatives stated that they could not receive at the moment a vast organisation like this agency, but that the two Deputy High Commissioners should meet together and work in effect as the joint agency for the purpose of facilitating the movement of such property. It was agreed that the High Commissioners will be suitably assisted by sanction of extra staff by the two Dominions Governments and that facilities including protection will be accorded by the Dominion in which that staff would be operating with a view to transferring movable property.

V. D. Dantyagi,
Joint Secretary.

**************
Report of the Committee on Evacuee Property—
Recommendations of the Steering Committee.

The Evacuee Property Committee has submitted a report in which there is disagreement between the representatives of India and Pakistan on the following principal points:—

(1) area to which the Agreement would be applicable;
(2) transfer and sale of agricultural property;
(3) transfer and sale of urban immovable property; and
(4) disposal or transfer of movable property.

The Steering Committee had a prolonged discussion with the representatives of the two Dominions and agreement was reached on point No.4. It was agreed that the two Deputy High Commissioners should work as a joint committee for facilitating the movement of movable property from one Dominion to the other.

With regard to the other points, the Pakistan delegation maintained that they were not in a position to express any opinion or proceed further with implementation until the agreement reached at the Minister level conference held on the 22nd July, 1948, at Lahore was ratified by their Government. Indian representatives on the other hand stated that they had all along proceeded on the assumption that there will be no question of the agreement being subject to any ratification.

Having regard to the time that has elapsed since the Lahore Agreement was signed by the representatives of the two Governments, the Steering Committee would recommend to the Conference that where there were actual agreements in substance between the two Governments in Lahore they should stand and should be implemented. This is a matter to which considerable importance is attached by the private individuals whose property lies in one or the other Dominion. The Steering Committee would further recommend that the implementation of the points on which agreement had been reached should be completed with the utmost expedition.

Where at Lahore certain points were left over for further consideration, the Steering Committee would recommend that the two Governments should make up their minds within a month and intimate their considered views on those points to each other. If a further conference is necessary to settle these points, it should be held within six weeks.

New Delhi, January 8, 1949.

Practically no progress has been made in the settlement of the question of evacuee property since the official level conference of March 1948. This has caused a considerable amount of unrest among the refugees and during the December Conference we did our best to settle the question. Your Delegation however wanted some more time for consideration and a conference was accordingly fixed at Karachi on the tenth January. The question of evacuee property is now the only source of constant friction between the people of two Dominions and I would earnestly request you to help in the taking of final decisions at the forthcoming conference. The machinery for implementation of the decisions taken should also be devised at this conference so that quick disposal of property and speedy permanent rehabilitation of refugees is ensured. The decisions taken have to be essentially just and fair if this chronic cause of discontent is to be removed. I am instructing my delegation to help your Government in every way possible way.

3160. Inter-Dominion Conference on matters relating to evacuees’ property.

January 10 – 13, 1949.

Part-I—General

1. Areas to which applicable.

   (a) In regard to agricultural property, the areas in Pakistan would be West Punjab, Sind, N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan, and the States of Bahawalpur and Khairpur (N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan should be taken to include States which have acceded to Pakistan and to exclude un-Administered Agency Areas). In India, the areas would be the Provinces of East Punjab and Delhi, Province of Himachal Pradesh, the Patiala and the East Punjab States Union and the States of Bharatpur, Alwar and Bikaner.

   (b) In regard to urban immovable property the areas in Pakistan would be the same as for agricultural property but in regard to India, the areas would be extended to include Ajmer Merwara, Dholpur and Karauli States (now included in the Matsya Union), the Rajasthan Union, Saurashtra (as both these Unions stood on 22nd July 1948) and the States of Jaipur and Jodhpur, and the districts of Saharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar in the United Provinces.

N.B. Pakistan further suggested that while it was not agreeable to the area in India being extended to the whole of the country, it was prepared to agree to the area being so extended in regard to Government servants and persons holding office under the Crown in either Dominion. India thought it would not be justifiable to make this distinction and suggested that the areas might well be extended to cover the whole of the Dominion. India further suggested that in addition to the 4 districts of the U.P. mentioned above, namely Saharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar, 8 more districts should be added, namely: Aligarh, Mathura, Agra, Mainpuri, Etaha, Bareily, Morabadabad and Budaun, all of which are ordinarily described as Western Districts of the U.P. Pakistan after consideration stated that it was not prepared to accept the extension to these 8 districts.

2. General Principles.

(1) Except in accordance with the terms of this agreement the evacuee’s rights in his immovable property shall not be affected by reason of the vesting of his property in the Custodian.

(2) In the evacuee’s absence, the duty of preserving his property and safeguarding his rights and interests therein shall devolve upon the Government concerned.

(3) ‘Evacuee Property’ shall be so defined as to exclude from its operation property belonging to Joint Stock Companies with Head Offices in India, maintaining branches in Pakistan and vice versa.

Provided that where the Custodian or the Rehabilitation Authorities have already taken over the property, which owing to the disturbances was wholly or partially abandoned, such occupation shall continue, if so desired by the Government concerned for the following periods:

(a) agricultural, commercial and residential property, 3 years and
(b) industrial property, 5 years.

Note. The position of Joint Stock Companies which claim to have transferred their head offices from one Dominion to the other after the 15th August 1947 may have to be examined separately.
Throughout this agreement whatever has been laid down as applicable to a Dominion or to its Government shall be applicable to any States or to the Government of any such States as have acceded to the Dominion and are included in the area to which this agreement now becomes or hereafter becomes applicable.

3. Administration of Evacuee Property.

(1) There shall be appointed one or more Custodians of Evacuee Property in each Dominion.

(2) Evacuee property situated within the jurisdiction of a Custodian shall, for purposes of Management, be vested in him.

(3) It shall be the duty of the Government concerned to take all necessary action for the preservation of evacuee property and for safeguarding all the evacuee’s rights and interest therein. In particular the Government concerned shall require its Custodian or Custodians of Evacuee Property to:

(a) compile and maintain full and complete record of all evacuee immovable property, separately for each town and village;

(b) make arrangements to be in a position as soon as possible to furnish to the evacuee (on demand by him) information in respect of administration of his property;

(c) take into consideration such information as the evacuee may give him regarding his property while dealing with matters connected with the administration of the property concerned;

(d) keep the interests of the evacuees paramount save in accordance with the provision of any law for the time being in force;

(e) provide full facilities to the other Dominion or its representatives to represent to the Custodian the viewpoint and interests of any evacuee.

4.(a) A Liaison Officer of one Dominion should be appointed to be in close touch with the Custodian of the Evacuee Property of the other Dominion for the purpose of

(i) obtaining information on general principles being followed with regard to management of evacuee property;

(ii) making representations—general or in respect of cases of particular evacuees or properties—for the consideration of the Custodian;
obtaining information regarding demand statements and account statements regarding properties of evacuees, and generally to expedite by references to the Custodian the implementation of sections (8) and (9) of Part III.

(b) The Liaison Officer will be attached to the High or Deputy High Commissioner of the Dominion to which he belongs; but will have office accommodation in the office of the Custodian to which he is attached;

c) Pakistan agreed to the above on the condition that the office of the Custodian of Evacuee Property, East Punjab, was and would remain at Jullundur.

Part II—Agricultural Property

1. Definitions.

(1) ‘Agricultural Property’ means:

(a) all land not included within the limits of a Corporation, Municipal Committee, Notified Area Committee, Town area, Small Town Committee and Cantonment as those limits stood on the 15th Augusts 1947.

(b) buildings and other structure (including wells) erected on such land (excluding industrial and commercial buildings, such as factories, workshops and the sites thereof);

(c) other rights and interests in lands, buildings and structures referred to in (a) and (b) above, e.g. rights of a lessee, grantee, mortgagee, etc., but not including assignments of land revenue.

Note. The problem of substantial houses and shops in rural areas has been dealt with in Part IV.

(2) ‘Evacuee owner’ in this part means an owner of evacuee agricultural property or a holder of any rights or interests therein.

2. The consideration of section 1(3), 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the Draft Scheme was deferred. With a view, however, to collecting data which would enable an early decision to be reached regarding the disposal of agricultural property, it was agreed to exchange copies of revenue records and of existing records bearing on the question of land price. It was also agreed that for expediting this work, three joint committees should be appointed. One of these three committees will be composed of the Deputy High Commissioner (Pakistan) at Jullundur and the Deputy High Commissioner (India) at Lahore, who will be concerned with the agreed areas of Western Pakistan less Sind, Baluchistan and Kahirpur and with the agreed areas in India less Delhi and the States of Bharatpur, Alwar and Bikaner. The second Committee will be composed of the High Commissioner for Pakistan in Delhi or an officer nominated by him and an officer of the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation (India) for areas of Delhi and the States of Bharatpur, Alwar and Bikaner; and the third committee will be composed of the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan at Karachi or an officer nominated by him and an officer of the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation (Pakistan) for Sind and Baluchistan and the State of Khairpur.

3. Section 9. Applicability of certain provisions of Part III to This Part.— Until a scheme is agreed to for the disposal of agricultural property, the following provisions shall apply to such property:

(a) Section 2 of Part III, mutatis mutandis, provided that the maximum period for which agricultural property may be requisitioned shall be three years;

(b) Clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 7 of Part III;

(c) Section 8 and 9 Part III (mutatis mutandis).

Part III — Urban Immovable Property

1. Definition

(1) ‘Urban Immovable Property’ means

(a) all immovable property situated within the limits of a Corporation, a Municipal Committee, a Notified Area Committee, a Town Area, a Small Town Committee and a Cantonment as those limits existed on the 15th August 1947;

(b) other rights or interests in such property, e.g., rights of a lessee or a mortgagee;

(c) commercial and industrial structures, such as factories, workshops outside the limits referred to in (a) above and sites thereof;

(d) commercial and industrial undertakings including goodwill of such undertakings.

Note 1. The township known as Model Town in the vicinity of Lahore is an urban area and shall be deemed to be included within the municipal limits of Lahore.

Note 2. The question of including ‘substantial’ houses and shops in rural areas as urban immovable property was deferred.
(2) ‘Evacuee Owner’ means an owner of evacuee urban immovable property or a holder of any rights and interests therein.

(N.B. Pakistan suggested that ‘evacuee’ should be defined as a person who has moved over from one Dominion to the other before 30th September 1948 and the property belonging to such a person should be defined as ‘evacuee property’. India was of the view that the fixation of a date in this way, particularly one which would have to be given effect to retrospectively, would be unfair to persons who will have left one or the other Dominion after the fixed date; the position would be different if some suitable date in the future were to be fixed. Pakistan stated that they would consider this point further and see what action on their own side would be feasible).

2. Rights of Provincial Government.

(a) The Government of the Province in which evacuee urban immovable property is situated shall have the right to acquire such property as it may need for a public purpose, which may include the rehabilitation of refugees or the economic rehabilitation of the Province, on payment of fair compensation to be determined in accordance with the principles laid down in the Land Acquisition Act or any other law which is applicable as it stood on August 15, 1947. The amount of compensation would be determined in the following way:

The Administrative Officer who would ordinarily be charged with the duty of making an award himself shall submit a report to the Court of the District Judge which for this purpose will consist of two members, one from each Dominion. If the two members are agreed they will make an award which will be final. If they disagree, a reference shall be made to the High Court of the Dominion in which the property in question is situated. The decision of the High Court shall be final.

(b) The Government of the Province in which evacuee urban immovable property is situated shall have the right to requisition such property as it may need for a public purpose which may include rehabilitation of refugees or the economic rehabilitation of the Province on payment of a fair compensation. The Maximum period for which the Provincial Government is entitled to requisition shall be limited in the case of —

(i) residential property to 3 years;
(ii) commercial Property to 3 Years; and
(iii) industrial establishments to 5 years.
The fair compensation shall be assessed in accordance with the principles laid down in the law in force at the time of requisitioning or in accordance with any modification or amendment of that law or any substitution of it, or promulgation of an new law. The draft of any law, or any new rule shall, however be communicated to the Inter-Dominion Commission (Part VII) and any recommendation made by that Commission shall be taken into consideration.

Note 1. The term 'requisition' shall include taking over and assuming control of evacuee property for the purpose of rehabilitation under any law for the time being in force.

Note 2. Property owned by institutions and trusts will also be governed by this paragraph unless and until a separate agreement is arrived at regarding such property.

Note 3. Copies of all orders passed requisitioning any property and fixing compensation therefor shall be furnished by the officer requisitioning the property to the Liaison Officer attached to the Custodian.

3. Conditions of Leases.

(1) The conditions on which such requisitioned property is leased out shall be such as to cast upon the lessee an obligation to:

(a) safeguard and preserve the leased property;

(b) give full facilities to the proprietor or his duly authorized agent to arrange for inspection and to take all such action as may be necessary for canvassing buyers and for effecting sales or exchanges.

(2) In the case of industrial and commercial undertakings the lease conditions may also provide for depositing security against loss or damage.

(3) conditions shall provide for the imposition of a penalty for any breach thereof.

(1) The Government of the Dominion in which the evacuee immovable property is situated shall provide facilities (i) to evacuees (as also to private agencies working on their behalf) to enable transfers to be effected by sale, exchange, or otherwise, (ii) for the registration of the exchange; and sales of evacuee property, as well as for special concessions relating to registration fees and stamp duties. It was agreed that the details of these concessions and facilities should be worked out by the Inter-Dominion Commission.
(2) It shall be the duty of the Custodian plus the Liaison Officer attached to him to give property owners such information as might assist them in the disposal of their property. Such staff as the Custodian and the Liaison Officer may require for this purpose shall be provided.

5. Rights of Evacuees.

(1) The evacuee owner shall have the right to transfer his property by sale, exchange or otherwise, subject to such right as may have been acquired by the Provincial or the Dominion Government as the case may be (or by other persons claiming through the Provincial or the Dominion Government as the case may be) as a result of the exercise of powers referred to in section (2) above.

(2) All such transfers shall be registered with the Custodian of the area concerned, who shall register the transfer unless:

(a) the transferer fails to produce a certificate signed by the prescribed income-tax authority certifying that the transferer has paid all taxes due from him to the Income Tax Department in respect of his property, business or undertaking, or has made satisfactory arrangements for the payment thereof; or

(b) he has failed to pay any other dues outstanding against him in the custodian's registers in respect of (i) his own property; (ii) third party claims recognized ex parte by the Custodian:

Provided that provision is made for review by the custodian of third party claims thus recognized.

Note. Taxes due from him in (a) means ‘taxes assessed but not paid’ and also ‘taxes not yet assessed’ provided that in the latter case the transferer shall be permitted to obtain registration of his transfer if he deposits with the Custodian in respect of each year for which assessment is pending an amount equal to the average of the tax assessed for the last three years for which assessment has been made.

In considering the question of satisfactory arrangements for payment as in clause (a) the income-tax authorities shall consider the value of other immovable property owned by the transferer in that Dominion.

(1) The Government shall manage, through the Custodian appointed by it for the purpose, such evacuee urban immovable property as has not been acquired or requisitioned by it.
(2) The Custodian shall be free to take such action as he may deem fit in the interest of efficient management of such property.

(3) The provisions of Section (2) and (3) of this Part apply, mutatis mutandis, to the leases given by the Custodian.

7. Deductions from lease money.

(1) From the lease money, assessed and realized in accordance with the provisions of this part, the Custodian will be entitled to make the following deductions:

   (a) 10 per cent of the realized rents for management, and

   (b) 10 per cent of the assessed rents for normal repairs.

(2) In the case of special repairs, the Custodian will be entitled to incur expenditure against the capital value of the property.

8. Returns of rental collection information. The Custodian shall prepare for the six monthly periods ending 30th June and 31st December each year, lists in duplicate for each locality, giving particulars of evacuee urban immovable property situated therein, the names of evacuee owners, and the lease money assessed, with additional columns showing the rents collected, deductions made there from and the balance payable to each evacuee owner.

9. Inter-Dominion Adjustment. The Custodians in each Dominion will send the lists thus prepared in duplicate to the Auditor General of their Dominion government. That officer will forthwith forward one copy of each list to the Auditor General of the other Dominion and proceed to consolidate the amounts in these lists. The two Auditors General will adjust the net amount payable by one Dominion to the other through the Exchange Accounts of the two Dominions. If all the lists are not received within two months of the prescribed dates namely, 30th June and 31st December, by the Auditor General of the other Dominion, adjustment shall be made to the extent of 50 per cent of the total amounts in the lists received at the expiry of the said two months, the balance being credited to the account of the Dominion to which it is due as soon as the outstanding lists from that Dominion are received.

   Note. This procedure is provisional and will be reviewed as soon as after the 1st adjustment.

10. Restoration. Where the owner of any evacuee urban immovable property produces a certificate from the Rehabilitation Commissioner or an authority empowered by the Rehabilitation Department in this behalf that the property is not required for the purpose of rehabilitation of refugees or the economic rehabilitation of the Province, the Custodian shall restore the property to the owner or his agent for management or disposal where the management has not been taken over by the Custodian, and the owner produces the above certificate, the Custodian may, on the owner’s request, allow him to retain or assume management of such property.

11. Prevention of Attempts to prevent unfair fall of prices. The Dominion and the Provincial Governments in whose area the property is situated will do everything in their power to see that no organized attempts are made to keep the price of evacuee property below the market level by forming rings, syndicates, boycotting or otherwise.

Part IV. Houses And Substantial shops in Rural Areas

The question of whether Substantial Houses and substantial Shops in rural areas should be treated as urban immovable property or otherwise should be examined by the Inter-Dominion Commission.

Part V. Movable Property

(1) Except in accordance with the terms of this agreement the evacuee’s right in his movable property shall not be affected by reason of the vesting of his property in the Custodian.

(2) In the evacuee’s absence, the duty of preserving his property as safeguarding his rights and interest therein shall be entrusted by the Government concerned to Custodian of the Province in which the property is situated.

(3) It shall be the duty of the Custodian to:

(a) take all possible precautions for the proper and safe keeping of evacuee movable property;

(b) ensure that full compensation is recovered for movable property requisitioned by the Provincial Government or their officers for a public purpose, which may include the rehabilitation of refugees or of the economic life of the Province;

Explanation.— The term ‘requisitioning’ includes taking over for purposes of the rehabilitation of refugees or the economic life of the Province.

(c) make arrangements for the disposal of such movables as cannot be preserved to the best advantage of the evacuee owner;
(d) restore on application to the evacuee owners their movables and to give facilities to them to dispose of or remove the movables so restored;

(e) on application by an evacuee owner, arrange for the disposal of his movable at the best possible price.

2. Rights of Government.

(1) Provincial Government— The Government of the Province in which evacuee movable property is situated shall have the right to acquire or requisition such movable property as it may need for a public purpose, which may include rehabilitation of refugees or the economic life of the Province, on payment of a fair compensation to be determined in accordance with Sub-Section (6) of Section 4.

(2) Dominion Government. The Government of one Dominion shall have the right to prohibit or restrict the export of items of evacuee movable property which may be essential for the life of the community after giving notice to the other Dominion of their intention to do so.

3. Procedure for Acquisition or Requisition or Sale.

(1) A record will be kept of the goods acquired, requisitioned or sold by the Provincial Government or its officers, including the Custodian and officers subordinate to him. The record shall include separately for each evacuee owner an inventory of the items and quantities acquired, requisitioned or sold, the name and designation of the officers making the order and the price payable or paid.

(2) Reasonable facilities shall be given to evacuee owners and their representatives to inspect the entries concerning them in this record.

(3) The general procedure for preparation of inventories and fixation of prices shall be in accordance with the provisions of Section 4 of this Part.

(4) A nominal roll giving the name of each evacuee owner and the total amount due to him on account of goods acquired, requisitioned or sold, shall be compiled and furnished every six months by the Custodian to the Auditor General of his Dominion. The Inter-Dominion Settlement will be made in the manner prescribed in Section 10 of Part II.

(5) Opportunity shall be given to evacuee owners or their authorized agents to bring to the notice of the Provincial Government or the Custodian concerned instances of:

(i) deliberate misdescription of goods sold;

(ii) gross undervaluation.
The Custodian may effect the sale of evacuee movable property:

(i) on application by the evacuee himself;

(ii) after adequate notice (not less than a month) to the evacuee owner individually or to a general class of evacuee owners.

N. B. If in response to the notice the evacuee owner desires to make arrangements to dispose of his property himself or through his agent, the Custodian will normally accord permission to do so.

(iii) without notice, in cases in which, for reasons to be recorded in writing he holds:

(a) the interest of the evacuee owner is best served by the sale, or the sale is necessitated by requirements of rehabilitation.

N. B. The sale of movable property shall, as far as possible, be by auction. The evacuee owner or the representative of the Dominion to which he has evacuated will be given an opportunity to be present at the sale.

Abandoned movable which cannot be assigned to any particular evacuee shall be disposed of according to the law for the time being in force for the disposal of unclaimed property.

4. Procedure for preparation of Inventories and Valuation. Evacuee owners of moveables especially those forming assets of commercial or industrial undertakings, will be given the following facilities in respect of inventories and valuation.

(1) Each Government will have the right to appoint representatives acceptable to the other Dominion in such local areas of the other dominion as they deem fit. The rehabilitation authorities will inform those representatives whenever possession of a commercial or industrial undertaking is to be taken over by them giving not less than a week’s notice. The representatives will have the right to be present either personally or by an authorized agent at the time of the preparation of the inventory.

(2) If the owner wishes to be present either personally or by an authorised agent at the time of the preparation of the inventory, his presence will not be objected to, provided that the preparation of the inventory shall not be delayed merely to ensure his presence.

(3) After the preparation of the inventory a date shall be fixed for the valuation of the property and the representative or owner or agent who has been present at the preparation of the inventory shall be informed of that date.
by the officer preparing the inventory. On the date fixed, the representative of the dominion, the owner or his agent shall have the right to be heard.

(4) Where an order of valuation has been passed by an authority subordinate to the Custodian and the order required confirmation by the Custodian, the representative of the Dominion or the owner may signify his desire to be heard before the order is confirmed, and the Custodian give him an opportunity to be so heard.

The Custodian shall not pass an order of confirmation until 10 days have elapsed from the decision of the subordinate officer.

(5) Where an order of valuation has been passed by an authority subordinate to the Custodian himself, and the order does not require confirmation by the Custodian, the owner shall have the right to appeal to the Custodian within 10 days of the passing of the order by the subordinate officer. It shall not be necessary to give any notice to the representatives of the Dominion or the owner regarding the fixation of value by the subordinate authority.

(6) The rate of compensation will be on the basis of fair value, that is, the price which the property would fetch in the open market under the present conditions provided that no organized attempt is made to keep it low by forming a ring or syndicate, or by boycott or otherwise.

5. Rights of Evacuees.

(1) The evacuee owner shall have the right to apply for restoration of his movable property. This application shall be normally granted except in cases in which the property in question has been acquired or requisitioned by the Provincial Government or taken over by the Rehabilitation authorities.

(2) The evacuee shall have the right to apply to the Custodian requesting him to sell or dispose of his movable property in accordance with the procedure outlined in section 3 and 4.

(3) On restoration, the evacuee shall have the right to manage or dispose of his movable property by himself or through his agent, which term may include Liaison Officers appointed by the Dominion to which he has been compelled to migrate, in any manner he deems fit, including export to any destination in the other Dominion, subject to any export restrictions that may be imposed under sub-section (2) of section 2 of this part.

(4) The evacuee shall on application be given permission and facilities to inspect his movables held in the charge of the Custodian or persons claiming through him or any other person.
Evacuee owners who before the evacuation were engaged in organized trades, such as timber, grain, cotton, sugar, iron and steel, non-ferrous metals, etc., shall have the right to form syndicates and to depute small representative committees, on behalf of the owners to various localities to arrange for the restoration and, subject to the permission of the Custodian, for the disposal or management of the stock in trade belonging to the members of such syndicates.

6. Responsibility of Governments.

(1) The Government concerned shall be responsible for taking all steps necessary to ensure the safety of the evacuee owners and their agents engaged in managing, disposing of or removing their movables.

(2) The Government concerned shall also give to evacuee owners and their agents all possible assistance, including, wherever necessary police protection, to dispose of their movables or to dispatch them by rail or road to any destination in the other Dominion.

(3) The dominion government shall also give all possible transport facilities, including provision of petrol on payment, and grant, wherever necessary, a sufficiently high priority for transport by rail.

(4) There should be set up joint committees as for the exchange of revenue and other records in para. 3 of Part II, for the purpose of removal and disposal of evacuee property. It will be the function of these committees:

   (a) to supervise the working of the agreed arrangements in regard to evacuee movable property and in particular, to assist evacuee owners in the expeditious disposal of their requests for help for police protection or special transport facilities;

   (b) to set up an organization for facilitating movement by rail or road (This Committee will run its own trucks and secure special booking facilities and, whenever possible and necessary, run special goods-trains for the movement of evacuee movable property);

   (c) to receive complains and arrange for the redress of grievances of evacuees in the disposal or transport of their movables.

Note: The two Dominion governments shall make available all reasonable facilities to these joint committees to enable them to discharge their functions effectively.

(5) The Committees will pay particular attention to facilities being provided for the disposal, recovery, restoration and movement of: (a) goods lying pledged with banks; (b) parcels and money orders lying undelivered or unremitted at the post offices.

(6) The Committees will also pay special attention to assisting evacuee owners in the recovery and removal of movables buried underground.

7. Special Categories of Movable Property.

(1) The previous sections of this Part will apply generally to all movable property.

(2) Without prejudice to this generality, both Dominions recognize that certain special categories or special articles may require special additional treatment and each Dominion will, if requested by the other Dominion, refer to the Inter-Dominion Secretariat Level Commission proposed in Section I of Part VII of this Scheme or, if necessary, to an ad hoc meeting, any case requiring such treatment.

(3) The following special additional treatment is hereby agreed upon in respect of the special categories herein under specified:

(a) Household goods.

  (i) The evacuee owner shall be given permission and facilities to remove all items of sentimental, literary and professional value and such personal effects as beddings, personal clothing, radio sets, gramophones, musical instruments, sewing machines, refrigerators, carpets and rugs, etc.

  (ii) Refugees at present residing in the houses vacated by evacuees will have the first claim for the purchase or hiring of all items which are not covered by (a) above, on payment of fair price.

  (iii) A list of the items required by the refugees at present residing in the evacuee’s house shall be prepared. This list shall so far as is possible be prepared in the presence of the evacuee or his authorized representative and as far as possible in the manner laid down in Section 4 of this part.

  (iv) For the items required by him, the refugee shall pay to the evacuee fair compensation calculated in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (6) of Section 4 of this part.

  (v) The evacuee shall be given permission and facilities to remove all items which are not required by the refugee or for which he is not prepared to pay or does not pay fair compensation.

  (vi) Facilities will be made available to the evacuee or the representative of the Dominion to which he has evacuated, to represent to the Custodian cases of misappropriation of the evacuee’s household goods.

(b) Goods buried underground.

(i) The evacuee owner wishing to recover buried valuables shall apply for facilities to the Liaison Officer of the Dominion to which he has evacuated.

(ii) It will be the duty of Liaison Officer to arrange in consultation with the local Custodian and Police Officers for the search of buried valuables being conducted under conditions of secrecy and security.

(iii) Police protection will be provided by the local authorities.

(c) Motor Vehicles. As soon as possible after this agreement is concluded, the Governments concerned on both sides must implement the provisions of Section 2 and 3, sub-sections (4), (5) and (6) of Section 4 and Section 6 of this Part in regard to acquisition, requisitioning, sale, valuation, payment of compensation and release of motor vehicles. If either Dominion considers any further special arrangements to be necessary, it shall without delay refer its proposals to the Inter-Dominion Secretariat Level Commission mentioned in Section I of Part VII.
3161. Letter from Ministry of External Affairs to Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

New Delhi, August 22, 1949.

No. II(89)/49 IDC

To : The Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relations, Government of Pakistan, Karachi.

Subject: Repudiation by the Pakistan Government of the Karachi Agreement of January 1949 regarding Evacuee property.

Sir,

The Government of India had been seeing press reports about the Pakistan Ordinance banning transactions in evacuee property, but as they had not received any copies of the Ordinance from the Pakistan Government they were so far unable to formulate their views. A copy of the Ordinance (No.XI of July 1949) has now been obtained informally and the views of the Government of India on the Ordinance are summarised in the following paragraphs.

2. The Karachi Agreement which was entered into between the two Dominions in January, 1949, had the following important provisions:—

(a) In regard to agricultural property, rent was to be collected on behalf of evacuee owners and transmitted to the other Dominion pending a final decision about the disposal of this type of property.

(b) Free exchanges and sales of urban immovable property were to be allowed.

(c) Rents of urban immovable evacuee property were to be collected on behalf of the owners and remitted to the other Dominion six monthly.

(d) Moveable property was to be restored to the original owner on application, unless it was requisitioned by the Government concerned.

3. Very soon after the Karachi Agreement the Pakistan Government proceeded to reduce the rent of urban evacuee immovable property. In letter No.F.19(2)/48-P, dated the 16th February, 1949, orders were issued by the Ministry of Refugee, Pakistan Government, under which rents due upto 15th August 1948, were remitted to the extent of 80%. Thereafter a reduction of 33.1/3% was allowed. In addition other reductions like 10 per cent for prompt payment were also to be allowed. All these orders were issued without prior consultation with the Government of India, and their effect was only to depress the value of the property. This was a clear breach to paragraph 11 of Part II of the Karachi Agreement under which the Governments were to resist any action which may lead to fall in prices.

4. In regard to agricultural immovable property the two Dominions had been working on a formula under which six times the land revenue was to be recovered as rent from the allottees of agricultural land. Half yearly lists of rents collected were to be exchanged under para 3 of Part II of the Karachi Agreement. When the Government of India suggested to the Pakistan Government in telegram No. 57303, dated the 25th March 1949, from the Hon'ble Minister, Rehabilitation, India, to the Hon'ble Minister, Refugees, Pakistan, that instead of exchanging half-yearly detailed lists, the sum due to one dominion by the other may be calculated on the basis of land revenue payable by evacuees from either Dominion, the Pakistan Government in their telegram No. nil, dated the 11.4.1949, replied that they could not collect more than the land revenue from the allottees. This meant the virtual temporary confiscation of all agricultural evacuee land in Pakistan. The owners could neither sell their property nor receive rent therefrom. This was a flagrant violation of the Karachi Agreement both in letter and spirit.

5. The position reached before the Karachi Conference of June, 1949, therefore, was that all agricultural property belonging to evacuees had been virtually sequestered in Pakistan, and great efforts were also being made to reduce the value of urban immovable evacuee property. All this was in complete violation of the Karachi Agreement. The only operative clause that still remained was the permission to sell urban immovable property. The latest Ordinance which bans all transactions in evacuee immovable property completes the series of violations and makes the Karachi Agreement of January 1949, a dead letter, in so far as immovable property is concerned. The Government of India very much regret that the Pakistan Government should have adopted this course. They now regard themselves free to take suitable action in regard to evacuee property in India.

6. The Government of India would also enquire whether the Pakistan Government intend to honour the agreements about movable property reached from time to time between the two Dominions. Complaints are being received indicating that the work on movables is almost at a standstill.

7. One of the results of the action taken by the Pakistan Government is to make it impossible for the displaced persons to sell their property in Pakistan. It had been agreed at the Delhi Conference of December, 1948, that while the property of an assessee might be attached for the income-tax due from him, it could not be sold except with the consent of the assessee within one year after sales or exchanges of property were permitted. Since the Pakistan Government has now forbidden the sales and exchange of property, it would be impossible for the evacuee owners to pay the tax, and it is hoped that Pakistan Government will not permit the sale of any property in satisfaction of their demand for income-
It would not be possible for the Government of India to recognize any sales that may be made in contravention of the Agreement of December, 1948, in any final settlement about evacuee property that may be ultimately negotiated between the two Dominions.

8. The Government of India would also like to make it clear that they do not recognize the drastic reduction in rents of agricultural and urban immovable property made by the Pakistan Government, and that in any settlement of accounts of rents between the two dominions payments due from one Dominion to the other must necessarily be calculated upon the full rental value of the property left in the other dominion.

9. The Government of India would like to emphasize that without a just and fair solution of the vexed question of evacuee property, the great bitterness that now exists between the people of the two dominions is bound to continue indefinitely. In their opinion the satisfactory solution of this problem could only be on the basis of both Governments assuming responsibility for the evacuee property left behind in their territories, a just and fair valuation of property in either Dominion being made by joint machinery and the net liability resulting from such calculation being liquidated by agreed arrangements. The Government of India trust that the Pakistan Government will see eye to eye with them in this matter. For their part, the Government of India are always ready to give their active cooperation in implementing a solution based upon these principles and hope that the Pakistan Government will act similarly.

10. While the above paras were in type, the Government of India have seen press reports of a notification issued by the Pakistan Government inviting applications up to 31st August from those wishing to seek an exemption from the operation of Pakistan Ordinance No.XI of 1949. If there is no objection, the Government of India will be glad to know the intention underlying this notification.

11. The Government of India have also seen press reports according to which the moveable and immoveable property of about a dozen of the most important non-Muslim firms like Herman &Mohatta, and John Fleming & Co. has been seized in Karachi on the plea that they are intending to evacuate from Pakistan. If the press reports are correct, it would seem as if the Pakistan Government have decided to take over all non-Muslim property in West Pakistan regardless of what a fair interpretation of Pakistan’s own laws would justify. This kind of action on the part of Pakistan Government may compel the Govt. of India to tighten further the evacuee property law in India.

Yours faithfully

Sd/ S. Dutt

3162.  Letter from Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to Ministry of External Affairs.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations
Karachi

No.D.7182-IB/49 7th September 1949

To : The Secretary to the Government of India,
Ministry of External Affairs,
New Delhi.

Subject: Repudiation of the Inter Dominion Agreement of January, 1949, in regard to evacuee property.

Sir,

I am directed to refer to letter No.11(89)/49-IDC, dated the 22nd August, 1949 from the Government of India, Ministry of External Affairs, which was delivered on the 24th August.

2. The Inter-Dominion Agreement of January 1949, provided for the introduction of measures for the management of evacuee property in certain specified areas, known as the “agreed areas”. At the Inter-Dominion Conference held at Karachi in June, 1949, to discuss evacuee property problems, the Government of Pakistan protested against the promulgation by India of legislation in the Provinces outside the “agreed areas”. Without regard to this protest, legislation in respect of evacuee property has been enforced throughout India, except West Bengal. The introduction of this legislation, without the consent of the Government of Pakistan, is a clear violation of the Inter-Dominion Agreement by the Government of India, who have now thought it fit to accuse Pakistan of repudiation of the same agreement.

3. In the letter under reply which is dated the 22nd August, the Government of India stated that they have not received any copies of Pakistan Ordinance No.XI of July 26, 1949. In point of fact, copies of this Ordinance were supplied to their Liaison Officer at Karachi on the 1st August, 1949, and dispatched to their Ministry of Rehabilitation on the 6th August. In contrast, the Government of India have omitted to supply the Government of Pakistan with copies of any of their legislation in regard to evacuee property. The draft of their Ordinance XIII of 1949, applicable to Chief Commissioner Provinces, was received on the 18th June, five days after the Ordinance had been published in the Gazette of India.
4. As regards the alleged reduction in rents of immovable property, the Government of Pakistan have made no attempt to reduce values. The concessions in rents were necessitated by the change in the economic conditions in West Pakistan, after the influx of large numbers of practically destitute refugees who did not have the capacity to pay rents previously in force.

The fact that the Government of Pakistan did not fix low rents and only granted concessions in view of the altered circumstances, show that they were anxious not to lower the rental or other value of the property. The Government of Pakistan feel bound to observe that, while they are accused of defaulting in their obligations under the agreement, evacuee properties have in India in numerous instances been rented at purely nominal figures: for example, a ten roomed house in Ferozepur is known to have been rented for a sum of Rs.3 only per mensem.

5. The Government of Pakistan denies that agricultural land abandoned by evacuees has been temporarily confiscated. There has never been any agreement whereby agricultural land could be sold, nor has there been any understanding that rents should be fixed at six times the land revenue. The fact is that Pakistan has never committed herself to any definite policy in this respect. Indeed, she considered it essential to wait for the receipt and scrutiny of copies of the revenue records before formulating her policy. Meanwhile, on the 11th April, 1949, the Government of India were informed “that on a preliminary examination of revenue records exchanged and looking to actual existing circumstances, it may be impracticable to recover anything beyond revenue dues from refugee allottees”. It seems that the Government of India have misunderstood the substance of that letter. The preliminary forecast of the Government of Pakistan was based solely on practical economic considerations, namely the ability of impoverished refugees to pay rent after the allotment of lands to them and following the loss of all their possessions in India.

6. As regards movable property, it has for a considerable time been urged upon by the Government of Pakistan that India has consistently failed to implement the Inter-Dominion Agreement in this respect and that only a microscopic amount of movable property belonging to Muslim evacuees has been protected and traced in India and allowed to be exported to Pakistan. The attitude adopted towards Muslim evacuees is vividly illustrated by the following summary from a report dated April, 1949, from an officer of the Government of Pakistan; and other household effects of very small value have been recovered by this office. Attempts to recover buried treasure in six cases have borne no fruit".

A search party which operated in the Karnal district for 24 days, searching for Muslim property for which permits had been obtained, returned without the possessions of a single individual being recovered. The position since then has shown no improvement. The latest report is that in the East Punjab States no less than 25 restoration permits were issued but not one evacuee’s possessions could be recovered. Yet another illustration of the extraordinary manner in which the property of Muslim evacuees is treated in India is afforded by the following report. The X-Ray and electro therapeutic apparatus of a well-known medical practitioner, whose property in Dehra Dun and Mussoorie had been looted, was released by the Deputy Custodian at Mussoorie, which is situated within the agreed area covered by the Inter-Dominion Agreement. On its arrival at Bombay in July last, en-route to Pakistan, it was seized by the Custodian of Evacuee Property. Thus, while India accused Pakistan of a failure to adhere to an agreement which permits the free transfer of movable property from one Dominion to another, she nullifies an attempt to implement the agreement in one area of India by action under a law operating in another area which has been promulgated in direct contravention of the agreement, and in respect of which the Government of Pakistan have already protested. On the contrary, Pakistan placed no difficulties in the way of the removal of movable property. Although Pakistan is also accused of freezing cash and shares in Karachi, which she has officially denied, there is incontestable evidence of the freezing in India of cash, shares, saving bank accounts, and securities belonging to Muslim evacuees, and indeed of even Muslims who are not evacuees but Indian nationals. The following are typical instances, of which further particulars can be supplied immediately on request.

(1) A senior officer of the Government of Pakistan received notice in August 1949 from a Bank in the United Provinces that the Deputy Custodian of the District in which the bank was situated had “attached” all his assets, which included current, fixed and savings accounts, besides shares and securities in safe custody, under section 6 of the Evacuee Property Ordinance No.1 of 1949.

(2) A firm of Muslim merchants, whose headquarters are in the United Provinces and who opened a Branch in Karachi, recently endeavoured to transfer some funds to their Karachi Branch, through the Central Bank of India. They were informed that the transfer of money to Pakistan was prohibited.

(3) A Muslim lady along with her husband came to Pakistan from India on a visit to their son. The husband was taken seriously ill and ultimately
EVACUEE PROPERTY

Over two months ago the lady applied for a permit to go back to her house in India. The permit has not yet been issued on the plea that enquiries are being made from the Government of the United Provinces. Meanwhile, her residential house has been taken over as evacuee property and her share certificates in the custody of a bank in the United Provinces have been frozen under the orders of the Custodian.

Pakistan was forced to forbid further sales and transfers of evacuee immovable property, because whereas evacuees were selling their property in Pakistan at high prices, Muslims from Pakistan were not able to get proper prices for their property in India, where rings were formed boycotting the purchase of Muslim property and ridiculous prices were offered. There are instances when nominal prices of Rs.3/- or Rs.4/- were offered to Pakistan nationals in India for properties worth thousands of rupees. There have been numerous complaints that even where some isolated individuals did succeed in finding purchasers for their property, obstacles were placed in their way in India when they wanted to register the transactions. Under these circumstances it was absolutely necessary to take some measures to protect the interests of Pakistan nationals. This legislation was also necessary to give the Government of Pakistan time to check the validity of the transfers of evacuee property which have already taken place; and because a large number of cases were pending, it was found necessary to stop fresh transactions, at least temporarily.

It will be observed that the Ordinance provides for an exemption clause, and some exemptions have already been notified.

7. In paragraph 7 of the Government of India’s letter a request is made that the sales of property in satisfaction of a demand for income-tax should not be permitted because, owing to the existing ban on sales, it would be impossible for the evacuee owners to pay the tax. No such instances have come to the notice of the Government of Pakistan; and individual cases of hardship, if any, can always be examined.

8. The final paragraph of the letter under reply relates to allegations in the Press of the seizure of property of firms in Karachi on the plea that they are “intending to evacuate from Pakistan”. These reports have been officially denied by the Government of Pakistan. The property of evacuees from Karachi and Sind has hitherto been subjected to very nominal control, in spite of the powers vested in the administration by law, merely because of delay in the completion of a Custodian’s organization, and much remains to be detected. Now that this organization is functioning normally, all evacuee property will naturally be dealt with according to the appropriate law. Any person aggrieved at steps taken by an official of the Custodian’s organization is at liberty to appeal to the Custodian, but it is to be noted that not a single appeal has so far been filed by the parties mentioned in the Press.
9. In conclusion, the Government of Pakistan feel obliged to protest at the manner in which the Government of India has sought to arrive at a settlement of the controversy in regard to evacuee property. Even before the communication to which this letter forms a reply was received, its contents had been given the widest publicity by Press and Radio. The nature and substance of other communications to the Government of Pakistan have been given similar publicity. The object of this campaign is evidently either one of pure propaganda to draw attention away from India’s own repudiation of the Inter-Dominion agreement, or an attempt to intimidate Pakistan into a settlement, on India’s terms; it is certainly not conducive to the achievement of harmonious relations between the two Dominions or to the progress of further negotiations. The Government of Pakistan have repeatedly stressed their inability to agree to a settlement of evacuee property claims on a Governmental basis. When this same question was discussed between the leaders of the two delegations at the Inter-Dominion Conference in June last at Karachi, it was stated that if India agreed to withdraw the extension of evacuee legislation beyond the agreed areas, the Government of Pakistan would be prepared to consider what difficulties had arisen in the actual implementation of the January agreement and to deal with those difficulties effectively, so that the agreement could be given a fair chance of working in actual practice. The Government of Pakistan readily agree that a fair and just solution of the problem is most necessary and urgent, but they cannot see any prospects of such a solution so long as discriminatory laws affecting Muslims are enforced in areas in India in contravention of an Inter-Dominion agreement and in a spirit of revenge.

No. F. 11(W)/49 - P the 13th November 1949

My Dear Dantyagi,

It has recently come to my notice that in the course of discussion with the Liaison Officer for Pakistan in India (extract from note of discussion enclosed) you observed that,

1. there was nothing left of the Karachi Agreement in regard to evacuee immovable property in view of the Pakistan Government Ordinance of the 20th July, 1949 (No.XI of 1949) forbidding all sales and exchanges of evacuee property,

2. India wanted to know whether the Pakistan Government intended to honour the agreement relating to evacuee movable property, as it was reported that Pakistan had stopped the issue of all permits for such property, and

3. India addressed an enquiry on the subject to the Pakistan Government, but had not received any reply.

2. It seems that there has been considerable misunderstanding. I may mention here that the communication referred to in (3) above was not received by the Government of Pakistan and so no reply could be sent.

3. The Karachi Agreement was concluded only in January, 1949. It was decided at the Inter-Dominion Commission meeting held on the 12th January, 1949, that “the law regarding evacuee property should be amended by both sides as quickly as possible in conformity with the agreements reached in Inter-Dominion Conferences”. It was therefore, a surprise to us when stringent evacuee property legislation not in conformity with the agreements was introduced by India in the agreed and the non-agreed areas only a few months later. A copy of the Bombay legislation was received by us through private sources. There was a wide-spread feeling that the new Pakistan evacuee property legislation may go far beyond the new Indian legislation just as the Indian legislation was much more severe than the previous legislation in the two Dominions. It was apprehended that large blocks of property which may be evacuee property under such legislation may be disposed of before such legislation was enacted. The drafting of legislation takes time. In the intervening period it was necessary for Government to have powers to control the alienation of evacuee immovable property so that transfers may be in accordance with the Inter – Dominion agreement. Ordinance XI of 1949 was designed to meet that contingency. It was not intended to violate the Inter-Dominion agreement regarding sales and exchanges of evacuee immovable property, as Section 6 of that Ordinance empowers the Central Government to exempt any immovable evacuee property from its operation. This was explained in para 6 of letter No.D.7182-IB/49, dated the 7th September, 1949, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of External Affairs. In one week exemptions have been granted under section 6 of the ordinance in 20 cases of sales of immovable evacuee property. Now that Ordinance No.XV of 1949 has been promulgated the question of allowing Ordinance No.XI of 1949 to lapse is under consideration. I trust that the position has now been clarified.

4. As it was reported that the movable property of Muslims was frozen in India on a large scale, the Custodians in Pakistan stopped the issue of permits for movable property pending clarification of the position. Such action was never contemplated by the Government of Pakistan and would never have been taken but for the measures adopted in India. Even then no restriction was placed on the movement of cash deposits, share scrips and Government securities in the custody of banks, as has already been reported to the Government of India, although we have documentary evidence to show that these have also been frozen in India and their transfer is not allowed. The note of discussion suggests that India are willing to honour the agreement relating to movable property. If that is so, I am desired to say that the Government of Pakistan will be quite willing to the transfer of movable property on a reciprocal basis.

Yours sincerely

Government of India

My dear Khan,

I am in receipt of your letter dated the 13th November, 1949. I deal with the points raised seriatim:

2. Our view that the Karachi Agreement of January 1949, after the Pakistan Ordinance of 26th July, 1949, has become a dead letter was fully explained in our letter No.II (89)/49 I.D.C. dated the 22nd August, 1949 from the Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India, to the Secretary to Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations, Pakistan Government, in which we pointed out a series of violations of the agreement by the Pakistan Government.

3. The enquiry whether the Pakistan Government would continue to honour the agreement regarding 'Moveables' was also made in para 6 of the letter referred to above. While we did not receive any direct answer to our enquiry, we came to know from our Liaison Officer on the 24th August that the Pakistan Government has stopped the issue of all fresh permits for moveable property. The Pakistan Government in their letter No.D-7182-IB/49 dated 7th September, 1949, from their Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of External Affairs, only complained about the unsuccessful pursuit of moveable property in Eastern Punjab. From these facts, it became obvious that the Government of Pakistan had no intention of honouring even the part of the Agreement relating to moveable property.

4. The Government of Pakistan has refused to collect agricultural rents and have remitted, without reference to us, 85% of urban rents.

5. You have now raised the question of implementing portions of the Karachi Agreement. Our view has been that there can be no satisfactory solution of the evacuee property (unless?) agricultural immoveable property, urban immoveable property and moveable property is covered. The experiment we made in regard to sale/exchange of urban immoveable property under the Karachi Agreement of January 1949, has led us to the conclusion that the problem cannot be solved that way. There was only one sale of urban immovable property in Pakistan as against 30 such sales in India. At this rate the problem cannot be solved within any measureable time. The Government of India, therefore, feel that there is no possible alternative except to arrange for the exchange of all immovable evacuee property on a Government to Government basis. This would incidentally stop any tendency on the part of any Government to extend the rigour and extent of the evacuee property law and make for a fair eventual settlement of the whole question.

6. If the Government of Pakistan, however, have any equally satisfactory solution to offer, we shall be only too glad to consider it. But we cannot be expected to go back to an agreement which has already been repudiated by your Government, and which according to our experience, is incapable of resolving the problem.

7. In the end I would like to emphasise once again, the urgency of settling this problem which is responsible for so much bitterness and ill-will between the nationals of the two dominions.

Yours sincerely

Government of India
Ministry of External Affairs
New Delhi

No. D.O.5079-Pak.III/49. the 17th December, 1949

From: Prem Krishen Esq., I.C.S.,
Deputy Secretary to the Government of India.

To: The Secretary to the Government of Pakistan,
Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations,
Karachi.

Subject: Repudiation by the Pakistan Government of the Inter-Dominion Agreement of January, 1949 in regard to Evacuee property.

Sir,

I am directed to invite a reference to your letters No. D.7182-IB/49 dated the 7th September 1949 on the subject mentioned above.

2. The Government of India are surprised that in spite of their repeated explanation of the circumstances in which legislation on evacuee property applicable to all the Provinces was undertaken in India, the Government of Pakistan have considered it appropriate to repeat their charge that the action of the Government of India is an instance of the violation of the Inter-Dominion Agreement on evacuee property. The Inter-Dominion Agreement of January, 1949 is based in its essentials on the draft scheme prepared by the Joint Official Committee of the two Dominions which met at Lahore in March, 1948. The term “agreed areas” was used in that scheme only to mean those areas to which the detailed scheme formulated by the official committee would apply. It will be recalled that the scheme related to the proper maintenance of evacuee property, payment of fair rents to evacuee owners, facilitating the sale and exchange of such property etc. It was in this context that the term “agreed areas” was also used in the inter-Dominion Agreement of January, 1949. It was at no time the intention, either implied or expressed, that either of the two Governments would not enforce any pre-existing legislation about evacuee property or would not undertake any new legislation in that behalf, in the areas outside the “agreed areas”, where in fact evacuee property existed. This point was made clear at the time of the Inter-Dominion Conference on Evacuee property held at Karachi in June, 1949, when the Government of Pakistan protested against the promulgation by India of Evacuee property legislation in the provinces outside the “agreed areas”. The Government of India are convinced that their action in enacting evacuee property legislation in areas other than the “agreed areas” does not amount to a violation of the Inter-Dominion Agreement of January, 1949.

3. On the other hand, the action of the Government of Pakistan in banning all kinds of transactions in evacuee immovable property soon after the inter-Dominion Conference held at Karachi in June 1949, without giving any prior indication to the Government of India of their contemplated move, clearly ran counter to the decisions agreed to by the Government of Pakistan in January 1949 to facilitate the free private sale and exchange of immovable property by evacuees. Whatever the circumstances such as those mentioned in para 6 of the Pakistan Government’s letter under reply, this unilateral action by Pakistan without notice to India amounted to a violation of the Inter-Dominion Agreement of January, 1949.

4. The views of the Government of India in regard to the rents of agricultural and urban property have already been made clear in the memorandum forwarded to the Government of Pakistan with this Ministry’s letter No. D.590/49 Pak. A, dated the 19th April, 1949. If in most of the cases the refugee tenants are not in a position to pay the fair rents in full for the property allotted to them, to the extent that the Government of Pakistan have allowed such refugees remission of rents by way of concession to that extent the Government of Pakistan have been relieved of expenditure on the rehabilitation of the refugees. It is therefore reasonable to expect that the difference between the fair rents and the rents actually charged by the Government of Pakistan should be made available from Government funds for payment to the evacuee owners. The Government of India hope that the Government of Pakistan will appreciate that the value of evacuee property, as of any other property, is bound up with the income that such property fetches and any reduced income from such property at this stage is bound to affect prejudicially the sale price which an evacuee will ultimately be able to obtain for his property. The Government of India would reiterate that for this reason they do not recognize the reduction in rents of evacuee agricultural and urban property made by the Government of Pakistan and that in any settlement between the two Dominions payment due from one Dominion to the other must necessarily be calculated upon the full rental value of the property left in either Dominion.

5. As regards evacuee movable property, the information of the Government of India is that although the Karachi Agreement of January 1949 provided for the return of such property as a matter of course, the Government of Pakistan started requisitioning such property even after the presentation of an application for its restoration by the evacuee owner. The Liaison Officer of the Government of India drew the attention of the Rehabilitation Commissioner, West Punjab, on the 20th May, 1949 to this practice on the part of the Pakistan officials and lodged an emphatic protest but without any effect. As for the Government of Pakistan's allegation that the treatment of evacuee immovable property in India has also not been satisfactory in several cases, the Government of India wish to assure the Government of Pakistan that they are always willing to look into such individual cases provided full details are furnished.

6. The Government of India have noted with satisfaction that in paragraph 7 of your letter the Government of Pakistan have stated that there were no instances of evacuee property having been sold in satisfaction of a demand for Income-tax. They hope that no such cases will arise in future also. If any such sale nevertheless takes place the Government of India would make it clear that they would not recognize it in the final Inter-Dominion settlement of evacuee property.

7. The Government of Pakistan deny in para 8 of your letter under reply that there has been any case of seizure of the property of persons or firms who have not yet evacuated from Pakistan. This denial is not borne out by several complaints which have reached the Government of India. A few of these complaints have already been brought to the notice of the Government of Pakistan in the demi-official letter No.193/H.M.-T/49 dated the 19th September, 1949 from the Hon'ble Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar to the Hon'ble Choudhry Zafarullah Khan. The large scale evacuation of non-Muslims from Sind which is in progress even now also lends support to the contention that the Government of Pakistan have not been playing fair in regard to the property of non-Muslims in Sind. It is not surprising that the non-Muslims in Sind whose property had been seized as evacuee property have not found it possible to file appeals, as they have lost all that they had and have not the necessary wherewithal to meet the expenditure on appeals.

8. In conclusion, the Government of India would like to impress upon the Government of Pakistan once again their firm opinion that the only method of satisfactorily settling this vexed question of evacuee property between the two Dominions and removing the increasing bitterness between their peoples is to set up a joint Agency of the two Governments to assess the total value of evacuee property in both Dominions on the understanding that the difference in the value of the properties in the two Dominions is paid to the creditor Dominion by the debtor Dominion. This will then leave both the Dominions free to use evacuee property for the benefit of the displaced persons in their respective areas. The Government of India trust that the Government of Pakistan will, after careful consideration, be in a position to see the reasonableness of the proposal and agree to negotiate with the Government of India on the basis of this proposal.

Yours faithfully

Letter from Rehabilitation Minister Mehr Chand Khanna to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

New Delhi, April 24, 1950.

Government of India,
Ministry of Rehabilitation
New Delhi

D.O. No. ADV/MRH/50/CONF 24th April, 1950

My Dear Pandit Ji,

I have for some time past studied and given thought to the recent Agreement* arrived at between yourself and the Prime Minister of Pakistan. It is hardly necessary for me to say that I whole heartedly agree with and support the Agreement which has been arrived at after mature thought and deliberation. In fact it embodies the true Gandhian approach to the very difficult situation that had been created as a result of happenings in the two Bengals. My own study of the matter has, however, been directed to the effect of the Agreement on the other large body of displaced persons from West Pakistan with whom the Agreement is not directly concerned. I have considered it my duty to convey to you my own feelings as also the feelings of the average displaced person from West Pakistan.

2. We have been straining ourselves and our resources for about 2½ years now to rehabilitate the displaced persons from West Pakistan. We had come to certain agreements with the Government of Pakistan which might enable the displaced persons to obtain value for their immovable property left behind in West Pakistan, retrieve such portion of their movable assets as had escaped loot or damage, collect their valuables with banks, and receive their dues like pensions, provident funds etc. These agreements, however, have, for various reasons, not been fulfilled with the result that whatever success has been achieved in rehabilitation has been in a large measure as a result of the efforts of displaced persons themselves assisted by Government aid. The latter has been substantial considering the financial position of the Government of India, but, in spite of the fact that we have spent some thing of the order of Rs.50 to 60 crores, the effect of this expenditure on rehabilitating displaced persons has not been very considerable. The expenditure includes a substantial portion spent on relief, thus leaving a still smaller amount of money which has been actually spent for rehabilitation purposes. Even there, the bulk of the money has gone into schemes for housing wherein the ownership of the townships or buildings remains with the Government and the displaced persons merely obtain accommodation on rent or lease. Other rehabilitation schemes such as the grant of loans also are framed on the basis of the return of the Government capital invested. The average displaced person fully understands these implications of our rehabilitation expenditure and though he may acknowledge that something has been done for him, he feels that his ultimate rehabilitation is largely dependent upon the liquidation of his own assets in West Pakistan.

3. Often a comparison is drawn between the measure of Government assistance to displaced persons from West Pakistan and East Pakistan. There is no doubt that for the best part Government attention has been focused on West Pakistan refugees, and rightly now the emphasis is, on account of the stress of circumstances, on measures for the rehabilitation of refugees from Eastern Pakistan. In the very process of comparison, however, the displaced person from West Pakistan feels that there is no reason why he should not be able to return to his home in West Pakistan or, in the alternative, be able to liquidate his assets in the same manner as has been made possible for migrants from Eastern Pakistan under the recent Agreement of the two Prime Ministers. He feels all the more when he realizes that Government assistance has been meager and, in the meanwhile, he has seen through a major portion of the money or valuables that he may have brought with him from Pakistan.

4. I agree that, wherever possible, displaced persons should be encouraged to return to their homes and where this is not possible, they should at least be in a position to sell or exchange their property without let or hindrance. The urgency of the same principles being applied to the displaced person from West Pakistan is no less than in the case of migrants from East Pakistan. It may be that displaced persons from West Pakistan will not be able to return to their homes anywhere near the numbers that might be expected to return to their homes in Eastern Pakistan. Their salvation, however, does lie in their being able to obtain value for their assets left in West Pakistan in one way or another.

5. There has been a stalemate for some time over the evacuee property question with Pakistan, but I understand that your discussions with the Pakistan Prime Minister have envisaged a settlement of this question also. If the problem is touched at your forthcoming meeting with the Prime Minister of Pakistan at Karachi, it would once again revive the hopes of the unfortunate displaced persons of West Pakistan and in the spirit of the present Indo-Pakistan amity, most probably also make a solution possible.

Yours sincerely

(Mehr Chand Khanna)

G. P. Fund Claims:

It was agreed that so far as General Provident Fund claims were concerned, it would be possible to verify those relating to Provincial Government servants in the office of the Accountant General of the Province. A special staff may be appointed in those offices to deal with these claims and finish the verification in the next three months. Progress reports may be obtained every fortnight and communicated to the other Government.

The same procedure should apply to the claims of the State employees.

Provident Fund claims of the employees of Local Bodies in Provinces &
States

Claims for provident funds of employees of local bodies in Provinces may be verified through the Examiner of Local Funds of the Province concerned.
Fortnightly report on the progress of verification should be obtained by the Central Government. The verification should be completed within three months.

In the case of former Indian States, and States in Pakistan, the verification may be arranged through the Accountant General of the State concerned who should depute a special officer for this purpose and complete the verification in the next three months. Progress reports should be obtained every fortnight in this case also.

Pay, Leave Salary, Security Deposits etc.

It was agreed that the Provincial and State Governments concerned should be asked to create a small organization which will expedite the verification of these claims. They should send touring parties to collect the verified claims. When the party visits a place for this purpose, it should make every effort to bring back all the claims duly verified. When the claim is prima-facie a correct one, it should be normally admitted, unless proof exists that the claim is not genuine.
Where there is a doubt, the benefit of it should as far as possible be given to the claimant. Every effort should be made to complete verifications of these cases within the next six months.

The same machinery should be used for verification of sanctioned pension claims of employees of Local Bodies.

This machinery should also be responsible for verifying claims for unsanctioned pensions. Where delay is anticipated in verification of the claim, an anticipatory pension may be recommended and orders issued by the Government concerned.

Policies assigned to Government

The transfer of these policies is being progressed by the Auditors General of the two countries. Transfers should be completed within the next three months.

Pension to Provincial and State Government employees- Provisional payment of

It was agreed that the concession of provisional payment should be extended to all those who had migrated to the other country up to April 30, 1950, subject to a suitable machinery being devised for concurrent clearance of the transactions between the two countries. The final verification of these cases should be completed within six months.

This concession should also be extended to pensioners of the former Indian States, Pakistan States, and local bodies.

The monetary adjustment will be between the two countries and each country will recover the money due from its Province/State or local body concerned.

Payment of Provident Fund Claims

Provisional payment up to 50 per cent of the balance in the person’s account may be paid subject to production of suitable documentary evidence such as a statement of account given (to) him by an accounts officer of the amount due. Any wrong or over-payment will be the responsibility of the paying Government.

The provisional payment will have to be concurrently adjusted on a provisional basis.

Exemption of refugees’ claims from the operation of the Evacuee Property Ordinance

As the arrangements for payment in respect of claims processed through the Claims Organisations will be that the claims will be paid by the Government of the country to which they have migrated the payments will not be subject to the Evacuee Property Law.

Contractors’ claims against the Central Government

The Pakistan representative desired that (a) settlement of claims should be facilitated through the Claims Organizations on both sides and (b) that payments should be expedited.

India’s representatives stated regarding (a) that the Partition Secretariat was the Central organization for this purpose and should be addressed by any corresponding organization that may be set up in Pakistan. Regarding (b) they pointed out that the matter should not be dealt with in isolation but it should be taken in conjunction with the claims of contractors from the divided provinces like Punjab and Bengal and contractors from N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan who may have migrated to India. There may be contractors from the other parts of India who have gone to Pakistan. The problem should therefore be dealt with as a whole and a further meeting may be held to discuss this question in all its aspects.

The Pakistan representative desired the question of Central payment to be kept separate from claims against Provincial Governments.

Recovery of Government Dues—

The Pakistan Government will address the Government of India separately.

Removal of restrictions on sale of shares of Joint Stock Companies

The Pakistan representative desired that all restrictions on sale, removal or transfer of shares or securities should be removed by amendment of the Evacuee Law, if necessary.

India’s representatives pointed out that there are at present no restrictions on the sale of shares in the possession of the owners. Restrictions apply only in the case of shares held in deposit by a Bank. These can be returned with the permission of the Custodian. This issue was in their view linked up with the larger question of moveable evacuee property and should be discussed along with the latter.

Transfer of records of Postal Insurance Policies—

The transfer of records relating to life insurance policies for which under the partition settlement the liability will be that of the Pakistan Government was discussed. It was understood that a number of lists of people who had opted for Pakistan and whose policies became the liability of the Pakistan Government had already been received. It was suggested that it will expedite matters if an officer of the Pakistan Government could be deputed to the office of the D.A.G.
Posts and Telegraphs to take over these records from the Deputy Accountant General. The problem had been somewhat complicated by the fact that a number of officers who had opted for service in Pakistan or India had crossed the border after the partition. There might also be cases of non-Muslim officers in the Provincial Governments in Pakistan who had after the partition migrated to India. It was suggested that as a first step in the solution of this problem it will be best to confine the transfer to the records of Muslim Government servants in Pakistan including those who had opted for Pakistan, leaving the others to be sorted out later. It was agreed that these proposals should be examined in consultation with the D.A.G. P&T. As regards Circle Office records in India and Pakistan, the two Directors General, Posts & Telegraphs will make arrangements for this transfer on a reciprocal basis.

Claims in respect of Co-operative Societies outside the two Punjabs:-
It was decided that this matter should be taken up separately.

Claims of Government Servants who have migrated from one country to another and have been treated as absconders on that account—
The question whether the claims of Government servants who had been treated as absconders or dismissed from service or treated as having resigned because of their migration to the other country, should be affected because of that action, was considered. The Pakistan representative desired to consult the Provincial Governments concerned before giving a final answer in this matter.

Method of Settlement of Provisional Payments—
The detailed procedure for the adjustment of these payments will have to be settled between the Finance Ministries of the two Governments. It was suggested that these provisional payments could be cleared by canalizing them through the Central Claims Organizations. Thus each organization could obtain from the Accounts Officer of its Government the amount actually paid and the basis of the certified payments claim reimbursement from the other side. This reimbursement will be provisional but will be arranged immediately on receipt of the claim. The paying Government indemnifying the other Government against any excess or overpayment. As the Auditor General of India will have to be consulted about this suggestion the Finance Ministry, India promised to send a final communication in this matter within a fortnight.

The decisions in this record note, so far as they relate to claims for pension, provident fund, arrears of leave salary etc., of employees of Provincial Governments and local Bodies, do not apply to claims arising in the divided provinces of Bengal and Punjab.

The decisions in this record note are subject to ratification by the respective Governments.

Karachi, the 9th May, 1950

My Dear Mr. Gopalaswami,

While in New Delhi I had a general discussion with you and Mr. Mohanlal Saksena on the questions of evacuee property in India and Pakistan. We are perfectly willing to hold a conference on this subject. But we are most anxious to ensure that whatever formal meetings or conferences are held at this time they should succeed, otherwise they will do more harm than good by causing a set-back to the valuable progress made in establishing friendly relations between the two countries. I am sure you will agree with me that it is most desirable that any such unfortunate contingency must be avoided. Before therefore, we hold this conference we should, I think, informally agree on a few matters so that definite and substantial results are assured for the conference. It is not necessary that the whole range of the vexed issues relating to evacuee property should be settled at the very first conference. As Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru suggested in the course of our talk at New Delhi we may tackle this difficult subject piecemeal or in several stages if all the issues involved cannot be settled immediately.

2. As was recognized during the conversations between the two Prime Ministers in Karachi on the 27th April, there are considerable difficulties in regard to land and this subject might well be left out at this stage. On the other hand, the question of sale, exchange or management of urban evacuee property by the evacuee, his agents or an organization would form a suitable subject of discussion at this conference. Our views on this issue largely correspond to those which you expressed during our informal talk at New Delhi and I think we should be able to reach a wide measure of agreement on this subject.

3. What is most important, however, is that we should agree on fixing a date after which the evacuee property laws should not be applied by the two countries. This suggestion was regarded with favour by the two Prime Ministers in their discussion in Karachi on the 27th April. Without such a step the evacuee property problem would remain a running sore with continuing ill-effects on the relations between the two countries. In the new conditions which both Governments are endeavouring to foster, people should be able to move from one country to the other without fear of any disability; and there is no reason why the ordinary law of the land which applies to movement to any other country should not apply to movement between India and Pakistan. I am sure you would appreciate the great psychological value of this step in restoring confidence among the minorities in either country and creating a proper atmosphere for the consideration and settlement of the various evacuee property problems which have so far proved intractable. The appropriate date for this purpose would be the 8th April, 1950, the date of signing of the Delhi Agreement which has ushered a new era in the relations between our two countries. Frankly, our feeling is that the conference is not likely to achieve the desired object without the adoption of this measure.

4. I should like to repeat that our whole object behind this informal consultation with you is to ensure that our first conference on the subject after the Delhi Agreement of April 8, 1950, does not prove infructuous, and positively contributes to the fund of goodwill and friendliness which the Delhi Agreement has produced.

5. As regards the dates for this conference we would like to suggest the 22nd and 23rd May. If these dates suit you, we would be most happy to welcome you in Karachi for the Conference.

Yours sincerely

Sd/- Khwaja Shahabuddin

The Hon’ble Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyanagar, Minister for Transport,
Government of India,
New Delhi

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖
My dear Mr. Ayyengar,

You will remember that during my recent visit to Delhi I informed you that some of the new evacuees wanted to return to their homes in India. You and Mr. Mohanlal Saxena assured me that India are willing to take them back. On return to Karachi I found from Mr. Dutt’s telegram No. 30316, dated the 6th May, 1950 to Mr. Mohammed Ali, that facilities provided by clause (v) of Section ‘B’ of the Agreement have not been extended to West Pakistan. The extension of facilities under Clauses (i), (ii) and (iv) of Section ‘B’ cannot induce the new evacuees to return to their homes in the absence of an assurance that all their property will be restored to them. I would request that facilities provided by clause (v) of Section ‘B’ of the Agreement may be extended to West Pakistan. The Government of Pakistan are agreeable to extend similar facilities to new evacuees from West Pakistan.

2. Those who moved from one country to the other after the 1st February, 1950, when the fresh exodus to Sind began, may be treated as new evacuees.

3. I have thought over your suggestion that lists of new evacuees desiring to return to their homes may be sent to you. I feel that this may involve considerable delay in the issue of permits. Speed is of the utmost importance if full advantage is to be taken of the atmosphere created by the recent agreement inducing new evacuees to return to their homes. If they do not return quickly, they are not likely to return at all. In order to expedite the issue of return permits I would suggest that on an application by the new evacuee giving the necessary particulars regarding the date of departure from India, property left behind etc., accompanied by a certificate issued by an officer specified by the Government of Pakistan that the applicant is a new evacuee the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan at Karachi may be instructed to issue permits as a matter of course. We will ensure that no such certificate is issued to a person who is not a new evacuee. We are prepared to take similar action in respect of new evacuees who wish to return to West Pakistan.
4. We have issued instructions extending the facilities provided by Clause (i), (ii) and (iv) of Section ‘B’ of the recent agreement to new evacuees whether returning to or leaving West Pakistan.

Yours Sincerely

The Hon’ble Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyengar,

3170. Letter from Minister for Transport Gopalaswami Ayyangar to Pakistan Minister for Refugees and Rehabilitation Khwaja Shahabuddin.

New Delhi, May 20, 1950.

D.O. NO.61/PSMR/50,

My Dear Khwaja Shahabuddin,

I am very sorry that it has not been possible for us to meet this month for talks on evacuee property. Considerations of health prevented my accepting your invitation to me to visit Karachi on the 22nd and 23rd and I find that a previously programmed tour has prevented you from responding to my invitation to you to come over to Delhi for a day or two before the 21st. As I have informed you, I am going to Octoacmond on the 21st and do not expect to be back in Delhi till after the 10th June. Our meeting has therefore to be postponed to some date about the middle of June. Tentatively I would suggest 16th and 17th of June or 19th and 20th of June for this meeting.

2. Meanwhile it would be desirable for us on both sides to initiate such action regarding evacuee property as would tend to restore the confidence of evacuees in the determination of both Governments to solve this problem to their best advantage. Action of this kind would create the necessary atmosphere for agreed decisions being reached at the conference when it comes to be held.

3. Your letter makes no reference to moveable property. You will remember that during our conversation here you told me you were expecting to take action almost immediately on the suggestions made by Mr. Mohan Lal Seksena in a note which he had given to you. I understood that you have written to him in the matter. On the question of moveables, therefore, I am sure that suitable steps will be agreed on and commenced to be given effect to as quickly as possible.

4. I agree that the consideration of problems relating to the disposal of ownership rights in agricultural land may for the present, be postponed, but with a view to put heart into evacuee owners of such land who have migrated to the other country, it is important that we should at the coming conference agree upon machinery and procedure for the collection of rents on such land in each country and their remittance to their owners now in the other country. There have been, as you know, previous agreements on this subject, which, however have not been implemented. In the changed atmosphere it should be easy for us to agree on a method of effective implementation.

5. The question of sale, exchange and management of urban evacuee property by the evacuees, or their agents, or by an organization specially set up for the purpose, should, I agree, be the subject of discussion at the coming conference and I am glad that you consider we should be able to reach a wide measure of agreement on this subject. During the interval between now and the conference, the main issues in this connection could be studied by both of us and I am sure that in the new atmosphere we should be able to arrive at satisfactory agreed decisions between the two countries. You have naturally stressed the importance of our agreeing on fixing a date after which the evacuee property laws should not be applied by the two countries. I take it that what you have in mind is that for anything done after a prescribed date no person may be liable to be declared an evacuee and no property will be liable to be treated as evacuee property with all the consequences that will attach to them under the existing evacuee property laws of the two countries; in other words, that persons who are not already evacuees on the prescribed date would be free to migrate from one country to the other and to deal with their property in any way they like without attracting the provisions of the evacuee property laws.

As I have already informed you, I am in general agreement with this proposition. The Prime Ministers have also given their general blessing to it.

6. The date to be prescribed for this purpose has, however, to be fixed with particular care and special provision will have to be made for completing even after that date such proceedings under the evacuee property laws as may have been started before that date. The 8th of April 1950, would no doubt have a psychological significance as the date which was a turning point in the relations between the two countries. We can discuss the fixing of this or any other date with due regard to all relevant considerations.
7. The question of persons who were evacuees, or whose properties were evacuee properties on the prescribed date should, presumably, have to be dealt with separately. Before a date is prescribed in the manner suggested, it would be necessary for us to reach agreement on all the major issues relating to the persons and properties which, before that date, had been declared to be evacuees, intending evacuees, or evacuee properties. The ownership rights of evacuees in their respective properties should be recognized. Their rights to the disposal only with their consent of such properties, the provision of suitable machinery for management of their properties and the assessment of fair rents thereon so long as their ownership continues and the remittance of such rents, after deducting expenses of management, to them by regular agreed procedure — all these will have to be settled and evidence of implementation given, before the date either for the abrogation or the suspension of evacuee property laws after such date is decided on. I am pointing all these out to you only to indicate the amount of study that we have to give to this problem before we proceed to take action for giving effect to the general principle on which there is agreement between us. I, for one, am quite confident that if we act in the spirit of the 8th of April Agreement, it should be quite easy to reach conclusions on these and other matters relating to evacuee property, which will be acceptable to every interest affected.

8. Besides the evacuee property law, the manner in which the provisions of the Pakistan Rehabilitation ordinance have been applied has been responsible for the exodus of a large number of persons from Pakistan to India. You have already agreed to the provisions of this Ordinance and their working being scrutinized and discussed at our next conference, and I hope we shall reach conclusions which will remove all hardship and harassment.

9. You will remember, there were two suggestions I made to you during our talk on the 6th instant. The first was that we should make a beginning on both sides at once to make remittances of rents at least to some individual owners of urban property on the other side and that an attempt should be made to inform such owners of the state of the account relating to their properties kept in the office of Custodian of Evacuee Property. As you know, a considerable number of evacuee properties have been requisitioned by Government either for the location of public offices or for the accommodation of Government Officers. The rents of these properties should have been or could easily be collected. The beginning as regards remittances of rents to owners could be made with such and similar evacuee properties. The second of my suggestions was that batches of owners of immovable urban property might be given the opportunity under proper security arrangements to visit important urban areas in the other country for the purpose of having look at their properties there and finding out, what use they have been put to and the way they are maintained. You agreed that both these suggestions would have a great moral effects and their implementation should be easy to arrange. May we not at once start action on these lines even before we meet next month?

10. I shall be grateful for an early reply from you to this letter.

Yours Sincerely

Sd/- N. Gopalaswami

1. India pointed out that in certain cases persons who were staying on in Pakistan and had been declared non-evacuees were not being restored their property. Mr. Mohammad Ali stated that property would be restored in such cases. Although Muslim refugees who might have settled on the land as tenants will continue as such, they will pay the rent to the owners direct. It was stated that the particular case India had in mind was that of the owner of a factory whose property was not restored to him although he was declared a non-evacuee. Mr. Mohammad Ali said that it would be difficult to restore possession in case a lease had already been given. It was pointed out by India that it will not be possible for a person to stay in Pakistan if his property was not restored to him. In such cases lease could be terminated and property restored to the owner. Mr. Mohammad Ali asked for a note on the facts of the case, which was promised to be given.

It was pointed out on behalf of India that under the present law of Evacuee Property in Pakistan a national division of the Joint Hindu Family was carried out, and, if the share of a migrant exceeded 1/8/- in the rupee, the whole Property was taken over by the Custodian for management. The Pakistan representatives stated that in such cases the non-evacuees received their share of the income. It was suggested by India that in case of non-Muslims who have migrated from Sind between 1st February 1950 and 31st May, 1950, and who wished to return, the whole property may be restored to the returning person if he was the Karta (head) of the family. In any case the portion of the property pertaining to the returning person should be given back to him for management so that it may be possible for him to stay on in Pakistan. The Pakistan Government representatives wanted a note to consider the point further. An early decision is necessary to enable India to sponsor a movement of certain refugees back to Pakistan.

Movable Property: The points raised in Mr. Mohanlal Saksena’s letter dated 20th May were considered in detail.

Access to and removal of movable property: It was agreed that the general proposal that a refugee should be able to remove, sell or dispose of his movable property without any permit from the Custodian should be accepted, subject to the following reservations:

(a) Machinery and machine parts fixed to the earth as part of the factories will not be permitted to be removed.
(b) Machinery or parts forming stock in trade etc. will be permitted to be disposed of in Pakistan and vice-versa, but not permitted to be exported to the other country.

(c) Personal household machinery like typewriters, sewing machines, bicycles, radios, etc., will be permitted to be taken into the other country not withstanding any restrictions on export.

(d) Articles the export of which is prohibited or regulated by general law, like bullion or cash, will be permitted to be disposed of in the country itself.

(e) Moveable property other than household and personal effects may be sold, but not permitted to be removed to the other country.

Articles deposited in banks, etc. :- Such articles will be divided into two categories –

(1) those which may include pawned articles against which a claim is raised by the pawner; and

(2) others against which there is no claim.

Note: The claim must be against the articles and not the owners thereof, and must be of a person who has not migrated to the other country.

There was no difficulty in regard to the second category. They may be removed by the banks to the other country without any restrictions. The exact arrangements may be worked out by the two Deputy High Commissioners. In regard to the first category, claims had already been invited in the Punjab and perhaps in the N.W.F.P. It would be verified if this has been done already, and wherever claims had been invited earlier, no further claims will be invited. In other cases claims will be invited speedily, and after they have been received, the banks will be informed of the deposits against which claims existed. These deposits will not be permitted to be transferred to the other country till the matter had been settled by a Joint Committee of one officer from each country, who will examine all cases and decide upon the action to be taken.

Shares and Securities & Insurance Policies:- It was made clear on behalf of India that they never intended to place any restriction on insurance policies in any way. If any case, in which any restriction is placed on an insurance policy, is brought to notice, suitable action will be taken by the Government of India, to remove the restriction forthwith. Mr. Mohammad Ali made it clear on behalf of Pakistan that it was the intention to restore the property to joint stock companies which under the present Evacuee Property Law are not evacuee property. Where a lease had already been given, the lease will continue in operations but the lessee will be placed in direct touch with the company and will be asked to pay the lease money direct to the owner company, and not through the Custodian. If any property has been acquired by the Government compensation will be paid to the company. After the period of the present lease has expired, the company would resume possession of the property. Reciprocal action was promised by India. On this understanding, India agreed to withdraw the restrictions on the transfer of shares and securities, national savings certificates, debentures etc., in the custody of banks. Pakistan agreed that it will be ensured on their side that no restrictions will be placed on the movement or transfer of shares, securities, etc. It was noted that there was no restriction on the transfer of shares etc., not in the custody of banks. It was promised on behalf of India that instructions will be issued to stock exchanges and banks and insurance companies in India to ensure that the agreement is honoured.

Postal Parcels:— It was agreed that postal parcels, wherever they are still in deposit in the post offices, should be restored to the owners.

Compensation for property allotted or acquired for rehabilitation purposes:— The compensation should be assessed in such cases jointly by representatives of the two Governments and the value paid to the evacuee owners.

Sale proceeds of moveable property already deposited with Custodians: It was agreed that sale proceeds should be paid either to the evacuee owners or the Government of the other country for disbursement to evacuee owners, immediately.

Seized movable property of evacuees: Seized property including fire arms and money should be restored to the evacuee owner or compensation paid in the alternative. All district officers should transmit the property or the amounts, as the case may be, to the diplomatic representatives of the other country along with a list of owners of the property. The property should then be allowed to be removed to the other country, the Government of which will be responsible for distributing it to the owners concerned. A date should be specified for the completion of this operation. If after the completion of the operation any evacuee finds that his property has not been so transferred, he can make an application in this regard, which should be transmitted to the district officer concerned in the other country for prompt enquiry and restoration, if the property is traced. In case of bulky property like furniture, it was agreed that physical transport need not be undertaken, but it may be sold locally and sale proceeds paid.

Buried treasure: It was agreed that no escort charges should be levied by either Government.

Court deposits: It was agreed that in the case of districts from where wholesale migration has taken place the court deposits would be transferred en bloc provided both the parties to the claim were non-Muslims in the case of Pakistan and Muslims in case of India. In other cases action should be taken through the Claims Organisation, on a claim being filed by the applicant for the transfer of his deposit. Necessary legislation would be undertaken by the two Governments to give effect to this agreement.

Minors and others under the guardianship of courts (like District Judges): In cases where the minor or ward and the guardian have both migrated from districts from which mass migration has taken place, the court deposits may be transferred to the other country. If necessary, legislation may have to be undertaken to give effect to this. In other cases, transfer can take place on an application through the Claims organization.

Wards under the Court of Wards Act: It was agreed that the moveable property including cash and jewellery, of wards under the Courts of Wards Act, accumulated before 15.8.1947 should be automatically transferred to the other country if the ward had moved to the other country from the districts from which mass migration has taken place. The question whether a suitable allowance should be paid after August 15, 1947 till such time as any settlement of evacuee property is finally agreed upon will be examined.

Security Deposits of Contractors: The question of non-forfeiture of Security deposits of contractors where they failed to fulfil their obligations because of forcible migration, was raised by India. It was suggested that no penalty should be levied in either country where fulfillment of an agreement was made impossible on account of mass migration from one country to the other. A note was promised by India for further consideration.

Post Office Savings Bank Accounts etc.: It was agreed that though differences existed in regard to the method of payment of balances of Savings Bank Accounts, National Certificates etc., on account of exchange difficulties obtaining at present, the verification of claims should not be held up but should be proceeded with.

Fraudulent and irregular transfers: India pointed out that they had noticed long lists of confirmation of sales in Pakistani Press and reproduced the same in some of the newspapers of Bombay. As a result, they have received representations from many stating that they had never entered into any transaction for the sale of their property, or that the transactions had not been completed, India promised to send those representations to Pakistan Government for examination. The Pakistan Government suggested that evacuee should conduct such cases in Pakistan. India promised to examine this suggestion in regard to future cases and to make proposals.

Trust Properties: It was decided that the Committee should be asked to meet as soon as possible to examine this question. The Pakistan Government promised to take further action to expedite the meeting.
It was agreed that no ratification of these decisions was necessary. Action may be taken by both governments in accordance with these decisions.

3172. PERSONAL and SECRET
Letter from Minister of Transport Gopalaswamy Ayyangar to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

New Delhi, July 19, 1950.

New Delhi, 19th July 1950

My dear Jawaharlal ji,

I wonder if, during the present visit of the Pakistan Prime Minister to Delhi, time could be found for a discussion on the evacuee property problem on the west. It would be desirable to have at least an exploratory talk.

I mentioned to you some time ago the lines of the solution of this problem which I put to Shahabuddin and Mohammed Ali when they were here last. On the first day I thought these had made a good impression on them and they would be prepared to consider them on the merits. On the second day they were less forthcoming, but still expressed the view that perhaps it would be best to have this scheme considered preliminarily at the highest level before it could be examined in detail. I have no doubt that after getting back to Karachi they have given thought to the general principles embodied in the scheme.

I enclose for your information copy of a note which describes what I asked Shahabuddin and Mohammed Ali to consider.

I would, however, ask that the note as it stands should not be passed on in entirety to Liaquat Ali Khan, particularly paragraph 4 to 7. The figures that I have given there are very rough, but you will be interested to know that representatives of the displaced persons including Choithram Gidwani, Bakshi Tek Chand. And Mehr Chand Khanna told me at the discussion that estimated the difference in values to be not more than about 500 crores, and that they quite realized that the displaced persons could not expect to be paid the whole of this amount. I told them whatever was decided to be paid to them would come out of a pool which will include the amount that Pakistan might pay to us and the amount which Government of India could contribute to it in addition to what they have been spending for rehabilitation till now and what they will be spending in the future.

The figure of 300 crores as representing Pakistan’s capacity to pay was estimated by Deshmukh at my request, but it will be too much to expect that we could, for squaring the amount relating to evacuee property, ask Pakistan to shoulder the whole of this amount as a debt she would owe to India on account of evacuee property alone. We should be prepared, if there is going to be an ad hoc arrangement to accept much less. I think it will be worthwhile to do so in order to end all the trouble we are going through in this connection. I would personally be content with Pakistan accepting liability for a hundred crores, but this is matter for bargaining. If you propose to have a talk with Liaquat Ali Khan on this question, I would suggest your discussing with him the main principles of the scheme without committing yourself to any definite figures. If they are prepared to discuss figures also, we can give some vague indications of the figures that we have in mind.

Yours sincerely
Sd/- Gopalaswamy

The Hon’ble
Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru,
Prime Minister,
New Delhi.

Note on Evacuee Immoveable Property

During the last meeting with Khwaja Shahabuddin (Pakistan Minister of Rehabilitation) on June 27 and 28, 1950, Honourable Minister (Transport) suggested that it was necessary to think about the whole question of evacuee property in a big way, so that this potent cause of friction between the two countries was removed once for all. The scheme suggested by H.M. (Transport) is summarized in the following paragraphs :-

2. Properties of Joint Stock Companies with headquarters in the other country and public Trust properties may be declared non-evacuee and restored to the owners. For the rest, it was necessary to arrive at some agreement which would end the present unnatural situation in which persons living in one country owned property in the other on a very large scale. It was necessary for the good of displaced persons and the healthy relationship of both countries that displaced persons settled down in the country of their choice with full title to the property on which they were being, at present, temporarily resettled. There were two possible solutions:-

(a) full freedom may be given to individuals to dispose of their property, or

(b) there may be some machinery or authority that could take over the property on each side, and distribute it to the displaced persons.

The first alternative may take several years to work out, and even then, at the end, there was bound to be a hard core left for which some solution will have to be found. Meanwhile, this cause of tension between the two countries will continue. It was necessary, therefore, to think of an alternative which would settle things finally quickly. It was not necessary to fix the value of each individual property left in either country. It would be sufficient if the value of the entire property on either side could be approximately estimated. It was not contemplated that the debtor country should pay the difference to the last rupee. Payment will have, necessarily, to be related to the capacity of the debtor country to pay. Perhaps, the best course would be to settle the amount by negotiation on a purely ad hoc basis. Once that had been done, the two Governments may agree to extinguish the title of the evacuee owners who had migrated to the other country to the property in their own country, and may proceed to settle permanently the displaced persons who had come over to their own country on the erstwhile evacuee property in any way they considered suitable and equitable and pass full title in such property to such persons. The distribution of evacuee property in this way as part of the compensation to displaced persons will have, however, to be related in some way to the property the displaced persons had owned in the other country, and for that purpose it would be necessary for each Government to agree to give facilities to the other Government for the verification of the claims of displaced persons settled in that country. India would, for example give facilities to the Pakistan Government to verify whether a certain displaced person who claims to have left two houses in Delhi did actually leave them here. The Pakistan Government will be free to assign their own valuation to those houses and the Indian Government will in no way be committed to it, but India will make available all the municipal and other records to Pakistan officers wishing to check up the claims.

3. A settlement of the type contemplated above would automatically mean that the pool of Evacuee property on either side should be well defined. For this purpose both Governments may agree to fix a limiting date after which no person would be liable to be declared an evacuee for any act of his done after that date.

Anything which was done before the limiting date and which is the subject of pending proceedings under the Evacuee Property Law would be taken into account, but even in regard to this it may be prescribed that the issue should be governed by the decision in the legal proceedings.

4. No figures were given by H.M. (Transport) at the time, as he wished to consider the matter further. The figures for Land can be roughly assessed. Leaving aside the uncultivated area in West Punjab on the one side, and East Punjab and PEPSU on the other, the difference in cultivated area alone is nearly 10 lakhs of acres. While the Hindus and Sikhs have left behind about 48, 21, 570 cultivated acres, the Muslims in East Punjab and PEPSU have left behind only 38, 39, 550 cultivated acres. But of the land left behind in West Punjab 23, 88,422 acres was under perennial irrigation, as against which only 4,88, 969 acres in East Punjab and PEPSU is so irrigated. Similar discrepancies exist in other Nahri, Chahi and Abi lands. One the whole, therefore, the difference in value between the value of lands left behind in West Punjab on one side and East Punjab and PEPSU on the other may be about 150 crores. The land left behind by non-Muslims in N.W.F.P. Khairpur and Baluchistan may be set off roughly against land left behind by Muslims in Alwar, Bharatpur and Bikaner. The value of the land left behind by non-Muslims in Sind and Bhawalpur may be roughly 150 crores. In all, it would seem reasonable to suggest that the difference in the value of land alone may be about 300 crores.

5. It is more difficult to estimate even roughly the value of urban property left behind in Pakistan, but very valuable properties have been left behind in Karachi, Hyderabad, Lahore, Rawalpindi, Peshawar, Quetta, Murree and other places. The properties left behind by Muslims in India are not so valuable. Even in Delhi the total evacuee property may not exceed a few crores. Besides, the non-Muslims have left behind valuable factories and equipment. Taking a very broad view, however, it will not be unreasonable to suggest that the difference in the value of urban evacuee immovable property may be in the neighbourhood of 400 crores.

6. An overall assessment of the amount payable to India by Pakistan would thus be about 700 crores. It is realised, however, an infant State like Pakistan cannot be asked to take on such a heavy debt. It would perhaps be reasonable to suggest that about half the difference may be paid by Pakistan to India. That would mean about 350 crores. Having regard to the capacity of Pakistan to pay, this amount may be further reduced by a hundred crores to 250 crores. It would perhaps suffice if for purposes of discussion with Pakistan we simply state that our estimate of the difference in value of evacuee property in the two countries is roughly about 700 crores due from Pakistan to India and we consider that about half of that figure should at least be paid by Pakistan, but that as an earnest of our desire for settlement we would suggest a figure well within Pakistan's capacity to pay – Rs.250 crores. We may, of course, be willing to negotiate even a lower ad hoc figure, if Pakistan is prepared to bite.

7. If an ad hoc amount is thus negotiated, and a settlement is reached, legislation will have to be undertaken by each Government acquiring all Evacuee Property situated within its territories without payment of compensation. Compensation to the evacuee owners will really be payable by the Government of the country to which they have migrated in accordance with any scheme of resettlement that that country may adopt as regards evacuee property there.

8. H.M. (Transport) also suggested at the discussion that, should Pakistan be unwilling to accept a rough and ready ad hoc settlement of the kind indicated above, he would be prepared to agree to referring to a single Arbitrator or to a Board of three Arbitrators the following questions: -

(a) Making a rough estimate of the value of the entire urban and agricultural property on each side and of the amount which the debtor country could be said to owe to the other;

(b) the amount which, in relation to the financial capacity of the debtor country, its resources and its needs both for current purposes and provision for reasonable development, it could be called upon to pay; and

(c) the period of years over which the payment of the amount so determined should be spread and the annual installment payable. Both Governments should agree to abide by whatever the decision of the Arbitrator or the Arbitral Tribunal may be.

***************

Based on the above letter, Mr. S. Dutt, Additional Secretary in the Ministry of External Affairs discussed the problem of evacuee property with Mr. Mohammad Ali who was accompanying Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan and recorded the following note on July 22, 1950 of his discussions for Prime Minister's information.

I place below the letter which H.M. (T) has written to P.M. on the problem of evacuee property I asked Mr. Mohammed Ali whether the Pakistan Government had considered the scheme put forward by Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar. He said that the Pakistan Government would prefer a settlement of the problem on the lines which were discussed between the two Prime Minister in Karachi, viz:

(i) Sale and exchange of urban immovable property would be freely permitted.
(ii) There would be a limiting date beyond which Evacuee property Law would not be applied either in India or Pakistan.
(iii) After as much as possible of the urban evacuee property had been disposed of in the way indicated in (i) above, the two Governments would consider how the balance of the property could be settled.

Mr. Mohammed Ali added that the question of agricultural property presented special difficulties as the valuation of such property depended on a solution of the canal water dispute, and on such solution must depend a settlement of the evacuee agricultural lands.

2. As regards Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar’s scheme, Pakistan Government really had no basis on which they could consider it. The Pakistan Government must have some indication of the liability which they would be called upon to bear in the event of a settlement at Government level; and in the absence of any such indication from the Government of India, the Pakistan Government were not in a position to express any opinion on the scheme. Mr. Mohammed Ali felt that, in any case, valuation of the property by a neutral agency such as was contemplated in the scheme would take a long time and a quick solution of the problem would not be achieved as desired by India under the proposed scheme.

3. I did not pursue the matter further as I felt, in the light of my discussion with Mr. Mohammed Ali that it would be better for the Prime Minister himself to mention to Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan the figure given by H.M. (T) in his letter on the basis of which settlement of the evacuee property problem at Government level could be made.

I have no recollection of any talk with Khwaja Shahabuddin. I think I did meet him and I must have had some rather casual talk, in the course of which we might have mentioned that it was desirable to put an end to the issue of fresh notices under the evacuee property provisions.

2. This matter was first discussed by me with the Prime Minister of Pakistan in April 1950, at the time of the Indo-Pakistan Agreement. He suggested then that we should fix a date, and the date suggested was April 8th, after which no property should be declared evacuee property. At the most, pending cases should continue. I said I liked the idea and we might consider it further and work it out. I then further discussed it with him during my visit to Karachi at the end of April. We did not make any great progress except that the idea was again approved in principle. I think something was said then, or perhaps later, that pending further discussions we might tone down our activities in regard to evacuee property. As a matter of fact, I wrote to the Rehabilitation Ministry at the time and told them of this and even suggested, I think, that they might go very slow, as it was probable that we might put an end to this whole business soon. I might have given some such idea to Khwaja Shahabuddin. I could not have told him that I had issued any orders not to issue any fresh notices. Undoubtedly, there was some intention of keeping matters pending, as some kind of an agreement on the subject was expected soon.

3. The record of the meeting of June 27th, which says that the proposal of fixing a date, etc., had already received the blessings of the two Prime Ministers and was acceptable in principle, is correct.

4. What I am interested to know is this: Is it true that in West Pakistan Khwaja Shahabuddin issued an order that no fresh notice should be issued and that orders should be kept pending? If this is a fact, then it has some effect on us, whatever we may or may not have said. It is true that there is not much room left for issuing notices in West Pakistan.

5. The position thus is that while all of us agreed that something should be done and accepted the principle of stopping these declarations of evacuee property in future, nothing definite was decided and it was hoped to have an overall agreement.

6. That is so, but in the circumstances, it does follow that we must take action only in rather especial and obvious cases. That has been stressed by me on several occasions. I find, however, that the practice followed by the Custodians has not varied much and highly legal arguments are advanced and considered as to whether a person should be declared an evacuee or not. Indeed I was surprised to read a very long judgment of the Custodian General recently. Personally, I entirely disagree with that judgment on the merits. Apart from the law, the intention of Government was perfectly clear and indeed because of that, Government varied the law. It must always be remembered that the evacuee property law is a very peculiar, unusual and abnormal law, which indeed is entirely outside the scope of normal legislation. Therefore, it cannot be interpreted and acted upon with the same strictness as ordinary laws are dealt with. The human aspect must always be considered, as also the obvious intention of the Government and the Legislature.

7. The fact that in our application of evacuee property laws and rules we have to be exceedingly careful in future and only take up very special cases, must be borne in mind by all Custodians. Justice has to be done and where there is the slightest doubt, it is to be interpreted in favour of the person concerned. Legal arguments should not be allowed to come in the way of broad justice.

8. If it is true that Pakistan has definitely ordered that no further notices should be issued, then this casts a special burden upon us.

9. A copy of this note might be sent to Shri Gopalaswami Ayyangar.

Note from the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan to the Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Office of the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan,
Jahangir Sethna Road
New town, Karachi-5

No.13(4)/52 - Genl. the 29th May, 1952

The High Commission for India in Pakistan presents its compliments to the Government Pakistan, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations and has the honour to state that at the Inter – Dominion Conference held at New Delhi in September, 1947, it was agreed that all places which are regarded as sacred by any community will not be allowed to be occupied by members of any other community, and particular care will be taken to preserve such places intact even if they remain empty and that the two Governments will communicate with each other and make concrete suggestions.

As a result of further correspondence, the two Governments agreed that all shrines, temples, mosques and other religious places which were damaged during the communal disturbances should be repaired, and the hosting of any emblem or flag other than that of the religious concerned, on any religious building or edifice, should be prohibited.

The Government of India have noted with concern & deep regret that the Government of Pakistan have not been implementing the above decision strictly. The enclosed annexure gives a few cases of neglect in the up–keep of shrines and other sacred places abandoned by the minority communities in Pakistan. These complaints are based on reports reaching the Government of India from pilgrim parties and other observers who have had occasion to visit the Shrines etc. recently. The fate of other shrines and holy places to which pilgrim parties have not been allowed to make visits, is not known to the Government of India but they have reasons to apprehend that they too may not be properly preserved according to the Inter – Dominion agreement of 1947.

The Government of India trust that the Government of Pakistan will ensure that the agreements relating to the maintenance of the sanctity of religious shrines and sacred places and repair and proper up – keep thereof, are implemented.

It is requested that this High Commission may kindly be informed of the action taken in the matter by the Pakistan Government.
The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Government of Pakistan the assurances of its highest consideration.

3175. Note of the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Karachi, June 1952.

Office of the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan
Jahangir Sethna Road,
New Town, Karachi-5

No. 13(4)/52 – Genl. June, 1952

Subject: Reports on the condition of Gurdwaras, temples etc. in Punjab (P)

The High Commission for India in Pakistan presents its compliments to the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations and in continuation of this High Commission note of even Humber dated the 29th May, 1952, on the subject mentioned above, has the honour to state that it has further been reported to the Government of India by the pilgrim party which recently returned from Pakistan after visiting Gurdwaras at Shri Nankana Sahib and Shri Sacha Sauda:

(1) That these Gurdwaras stand badly in need of repairs. The Upper portion of the building of Gurdwara Saucha Sauda, they say, may come down if it is not promptly attended to. They have expressed grave concern over the fast deteriorating condition of these Gurdwaras and indicated that even the repairs promised by the Pakistan Officials last year had not been carried out so far. The marble sill of door in Gudwara Shri Kaira Sahib at Shri Nankana Sahib has been badly cut up with a chisel.

(2) That the water in the tank at Gurdwara Shri Janam Asthan, Shri Nankana Sahib has not been changed for a long time with the result that it emits foul smells which is injurious to the health of the inhabitants of the Gurdwara. They fear that if the water is not changed immediately, there is every likelihood of some epidemic spreading.

(3) That the refugees have been allowed to occupy two Gurdwaras at Shri Nankana Sahib where they cook and take meat.

It would be greatly appreciated if in accordance with the Indo – Pakistan agreements relating to the maintenance of the sanctity of religious shrines and sacred places and repair and proper up – keep thereof, necessary action is taken to have the necessary repairs carried out in these Gurdwaras, which have great historical significance for members of the Sikh community. It is further requested that enquiries may kindly be made in regard to allegation (3) above and necessary action taken to preserve the sanctity of the sacred places.

It is requested that this High Commission may kindly be informed of the action taken in the matter by the Govt. of Pakistan.

The High Commission avails themselves of this opportunity to renew to the Government of Pakistan the assurances of their highest consideration.

3176. Letter from Ministry of External Affairs to Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

New Delhi, October 13, 1952.

Government of India
Ministry of External Affairs

No. CS(T)/8 13th October, 1952

From : B.F.H.B. Tyabji, Esquire, I.C.S., Secretary to the Government of India.

To : The Secretary to the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relation, Karachi.
Subject: Immovable evacuee property in India and Pakistan.

Sir,

I am directed to state that the Government of India have been greatly exercised over the question of immovable evacuee property left behind in the two countries. This property falls broadly under two categories — rural and urban.

2. The owners of rural property have neither been receiving the rents due to them, nor have they been allowed to sell or exchange property, as the intention of the Government of Pakistan seems to have been to settle this question on a Governmental level. Five years have now expired, and so far as we know, the Government of Pakistan has already allotted all the agricultural land and rural houses left behind in Pakistan to evacuee from India. The Government of India have done likewise in India. As such, it cannot now be contemplated that any lands or rural houses can be sold or disposed of by individual owners. For all those reasons, the Government of India feel that the problem of settlement of rural property can no longer be delayed in the interest of the evacuees or refugees of the two countries. I am, therefore, to suggest that the two Governments should assume responsibilities for all the rural property left behind in their territories. A valuation of the property on either side can be carried out either by a joint commission of the two countries, or by an impartial body, according to certain principles which can be agreed upon between them, the debtor country then paying to the creditor country the difference in value according to certain agreed arrangements. If there is any difference of opinion about the principles on which valuation is to be carried out, the question should be referred to an arbitrator.

3. There has been a deadlock in regard to urban property. The Government of India do not wish to go over past history, but the result is that, at present, urban displaced persons in either country are in great distress. They can neither receive any income from the property left behind by them in their country of origin, nor can they start business in the new country as they have no means of obtaining any credit. At the same time, the evacuee properties left in both countries are fast deteriorating. Although the two Governments have created a Custodian’s organisation, mainly for the preservation of the property of evacuees, the plain fact is that such property is being occupied mostly by displaced persons who have no interest in it. Even minor repairs which an occupier of a house is normally expected to execute are not carried out by them. The result is that properties are deteriorating, and deteriorating very fast. The recovery of rent is also unsatisfactory. The present state of uncertainty, and the continued deterioration of property is not in the interests of the displaced parsons, nor of the evacuees, or of the Government concerned.
4. The return of evacuees from either country to their country of origin no longer being within the bounds of possibility, the Government of India feel that it is the moral responsibility of both countries to take over the evacuee property left behind and to compensate the evacuee owners. The Government of India, accordingly, propose that the two Governments should take over the urban evacuee immovable property left behind in their respective territories, and compensate the evacuee owners according to principles which may be decided upon by negotiation between the two Governments. If direct negotiations prove unfruitful, the Government of India are prepared to refer the question of the method of valuation to Arbitration or an impartial tribunal, agreed upon between the two countries. If it is so desired, the matter might be referred to an International Court or to any Ad Hoc Court consisting of nominees of the two Governments. The Government of India are prepared to refer the dispute in regard to evacuees property to such arbitration or impartial tribunal.

5. Once the method of valuation is decided upon, it should be possible for a joint Commission of the two countries to evaluate evacuee property in either country. It is of course, to be understood that the decision by arbitration or through an impartial tribunal will be considered final and binding on the two countries. As soon as such a decision is obtained, the two countries will proceed to give effect to it.

6. To avoid further deterioration of evacuee property, and in fairness to the evacuee owners, the Government of India invite the Government of Pakistan to take over the evacuee property in Pakistan. They also intend to proceed to take over the property in India on the basis of the proposal made above. An early reply will be greatly appreciated.

Yours faithfully

Sd/-

(B.F.H.B. Tyabji)
Commonwealth Secretary
My Dear Prime Minister,

I should like to draw your attention to a letter sent from the Ministry of External Affairs, Government of India to the Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations, Government of Pakistan. This letter is dated 13th October and it deals with the question of immovable evacuee property left behind in both India and Pakistan. This letter was an important one and made certain proposals. We have had no reply to this letter, although nearly three months have passed. I enclose a copy of this letter for ready reference.

In view of the fact that there is no possibility of the return of the evacuees from either country to their original country of origin, and the evacuee properties are deteriorating rapidly, the Government of India made certain proposals. These were to the effect that the two Governments should take over the urban evacuee immovable property left behind in their respective territories and compensate the evacuee owners according to the principle which may be decided upon by negotiations between the two Governments. It was hoped that these negotiations would yield satisfactory results. In the event of lack of agreement between the two Governments as regards method of valuation etc, it was suggested that this matter be referred to arbitration or to an impartial tribunal agreed upon between the two parties.

This was a proposal which, it seems to me, was fair to both Governments and the large number of individuals concerned. If we adopt it, it will put an end to a very long standing dispute which has affected the lives of millions of evacuees and refugees.

I shall be grateful if you could kindly look into this matter and let us have a very early reply.

Yours sincerely

Jawaharlal Nehru
Letter from Pakistan Minister of Refugees and Rehabilitation to Minister of Rehabilitation Ajit Prasad Jain.

Karachi, February 24, 1953.

Dated the 24th Feb., 1953

My dear Mr. Jain,

Sometime ago I said in course of replying to a debate in the Constituent Assembly that I would be willing to withdraw the evacuee property legislation if India also agreed to do the same. Your Prime Minister is reported to have said in the Indian Parliament that if an offer came from Pakistan he would be willing to examine it. It is in that connection that I am writing this letter to you.

2. An essential preliminary to any such solution of the evacuee property question would however, be a restoration of the position to that obtaining under the Indo-Pak Agreement of January 1949. Under this Agreement, evacuee laws were to operate only in the “Agreed Areas” specified in it. A first step, therefore, should be for the Government of India to withdraw the evacuee property legislation from non-agreed areas. The way would then be paved for a consideration of the question of withdrawing evacuee property legislation from “Agreed Areas” in both countries. I shall be grateful to know your reaction to this proposal.

With kind regards.

Yours Sincerely

Letter from Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to Ministry of External Affairs.

Karachi, March 5, 1953.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations

No. 3(II) 8/8/52

5th March 1953

From: The Secretary to the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relations,
Karachi.

To: The Secretary to the Government of India,
Ministry of External Affairs,
New Delhi.

Subject: Immovable Evacuee Property in Pakistan and India.

Sir,

I am directed to refer to the Government of India’s letter No. CS (T) 8, dated the 13th October 1952, and to say that the Government of Pakistan fully share the Government of India’s concern over the deadlock existing between the two countries on the question of immovable evacuee property, and reiterate their desire to resolve the deadlock as speedily as possible in cooperation with the Government of India. But they are surprised the Government of India, while expressing their concern for a settlement of this question, have already decided to acquire the properties of Muslim evacuees for distribution to their refugees. It seems desirable that certain patient facts of the historical background leading to the present deadlock should be re-stated as one more effort to remind the Government of India of their obligations under the existing Agreements and the unfortunate consequences which their policy of expropriation is bound to cause.

2. It will be remembered that as a result of discussion between the Prime Ministers of our two countries in August 1947 it was decided to create the machinery of Custodians’ Departments in either country to prevent illegal seizure of the property for its administration and management in their interests. Suitable legislation was brought out both in the East and West Punjab to give effect to these subjects. At the same time a series of discussions were held between the representatives of the two countries in 1947 and 1948 with a view to devising a comprehensive solution of the entire problem of evacuee property. This comprehensive solution was embodied in the Karachi Agreement of January 1949 which is the only international agreement on the subject.

3. This Agreement was signed on the 13th January, 1949. It defined "agreed areas" in either country to which evacuee property legislation was to be confined. These agreed areas in India were:

For agricultural Property — The Provinces of East Punjab and Delhi, Province of Himachal Pradesh, the Patiala and the East Punjab States Union, and the States of Bharatpur, Alwar and Bikaner.

For urban immovable Property — The areas would be extended to include Ajmer-Merwara, Dholpur and Karauli States (now included in the Matsya Union) the Rajasthan Union, Saurashtra.(as both these Unions stood on 22-7-48), and the States of Jaipur and Jodhpur, and the districts of Saharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar in the United Provinces.

Within a few months, however, legislation was passed in India which had the effect of extending evacuee property laws to all the other Provinces except West Bengal, Assam and Tripura. It was apparent that the object of this evacuee property legislation was not to protect the interests of evacuee but to take over the property of as many Muslims as possible and thus to add to the pool of evacuee property in India.

4. It appears that the Government of India had decided not to allow the January Agreement to have a full trial. In June, 1949 they asked for the scheme of private transfers to be shelved and proposed instead the utilisation of Government agency for the liquidation of evacuee property and the awarding of compensation to the refugees on a governmental basis. The Government of Pakistan replied that they were not prepared to accept a formula which ran counter to the Agreement of January 1949. They also protested against the Government of India allowing their Provincial Governments to extend the evacuee property law to areas other than those agreed upon under the January Agreement.

At the Conference held in Karachi in June, 1949, the Pakistan Government asked that the legislation passed in India should be withdrawn from non-agreed areas and suggested that any difficulties that were experienced or apprehended in the working of the January 1949 Agreement should be resolved by mutual discussion. The Government of India, however, took no notice of this suggestion and persisted in the course of action already determined by them in contravention of the January 1949 Agreement.

5. It seemed incredible that a formal Agreement signed by the two countries could become a useless instrument within a few months when the two Governments were yet taking preparatory action to implement it in a systematic manner. The Government of India's objects and intentions on this question were made public by their Custodian-General, Mr. Achhru Ram who in passing a Judgment in September 1951 made the following observations:

“The Government of India had also taken a firm decision that the problem of evacuee properties in the two countries should be settled by the Government of each country acquiring all evacuee property lying within its territories on a fair valuation, the value of evacuee property in one country being set off against the value of a similar property in the other, and the difference between the two values, if any, should be paid by the debtor country to the creditor country.

As a result of this decision, all private transactions in respect of evacuee property were banned. The above mentioned two Ordinances were promulgated in furtherance of these decisions and legislative provisions on the same lines were also put into force in all the Indian provinces excepting Assam and West Bengal.”

6. The Government of Pakistan have no reason to discredit the disclosure made by the Custodian-General of India of the Government of India's policy decision taken in the earlier part of 1949, and are surprised that a decision unilaterally taken more than three and a half years ago should now be sought to be justified and imposed on Pakistan despite the Government of Pakistan's persistent warning to the Government of India that they were acting in violation of the international Agreement of January, 1949 to the detriment of the interests of the evacuees in either country.

7. The Government of Pakistan have never accepted the solution proposed by the Government of India for a Government to Government settlement in regard to evacuee property whether agricultural or urban. It is true that the Government of Pakistan exchanged with the Government of India certain revenue records relating to evacuee agricultural property and have introduced a limited scheme for the resettlement of these people on land; but this scheme is, as the name implies, a Rehabilitation Settlement Scheme. Neither of these actions implies in any way agreement to a Government to Government settlement. In the case of urban evacuee property also the Government of Pakistan have more than once made it clear that the best solution of the problem is to allow this property to be disposed of by the evacuee themselves through private sales, exchanges etc. and that they cannot assume responsibility for acquiring it for disposal.

8. The Government of India have suggested that any differences in regard to the evaluation of evacuee property in a Government to Government settlement should be resolved by arbitration. This suggestion is based on the incorrect assumption that there is agreement on the proposal for a Government to Government settlement. It may be added that the Government of Pakistan have always been willing that all outstanding issues between the two countries should be settled through arbitration if negotiation and mediation fail. Their offer stands and they are willing to submit the question of evacuee property to arbitration provided all the other major issues between the two countries are settled simultaneously on the same basis.

9. In conclusion the Government of Pakistan would like to reiterate that the proposal of the Government of India made in their letter under reply will amount to a violation of the existing Agreements and in effect will mean expropriation of the Property of the Muslims of India. Instead of helping to solve the problem further difficulties will be created, the responsibility for which, this Government would like to make it clear, rests entirely on the Governments of India.

I have the honour to be
Sir
Your most obedient servant

Prime Minister
Pakistan

Karachi, 12th March 1953

My dear Prime Minister,

Thank you for your letter of the 8th January, 1953 regarding the proposal of your Government as contained in Mr. Tyabji’s letter No. CS(T)/8, dated the 13th October '52, on the subject of immovable evacuee property in both countries. I greatly regret the considerable delay that has ensued in sending our official reply which I understand has just issued from the Foreign Office.
EVACUEE PROPERTY

Please also accept my apologies for the delay in acknowledging your kind letter of the 8th January '53, which was due to an oversight on the part of my office.

With best regards,

Yours Sincerely

(K. Nazimuddin)

3181. Letter from Rehabilitation Minister Ajit Prasad Jain to Pakistan Minister for Rehabilitation Shuaib Qureshi.

Simla, May 7, 1953.

D. O. No. PA/PSMR/Camp. (Camp) Shimla. 7th May 1953

My dear Mr. Shuaib Qureshi,

Knowing your keen desire to arrive at an amicable settlement of all Indo-Pakistani differences, I am taking the earliest opportunity on your assuming charge of the Pakistani Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation to acquaint you with our views on the various items relating to evacuee property which are pending settlement between the two countries.

2. I am further encouraged in doing this by the belief that you fully share with me the feeling that the differences relating to movable and immovable properties left behind by persons who have migrated from one country to another, have caused and continue to cause a great deal of hardship and misery to large numbers of persons and that their solution will do a great deal to restore mutual trust and amity not only between our two Governments but between our two peoples.

3. The accompanying note gives a brief summary of the present position of the main issues. The items mentioned in the note can be classified into two categories those on which there is a difference in principle between the two Governments, and those on which there question is of implementation only. In the first category there is only one item that of immovable property, including agricultural land, houses and other properties about which our approach is different. This may raise basic issues and call for somewhat prolonged consideration. Even so with goodwill and desire to settle the points of difference, such as now seem happily to prevail between our two Governments, it should be possible for us to find an amicable solution.

4. The second category of subjects includes issues on which there is no basic difference in principle between us. Nevertheless, their implementation has been held up for one reason or another for all these years. The result has been that they have become a source of irritation and hardship to refugees both in India and Pakistan. It would be pointless to enter into a discussion here on the reasons which have led to this impasse. It is clear, however, that having arrived at an agreement on them in principle, the question of how that agreement should be implemented should not present serious difficulty.

5. I myself would like to take up both kinds of issues together and resolve them by friendly discussion: but should you find any difficulty or hesitation in taking up the first issue immediately, I am perfectly agreeable to holding a Secretarial Conference to settle first the differences that exist between our two Governments in regard to the items that fall in the second category. On your acceptance of this suggestion, details regarding the venue, date, and agenda of the conference can be decided upon. I need hardly add that any suggestion that you may have to make in this matter, or items for discussion, will be gladly considered by me.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

Sd/- Ajit Prasad Jain

Hon’ble Mr. Shuaib Qureshi,
Minister for Refugees & Rehabilitation,
Government of Pakistan, Karachi.

Note on the Present Position Regarding Negotiations in respect of Evacuee Property

I. Immovable Property:- The Government of India’s proposal is that the two Governments should take over the evacuee immovable property left behind in their respective territories and compensate the evacuee owners according to principles which may be decided upon by negotiation between the two Govts. In the event of the direct negotiation proving unfruitful, the Government of India would be prepared to refer the question of method of evaluation to arbitration or to an impartial tribunal agreed upon between the two countries. Further, if so desired, the matter may be referred to an International Court or any Ad Hoc Court consisting of nominees of the two Governments. These proposals have not been agreed to by the Pakistan Government. A reference is invited to the Government of India, Ministry of External Affairs, letter No. C.S. (T)/8, dated the 13th October, 1952, and the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relations, letter No.3(II) 8/80/52 dated the 5th March, 1953.

II. Movable Property: Both the Governments agreed in the Conference held on the 27th June, 1950 that the right of ownership of movables left by the evacuees in the other country continues to vest in the owner, and that the owner should be given the right either to remove them or to dispose of them or, if they were allotted or acquired by Government for rehabilitation purposes, he should be paid full compensation in cash. The Agreement covers a very large number of items, such as, household and personal effects, articles deposited in Banks, shares, securities and insurance policies, the property of Joint Stock Companies; sale proceeds of movable properties already deposited with the Custodians, seized movable properties, including fire-arms, buried treasures, court deposits etc. India was to benefit mainly by the wholesale release of lockers and safe deposits, the restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies taken over by various Governments in Pakistan; and Pakistan was to benefit largely by the release of securities and shares and removal of restrictions on the transfer of household effects. Not a single locker has been released so far in Pakistan; nor has the property of single Joint Stock Company has been restored or compensation given. On the other hand the Government of India have at least released some shares and securities and considerable amounts of household and personal effects. As early as August, 1951, it was, therefore, suggested that the whole question may be discussed afresh at a Secretariat or Minister’s conference, but no decision has yet been reached regarding the holding of such a conference. A reference is invited to letters No.PA/RES/PSMR and No.PA/PSMR dated 20th September, 1952 and 13th March, 1953, respectively, to the Minister for Refugees and Rehabilitation, Pakistan.

III. Maintenance and protection of the sanctity of holy places and shrines: It was agreed between the two Governments at the Indo-Pakistan Conference held on 19th September, 1947, that the sanctity of holy places should be maintained and particular care would be taken to preserve such places intact even if they remained empty. Subsequently it was also agreed that all shrines, religious places etc. which were damaged during the disturbances should be repaired. Nevertheless, there have been many complaints regarding the desecration etc. of such place, details of which have been exchanged between the two Governments. In order to sort out the difficulties that had arisen in the implementation of this agreement, it was suggested by the Government of India in October, 1949, that an Inter-Dominion Conference might be held. This proposal was accepted by the Government of Pakistan in principle and as desired by them; a draft agenda was prepared and supplied to them, in June, 1951. But the proposed conference has not so far materialised. A reference is invited to the Government of India, Ministry of External Affairs Note No. F.22-II/51-Pak I, dated the 26th April 1952.

IV. Trust Property: - After discussions at a series of conferences it was decided by the two Governments in January, 1949 that a Joint Trust Property Committee consisting of members from each country should be appointed to consider:

(a) the report of the Inter-Dominion Trust Property Committee submitted on the 6th April, 1949; and

(b) any other suggestion that might be raised in this connection and to make recommendations.

This Committee has so far met only once on the 18th November 1950. It was unable to make any specific recommendations but it desired that deeds of dedication might be collected and exchanged in order to ascertain the founders’ intentions. Following this suggestion, the Government of India have collected as many deeds as possible, but so far no deeds have been exchanged. As the collection of deeds was proceeding, the Pakistan Government intimated that the question of treatment of immovable property relating to trusts could not entirely be detached from the general question of evacuee immovable properties, and might, therefore, be considered along with the latter.

V. Payment of pensions to displaced persons from East Bengal: It was suggested in the Government of India, Ministry of Rehabilitation, letter No.3(55)/51-N, dated the 13th September, 1952 to the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, that facilities may be granted to pensioners of East Bengal, West Bengal, Assam and Tripura to draw their pensions by Money Order from the Governments under whom they served. The arrangements were to be reciprocal. The views of the Government of Pakistan are still awaited. Meanwhile displaced persons from East Bengal are undergoing considerable hardship for want of satisfactory arrangements for the payment of their pensions. The Government of India have, therefore, re-examined the whole position recently, and should like to devise a scheme whereby easy payment of pensions is made possible to refugees on either side in the East.

VI. Part earned pensions: - The question of part earned pensions of displaced Government servants of Sind and N.W.F.P. has been the subject matter of discussion and correspondence between the two Governments since February 1948. The matter was further considered at the Inter-Dominion Conference held in December 1948 and “the consensus of opinion was that something must be done for these persons but the question must pend the settlement of an agreement between the two Dominions on the bigger issue of the pensions already earned”. On the conclusion of an already earned, the question of part earned pensions was again taken up. India has agreed to accept liability for part earned pensions, but Pakistan, we are told, is still considering the matter.

VII. Expansion of Central Claims Organisation: This Organisation has already done useful work, and the two Governments have agreed in principle that its activities should be expanded to that miscellaneous claims such as contractors’ dues, security and revenue deposits etc. may also be processed through it. Certain suggestions, and observations made by the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, in this regard have been examined and the Government of India’s views sent to them in the Ministry of Rehabilitation’s letter No.3(82) 52-N, dated the 20th October, 1952. There has been no progress since then.

VIII. Need for expeditious verification of claims by the Central Claims Organisation: At the Indo-Pakistan Conference held in New Delhi from 18th to 21st December 1950, it was decided that:—

(i) the work of the Central Claims Organisations in the two countries should be expedited and there should be frequent meetings of officers of the countries (once a month if possible) to review the progress made in verification and payments.

(ii) the working of the provisional payment arrangements should be reviewed within 3 months’ time.

So far there has been no meeting between the representatives of the two countries to review the progress of work done by the Central Claims Organisations or to review the working of the arrangements made for the provisional payment of pensions and provident funds due to the displaced Government servants etc. The suggestion made in February, 1952, that a meeting of the officers of the two countries might be held has been accepted by the Government of Pakistan’s Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, but no proposals regarding the date and venue of the meeting have so far been received; 13,300 claims have been verified by the C.C.O. of India till the 31.3.1953, and it is believed that its counterpart in Pakistan has verified about 5,800 claims.

IX. Exchange of Revenue Records: It was agreed at the Karachi Conference held in January, 1949, that copies of revenue records of certain agreed areas in India and Pakistan should be exchanged between the two countries. India has supplied a major portion of the records. A few records in respect of certain areas in Rajasthan and Delhi only remain to be supplied and these are being collected. India has yet to receive a large number of revenue records relating to areas in Bahawalpur, N.W.F.P, Sind, Karachi, Baluchistan and Khairpur. These records are urgently required for the verification of the claims of displaced persons from these areas.

X. Security deposit of Contractors, etc. with Govt. and Quasi Govt., Bodies: The question of non-forfeiture of security deposits of contractors where they failed to fulfill their obligations due to migration was raised by the Government of India at the Moveable Property Conference held in June, 1950, and as agreed, a detailed note on the subject was sent to the Government of Pakistan in August 1950. This matter was again considered at the December, 1950 Conference, but no decisions were reached. Subsequently, the Government of India was informed in the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation letter No.F.41(13)/50-P, dated the 17th October, 1952, that the matter had better be discussed at the proposed conference on Movable Evacuee Property. No conference has taken place yet and this matter is still pending.

3182. Letter from Minister of Rehabilitation to Pakistan Minister of Refugees and Rehabilitation.

New Delhi, May 20, 1953.

D.O. No. 1201/PSMR.  20th May, 1953

My dear Mr. Qureshi,

Please refer to your D.O. No.910/53 H.M. dated the 23rd May, 1953. I am thankful to your for the assurance that you will give all help that you can in resolving that disputes outstanding between the two countries on the question of evacuee property. I can assure you that I am equally anxious for a settlement.

2. I shall await your detailed reply.

3. Regarding para 3, sometime ago our Custodians prepared lists of the properties, which were in imminent danger of collapse. These properties are very old and dilapidated, being in the process of tumbling down and the cost of repairs which would have been almost in the nature of reconstruction would have been disproportionately heavy. It was, therefore, considered proper in the interest of the evacuee owner that the value of such properties may be cashed in good time. As you know the rains are approaching and the monsoon especially in Bombay in fairly heavy. If those properties are not disposed of most of them may become valueless after the rains. Any sums received in auctions which are being held after the widest advertisement are credited to the account of the evacuee owner. These sales are being held in discharge of the statutory obligation of the Custodian and with the object of ministering, preserving and managing the evacuee properties. No sale is held except with the prior approval of the Custodian General who examines the cases on merit under Section 10(2) (O) of the Administration of the Evacuee Property Act.

4. You will appreciate our anxiety not to do anything to prejudice the forthcoming negotiations by the fact that we decided to postpone our decision on the question of taking over the evacuee property for distributing compensation in respect of properties left by the refugees in West Pakistan until our negotiations with your Government are concluded. In the circumstances I hope you will appreciate the motive behind the disposal of some of the properties of the nature mentioned above and also agree that what we are doing is in the interest of the evacuees.

Yours Sincerely
Sd/- Ajit Prasad Jain

No.1910/53-H.M.  23rd May, 1953

My Dear Mr. Jain,

I acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your Letter No. PA/PSMR/Camp dated the 7th May 1953 on the question of evacuee property. I have no doubt that it should be possible, with good-will and a sense of realism on either side, to resolve the various disputes outstanding between our two countries, and it is my earnest desire to do all I can do in this process.

2. The questions raised in the note received with your letter cover a wide range and require a careful examination and I hope to write to you in details in due course.

3. In the meantime, however, I should like to bring to your notice that I have received some complaints both from individuals and through the press that the Custodian for Bombay in putting up evacuee house property to auction on various dates between the 1st and 10th June 1953. I find it difficult to believe that while it is proposed to reopen negotiations for an amicable solution of the question of evacuee property, your Custodian for Bombay should try to force a decision on what in after all the most important part of the whole dispute. I very much hope that this news is not correct; but if (it) is so, I am sure you will appreciate that action of this kind cannot be conducive to smooth tenor of the talks which we are both anxious to hold on the entire subject of evacuee property.

With Kind Regards,

Yours Sincerely

**********************

At the outset, Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna, the leader of the Indian Delegation briefly recapitulated the discussions which took place between the Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan on Sunday, the 26th July when Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna and Mr. Jaffar were also present. He mentioned that after a general discussion on the question of immovable and movable evacuee property, the two Prime Ministers directed that the two Advisers and the Officers of the Government of India and the Government of Pakistan should meet and discuss all the outstanding issues relating to evacuee claims and evacuee property and should try to find a solution of the problems. The present meeting, he said, had been convened as a result of this directive.

2. It was agreed that items falling under category ‘C’ of the Agenda approved by the Steering Committee should be taken up first. The items relating to, (i) “payment of pensions to displaced persons from East Bengal,”, (ii) “Part earned pensions of displaced Govt. Servants”, (iii) “settlement of claims of contractors and others through the Central Claims Organisations” and (iv) “slow verification of claims by the Central Claims Organisations” were postponed for later discussion as the representatives of the Ministry of Finance (Pakistan) were not ready for it.

3. Exchange of revenue records. The question of exchange of revenue records in respect of agricultural property was then discussed. It was stated that the Government of India had not received a large number of revenue records relating to Sind, Bahawalpur, the N.W.F.P and other areas and that some of the records supplied were not complete, specially in respect of the classification of the soil and the irrigation facilities of the lands in Sind and that in some cases the Government of Pakistan had indicated that they were not able to trace the names of the villages given in the lists transmitted by the Government of India. On behalf of the Government of Pakistan it was stated that more than 1,000 Jamabandis of various parts of India had not been received by them and that many of the Jamabandis supplied were lacking in important details. Furthermore, the Government of Pakistan thought that it was necessary that the revenue records of all the areas in India, to which the evacuee property law had been extended, should be supplied by India. The Indian delegates stated that they were prepared to consider the request and promised to give their final reply in the afternoon as to whether they would be prepared to furnish the revenue records in respect of the evacuee agricultural property in all the areas of India. On behalf of India the need for a visit of Indian officers to procure the details of outstanding revenue records, where the details were lacking, was stressed. It was agreed that while no village-to-village inspection could be contemplated, Pakistan would have no objection to their visit to settle any outstanding matters arising in this connection with the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation.

4. Security Deposits of Contractors. It was agreed that there were two types of cases under this category:—

(i) Cash securities deposited by contractors and others.

(ii) (a) Leases of open plots granted in urban areas by Municipalities, Improvement Trusts, Cantonment Boards etc. and
(b) Leases of agricultural land granted by Provincial Governments, such as the barrage lands in Sind or the Colony lands in the Punjab.

So far as cash securities are concerned, it was agreed that the depositors should not be penalized for non-fulfilment of conditions of the contract due to migration. The Pakistan representatives suggested that all Government dues should be deducted out of the Cash Securities before they are refunded. The Indian delegates, however, desired that Government dues pertaining to the particular contract only should be recovered and that all such claims should be examined by a Joint Committee consisting of the representatives of the two Governments. The Pakistan representatives agreed to examine this proposal.

On behalf of Pakistan it was stated that the position in regard to item (ii) (b) was that agricultural land in the colony and barrages areas had generally been resumed by the Provincial Governments in default of the terms and conditions of the grants and disposed of as non-evacuee property. The Indian delegates suggested that where it was not possible to cancel the new grants or assignments in respect of such land, the sale proceeds should be credited to the evacuee owners’ accounts with the Custodians. The Pakistan Representatives agreed to examine the suggestion.

5. Amendments to the Succession Act. The representatives of the Government of India stated that this subject was being dealt with by their Ministry of External Affairs. They would, however, consider whether they could discuss it during the period of their stay at Karachi.

6. The Pakistan delegation stated that according to the directions received from the Steering Committee the decisions taken at any of these meetings were to be considered final only after their approval by the two Governments concerned.

The Pakistan representatives enquired whether the Indian delegates had come to a decision regarding the supply of copies of revenue records of agricultural land declared evacuee in all the areas in India to which the Indian evacuee property law had been applied. Mr. Khanna, Adviser to the Ministry of Rehabilitation, India, stated that India would supply copies of revenue records of all agricultural property treated as evacuee property in all the areas to which the Indian evacuee property law had been applied.

2. In connection with the non-forfeiture of security deposits the Indian representatives referred to the case of the Punjab National Bank Ltd., whose assets were being attached and put to auction in execution of Court decrees relating to the earnest money in connection with Crown lands in Nilibar. It was suggested on behalf of India that these proceedings may be stayed in view of the general decision taken in this behalf. The Pakistan delegates mentioned that their Government had already requested the Punjab Government not to proceed with the matter and proposed to write to them again. They would also send a formal communication to this effect to the Ministry of Rehabilitation, Government of India.

3. Movable Property Agreement. Discussing the working of the movable property Agreement, the Indian representatives raised the question of en bloc transfer of safe deposits and lockers from West Pakistan. On behalf of Pakistan it was pointed out that the question of en-bloc transfer of such deposits and lockers was linked with the question of en bloc transfer of evacuee bank accounts under the Banking Agreement of 1949. While bulk transfer of evacuee bank accounts was specifically provided for in the Banking Agreement, bulk transfer of lockers was not provided for in the Movable Property Agreement. The Government of Pakistan had been advised by competent legal authority that there was no difference between cash deposits and articles held in lockers in so far as the question of their bulk transfer was concerned. In their letter No.4(173)-F.I/49 dated the 16th October 1950, the Ministry of Finance of the Government of India had themselves pointed out that en bloc transfer of bank accounts was not legally possible. The same difficulty arose in the en bloc transfer of lockers. The Ministry of Finance of the Government of India had further stated that unless the difficulties in regard to the realisation of banks’ assets in Pakistan were resolved, it was not possible to make any progress with the transfer of evacuee bank accounts. The banks’ assets in Pakistan largely consisted of advances against movable evacuee property. As a matter of fact, paragraph 8 of the Banking Agreement deals with the satisfaction of bank’s claims in respect of evacuee property through the Custodian. In this way the implementation of the two Agreements became linked. It was, therefore, suggested by Pakistan that the two items should be discussed at a joint meeting on the Movable Property Agreement and the Banking Agreement.

The Indian representatives considered that this linking was not desirable as the two Agreements were entirely separate. It was also stated that the bank accounts and the lockers did not fall into the same category of deposits. They were essentially different items whatever the legal opinion may be; and in this case banks did not have to realize their assets in order to return or transfer the deposits and the contents of the lockers. Furthermore, the Movable Property Agreement under the paragraph relating to articles deposited in banks etc., contemplated by implication the en bloc transfer of lockers and the Deputy High Commissioners of the two countries had also proceeded on this assumption while drawing up the detailed procedure in this behalf. The Indian delegates also pointed out that there was a similarity between the safe deposits and lockers on the one hand and the shares, securities and insurance policies deposited with the banks on the other and that general release orders were envisaged in both the cases. Moreover, since the Pakistan Government were apparently agreeable to the release of the deposits and the contents of the lockers on individual applications, there should be no objection to their en bloc transfer specially as in the present circumstances it would be difficult for the large number of depositors scattered all over the two countries to make their own arrangement for taking charge of the deposits and lockers. The Indian representatives therefore suggested that the items covered by the Movable Property Agreement should be taken up separately from those in the Banking Agreement.

The Pakistan delegates pointed out in reply that under para 2 of Implementation Instruction No.(3) the Deputy High Commissioners were only authorised “to work out exact arrangements for facilities to be given to banks and evacuees to remove to the other country articles against which no claims from local persons had been received.” This direction did not envisage en masse removal and in making the “assumption” that en masse removal could be carried out they went beyond their jurisdiction. For this reason the Government of Pakistan declined, as far back as June 1951, to accord approval to the proposal. The Pakistan representatives also observed that shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies deposited in Banks were to be free of all restrictions, legal and otherwise, under a specific provision of the Agreement, that they required no further release orders of the Custodian, and that all restrictions should be withdrawn forthwith. The Indian delegates did not accept these contentions.

The Pakistan delegates further stressed the need for a discussion of the two items (lockers and evacuee Bank accounts) at a joint meeting on the Movable Property Agreement and the Banking Agreement.

4. Household and Personal Effects. The item regarding restoration of personal and household property under the Movable Property Agreement was then discussed. It was agreed that all restrictions on through railway booking of personal and household effect should be removed. It was also agreed that fresh instructions should be issued to allow removal of this category of property to the other country in accordance with the terms of Implementation Instruction (2). It was suggested by India that lists of personal and household property lying in the custody of the Custodians should be exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two Governments within a period of two months from a date to be fixed later. The evacuee owners should be given a fixed period of six months in which to claim their restoration or disposal. Where no such claim is made the property, at the discretion of the Deputy High Commissioner concerned, may be removed to his headquarters for further action. The transportation charges for the removal of such property should be borne by the Government of the country within whose jurisdiction the property lies. Pakistan objected to this recommendation of free transport of property to the headquarters of the Deputy High Commissioner concerned, but on India's insistence promised to consider it further.

The properties not taken over by the evacuee owners for removal or sale or not required to be sent to his headquarters by the Deputy High Commissioner would be disposed of by the Custodians concerned by auction in the presence of the diplomatic representative of the evacuee's country and the sale proceeds handed over to the Diplomatic Representative concerned.

5. It was suggested on behalf of India that there should be no restriction on removal by evacuees of cash or bullion to the other country. It was pointed out by Pakistan that this was contrary to the Moveable Property Agreement and could not be accepted as all, such transfers must be subject to the normal Exchange Control. Indian representatives, however, desired this matter to be considered further.

6. With regard to the personal and household property left with relations and friends, it was agreed that evacuees should be allowed a further period of six months within which they must remove their property. As regards fresh evacuees, this period should count from the date of their becoming evacuees.

In this connection Pakistan representatives pointed out that the discrimination made by India against the so-called “first migrants” was untenable, and they are eligible to the benefits admissible to evacuees under the Moveable Property Agreement. The Indian representatives promised to look into the matter.

7. The question of income tax clearance certificates was raised by India and it was suggested that such certificates should not be demanded from an evacuee coming from the other country to seek restoration of his personal and household property. Pakistan representatives promised to consider this suggestion.

8. In connection with the sale of personal and household effects, it was suggested by India that only 10% of the sale proceeds should be deducted as the Custodian's fee and that no deduction should be made in case of articles physically taken over by the evacuee owner. It was pointed out by Pakistan that these proposals amounted to a modification of the relevant Implementation Instruction which allowed deduction of all the expenditure incurred on the administration of Moveable Property. They, however, agreed to examine the proposals further.

9. It was agreed that third party claims against only trade goods and merchandise and not against personal and household effects should be entertained. Such claims should be against the particular business only and not in respect of other dealings of the evacuee unconnected with the business. But payments already made by Custodians in respect of third party claims against moveable Property shall not be reopened.

According to India the forum for consideration of these claims should be a Joint Committee of one Officer each from India and Pakistan. In case of dis-agreement between the members of the Joint Committee, the matter would be referred to the Custodian whose order will be final. It was also agreed that no new third party claim should be invited or entertained against trade goods, excepting charges for storage or those created by courts, or those of the Banks in respect of such goods as are pledged or hypothecated with them. Such claims of the banks must be registered with the Custodian within three months. Pakistan delegates agreed to examine the proposal regarding adjudication of third party claims by the Joint Committee.

The discussion on the Moveable Property Agreement was resumed and the following items were discussed:

1. Restoration and revalidation of Bank drafts, Cheques etc. of Evacuees under the Moveable Property Agreement

Reference was made by Pakistan to a case of Patiala in which an evacuee lost his bank draft in transit in 1947 and, on applying for its duplicate copy, was informed by the bank that the matter was within the cognizance of the Custodian who did not permit issue of the copy. It was pointed out on behalf of Pakistan that such bank drafts, cheques etc., constituted movable property and should be free from the Custodian’s control under Implementation Instruction (2). After some discussion it was found that a few other isolated cases of this nature had come to the notice of the Ministry of Finance of the Government of Pakistan and that they had addressed the Ministry of Finance, Government of India, in this behalf. It was, however, decided that a full note on these cases might be furnished to the Indian Ministry of Rehabilitation to enable them to see what can be done about them.

2. Implementation Instruction (4)-Compensation for movable property allotted or acquired for rehabilitation purposes.

It was found that the Joint Committees had not yet been appointed and it was agreed that the jurisdiction and personnel of the Joint Committees initially required (two or three in number), should be decided by the two Governments in mutual consultation within a period of one month so that the Committees may start functioning. As provided in paragraph 8 of the Implementation Instruction, the moneys recovered by the Custodians will be paid to the diplomatic representative of the country concerned along with Lists showing full particulars.

3. Implementation Instruction (5)-Seized movable Property. It was agreed that lists of seized property, including seized fire arms should be exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two Governments within three months and that copies of the lists should simultaneously be forwarded to the Central Government of either country.

The procedure agreed to regarding personal and household effects will apply mutatis mutandis to seized moveable property as regards the removal, disposal and handing over of sale proceeds.

4. Implementation Instruction (6)-Buried treasures.

The procedure evolved for the recovery of buried treasures by the two Deputy High Commissioners in their meeting held on 4th January 1951 at Jullundur in accordance with the provisions of this instruction was approved by the representatives of both the Governments. It was also agreed that the implementation of this item should start within two months. As regards cash and bullion forming part of the buried treasures, it was agreed that the existing procedure for its disposal within the country must apply unless otherwise decided by the Government of Pakistan in the light of the proposal made by India vide paragraph 5 of the proceedings dated the 27th July 1953 (afternoon).

5. Implementation Instruction (7) – Sale proceeds of movable Property already deposited with Custodians.

It was agreed that the lists prepared in accordance with the existing Implementation Instruction should be exchanged between the diplomatic officers of the two Governments within two months, and that the net total amount due to evacuee owners should also be simultaneously paid to the diplomatic officers concerned.

As regards the deduction on account of the expenses incurred by the Custodians and in respect of third party claims etc. the principles to be decided on the proposals made in para 8 & 9 minutes of the meeting held on 27th July 1953 (afternoon) would apply.

6. Implementation Instruction (8)-Court Deposits, deposits of minors and others under the guardianship of courts, and deposits of wards under the Court of Wards Act.

The drafts legislation contemplated under this Instruction was referred to the Government of India and received back very recently. It was noted that the Government of India have suggested expansion of the definition of the word ‘deposits’ to include other valuables’. The Pakistan representatives thought that the definition should be absolutely precise, but that the word “valuables” was vague and might lead to varying interpretations. The Indian representatives felt that this wider definition would be more advantageous. It was decided that the matter would be discussed further between Mr. Abbasi and Mr. Mathrani.

The Pakistan representatives proposed that the legislation in question should straightaway be extended to the non-agreed areas also. The Indian representatives promised that the legislation in question should straightaway be extended to the non-agreed areas also. The Indian representatives promised to consider this proposal separately. It was further agreed that the legislation will not be held up on account of this issue.

7. Implementation Instructions (9) and (10)- Post office Savings Bank accounts and Postal Parcels.

It was agreed that these items should be postponed for consideration till the next day when a representative of the Posts & Telegraphs Department of the Government of Pakistan should be invited to attend.

The Indian representatives stated that no action had yet been taken by the Government of Pakistan to release non-evacuee joint stock companies and to pay compensation for such property of the Joint Stock Companies as had been acquired by the Government. Pakistan representatives explained that these companies were scattered over a wide area in West Pakistan and the individual enquiries have to be made, which takes time. Furthermore, the question of release of these Joint Stock Companies was under the Agreement specifically linked to the release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies lying in the custody of the banks. The paragraph of the Agreement dealing with “Shares and Securities, and Insurance Policies” clearly mentioned that India had “agreed to withdraw the restrictions on the transfer of shares and securities, Postal Savings Certificates, debentures, etc. in the custody of banks.” Further the opening paragraph of implementation Instruction (11)’ provides that the shares of non-evacuee Joint Stock Companies will be made free of all restrictions. Thus both under the main Agreement and the Implementation Instructions it was contemplated that shares, securities, debentures, insurance policies etc. lying in the custody of the banks would be released simultaneously with the non-evacuee Joint stock Companies.
The Indian representatives, however took the view that shares, securities, insurance policies etc., deposited with banks were in fact “bank deposits” and as such they could only be dealt with according to the procedure outlined in Implementation Instruction No. (3) along with lockers and other deposits. The paragraph of the Agreement dealing with “shares, securities and insurance policies” only laid down the principle that would withdraw restrictions on the transfer of shares, securities etc., in the custody of banks provided the question of properties of Joint Stock Companies was satisfactorily settled. The procedure for the release of such charges, securities, etc. was, however, governed by Implementation Instruction No.(3) which dealt with all bank deposits and there was nothing inconsistent between the paragraph of the agreement referred to above and the Implementation Instruction No.(3). There was every intention on the part of the Government of India to issue orders for the release of such securities simultaneously with the release by the Pakistan Govt. of the non-evacuee Joint Stock Companies or payment of compensation for properties acquired by Government. The Pakistan Government had, however linked up the procedure for bulk release of bank deposits with the Banking Agreement which in the view of the Indian delegation was totally unwarranted. The Indian delegation, therefore, again requested the Pakistan representatives to reconsider their stand and to deal with the Moveable Property Agreement separately on merits. If, however, the question regarding release of bank deposits under Implementation Instruction No.(3) was to be further postponed as suggested by the Pakistan delegation, the same decision would have to apply to release of shares, securities, etc., deposited in Banks.

The Indian delegation, further mentioned that the heading of this Instruction referred to “articles deposited with banks” and further in the body of the Instruction itself reference was to “articles, other than stock-in-trade deposited with banks, safe deposit vaults”. This would show that the Instruction did not refer only to safe deposit vaults and lockers but also to other articles deposited in banks.

The Pakistan representatives pointed out in reply that Implementation Instruction No.(3) did not even refer to “shares, debentures insurance policies etc.,” and could not be applied to them. The procedure for release of shares whether deposited in banks or otherwise, was specifically prescribed in Implementation Instruction (11) which deals with this whole subject. Likewise the procedure for release of “securities, debentures and insurance policies “whether deposited in banks or otherwise, is prescribed in Implementation Instruction (12). In other words while Pakistan depends for the release procedure for shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies on Implementation Instruction (11) and (12) dealing with them specifically, India depends for it in Implementations (3) dealing with the bank deposits generally. The common rule of interpretation is that specific provisions would prevail against general provisions, and so the Government of India were not justified in withholding the release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies deposited in banks.

The Indian delegation did not accept this point of view and no agreement could be reached on the implementation of these Instructions.

1. Implementation Instruction(9)-Post Office Savings Bank accounts, etc. The Indian delegates referred to the Government of India Ministry of Communication letter No.Ref.7-19/52, dated the 26th June/1st July 1953 and its enclosures and pointed out that particulars in respect of some accounts were available, these had been verified and could be exchanged with similarly verified accounts from Pakistan without waiting for the appointment of Liaison Officers. The remaining accounts could be left over for verification and exchange by the Liaison Officers when appointed. The Pakistan representatives explained, that there had been difficulties in actual transfer, and the appointment of Liaison Officers was considered essential for effective exchange of accounts in a smooth manner, otherwise complications were bound to arise again and implementation may be seriously delayed. In any case action was being taken to expedite the appointment of Liaison Officers and it was hoped that they would be appointed within the next two weeks or so. It was agreed that the appointment of Liaison Officers of the two countries may be awaited but that attempt should be made to start the actual work of exchange by 1st September 1953.

It was agreed that the foregoing arrangement would not apply to the following types of accounts, which at present formed a subject of correspondence between the Finance Ministers of two Governments:-

(i) Conjoint Accounts.
(ii) Public accounts.
(iii) Security deposit accounts of contractors.
(iv) Postal certificates pledged as security by contractors.

2. Implementation Instruction (10)-Postal Parcels.

It was pointed out that parcels had been held up for want of Customs clearance. Since the Implementation Instructions on this subject is quite clear that these Postal parcels would be allowed to be redirected without any export restrictions whatsoever and without any charge of custom duties, it was agreed that these instructions should be issued once again on both sides, and that the parcels withheld for want of customs clearance should be released to the officers who have already been nominated in the two countries for internal distribution.
In this connection it was pointed out on behalf of Pakistan that the implementation of the Instruction was being held up in Delhi and Ajmer Merwara. The Indian representatives stated that they were not seized of the full facts and they would suggest that the matter be discussed between the Directors General, Posts and Telegraphs, India and Pakistan.

3. The Pakistan Adviser desired to know whether this meeting could make a recommendation to the effect that the operation of evacuee property legislation should be suspended for future in both the countries. The Indian Adviser explained that this question was generally discussed between the two Prime Minister at Karachi on the 26th July and that though the Prime Minister of India felt that the legislation was of an unusual nature, which had been enacted on account of abnormal conditions created by partition be considered that the operation of the law could not be suspended until an overall settlement of the problem of evacuee property had been reached. Further, he thought that legal difficulties were also likely to arise.

1. Mr. Ahmed E.H. Jaffar, Advisor Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, Government of Pakistan
The Adviser for Pakistan raised the question of refund of unclaimed interest on deposit made by Muslim in the Post Office Saving Bank Accounts. He stated that the question had been raised by his father, the late Sir Ebrehim Haroon Jaffer, in the Council of State, India as late as 1925-26. The proposal was that since some Muslims did not claim interest on their deposits in Post Office Saving Banks and a large unclaimed amount had thus accumulated, it should be released and earmarked for the education of Muslim children. The Government of India had agreed to refund this amount. The matter was again taken up by him personally in 1935 in the Central Assembly.

2. In 1945, the then Finance Minister intimated that the Government of India were collecting data relating to this amount. Latter in the same year, the Government intimated that they could release Rs. 1,50,000/- in this behalf. This was not acceptable to him. In 1947, the late Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan, the then Finance Minister of the Government of India, said that the Government would be prepared to release Rs. 2, 50,000/- and no more. This latter figure was accepted but arrangement for its refund could not be finalized up to the time of Partition.
Since then he had been trying without success to pursue the Government of India to distribute this sum of Rs.2,50,00/- between India and Pakistan in the ratio of their Muslim population, so that the amount could be spent on the education of Muslim children in both the countries.

3. The India Adviser stated that he was prepared to have this matter examined in the Government of India if a note containing full details was sent to him.

(1) Disposal of uneconomic urban properties.

Mr. Khanna stated that some of the urban properties were in such a bad condition that it was no more an economic proposition for the Custodians to administer them and the Government of India wanted to dispose of them by public auction. He added that the proceeds would be credited to evacuee owners’ accounts. In this connection he mentioned that notices have been received by the Custodians from Municipalities in certain cases. Some of the properties had fallen down in Delhi, Lucknow and Bombay even during the recent rains. The size of the problem was a very small and the number of such properties, recently proposed to be auctioned, was only in hundreds. The matter had already been a subject of correspondence between the ministries of the two countries. He felt that there should be no objection on the part of Pakistan Government to the suggestion. The Indian representatives also mentioned that the Custodians were empowered to sell or dispose of the property under the Evacuee Property Law for the purpose of its proper administration and management.

The Pakistan representatives replied that their Government could not agree to this proposal as it involved the extinguishment of evacuees’ rights in urban immovable property and its disposal on the basis of Governmental responsibility.

(2) Approval by the two Governments of proposals made or agreed upon

All the proposals that have been agreed to will be subject to confirmation by both the Governments. Attempt should be made to obtain this confirmation within one month. The matters left open for further consideration may also be disposed of during this period.

(3) Issue of supplementary instructions.

After the finalization of those proposals supplementary instructions will be issued by the two Governments on an agreed basis for the guidance of Custodians, Liaison Officers, Rehabilitation authorities, etc.

(4) The question of appointment of Liaison Officer for the implementation of the Moveable Property Agreement would be taken up by the two Governments in consultation with each other.

Item ‘C’ (27) of India’s list

Payment of Pensions to Displaced Persons from East Bengal.

The Indian representatives proposed that the facilities for transfer of pensions between the two Bengals, which existed up to the 31st December, 1949 should be restored to negate the hardship to the displaced pensioners and pending final transfer of pension papers, a scheme should be devised whereby provisional payment of pensions may be made to displaced pensioners on either side. The Pakistan representatives stated that they agreed to the revival of the facilities for transfer of pensions in principle, but the questions of detail such as the date up to which the transfers should be permitted, the arrangement for provisional payment etc., and all other consequential matters should be settled between the two Provincial Governments. If there was any difference of opinion between the Provincial Governments, the matter should be discussed again at the level of the Central Governments. Efforts should be made to finalise the arrangements within a month.
2. The Pakistan representatives stated that the arrangement would apply to the pensioners of undivided Bengal only. The Indian representatives stated that it should not only cover the pensioners of undivided Bengal but also those pensioners who retired in the two Bengals after partition. The Pakistan representatives promised to consider the suggestion in consultation with the East Bengal Government.

3. The Pakistan representatives suggested that arrangements would apply to the pensioners of undivided Bengal only. The Indian Representative stated that it should not only cover the pensioners of undivided Bengal but also those who retired in the two Bengals after partition. The Pakistan representative promised to consider the suggestion in consultation with the East Bengal Government.

4. The Pakistan representative suggested that similar arrangements should be made for transfer of pensions between Assam and East Bengal. The India representatives had no objection to this proposal.

Item ‘C’ (28) of India’s list.

Part – Earned Pensions of Displaced Government Servants

The Government of India had proposed that the employees of the undivided Provinces, States and centrally-administered areas who had no right of option and had migrated from one country to the other should be allowed the benefit of pension for the period of service rendered by them prior to migration. It was suggested by India that the most equitable arrangement would be for the Government concerned in other country to assume responsibility for the payment of that portion of the pension which pertained to the period of pensionable service rendered under it and that the liability may be liquidated by the Government concerned either by a lump sum payment or in any other manner considered suitable and convenient. The Pakistan representatives stated that the matter was under consideration of the Pakistan Government in consultation with the Provincial Governments, etc. and that a decision would be expedited. The Indian representatives suggested that efforts should be made to take a decision within three months.

Item ‘C’ (29)

Statement of claims of contractors and others Through The central Claims Organization.

It was agreed at the Indo-Pakistan Conference held in December, 1950 that the question of expanding the existing Central Claims Organisation for progressing the verification and settlement of claims of contractors and other evacuees should be examined. Since then the matter has been under correspondence between the two Central Governments. Both the Governments have agreed to the expansion of the Central Claims Organisation for this purpose.

2. As regards the items to be brought within the purview of the Central Claims Organisation there is no disagreement in regard to the following items.

i. claims of contractors of all types (including claims against States and Local Bodies) for supplies and services rendered; for refund of earnest money, securities etc., and refund of deposits on account of sale of surplus stores.

ii. Securities deposited by evacuees on account of Ration Shops, Food Grain Syndicates, liquor shops, etc.

iii. Securities deposited by treasury contractors.

iv. Dues of evacuees in respect of Court of Wards, Encumbered Estates etc. In other than mass migration areas as indicated in the Moveable Property Agreement of June, 1950, and Implementation Instruction No.8.

v. Determined deposits of evacuees in courts and decree claims in favour of evacuees where the money is payable by or lying with Government or quasi Government bodies.

vi. Dues of evacuees payable by Cooperative Institutions including Railway Cooperative Societies and also Societies in undivided Bengal and Assam, if they were catering for Central Government employees only.

Note: Claims against cooperative societies in undivided Bengal and Assam and in areas covered by the Banking Agreement of April, 1949 (except those mentioned above) will be settled separately under existing arrangements between the divided provinces of Bengal and Punjab.

vii. Dues of teachers and examiners etc. payable by Universities including pay, leave-salary, provident Fund etc.

viii. Refund of examination fees due to evacuees from Universities.

ix. Revenue deposits payable to evacuees.

x. Scholarships due to evacuee students.

xi. Dues of evacuees in respect of Postal Life Insurance Policies (Policies which have become payable plus capitalized value of un-matured policies).
xii. Provident fund dues and pension claims of ex-employees of the Reserve Bank of India.

3. The Indian Representatives suggested that dues of the displaced employees of the Punjab University and Punjab Public Library should also be included. The Pakistan representatives replied that not only the dues of displaced employees of the Punjab University and the Punjab Public Library, Lahore, should be added to the list but this item should cover all Universities and all Public Libraries in the two countries including Jamia Millia, Delhi, and the Anglo Arabic College, Delhi. After some discussion it was agreed that claims against the Public Libraries would be considered separately and that item (vii) above should be reworded as follows:

"Dues (including pay, leave salary and Provident Fund etc.) of University employees and dues of Examiners payable by Universities including the Punjab University, Lahore and Jamia Millia, Delhi."

4. As regards Anglo-Arabic College it was agreed, after some discussion, that reference should be made separately by Pakistan if the item was not covered by the Banking Agreement of April, 1949.

5. In their letter dated 21st October, 1952, India had agreed to include the claims for compensation to shareholders of the Reserve Bank of India on the condition that claims for compensation for Joint Stock Company property acquired by Government and quasi-Government Bodies in Pakistan should also be included. The Pakistan representatives pointed out that the question of payment of compensation to shareholders of the Reserve Bank of India should not be linked with that of compensation claims for Joint Stock Company Property. India did not agree. As compromise it was agreed that (i) compensation claims of shareholders of Reserve Bank of India and (ii) claims for compensation on account of Joint Stock Company Property may be included in that list of items, subject to the condition that while applications regarding (i) may be entertained forthwith payment in this behalf would be made only after decision had been taken in regard to the payment in respect of (ii).

6. In regard to item (vi) of the list, India raised the question of recovery of dues of Cooperative Societies from evacuee members and suggested that in the case of Government servants who are still in service, the two Governments should take the responsibility for effecting recoveries and that in the case of those who had retired from service, the two Governments should use their good offices. Similarly, in the case of private persons, Governments may use their good offices to recover the dues. The Pakistan representatives point out that there being no legal authority to affect recoveries, the Government of Pakistan cannot take any responsibility in the matter but they will use their good offices for effecting recoveries from Government servants who are still in service. After some discussion it was agreed that there was no objection to the Claims Organisations processing the claims for recovery of dues of Cooperative Societies from their migrant members. Such claims will be passed on to the parties concerned. In the case of Government servants, the Heads of Department would be requested to persuade the employees concerned to honour their obligation.

7. The Pakistan representatives referred to the correspondence resting with Government of India, Ministry of Finance, letter No.2(69).F.I./51, dated the 24th April, 1952 in regard to claims for refund of the value of defective and damaged India notes and suggested that this item may also be processed through the Central Claims Organisation. The Indian representatives promised to consider the matter.

8. The Pakistan representatives pointed out with reference to Section (i) of the list that claims for services rendered and supplies made to the undivided Government of India have already been submitted by the contractors in Pakistan to the authorities concerned, in India in accordance with the Government of India Press Communiqué of 22nd/23rd May, 1948. The bulk of these claims must have been verified by now and it would cause hardship and involve practical difficulties if the contractors were asked to put in fresh claims after a period of 5 years. It was, therefore, necessary that in the case of the claims of Pakistan contractors against the undivided Government of India payment authorities should be issued forthwith by the Indian Accounts Officer through the Central Claims Organisation. The Indian representatives agreed that no fresh claims would be invited where the claims had already been submitted and in cases where verification had already been completed, payment authorities would be issued forthwith through the Central Claims Organisation. In cases where any information was lacking further enquiries would be made through the Central Claims Organisation.

9. It was decided that an agreed Press Communiqué should be issued on the same date in India and Pakistan, inviting claims.

Item ‘C’ (30)

Slow Verification of claims by the Pakistan Central Claims Organisation.

The Indian representatives stated that the Claims Organisations were doing very useful work but the progress was slow on both sides which was not due to any fault of the Organisations but was caused by the delay on the part of verifying authorities. They also suggested that a target should be fixed by which all the claims should be cleared. The Pakistan representatives stated that instructions had already been issued by the Government of Pakistan to all the authorities concerned to give highest priority to the verification of those claims and suggested that both the Governments should issue fresh instructions in the matter. Further, it was suggested that as already agreed, the officers of the two Governments should meet and devise ways and means to speed up the work. They should also reconcile the figures given by the two sides. It appeared that the figures of outstanding claims from Pakistan against PEPSU numbering about 5,000 had not been included by India. It was agreed that the officers should meet within one month, if possible, and submit a joint report to the Central Governments. The feeling was shared by the representatives of both the countries that those claims should be cleared by the end of this year.

Trust Property: The question of trusts and trust properties was generally discussed between the two delegations. It was agreed that the Trust Property Committee of 1949 should be revived. Its personnel may be changed or terms of reference revised, if necessary, by the two Governments in mutual consultation. The committee should be required to submit its report within three months from the date of its appointment.

2. It was also agreed that the question of management of the properties attached to religious and holy places in the two countries may be taken out of the purview of the Trust Property Committee and taken up by the two Governments direct for discussion in order to expedite decisions thereon. For this purpose the Indian delegates promised to provide the Government of Pakistan with a detailed note on the subject together with the lists of such religious or holy places in West Pakistan, the properties of which are not to be dealt with by the Trust Property Committee. The Pakistan delegates also promised to furnish a similar list in respect of the religious or holy places in India.

The question of places of religious worship was discussed. It was felt that
(i) every effort should be made to ensure that places of religious worship in both countries are properly protected and maintained and their sanctity preserved, particularly in the case of buildings of historical importance; buildings which have been damaged should be repaired;
(ii) Increased facilities for visits to places of worship in both countries should be granted to pilgrims on their auspicious days; the Sewadars and Khadims at such places of worship should be granted facilities for residence and adequate protection; and
(iii) The question of properties attached to these shrines should be dealt with separately from the general question of Trust Properties. It was suggested by Secretary of the Ministry of the Interior that the matter should be discussed further with the Ministry of Refugee & Rehabilitation, Government of Pakistan, who are concerned with it.

2. The proposal regarding the appointment of a joint commission of the representatives of the two Governments for enquiring into matters referred to (in paragraph 1) above, and for making a factual survey about the condition of the important shrines and holy places after visiting them and making recommendations in the light of such enquiries and survey, was considered and it was felt that its further consideration should be deferred to a later stage.

D.O. No. ADV/53. 6th August, 1953

Dear Mr. Prime Minister,

As desired by you during the course of the talk that I had with you on the afternoon of 5th August 1953, I enclose herewith a note on the present position of negotiations on the various issues relating to evacuee property.

Yours sincerely

Mehr Chand Khanna

The Hon’ble Mr. Mohammed Ali,
Prime Minister of Pakistan,
Prime Minister’s House,
Karachi.

Note Regarding The Present Position Of Negotiations on the Various Issues Relating to Evacuee Property.

The Indian delegation came to Karachi on Sunday, the 26th July 1953 in order to discuss the problems relating to evacuee property – both movable and immovable – as also certain other items included in the list prepared by the Indian Steering Committee.

These items are :-

(1) Shrines and holy places,
(2) Trust properties,
(3) Payment of pensions to displaced persons from East Bengal,
(4) Part earned pensions of displaced Government servants,
(5) Settlement of claims of contractors and others through the Central Claims Organization,
2. In regard to the items enumerated above, discussions have taken place and decisions reached in respect of most of them.

3. The principal question, however, for discussion was in respect of evacuee property which falls into three categories, namely:

   (i) Agricultural property.

   (ii) Urban immovable property.

   (iii) Movable property.

   (i) Agricultural property. - The bulk of the agricultural property on both sides has been allotted to displaced persons on “Quasi permanent” or “provisional permanent” basis and lakhs of refugees have been settled thereon by the grant of loans and other financial assistance. There can, therefore, be no questions of uprooting them after a lapse of four/five years. The Indian representatives suggested “Government to Government” settlement. The Pakistan representatives stated that at the present juncture, they could not agree to “Government to Government” settlement and that the manner in which the problem may be settled can only be discussed by them after copies of the land records have been obtained in respect of non-agreed areas also and after claims have been invited and scrutinized. As these operations are likely to take a year or two, it would seem that we will not be in a position to discuss this very important question till then. The exchange of land records is hardly relevant to a settlement as this information is required merely for settling individual claims.

   The land revenue records in respect of agreed areas which constitute a bulk of the problem, have already been exchanged between the two Governments. The agricultural lands in the non-agreed areas represent only a fraction of the total area. The magnitude of the problem is, therefore, known to both the Governments.

   (ii) Urban immovable property. - Lakhs of families on both the sides have left their houses and other buildings behind and are not likely to be in a position to enjoy or make use of the property. As almost six years have elapsed since the partition, the question of the ultimate disposal of the property has become more pressing. In this case too, India has suggested ‘Government to Government’ settlement as the only solution to the problem.
The Pakistan representatives, however, favour private sales and exchanges. The proposal is fraught with several difficulties. In the mass – migration areas on both sides – NWFP, Punjab (P), Baluchistan and Bahawalpur in Pakistan and Punjab (I), PEPSU, and Himachal Pradesh in India – the minority population is practically non – existent. The properties are generally occupied by refugees on both the sides and it is obvious that they will not fetch a reasonable price as there will be no fair competition. The scope for sale of evacuee properties, is therefore, very limited.

For the matter of exchanges too, we are doubtful whether we shall achieve any substantial results. More than 60 to 70% of the property is owned by small owners who will find it very difficult to exchange their properties. The exchanges may help some bigger landlords.

Another important factor is the disparity in the quantum of property left on the two sides. For this reason too, a large number of properties may not be covered by exchanges.

The experiment of private sales and exchanges was tried earlier without any appreciable results. As the number of properties involved runs into lacs, it will take years to tackle the bulk of the problem. A displaced person has already waited for 6 years; he wants immediate help.

The India delegation enquired of the Pakistan representatives as to for what period this method was proposed to be tried again and further whether the Pakistan Government had any suggestion to make regarding house and buildings on either side which remained un–disposed of. The Pakistan representatives were, however, not prepared to discuss the implications of this proposal. In our view, the solution of this problem should be a comprehensive one.

(iii) Movable Property. – In regard to movable property, decisions have been taken only on minor points, such as the sale and transfer of household and personal effects, seized movable property, undelivered postal parcels, etc. Hardly any new decisions in respect of these items have been taken and what has been done is to reiterate the earlier decisions. The question has been one of implementation and some of the difficulties in the matter of implementation still remain unresolved. These are:-

(1) Free transport of these articles to the headquarters of the Deputy High Commissioner of the country concerned for restoration or sale of goods.

(2) Removal of restrictions on remittances of sale proceeds of goods to the other country.

(3) Waiving of income tax clearance certificates in respect of evacuees coming from the other country to seek restoration of their personal effects.
(4) Administration charges being restricted to 10% of the sale proceeds and the waiving of the administration charges where property in question is made over physically to the evacuee owners.

(5) The appointment of Joint Committees for adjudication of third party claims. Unless a decision on these points is taken, the decisions cannot be fully implemented.

The only important items in the Movable Property Agreement are:–

(a) The bulk transfer of lockers and safe deposits;

(b) The restoration of property of non–evacuee joint stock companies and the payment of compensation for properties of joint stock companies acquired; and

(c) Release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies deposited in Banks.

No settlement has so far been reached on any of these items.

Item (a) has been linked with the Banking Agreement by the Pakistan representatives. A decision was taken in June 1950 by both the Governments that lockers and safe deposits will be released. With a view to see that least inconvenience was caused to evacuees and to avoid harassment which necessarily accompanies the issue of permits, income tax clearance certificates etc., it was all along contemplated that these lockers and safe deposits would be transferred en bloc from one country to another. Pakistan has not implemented this decision so far but has suggested it’s linking up with the Banking Agreement. These are two separate Agreements, i.e., the Banking Agreement and Movable Property Agreement. Even according to the items classified by the Pakistani Steering Committee, implementation of the Banking Agreement has been put down as item (23) to be dealt with by the Ministry of Finance. It is, therefore, outside the purview of our present negotiations. The Movable Property Agreement should be treated as distinct from the Banking Agreement and dealt with on its own merits. Once having agreed upon the release of these lockers, there should be no objection to their bulk transfer.

As regards (b), we have suggested that the properties of non–evacuee joint stock companies should be released by Pakistan and compensation paid for properties acquired. Pakistan accepts this potion.

Regarding (c), Pakistan has proposed that all shares securities, debentures and insurance policies deposited in banks should be released. There is no difference in principle in respect of (b) and (c) between the two Governments, except that the release of shares and securities deposited in banks has to be done in the same manner as safe deposits and lockers which are also deposited with banks. Thus items (a), (b) and (c) should be implemented together as part of the Movable Property Agreement.

*****************

DRAFT NOTE

It was agreed that simultaneous action should be taken by India and Pakistan in respect of the following items:-

(1) Bulk transfer of Muslim bank accounts under the Banking Agreement of 1949.

(2) Bulk release and transfer of articles deposited in banks, including lockers and safe deposits.

(3) Restoration of property of non-evacuee joint stock companies.

(4) Payment of compensation for properties of joint stock companies acquired by Government.

(5) Release of non-evacuee shares and of debentures, securities and insurance policies deposited in banks.

2. In regard to (1), India agrees to authorize the bulk transfer of Muslim bank accounts under the Banking Agreement, 1949. As regards the other items covered by the Banking Agreement, it was agreed that a meeting should be held within one month between the Finance Ministries of India and Pakistan for discussing the implementation of the Banking Agreement.

3. As regards (2), it was agreed that the articles deposited in banks, including safe deposits and lockers, should be released and transferred en bloc. In the case of Punjab (P), N.W.F.P. and Bahawalpur, third party claims of pawns have already been invited and no fresh third party claims will be invited. In regard to the other areas in Pakistan as also all the areas in India to which the evacuee property law applies, third party claims of pawns will be invited on an agreed date (tentatively 15th September 1953) in accordance with the procedure laid down in the Implementation Instruction No. (3) and one month’s time given for filing of such claims. These claims will be settled by Joint Committees as provided in the Implementation Instruction No. (3) and its enclosure. The en bloc transfer of these deposits and lockers will, however, not be held up pending the settlement of third party claims. The two Governments will take the responsibility for all such third party claims in respect of articles released to that Government and to implement the finding of the Joint Committees.
4. As regards (3), the two Governments will exchange within one month of the ratification of these decisions the lists of properties of Non-evacuee joint stock companies which have to be restored by them. The lists to be furnished by each Government should clearly indicate the important conditions of the existing leases or allotments, the period for which they have been given and the date on which they are likely to expire. The properties of these companies will be restored to them.

5. As regards (4), lists of properties of joint stock companies acquired by both Governments with their approximate values should be exchanged within one month of ratification. These should indicate cases in which compensation has already been assessed and the amounts of compensation so assessed. Where compensation has already been assessed, the amount should be paid to the diplomatic representative of the other Government. Where compensation has not been assessed, it should be assessed in accordance with the provision laid down in Implementation Instruction No. (4) and provisional payment equal to the approximate value shown in the statement made to the diplomatic representative of the country concerned.

6. As regards (5), release orders should be issued in respect of non-evacuee shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies deposited in banks, after inviting third party claims on an agreed date (provisionally 15th September 1953) and giving one month’s notice to the parties concerned to file their claims. These claims will be examined by Joint Committees as in the case of lockers and safe deposits. The release of these shares, Securities, debentures and insurance policies will, however, not be held up pending the settlement of third party claims. The two Governments will take the responsibility for all such third party claims in respect of such shares, securities etc., released and to implement the findings of the Joint Committees.

7. Simultaneous action will be taken for release, restoration, transfer or payment in respect of the items mentioned above on an agreed date, provisionally 1st November, 1953.

D.O. No. ADV/53, 7th August, 1953

Camp. Hotel Metropole,
Karachi,

Dear Mr. Ahmed,

When we met on the 1st of August 1953 in connection with the question of the preservation, maintenance and care of places of worship, I mentioned to you that we had received information that three important Gurdwaras of Sikhs in Lahore, viz., Bawli Sahib, Shahid Gunj and Chaudvha (Mozang) had been very seriously damaged. In fact, according to our information, Gurdwara Bawli Sahib had been razed to the ground. This was causing us some anxiety and we would like to have detailed information in that connection. You told us that you will get the necessary information from the Punjab Government and convey to us at our next meeting on the 4th of August 1953. At the subsequent meeting, you mentioned that the information had not been received so far and that you will obtain it by the next day. I shall be grateful if you would let me know whether any reply has been received from your Provincial Government.

Yours sincerely

3195. Letter from Advisor, Ministry of Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna to Secretary to Pakistan Ministry of Refugees W. K. Abbasi.

Camp: Karachi, August 8, 1953.

No. ADV/53/Kar 8th August, 1953

I met the Hon'ble Prime Minister of Pakistan yesterday and discussed with him certain important matters relating to evacuee property. I learnt from him that Pakistan Government had agreed to our suggestion regarding free transport, the Custodian’s charges being limited to ten percent, and the removal of restrictions on remittances of sale proceeds. Regarding the last item, it was suggested that a start may be made by remitting equal amounts on both sides. As regards the waiving of income tax clearance certifications, it was felt that the matter may be examined by the Central Boards of Revenue of the two Governments. In regard to the appointment of Joint Committees for adjudication of third party claims, I was told that the matter was still under examination and that a decision would be taken within the next day or two. I think it will be better if we hold a meeting tomorrow, the 10th August 1953, and record our decisions.

I will come round to your office at 10.00 A.M. In case, it is not convenient to you, please give me a ring and suggest a suitable time.

2. There are certain other outstanding matters like (a) the definition of the word ‘deposits’ in the draft legislation relating to the transfer of Court deposits etc., (b) our suggestion that the Custodian should not divest himself of the movable property at the time of its restoration to evacuee owners, and (c) the bulk transfer of lockers and allied questions, which we may also discuss at the same time.

3. I hope it will be possible to issue our first joint communiqué tomorrow evening.

Yours sincerely

D.O.No. ADV/53/KAR. 11th August, 1953

Ministry of Rehabilitation
India. (Camp) Hotel Metropole,
Karachi

Dear Mr. Prime Minister,

When I met you on the afternoon of Saturday, the 8th August 1953, you were of the view that the three items mentioned in my note regarding the bulk transfer of lockers and safe deposits; release of securities, shares, debentures and insurance policies; and the restoration of the property of Joint Stock Companies and payment of compensation for such properties acquired should be taken up along with the bulk transfer of Muslim bank accounts. You felt that the Movable Property Agreement would thus be implemented in toto and we would have crossed one major hurdle. This would also cause great satisfaction amongst refugees. I told you that though the release of Muslim bank accounts had nothing to do with the Movable Property Agreement; I would convey your wishes to my Government.

2. Thereafter I contacted Mr. Abbasi, and we met yesterday when I gave Messrs Jaffar and Abbasi the gist of the talk that I had with you. I suggested to them that we might proceed on the assumption that the Government of India may accept the suggestion of the Hon'ble Prime Minister of Pakistan and gave them a draft note (copy enclosed) which I felt might form the basis of discussion. Mr. Abbasi stated that he would like to examine the note in consultation with the Ministry of Finance and that we should meet again this morning. At our today's meeting, I was informed that though Pakistan would insist on the bulk transfer of Muslim bank accounts and the general release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies, they would agree to the immediate release of only those lockers against which there were no third party claims.

3. As you would remember, on the very first day, when discussions were held between yourself and the Prime Minister of India regarding evacuee property, I mentioned that India would like all lockers and safe deposits to be transferred en bloc and that she would take full responsibility for any claims in respect of such deposits. During our discussions too with the Pakistani delegation, we made this point amply clear. On our part, we had assured them that in case Pakistan accepted similar responsibility in the case of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies, India would agree to their general release. This position has been reiterated in paragraphs 3 and 6 of the accompanying draft note. It will be appreciated that we had suggested a hundred per cent reciprocal arrangement.

4. It came to us as a great surprise when it was suggested by the Pakistan delegation that whereas in the case of Muslim bank accounts and shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies, these should be transferred and released en bloc without inviting and meeting third party claims, they would agree to the transfer of only those lockers and safe deposits against which no third party claims had been received. As regards the Provinces of Sind, Karachi and Baluchistan, claims were to be invited and no lockers and safe deposits would be released till then. Our suggestion that all lockers should be transferred en bloc and that the Government of India would take full responsibility for meeting third party claims after they have been adjudicated by joint committees is not acceptable to them. I even made it clear that the contents of the lockers against which third party claims were pending would not be handed over by us to the owners concerned till such claims had been settled.

5. The question of payment of compensation for the properties of Joint Stock Companies acquired by the Central and Provincial Governments in Pakistan is also of great importance to us. Some of the companies were acquired years back. The impression that we gathered from the talks this morning was that compensation had been assessed only in a few cases. If the agreement is to be implemented simultaneously which we have all along intended with a view to relieve distress and hardship, it is essential that a time limit should be fixed for assessment and payment of compensation. We could not get a definite reply from the Pakistani delegation in this respect. To meet this difficulty, I suggested approximate valuation and payment on a provisional basis; even this was not accepted.

6. I now await your further wishes in the matter.

7. Two other major points that I had mentioned in my note related to agricultural lands and urban houses. You said that you were having the matter examined and may have a discussion with me either on Monday or Tuesday. I shall be grateful if you would let me know when I may see you in that connection.

Yours sincerely

Note on the Discussions held with Pakistan Delegation on the question of Moveable Properties

Under the instructions of the two Prime Ministers, Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna, Adviser, Ministry of Rehabilitation, India, and Mr. Ahmed E.H. Jaffer, Adviser, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, Pakistan, assisted by the officers of their respective Governments held a series of discussions in Karachi from the 27th July to the 13th August, 1953, on the subject of evacuee property.

2. Every important problem concerning evacuee property and evacuee claims was examined. The working of the Movable Property Agreement in particular came in for a detailed review with a view to provide greater facilities to evacuees for removal, disposal, etc., of their movables. Agreement was reached on various matters like the refund of cash security deposits of contractors without imposition of penalties for non-fulfillment of contracts due to migration, removal or disposal by evacuees of their personal and household effects, appointment within one month of Joint Committees for assessment of compensation where it has not already been determined for movable property allotted or acquired for rehabilitation purposes, restoration of seized articles, including fire – arms, and exchange of lists of sale proceeds and payment of such sale proceeds to the diplomatic representatives of the two Governments within two months. The procedure for the recovery of buried treasures has been approved by the two delegations. It has also been agreed that the appointment of Liaison Officers should be expedited so as to enable the actual work of exchange of postal accounts to start by the 1st September 1953. With regard to Postal parcels, it was agreed that these should be released to the officers nominated by the two Governments for internal distribution without any customs restrictions.

3. It was contemplated under the Movable Property Agreement that legislation should be undertaken by both the Governments to facilitate the transfer of court deposits, deposits of minors and others under the guardianship of courts, and the deposits of wards under the Court of Wards Act from one country to the other. The draft legislation was discussed and approved.

4. The questions relating to the bulk transfer of lockers, restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies and payment of compensation where such properties have been acquired by Government, release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies held in banks were examined and discussions will be resumed in the near future.

5. The problem of urban and agricultural evacuee properties was discussed between the two delegations but no decisions were arrived at. It was, however, agreed that the exchange of revenue records between the two countries should be expedited. These matters will also be further discussed.
6. The desirability of expediting the verification of claims of employees of Provincial Governments, States and Local Bodies regarding pensions and provident fund, and arrears of pay and leave salary through the Central Claims Organization was recognized and it was agreed that all possible steps should be taken to this end. It was further decided that the functions of the Organization should be expanded so as to deal with other claims of evacuees against Governments and quasi—Government bodies in the two countries, such as claims of contractors, dues of evacuees in respect of Court of Wards etc. in other than mass—migration areas, dues of evacuees against cooperative institutions, claims of staff of Universities etc.

The question relating to the transfer of pensions of displaced pensioners from the two Bengals and Assam was also discussed. While agreement was reached in principle, matters of detail were left over for settlement between the Provincial Governments concerned. In regard to the question of treatment of pensionable service of displaced Government servants of undivided Provinces, rendered by them before migration, no decision was taken.

7. The Advisers also discussed the question regarding the maintenance, care and protection of places of worship, especially of historical importance, facilities for Sewadars and Khadims, visits of pilgrims to those places and the management and utilization of property attached to them with the officers of the Ministry of the Interior and the Ministry of Refugees & Rehabilitation. There was general agreement that the two Governments should take necessary steps in this behalf. It was felt that the question of management of properties attached to places of worship may be taken up separately from the general question of trust properties in order to expedite a decision thereon. The question of other trusts and trust properties was also discussed and it was agreed that the Trust Property Committee should be revived to go into the various issues involved and submit its report within three months.

8. The proposals agreed to by the delegates of the two countries are subject to final approval by the two Governments.

Karachi,
13th August, 1953.

New Delhi, August 19, 1953

Introduction

On the 9th of July 1953, a telegram was sent by the Prime Minister of India to the Prime Minister of Pakistan reading as under:-

“I am glad that the Steering Committees appointed by our two governments will meet from the 14th July onwards at Karachi to consider various pending problems between us. This will NO doubt help our subsequent talks.

We have also decided that separate meetings of Ministries concerned of both countries should take place to consider problems affecting them. This will expedite consideration and make it easier later for us to deal with.

I would suggest that this procedure might be expedited particularly in regard to the Evacuee Property problem which has been pending for a long time and about which my Government has addressed your Government some time ago. It would facilitate matters greatly if instead of long distance correspondence personal discussion took place. For this purpose, if you and your Rehabilitation Ministry are agreeable, we could send our Adviser on Rehabilitation, Mehr Chand Khanna, who is well acquainted with all aspects of this question. He could go about the same time as the Steering Committee, though he would discuss Evacuee Property problem separately. I hope this will be convenient. I shall be grateful if you will indicate your approval of this procedure.”

The Prime Minister of Pakistan, on the 12th of July 1953, informed the Prime Minister of India that he shared his anxiety for an early discussion of the evacuee property problem but regretted that both his Refugee Rehabilitation Minister and the Secretary of the Ministry were out on tour and would not be in Karachi on the 14th of July. He added that he was asking his Ministry of Refugees & Rehabilitation to contact our Rehabilitation Ministry and fix a date on which our Adviser on Rehabilitation may visit Karachi to discuss the evacuee property problem with his Ministry. On the 20th of July 1953, a communication was received from the Minister, Refugees & Rehabilitation, Pakistan, agreeing that Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna could come to Karachi at any time and discuss evacuee property problem with their Adviser, Mr. Ahmed E.H. Jaffer.
2. Mr. F.B.H.B. Tyabji, Commonwealth Secretary, informed me that the Prime Minister would discuss the matter with the Prime Minister of Pakistan when he went to Karachi on the 25th of July, and that I should hold myself in readiness. On the evening of the 25th of July, we received instructions to proceed to Karachi and we accordingly left for Karachi the next morning. The Indian delegation comprised Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna, Adviser, Ministry of Rehabilitation, Mr. K.P. Mathrani, ICS., Joint Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation, and Mr. P.G. Zachariah, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.

3. At the preliminary meeting held between the Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan on the same day, when Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna and Mr. Ahmed E.H. Jaffer, Advisers to the Ministries of Rehabilitation, India, and Refugees & Rehabilitation, Pakistan, were also present, the question of movable and immovable evacuee property was generally discussed. The two Prime Ministers directed that the two Advisers and the officers of the Governments of India and Pakistan should meet and discuss all the outstanding issues relating to evacuee property and evacuee claims and try to find out a solution of the various problems.

4. At that meeting, the question of the suspension of the operation of the evacuee property legislation was raised by the Cabinet Secretary, Pakistan. The Prime Minister of India felt that though the legislation was of an unusual nature which had been enacted on account of abnormal conditions created by partition, the operation of the law could not be suspended until an overall settlement of the problem of evacuee property had been reached. Further, he thought that legal difficulties were also likely to arise.

First Phase of Negotiations

5. Discussions between the Advisers and Officers of the Governments of India and Pakistan were held daily from 27th July to 1st August and on 3rd and 4th of August, 1953. Two meetings were also held with the Ministry of Interior, Pakistan, on the 1st and 4th August 1953, for discussing the question of protection, preservation and maintenance of places of religious worship in India and Pakistan.

6. The Movable Property Agreement came in for a detailed discussion at these meetings and some decisions were taken. A summary of these decisions will be found in Annexure ‘A’. No decisions could be reached on the important items of the bulk transfer of lockers and safe deposits, the release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies; and the restoration of properties of joint stock companies and the payment of compensation for properties of such companies acquired by the Government of Pakistan. Though there was agreement in principle regarding these items, Pakistan desired to link the question of the bulk transfer of Muslim bank accounts with the bulk release of lockers. The question of transfer of Muslim bank accounts from India to Pakistan is a part of the Banking Agreement of 1949. The Banking Agreement and the Movable Property Agreement are two separate Agreements. Even according to the items classified by the Pakistani Steering Committee, “Implementation of the Banking Agreement” has been put down as Item No. (23) to be dealt with by the Ministries of Finance of the two Governments. At that stage, therefore, we did not agree to the suggestion of Pakistan to link this item with the release of bulk transfer of safe deposits and lockers and suggested that the Movable Property Agreement should be dealt with separately.

7. The other two principal questions for discussion related to agricultural property and urban immovable property. The settlement in respect of the agricultural property was taken up first. We suggested Government – to – Government settlement. We emphasized that the bulk of the agricultural property on both sides had been allotted to displaced persons on a “quasi – permanent” or “provisional permanent basis” and lakhs of refugees had been settled thereon by the grant of loans and other financial assistance. There could, therefore, be no question of uprooting them after a lapse of four/five years.

8. The Pakistan representatives stated that, at the present juncture, they could not agree to Government – to – Government settlement and that the manner in which the problem may be settled could only be discussed by them after copies of the land revenue records had been obtained in respect of non – agreed areas and after claims had been invited and scrutinized.

9. The land revenue records in respect of agreed areas, which account for the bulk of the agricultural evacuee land, have already been exchanged between the two Governments. The agricultural lands in the non – agreed areas represent only a small proportion of the total evacuee agricultural lands in India. We, therefore, observed that the magnitude of the problem was generally known to both the Governments and that the exchange of land records was hardly relevant to the issue of settlement as the information would be useful merely for verifying individual claims. The exchange of land revenue records in respect of the non – agreed areas and the invitation and verification of claims were likely to take a year or two. We pointed out that under these circumstances, it would appear that the problem could not be discussed till then. They did not, however, resile from this position and no decision could, therefore, be reached.

10. In regard to urban immovable property, we observed that lakhs of families on both sides had left their houses and other building behind and were not in a position to enjoy or make use of that property. Further, many of these properties were falling into disrepair due to lack of proper maintenance by the occupants who are mostly refugees. We emphasized that almost six years had elapsed since partition and the question of the ultimate disposal of the property had become all the more pressing. In this case too, we suggested Government – to – Government settlement as the only solution to the problem.

11. The Pakistan representatives, however, favoured private sales and exchanges which, according to them, had been provided for in January 1949 Agreement. They felt that the system of private sales and exchanges had not been adequately tried and even the past experience was not so unsatisfactory as in Pakistan, according to them, 136 sales and exchanges had been confirmed in respect of the period from January 1949 to July 1949 and further 1099 sales and exchanges had been confirmed from the date of partition to May 1952.

12. We pointed out several difficulties in the implementation of this proposal. In the mass –migration areas on both sides, N.W.F.P., Punjab (P), Baluchistan and Bahawalpur in Pakistan and Punjab (I), PEPSU and Himachal Pradesh in India – the minority population was practically non – existent. The properties were generally occupied by refugees and, therefore, it was obvious that they would not fetch a reasonable price as there would be no fair competition. The scope for the sale of evacuee properties was, therefore, very limited.

13. In the matter of exchanges too, we mentioned that we were doubtful whether any substantial results would be achieved as more than 60 to 70 per cent of the property was owned by small owners who would find it very difficult to exchange their properties. The exchanges might help some bigger landlords, but the majority of the refugees would get no benefit from it. Another important factor was the disparity in the quantum of property left on the two sides. For this reason too, a large number of properties would not be covered by exchanges.

14. In regard to our earlier experience of private sales and exchanges, we emphasized that if the figures given by the Pakistani representatives were any criterion, it would take years to tackle the bulk of the problem as the properties involved ran into lacs. The displaced person had already waited for six years and he wanted immediate help.

15. Lastly, we enquired of the Pakistan representatives as to for what period this method was proposed to be tried again and further whether the Pakistan Government had any suggestion to make regarding houses and buildings which would remain indisposed of. The Pakistan representatives were, however, not prepared to discuss the implications of their proposal and thus no agreement could be reached.

Second Phase of Negotiations

16. Thus ended the first phase of discussions and negotiations with the Pakistani delegation. As we did not feel very happy about the results of our negotiations, I sought an interview with the Prime Minister of Pakistan with a to apprise him of the latest position. I met him on the 5th August and told him that apart from decisions on some minor matters, we had not even come to grips with major problems like agricultural lands, and urban immovable property. No decisions had also been reached on the transfer of lockers and safe deposits, the release of shares, debentures, securities and insurance policies; and the restoration of properties of joint stock companies and payment of compensation for such properties acquired. I mentioned to him that unless these items were properly thrashed out and substantial spade work done; there would be hardly anything for the two Prime Ministers to discuss in respect of the evacuee property question when they met in Delhi. Besides, I also stressed that, if some important decisions were not taken during these negotiations, disappointment would be caused amongst displaced persons in both the countries as hopes had been raised on account of our talks.

17. The Prime Minister of Pakistan stated that he had not been apprised of the position and that he would look into the matter as he was keen that the various problems should be properly examined and some solution found. He desired me to give him a note on the points at issue and further suggested that our delegations might stay on in Karachi for some time more.

18. A note on the latest position of negotiations on the various issues relating to evacuee property was accordingly sent to Mr. Mohammed Ali on the next day (6th August 1953). A copy of the note will be found at Annexure ‘B’ (see Document No.3193).

19. The Prime Minister of Pakistan called me for discussion again on the 8th of August 1953. He suggested that India might agree to the bulk transfer of Muslim bank accounts and the release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies and that Pakistan on its part would agree to the bulk transfer of lockers and safe deposits and the restoration of properties of non-evacuee joint stock companies and payment of compensation for such properties acquired. In his opinion, the Movable Property Agreement would thus be implemented in toto and this would cause great satisfaction amongst the refugees. He further added that we would have crossed at least one major hurdle. I told him that we fully shared his sentiments for alleviating the distress of refugees and that I would convey his wishes to the Prime Minister of India.

20. As regards the settlement of agricultural lands, Mr. Mohammed Ali felt that it should not present much difficulty. He observed that there was a considerable force in what we had said regarding the rehabilitation of lakhs of families on lands and that there could be no question of uprooting them after all these years. He thought that his officers were perhaps more worried over the question of payment of difference in values as the Hindus and Sikhs had left more lands in Pakistan than the Muslims in India.
21. I told Mr. Mohammed Ali that the question of method of valuation and the payment of difference by the Government of Pakistan was a very big question which could perhaps be appropriately discussed at the level of the two Prime Ministers. India had already suggested that the method of valuation may be settled between both the Governments, and if direct negotiations prove unfruitful, the question could be referred to arbitration or an impartial Tribunal agreed upon by the two countries.

22. During the course of the talk, Mr. Mohammad Ali also made a passing reference to the large areas of lands left by Muslims in the non–agreed areas, particularly in U.P. I told him that the area of land left in the non–agreed areas was very small as compared to the total evacuee lands in India. Though the evacuee lands in U.P. might form the biggest chunk in the non–agreed areas, this would not materially affect the overall position.

23. After examining the position further, I informed the Prime Minister of Pakistan on 8th August 1953 that the evacuee lands in non–agreed areas constituted only about eight percent of the total evacuee lands in India. And though it was correct that evacuee lands in U.P. formed the biggest block in the non–agreed areas, over eighty per cent of this land was held by non–evacuee tenants of evacuee zamindars.

24. The question of urban immovable property, he felt, was more difficult, but he saw the force of our argument regarding the difficulties involved in private sales and exchanges. Finally, he said that he would have the question examined further and would discuss it with me again on the 11th August 1953. In the meanwhile it was, however, felt that I should contact the Pakistani delegation in order to settle the details relating to the implementation of the three important items under the Movable Property Agreement referred to above.

25. As instructions had been received from Delhi that we might agree to the bulk transfer of Muslim accounts and release of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies on Pakistan agreeing to the bulk transfer of lockers and safe deposits and the release of properties of non–evacuee joint stock companies and payment of compensative for such properties acquired, I contacted the Secretary of the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation for arranging a meeting of the delegations on 10th August 1953. I suggested at that meeting that we might proceed on the assumption that the Government of India would accept the suggestion of the Hon'ble Prime Minister of Pakistan and handed over a "draft note" (Annexure 'C' (attached to Doc. No.3196)) containing our proposals for the simultaneous implementation of these items, which might form the basis of discussion.
26. The main features of these proposals are:-

(i) Two Governments should undertake the responsibility for meeting third party claims in respect of safe deposits and lockers; and shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies after adjudication of these claims by Joint Committees.

(ii) Where compensation of joint stock companies had not been finally assessed, approximate valuation may be made, and

(iii) Implementation should be effected in respect of all these items simultaneously on an agreed date.

27. On the next day, i.e., the 11th August 1953, when we met again for discussion, we were informed that Pakistan would agree to the immediate release of only those lockers against which there are no third party claims. As regards Sind, Karachi and Baluchistan, third party claims would be invited and no lockers and safe deposits released till then. Our suggestion that all lockers should be released en bloc and that we would take the responsibility for meeting third party claims after adjudication by joint committees was not acceptable to them. On the other hand, they suggested that shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies should be released without inviting any third party claims and the Muslim bank accounts should also be transferred immediately. Further, they did not agree to our suggestion to make provisional payment of joint stock companies and stated that payment could only be made after compensation had been finally assessed. As the arrangement suggested by Pakistan was not very fair to us, we expressed that it would be difficult for us to accept the Pakistan suggestion.

Third Phase of Negotiations

28. Since these negotiations had been resumed at the intervention of the Prime Minister of Pakistan, I thought it necessary to apprise him again of the position. Accordingly, I addressed a letter to him on the 11th August 1953, (Annexure ‘D’ (see Doc. No.3196), explaining that the proposals made by the delegation were not in conformity with the hundred percent reciprocal arrangements that he had suggested. In that letter, I also reminded him of his desire to discuss further with me the question of agricultural lands and urban immovable property.

29. I contacted the Private Secretary to the Prime Minister of Pakistan on the morning of 13th August 1953, and requested him to ascertain from Mr. Mohammed Ali whether in view of his present preoccupations, it would be possible to settle these matters before he left for Delhi on the 16th August and, if not, what his wishes were in the matter. On the same afternoon the Adviser to the Ministry of Refugees & Rehabilitation along with the Secretary, Ministry of Refugees & Rehabilitation, Pakistan, came to see us and told us that as some essential information had to be collected from Punjab (P) regarding lockers and safe deposits and the properties of joint stock companies, their Prime Minister felt that discussions may be postponed for about three weeks and resumed later. They also stated that he (Prime Minister, Pakistan) was busy with other important matters and had not been able to apply his mind to this question. The talks were accordingly adjourned and a joint communiqué (Annexurfe 'E') was issued late in the evening of 13\textsuperscript{th} August 1953.

30. This is only an interim report and discussions are likely to be resumed next month. In concluding it would not be out of place to mention that the refugee problem is not viewed with the same sense of urgency in Pakistan as in India. The Pakistani delegation and other officials with whom we have had discussions did not appear to attach much significance to the settlement of the question of evacuee property, probably because they considered other issues more important. Initiative had, therefore, to be taken by us at every stage. Whatever little we have been able to achieve is due mainly to the good offices of the Prime Minister of Pakistan who has been taking keen interest in the matter.

Annexure ‘A’

Brief note relating to the position regarding the negotiations between the Indian delegation and the representatives of the Government of Pakistan.

Category ‘C’ Items.

1. Item No. (27): Payment of pensions to displaced persons from East Bengal.

It has been agreed in principle that facilities for the transfer of pensions from the two Bengals and Assam which existed up to the 31\textsuperscript{st} December 1949 should be restored. The question of details, such as the date up to which the transfers should be permitted, the arrangements for provisional payment of pensions etc., should be settled between the two Bengal Governments within a month.
2. Item No. (28): Part earned pensions of displaced Government servants.

The Government of India had proposed that the employees of the undivided Province, States and centrally – administered areas who had no right of option and had migrated from one country to the other should be allowed the benefit of pension for the period of service rendered by them prior to migration. The Pakistan representatives stated that the matter was under consideration of the Pakistan Government in consultation with the Provincial Governments and that a decision would be expedited.

3. Item No. (29): Settlement of claims of contractors and others through the Central Claims Organization.

It has been agreed that the functions of the Central Claims Organization in both the countries should be expanded. Accordingly, claims of contractors, dues of evacuees in respect of Court of Wards etc. encumbered estates, deposits of evacuees in Courts, dues of evacuees from cooperative Societies, dues of teachers and examiners payable by Universities, revenue deposits payable to evacuees, dues of evacuees in respect of postal life insurance policies etc. will be processed through the Central Claims Organization.

4. Item No. (30): Slow verification of claims by the Central Claims Organization.

The verification of claims of employees of the Provincial Governments, States, and local bodies regarding pensions and provident fund and arrears of pay and leave salary by the Central Claims Organization should be expedited and every effort made to complete the work by 31st March 1954. The Officers – in – Charge of the Central Claims Organization in either country should meet within a month, if possible, to finalize the procedural details.

5. Item No. (31): Exchange of revenue records.

Supply of copies of revenue records outstanding on both sides should be expedited. Further, India would supply copies of revenue records relating to non – agreed areas though this was not provided for in any of the previous agreements. Pakistan has agreed to the visit of a team of officials from India for reconciling any discrepancies relating to revenue records.

6. Item No. (32): Non – forfeiture of security deposits of contractors etc. who migrated from one country to the other.

So far as cash securities are concerned, it was agreed that the depositors should not be penalized for non – fulfillment of conditions of the contract due to migration. As regards the Government dues to be deducted from such deposits the Indian delegates suggested that the dues pertaining to the particular contract only should be recovered and that all such claims should be examined by a Joint Committee consisting of the representatives of the two Governments. The Pakistan representatives agreed to examine this proposal.

In regard to the agricultural land in the colony and barrage areas which had been resumed by the Provincial Governments in default of the terms and conditions of the grants disposed of as non-evacuee property, the Indian delegates suggested that where it was not possible to cancel the new grants or assignments in respect of such land, the sale proceeds should be credited to the evacuee owners’ accounts with the Custodians. The Pakistan representatives agreed to examine the suggestion.

Category ‘B’ Items.

(a) Household and personal effects. It has been decided that these should be restored to evacuee owners and all restrictions on through railway booking should be removed. Lists of all such goods lying with Custodians will be exchanged within two months and the owners given the option of removal or sale of such goods. Where such goods are not taken over by the owners within six months, they may be handed over to the diplomatic representatives of the country concerned or sold by auction in his presence and the sale proceeds handed over to him. The third party claims will be restricted only to trade goods and merchandise and should pertain only to the particular business. No fresh third party claims would be invited or entertained excepting charges for storage, charges created by Courts or those of the Banks.

With regard to the personal and household property left with relations and friends, it was agreed that evacuees should be allowed further period of six months within which they must remove their property. As regards fresh evacuees, this period should count from the date of their becoming evacuees.

(i) We suggested that the transportation charges for the removal of the property to the headquarters of the Deputy High Commissioner concerned should be borne by the respective Governments. Pakistan has agreed to consider this suggestion.

(ii) We also suggested that there should be no restriction on removal by evacuees of cash or bullion which forms part of the personal and household effects to the other country. Pakistan representatives stated that it was contrary to the Movable Property Agreement, transfers could only be made subject to Exchange Control restrictions. They however, agreed to consider the matter further.

(iii) The question of income tax clearance certifications was raised by India and it was suggested that such certificates should not be demanded from an evacuee coming from the other country to seek restoration of his personal and household property. Pakistan representatives promised to consider this suggestion.

(iv) In connection with the sale of personal and household effects, it was suggested by India that only 10% of the sale proceeds should be deducted as the Custodian’s fee and that no deduction should be made in case of articles physically taken over by the evacuee owner. It was pointed out by Pakistan that these proposals amounted to a modification of the relevant Implementation Instruction which allowed deduction of all the expenditure incurred on the administration of movable property. They, however, agreed to examine the proposal further.

(v) It was suggested by India that third party claims should be examined by a joint committee consisting of representatives of both the countries. In case of disagreement, the matter should be referred to the Custodian concerned whose decision would be final. Pakistan delegates agreed to examine the proposal.

(vi) The Indian delegates suggested that the Custodian should not formally divest himself of the movable property at the time of restoration of the property to evacuee owners so that they may take away the property to the other country or dispose of it without any interference by third parties. The Pakistan Government are considering the suggestion.

(b) Compensation for movable property allotted or acquired for rehabilitation purposes.

Joint Committees (initially two or three in number) should be appointed within one month for determining the compensation payable for movable property allotted or acquired by Government. The moneys recovered by the Custodians will be paid to the diplomatic representative of the country concerned along with lists showing full particulars.

(c) Seized movable property. Lists of seized property including firearms, should be exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two Governments within three months. The procedure agreed to regarding personal and household effects will apply mutatis mutandis as regards removal, disposal and handing over of sale proceeds of such properties.

(d) Buried treasures: The procedure for the recovery of buried treasures evolved by the Deputy High Commissioners of the two countries in January 1951 has been approved, and it has been agreed that the implementation of this item should commence within two months.

(e) Sale proceeds of movable property with the Custodians. Lists of sale proceeds of movable property lying with the Custodians should be exchanged within two months and the net total amount due to evacuee owners paid simultaneously to the diplomatic representatives concerned.

(f) Court deposits, deposits of minors and others under the guardianship of Courts, and deposits of wards under the Court of Wards Act. Regarding the question of the enactment of legislations by both the countries the draft of the legislation sent by us was approved with a minor modification of the word “deposits” and it was agreed that its enactment should be expedited.

(g) Savings Bank Accounts. It has been agreed that Liaison Officers will be appointed within the next two weeks or so and that the exchange of post office savings bank accounts would be undertaken by 1st September.

(h) Undelivered postal parcels. All postal parcels which have been held up should be released to the officers nominated by the two Governments for internal distribution without any customs restrictions.

(i) Lockers and safe deposits, restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies and payment of compensation etc. The questions relating to the bulk transfer of lockers and safe deposits, restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies and payment of compensation where such properties have been acquired by Government, release of shares, securities debentures and insurance policies held in Banks were examined and discussions will be resumed in the near future.

8. Item No. (25): Places of religious worship.

It was agreed that every effort should be made to ensure that the places of religious worship in both the countries, particularly those of historical importance, should be properly protected and maintained and their sanctity preserved. Increased facilities for visits of pilgrims to these places on their auspicious days should be granted, and Sewadars and Khadims given necessary protection and facilities for residence. The question of properties attached to shrines should be separated from the general question of Trust Properties and dealt with expeditiously.
The proposal regarding the appointment of a joint commission of the representatives of the two Governments, for enquiring into matters referred to above and making a factual survey about the condition of the important shrines and holy places after visiting them and making recommendations in the light of such enquiries and survey, was considered and it was felt that its further consideration should be deferred to a later stage.

Category ‘A’

Item No. 23. Government to Government settlement on immovable property – both urban and rural.

The problem of urban and agricultural evacuee properties was discussed between the two delegations, but no decisions were arrived at. These matters will be further discussed.

Item No. 26. Trust Property. It was agreed that the Trust Property Committee of 1949 should be revived. Its personnel may be changed or terms of reference revised, if necessary, by the two Governments in mutual consultation. The Committee should be required to submit its report within three months from the date of its appointment.

It was also agreed that the question of management of the properties attached to religious and holy places in the two countries may be taken out of the purview of the Trust Property Committee and taken up by the two Governments direct for discussion in order to expedite decisions thereon. For this purpose we promised to supply to the Pakistan Government a detailed note together with the lists of such religious or holy places in West Pakistan, the properties of which are not to be dealt with by the Trust Property Committee. The Pakistan representatives promised to furnish a similar list in respect of such places in India.

Miscellaneous items.

I. Raised by the Pakistani delegation.

(a) Amendment to the Succession Act:

We pointed out that this subject was being dealt with by the Ministry of External Affairs and that, that Ministry will be requested to expedite the matter.

(b) Restoration and re–validation of Bank drafts. Cheques etc. of evacuees under the Movable Property Agreement:

The Pakistan Government would send us a full note on this subject when the matter will be examined.

(c) Unclaimed interest on deposits made by Muslims in Post Office Savings Banks:
The Adviser for Pakistan raised the question and stated that the Government of India had agreed to refund this amount. He also mentioned that in 1947, the late Mr. Liaqat Ali Khan, the then Finance Minister, Government of India, had said that the Government would be prepared to release a sum of Rs. 2,50,000 on this account, but arrangement for its refund, could not be finalized up to the time of partition. The suggestion is that the Government of India should distribute a sum of Rs. 2,50,000 between India and Pakistan in the ratio of their Muslim population, so that the amount could be spent on the education of the Muslim children in both the countries.

II. Proposed by the Indian delegation.

(a) Postponement of execution of court decrees against Punjab National Bank.

In regard to the Punjab National Bank whose assets were being attached and put to auction in execution of Court decrees relating to the earnest money in connection with Crown lands in Nilbar, the Pakistan Government have, in view of the general decision taken in connection with non – forfeiture of security deposits, issued orders to the Punjab (P) Government asking them not to proceed with the matter.

(b) Disposal of uneconomic properties:

The Pakistan representatives stated that their Government would not agree to India’s proposal that uneconomic urban evacuee properties may be disposed of and the sale proceeds credited to the evacuees accounts, as it involved the extinguishment of evacuees rights in urban immovable property, and its disposal on the basis of Governmental responsibility.

III. General: - The proposals that have been agreed to between the two delegations will be subject to confirmation by both the Governments and it was agreed that attempts should be made to obtain this confirmation within one month. It was further agreed that the matters left for further consideration, may also be disposed of during this period.

After the finalization of these proposals, supplementary instructions will be issued by the two Governments on an agreed basis for the guidance of Custodians, Liaison Officers, Rehabilitation authorities etc. It was also agreed that the question of appointment of Liaison Officers for the implementation of the Movable Property Agreement, would be taken up by the two Governments in consultation with each other.
SECRET

New Delhi, September 21, 1953.

My dear Raja Sahib,

During your telephone conversation with me this morning you enquired about the position regarding the confirmation of the decisions taken by the representatives of our two Governments during the recent discussions at Karachi from the 27th July 1953 to 13th August 1953, in respect of evacuee property in which I took part. As I mentioned to you, we have already written to your Government on the 4th September 1953 intimating to them our acceptance of the decisions arrived at during the discussions. Further we suggested to your Government that as contemplated during the negotiations, the discussions may be resumed during the third week of the current month for settling the other outstanding issues relating to evacuee property, and invited them to Delhi for the purpose of the discussions. At the same time I also wrote to Mr. Ali Asghar, P.S. to your Prime Minister, informing him about the position. I enclose herewith a copy of our official communication No. 60(5) / 53 – N dated 4th September 1953 to Secretary to the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, and my D.O. No. Conf/ADV/53 dated 8th September 1953 to Mr. Ali Asghar in this behalf for your information. We are awaiting reply to these communications from your Government.(Both letters not reproduced here)

2. During the course of the telephone conversation, you expressed your anxiety about the early implementation of the decisions already taken by us at Karachi and mentioned that you propose to have a decision on the matter by your Government expedited. I need hardly assure you that we are equally anxious for expeditious implementation of the decisions already taken by us, which is naturally dependent on the Government of Pakistan confirming the draft of the decisions sent to them, and on the resumption of the discussions in the near future to settle the remaining issues relating to evacuee property.

Yours sincerely

H.E. Raja Ghaznavar Ali Khan,
High Commissioner for Pakistan in India,
New Delhi.
Letter from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Mohammad Ali.

New Delhi, October 8, 1953.

My dear Prime Minister,

The decisions taken by the representatives of the Governments of Pakistan and Indian during their discussions in Karachi on evacuee property from the 27th July to the 13th August, 1953, were to be confirmed by both the Governments and it was agreed during the discussions that efforts would be made to confirm the decisions within one month. The Government of India has already accepted the decisions and the fact of their acceptance were communicated to your Ministry of Refugee and Rehabilitation as early as the 4th September, 1953. Confirmation of the decisions by your Government has not been received so far and so implementation of the agreement is being delayed. Another letter requesting your Ministry of Refugee and Rehabilitation for early confirmation of the decisions has been sent by my Ministry of Rehabilitation on the 2nd October. I wonder whether it would not be possible to expedite confirmation.

2. You will remember that when we met in Delhi last time, it was agreed that further discussions on evacuee property should be resumed within one month and this was mentioned in our joint press communiqué of the 20th August. While intimating acceptance of the decisions, our Ministry of Rehabilitation had also suggested to its counterpart in Pakistan that the discussions may be resumed in Delhi sometime in the third week of September. I am told that views of your Government in the matter are still awaited. I feel that further discussions should be resumed as soon as possible. I shall be obliged if you will look into this question and let me know the date and venue considered suitable to your representatives.

3. Incidentally, I might also draw your attention to the statement of Mr. Shuaib Qureshi in your Parliament on the 25th September accusing India of having systematically violated the Karachi Agreement of 1949 and of having placed obstacles in the way of implementation of the Movable Property Agreement of 1950*. Apart from the fact that these allegations are incorrect, I feel it is unfortunate that such accusations should have been made when we are seeking

* Shuaib Qureshi, said that soon after the conclusion of the Karachi Agreement of 1949 on evacuee property, India went back on it and had since violated its important provisions, and that the Government of India’s attention had been drawn to these breaches but no result. The January 1949 Karachi agreement permitted displaced persons in each country to dispose of property in the other country by sale or exchange basis. The Movable Property Agreement, signed in Calcutta in June 1950, allowed the migrants of East and West Bengal to remove or dispose of their gold and household and personal effects.
the settlement of various differences between the two countries by direct negotiations and are endeavouring to create a proper atmosphere for the purpose.

Yours sincerely
Jawaharlal Nehru

  C.C.O. Pakistan.  Officer–in–Charge,

In the course of the discussion between the representatives of the Governments of India and Pakistan held at Karachi during July – August, 1953, it was agreed that the Officers in charge of the Central Claims Organizations in the two countries should meet and devise ways and means to speed up the work. It was also agreed that the figures relating to the outstanding claims on either side which did not tally should be reconciled.

2. At present the C.C.Os. in the two countries deal with the claims of displaced Government servants, and employees of States and local bodies (excluding Government servants of the divided Provinces of Punjab and Bengal and those of the local bodies in those Provinces) in respect of pensions, provident fund, pay and allowances, leave salary and security deposits.

3. An examination of the figures showed that on 1st October, 1953 the following number of claims (other than those relating to State Military personnel) were outstanding:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>No. reported by India</th>
<th>No. reported by Pakistan</th>

<td>14,328</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pakistan’s claims against India</td>
<td>14,858</td>
<td>14,920</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

It was agreed that the two Officers in charge of the Claims Organizations should further look into these small discrepancies and try to reconcile the figures.

4. The two C.C.Os. should prepare lists of outstanding claims originating with them as on 1st October, 1953 separately for each type of claim which should be serially numbered Province-wise. In all future correspondence between the two C.C.Os., the serial number allotted to the claim by the originating country should be quoted. These lists should be exchanged in the approved pro-forma (Annexure I) as early as possible and this work should be completed by the 15th December, 1953.

5. The representatives of the two Governments examined the objections that had been generally raised by either side for rejecting various types of claims. Brief particulars of these objections and the agreed recommendations in this behalf have been set forth in Annexure II against each type of objection.

6. After a detailed examination of the factors responsible for the holdup at various stages, it was felt that the adoption of the following measures would help to speed up the verification of these claims:

(i) Before exchanging claims, the C.C.O. of each country should satisfy that all the relevant particulars have been furnished by the claimant in respect of each claim and then the claim should be dealt with by the recipient C.C.Os. for obtaining further information regarding those claims.
The two C.C.Os. should be strengthened by the appointment of additional staff in order that they may be in a position to complete the work within the prescribed date. Similarly, where necessary, additional staff should be appointed in offices of the verifying agencies.

The C.C.Os. should ensure that the verifying authority check the claims and return them without undue delay. For this purpose an officer or officers of the C.C.O or Provincial/State Government should visits the verifying officers periodically and, if necessary, assist the verifying officers in speeding up the verification of claims. Necessary instructions in the matter should also be issued by the two Central Governments to the verifying authorities etc.

In the case of claims relating to Provident Fund accounts of Government servants, it was felt that it should be possible for the Accounts Officers, concerned to verify the claims without reference to the head of the department concerned under whom the subscriber was last employed. The Accounts Officers might have by now finally made up the accounts of the displaced Government servants. This might, however, require relaxation of the rules for which the Auditors General in the two countries should be approached.

It was also agreed that payment authorities in respect of Provident Fund claims should invariably indicate, besides the name of the subscriber, the names of nominees, if any. If there are no nominees, the fact should be stated.

Monthly progress reports should be exchanged between the two Claims Organizations, as in the Performa (Annexure III). The first report should relate to the month of November, 1953. The report for a month should be dispatched to the other country by the 10th of the following month.

In the case of retired Government servants, anticipatory pensions should be sanctioned if any delay is likely to occur in the issue of final sanction.

It was suggested during the discussions between the representatives of the Governments of the India and Pakistan held in July – August, 1953 that both the countries should make efforts to clear the outstanding claims by the end of this year. In view of the large number of claims and the difficulties involved in their verification, it was felt that it would not be possible to adhere to the time limit referred to above. It was, however, considered that with the proposed strengthening of the C.C.Os. as also the verifying agencies, it should be possible to clear the outstanding claims by about the 30th June, 1954.

The two Officers in charge of the Claims Organizations should meet again after three months to review the progress of verification of claims.
9. Till recently the pension claims of late employees of the former Indian State forces were forwarded by the Pakistan Claims Organization to the Central Claims Organization in India. The Indian representatives stated that as already suggested by them, the pension claims of State forces personnel in India should in future be forwarded to the Controller of Defence Accounts (Pensions), Allahabad, and claims other than pensions of all military personnel to the Controller General of Defence Accounts, New Delhi. The Pakistan representatives desired that a copy of these minutes may be forwarded by C.C.O. India to the above mentioned officers with a view to ensure uniformity of procedure.

10. Lists of outstanding insurance policies financed out of the Provident Fund should be exchanged between the two claims organizations within one month so that the physical transfer of the policies is expedited.

11. The decisions in this record note are subject to ratification by the two Central Governments.

3200. Extract from the Minute by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on the question of evacuee property for the Ministry of States.

New Delhi, October 18, 1953.

* * * * *

2. Reference is made to what was said to me in Karachi in 1950. I have absolutely no recollection of this; but my answer to the proposal could only have been that such matters should be discussed with Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar. I have never been able to understand how, in existing circumstances, the Pakistan Government goes on insisting on private exchange of property. An analysis of the property will show that, apart from a very small percentage, the vast extent of their property belongs to very petty people who cannot possibly exchange with anybody. The Pakistan proposal is advantageous to a small handful of rich people and all the others go by the board. It is wrong in equity but, apart from this, we could not possibly put it through because of the furore this would have caused among the evacuee population here, leaving out a handful of the well-to-do. At present all this property is in a common pool and every evacuee presumes that he has a share in it. If the pool is emptied of its valuable assets, then the average evacuee suffers.

3. There is no possible way out for the large number of evacuees but to have some government-to-government arrangement, whatever that might be. To say that Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar’s attitude was rigid has no meaning in this context. The fact is that the Pakistan Government is influenced much more than India by the richer element of the evacuees who want to profit by this transaction. Even their leaders have done well out of it. Chaudhri Khaliquzzaman has done particularly well out of it and so have others.

4. No one suggested that Pakistan should take a leap in the dark and to accept any liabilities which they cannot possibly meet. But even in small matters like the transfer of funds in banks and personal assets, there has hardly been any advance from the Pakistan side.

5. What the decision might ultimately be about our approach to this question need not worry us at this stage. But the first approach has to be to find out what these properties are. The Pakistan Government has refused to cooperate in this. A large number of small houses have fallen or are collapsing. I doubt if many of them will survive for long. In Bombay and in Delhi, the municipalities have ordered destruction of many of them. When we tried to sell these houses last year without in any way infringing on the rights of the original owners, Mr. Shoaib Qureshi objected very strongly and we stopped the auctions. Some of these houses are no more now.

6. The persons living in these houses are not interested in repairs because they have no rights on the house.

7. There are many methods of approach to this problem which would keep in view any possible burden on the Pakistan Government. None of these has been accepted and the Pakistan Government goes on saying that there must be private exchange. That we cannot accept.

8. Some agreements were definitely arrived at in Karachi when I went there. The Pakistan Prime Minister referred to them here and confirmed them. Even so, nothing has been done about them.

New Delhi, October 28, 1953.

Prime Minister’s Secretariat
New Delhi

October 28, 1953

My dear Prime Minister,

You will recollect that in the discussions at Delhi during the course of your last visit you and I had agreed that the discussions on the question regarding evacuee property might be resumed within a month. More than two months have elapsed since, but even the decisions in respect of movable evacuee properties reached in Karachi between the representatives of the two Governments have not yet been ratified by Pakistan.

2. Our Custodian General has recently returned from a visit of Allahabad, Banaras and Gorakhpur in U.P., and Patna, Gaya, and Bhagalpur in Bihar. He found that there are a large number of evacuee houses which are old and in a wretched condition. These houses have been seriously affected by the heavy rains in recent months. As a result, several of these properties have become not only uneconomic but sources of public danger. Similarly my Ministry for Rehabilitation has recently toured PEPSU and there too he was informed that the uneconomic evacuee property, of which there is a very large number, is rapidly deteriorating. It is not easy to keep the large number of properties, of all types and distributed all over India in proper repair, and more so when a fair proportion of them are old, and need heavy repairs.

3. In Bombay, the Custodian has been placed in a very embarrassing position, as in respect of some of the dilapidated evacuee properties which are in a dangerous condition, he has been served with notices by the Municipal Authorities. He has either to carry out the extensive repairs, which would amount almost to reconstruction of the buildings at disproportionately heavy cost, or face prosecution for the breach of Municipal laws. In Delhi the Municipal committee has declared a number of buildings as dangerous and served notices of demolition. I have mentioned only a few instances, but according to reports pouring in from other states the position is the same.

4. In view of this situation, which we have had to face for a long time past and especially during the past few months, we had decided to dispose of old and dilapidated evacuee property by public auction, crediting the proceeds thereof to the evacuees' account. This was objected to by your Refugees and Rehabilitation minister. I confess that I could not understand the justification for that objection. It was in the interests of all concerned and more especially the evacuees, that we should realize as much money as possible from these houses before they became completely useless and valueless. No legal position was affected thereby. You may remember that when we were in London in June last, I drew your attention to this matter and showed you some telegrams that we had received. Naturally, you were not in possession of all the facts from your side and you suggested to us that it would be better to postpone those auctions pending further examination. In view of my desire to help in creating and maintaining a good atmosphere for our talks, I agreed to postpone the disposal of these properties and advised my Rehabilitation Minister accordingly by cable. The public auctions were, therefore, cancelled at the last moment.

5. This was nearly five months ago. I had hoped that soon after your return from England this matter at least would be decided because of its urgency. Delay simply means loss all round and no gain to anybody, apart from creating legal difficulties for us as has been pointed out above in this letter. Municipal Corporations threatening proceedings against our Rehabilitation Ministry for not demolishing dilapidated buildings which are considered dangerous.

6. During this period we have met twice and discussed many matters. In Karachi I left our Rehabilitation Adviser for full talks about various matters affecting evacuee property. These talks, though not final, did promise some results. Unfortunately, even those results have not materialized and time passes. The important issues concerning agricultural and urban immovable properties are nowhere near solution. Apart from the suffering caused to millions of displaced persons on either side, there is the danger of a large number of uneconomic properties on both sides becoming a dead loss, unless a decision is reached soon.

7. Your Minister of Rehabilitation delivers public speeches from time to time making charges against the Government of India for not falling in with his wishes. In particular, there is repetition of the suggestion that these properties should be privately exchanged. We have pointed out repeatedly that this means weighting the scales tremendously in favour of a handful of rich people at the cost of the innumerable poor on both sides. On merits this is highly undesirable. Apart from merits, there is such a thing as public feeling in a democracy and anything that we do which will be interpreted as an exploitation of the unfortunate poor by a handful of the well-to-do will be bitterly resented not only in India, but, I am sure, in Pakistan also. Therefore, we have frequently pointed out this aspect to your Rehabilitation Minister and your Government. But the same proposal continues to be repeated. I do not quite know how to deal with this matter. Meanwhile, while we do not deal with it effectively, millions suffer. That brings no credit to either Government.

8. I would, therefore, once more emphasize the urgency of our settling the issue in regard to evacuee properties and beg of you to expedite this matter. If it is to be discussed afresh by representatives of the two governments, the sooner a date is fixed, the better.

Yours sincerely

Sd/- Jawaharlal Nehru

3202. Letter from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Minister of Rehabilitation Ajit Prasad Jain.

New Delhi, November 27, 1953.

My dear Ajit,

...I agree with you that we cannot expect much from Pakistan. Indeed, Pakistan or rather the Government of Pakistan, appears to be in such a bad way that it is difficult to get any answer from them. I have written any number of letters to Mohammad Ali and few of them have been acknowledged. It is true that Mohammad Ali has been rather ill with typhoid. But it is also true that the Government of Pakistan is at sixes and sevens. With Mohammad Ali unwell, the situation has deteriorated still more, and nobody appears to be responsible. Our old friend, Shoaib Qureshi, is probably one of the greatest obstructions to anything being done. It is quite possible that changes may take place in Pakistan at any time.

Because of all this, little can be expected from them on the evacuee property question and after a little while we shall have to decide what to do ourselves.

You will remember that I wrote to you some time ago to have a paper prepared for the Cabinet’s consideration in regard to the evacuee property laws and like matters. I have been giving a good deal of thought to this matter and I consulted some of my colleagues in the Cabinet also. We have a strong feeling that the time has come, in our own interest, to deal with these laws in a big way. I am not talking about the past or what has been done thus far, or of the property under the Custodians now. That is a separate matter which can be dealt with Pakistan or by ourselves. I am considering the future.

These laws, as we all know, are unique and I doubt if you will find a parallel to them at any time anywhere, except, of course, in Pakistan. They were the result of very special circumstances. We have endured them for all these years. But, undoubtedly, they come in the way of our economic life generally, and more especially of the economic life of the Muslims in India. It is not that much is done, but there is this sword hanging over large numbers of people which prevents normal business and other transactions. Psychologically it is bad.

We should, therefore, revert, as soon as possible, to normal behaviour. At the most what will happen is that some money is taken away to Pakistan. We can control exchange to some extent. But in the final analysis it just does not matter from the larger point of view. Other foreign countries can do so. Why not Pakistan?

I am, therefore, thinking now that we must take a big step and just put an end to the further application of these evacuee property laws in so far as the future is concerned. And this regardless of what Pakistan does. I feel sure that this will be the right step producing the right reactions both in India and Pakistan. It may be that the refugee element or some of them might dislike it. But we cannot ignore the larger considerations because of this.

I would suggest to you, therefore, to have a relatively brief paper prepared on this subject. It need not be detailed to being with. Only certain principles can be laid down for our consideration. We should first consider it in the Cabinet Committee and later in the full Cabinet, because it is important enough for that. Probably the actual legislation will have to be a little delayed as the preparation will take some time. If, however, our Cabinet decides definitely what we should do, we can even state it publicly that this is our intention.

We should also examine how far we can, by executive action, stop the further application of these evacuee property laws till such time as new legislation is passed.

I should like the Cabinet Committee and the full Cabinet to consider these matters in the course of the next fortnight, that is, certainly before Christmas. It might be desirable to make a brief statement in the House itself.

Yours sincerely
Jawaharlal Nehru

Letter from Pakistan Prime Minister Mohammad Ali to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

My dear Prime Minister,

You must forgive me for the delay in answering your letters dated the 8th October, 28th October and 27th November, 1953, on the subject of evacuee property. You are already aware of the reasons for this delay. The heavy pressure of inescapable engagements, I am afraid, still continues. I have just returned from my second long tour of East Bengal and will be leaving shortly again for another extended tour of that province.

2. In your letters dated the 8th and 28th October, you have complained of delay in ratifying the decisions reached between our Advisers in July-August last. A record of minutes of the discussions held by them in Karachi was prepared here. Subsequently the Indian Rehabilitation Ministry prepared a draft containing the agreed conclusion reached during these discussions and asked for their ratification. On examining this draft we found that there were certain deviations from the agreed decisions, one of which in any case was of sufficient importance to require fresh examination. Hence the delay. If the Government of India's draft had adhered strictly to the decisions reached in Karachi, this delay would not have occurred. However, as intimated in our letter dated November 2nd, 1953, to your Ministry of Rehabilitation, my Government have since ratified all these agreed decisions except for the item relating to preservation of sanctity of shrines and holy places.

3. As regards shrines and holy places my Government welcome the decisions reached during discussions with your officials in Karachi last August, but consider that an undecided matter included in the proposed agreement should be disposed of before it is ratified. This question has been dealt with fully in a demi-official communication dated the 7th December, 1953, addressed by our Ministry of the Interior to the Ministry of Rehabilitation, Government of India. Further progress in the matter awaits your Government's reply to that communication.

4. You have stated that without a decision on matters such as transportation charges, remittance facilities, income tax clearance certificates, deduction of custodian fees etc., which are reserved by my Government for further consideration, implementation of conclusions already reached will not be possible. Decisions on all these matters have since been taken and were communicated to your Rehabilitation Ministry in our letter No. F. 11(7)/53-P, dated the 11th December, 1953. I trust that early action will similarly be taken at your and in regard to items reserved for further consideration by your Government.

5. You ask for an early decision on your Government's suggestions in regard to lockers and safe deposits under the custody of banks, restoration of or the payment of compensation for the properties of Joint Stock Companies allotted or acquired by Government, shares, securities, debentures etc., and bank accounts. My impression, which I conveyed to you in Delhi in August, that the Cabinet had already accepted those suggestions, was I fear incorrect. On return to Karachi I found that the matter had not been placed before the Cabinet. Those suggestions are however under our active consideration.

6. You have taken exception to the statement made in Parliament by Mr. Shuaib Qureshi on the 25th September to the effect that India had violated the Karachi Agreement of 1949 and had placed obstacles in the way of implementation of the movable property Agreement of 1950. This statement had to be made in answer to a question in Parliament. In doing so, Mr. Shuaib Qureshi had said nothing new; similar statements were made by his predecessors in the past and what he stated represents the considered views of the Government of Pakistan, which have been conveyed to the Government of India on more than one occasion. As explained by Mr. Shuaib Qureshi in his letter dated October 30th, 1953, to Mr. Jain, there is no question of this statement prejudicing the negotiation on evacuee property now in progress between our two countries. It is unfortunate that the Indian press should have made this statement an occasion for personal attacks on Mr. Qureshi.

7. You ask for my views on your Government's decision to dispose of old and dilapidated evacuee property by public auction, crediting the proceeds thereof to the evacuees' account. Such a course of action would in my view be tantamount to expropriation. Nor do I think it would be in the interest of the evacuees concerned. Some time ago your Rehabilitation Minister made an announcement to the effect that out of the rents received from evacuee property and the sale proceeds of movables some Rs. 8 to 10 crores had been credited to the "Compensation Pool" for the benefit of Indian refugees. It would be no consolation to the evacuees now in Pakistan to be told that the sale proceeds of the buildings to which you refer would also be credited to the Custodian, only to be transferred subsequently to this compensation pool.

8. You have objected to Mr. Shuaib Qureshi's statement that urban immovable property should be allowed to be sold or exchanged privately as required under the Agreement of January 1949. You fear that this would mean weighting the scales in favour of a handful of rich people at the cost of the innumerable poor on both sides. As explained to you and your Adviser during discussions in Karachi, we do not consider that this would be the case. This fear is based on the view that the poorer refugees will not be able to come to Pakistan to sell or exchange their properties. We do not consider it at all necessary for the evacuees of one country, whether rich or poor, to go to the other to arrange private sales and exchanges. While those wishing to do so would be given every facility, it should be possible to entrust this work on behalf of the others to approved land and estate agents in both countries. So far as Pakistan is concerned, there is no dearth of such agents. Further, if necessary, Indian citizens could also come to Pakistan and set up exchange and sale organizations here if they so desired.

9. Anyhow, these were matters which needed further discussion among our representatives and if necessary, later by you and me personally. In the meantime, however, I find to my embarrassment and regret, that the Government of India have decided unilaterally to put into effect what they call the “Interim Compensation Scheme” in regard to urban immovable property, which is bound to prejudice and imperil our efforts at finding a solution of this problem. According to your Rehabilitation Minister, this scheme is conceived in the interests of more than 95% of the total number of urban claimants and a sum of about Rs.200 crores is to be distributed among 3, 90,000 persons, half of which represents the estimated value of Muslim evacuee property left in India and the balance the Government of India's contribution towards this compensation. He has further stated that a formula for giving final compensation to all displaced persons will be evolved before the interim compensation payment programme ends. This clearly means that the Government of India has decided once for all to take over all Muslim evacuee property in India and appropriate it for the purpose of compensating the refugees. Not only does this decision constitute a flagrant repudiation of the 1949 Agreement, it involves also a cruel paradox. The Custodians of evacuee property in India who had hither to claimed to act as the custodians of the owners' interest had now become frankly the instruments of expropriation.

10. Further, this decision rules out any alternative method of settling the evacuee property dispute, such as by private sales and exchanges by the owners on both sides, which I had suggested to you. As you are aware, during the last five years the evacuee property dispute has revolved almost entirely round this one central issue, namely, whether the evacuee owners should be allowed their inherent right to dispose of their property through private sales or exchanges as they wish or whether the two Governments should assume the responsibility for disposing of this property and compensating the owners. It was my hope that you and I may be able to find a solution of this problem. Before however we could carry our discussions further on this issue, I find myself presented with a fait accompli. By deciding to go ahead with the Interim Compensation Scheme, your Government has summarily debarred any further consideration of private exchanges and sales as a way of solving this problem.
11. I must confess to a feeling of profound dismay at this turn of events. I do not quite know how to deal with this matter now. Our negotiations have been gravely prejudiced. The alternative of private sales and exchanges which I had put to you and which is envisaged in the 1949 Agreement has been unilaterally and decisively ruled out. Nor is this all. By their decision, the Government of India has virtually extinguished the proprietary rights of Muslim refugees in the evacuee property left by them in India. As a result Muslim refugees have begun putting increasing pressure on my Government to make good their losses and compensate them in the same manner as India has decided to compensate the refugees out of Muslim evacuee property in India. I doubt whether my Government will now be able to resist this pressure for long.

12. I should welcome an early meeting of the representatives of the two Governments at which any matter still unresolved concerning movable evacuee property may be discussed. I suggest that they meet in Delhi by the Middle of March. As regards immovable property, however, I am at a loss to suggest how we should proceed in view of the entirely new situation created by your Government's unfortunate action, and I await your advice in the matter.

Yours sincerely

Sd/- Mohd. Ali
4.2.1954.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru,
New Delhi (India).
My dear Prime Minister,

Thank you for your letter of the 4th February dealing with various questions relating to evacuee property, outstanding between our two Governments.

2. I understand from our Ministry of Rehabilitation that they have, in the interest of expediting the ratification of the decisions reached between our two Advisers* in July/August last, agreed to exclude the decisions on shrines and holy places, and that your Government have ratified the rest of the decisions, and also, given decisions on most of the outstanding matters which had been reserved for consideration. Though I cannot accept your Government’s version of the causes of delay in the ratification of the Agreement, I do not propose to enter into an argument about this question. I hope, however, that the decisions on shrines and holy places, which are the subject of a separate demi-official reference to your Ministry of the Interior; will soon be formally ratified by your Government, and that the new agreements will be implemented both in the spirit and the letter, and with all possible speed.

3. You say that the impression which you gave me during the course of our meeting in Delhi in August last, that your Government had accepted our proposals in regard to lockers and safe deposits, properties of joint stock companies, shares, securities, debentures, etc., and evacuee bank accounts, is not correct and that your suggestions are now under the active consideration of your Government. As a considerable time has elapsed since we met in August last and as you had accepted the principles underlying our suggestions, I feel that there should be no difficulty in persuading your Cabinet to accept them. You will agree with me that a decision on these matters would afford relief to a large number of refugees on both side and I trust that you will convey early acceptance of these decisions.

* Mehr Chand Khanna, and Ahmed E.B. Jaffer, Advisers to India and Pakistan Governments respectively discussed the evacuee property question in Karachi between 27 July—13 August 1953. Agreement was reached on: refund of cash securities and deposits of contractors; on Joint Committees to assess compensation where it had not been determined for immovable property allocated or acquired; release of postal articles; restoration of seized articles etc. It was decided that questions about bulk transfer of lockers, restoration of properties of joint-stock companies were to be discussed later. It was agreed that question of properties allotted to places of worship should be taken up apart from trust properties and a report on the trust properties, by Joint Committees was to be prepared within three months.
4. I must confess I have been unable to appreciate your stand with regard to the disposal of old and dilapidated evacuee property by public auction. We cannot afford to be helpless witnesses to the destruction of these properties, in many cases endangering human lives. Only recently two evacuee houses collapsed resulting in the death of seven or eight persons. These dilapidated properties cannot be saved except at a disproportionately heavy cost which is not warranted by the condition and nature of the buildings and for which funds are not available in the evacuees’ accounts. It is, I reiterate, in the interest of evacuees and it will be conducive to proper administration of evacuee property if such properties are sold and sale-proceeds thereof credited to the evacuees’ accounts. The last rainy season, as I had foreseen, has resulted in further deterioration and destruction of a number of such properties. The next rainy season is not far off and it will be necessary for us to take suitable action this time to prevent avoidable losses.

5. In para 7 of your letter, you say that my Rehabilitation Minister made an announcement to the effect that out of the rents received from evacuee property and the sale proceeds of movables, some 8 or 10 crores have been credited to the “Compensation Pool” for the benefit of Indian refugees. This is not a fact. All the money recovered as rents or sale-proceeds are lying to the credit of the Custodians in the name of evacuee owners. I wish you had first ascertained the correct facts from us before drawing inferences.

6. I now come to the most important question of immovable evacuee property. You are probably aware that prior to January 1949, i.e., in March 1948, the Joint Official Committee had recommended the settlement of agricultural evacuee property on Government to Government level, the difference between the value of such properties in the two countries being paid by one country to the other. The Inter-Dominion Conference of January 1949 had, however, deferred the consideration of this recommendation. Meanwhile, it was agreed that the two countries should exchange revenue records in respect of agricultural evacuee lands and that the six-monthly statements of rent collections of agricultural lands in the two countries should be exchanged and accounts adjusted through the Auditors-General of the two-countries. In respect of urban immovable evacuee property, it was agreed that private sales and exchanges should be permitted and also adjustments should be made in respect of rent collections from the urban property as in the case of agricultural lands. Shortly after this Agreement, however, difficulties arose in the implementation of certain provisions of the Agreement. A Conference of the representatives of the two countries was, accordingly, held in June 1949, but it failed to come to any decision. Thereafter, on the 26th July 1949, the Government of Pakistan promulgated an Ordinance banning sales and exchanges of evacuee properties and on the 30th July, 1949, we were compelled to take similar steps.
7. Since then only revenue records have been exchanged, but no rental statements in respect of agricultural or urban properties have been exchanged nor have any adjustments of rents taken place. The January 1949 Agreement has thus become a dead letter since the middle of 1949.

8. After the exchange of some correspondence, my Ministry of Rehabilitation addressed a letter to your Government in respect of evacuee property on the 15th December 1949, but this remained un-replied for almost three years. Thereafter, with a view to resolve these deadlock, my Ministry of External Affairs sent comprehensive proposals to your Government in their letter No. CS (T)/8 dated the 13th October, 1952 for the settlement of these issues. We suggested that the two Governments should take over the evacuee immovable properties left behind in their respective countries and compensate the evacuee owners according to the principles which might be decided by negotiation between the two countries. We also intimated that, if direct negotiations proved unfruitful, we would be prepared to refer the question of the method of valuation to arbitration or to an impartial tribunal agreed upon between the two countries or, if it was so desired, the matter might be referred to an international court or an ad hoc court consisting of the nominees of the two Governments. In reply, under your letter No. 3(II)8/8/52 dated the 5th March, 1953, you rejected our offer not only of Government to Government settlement but also of reference of the matter to an impartial body.

9. At this stage your predecessor, Khwaja Nazimuddin, suggested settlement of all outstanding issues between our two Governments by negotiation and personal discussion and on your coming to office, you also supported this move. As a result, you and I had a general discussion about this question in London and in Karachi and our officers discussed this question at Karachi in July/August last. In spite of these discussions, no progress has, however, been made with regard to a solution of this important issue.

10. It is against this background that you have to view our Interim Compensation Scheme. Ever since Partition, all our efforts to come to a satisfactory solution in regard to immovable evacuee property have met with failure. In the meanwhile, discontent and a sense of frustration amongst displaced persons have been mounting. Even the pending negotiations did not hold out much hope of solution and, therefore, with a view to afford some relief to a section of displaced persons, we decided in November 1953 to sanction the Interim Compensation Scheme. As its name implies, it is of an interim nature and is, for the time being, limited to certain categories of displaced persons who are in great distress. In formulating the scheme, we took care to see that it did not affect the rights of evacuees in the properties left behind.
11. The quasi-permanent allotment of evacuee property provided for in the Interim Compensation Scheme is not new in principle. Your Government have settled evacuee agricultural lands in West Pakistan on a provisionally permanent basis and we have done likewise. A temporary occupant of a house has no interest in its proper upkeep. We, therefore, felt that if a greater personal interest is created in the allottee, the properties would be better maintained and preserved. Under the Interim Compensation Scheme, the proprietary rights of the evacuee owner remains intact and I fail to understand how the scheme can be construed as having presented you with fait accompli.

12. You have referred to my Rehabilitation Minister’s statement to the effect that a sum of Rs. 200 crores is to be distributed as compensation amongst 3,90,000 displaced persons, half of which represents the estimated value of Muslim evacuee property left in India and the balance the Government of India’s contribution towards this compensation. This has nothing to do with the Interim Compensation Scheme but relates to the ultimate compensation scheme envisaged by us according to which the assets available for compensation will consist of the evacuee property in India, the Government of India’s contribution and such sums as we may receive from your Government on account of the difference in values of evacuee properties in the two countries. A final decision on this has, however, been deferred pending negotiations with Pakistan. We had anticipated that, in view of my personal appeals to you, it would be possible to arrive at a settlement on the evacuee property issue before the end of the present Interim Compensation programme. Therefore, your statement that the Interim Compensation Scheme constitutes a “flagrant repudiation” of the 1949 Agreement is unwarranted. This Agreement has, in any case, as I have already mentioned, remained a dead letter and the provisions regarding private sales and exchanges were rendered inoperative by the ban placed by the Pakistan Government in July 1949. The implementation of the Interim Compensation Scheme should, therefore, in my view, not come in the way of our efforts to find a solution of the evacuee property issue and I suggest that this question should also be discussed at the proposed talks in April next.

13. You have again repeated the suggestion that the urban evacuee properties might be privately sold or exchanged. We have the experience of private sales and exchanges during the few months that the Agreement of 1949 was operative. This is not encouraging. I have no doubt that the position would not be much different if the experiment is tried again. I regret to say that I do not share your faith in the effectiveness of the private agencies, but, even assuming that they function satisfactorily, in my view, this method can never constitute a complete or satisfactory solution of the whole problem.

14. We have, during the course of lengthy correspondence and negotiations, detailed our manifold objections to private sales and exchanges and it is not necessary for me to reiterate all of them here. You will, however, agree that the sale value of property is determined largely by the rental income there from. You would be aware that soon after the January 1949 Agreement, your Government reduced the rents of evacuee urban properties payable by refugees by 80% and by other tenants by 33%. When Shri Mohanlal Saksena, the then Rehabilitation Minister, protested against this arbitrary reduction, your Government declined to consider the matter. Thus, by this action your Government have effectively depressed the value of evacuee property to the detriment of the evacuees here.

15. Apart from this, the properties are mostly occupied by refugees who cannot now be displaced and unless vacant possession of properties is given it will be difficult to find a buyer, especially in small towns. Further, if lakhs of properties are suddenly put on the market for sale, there is bound to be a fall in prices. On account of these factors, the evacuee owners will never get a fair and reasonable return by private sales.

16. According to our estimate, the value of the evacuee properties left by the Muslim migrants in India is about one-fifth of the value of the properties abandoned by the non-Muslim migrants in Pakistan. I do not expect you to accept this estimate. But I do not think that it can be seriously challenged that the value of the non-Muslim evacuee property in Pakistan is substantially higher than the value of the evacuee property in India. Private sales and exchanges, even if they were successful, could therefore, only touch a small fraction of the evacuee property in Pakistan, and it is obvious that in a scramble between private persons to sell or exchange their properties the small man will suffer the most. Your Government have not, during the course of lengthy negotiations and correspondence extending over years, even once suggested as to how the question of the large number of evacuee properties which will remain indisposed of by private, sales and exchanges will be tackled.

17. Your letter does not give any indication as to how your Government wishes to solve the problem in respect of evacuee agricultural lands. I do not think it can be seriously suggested that these can be privately sold and exchanged at this stage after a lapse of about seven years during which lakhs of refugees on both sides have been settled thereon.

18. Under the circumstances, I would request you once again to consider our proposal that the problem of evacuee immovable property should be settled on a Government to Government basis. This suggestion is not without precedent in international affairs. In our own times when a large-scale movement of population from one country to the other has taken place,—though not on anything like what happened in this continent after Partition—settlement of their properties has been reached on Government to Government level. I would, therefore, repeat our earlier offer, namely:

(i) the two Governments should take over evacuee immovable property in their respective countries and compensate the evacuee owners;

(ii) the properties in the two countries may be valued according to agreed principles, debtor country paying to the creditor country the difference in the value of the properties left in the two countries. If direct negotiations fail, the question of the method of valuation may be referred for arbitration to an international tribunal agreed upon between the two Governments. If so desired, the matter may be referred to an international court or an ad hoc court consisting of nominees of the two Governments;

(iii) on the question of the payment of difference in value of the properties on the two sides, we feel it should be possible to arrive at a workable agreement after taking into account the paying capacity of the debtor country; and

(iv) concurrently, with the decision to settle this question at governmental level, operation of the evacuee property law may be suspended in both the countries in respect of future cases.

19. Lastly, we agree to your suggestion that the talks between the representatives of the two governments should be resumed. As this is the first week of March, I would suggest a meeting in the beginning of April or earlier as you decide. We shall be glad to receive your delegation here. I hope it will be possible then to discuss not only the outstanding matters relating to movable but also the major issue of the immovable evacuee property.—both urban and rural—and to reach a final settlement thereon. At the same time, discussions may also be held in regard to the working of the Banking Agreement of 1949 which has been inked by your Government with the question of bulk transfer of lockers. Your Finance Ministry have, I understand, already agreed to the holding of discussions in respect of the Banking Agreement at the same time as the talks in respect of the moveable evacuee property.

Yours sincerely

Jawaharlal Nehru

Hon’ble Mohammad Ali
Prime Minister
Government of Pakistan
Karachi
My dear Prime Minister,

I am writing to you about the evacuee property question, about which I have so often addressed you. It is almost a year since the officials of our two countries discussed this question. At various times during this year I have had talks with you on this subject and I have written to you a number of letters also; the last one dealing with evacuee property was on March 6, 1954.

2. A further meeting of our officers was to have been held in August 1953. It has not taken place yet, and I do not know how long we shall have to wait for it and with what prospects. After I met you in Karachi in July last, I had great hopes that it would be possible for our two Governments to agree to a realistic and workable solution of the problem. Those hopes have not been fulfilled. Indeed, apart from no effective decisions having been taken, we have not even been able to agree to a definite date for the resumption of the talks.

3. This problem is more than six years old now and my colleagues and I have given it repeated and anxious consideration, as you and your colleagues must also have done. It is unfortunate that a question involving the well-being of millions of people, both in India and Pakistan, should have remained pending all this time and that our respective Governments could not have solved it by agreement. I do not give up hope that some time or other we shall be able to agree. But meanwhile, it is becoming increasingly difficult to allow matters to drift. That is harmful to all concerned both in India and Pakistan. Both our Governments have done something for the refugees. On our part, we have also had an Interim Compensation Scheme, but this benefits only a small section of the displaced persons and others are in urgent need of succour and help.

4. Then, there is the problem of the rapid deterioration of many of these evacuee properties. Both in the interests of the evacuee owners of these properties and from the point of view of preventing the gradual collapse of these houses etc., it has become an urgent matter to deal with them in some manner. You will remember my talking to you about this in London in June last year. At your request, we postponed action then and, since then, we have been continually postponing it. Now another rainy season is near and further postponement would mean considerable loss to all concerned and, more especially, to the owners of the properties. As I pointed out to you then and later, this does not mean our affecting the rights of owners in so far as the value of those properties that are disposed of, are concerned. That right remains, and whatever is realized from them will be held on their account till some settlement is arrived at between the two Governments.

5. Another question that has been troubling me for a long time has been the evacuee property laws which, both in India and Pakistan, are exceedingly unusual and abnormal and which have caused a great deal of harm to large numbers of people. It was my hope that we could put an end to these laws by agreement in both our countries. But as any agreement on this question of evacuee property seems to be a very long time in coming, we have decided to take action ourselves. We have come to the decision that in future these evacuee property laws should have no application. Naturally they will continue to apply to such evacuee properties as are already in control of the Custodian of Evacuee Properties or such as are being considered by him. But we shall not apply it in future. That is to say that there will be no restriction in future on anyone owning property here, whether he goes to Pakistan or anywhere else. This decision, I hope, will be appreciated by you, because it puts an end to this abnormal legislation which has affected so many people.

6. In regard to the evacuee immovable properties in India, especially the large number of petty houses etc., we have decided to take action to acquire the rights and title of the evacuee owners in these properties and to utilize these properties for giving part compensation to displaced persons. The final settlement of this problem, including that of compensation, must await the ultimate settlement between our two countries. As I have said above, this will be in the interests of the evacuee owners themselves, because it will prevent further deterioration. Evacuee owners will get credit for the values of these properties. We shall naturally proceed in this matter carefully so as to realize as high a value as possible. We intend to introduce legislation soon on both the subjects mentioned above. The legislation will necessarily take some time to pass, but it will be introduced in Parliament, we hope, fairly soon. In so far as the abrogation of the evacuee property law for the future is concerned, we shall take executive action to prevent any future application from now onwards without waiting for the passage of the legislation. In so far as the other matter is concerned, the proposed legislation will make a provision for the payment of compensation to evacuee owners in accordance with the terms of settlement that may be reached with Pakistan on a reciprocal basis. This decision on our part should not, therefore, prejudice any negotiations between our two countries in regard to the settlement of the evacuee property issue.

7. I would again suggest to you that it will be desirable for a meeting to take place of the officers of the two Governments in the near future to consider and settle the problems relating to evacuee immovable property as also the outstanding items relating to the movable property. At this conference the progress of implementation of the agreement already reached in respect of movable property may also be reviewed and the working of the Banking Agreement of 1949 discussed. If you so prefer, we might only consider for the moment the question of moveable property and the Banking Agreement of 1949. We can consider the question of immoveable property later.

Yours sincerely,
Jawaharlal Nehru

3206. Letter from Pakistan Prime Minister Mohammad Ali to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Karachi, September 22, 1954.

My dear Prime Minister,

I thank you for your letters dated 6th March and 7th May, 1954, regarding evacuee property. I apologies for the delay in dealing with these letters. As you are aware, during recent months I have had to go through a usually heavy programme of engagements, with the result that disposal of some of the matters requiring my personal attention have had to be held over until I was able to find time to deal with them.

2. This question of shrines and holy places has since the receipt of your first letter been disposed on. The agreement reached between the two Advisers formally ratified by my Government last April and your Government was informed accordingly.

3. Your proposals regarding certain outstanding items of the Movable Property Agreement have been examined. I gather however, that it was agreed between the two Governments that those items should be discussed in conjunction with a meeting of the Implementation Committee of the Banking Agreement, Your Government have represented that the claims of certain Banks with regard to pledged and hypothecated goods have not been satisfied by the Custodian. These complaints cover a wide area and are being examined in consultation with the Custodian of Evacuee Property of the Punjab, As soon as this examination is complete, our Finance Ministry will be in a position to discuss the Banking Agreement when a conference could be held to deal with other outstanding items of the Movable Property Agreement as well.
4. You have reiterated your view that old and dilapidated evacuee property should be disposed of by public auction and I gather that action to that effect is already being taken by your Government. This is a clear violation of the Agreement of January 1949, which guaranteed to the evacuees their right to sell or exchange their properties. I regret I do not find the considerations advanced by you in support of this procedure as furnishing adequate justification for it, nor, I fear, would they carry conviction with the unfortunate evacuee owners thus affected. In fact we have already received a number of protests from our refugees against notices issued by Indian authorities for auctioning their properties. If the Government of India had implemented the 1949 Agreement, these properties would have been disposed of by the owners and there would have been no question of their being reduced to their present position. The Government of India have neither permitted the owners to dispose of these properties nor apparently discharged their responsibility for looking after them properly. Under the circumstances, the responsibility for the present state of these properties must rest with your Government. To make the present deplorable condition of these properties the ground now for disposing of them against the wishes of the owners seems to me to be scarcely justified.

5. In this context I had occasion to refer to an announcement reported to have been made by your Government to the effect that out of the rents received from the evacuee property and the sale proceeds of movables a sum of Rs 8 to 10 crores had been credited to the "compensation pool". On this basis I remarked that it could be no consolation to our refugees to know that the sale now proceeds of the property you were now auctioning would also be credited with the Custodians, only to be transferred subsequently to this "compensation pool", for the benefit of Indian refugees. In your letter of March 6th you have challenged this assumption and have stated that all moneys thus recovered were lying to the credit of the Custodians in the name of evacuee owners. I need not explain why I had made that assumption since in your subsequent letter of May 7 you go on to say that your Government have decided to acquire the rights and titles of the evacuee owners in those properties and to utilize these properties for giving part compensation to displaced persons. In substance therefore my fears were justified. It is true that the evacuee owners would get a book credit for the value of these properties but the persons who would immediately benefit from the proceeds of these properties would be not the owners who were being dispossessed but Indian refugees.

6. You have given reasons why urban evacuee properties should not be privately sold or exchanged, as I had suggested, but, as has been the Government of India's stand, should be disposed of on a Government-to-Government basis. I am unable to accept the validity of your contention. It seems to me, however, that further, discussion of this subject is now academic and would be fruitless because by your decision unilaterally to acquire the rights and titles of evacuee owners in these properties you have ruled out any question of private sales and exchanges. In your letter of March 6 you assure me that the proprietary rights of the evacuee owners will remain intact under the Interim Compensation Scheme and that therefore I was wrong in construing this scheme as presenting Pakistan with a fait accompli. If there was any doubt that the Government of India’s policy or actions in the matter amounted to a fait accompli, this has been set at rest by your subsequent letter of May 7 in which you inform me that your Government has decided to acquire the rights and titles of owners in evacuee immovable property. A Bill to that effect is, I gather, already before your Parliament.

7. Your Government’s conduct in this matter has greatly perplexed and distressed me. When we met in Karachi we discussed at some length the question of disposal of urban immovable property of evacuees through private sales and exchanges as against a Government-to-Government settlement of this problem. We stated our different points of view and it was my understanding that this question would be further discussed with a view to resolving our differences. Before this could be done your Government has proceeded to expropriate the owners and has taken action which has ruled out once for all any settlement on the basis of private sales and exchanges. We have thus been presented now with only one alternative, namely, settlement on a Government-to-Government basis as demanded by your Government. To me this can hardly be called resolving differences by negotiation. Here quite frankly is an attempt to force us to settle this issue only in accordance with the Government of India’s wishes in the matter. I fail to understand how further negotiations between our two Governments can succeed if one of the parties chooses to adopt such a course.

8. I am constrained to repeat that your Government’s latest action constitutes a flagrant breach of the Agreement of January 1949. You concede that the principle of private sales and exchanges of urban immovable property was accepted in that Agreement but consider that that Agreement has become a dead letter since the middle of 1949. You also suggest that it was the Government of Pakistan who first promulgated an Ordinance banning sales and exchanges of evacuee property and that it was only later that India was compelled to take similar steps. This is not so. Let me recall the actual facts.

9. In August, 1947 the two Governments decided that a Custodian’s Department should be set up in each country to prevent illegal seizure of the property left by the evacuees and to manage it in the evacuees’ interests; suitable legislation was brought out in the Punjab (Pakistan) and the Punjab (India) to secure those objects. At the same time a series of discussions were held between the representatives of the two countries in 1947 and 1948 with a view to devising a solution of the entire problem of evacuee property. The outcome of these negotiations was the well-known Agreement of January 1949. India had wanted that evacuee property legislation should apply to the whole of India, barring West Bengal, Assam and Tripura, but this was not agreed to by Pakistan. The Agreement defined the “prescribed areas” and “non-prescribed areas” in both countries. When the Indian representatives signed the Agreement accepting this area distinction, it was naturally expected that their Government would honour the basic understanding underlying the Agreement that the operation of evacuee property laws would be limited to the “prescribed areas” as defined therein. But within a few months of signing the Agreement, legislation was promulgated than (for) the “prescribed areas”. This was a grave violation of the Agreement and it soon became evident that the object, of evacuee property legislation in India was not to protect the interests of evacuees but to expropriate the property of as many Muslims as possible. With this radical change in India’s objective the chances of the Agreement of January, 1949 working smoothly were seriously jeopardized.

10. The conference leading to the Agreement of January 1949 had recommended the appointment of an Inter-Dominion Commission to supervise the working of the agreed arrangements. This Commission held three meetings. At its second meeting held in New Delhi in March, 1949 the Commission made certain recommendations in respect of facilities to be accorded to the owners of urban immovable evacuee property to assist them in its disposal in accordance with the provisions of the Agreement. The Commission contemplated, inter alia, centralized registration of deeds of transfer. The recommendations of the Commission were still under examination both in India and Pakistan when suddenly the Government of India demanded a complete reversal of the Agreement and proposed a settlement on a Government-to-Government basis. The Government of Pakistan protested against what appeared to them an attempt on the part of the Government of India to go back upon an Agreement which had been signed only 4 months back and which had just begun to be implemented.

11. About the middle of June, 1949, the Government of Pakistan received from India what was called “an advance copy of a draft Ordinance which is shortly likely to be enacted, for the administration of evacuee property in the Chief Commissioners’ Provinces”. This “advance” copy was actually received by Pakistan after it had become law. At about the same time it came to notice that a new Evacuee Property law had been promulgated by the Government of Bombay for their Province under the title of the Bombay Evacuees (Administration, of Property) Act 1949. The Central Ordinance and the Bombay Act contained drastic provisions for the expropriation of the properties of both evacuee and non-evacuee Muslims. The Government of Pakistan lodged a strong protest against the introduction of these new laws in India, and in their telegram No. 2775 dated the 23rd June, 1949, pointed out that under the Ordinance a person became an evacuee even if he continued to reside in India on the mere pretext that he had acquired benefit from any evacuee property in Pakistan and Government could prohibit, transfers by evacuees or non-evacuees of property in any locality while under the Act a Muslim became an evacuee if he moved out of the Province even though he continued to reside in India, Pakistan nationals were deprived of control over property in that Province, the right of evacuees and non-evacuees to transfer their property was almost extinguished, and business had been made impossible for those who had connections outside that Province.

12. At the conference held in Karachi in June, 1949, the representatives of the Government of Pakistan urged that the new legislation promulgated in India be withdrawn, offering, simultaneously to examine and resolve by mutual discussion any difficulties that might have been experienced in the working of the Agreement of 1949, even though its implementation had only just started. But India took no notice of Pakistan's protest or her conciliatory offer, and instead went ahead with her new legislation not only in the Province of Bombay but also in the other Provinces. Quite clearly, the Government of India were not thinking of any difficulties in the working of the Agreement of January, 1949; they were anxious rather to discard it completely. According to the well-known Ayengar X-Y-Z formula, Indian refugees were to be compensated out of a pool comprising (1) value of Muslim evacuee property in India (X), (2) Pakistan's contribution (Y),& (3) Government of India's contribu-tion (Z). In its attitude to the January 1949 Agreement, therefore, India was motivated, in the first place, by a desire to seize as much property of her Muslim nationals as possible, (“X” in the Ayengar formula for compensation), and, in the second place, to obtain the maximum amount of compensation from the Government of Pakistan, (“Y” in the Ayengar formula). Mr. Ayengar, accordingly, made it plain at a conference in New Delhi on the 21st July, 1949: our object must be to obtain as large a compensation for the evacuee property in Pakistan as possible in the course of what might be protracted negotiations spread ever several years. With “Y” in the formula, as explained by its author, India could not work the Agreement of 1949 or allow it to be worked; she had to go back upon it and demand a Government-to-Government settlement. She could not restrict the operation of evacuee property legislation only to “prescribed” areas, or allow private sales and exchanges to “continue because “X” in the formula required that the evacuee property pool in India must expand as much as possible, and not contract by private sales or exchanges. No wonder the Custodian-General of India, Mr.
Achhru Ram, subsequently interpreted his Government’s policy in a judicial pronouncement as follows:

“The Government of India had also taken a firm decision that the problem of evacuee properties in the two countries should be settled by the Government of each country acquiring all evacuee property lying within its territories on a fair valuation, the value of evacuee property in one country being set off against the value of similar property in the other, and the difference between the two values if any, should be paid by the debtor country to the creditor country.”

As a result of this decision, all private transactions in respect of evacuee property were banned. The above mentioned two Ordinances were promulgated in furtherance of these decisions, and legislative provisions on the same lines were also put into force in all the Indian provinces excepting Assam and West Bengal.

13. The two Ordinances referred to by Mr. Achhru Ram were the East Punjab Ordinance IX of 1949 dated the 10th July 1949 and the Central Ordinance XII of 1949 dated the 13th June, 1949. The Bombay Act, which prohibited transfers of evacuee property under section 8(1) read with sub-section (4) (b), was perhaps the earliest in this series dated 17-5-1949. The Pakistan Ordinance banning private transactions was brought out on the 26th July, 1949.

14. In the face of these facts the suggestion that the provisions regarding private sales and exchanges were rendered inoperative by the ban placed by the Pakistan Government in July 1949 is not justified. The background of this prohibitory legislation given by India’s own Custodian-General and reproduced above makes it clear that the initiative in banning private sales and exchanges had been taken by India. It was only when she was forced to do so by Indian action that Pakistan promulgated legislation prohibiting such transfers, much against her own wishes.

15. Having fixed their objective irrevocably the Government of India had to find reasons to justify their violation of the Agreement of January 1949. The Union Rehabilitation Minister came out with an allegation on the 4th June 1951 that private sales and exchanges were not being permitted so that during the months when this method was tried only one sale took place in Pakistan, whereas in India the Agreement was being fully implemented although there were not more than 49 sales and exchanges during that period. The Pakistan Minister for Rehabilitation gave the following reply:

“From the information received from the Custodians of Evacuee Property it appears that not less than 27 exchanges and 207 sales of evacuee urban immovable property had been confirmed in Pakistan up to the 31st July, 1949. In Karachi and Sind, however, there was some delay in the appointment of the Custodian of Evacuee property, but when he was appointed, he was flooded with applications for confirmation of transfers. Thus, up to the 31st May, 1951, he had confirmed 1,999 sales in addition to many cases of exchange. All these transfers took place before the end of July, 1949, and were allowed to be confirmed subsequently in pursuance of the terms of the Agreement”.

The relative figures quoted above regarding sales and exchanges which took place in India and Pakistan show that while private sales and exchanges were freely allowed in Pakistan they were not in India and it was there that this formula was not even given a fair trial.

16. You have mentioned that prior to the January 1949 Agreement, i.e. in March, 1948, the Joint Official Committee had recommended the settlement of agricultural evacuee property on Government-to-Government level. This recommendation was however not unqualified. Actually what the Committee recommended was:

“(1) The Dominion in which the evacuee agricultural property is situated shall acquire it on payment of fair value except that part thereof in respect of which the Government concerned has accorded permission for exchange or sale by treaty or has allowed restoration.

(2) Whenever permission to sell or exchange is granted by Government concerned, the owner shall be free to (i) exchange or sell his property privately; or (ii) claim restoration of his property for management either directly or by agents appointed by him in his behalf.

It would appear that the Joint Official Committee contemplated a mixed formula for agricultural property: (a) acquisition by Government, (b) liquidation by private sale and exchange or (c) management by the evacuee owners or their agents. The “draft scheme” it was called was not adopted or even discussed at the Inter Dominion Conference held in January, 1949 and was deferred for further consideration. The opportunity for further consideration did not arise because the Government of India almost simultaneously started violating the agreed provisions of the Agreement of January 1949.

17. You have complained that since Partition all your efforts to come to a satisfactory solution in regard to immovable evacuee property have met with failure. But what have these efforts been? I regret to say that they all boil down to one and only one thing, namely, that Pakistan must agree to a settlement of this issue on a Government—to-Government basis so that Government of India could, in conformity with their objective, “obtain as large a compensation from Pakistan as possible. In other words a “satisfactory solution”, according to your Government, seems to me to be a solution only on their own terms. Your Government’s latest decision to acquire all rights and titles in evacuee property is in line with this same settled policy. Apart from the fact that this action constitutes a breach of faith with the evacuee owners and a contravention of the January 1949 Agreement, it impose a wholly unnecessary administrative and financial responsibility on the Government which would be compelled to take over and dispose of thousands of properties scattered over the entire length and breadth of the country. It is a responsibility which Government’s machinery is ill-fitted to discharge. It is most unfortunate that since that Agreement was signed nearly 5 1/2 years have been wasted on account of the uncooperative attitude of the Government of India. If during this period the Agreement had been given a fair trial, the whole corpus of immovable evacuee property would probably by now have been liquidated by the evacuees themselves to their own satisfaction.

18. There is one other matter arising out of your letter to which I feel I must advert. I notice that your Government claims that the value of evacuee property in Pakistan is substantially higher than the value of evacuee property in India. It was perhaps on this assumption that the Government of India decided to ignore the provisions concerning “prescribed areas” in the Agreement of January 1949 and have since then been acquiring Muslin property on various pretexts all over India so that the value of evacuee property in Pakistan should equal the value of evacuee property in India. My Government do not accept your estimate of the present value of evacuee property in India and Pakistan. They consider that it is based on wholly unreliable data. After entering into the Agreement of January 1949 my Government have not interested themselves in the question of over-all valuation, of evacuee property, but they have watched with interest the efforts made by your Government to evaluate Muslin evacuee property in India and Hindu and Sikh evacuee property in Pakistan. Where, however, the avowed object was “to obtain as large a compensation from Pakistan as possible” these evaluations were bound to be vitiated.

19. I am anxious that the evacuee property dispute should be settled as indeed I am most eager and anxious that all major disputes between India and Pakistan should be resolved as early as possible. But the policy hitherto pursued by your Government in respect of this dispute in utter disregard of agreements and our views fills me with despair. The latest decision of your Government to dispossess evacuee owners of all rights and titles in their property has completely altered the whole situation. It has destroyed the very basis on which our discussions were being conducted and I find myself at a loss to suggest how we should proceed further in this matter.

Yours sincerely

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru,
Prime Minister of India,
New Delhi (INDIA)
only express the hope once again that the Government of Pakistan will agree to meet the representatives of the Government of India to settle the principles according to which compensation should be paid to those who have lost their properties as a result of forced migration from one country to another. I have no doubt that with goodwill on both sides a solution will be found.

MEHR CHAND KHANNA accompanied by me met GHULAM MOHD just before lunch this morning. MEHR CHAND referred to GHULAM MOHD's spectacular visit to Delhi on the Republic Day despite weak health and said a new hope had been created which should be availed of to settle outstanding issues and particularly to redress grievances causing hardships to individuals in both countries. MEHR CHAND mentioned about the difficulty of release of lockers created on this side when there was general desire in both countries for earliest possible release of shares, securities, lockers, safe deposits and money and articles withheld by the two governments. GHULAM MOHD said that he had already sent for Rehabilitation Minister AMIR AZAM and that there should be no difficulty in settling this point thus paving way for ratification of agreement recently reached between the two official teams in March.

2. As regards exodus from East Bengal MEHR CHAND pointed out that there must be some definite and compelling reason forcing people to migrate Mehr Chand Khanna met P.M. this morning for half an hour. I was present. Talk related to two matters namely Moveable Property Agreement and Migration from East Bengal. As regards Moveable Property Agreement Mehr Chand pointed out that practically everything has been settled except question of lockers about which Pakistan attitude understandable. There is no nexus between release of lockers and Muslim accounts in India and in any case we had agreed release of accounts, but we desired similar treatment of lockers.

on both sides. We have retified Agreement by 31st March as stipulated but not yet done by Pakistan. Mohamad Ali said that he did not understand why there should be any difficulty about release of lockers and would speak about it to his Rehabilitation Minister who has just returned. Mehr Chand said that if matters still remain unresolved he would come and bother Mohamad Ali so that final decision reached while he is still here.

2. As regards migration, Mohamad Ali did not deny increase in exodus although his information was that about eight thousand monthly against real figure of 25 thousand last month. Mohd. Ali mentioned the reported desire of West Bengal to oust Biharis by inviting labour and agriculturists from East Bengal and was eloquent about Bengali nation language unity and culture as against request of India and even Moghuls in old days. Mohd Ali also referred to abolition of zamindaris and said that this caused certain amount of pressure on Namasudras who might be leaving on that account. Ultimately he ended up by saying that Ghyasuddin Pathan was going East Bengal and would study situation and take necessary steps. Mehr Chand pointed out that there had been no liberalization of benefits or concession to refugees and that East Bengal Hindu was definitely unwelcome to West Bengal Hindu and therefore cause for migration must be traced to insecurity and difficulties in East Bengal.

3. Mehr Chand meeting Rehabilitation Minister AMIR AZAM before lunch today. There will also be full meeting under auspices of Interior Ministry tomorrow afternoon which would be presided over by Iskander Mirza and where communications, migration and khokhrapar and other subjects might come up for general consideration.

Karachi, April 12, 1955.

The Pakistan Minister for the Interior, Major General Iskander Mirza, and India’s Minister for Rehabilitation, Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna, held discussions in Karachi on the 9th April, 1955, and subsequent days, in regard to migration from one country to another, improvement in rail communications, improvement of travel facilities between the two countries, and exodus of members of the minority community from East Pakistan. The Ministers were assisted by official Advisers.
2. Complete agreement was reached in regard to all matters discussed. The Ministers agreed that travel between the two countries should be facilitated by the provision of a less cumbersome system of visas and establishment of additional checkposts and authorized routes between the two countries. It was agreed to establish two authorized routes on the West Pakistan border, one at Khokhrapar and the other at Gandasinghwala. It is expected that establishment of the authorized route via Khokhrapar with railway facilities and checkposts will lead to bona fide travelers using this route with valid travel documents and that the movement of unauthorized persons without travel documents will cease.

3. Restoration of Railway communications between West Pakistan and India and through running of railways between West Bengal and Assam through East Pakistan was also discussed.

4. On the question of the exodus of members of the minority community from East Pakistan, the Ministers agreed that confidence should be restored as rapidly as possible among the minority community in East Pakistan. The Government of Pakistan has assured the minority community that their interests and security would be fully guarded and that returning migrants would be taken back to their homes and their properties restored to them.

Record of decisions of the meeting held on April 17, 1955 on the transfer of evacuee accounts under Banking Agreement 1949 and release of lockers and safe deposits under the Moveable Property Agreement of 1950.

The question of transfer of evacuee accounts under the Banking Agreement of April, 1949, and release of lockers and safe deposits under the Moveable Property Agreement of 1950 was discussed between the Hon’ble Minister for Finance and the Hon’ble Minister for Refugees & Rehabilitation, Pakistan and the Hon’ble Minister for Rehabilitation, Government of India, assisted by their respective officers.

2. As a result of these discussions, it was agreed that

(i) & (ii) the banks functioning in India and Pakistan will transfer en bloc, irrespective of the question of realization of assets, all the Muslim accounts
mentioned in paragraph 1(a) and (b) of the Banking Agreement of April 1949 and non-Muslim evacuee accounts of individuals in Punjab (P) and Bahawalpur, together with funds for payment to depositors: the banks functioning in India and not in Pakistan and having no realizable assets in Pakistan will also transfer en bloc all the Muslim accounts mentioned in para 1(a) and (b) of the Banking Agreement of April 1949 together with funds for payment to depositors in Pakistan: similar facilities will be accorded to non-Muslim evacuee accounts of individuals in Punjab (P) and Bahawalpur in the case of banks functioning in Pakistan but not functioning in India and having no realizable assets in India;

(iii) the banks which are functioning in India and not in Pakistan but have realizable assets in Pakistan will transfer en bloc, irrespective of the question of realization of assets, accounts equal in value to half the amount of each Muslim account mentioned in para 1(a) and (b) of the Banking Agreement of April, 1949. Simultaneously, they will transfer funds equal to the amounts in the accounts transferred less any cash lying with the banks and the amounts payable under (iv) below. The balance of the accounts will be transferred and the funds provided by the realization of the assets, and if necessary, by a further transfer of funds, as provided for in para 6 (f) of Part II of the Conclusions of the Indo-Pakistan Conference of March, 1955. Similar facilities will be accorded to non-Muslim evacuee accounts of individuals in Punjab (P) and Bahawalpur in the case of banks functioning in Pakistan but not functioning in India and having realizable assets in India. (N.B. the provisions of (i), (ii) & (iii) above will also apply to minors’ accounts)

(iv) the Governments concerned will ensure that all amounts standing to the credit of the banks with the custodian or lying with Government Departments or with courts for payment to the banks, are credited to the accounts of the banks concerned by 31-7-55. The Governments concerned will also ensure that payments are made to the banks in respect of moveable properties belonging to or pledged or hypothecated with the banks and taken over by the custodian or Government Departments, by 30.9.1955; and

(v) the accounts and funds, as contemplated under (i) to (iii) above will be transferred by 30.11.1955; by the same date, lockers and safe deposits in both the countries against which there are no third-party claims will be released en bloc; lockers against which there are third party claims should also be released at the same time after the settlement of third party claims.
3. The Pakistan Government will give facilities for effecting sales of evacuee immovable property mortgaged or chargeable in favour of banks, with a view to effecting recovery of the dues of the banks concerned from the evacuee borrowers. Both Governments will use their good offices and give every facility for the realization of the debt due to the banks including debts from evacuee borrowers.

4. An Implementation Committee, consisting of 2 or 3 representatives of each country, will be set up forthwith for overall supervision of the implementation of the decisions taken in respect of moveable property, evacuee claims and the Banking Agreement. The Committee will meet alternately in each country once a month. Any difficulties which cannot be resolved by the Committee will be reported by the members of the two countries to their Governments forthwith.

5. The relevant portions of Part II of the “Conclusions” of the Indo-Pakistan Conference held in March 1955, will be suitably modified in the light of the above-mentioned decisions.

6. The Hon'ble Minister for Rehabilitation, India, mentioned that, as the Ministry of Finance, Government of India, was concerned with the Banking Agreement, his agreement to these decisions was subject to the concurrence of the Hon'ble Minister for Finance, India.

7. The above arrangements would be subject to ratification by the two Governments.

Karachi, April 17, 1955.

The Indian and Pakistan Delegations, consisting of Hon’ble Mr. Mehr Chand Khana, the Union Minister for Rehabilitation India, and the Hon’ble Sardar Amir Azam, Pakistan Minister for Refugees & Rehabilitation met in Karachi and held a series of discussions on the outstanding questions of transfer of bank accounts under the Banking Agreement of 1949 and the bulk release of lockers and safe deposits under the Movable Property Agreement of 1950.
2. As a result of these discussions, an agreed procedure for the transfer of such accounts and the release of lockers and safe deposits has been evolved which it is hoped will give early relief to displaced persons in either country. The decisions are subject to ratification by the two Governments.

3. Thus all the outstanding problems between the two countries relating to the movable property of evacuees and the bank accounts have been resolved.

4. It has also been decided to set up an Implementation Committee consisting of 2 or 3 representatives of each country for overall supervision of the implementation of the decisions taken in respect of movable evacuee property, evacuee claims and the Banking Agreement. This Committee will meet once a month, alternately in each country.

3213. Letter from Pakistan Ministry of Rehabilitation to Ministry of Rehabilitation.

Government of Pakistan
Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation
Karachi

No. F. 12(2)/55 – P.

From: A.R. Qureshi, Esq.,
Deputy Secretary to the Government of Pakistan.

To: The Secretary to the government of India,
Ministry of Rehabilitation,
New Delhi.

Subject: Ratification of the conclusions of the Indo–Pakistan Conference held at Karachi from 1st to 12th March, 1955 and the proposals agreed upon in April, 1955 at the Ministerial level.

Sir,

With reference to the correspondence ending with your letter No. 8(2)/55 – N, dated the 1st April, 1955, I am directed to convey the ratification by the Government of Pakistan of the agreed conclusions of the Indo – Pakistan Conference held at Karachi from the 1st to the 12th March, 1955.
2. As the Government of India are aware the Review of the Banking Agreement incorporated in Part II of the “Conclusions” was further considered in April, 1955 in a series of discussions between the Hon’ble Ministers for Refugees and Rehabilitation and Finance, Pakistan on the one side and the Hon’ble the Minister for Rehabilitation, India, on the other and an agreed formula was drawn up embodying the principles governing the transfer of bank accounts, safe deposits and bank lockers. The Government of Pakistan has since considered this agreed formula also and are pleased to ratify the same. After this agreed formula has been ratified by the Government of India it will be necessary to revise the detailed arrangements included in Parts II (Review of the Banking Agreement) and IV (Articles deposited with Banks – Lockers and safe deposits.) of the “Conclusions” in the light of this formula. I am to request that the ratification by the Government of India of this agreed formula may kindly be communicated to this Government at an early date.

3. The Government of Pakistan has noted the decisions of the Government of India on the items which the Indian Delegation had promised to consider further and have the following observations to make:-

(1) Part I of the Conclusions. Revised Implementation Instructions (1) and (2). Export of personal jewellery - Para (7).

The Government of India has agreed that the limit of Rs. 2,000/- on export of personal jewellery of evacuees may be withdrawn on a reciprocal basic subject to suitable checks being devised to ensure that the case is bona fide. It is not clear what kind of checks the Government of India propose to introduce. This Government would suggest that the diplomatic certificate [vide Para 3, Annexure I to the Revised Implementation Instruction (2)] issued by the Liaison Officer should be accepted for purposes of establishing the bona fides of a particular case. Any other arrangement which leaves the matter to the discretion of the Customs authorities at the border may be misused and may bring the implementation of this part of the Agreement to a standstill. If the Government of India accept this view, suitable provision will be made in the fresh implementation instructions to be issued.

A detailed note on the specific cases in which personal jewellery of evacuees was withheld or confiscated by the Customs authorities in India is being prepared and will be furnished to the Government of India soon.

(2) Property of migrants detained by Customs authorities – Para (8).

The Government of Pakistan note that the Government of India agree that the movable property of migrants detained at the border stations by the Customs authorities should be restored by the two Governments on a reciprocal basis without payment of any storage and demurrage charges. The position with regard to such property said to be held by the Customs authorities in Pakistan is being ascertained from the authorities concerned and will be intimated to the Government of India in due course.

(3) Settlement of claims in respect of provident fund and pensions of Punjab Government servants who have migrated from one country to the other. (Part VIII of the Conclusions – Miscellaneous items – Financial item 9).

The Government of India have stated that they would furnish a detailed note on the subject for the consideration of this Government. In the meantime they suggest that both the countries should remove the Custodian's ban on the payment of such claims. As the Agreement already provides for the removal of the Custodian's ban on the payment of such claims it is not clear what further action is required other than making the necessary provision for this decision in the fresh implementation instructions that are to be issued under this Agreement.

4. The Government of India's decisions on the under mentioned items are still awaited and I am to request that these may kindly be expedited:-

(i) Restoration of cash of individuals and commercial concerns taken over by the Custodians or the movable assets of the latter converted into cash by the Custodians (Part I – Revised Implementations (1) and (2) – Para 21).

(ii) The removal of restrictions on the export, exchange and transfer of shares and debentures held by the evacuees on the 27th February, 1951, in Joint Stock Companies of the other Country (Part VI – Para (1) of the Conclusions).

(iii) The removal of restrictions on export of securities and other investments falling to the share of Defence Units (Regimental Funds), and ex – all India institutions such as Red Cross, St. John Ambulance, Lady Defferin Fund etc. (Part VI – Para (3)).

(iv) Facility for payment of Life Insurance Accounts – (Part VIII – item 1).

(v) Transfer of postal certificates and saving banks accounts applications which were not registered by the prescribed dates and payment of the value of postal life insurance policies (Part VIII – item 13).

5. The decisions of the Government of Pakistan on some of the items which the Pakistan delegation promised to consider further are given below:-

(i) Part I – Revised Implementation Instructions (1) and (2) – Para (6).

The question of deduction of 50% on account of Custodian’s charges in the lists of sale proceeds of movable property received from the N.W.F.P. has been examined by this Government. It transpires that the Government of the N.W.F.P. had deducted 50% on account of Custodian’s charges by virtue of the provisions of the North West Frontier Province Property (Temporary Acquisition) Ordinance, 1947 and the North West Frontier Province Protection of Evacuee Property and Rehabilitation of Refugees Ordinance, 1948. As these ordinances had been issued by the N.W.F.P. Government prior to the Central Ordinance XVIII of 1948 and much before the Movable Property Agreement of 1950 was concluded, there are certain legal difficulties involved in the case. However the matter has been referred to the Government of N.W.F.P. and a further communication will be sent to the Government of India.

(ii) Revised Implementation Instruction (5) Seized Movable Property.

The Government of Pakistan agree to the suggestions made by the Government of India that in the case of fire – arms left with friends and not declared so far, both the Governments may simultaneously issue a Press note in their respective countries to the effect that such persons were at liberty to declare such fire – arms in their possession and that this possession would be condoned by the Government concerned. The Government of Pakistan also agree that a period of three months may be given for the declaration of such fire – arms. I am to request that a draft Press note may kindly be furnished to this Government which may be issued simultaneously by the two Governments on an agreed date.

The Government of Pakistan have, considered the proposal of the Indian delegation that a retired High Court Judge of the undivided India may be nominated to function as an umpire in cases of disagreement between the members of the Implementation Committee. This Government are of the opinion that, apart from the practical difficulty of obtaining the services of an umpire who would be acceptable to both the Governments the object underlying the suggestion would not be served, as the Implementation Committee under the Banking Agreement would be called upon to settle problems of a practical nature requiring practical solutions. These problems would not involve legal issues requiring the assistance of a highly placed judicial authority. I am, accordingly to suggest that cases of disagreement should be referred to the two Governments for decision in consultation with each other.

The point raised in Para 7 (a) of Part II of the “Conclusions” that the provisions in respect of evacuee immovable property mortgaged or chargeable in favour of banks as referred to in clauses (iv) and (v) of Para 8 of the Banking Agreement should be implemented by the Pakistan authorities is now covered by Para 3 of the agreed formula relating to the transfer of Bank Accounts which is being ratified by this Government. It is presumed that no further action on this point on the part of this Government is required.

As regards India’s proposal for en bloc transfer of accounts of Companies, Private Firms, Partnerships, Institutions and Clubs, it is suggested that this question may be discussed when the general question of transfer of accounts of Clubs, Institutions, etc., is taken up.

(iv) Part IX Para 2.

With regard to the proposal made by the Indian delegation that cases of disagreement among the members of the Joint Committees to be set up under the Revised Implementation Instructions (2), (4) and (6) should be referred to a retired High Court Judge of the undivided India this Government would suggest that the other alternative of referring such cases of disagreement to a High Court Judge of the country where the Joint committee is functioning, which is more practical, may be finally adopted.

The remaining outstanding points are still under the consideration of this Government and a further communication will be sent to the Government of India in due course.

6. With regard to the question of setting up an Implementation Committee to watch the overall progress of implementation of the agreed decisions, I am to observe that the intention was that this Committee should meet once a quarter and that the first meeting should be held in July, 1955 vide Para 1 of part IX of the “Conclusions”.

Para 4 of the agreed formula drawn up as a result of discussions at the Ministerial level in April, 1955, however, provides that the Implementation Committee should meet once a month. It seems that at the time of drafting this paragraph, the decision taken at the Secretariat Conference was overlooked. Since the Implementation Committee has to watch the progress of implementation of the decisions relating to the movable property, evacuees’ claims and the Banking Agreement as a whole, it would have to contact the Liaison Organizations and the Field Officers scattered all over the country and to prepare the agenda on the basis of the difficulties experienced in the actual working of the Agreements. It would be impracticable for the Committee to collect sufficient material to hold a meeting every month. Monthly meetings would be too frequent and unnecessary. If in course of time it is felt that monthly meetings should be held, the Implementation Committee could always do so. The Government would, therefore, suggest that the provision in Para (1) of part IX of the “Conclusions” for the Implementation Committee to meet once a quarter should stand and the subsequent proposal of the Committee meeting every month dropped.

7. As the Government of India are aware, the displaced persons in both the countries have been looking forward to these Agreements with anxious hopes and it is believed that the implementation of the Agreements would render considerable relief to them. It is desirable therefore, that the Agreements should be released in extenso for the information of the displaced persons in both the countries. I am accordingly to suggest that both the Agreements may be released to the public on an agreed date. If the Government of India accept this proposal, they may kindly indicate the date on which the Agreements may be released to the public simultaneously in both the countries.

8. Para 1 of part IX of the “Conclusions” provides that the implementation Instructions would be revised or fresh instructions issued in the light of the agreed decisions taken at the Conference. This Government would suggest that fresh consolidated instructions may be issued to all concerned on the basis of the two Agreements now signed. A draft of consolidated instructions may be prepared by each Government and exchanged between the two Governments. The draft instructions may then be finalized at a meeting between the representatives of the two Governments.

9. In conclusion I am to invite a reference to Para 3 of part IX – General – of the “Conclusions” and to say that in view of the fact that fresh implementation instructions have still to be drafted, the target dates for the implementation of the various items of the agreed conclusions would have to be suitably revised. As the issue of fresh Implementation Instructions may still take a month or so, the Government of Pakistan would suggest that the target dates be put back by three months in each case. The Government of India’s concurrence to this proposal is requested.

Your obedient servant

Sd/- A.R. Qureshi
Deputy Secretary
1. In order to expedite verification and payment of claims of contractors and other dues from Government departments, semi – Government and other Local Bodies in the two countries, it has (in pursuance of the decisions of Indo – Pakistan Conference held on 18 -20 December 1950) been decided that the amounts due from Government and quasi – Government bodies should not be deposited with the Custodians of Evacuee Property but such payments should be made to the evacuees after verification of the claims through the Central Claims Organization of either country and on issue of payment authorities by it. Evacuee’s dues already deposited with the Custodians will also be payable against authorization issued by the Central Claims Organization.

2. The two Governments have decided that besides claims in respect of salary pension, provident fund, security deposits etc. of Government servants and servants of states and Local Bodies now being processed by the Central Claims Organization, the Organization will hereafter process the following claims also outstanding against Government and quasi – Government bodies in the other country :-

(i) Claims of contractors of all types (including claims against States and Local bodies) for supplies and services rendered; for refund of earnest money, securities etc., and refund of deposits on account of sale of surplus stores.

(ii) Securities deposited by claimants on account of Ration shops, Food Grain Syndicates, liquor shops etc.

(iii) Securities deposited by treasury contractors.

(iv) Claims of evacuees in respect of court deposits of minor and others under the guardianship of courts and deposits lying with the Courts of Wards and the Manager, Encumbered Estates, in ‘non – mass migration’ areas and also in ‘mass migration’ areas where one of more parties interested in such deposits is / are non – evacuee / s.

(v) Determined deposits of claimants in Courts and decree claims in favour of claimants where the money is payable by or lying with Govt. or quasi – Government bodies.

(vi) Dues of claimants payable by Cooperative institutions including Railway Cooperative societies and also societies in undivided Bengal and Assam, if they were catering for Central Government employees only.
NOTE: Claims against cooperative societies in undivided Bengal and Assam and in areas covered by the Banking Agreement of April, 1949 (except those mentioned above) will be settled separately under existing arrangements between the divided Provinces of Bengal and Punjab.

(vii) Dues (including pay, leave salary and Provident Fund etc.) of University employees and dues of examiners payable by Universities including the Punjab University Lahore and Jamia Millia, Delhi.

(viii) Refund of examination fees due to claimants from Universities.

(ix) Revenue deposits payable to claimants.

(x) Scholarship due to students.

(xi) Provident Fund dues and pension claims of ex – employees of the Reserve Bank of India.

(xii) Claims for compensation to shareholders of the Reserve Bank of India.

(xiv) Claims for refund of the value of defective and damaged India Notes.

3. In regard to claims of contractors of all types (against the undivided Government of India for supplies and services rendered, for refund of earnest money, securities etc., and refund of deposits on account of sale of surplus stores) it is not necessary to file fresh claims where such claims have already been submitted by the contractors to the authorities concerned in India in accordance with the Government of India Press Communiqué of May 22/23, 1948. In cases where verification has already been committed, payment authorities will be issued forthwith through the Central Claims Organization. In cases where information is lacking further enquiries will be made by the Central Claims organization from individual applicants.

4. As regards security deposits, whether made in the form of cash, Government securities, insurance policies, postal saving certificates, savings bank accounts, deposit and receipts of books etc., the Governments of India and Pakistan have decided that the depositors should not be penalized for non – fulfillment of conditions of the contract due to migration.

5. Claims against Assam and the divided provinces of Punjab and Bengal, falling within the categories (i), (ii) and (iii) in Para 2 above, will not be processed through the Central Claims Organization. There are separate arrangements for the settlement of such claims. Payments in such cases will be made against the payment orders issued by authority appointed by the Government concerned in this behalf without the interference of the Custodians of Evacuee Property.

6. All concerned are requested to forward their claims in duplicate to the Officer – in – charge (Claims) Central Claims Organization ‘P’ Block, New Delhi by 30th, September, 1955. Application form prescribed for the purpose can be obtained from the Central Claims Organization. As there is a separate form for each item, applications for forms should clearly state the item or items in respect of which a claim or claims have to be filed. A separate application should be submitted for each individual claims.

Ministry of Rehabilitation.
New Delhi, dated 15th May, 1955.

3215. Letter from Ministry of Rehabilitation to Pakistan Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation.

New Delhi, July 9, 1955.

Government of India
Ministry of Rehabilitation
New Delhi

No. 8 (2)/55 – N the 9th July, 1955

From : Shri P.G. Zachariah,
Deputy Secretary to the Government of India.

To : The Secretary to the Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Refugees & Rehabilitation,
Karachi.

Subject: Ratification of the conclusions of the Indo – Pakistan Conference held at Karachi from 1st to 12th March, 1955 and the proposals agreed upon in April, 1955, at the Minister level.
Sir,

I am directed to invite a reference to the correspondence resting with Mr. Qureshi’s letter No. F. 12 (2)/55 – P, dated the 15th May, 1955, on the subject mentioned above and to communicate the views of the Government of India on the various points raised therein.

2. Government of India have already ratified the decision reached in April, 1955, between their Rehabilitation Minister and the Pakistan Ministers for Finance, and Refugees & Rehabilitation regarding the transfer of evacuee bank accounts and release of lockers and safe deposits of evacuees. While conveying the ratification it was stated that Parts II and IV of the Conclusions of the Conference of March, 1955, would be revised in mutual consultation in the light of those decisions. A draft of the revised parts II and IV of the conclusions will be sent separately for the concurrence of the government of Pakistan.

3. As regards the export of personal jewellery of evacuees, you have suggested that the diplomatic certificate issued by the Liaison Officer should be accepted for purposes of establishing the bona fides of a particular case and any other arrangement which leaves the matter to the discretion of the Customs authorities at the border may be misused and may bring the implementation of this part of the Agreement to a standstill. Personal jewellery of evacuees would fall under the following four categories, namely:

(i) Those recovered from buried treasures;

(ii) Those restored by Custodians and Government Departments;

(iii) Those in safe deposit with banks or kept in lockers; and

(iv) Those left with friends and relations.

In the case of (i), in addition to the luggage certificate granted by the Liaison officer, the articles should be accompanied by a copy of the inventory duly signed by the officers conducting the buried treasure operations. In the case of jewellery restored by the Custodian or a Government Department, there will be the certificate of the restoring authority. A copy of the same should also be enclosed with the luggage certificate granted by the Liaison Officer. Jewellery forming part of safe deposit articles or the contents of lockers will be transferred en bloc in accordance with the Agreement on the subject and no special certificate is, therefore, necessary. In the case of jewellery lying with friends and relations, it will be appreciated that it is desirable to have some sort of a check with a view to ensure that the concession is not abused as the Liaison Officer may not in every case be able to satisfy himself about the bona fides of the applicant.
evacuee. In such cases the customs authorities will have to exercise a certain amount of discretion, particularly where the value of jewellery is very substantial as compared to the status of the evacuee.

4. It is presumed that the position with regard to property of migrants detained by Customs authorities in Pakistan has since been ascertained from the authorities, and I am to request that necessary information may kindly be communicated to this Ministry as early as possible.

5. As regards the settlement of claims in respect of the provident fund and pension of Punjab Government servants who have migrated from one country to the other, the Central Governments of both the countries have agreed that the Custodians’ ban on the payment of such claims should be removed. The Government of India are of the view that suitable instructions in this behalf should issue to Custodians etc. straightaway; and that the same need not wait for the issue of the Consolidated Implementation Instructions under the Movable Property Agreement.

6. Regarding the items on which Government of India’s decisions have yet to be communicated, which have been referred to in paragraph 4 of Mr. Qureshi’s letter cited above, I am to say that items (ii), (iv) and (v) are still under examination and the final views of the Government of India will be communicated as soon as possible. As regards item (i), namely restoration of cash of individuals and commercial concerns taken over by the Custodians or the movable assets of the latter converted into cash by the Custodians, the Government of India would be glad to know what action is being taken by the Pakistan Government to separate the evacuee and non-evacuee interests in commercial concerns where all the partners are not evacuees. In India, a statutory machinery has been set up for the purpose in accordance with the provisions of the Evacuee Interest Separation Act, 1951.

In regard to the removal of restrictions on export of securities and other investments falling to the shares of the Defence Units (Regimental Funds) and ex – All India Institutions such as Red Cross, St. John Ambulance, Lady Duffrin Fund etc., the Government of India agree to the suggestion, subject to the clarification that the removal of restrictions on export would apply only to the agreed shares of the two countries in such funds etc. after the division of funds has been effected.

7. As regards the items on which the decisions of the Government of Pakistan are awaited and referred to in paragraph 5 of Mr. Qureshi’s letter under reply, I am to observe as follows:-
(i) Part I – Revised Implementation Instructions (1) and (2) – Para (6).

The Government of India would be glad if the decision in the matter is expedited. As regards legal difficulties, I may point out that in order to implement the decision taken under the Movable Property Agreement that the custodian’s fee wherever chargeable should be limited to 10 per cent, the Government of India have had to amend the Administration of Evacuee Property (Central) Rulers, 1950. It is presumed that the Government of Pakistan would for this purpose similarly consider the desirability of amending their Evacuee Property Law and Rules there under, if necessary.

(ii) Revised Implementation Instruction (5) Seized Movable Property.

A draft Press Note has been attached to the Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 5 sent to you with Shri K.P. Mahtrani's D.O. letter No. 8 (2)/55 – N, dated the 8th July, 1955.

(iii) Part II – Review of the Banking Agreement – Para 5.

The Government of India acquiesce in the suggestion of the Pakistan Government that cases of disagreement should be referred to the two Governments for decision in consultation with each other.

It is confirmed that in view of paragraph 3 of the agreed formula relating to the transfer of bank accounts which has since been ratified by both the Governments, further action is required on the part of the Pakistan Government in respect of immovable evacuee property mortgaged or chargeable in favour of banks.

As regards India’s proposal for en bloc transfer of accounts of companies, private firms, partnerships, institutions and clubs, you have suggested that the question may be discussed when the general question of transfer of accounts of clubs, institutions etc. is taken up. There appears to be some misapprehension in the matter. The proposal of Indian Delegation in this behalf was that in regard to accounts of companies, private firms, partnerships, institutions and clubs with the accounts in the areas covered by the en bloc arrangements should be allowed the benefit of en bloc transfer; while those in the other areas should be transferred on the basis of individual applications as provided in Para 8(a), part II of the conclusions of the Karachi Conference of March, 1955. This proposal is separate from the question of the transfer of accounts of clubs, institutions, societies, trusts and statutory bodies referred to in the last sub paragraph. of Para 9(c) of part II of the conclusions of the Karachi Conference of March, 1955. It will be observed that it related specifically to the accounts of clubs, institutions, societies, trusts, statutory bodies in which both the countries are interested involving a division of their assets. I am accordingly to request that India’s proposals relating to the accounts of companies etc. referred to in the first sub Para of Para 9(c) of the conclusions of the Karachi Conference of March, 1955, may be considered independently of the question of transfer of accounts of clubs, societies etc. in which both the countries are interested.

(iv) Part IX Para 8 – Appointment of an Umpire.

In deference to the views of the Government of Pakistan, the Government of India agree that cases of disagreement among the members of the Joint Committee, to be set up under the Revised Implementation Instructions (2), (4) and (6), may be referred to a High Court Judge of the country where the Joint Committee is functioning.

8. The Government of India are still awaiting the further communication promised by you in regard to the remaining outstanding points, and I am to request that the decisions of your Government on these points may kindly be expedited and communicated to this Ministry as early as possible.

9. As regards your suggestion that the provision in Para I of part IX of the conclusions for the implementation Committee to meet once a quarter should stand and the subsequent proposal that the Committee should meet every month should be dropped. I am to invite your attention to D.O. No. 890/PSMR dated the 23rd May, 1955, from the Union Minister for Rehabilitation, India, to the Hon’ble Chaudhari Mohammad Ali, Minister for Finance, Pakistan and latter’s reply No.H.M.F. – 162/55 dated the 15th June, 1955. Accordingly the Implementation Committee would meet once every two months alternately in each country.

10. The Government of India accept your suggestion that the agreement should be released in extenso for the information of the displaced persons in both the countries simultaneously on an agreed date. A draft of the agreement revised suitably in the light of the further decisions taken by the two Governments and the altered target dates will be sent for the concurrence of the Government of Pakistan shortly.

11. A draft of the consolidated Implementation instructions relating to the Movable Property Agreement has already been sent to you with Shri. K.P. Mathrani’s D.O. letter No. 8(2)/55 – N dated the 8th July, 1955. Draft Instructions relating to the implementation of the Banking Agreement will follow.
12. As regards the target dates for the implementation of the various items in the draft Implementation Instructions, we have put them back by two months with the suggestion that they may be extended by another month, if you consider it necessary.

Yours faithfully

P.G. Zachariah
Deputy Secretary to the Government of India

3216. Letter from Minister of Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna to Pakistan Minister of Refugees and Rehabilitation Sardar Amir Azam Khan.

Calcutta, October 10, 1955.

My Dear Sardar Sahib,

During our talks in Karachi in April last, we were able to resolve the difference between the two Governments in respect of the outstanding items relating to movable property, viz., the bulk release of lockers and safe deposit and the transfer of evacuee bank accounts. I hope the implementation of these decisions will commence soon.

2. I am writing this with regard to the major issue relating to immovable property — both urban and rural — which still remains unresolved. As you know the question of settlement of immovable evacuee property between the two Governments has been pending for over 6 years. The last discussions on the subject were held during my visit to Karachi in July-August, 1953 when I raised the question with your delegation and also discussed it with your ex-Prime Minister, Mr. Mohammed Ali. Unfortunately, we did not make any progress, and it was decided that the talks should be resumed shortly. But nothing has happened so far except for the exchange of a few communications between our two Prime Ministers with a view to reopening the negotiations.

3. All the outstanding matters relating to the movable evacuee property having been settled, I would suggest that we should now hold discussions in order to find a solution in respect of immovable evacuee property. The happiness of lakhs of people on either side depends very largely on the solution of this vexed problem. Having enjoyed the hospitality of your Government on more than one occasion, I would welcome the opportunity of receiving you and your delegation in New Delhi on any date convenient to you. I shall be grateful for an early reply.

With kind regards.

Yours sincerely

Sd/- (Mehr Chand Khanna)

The Hon'ble Sardar Amir Azam Khan,
Minister for Refugees & Rehabilitation,
Government of Pakistan, Karachi.

All Custodians of Evacuee Property.

Subject: Indo – Pakistan Agreement on movable property of evacuees, June 1950 – Consolidate Implementation Instructions.

Sir,

I am directed to say that a conference between the representatives of the Governments of India and Pakistan was held in Karachi from the 1st to the 12th March, 1955 to review the Indo – Pakistan Agreement of June, 1950 relating to the movable property of evacuees. The agreed conclusions reached at this conference having been ratified by the two Governments, agreed Consolidated Implementation Instructions have now been drawn up for the guidance and compliance by the authorities concerned. A copy of these instructions is enclosed. The authorities who are required to take action on the various provisions of the Agreement have been indicated in the margin of these instructions.

2. I am to request that action as provided for in these instructions may now be taken by the appropriate authorities.

Yours faithfully

P.G. Zachariah
Deputy Secretary to the Government of India

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTIONS

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION No. I – STOPPAGE OF SALE AND DISPOSAL OF MOVABLE PROPERTY.

No sale or disposal otherwise of evacuee movable property should be made except in cases where this is required under the appropriate Implementation Instruction. This is necessary in order to enable the evacuee owners to exercise their rights under the Movable Property Agreement.
2. The stoppage of sale and disposal is applicable to all movable property whether in the custody of the Custodians or other authorities also to seized property of evacuees.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION No. 2 –

RESTORATION, REMOVAL AND DISPOSAL OF PERSONAL AND HOUSEHOLD MOVABLE PROPERTY AND TRADE GOODS AND MERCHANDISE.

A - EXPORT FACILITIES

Evacuees were hitherto allowed to remove their movable property to the other country without export or import restrictions and without customs duties except in the case of the following types of movables:

(a) Machinery and machine parts other than bona fide personal and household machinery like typewriters, sewing machines, bicycles, refrigerators, radios, motor cars, gramophones, electrical goods, musical instruments and professional instruments, apparatus and equipment.

(b) Merchandise and trade goods.

(c) Unsewn cloth in excess of what a family may reasonably be deemed to have acquired for normal personal and household use.

(d) Cattle.

(e) Cash.

(f) Bullion.

The movables falling under the categories, (a) to (f) above, will also now be allowed to be removed to the other country without export or import restrictions and without customs duties in cases where they are restored by the Custodians, or form part of seized movables, or are recovered from buried treasures or released under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act, 1954.

2. To ensure that facilities for export of movable property are not claimed by persons other than evacuees, the following criteria shall be used to determine whether the property sought to be taken to the other country belongs to an evacuee or not:

(a) In the case of accompanied luggage, the evacuee character of the owner can be determined from the Visa for visit to the country granted by the diplomatic representative of the country visited.
(b) In the above case and in other cases, such as luggage which is unaccompanied or is accompanied by an authorized agent, a certificate granted by the diplomatic representative of the evacuee’s country to the effect that to the best of his knowledge the luggage is the property of the evacuee and that he has no reason to believe to the contrary, may be taken as proof of the fact.

3. In the case of luggage certified by the diplomatic representative, a list of the luggage certified by that authority should also accompany the luggage. In the case of accompanied luggage unsupported by a certificate from the diplomatic representative, the Customs authorities should use their discretion in determining whether the luggage is of a character and quantity which can reasonably be deemed to belong to that evacuee or his family, discretion being exercised in spirit of liberality.

4. The movables falling under the categories (a) to (f) mentioned in paragraph 1 above which are restored by the Custodian of Evacuee Property or released under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act or form part of the seized movables should be accompanied by a list thereof signed by the Custodian of Evacuee Property or the officer restoring the seized movables or “the transferable deposits” in addition to the luggage certificate of the Liaison Officer provided for in Para. 2 above.

5. Notes and coins restored by the Custodians or forming part of the seized movables or recovered from buried treasures in Pakistan should be permitted to be exported to India after being sealed in parcels in the presence of the officers of the two countries.

6. In the case of India coins and notes restored by Custodians or forming part of the seized movables or recovered from buried treasures in India the Government of India will, on production of a certificate from the Custodian of Evacuee Property or the officer restoring the seized movables or the officers conducting buried treasure operations, permit remittance to Pakistan of equivalent amounts at the official rate of exchange.

7. Bullion, similarly restored or recovered, would be permitted to be exported by either Government under a certificate of the Liaison Officer mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of Para 2 above after it has been sealed in parcels in the presence of the representatives of the two countries.

8. The restrictions on the export of jewellery in excess of Rs. 2,000 in value will not be applied in respect of personal jewellery of evacuees. This jewellery will fall under the following four categories:-

(i) Jewellery recovered from buried treasures,
(ii) Jewellery restored by Custodians, and Government Departments,
(iii) Jewellery in safe deposits with banks or kept in lockers of banks, and
(iv) Jewellery left with friends and relations.

In the case of (i), the jewellery should in addition to the Luggage Certificate granted by the Liaison Officer, be accompanied by a copy of the inventory of the jewellery signed by the officers conducting the buried treasure operations.

In the case of (ii), the jewellery should, in addition to the Luggage Certificate granted by the Liaison Officer, be accompanied by a list thereof signed by the Custodian of Evacuee Property or the officer restoring the jewellery.

In the case of (iii), where the lockers and safe deposits are transferred under the Governmental arrangements, no further formalities will be necessary. Where the contents of lockers or safe deposits are removed by the evacuee owners or their agents, they should be sealed in packages with the seals of the Custodians or the Officer authorized by him and the Manager of the Bank concerned.

In the case of (iv), the articles should be accompanied by the Luggage Certificate which should be granted by the Liaison Officer after making full enquiries and after satisfying himself that the jewellery is the personal property of the evacuee concerned left with a friend or relation prior to his migration.

9. The Customs officials should note that the Agreement is to be implemented in spirit of friendship and co-operation and that no petty harassment is inflicted upon evacuees or their agents.

B. HOUSEHOLD AND PERSONAL PROPERTY AND TRADE GOODS AND MERCHANDISE

10. Six copies of the lists of household and personal property of evacuees in the custody of Custodians should be prepared in Statement No. I (Performa attached) if not already done. Four copies of the lists should be sent to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th November, 1955, for en bloc exchange between the diplomatic representatives of India and Pakistan by the 31st December, 1955, and two retained by the Custodians for record and future use.

11. Six copies of the lists of trade goods and merchandise, lying with Custodians, Port Trusts, Clearing agents, private firms etc. against which there are third party claims, should similarly be prepared in Statement II (Performa attached) and four copies of such lists should be furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th November, 1955, for en bloc exchange by the 31st December, 1955, through the diplomatic representatives of the two countries.
12. Six copies of the lists of trade goods and merchandise lying with Custodians, Port Trusts, clearing agents, private firms etc. against which there are no third party claims should also be prepared in Statement No. IIA (Performa Attached). Four copies of such lists should be furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th November, 1955, for en bloc exchange by the 31st December, 1955, through the diplomatic representatives of the two countries.

13. The Deputy High Commissioners of the two countries should intimate to each other by the 15th December, 1955, their readiness to exchange the complete lists (Statements I, II and IIA) in respect of all the districts in their respective countries.

14. After the lists have been exchanged, the owners would be notified by the respective Governments to claim restoration or disposal of the property included in the lists by the 30th September, 1956, or six months from the date of the exchange of lists whichever is later.

15. Where no such claim is made or where the owners are not in a position to make arrangements for their removal or disposal, the property may, at the discretion of the High Commissioner/Dy. High Commissioner of the other country, be allowed to be removed to his headquarters for such action as may be considered necessary by him.

16. The properties not taken over by the evacuee owners for removal or sale and not required to be sent to the headquarters of the High Commissioner/Deputy High Commissioner may be disposed of by the Custodian concerned by auction in the presence of the representative nominated for this purpose by the High Commissioner/Deputy High Commissioner. At least one month’s notice should be given to the diplomatic representative of the other country and the dates and places of auction communicated to him. Where the diplomatic representative objects to the auction being held, further action, in this behalf, shall be stayed. In this connection, Custodians of Punjab (I), PEPSU and Himachal Pradesh should deal with the Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan at Jullundur; while the Custodians of other States should deal with the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India, New Delhi.

17. After the lists (Statement Nos. I, II and II – A) have been exchanged, the articles which are deteriorating may be disposed of by the Custodians in accordance with the procedure laid down in paragraph 16 above.

18. In the case of property disposed of under paragraphs 16 and 17 above, the sale proceeds should be passed on to the High Commissioner/Deputy High Commissioner concerned after deducting the Custodian’s fee at 10 per cent., besides storage and other charges in the case of trade-goods and merchandise, together with a list of the articles sold, the names of the evacuee owners, the amount realized and the net amount payable to the evacuee in each case. A copy of each of such lists should be sent to the Ministry of Rehabilitation.

19. The evacuees should be allowed to put forward their claims in respect of the items not included in the lists (Statements I, II and II – A) by the 30th April, 1956. Thereafter no claims would be entertained. Claims in respect of outstanding items of the value of Rs 500 or above only will be entertained and duly processed. Where the evacuees have already put forward their claims or the Government or the diplomatic representative concerned has already initiated action, it will not be necessary for the evacuees to put forward their claims again.

20. A consolidated list of all claims not included in the exchanged lists will be prepared and the Liaison officers of the two countries would meet once a month to review the progress of the disposal of such cases.

22. Individual cases where difficulties arise in such restoration may be brought to the notice of the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the Liaison Officer of the other country.

23. Lists of cases where difficulties have arisen in actual implementation of these provisions may be exchanged between the two countries, and their Liaison Officers might meet once a month to review such cases in order to facilitate the restoration of the articles with the assistance of the authorities concerned.

24. At the time of restoration of the property to the evacuee owners under these arrangements, the Custodians should not formally divest themselves of the control over the property, whether personal and household effects or trade-goods, so that the evacuee owners may take away the property to the other country or dispose it of within the same country without any interference by third parties.

25. Personal and household property left with friends and relations may be allowed to be removed to the other country by the 29th February, 1956, and no extension should be given after that date.

26. The household and personal property of bank employees left with the employer – bank should be treated as that left with friends and relations and restored accordingly, provided that the articles in question should not include anything of the nature of bank deposits or lockers etc.

27. Where a complaint is made to the Custodian that the friend or relation with whom the property was deposited, had refused to restore it, the Custodian shall make a summery inquiry into the complaint and, if he is satisfied that the property in question is evacuee property, take steps to restore such property to owner or the diplomatic representatives.

28. In respect of movable properties other than trade – goods and merchandise where articles are physically taken over by the evacuee owner or by the High Commissioner/Deputy High Commissioner, neither the Custodian’s fee nor the storage charges should be levied.

29. Third party claims should be admitted only against trade – goods and merchandise. Such claims should be against the particular business only and not in respect of other dealings of the evacuee unconnected with the business.

30. Payments already made by the Custodians before February, 1954, in respect of third party claims against movable property will not be reopened.

31. No new third party claim will be invited or entertained after the 22nd January, 1954 against trade goods and merchandise, excepting charges for storage or those created by Courts or those of banks in respect of pledged or hypothe cated goods. Such claims of the banks must have been registered with the Custodian concerned by the 31st March, 1954.

32. Trade – goods and merchandise against which there are third party claims will be restored only after such claims have been settled. The forum for adjudication of third party claims would be a Joint Committee composed of one officer of the status of a senior civil Judge or an Additional District Judge each from India and Pakistan.

33. Where the Custodian’s assessment of the third party claim, as shown in Statement II, is accepted by the evacuee owner, the case will not be referred to the Joint Committee.

34. Movable properties consisting of trade – goods and merchandise which have not been restored and are required by the Government for public purposes may be acquired on payment of their estimated value. The value shall be estimated and the amount paid to the diplomatic representative of the other country before the property is taken over by the Government. Where the evacuee owner does not accept the estimated valuation already made, the case will be referred to the Joint Committee appointed under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No.4 for assessment of compensation. In case the property acquired is already held by the Provincial Government, the value should be assessed and the amounts paid to the diplomatic representative as soon after the acquisition as possible. The Custodian should send and list of the properties acquired under these arrangements to the Ministry of Rehabilitation.

C. PERSONAL KIT OF THE NON–MUSLIM GOVERNMENT SERVANTS OF N.W.F.P.

35. The personal effects of the displaced non–Muslim Government servants of North West Frontier Province which they deposited with some Government officials in Peshawar and other places at the time of migration should be handed over to the Property Field Officer of the Government of India at Lahore who will make arrangements for the taking over of the kit and its transport to India.

D. MOVABLE PROPERTY OF DEFENCE PERSONNEL LEFT IN DEPOTS/UNITS/CENTRES IN INDIA AND PAKISTAN AT THE TIME OF PARTITION.

36. The procedure already evolved by the Indian General Headquarters as in Annexure ‘A’ of which the first two stages had been completed in both the countries should be followed by the Ministry of Defence in consultation with their Pakistani counterpart and the movables exchanged en bloc between the nominees of the Defence Headquarters of the two countries by the 31st December, 1955. The relaxation agreed to in regard to the export of the movables referred to in paragraph I above will apply in these cases. Personal fire – arms the possession of which is not banned under the normal regulations will be exchanged en bloc at the same time.

E. MOVABLE PROPERTY OF THE EVACUEE STAFF OF THE SURVEY DEPARTMENT OF INDIA.

37. The household and personal effects other than those pledged with the U.P. Union Bank Ltd., of the employees of the Survey Department of India who opted for Pakistan should be restored to the Liaison Officer of the Government of Pakistan, New Delhi. The Liaison Officer will take charge of these movables and make arrangements for their transport to Pakistan. As regards the movables pledged with U.P. Union Bank Ltd., these should be released and restored to the Liaison Officer of the Government of Pakistan after the Bank’s claims are satisfied by the evacuees.

F. GENRAL

38. The Liaison Officer of the other country may correspond with the Assistant Custodian or the Deputy Custodian concerned, as the case may be, regarding the objections made by the evacuee owners.
39. A copy of the Press Note issued for the benefit of the evacuees for claiming restoration of their movables is enclosed (Annexure B).

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION No.3

ARTICLES DEPOSITED IN BANKS – LOCKERS AND SAFE DEPOSITS.

The following procedure should be observed for the release of lockers and safe deposits:-

(1) Third party claims against articles in lockers and safe – deposits in the custody of banks in areas where they have not been invited so far should be invited by the Ministry of Rehabilitation before 31st October, 1955, and one month’s time should be allowed for the filing of the claims. Accordingly in the case of Punjab (P), N.W.F.P., and Bahawalpur where third party claims have already been invited, no fresh claims will be invited.

The claims should be in respect of articles actually deposited or pawned with an evacuee by persons who have not migrated and they should not be in respect of other dealings of the evacuee. The last date for the submission of these claims should be 30th November, 1955 and thereafter no third party claims should be entertained. A copy of the press note issued in this connection is enclosed (Annexure C.)

Six copies of the claims received should be compiled by the Custodians and four of them supplied to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by 31st December, 1955 for exchange between the diplomatic representatives of the two countries by 31st January, 1956.

(2) Simultaneously with the exchange of the lists of third party claims, the diplomatic representatives of the two countries will also exchange lists of lockers and safe deposits in the custody of banks to be transferred to the other country, details being given separately for different branches of the bank. For this purpose six copies of such lists should also be prepared, four copies being supplied to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by 30th November, 1955 positively.

(3) The safe deposits and lockers of evacuees against which third – party claims have been received will be opened by an Officer of the bank in the presence of the Custodian or an officer nominated by him and the evacuee owner, or in his absence the diplomatic representative of the other country. If necessary legal sanction for such opening of the lockers and for the holding of redemption money would be provided in favour of the Bank concerned by the Government of the country. If on opening a locker or safe deposit the specific article in respect of which there is a third party claim is found it will be kept aside in the custody of the bank pending the settlement of the claim. The remaining articles of the evacuee owner against which there is no third party claim would be re – deposited in the bank, and will be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at the time of general release of lockers and safe deposits.

(4) The third party claims in respect of articles in safe deposits or lockers would be adjudicated upon by a Joint Committee consisting of one officer of each country. In deciding the claims the Joint Committee would be guided, among other things, by the reasonable accuracy of the particulars supplied by the claimant.

(5) After a claim has been adjudicated upon in the manner provided in (4) above, the claimant would be given the choice to redeem his articles by payment of the amount adjudicated upon by the Joint Committee.
If he fails to redeem the article within three months of the intimation to him of the amount due from him the article would be sold by the Custodian in the presence of the diplomatic representative of the other country and the representative of the bank, and the surplus amount, if any, after meeting the dues of the evacuee pawnee would be paid to the pawner. The redemption money due to the evacuee pawnee would be deposited with the bank and will be handed over to the diplomatic representative; of the other country at the time of the general release of lockers and safe – deposits.

(6) Where any lockers and safe deposits were opened under the authority of the Custodian and their contents removed, these should be restored at the time of the release of lockers and safe deposits after making deductions for storage charges or third party claims etc. admissible under these arrangements. If the contents of such lockers and safe deposits were disposed of in whole or in part their sale – proceeds should be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at the time of the release. A list of such lockers and safe deposits opened by the Custodian together with the particulars of their sale proceeds, if any, should be prepared in statement II – B (Performa attached) and furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th November, 1955 for exchange along with other lists by 31st December, 1955.

(7) The banks’ claims for storage charges including those already paid by the Custodians of Evacuee Property on behalf of the evacuee owner should be cleared before the lockers and safe deposits are released. The banks should be called upon immediately to prepare and submit by 30th November, 1955 statements of such dues for being handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at the time of exchange of lists under (2) above. That Officer would arrange payment of the dues before the lockers and safe deposits are handed over to him.

(8) The lockers and safe deposits of evacuees including those of jewelers and bullion dealers released under these arrangements would be allowed to be exported to the other country without any export or import restrictions and without any customs duties.

(9) The general release of lockers and safe deposits in the custody of banks should be effected by the 31st May 1956, by which date the bank accounts and funds (in the manner and to the extent provided for) are to be transferred under the arrangements agreed upon in connection with the review of Banking Agreement.

(10) At the time of bulk release of lockers the banks’ cabinets of which 70 per cent or more are evacuee lockers may be transported bodily to the other country if desired by the Bank concerned. In such cases the contents of the non – evacuee lockers, if any, would be transferred to some other cabinet of the same bank or some other bank nominated by the central bank of the country concerned before the cabinets are transported. For this purpose the banks should give sufficient notice to the non – evacuee owners and the contents of such lockers should be transferred in their presence or in the presence of their nominees.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION NO. 4

ASSESSMENT AND PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION FOR MOVABLE PROPERTY ALLOTTED OR ACQUIRED.

1. The compensation for movable property allotted or acquired by Government will be assessed by Joint Committees consisting of one officer from each Government of the status of a senior civil judge or additional district judge, appointed for the purpose. One such Committee should be set up immediately in each country and additional Committees should be set up as and when necessary.

2. It will be the duty of the Committee/Committees to assess compensation payable in respect of such property and to arrange for the payment of such compensations as quickly as possible. The Committee/Committees will in addition be required to adjudicate third party claims under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 2 (Para 32), third party claims in respect of articles in safe deposits or lockers in the custody of banks under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 3 (Para 4), third party claims in respect of buried treasures under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 6 (Para 6), third party claims in respect of sale proceeds of movable property under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 7 (Para 8) and to assess compensation for the property of non-evacuee joint stock companies acquired or allotted by Government under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. II (Para 6).

3. In order to facilitate the work of the Joint Committees, the Custodians should, where necessary, in consultation with the State Governments, prepare six copies of each of the following statements as Performa enclosed [Statements No. III, III (a), IV and IV (a)]:-

(i) Cases of movable property (other than property of evacuee joint stock companies) in which compensation has already been assessed and amount recovered by the Custodian in whole or in part (Statement No. III).

(ii) Cases of movable property of evacuee joint stock companies in which compensation has already been assessed and the amount has also been recovered by the Custodian in whole or in part [Statement No. III (a)].

(iii) Cases of movable property (other than property of evacuee joint stock companies) in which compensation has not been assessed (Statement No. IV).

(iv) Cases of movable property of evacuee joint stock companies in which compensation has not been assessed [Statement No. IV (a)].

The Custodian should ensure that approximate value of the movable property acquired or allotted is invariably shown in statement Nos. IV and IV (a).

4. Four copies of each list mentioned in paragraph 3 above should be furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by 30 - 11 - 1955.

5. These lists should be exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two countries by 31 - 12 - 1955.

6. After the lists have been exchanged and notified, the evacuee owners will be allowed a period of one month for informing their respective Governments whether the approximate valuation of property as shown in column No. 4 of statements No. IV and IV (a) is acceptable to them. Where the assessment is acceptable to the parties concerned, the case would not be referred to the Joint Committee and payment would be made on the basis of the approximate valuation.

7. In cases where compensation has already been assessed and the amount has also been recovered by the Custodian, the Joint committee is only to see that the recovered amount is paid to the diplomatic representative within one month.

8. In cases where assessments have already been made, but the amounts have either not been recovered or have been partially recovered, the Joint Committee will lay down the manner in which the amounts due should be recovered. It should be ensured that the amounts are recovered and payments made within three months.

9. In cases where no assessment has been made, the Joint Committee will proceed to make the necessary assessment and lay down the manner of its recovery.
10. In the case of personal and household effects as defined in section 7(3) of the Agreement of January 1949 the evacuee owner will have the right to restoration of these effects if he has exercised this right before 30 – 4 – 1956. In case he has not exercised this option for restoration by that date the Joint Committee will proceed to make assessment etc.

11. To help the Joint Committee in their work, the Rehabilitation Departments, District Officers or Police, as the case may be, who have records of earlier inventories or assessment etc. should give full facilities to the Committees for examination of such records.

12. After the Joint Committee has either ascertained or prescribed the amounts recoverable, the Custodians will give all cooperation in recovering such amounts by the exercise of their powers to recover the dues as arrears of land revenue.

13. The above principles are laid down for the guidance of the Joint Committee who may adopt such other principles in addition to these as may be found necessary and equitable.

14. The money recovered by the Custodians will be paid to the diplomatic representative of the other country together with a list showing:-

(a) Particulars of evacuee owners;
(b) Brief particulars of the property;
(c) The amounts payable in each case.

15. The assessment and payment of compensation should be completed by the 31–3–1956; where this is not possible, the compensation should be paid on the basis of approximate value shown in Statements IV and IV (a) by the 30 – 6 – 1956.

EVACUEE PROPERTY

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION No. 5
SEIZED MOVABLE PROPERTY.

The following procedure is prescribed for the preparation of the lists of seized movable property including seized fire – arms:-

(i) District lists of moneys seized from evacuees should be prepared in Statement No. IV A (Performa attached) giving the name and last known address, if any, of the evacuee owner and the amount seized.

(ii) In the case of other seized articles such as jewellery, bullion, etc. except fire–arms, lists should be prepared in Statement No. V (Performa attached).

(iii) In the case of seized fire – arms, including those deposited by evacuees with a Government Officer or otherwise detained under the orders of courts, separate lists should be prepared in Statement No. VI (Performa attached).

(iv) In cases where seized articles have already been disposed of, lists should be prepared in Statement No. VII (Performa attached) showing the particulars of the articles disposed of, the name of the evacuee owner and the amount realized.

2. For the purposes of this instruction, the cash and valuables deposited or held in treasuries of the Provinces/former Indian States (including the cash and valuables of Pawnees deposited or held in the Khairpur treasuries) will be dealt with in the same manner as seized movables and details of these should accordingly be included in the appropriate statements.

Where district lists have already been forwarded but details of such movables have not been included in original lists, supplementary lists should now be furnished in respect of these items.

3. Six copies of the list relating to the items referred to above should be prepared. Four copies of each list should be sent to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th November, 1955, positively. Where the property was seized by an authority other than the Custodian, one copy of the list should be sent to the Custodian of Province/State concerned. Action to exchange the lists through the diplomatic representatives of the two countries would be taken by the Ministry of Rehabilitation. The lists should be exchanged en bloc by the 31st December, 1955.

4. Individual complaints in respect of articles seized or deposited, which are not included in the lists exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two countries, would be entertained up to the 30th April, 1956. Action on these complaints should be taken in the manner provided for in Para 20 of Consolidated Implementation Instruction No.2.
5. The procedure for restoration etc. laid down in the Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 2 will apply mutatis mutandis to the seized movable property (other than fire arms) as regards removal, disposal and handing over of the sale proceeds. Articles included in Statement No. V should accordingly be delivered to the evacuee owners or the diplomatic representatives, as the case may be, on receipt of a request for restoration, without any further formality.

6. In regard to the moneys seized, deposited or held (Statement IV A), action should be taken on the following lines:-

(i) Where the cash seized is lying in its original form, it should be dealt with in the manner laid down in paragraphs 5 – 6 of Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 2.

(ii) Sale proceeds of seized movables (Statement VII) and seized cash which has merged in the general balances of the treasury concerned should be treated in the same manner as the sale proceeds of movable property lying with the Custodians under Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 7. Where Statements have already been exchanged, action on these lines should be completed by 31 – 12 – 1955.

7. The seized fire arms included in the list (Statement No. VI) should be collected together and exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two countries at a place to be mutually agreed upon. The procedure and formalities for this purpose should be finalized by the two Dy. High Commissioners by the 30th November, 1955. Those fire arms which are included in the lists already exchanged should be exchanged en bloc by the 31st December, 1955. The fire arms included in the outstanding lists which would be exchanged by the 31st December, 1955, vide Para 3 above, should similarly be exchanged en bloc between the diplomatic representatives of the two countries by the 31st March, 1956.

8. As regards the fire arms left by evacuees with friends and which have not been declared so far, both the Governments have issued a Press Note (Annexure D) to the effect that such persons are at liberty to declare within three months of the issue of Press Note, the fire arms in their possession. The possession of such fire arms would be condoned by the Governments concerned provided the fire arms are declared and deposited with the District Magistrates of the district concerned in accordance with the procedure laid down in the Press Note. The State Governments are requested to compile lists in the form of Statement No. VI A of fire arms deposited with District Magistrates.

9. Six copies of the lists in the form Statement No. VI – A of fire arms deposited with the District Magistrates in pursuance of Para 8 should be prepared. Four copies of the lists should be forwarded to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 29th February, 1956. The fire arms included in the lists thereafter should be exchanged at Government level through the diplomatic representatives and restored to the evacuee owners in accordance with the procedure to be prescribed in pursuance of Para 7 above.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION NO. 6

BURIED TREASURES OF EVACUEES

The procedure for the recovery of buried treasures evolved by the Deputy High Commissioners for Pakistan and India and approved by the two Governments is contained in the Annexure ‘E’. A copy of the Press Note mentioned in the Annexure inviting third party claims against articles in the buried treasures issued by the Government on the 22nd January, 1954, is also attached (Annexure F.)

2. The third party claims not filed within one month of the issue of the Press Note, i.e. by 21 – 2 – 54 should not be entertained.

3. The list of the third party claims received by the Custodians should be forwarded in duplicate to the diplomatic representative of the other country and copy furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation.

4. A copy of the list of claims in so far as it concerns a district should also be sent simultaneously to the Superintendent of Police of that district.

5. Buried treasures against which no claim is shown in the list should be allowed to be disposed of or removed to the other country according to the provision of Para 5, 6 and 7 of Consolidated Implementation Instruction 2.

6. If one or more articles recovered from a buried treasure are claimed by a third party the remaining articles should be allowed to be removed and only the claimed articles detained for decision by the Joint Committee.

7. In deciding cases, the Joint Committee will be guided among other things by the reasonably expected accuracy of particulars supplied by the third party claimants.
8. When a claim is accepted the depositor or pawner should be required to pay the amount due to the person with whom the article was kept. In the alternative the article would be sold to meet the dues and the surplus proceeds paid to the claimant.

9. The Provincial/State Governments may kindly give necessary facilities for armed protection and such other facilities as the diplomatic representative of the other country may require in this behalf.

10. The present owner or occupier of the house, from which a buried treasure is to be excavated, should not be allowed to obstruct the operation.

11. Where excavation has necessitated repairs to a building, the expenditure thereof shall be met by the Custodian.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION NO. 7
SALE PROCEEDS OF MOVABLE EVACUEE PROPERTY ALREADY DEPOSITED WITH CUSTODIANS.

1. Lists of sale proceeds of movable property of evacuees already deposited with Custodians should be prepared for exchange through the diplomatic representatives of either country.

2. Separate lists should be prepared in respect of:-

(a) Movable property other than traded goods and merchandise, in Statement VIII (Performa attached).

(b) Trade goods and merchandise where there are no third party claims in Statement IX – A (Performa attached) and

(c) Trade goods and merchandise against which there are third party claims or which are pledged or hypothecated with banks in Statement No. IX – B (Performa attached.)

3. Six copies of each list should be prepared; four of them should be furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation for purposes of exchange.

4. In the case of movable property other than trade goods and merchandise from the gross sale proceeds, Custodians' fee should be deducted at the rate of 10 per cent and no other charge for administration, storage or on account of third party claims should be deducted but any payments already made before February 1954 in respect of third party claims should not be re – opened.
5. In the case of trade goods and merchandise no fresh third party claims should be invited, nor should any such claims lodged after the 22nd January, 1954 be entertained, except in respect of trade goods and merchandise which were pledged or hypothecated with banks. Such claims of the banks must have been registered with the Custodians concerned by the 31st March, 1955.

6. The third party claims against trade goods and merchandise should be against the particular business of the evacuee concerned and not in respect of the other dealings of the evacuee unconnected with the business.

7. The third party claims already lodged against trade goods and merchandise should be met after they have been adjudicated upon by the Joint Committee referred to in paragraph 31 of Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 2. Where the Custodians assessment is accepted by the party, the case need not be referred to the Joint Committee.

8. Bank’s claims in respect of pledged or hypothecated trade goods and merchandise registered with the appropriate Custodians by the 31st March, 1954 only should be entertained and necessary deductions made from the sale proceeds.

9. All the lists to be prepared under this instruction should be exchanged en bloc by 31st December, 1955.

10. The outstanding lists should, therefore, be prepared immediately and furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by 30th November, 1955 positively.

11. After that complains in regard to items not included in the lists should be entertained up to the 30th April, 1956.

12. Where lists have already been exchanged the cheques in respect of the amounts included therein should be forwarded to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by 30th November, 1955 for exchange through the diplomatic representatives. The exchange should be completed by the 31st December, 1955.

13. Cheques for the amounts included in the lists to be exchanged en bloc on 31st December, 1955 should also be forwarded to the Ministry of Rehabilitation for exchange between the diplomatic representatives. The exchange should be completed by the 31st March, 1956.

14. Surplus amounts due to the evacuees which are handed over to or deposited with the Custodian in respect of the goods pledged or hypothecated with the banks should be treated in the same manner as sale proceeds under this instruction. Where such amounts have not been included in the statements already prepared, supplementary statements should be prepared and exchanged in the manner provided in paragraph 10 above.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION 8

TRANSFER OF COURT DEPOSITS, DEPOSITS OF MINORS AND OTHERS UNDER THE GUARDIANSHIP OF COURTS, DEPOSITS OF WARDS UNDER THE COURT OF WARDS ACT AND ENCUMBERED ESTATES.

(1) An extract from the Indo – Pakistan Movable Property Agreement of June, 1950, relating to these items is enclosed (Annexure G). The terms “mass migration areas” or “wholesale migration areas” occurring in the extract from the Agreement shall be deemed to mean as follows:-

(i) In the case of Pakistan West Pakistan.

(ii) In the case of India.

Punjab (I), PEPSU, Himachal Pradesh, Alwar, Bharatpur and Bikaner, Districts of Rajasthan; Sharanpur, Dehra Dun, Meerut and Muzaffarnagar, Districts of Uttar Pradesh, Delhi and Ajmer.

These areas may be further added to for the purposes of these instructions as may be considered necessary hereafter.

(2) As a result of discussions in July/August, 1953 it was further agreed that:-
(i) The legislation in India for the transfer of deposits may be extended to all States where Evacuee Property Law is in force and not confined to the mass migration areas referred to in the June 1950 Agreement,

(ii) The legislation should also cover deposits of evacuees in the custody or under the control of the Managers Encumbered Estates.

(3) Legislation has been passed in both the countries taking legal powers to enable transfer of records and deposits of the nature covered by the provisions of the agreement, to the Government of the other country and to enable either Government to receive similarly records and deposits from the other country for entrusting them to appropriate courts for further disposal in accordance with the normal law as if the deposits had originally been made in the receiving country.

(4) The Provincial/State Governments concerned should take the following action for the preparation of lists of deposits covered by Section 4 of the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act 1954:-

(i) In the case of court deposits and deposits of minors and others under the guardianship of courts the Hon'ble High Court/Chief Court/Judicial Commissioner may be moved to give directions to subordinate courts, where such directions have not already been given, to make lists of deposits transferable under the agreement and also give directions for consolidation of records pertaining to such deposits, if this has already not been done;

(ii) In the case of deposits of Wards under the Court of Wards Act, the Provincial/State Governments will kindly give necessary directions for preparation of lists of deposits, transferable under the agreement and collection of records pertaining thereto, if this has already not been done;

(iii) In the case of deposits with the Managers Encumbered Estates, the Provincial/State Government will kindly give necessary directions for the preparation of lists of deposits transferable under the agreement and collection of records pertaining thereto.

5. The preparation of the outstanding lists should be completed by the 31st December, 1955.
CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION NO. 9
POST OFFICE, SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNTS,
POSTAL CERTIFICATES, CASH CERTIFICATES.

With the object of completing the work of transfer of postal certificates and savings bank accounts on either side as expeditiously as possible, the claims for the transfer of which had been registered with the appropriate authorities within the dates prescribed for the purpose, fresh lists in respect of outstanding accounts and certificates should be prepared in quadruplicate and exchanged between the two countries in batches through the Liaison Officers. The exchange of the quadruplicate lists in respect of the outstanding claims should be completed by the 29th February, 1956.

2. The respective Directors General of Posts and Telegraphs will arrange verification of the fresh quadruplicate verification lists received through the Liaison Officers. Steps should be taken to complete the verification work very expeditiously and, in any case, not later than the 31st May 1956.

3. The verified lists should then be exchanged en bloc at the office of the High Commissioner for India at Karachi. This en bloc transfer should be completed by the 30th June, 1956.

4. Any claims included in the lists forwarded by one country to the other which cannot be verified, should be included in a separate statement indicating therein briefly the reasons for non-verification. This statement should also be exchanged simultaneously with the exchange of en bloc lists.

5. After the en bloc exchange of verified lists (Para 3 above), cases of individual complaints and of errors and omissions, if any, should be enquired into and dealt with promptly on either side.

6. The above arrangements and the procedure for financial settlement connected therewith would also apply to the Post Officer Savings Bank Accounts and postal certificates relating to ex-Convention States (viz. Chamba, Patiala, Jind, Nabha & Gwalior.)

7. Suitable instructions should be issued immediately to the Heads of Circles for the compilation and dispatch before the due date of fresh lists in respect of the outstanding accounts and certificates which have to be sent to Pakistan. Instructions should also be issued for the verification of the lists received from Pakistan and the exchange of verified lists en bloc by the target dates. A copy of the instructions should be endorsed to the Ministry of Communications, and the Ministry of Rehabilitation.

8. In the meantime the exchange of verified lists through the Liaison Officers will continue.
9. The following procedure should be adopted for the transfer of conjoint accounts held in post office savings bank accounts:-

(i) The Director General Posts and Telegraphs and Telegraphs should call upon the account holders by issue of a Press Note to submit claims by the 29th February, 1956, for the transfer of conjoint accounts. The account holder will be required to intimate whether-

(a) All the beneficiaries have migrated to the other country, or
(b) Only some of the beneficiaries have migrated to the other country and others are still living in their parent country.

In the case of accounts falling under category (b) above, the account holders will prepare lists of the evacuee and non-evacuee beneficiaries of the accounts together with the amounts due to each. Such lists will be verified by Postal authorities in the country in which the account holder reside. A copy of the Press Note issued should be endorsed to the Ministry of Communications and the Ministry of Rehabilitation.

(ii) In respect of those conjoint accounts where all the beneficiaries have migrated to the other country the accounts should be transferred to the other country.

(iii) In the case of conjoint accounts where the beneficiaries are at present residing in both the countries the amount due to the beneficiaries should be separated.

(a) For this purpose the lists of beneficiaries received from the account holders will be verified by the postal authority in the country where the account lies after making such enquiries as may be agreed upon between the two Directors General, Posts and Telegraphs, before transferring the accounts.

(b) The provident fund accounts of teachers in conjoint accounts as also in individual accounts will be transferred to the other country without the intervention of Educational Inspector or any other authority.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNTS AND POSTAL CERTIFICATES PLEDGED OR HYPOTHECATED AS SECURITY DEPOSITS BY CONTRACTORS ETC.

10. Claims for the release of Post Office Savings Bank Pass Books and Savings Certificates pledged or hypothecated as security should continue to be processed through the Central Claims Organization. These accounts and certificates would be transferred after they are released by the pledgees. The fact of the release of the accounts and certificates should be communicated forthwith by the Central Claims Organization to the claimant and the respective Director – General, Posts and Telegraphs. The procedure for actual transfer of postal certificates by pledgee to pledger will be determined by the two Directors – General in consultation with each other.

11. Since in these cases the security deposit holders could not apply for transfer within the prescribed dates, fresh applications for transfer would be accepted by the Director – General, Posts and Telegraphs in relaxation of those dates provided the applications are filed within six months of the date of their release or from the date of announcement of this order whichever falls later.

12. Claims for the release of such securities should be called for by the Central Claims Organization by the issue of a Press Note for registration of such claims by the 29th February, 1956, stating therein that fresh applications for registration of such claims be made within six months of the date of release of the securities with the respective Directors General of Posts and Telegraphs.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

13. The procedure in the preceding paragraphs does not apply to Public Accounts regarding which separate instructions will be issued in due course.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION No. 10

POSTAL PARCELS

(1) Postal Parcels of evacuees (i.e. sent by or addressed to evacuees) both foreign and inland lying in either country including those lying in Ajmer, Merwara and Delhi in India should be redirected to an officer nominated by the Director – General, Posts and Telegraphs of the receiving country for delivery to the evacuee owners.

(2) Along with redirection of the parcels a list showing the dues of the Postal Department will also be forwarded and debit raised in bulk against the other country for such dues.

(3) In the case of parcels of evacuees on which banks have lien and which have not yet been delivered the redirection would be under instructions from the bank so that it may arrange recovery of its dues in the other country. Such arrangement may either provide for collection of bank’s
(4) All postal parcels of evacuees will be allowed to be redirected to the other country without any export restrictions whatsoever and without any charge of customs duties.

(5) To expedite the transfer of postal parcels under these arrangements, six copies of the lists of such parcels lying in the two countries should be prepared in Statement X (Performa enclosed) and three copies thereof sent to the Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan at Jullundur/ Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th November, 1955 for exchange with/through the High Commissioner for India at Karachi.

(6) The exchange of lists should be completed by the 31st December, 1955 and the actual exchange of the parcels completed by the 29th February, 1956, by redirection of the parcels in suitable batches under the arrangements already agreed upon between the two Directors – General, Posts and Telegraphs. One copy of the list should be furnished to the Ministry of Rehabilitation for record.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION No. 11

RESTORATION OF PROPERTY OF JOINT STOCK COMPANIES.

The property, both movable and immovable, of joint stock companies, should be treated as evacuee or non – evacuee according as follows:–

(i) Property of joint stock companies with headquarters in the other country prior to 15th August, 1947, will be treated as non – evacuee property.

(ii) Property of joint stock companies with headquarters in the same country, if the persons holding the majority of shares have migrated to the other country, will be treated as evacuee property.

(iii) Property of joint stock companies which have transferred their headquarters to the other country after 15th August, 1947, will be treated as evacuee property.

(iv) Property of joint stock companies not covered by (ii) and (iii) above will be treated as non – evacuee property.

2. Property both movable and immovable of joint stock companies leased or allotted by the Custodians which is to be treated as non – evacuee property [categories (i) and (iv) above], should be restored to the owner companies.
3. The release of the property which is to be treated as non-evacuee property will be subject to the condition that leases or allotments already granted by a Custodian or a Rehabilitation authority under the Evacuee Property or Rehabilitation laws of the country concerned and current on the 12th March, 1955, will be allowed to run their course, provided that the lessee or allottee observes the conditions of such leases or allotments. In other words, the lessees or allottees will be put into direct touch with the owner companies and the rights of the Custodian etc. to terminate the leases/allotments for default of conditions of the leases/allotments, such as nonpayment of rent will be transferred to, and exercised by the owner companies with the reservation that if in terms of the lease or allotment the Custodian has powers of interpreting the leases and allotments finally these powers shall not be transferred to the lessee/allot – tee but will be the subject of adjudication and enforcement under the ordinary law. Notwithstanding the terms of the lease or allotment or vary or modify its terms except with the consent of the lessee or allot – tee or after adjudication under the normal law. The conditions mentioned above would be superimposed on the existing leases/allotments before transfer, in accordance with these instructions. After the expiry of the leases or allotments, the companies concerned will have unrestricted rights to resume possession of their property. After the 12th March, 1955, no leases or allotments of property of companies to be treated as non-evacuee in accordance with these instructions, should be entered into, and if any such commitment has been made, it should be terminated forthwith.

4. If necessary, notifications releasing the property, in accordance with the arrangements detailed above, would be issued by the Government concerned.

5. The restoration of properties under these arrangements should be completed by the 30th June, 1956. The accounts of these companies should also be simultaneously settled by the Custodians concerned, but the restoration of the properties involved should not be held up on this account beyond the 30th June, 1956, by which date all such properties should be restored.

6. Where the property of a joint stock company which is to be treated as non-evacuee property under causes (i) and (iv) of paragraph 1 above, has been acquired by Government or if allotted, is not actually restored, compensation for it would be assessed and paid to the owner companies in accordance with the procedure laid down in Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. 4 for the assessment and payment of compensation for evacuee property allotted or acquired. This action should be completed by the 31st March, 1956.

7. Six copies of the lists of the companies whose property is to be restored under these arrangements as non-evacuee property together with the particulars of their property, the terms and conditions of the existing leases or allotments, the periods for which they have been leased or allotted and the dates on which the leases or allotments are due to expire should be prepared in Statement XI (Performa attached) for exchange between the diplomatic representatives of the two countries. Similarly, six copies of lists of joint stock companies whose property was acquired or allotted and cannot now be released should be prepared in Statements XII and XII – A (Performa attached) according as the compensation payable for the property involved has or has not been assessed. These statements should invariably show the approximate value of the properties, compensation for which has to be assessed.

8. Four copies of the lists in Performa XII and XII – A should be sent to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by theKeyDate, 1955, and the remaining two copies retained by the Custodians or the Rehabilitation authorities concerned for their own record. Three copies of these lists should be passed on by the Ministry of Rehabilitation to the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan at Lahore for exchange to be effected not later than theKeyDate, 1956.

9. If the assessment of compensation for the property is not completed by the KeyDate, 1956, the compensation will be paid on the basis of an approximate valuation of the properties by the KeyDate, 1956, pending final assessment to be made by the Joint Committee in the manner provided in paragraph 6.

CONSOLIDATED IMPLEMENTATION INSTRUCTION NO. 12
SHARES, SECURITIES, DEBENTURES AND INSURANCE POLICIES

I. General
Shares of joint stock companies, the head officers of which have remained in the same country, will, if, the holders of the majority of the shares have migrated to the other country, continue to be treated as evacuee property and will not be restored to the evacuee owners.

2. All other shares shall be treated as non – evacuee property and if, any of them are held by the Custodians, they will be restored.

II. Shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies in the custody of banks.

3. Simultaneously with the release of the properties of Joint Stock Companies and payment of compensation (final or provisional) for their movable property under the Consolidated Implementation Instruction No. II, the securities, shares which are to be treated as non – evacuee property, debentures and insurance policies deposited in banks shall be restored to the evacuee owners or their heirs through the agency of the diplomatic representatives of the two countries.
4. The evacuee owners of such shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies have been called upon by issue of a press note (Annexure H) to send in triplicate to the Ministry of Rehabilitation of the country where they now reside, applications addressed to the banks concerned in the other country by 31st December, 1955 with request to re-endorse these shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies in their favour and deliver them to the Government of the other country.

5. On receipt of these applications, quadruplicate lists showing the names of such applicants, the particulars of the shares, securities etc. and the banks holding them would be prepared in statement XIII (Performa attached). Two copies of this statement along with two copies of the applications would then be exchanged through the diplomatic representatives of the two countries by the 31st January 1956 who would pass them on to the Ministry concerned of their Governments.

6. One copy of the applications received would be forwarded to the banks concerned for necessary re-endorsement and return to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 30th April 1956.

7. In the case of shares, securities, debentures and insurance policies against which the holding banks have claims, unless the claims are settled in cash, the shares, securities etc. may be sold by the banks concerned to the minimum extent necessary for the purpose of meeting their claims. If, any surplus amount is left as a result of such sale, facilities for its remittance to the other country shall be provided. The remaining shares, securities etc. will be re-endorsed by the banks concerned in favour of the evacuee owners or their heirs and forwarded to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by 30 – 04 – 1956 for exchange through the diplomatic representatives of the two countries.

8. Where securities, shares, etc. are sold for satisfaction of bank’s claims and there is surplus amount payable to the evacuee owners, triplicate lists of such amounts shall at the same time, be furnished by the banks concerned to the Ministry of Rehabilitation for exchange through the diplomatic representatives of India and Pakistan.

9. In the case of insurance policies against which there are bank’s claims, remittance facilities will be provided for the transfer of amounts from one country to the other if necessary, to meet such claims.

10. In the case of shares, securities etc. against which the holding banks have no claim or the bank’s claims have been met, the bank’s would re-endorse them in favour of the evacuee owners, and forward them to the Ministry of Rehabilitation by the 31st March 1956, for exchange through the diplomatic representatives of the two countries by the 31st May 1956.
11. A copy of the press note issued in this connection is attached (Annexure H).

III. Shares, Securities, Debentures And Insurance Policies Not Deposited In Banks

No restrictions either under the Evacuee Property Law or the exchange control should be placed on the payment of dividends on shares treated as non-evacuee property under these arrangements or payment of interest on debentures and securities or on claims in respect of insurance policies. It is, therefore, reiterated that the Custodians concerned and the Reserve Bank of India/State Bank of Pakistan should ensure that no restrictions are placed on the payment of dividends on shares and interest on securities and debentures and claims in respect of insurance policies. Any individual complaints in this behalf should be dealt with promptly. Custodian’s restrictions, if any, on the transfer of such shares, securities and debentures will similarly be removed. Such restrictions on transfer as are prescribed by the exchange control regulations of either country will, however, remain.

2. A copy of the Press Note issued in this connection is appended (Annexure I).

Annexure ‘A’

1. At the 4th meeting of the Inter–Dominion Defence Secretaries Committee held on the 17th June, 1948, it was agreed that a scheme be worked out whereby the property left in units/depots/centers of either country i.e. India and Pakistan of Army personnel be exchanged. It was further agreed that the Adjutants General of the respective Armies should work out the plan between them.

2. In accordance with this decision the Adjutant General of the Indian Army produced a scheme for making reciprocal arrangements to recover movable property of serving Army personnel of either Dominion deposited with their former units/depots/centers in the other Dominion.

3. The proposed Plan briefly was as follows:-

   Phase I. – Collection of Information.

   Claims from the individuals concerned giving detailed particulars of the property deposited with units/depots/centers in each country to be exchanged.

   Phase II. – Scrutiny

   A Station Board of officers to be constituted to check articles with lists submitted by each Army. The Board after ensuring that there are no contraband articles in the baggage, to prepare final lists. Packages correctly packed and labeled.

Phase III. – Transportation of the Property
Property to be collected at the Command Collecting Centers.

Phase IV.
Transportation of property to Indo – Pakistan border.
Army headquarters of either Dominion to arrange rolling stock and dispatch of the property to Attari/ Wagha border.

Phase V.
Handing over of the property to the representatives of the respective Dominion for onward dispatch to the owners concerned.
Each Army to establish a check post Attari/Wagha for final checking and handing over the property to the Dominion’s representatives.

Annexure ‘E’

PROCEDURE FOR RECOVERY AND REMOVAL BURIED TREASURES AS DECIDED UPON BY THE TWO DEPUTY HIGH COMMISSIONERS AT JULLUNDUR AND LAHORE.

(1) Unless action has already been taken to that effect, a press note as laid down in Implementation Instruction (3), is to be issued and claims invited and registered within one month. A list of the claims is to be forwarded to the diplomatic representative of the other country. A copy of this list, in so far as it relates to any district, should also be sent to the Superintendent of Police of that district.

(2) Applications for removal of buried treasures will be called for by each diplomatic representative concerned. The question whether the applicant is the person entitled to remove the treasure is one entirely for the diplomatic representative to satisfy himself about.

(3) The diplomatic representative will lay down the programmed for operation and will indent for escorts accordingly. Escorts will be provided according to indent. Size of the escort will be such as is satisfactory to the diplomatic representative indenting for it. Transport for the escort will be provided by the diplomatic representative.

(4) The operation party, together with the escort obtained from the head quarters, will then proceed to the headquarters of the district of operation and contact the Superintendent of Police of the district.

(5) The Superintendent of Police will at this stage consult the list of registered claims sent to him vide sub – Para (1). If the operation is one in regard to which there is no registered claim, he will simply issue an order to the Police Station concerned or to the District Reserve for the provision of additional escort of local police of that district. A Police officer will accompany this additional escort. This Officer and the additional escort of local Police will be responsible for the provision of necessary facilities and security during the course of operation.

(6) If the operation is one, in regard to which there is a registered claim, the Superintendent of Police will depute some senior Officer not below the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police to accompany the party. In that case when the operation has been completed and if any valuables are recovered, the senior Police Officer and the Officer of the diplomatic representative accompanying the party, will jointly decided on the spot whether the article about which the claim has been registered is present among those valuables. If any such article is present, it will be sealed by the senior Police Officer and then made over to the officer of the diplomatic representative against a receipt signed by him. The Officer of the diplomatic representative will take the claimed article to the headquarters of his Mission. The senior Police Officer will submit the receipt obtained by him and his report to the Superintendent of Police, who will subsequently forward it to the Custodian or the Rehabilitation Commissioner at the headquarters where the Mission is located. On demand by the Custodian or the Rehabilitation Commissioner, the diplomatic representative will produce the claimed article for decision by the Joint Committee in accordance with the procedure laid down separately.

(7) The other articles (i.e., after taking out the claimed article) will be allowed to be taken by the evacuee owner. If these articles contain any bullion or cash, they are not to be detained and should be handed over to the evacuee owner for being disposed of in the country itself.

(8) In order not to delay or impede the operations regarding the buried valuables, Provincial or State Government concerned must issue strict instructions to the Superintendents of Police that when an operation party comes to them necessary orders for the additional escorts of local police should be issued immediately and escort provided without any delay. It should also be made clear to the Superintendent of Police that in case of his absence on leave or on tour or for other reasons, arrangements should exist for the Additional Superintendent of Police or for the senior most Deputy Superintendent of Police to discharge his functions under these arrangements in his absence.

(9) For the buried treasure operations to be spaced, it is agreed that diplomatic representative will issue a letter to the evacuee owner asking him to come to the other country for the operation. It is only on production of this letter that permit to visit that country will be issued by the diplomatic representative of that country.

(10) When an evacuee owner applies for a permit to visit the other country for operation of buried valuables, he will not be required to state in his application the exact village or town or tehsil, which he wishes to visit, but should state only the district to be visited. Permit will be made valid for stay at Lahore or Jullundur (or similar headquarters of diplomatic Missions) and the district to be visited (under escort). This permit will be deemed valid for the purpose of the holder travelling to the headquarter station of the diplomatic Mission of his country and from there visiting the district concerned under escort.

III. ADJUDICATION OF CLAIMS AGAINST RECOVERED BURIED VALUABLES

(1) Such claims will be decided at the headquarter stations where the diplomatic Mission of the other country is situated. Thus, in case of N.W.F.P., Punjab (Pakistan) and Bahawalpur, the claims will be adjudicated at Lahore and in case of Punjab (India) Pepsu, Himachal Pradesh and Bilaspur, the claims will be adjudicated at Jullundur. Similar arrangements will apply in respect of areas within the orbit of the Indian high Commission at Karachi and the Pakistan High Commissioner at Delhi.

(2) The claims will be adjudicated by a Joint Committee having two representatives, one representing each country. At Karachi and Lahore, the members representing India will be nominated respectively by the High Commissioner for India at Lahore. At Delhi and Jullundur the Pakistan representative will be nominated by the High Commissioner for Pakistan at Delhi and Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan at Jullundur.

Note. – Wherever the word “permit” occurs it should be substituted by word “visa”.

**************************
Court deposits. – It was agreed that in the case of districts from where wholesale migration has taken place the court deposits would be transferred en bloc, provided both the parties to the claim were non–Muslims in the case of Pakistan and Muslims in case of India. In other cases action should be taken through the Claims Organization, on a claim being filed by the applicant for the transfer by the two Governments to give effect to this agreement.

Minors and others under the guardianship of courts (like District Judges). – In cases where the minor or ward and the guardian have both migrated from districts from which mass migration has taken place, the court deposits may be transferred to the other country. If necessary, legislation may have to be undertaken to give effect to this. In other cases, transfer can take place on an application through the Claims Organization.

Wards under the Court of Wards Act. – It was agreed that the movable property including cash and jewellery, of wards under the Courts of Wards Act, accumulated before 15th August, 1947, should be automatically transferred to the other country if the ward had moved to the other country from the districts from which mass migration has taken place. The question whether a suitable allowance should be paid after August 15, 1947, till such time as any settlement of evacuee property is finally agreed upon will be examined.

3218. Press Note issue by the Ministry of Rehabilitation regarding Right of Access to Removal and Disposal of Moveable Property by Evacuees.

New Delhi, November 1, 1955.

The working of the Movable Property Agreement was reviewed at the Indo – Pakistan Conference held at Karachi from 1st to 12th March, 1955, and as a result, the Governments of India and Pakistan have taken the following decisions in regard to the implementation of the Agreement.

(1) The outstanding lists of personal and household effects including trade goods and merchandise belonging to the evacuees and lying with the Custodians in each country would be exchanged en bloc by the two Governments by the 31st December, 1955.

(2) After the lists have been exchanged, the Custodians would be free to dispose of such of the articles included therein as are deteriorating after giving one month's notice to the Diplomatic Representative of the other country unless the latter objects to this course. Where auction is held, sale proceeds will be passed on to the Diplomatic representative of the other country after deducting 10 per cent from the amount towards Custodian's fee.

(3) Evacuee owners will be permitted to claim restoration or disposal of their movable properties which are lying with the Custodians and are included in the lists by the 30th September, 1956, or before the expiry of six months from the date of exchange of lists, whichever is later.

(4) Where no claim is received from the evacuee owners for restoration or where owners are not in a position to make arrangements for their removal or disposal, the property may, at the discretion of the Diplomatic Representative in either country, be allowed to be removed to the headquarters for such action as may be considered necessary by him. The properties not taken over by the evacuee owners, and not required to be sent to the headquarters of the Diplomatic Mission, may be disposed of by the Custodians by auction in the presence of the representatives of the Diplomatic Mission of the other country. In such cases, sale proceeds will be passed on to the Diplomatic representative after deducting 10 per cent from the amount towards Custodian's fee.

(5) As difficulties are being experienced by the Liaison Officers and the evacuee owners in securing restoration of movable properties included in the lists that have been exchanged by the two countries, the Custodians are being instructed that they should restore possession of the movables without further formalities to owners or the Liaison Officer on receipt of requests for restoration.

(6) Evacuees are allowed to remove their personal and household effects without export or import restrictions and without customs duties. Machinery and machine parts, merchandise and trade goods, unsewn cloth, cash in excess of normally permitted quantities, bullion etc., the export of which was hitherto prohibited, would also now be allowed to be removed to the other country in cases where they are restored by the Custodians, or form part of the seized movables, or are recovered from buried treasures.

(7) With regard to the India notes and coins restored in India by the Custodians, or forming part of the seized movables or recovered from buried treasures in India, the Government of India will on production of a certificate from the Custodian or the Officer restoring the seized movables or from the Officer conducting the buried treasure operations permit remittance to Pakistan of equivalent amounts at the official rate of exchange. India notes and coins restored by Custodians or forming part of seized movables or recovered from buried treasures in Pakistan will be permitted to be exported to India after being sealed in parcels in the presence of officers of the two countries. Bullion similarly restored or recovered will be permitted to be exported from one country to the other under a certificate of the Liaison Officer after it has been sealed in parcels with the official seal of the Custodian or the officer restoring the seized movables or in the case of buried treasures with the seals of the representatives of the two countries.

(8) Evacuee owners would be allowed to forward their claims in respect of items which are not included in the lists exchanged between the two countries by the 30th April, 1956, after which date no claim will be entertained. In respect of movables lying with the Custodians, claims relating to movables of the value of Rs. 500/- or more only will be entertained and duly processed. Where the evacuee owners have already put forward their claims or the Government concerned or their Diplomatic Representatives have already initiated action, it is not necessary for the evacuee owners to put forward their claims again.

(9) Third party claims will be admitted only against traded goods and merchandise. Such claims should, however, be against the particular business only and not in respect of other dealings of the evacuees unconnected with business. No new third party claim will be invited or entertained against trade goods and merchandise against which third party claims remain to be settled will be restored after the outstanding claims against the movables in question have been adjudicated by a Joint Committee consisting of one officer each from India and Pakistan. Where, however, the third party claim is accepted by the evacuee owner, the case will not be referred to the Joint Committee.

(10) Movable properties of the nature of trade goods and merchandise which have not been restored and are required by the Government for public purpose may be acquired on payment of their value estimated by the Government concerned. In all such cases the amount shall be paid to the Diplomatic Representative of the other country before the property is taken over by the Government. Where the evacuee owner does not accept the estimated valuation already made, the case will be referred to the Joint Committee appointed for the adjudication of claims. In case the property claimed is already held by the State Government its value will be assessed and the amount paid to the Diplomatic Representative of India or Pakistan as the case may be as soon as possible after the acquisition.

(11) The prescribed time limit for removal of personal and household properties by evacuees which were left with friends and relations has been extended to 20th February, 1956. No further extension will be given after that date. Where a complaint is made to the Custodian that the person with whom the property was deposited refuses to restore it, the Custodian will make a summary enquiry into the complaint and if he is satisfied that the property in question is evacuee property, he will take steps to restore it to the evacuee owner.

3219. Press Note issued by the Ministry of Rehabilitation Regarding Indo – Pakistan Agreement on Movable Property of evacuees — June, 1950 — Articles in deposit with banks, lockers and safe deposits – applications for third party claims.

November 1, 1955.

The Governments of India and Pakistan have evolved a procedure for inviting and settling third party claims against articles belonging to evacuees kept in lockers, or left in the custody of Banks for safe deposit and the bulk release of such lockers and safe deposits. Persons who have claims in respect of the articles in lockers and safe deposits, which they had deposited or pawned with an evacuee, should apply within one month of the date of this Press Note to the local Custodian of Evacuee Property (unless they have already filed such claims). The following particulars should be given:-

(i) Name and address of the person with whom the article was pawned or deposited;
(ii) The bank with which the article is deposited;
(iii) Detailed description of the articles, for example, gold, cash etc. to enable its identification;
(iv) Weight of the article (approximate weight to be indicated if exact weight is not known);
(v) Value of the article;
(vi) Reasons for which the article was pawned or deposited;
(vii) Date and terms of conditions of deposit or pawning;
(viii) Money owed by the person to the person with whom the articles were deposited/pawned, along with the rate of interest, if any, and total amount owed up to date;

2. The claims should be in respect of articles actually deposited or pawned with an evacuee by persons who have not migrated and claims should be addressed to the Custodians of the State concerned. The last date of submission of these claims is the 30th November, 1955 and thereafter no third party claims will be entertained.

3. The safe deposits and lockers of evacuees against whom third party claims have been received, will be opened by an officer of the bank concerned in the presence of the Custodian or an Officer nominated by him and the evacuee owner or his agent or in their absence the diplomatic representative of the other country. After opening the locker or safe deposit, the specific article, if any, against which there is a third party claim, will be kept aside in the custody of the bank pending the settlement of the claim and the remaining articles of the evacuee owner will be re-deposited, and will be handed over to the diplomatic representative at the time of general release.

4. The third party claims in respect of articles in safe deposits or lockers in the custody of banks will be adjudicated by a Joint Committee consisting of one officer of each country. After adjudication of the claim, the claimant will be given a choice to redeem his article and will be allowed to take back the claimed article on payment of the amount adjudicated by the Joint Committee. If he fails to redeem the article within one month, the article will be sold by the Custodians in the presence of the diplomatic representative of the other country and the representative of the bank, and the surplus amount, if any, after meeting the dues of the evacuee pawnee, paid to the pawner. The redemption money will be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at the time of the general release of lockers and safe deposits.

5. The lockers and safe deposits in respect of which there are no third-party claims will be released en bloc by the 31st May, 1956. Simultaneously, all articles of evacuees against whom there are third party claims of pawners, with the exception of the pawned articles, will be released to the evacuee owners. At the same time, the redemption money in respect of the pawned articles will, on settlement of third party claims, be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country.

6. Where lockers and safe deposits have already been opened under the authority of the Custodian and contents removed these will be restored or their sale proceeds, if the articles have already been sold, handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at the time of the general release of lockers.

7. The banks’ claims for storage charges including those already paid by the Custodian of Evacuee Property on behalf of the evacuee owner should be cleared by the evacuee owners before the lockers and safe deposits are released.

8. There will be no export and import restrictions on lockers and safe deposits or their contents released under this arrangement and no customs duty will be payable.

3220. Press Note issued by Ministry of Rehabilitation regarding fire-arms of evacuees.

New Delhi, November 1, 1955.

The Governments of India and Pakistan have decided that firearms left by evacuees with their friends in the other country which have not been declared so far would be restored to the evacuee owners. It is accordingly notified for the information of all concerned that persons holding fire – arms of evacuees are at liberty to deposit such fire – arms with the local District Magistrate. The depositor should submit to the District Magistrate at the time of the deposit of the fire – arms a list, in duplicate, showing:

(i) Name of the evacuee owner, his last known address in India and his present address in Pakistan, if known.

(ii) Particulars of fire – arms deposited, e.g., Pistol, Double Barrel Gun, maker's name, etc.

(iii) Licence No., if known.

2. The unauthorized possession of fire – arms which are so declared and deposited, will be condoned by the Governments concerned. The concession will be available for three months from the date of issue of this Press Note.

3221. Press Note issued by Ministry of Rehabilitation regarding removal of buried treasures by evacuees in the two countries.

New Delhi, November 1, 1955.

In accordance with the provisions of the recent Movable Property Agreement between the Governments of India and Pakistan, evacuees from either country will be given facilities for removal of their treasures buried under – ground, from one country to the other.

Applications for removal of buried treasures should be addressed to the diplomatic representatives of the country to which the applicant now belongs. Accordingly, for removal of buried treasures from Karachi, Sind, Baluchistan and Khairpur, applications should be addressed to the High Commissioner for India, Karachi. Similarly, the Deputy High Commissioner for India, Lahore will receive applications for removal of such treasures from West Punjab and N.W.F.P., Bahawalpur and other areas of West Pakistan.

The necessary arrangements for unearthing and removing treasures will be worked out by the diplomatic representatives of the two countries and the applicants will be informed about these in due course. Armed escorts will be provided free of charge by the country in which the valuables lie buried.

Nationals of either country who have claims in respect of buried articles which they had deposited or pawned with an evacuee may also apply within one month from the date of publication of this Press Note to the local Custodian of Evacuee Property (unless they have already filed such claims). The following particulars may be given:

(i) Name and address of the person with whom the article was pawned or deposited;
(ii) Detailed description of the article, e.g., gold, cash, etc., to enable its identification;
(iii) Weight of the articles (approximate weight to be indicated if exact weight is not known);
(iv) Value of the article;
(v) Reasons for which the articles were pawned or deposited;
(vi) The date and terms and conditions of deposit or pawning;
(vii) Money owed by the person to the person with whom the articles were deposited/pawned, along with the rate of interest, if any, and total amount owned up – to date; and (viii) Documentary or other proof in support of the claim.

While operations for the unearthing of buried treasures will commence by 1st March, 1954, permission for the removal of buried articles by evacuees, in respect of which claims are filed within the prescribed period, or have already been filed, will be held up pending the determination of the claims by Joint Committee of Officers nominated by the diplomatic representatives of India and Pakistan, and the claimants will be given reasonable facilities for establishing their claims before the Joint Committee. Where such articles have been unearthed they will be kept in safe custody with the diplomatic representatives of the country to which the owner now belongs.
Claims should be sent only in respect of articles pawned or deposited with an evacuee, and not in respect of other dealings.

3222. Press Note issued by Ministry of Rehabilitation regarding release of securities, shares, debentures etc of the evacuees.

New Delhi, November 1, 1955.

The Governments of India and Pakistan have decided that simultaneously with the release of properties of non-evacuee Joint Stock Companies and payment of compensation for their movable property, the securities, shares, debentures and insurance policies of displaced persons deposited in banks in the other country shall be restored to the owners or their heirs through the agency of the diplomatic representatives of the two countries. As regards the securities, shares etc. against which the holding banks in Pakistan have claims, unless these claims are settled in cash, the shares, securities, etc., will be sold by the banks to the minimum extent necessary for the purpose of meeting their claims, and if any surplus amount is left as a result of such sales remittance facilities for the same shall be provided. In such cases, remaining securities, shares, etc., will be forwarded by the banks in Pakistan to the Pakistan Government for transmission to India. In the case of insurance policies against which there are bank’s claims, remittance facilities will be provided, if necessary, by the Reserve Bank of India, to meet such claims.

2. The displaced owners or their heirs whose shares, securities, etc., have been left in deposit with banks in Pakistan are accordingly requested to send applications in triplicate to the Ministry of Rehabilitation, New Delhi, by the 31st December, 1955. The application should be addressed to the banks concerns in Pakistan requesting them to re-arrange the shares securities, etc., in favour of the applicants and deliver them to the Government of Pakistan for transmission to the Government of India. The following information should inter alia, be given in the letter addressed to the banks:-

(1) Name of the holder and/or his heir.
(2) Banks in which shares etc., are in deposit.
(3) No., Serial Number and Value of shares, etc.

(4) Particulars of shares, securities, etc., e.g., the Company in which shares are held, or the nature of shares or the authority responsible for making payment and the date of maturity.

(5) Other relevant particulars.

 Copies of application forms may be obtained from the Ministry of Rehabilitation (Negotiations Section), Government of India, New Delhi.

As soon as shares, securities etc., of displaced persons are received from the Government of Pakistan, displaced owners thereof or their heirs will be duly advised.

3223. Press Note issued by Ministry of Rehabilitation regarding treatment of certain categories of securities, shares, debentures, Insurance Policies etc as Non-Evacuee Property.

New Delhi, November 1, 1955.

Restrictions imposed by the Custodians in their country on the payment of dividends on shares and interest on securities and debentures were considered at the Indo – Pakistan Conference held in March, 1955, at Karachi. It was decided that shares of Joint Stock Companies other than those companies whose head offices have remained in the same country but the holders of majority shares have migrated to the other country, will be treated as non – evacuee property. Thus the shares of joint stock companies, the head offices of which have remained in the same country but the holders of majority shares have migrated to the other country, will be treated as evacuee property. In all other cases, shares of joint stock companies will not be treated as evacuee property, and if they have been so treated already, will now be made free of Custodian’s restrictions. Accordingly, restrictions, if any imposed by Custodians on payment of dividends on shares which are to be treated as non – evacuee property or interest on securities and debentures will be removed. Custodians’ restrictions, if any, on the transfer of such shares and debentures will similarly be removed.
Such restrictions on transfers as are prescribed by the exchange regulations of either country will, however, remain. There will also be no restrictions of the Custodians on the payment of claim in respect of insurance policies.

2. In this connection, it is reiterated that there are no restrictions whatsoever either from the point of view of Evacuee Property Law or exchange control, to the payment of dividend in such cases.

3. Necessary instructions have been issued in the two countries and the Custodians and the Reserve Bank of India and the State bank of Pakistan have been requested to ensure that complaints, if any, received are investigated promptly.

4. Displaced persons in India who experience any difficulty in this behalf in respect of shares etc., held in concerns in Karachi, Sind, Baluchistan and Khairpur, despite the references made by them to the concerns and/or authorities concerned in Pakistan may approach the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan, Karachi, for taking up their cases. Similarly, displaced persons who held shares in concerns in Punjab (P), N.W.F.P. and Bahawalpur may write to the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan, Lahore.

3224. Letter from Pakistan Minister of Refugees and Rehabilitation Sardar Amir Azam Khan to Minister of Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna.

Minister For Refugees and Rehabilitation,
Government of Pakistan
Karachi

D.O. No. F. 11(8)/54/-P the 3rd/4th November 1955.

My Dear Mr. Khanna,

Please refer to your D.O.letter No.Conf/342/PSMR, dated the 10th October, 1955. It is most gratifying that our two Governments have reached complete agreement on the subject of moveable evacuee property and I have no doubt that a large number of displaced persons in either country would greatly benefit from the new arrangements to be made under the Agreement. The draft implementation instructions which were to be issued by the two Governments on a joint basis have since been issued.

As regards immovable evacuee property, the whole question was discussed thread-bare in our Prime Minister’s letter dated the 22nd September, 1954. Your Prime Minister sent his reply dated the 9th November, 1954, enclosing with it a note prepared by your Ministry. My Ministry have prepared a detailed note in reply, and I am attaching a copy of it for your perusal in the hope that it would materially contribute to a better understanding and appreciation of the point of view of our Government on the subject.

In your present letter you have suggested that we may hold further discussions to find a solution of the immovable evacuee property issue. The position is that the Government of India have chosen to take unilateral action contrary to the existing Agreement between the two Governments and abolished the titles and rights of Muslim evacuees in their properties. The Government of Pakistan are, therefore, now forced to devise their own solution. The result of the Government of India’s action is that no common basis for a solution of the problem has been left. I am always happy to meet you and talk about this or any other connected matter outstanding between the two Governments. But I am sure you would appreciate that unless we find a common basis for discussion, it would be no use holding a meeting and reporting failure and causing further disappointment to the people in either country. I shall be glad if you would indeed enlighten me on this aspect of the matter before we fix up the next meeting.

As you are no doubt aware, recent floods have caused considerable suffering to our refugees in West Pakistan and I have to do some touring in this connection; but as soon as I hear from you, I would let you have my precise reactions.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

Sd/- Amir Azam

The Hon’ble Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna,
Minister for Rehabilitation,
Government of India, New Delhi.
Letter from Minister of Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna to Pakistan Governor-General Major General Iskander Mirza.

New Delhi, December 7, 1955.

D.O. No. Conf/1903/PSMR

My Dear Iskander,

As a result of our talks in Karachi in April last, we were able to resolve the differences between the two Governments in respect of all outstanding matters relating to the movable property of evacuees and their bank accounts. I regret that the problem relating to immovable property, which was really the major item for settlement, was not discussed. I was told by Sardar Amir Azam Khan that he was not authorised to discuss this issue.

2. The immovable property issue has now been pending for over six years. It was last discussed during my visit to Karachi in July-August, 1953 but to my disappointment, no agreement could then be reached. It was however, decided that the talks should be resumed within a few weeks. Since then, more than two years have elapsed, and yet the representatives of the two Governments have not so far met.

3. Recently I suggested to Sardar Amir Azam Khan that the discussions might be resumed with a view to reaching a settlement. I am enclosing a copy of my letter and a copy of his letter in reply. While I am grateful to him for his prompt response, I am afraid it does not hold out any hope of a settlement being reached in respect of immovable evacuee property. He has observed that he would be happy to meet me and talk about this and other connected matters, but in view of the steps taken by the Government of India to abolish the titles and rights of Muslim evacuees in their properties in India, there is now no common basis for a solution of the problem. In his opinion, without such a basis for discussion, it would be no use holding a meeting which would only end in failure, causing further disappointment to the people of either country.

4. Sardar Amir Azam Khan has enclosed with his letter a long note. It contains no fresh points on which we need say anything which has so far not been said, and I do not propose to send a counter-note.

5. Even conceding that there is no common basis for these talks at present, I fail to see how such a basis can be found without the representatives of the two Governments, talking the matters over around a conference table.
circumstances leading to the decision of the Government of India to acquire the titles and rights of evacuee in their property in India for payment of compensation to displaced persons from West Pakistan are already known to your Government.
I need not, therefore, repeat them here. The Pakistan Government is also now taking similar action with respect to the vast properties of Hindus and Sikhs left behind by them in Pakistan. They have already invited claims from Muslim evacuees from India with a view to permanently settling them on evacuee property in Pakistan on the basis of their claims for property left in India. Muslim evacuees from India have already been allotted agricultural lands in Pakistan on a "provisional permanent" basis. Thus both the Governments are utilising evacuee properties in their respective countries for the displaced persons. This in my view provides a sufficient common basis for further discussions.

6. It is my earnest desire that there should be an overall settlement between the two Governments in respect of the immovable property of evacuees. All possible avenues should, therefore, be thoroughly explored. I would accordingly very much like to discuss this matter also with you during my visit to Karachi. I shall be grateful if you would kindly let me know if such discussion would be possible.

With kindly regards.

Yours sincerely

(Mehr Chand Khanna)

His Excellency Major General Iskander Mirza
Governor-General, Pakistan.
Karachi.
3226. Press Note issued by the Government of India on the agreement between India and Pakistan for the transfer of Post Office Savings Account.

New Delhi, January 31, 1956.

The Governments of India and Pakistan have agreed on the procedure for the transfer from Pakistan to India and vice versa of the Post Office Savings Bank Conjoint Accounts opened in either country under Rule 44 of the Savings Bank Rules before partition. Where all the beneficiaries of an account have migrated from one country to the other, the entire account would be transferred. Where, however, some beneficiaries are in one country and some in the other, the accounts would be split up accordingly.

Claims for the transfer of these accounts from Pakistan to India may be registered at any post office in India doing Savings Bank work. The last date for registering such claims is 29 February 1956. Claim forms will be available on application at all post offices free of charge. Those who may already have registered claims with post offices for transfer of such accounts from Pakistan to India in accordance with any previous notification are also required to submit fresh applications on or before the prescribed date in accordance with the procedure now laid down.

Individuals or authorities who were operating on such accounts in Pakistan or any other beneficiary or beneficiaries interested in such accounts may, therefore, prefer their claims within the specified period, after which no claim will be entertained. Particular care should be taken at the time of submission of applications to notify to the postal authorities whether all the beneficiaries of the account have migrated to India or some are still in Pakistan, for on this will depend the apportionment of the amount at the credit of the account. Claimants should also produce the necessary documents in support of their claims for verification by the postal authorities on the spot. Only one registration will be permitted at a post office.

Claims for the Provident Fund Account of teachers in Post Office Savings Bank conjoint accounts may be registered by the head of the institution or the individual teacher having a share in the account.

Letter from Pakistan Governor General Major General Iskander Mirza to Minister of Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna.

Governor-General’s House
Karachi

My Dear Mehr Chand,

You have raised in this letter the question of immovable evacuee property and asked whether I would be agreeable to discussing this question with you during your visit to Karachi. I am always willing to talk about this or any other matter outstanding between India and Pakistan, and shall be most happy if I can help to create a friendly understanding between the two Governments for the settlement of all the major disputes. But I am sure you will appreciate that any such talk between you and me can only be in the nature of a general, informal exchange of ideas and cannot be anything like a full or formal discussion between the representatives of the two Governments. In fact, you have acted rightly in getting in touch with Sardar Amir Azam for the purpose of resuming negotiations and holding a conference. I have shown him your letter and understand from him that he is going to write to you again to clarify what exactly he wants to find out from you before fixing up another conference on the subject.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

Sd/- (Iskander Mirza)

The Hon’ble Mr. Mehr Chand Khanna,
Minister for Rehabilitation,
Government of India,
New Delhi.
My Dear Khanna,

Will you kindly refer to your d.o.No.Conf /1903/PSMR, dated the 7th December, 1955 to H.E. the Governor-General?

2. You have referred in this letter to my letter to you dated the 4th November, 1955 in which, while considering your suggestion for a fresh conference on the subject of immovable evacuee property, I had expressed the opinion that before this conference is fixed up it would be better to find some common basis for discussion so as to avoid Public disappointment, consequent on repeated failures to reach an amicable settlement on the problem. Commenting on my suggestion you have stated in your above-mentioned d.o.to H.E. that it is precisely to find this basis that you want a fresh conference to be held. As I observed in my last d.o. I am always happy to meet you and talk about this subject; but perhaps I could not make myself quite clear to you when I asked for a common basis for discussion to be agreed upon between the two Governments as a preliminary to a fresh conference on the subject. It seems, therefore, necessary to touch upon the background of this dispute briefly.

3. You will remember that this problem has been discussed threadbare between the representatives of the two Governments at almost all possible levels without any result. In October 1952 the Government of India, completely ignoring the Agreement of January, 1949 put forward the suggestion that the Govt. of Pakistan should take over all immovable evacuee property in their country and settle the dispute on the basis of Govt.-to-Govt. liability. The Govt. of Pakistan sent their considered reply in March, 1953 in the concluding paragraph of which they summarized their position as follows:

“In conclusion the Government of Pakistan would like to reiterate that the proposal of the Government of India made in their letter under reply is yet another instance of the violation of the existing Agreement and amounts to nothing less than expropriation of the Muslims of India and that instead of helping to solve the problem it would create further difficulties, the responsibility for which would rest entirely on the Government of India.”

4. Between 1953 and 1954 (for almost one full year) the subject was discussed at Prime Minister-level by exchange of several long letters and voluminous notes. In the letter of the Prime Minister of Pakistan dated the 22nd September, 1954, the position was again clarified as follows:

“But the policy hitherto pursued by your Govt. in respect of this dispute in utter disregard of agreements and our views fills me with despair. The latest decision of your Govt. to dispossess evacuee owners of all rights and titles in their property has completely altered the situation. It has destroyed the very basis on which our discussions were being conducted and I find myself at loss to suggest how we should proceed further in this matter.”

In November, 1954 the Prime Minister of India sent with his d.o. a long note containing an elaborate presentation of India’s case. When I sent you my last d.o. reply dated the 4th November, 1955 I provided you with a detailed counter note setting forth once again the case of the Government of Pakistan.

5. In these letters, notes, etc. every conceivable aspect of the immovable evacuee property dispute has been discussed over and over again, with the only result that the Government of India have every time shown their inability to agree to anything except a settlement on the basis of Government-to-Government liability. In fact, their last note received with their Prime Minister’s letter has emphatically stated that the representatives of the two Governments should again meet “with a view to settling the principles on which and the manner in which compensation for the properties of evacuees may be paid.” The Government of Pakistan in their note sent with my d.o. dated the 4th Nov., 1955 replied as follows:

“The announcement made by the late Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar in July, 1949 and quoted elsewhere in this note has, through these six long years, continued to in spite India’s attitude vis-a-vis Pakistan on the evacuee property dispute. It is only a historical fact that almost every conference or discussion since held on the subject has broken down on account of the Government of India’s insistence to settle the problem only on one basis—the basis of Govt.-to-Govt. Government liability. This uncompromising policy could only be explained by the avowed desire “to obtain as large a compensation for the evacuee properties in Pakistan as possible in the course of what may be protracted negotiations spread over several years”. It is also significant in this connection that while carrying on negotiations, the Govt. of India have simultaneously (since 1949) been taking action towards this objective; and now that they have completed their preparatory action they are pleased to invite Pakistan to settle “the principles on which and the manner in which compensation for the properties of evacuees may be paid as if the Govt. of Pakistan have been party to or had approved the expropriatory action taken by the Government of India in utter violation of the Agreement of January, 1949.”

6. Going back a little further, it would be recalled that the demand for the settlement of this issue on the basis of Government-to-Government liability was made by the Government of India in 1948, but this was positively rejected by the Government of Pakistan, on which the Agreement of January, 1949 was arrived at between the parties. This Agreement clearly left the matter of immovable evacuee property to be settled by the private efforts of the evacuee. Unfortunately the Government of India while entering into this Agreement made every effort to side track it in actual practice with a view to renewing their pre-1949 demand for a settlement on a Government-to-Government liability. While reiterating their anxiety from time to time for an amicable settlement and asking for discussions and conferences on this issue, the Government of India saw to it that every discussion held and every conference convened failed until the Government of Pakistan agreed to assume the responsibility for paying a fantastic compensation for a supposed difference in the value of the properties in the two countries. This has been the only proposal the Government of India have considered or put forward over all these years.

7. I am glad to notice that you are anxious to explore all possible avenues to settle this problem, and so am I; but I am sure you will appreciate that after these intensive discussions lasting over several years no useful purpose would be served by any fresh conference or discussion on the same basis for the settlement of the immovable evacuee property. On the other hand if you have some proposal other than this one, I would certainly be glad to have a further conference. But in order to avoid disappointment it is only fair if you would kindly take me into confidence about your new approach before we fix up a conference. As soon as I receive your concrete proposal in this behalf, I shall let you know that date when it would be possible for us to meet and make a fresh effort to resolve the deadlock.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely

No.F.2 (10)/56-R.S. 25th April, 1956

My dear Desai,

We have now started the work of verification of claims put in by the refugees from India. We are anxious that the work of verification should be as accurate as possible. Some of the refugees have complained that they were not able to bring with them documents pertaining to their immovable property. We have felt that it would be a good thing if we could send our Deputy Claims Commissioners to India to conduct verification on the spot in respect of claims of the value of Rs.50 lakhs and above. Would it be possible for the Government of India to permit the claimants as well as the official representatives of our Claims Organisation to go to various places in India for verification? We should want facilities to be granted for such visits to the claimants and the officials concerned. We hope that the Government of India will agree to our proposal. I would be able to give you a list of the officers and men who have to go to India for local verification as soon as you tell us that the Government of India have agreed to our proposal.

Yours sincerely

New Delhi, April 26, 1956.

D. O. No./516/PSMR.

My Dear Sardar Sahib,

During the discussions between the Prime Ministers of Pakistan and India held in Karachi in 1953, a suggestion was made from the Pakistan side that the operation of the Evacuee Property Law in the two countries should be suspended. We have always regarded this as an abnormal law, enactment of which became necessary to meet an extraordinary situation. We at that time felt that the law could not be suspended until an over-all settlement of the problem of evacuee property had been reached. As, however, such a settlement could not be arrived at, we decided not to wait any longer and relaxed several provisions of the Evacuee Property Law in May 1954. An early opportunity was subsequently taken to amend the law by an enactment of the Legislature in October 1954. Thus in India the position for nearly two years has been that anybody who had not attracted the provisions of the Evacuee Property Law prior to May 1954, is free to dispose of his property without let or hindrance.

Our Prime Minister wrote to the Prime Minister of Pakistan on the 7th May 1954, informing him of these important changes. I had hoped that since the suggestion regarding abrogation of Evacuee Property Law had originated from Pakistan, your Government would welcome our action and take similar steps. Nothing has, however, happened so far and in Pakistan the Evacuee Property Law continues to operate as before.

I had intended to write about this matter to you earlier. But I noticed from the concluding portion of para 21 of the note enclosed with your D.O. letter No. F.11(8) 54-P, dated 4th November 1955, that the question was under your examination and that all the pending cases had been stayed for the time being. Now that five months have passed since, I am writing to draw your attention to this matter which is of vital importance to the remaining member of the minority communities in West Pakistan.

In Punjab, N.W.F.P., Baluchistan and Bahawalpur, hardly any Hindus and Sikhs are now left. The enforcement of the law in those areas would not, therefore, result in any fresh assets being added to those already taken over by the Custodian. In Sind, however, a small number of Hindus is still left. I do not think it could be the intention to retain the provisions of the evacuee Property Law in order to deprive even these few persons of their properties in Pakistan.

In the circumstances I would earnestly request you to give this matter your serious attention. I trust that the Pakistan Government would now find it possible to repeal the law at an early date with kind regards,

Yours sincerely

3231. TOP SECRET

Letter from High Commissioner for India in Pakistan C.C. Desai to Rehabilitation Secretary Dharma Vira.

Karachi, April 26, 1956.

No. HC/56/5-476 26th April , 1956

My dear Dharma Vira,

The other day at a party, N.M. Khan, Secretary to the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation in the Government of Pakistan, met me and told me if the Government of India would be good enough to co-operate with the Government of Pakistan in the matter of information for verification of the claims put in by their refugees. I told him that we did not encourage supply of such information to private individuals, but that request at governmental level may be viewed differently and that I would be prepared to support that proposal to my Government. He has accordingly now submitted the proposal, vide copy of his letter dated the 25th April 1956 herewith enclosed. I hope it will be possible for us to extend our co-operation to them in the matter. It should be on a reciprocal basis. I have no doubt that many of our people have left properties worth more than Rs.50 lakhs, and it may be useful for us to send similar teams to Pakistan and to verify claims on the spot. If this would help us to send our teams in the interior of Pakistan, and particularly in places like Rawalpindi and Peshawar, it should be helpful even from other points of view as ordinarily these areas are closed to us and very few of our people can go there and see things for themselves. Under cover of verification of our claims in those areas, it should be possible for us to send our own teams and claimants to those places and, while they verify the claims, they might also be able to bring useful information. I hope that this point of view would be borne in mind while examining the request of the Government of Pakistan. So far as India is concerned, our country is more or less an open book and therefore there is not much risk in similar facilities being made available to Pakistanis. In view of these political considerations, I would request that this matter should be treated as ‘Top Secret’

With kindest regards,

Yours ever

D.O. No. 466-CS/56 28th April 1956

My dear Dharma Vira,

Please refer to C.C. Desai’s Top Secret letter of 26th April regarding the proposal from the Secretary, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation in the Pakistan Government that claimants as well as official representatives of the Claims Organization be permitted to go to various places in India for verification on the spot of claims of the value of Rs.50 lakhs and above.
2. You will naturally be examining this proposal from the advantage of reciprocity so far as the Rehabilitation Ministry's interest in the matter is concerned. I am however not sure what the reciprocal security risks involved are. Our security measures are not as strict as those of Pakistan and with no Hindu population in West Pakistan any of our claimants or officers who may be allowed to go there under reciprocal arrangements would hardly have that freedom of movement which the Pakistani claimants and officers would have here if they came over under reciprocal arrangements.

3. I will be grateful if you will, after you have examined the proposal from the Rehabilitation Ministry's angle, consult Home and Defence Ministries and also show the papers to us before finally accepting the proposal. If on the other hand, you are turning down the proposal from your own angle, there is no need to consult Home, Defence and External Affairs.

with regards.

Yours sincerely

Camp : New Delhi, 1st May, 1956

My dear Mehr Chand,

I have just seen your letter No.516/PSMR dated the 28th April 1956 to Amir Azam Khan about the withdrawal of the Evacuee Law in Pakistan. I should really have reported to you that a few days ago I happened to call on Amir Azam Khan and I asked him this very question and his reply was that the case was ready for the withdrawal of the Evacuee Law and that the papers were pending with the Cabinet. He gave the usual excuses of preoccupation with Constitution making and Republic celebrations and hoped that there would be no further delay in the implementation of their decision. There is of course in this country a big gap between intention and execution but this is the present position of the matter raised by you in your letter to him. Let us however see what reply he gives you.

With kindest regards,

Yours sincerely

Hon’ble Shri Mehr Chand Khanna,
Minister for Rehabilitation,
New Delhi,

TOP SECRET

Note from Ministry of Rehabilitation to Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, May 16, 1956.

The Ministry of Rehabilitation has received a proposal from the Secretary, Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation in the Pakistan Government, that refugees from India who have put in claims in Pakistan for their immovable properties in India as well as representatives of the Claims Organisation, Pakistan, be permitted to visit various places in India for verification on the spot of claims of the value of Rs. 50 lakhs and over. In this connection, a copy each of the under-mentioned correspondence is placed below.

(i) Copy of D.O. No. F. 2.(10) 56-R.S., dated the 25th April, 1956, from Mr. N.M. Khan, Secretary Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation, Pakistan, Karachi, to Shri C.C. Desai.

(ii) Shri C. C. Desai’s D.O. letter No. HC/56/S-476, dated the 26th April, 1956, to Shri Dharma Vira.

(iii) Shri M.J. Desai’s D.O. letter No. 466-CS/56, dated the 28th April, 1956, to Shri Dharma Vira.
2. One of the major items of dispute between India and Pakistan is with respect to the settlement of the problem of evacuee immovable property. Ever since partition, the Ministry of Rehabilitation have tried their utmost to find a solution which is mutually acceptable to the two countries. A series of conferences have been held and discussions and correspondence at the Prime Ministers level have also taken place, but owing to the intransigence of Pakistan the problem has remained unresolved. The approach of the two countries in this matter has been basically different. According to Pakistan, it should be left to the individual refugees to find a solution, i.e., they should be left free to sell or exchange their properties by mutual negotiations. On the other hand, the Government of India have all along held the view that the problem should be settled on a Government to Government level. Having failed to reach an agreement during all these years, we were compelled to take independent action with a view to resettling the displaced persons. Claims were, therefore, invited as early as 1950 and after their verification, the Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act was passed in October 1954. This Act empowers the Government to acquire evacuee properties in India and utilize the same for compensating the displaced persons for their properties left behind in West Pakistan.

3. When we undertook the work of verification of claims and the valuation of evacuee properties in India, Pakistan Government was duly invited by us to join in this work, but they did not even reply to the invitation.

4. Pakistan is now taking similar action and is obviously finding it difficult to verify the claims without our cooperation; hence the present proposal. Although we have already verified the claims of displaced persons, some of the claims could be re-verified on the spot in West Pakistan with advantage. Any arrangements entered into in this behalf should, therefore, be on a reciprocal basis. That apart, we are of the view that the present Pakistan's proposal could be utilized as a steppingstone to break the present deadlock and pave the way for a Government to Government settlement of this problem. At present they are avoiding further discussions on the ground that India having decided to acquire the right, title and interest of the evacuees in their properties in India, there is now no common basis for discussions.

5. Shri M.J. Desai has observed that he is not sure whether the reciprocal security risks involved in the suggestion of the Pakistan Government are the same. He has further observed that our security measures are not as strict as those of Pakistan and with particularly no Hindu population in West Pakistan any of our claimants or officers who may be allowed to go there under the reciprocal arrangements would hardly have that freedom of movement which the Pakistani claimants and officers would have here if they came over under reciprocal arrangements. He has accordingly suggested that in case the Ministry of Rehabilitation is inclined to accept the suggestion of the Pakistan Government, the Ministries of Home and Defence should be consulted.

6. For the reasons already stated above, the Ministry of Rehabilitation are of the view that the Pakistan Government’s suggestion should not be rejected outright and should be utilized for making counter proposals to pave the way for a Government to Government settlement of the problem of urban immovable property. It is accordingly proposed to send to Pakistan a reply at Minister level as in the attached draft. As, however, this is a very important matter, the Minister for Rehabilitation feels that it should first be discussed at a meeting of the Secretaries of the Ministry of Rehabilitation, Ministry of Home affairs, Ministry of Defence and the Ministry of External Affairs. In the light of their views, the Minister for Rehabilitation will consult both the Home Minister and the Prime Minister. It is accordingly proposed to discuss this matter at a meeting to be held in the room of Shri Dharma Vira, Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation, Jaiselmer House, on May 19, 1956 at 10 a.m. The Ministry of Rehabilitation would be grateful if the Secretaries of the Ministry of Home Affairs and Defence and the Commonwealth Secretary would kindly make it convenient to attend.

Note recorded by Commonwealth Secretary M. J. Desai on the copy of the letter received by him:

“D.S.(P) will attend the meeting on my behalf. We have no objection to the draft proposals of the Rehabilitation Ministry. We are of the view that Pakistan will not bite. But there is no harm in making this effort. I have informed Shri Dharma Vira.

**************

Draft letter addressed to Pakistan Minister for Refugees and Rehabilitation and enclosed with the above Note of the Ministry of Rehabilitation
My dear

May thank for your D.O. letter No.25/S/56, dated the 9th March, 1956, on the question of immovable evacuee property. I had hoped that an opportunity might arise for an informal talk between us when I visited Karachi for the inauguration of the Republic, but that was a busy time for everybody.

2. This problem has been discussed threadbare for more than half a decade between the representatives of the two Governments at almost all possible levels, but so far without any success. I am glad to note that you are anxious to explore all possible avenues to find a mutually satisfactory solution of the problem, and that for this purpose you would always be happy to meet me. I agree entirely that efforts should continue to be made to seek a solution and I consider that our approach now should be based on the identical developments which have taken place in the two countries during the last eight years in regard to the rehabilitation of refugees.

3. I will recapitulate very briefly the course of the events. The principle that evacuee properties should be utilised only for the rehabilitation of displaced persons or for the economic rehabilitation of the country, was recognized and approved by the Karachi Agreement of 1949. The note enclosed with your letter of 4th November 1955, reiterates that these properties could not have been put to any better use than for the rehabilitation of refugees. Proceeding on the principle agreed upon, Pakistan and India took identical steps for the allotment of both rural and urban evacuee properties. The evacuee agricultural lands in PEPSU and two Punjabs were allotted to the refugees on quasi permanent or provisionally permanent basis. The two Governments exchanged the revenue records to facilitate such allotment. The arrangement for the distribution of agricultural lands through Governmental rather than individual effort, has proved very successful. It has immensely benefited lakhs of refugee families and facilitated the speedy and orderly restoration of the economy of the rural areas. Neither Government can contemplate retracing the steps already taken in this regard and thereby take the risk of retarding the progress of rehabilitation of these refugees.

4. Similarly, the urban properties have been allotted by the respective Governments, by and large, to the refugees. As in the case of agricultural lands, any large scale dislocation of the occupants after all these years is unthinkable. A way had, however, to be found to rationalise these allotments on the basis of the properties owned by the allottees before the migration. In order to make such rationalisation possible, we invited and registered claims in respect of the immovable property in 1951. Pakistan has also found it necessary for the same reasons, to enact a law and has taken up the registration of claims. We completed the verification of claims a couple of years ago then proceeded with the formulation of a Compensation Scheme, and we have gone ahead with its implementation. The Scheme contemplates the utilization of the evacuee property in urban areas to compensate those who left urban property in West Pakistan and in view of its comparative inadequacy, Government have made a very large contribution amounting to nearly Rs.90 crores to augment the Compensation pool from their own funds.

5. Having registered the claims, Pakistan is about to begin their verification. I have seen a letter addressed recently by the Secretary of your Ministry to our High Commissioner at Karachi in regard to this matter. He has suggested in this letter that as some of the refugees have complained that they were not able to bring with them the documents pertaining to their immovable property, Deputy Claims Commissioners of your Government together with the claimants should visit India to verify on the spot the claim of the value of rupees fifty lakhs and over. We appreciate the anxiety of your Government to complete the verification of claims accurately and as early as possible. The displaced persons are looking up to their respective Government for the early settlement of their claims and are understandably getting more and more restive as time passes. We were compelled for the same reasons to adopt, a couple of years ago, the very measures which your Government has how rightly decided to take.

6. You will see from what I have stated above that from the very beginning the two Governments have assumed the responsibility for rehabilitating the displaced persons and utilized the evacuee properties at Government levels, for this purpose. At no stage could our Governments have shirked the responsibility and left the displaced persons to fend for themselves. The responsibilities of our respective Governments towards the displaced persons will not end until their claims for the property left behind in the other country are satisfactorily settled. This is possible only when an agreement is arrived at between the two countries about the value of the properties left behind by the displaced persons in each country and the mode of payment for the same. To facilitate this arrangement it was stated by me that in settling the amount payable towards the difference in the value of the property in the two countries, the paying capacity of the debtor country will be taken into account.

7. We would be glad to provide facilities for the verification and valuation of the claims relating to the immovable properties left in India, as proposed by the Secretary of your Ministry in his letter to our High Commissioner. The officers who have been dealing with these problems in India would be asked to cooperate and give all possible assistance to your officers in accurately assessing and verifying the claims registered in your country. The limit of Rs.50 lakhs or over suggested by your Secretary for such verification, however, is likely to cover only a very small fraction of the claims filed by your displaced persons and would, therefore, serve hardly any purpose. In my view the process of verification on the spot in India should be extended to all claims of the value of say, Rs. one lakh or more. There may be many other matters which may have to be considered before the work can be taken in hand. It is, therefore, desirable that the necessary details and the arrangements which should be made for the verification and valuation of the properties in the two countries, which would naturally be on the basis of reciprocity, should be thrashed out first at officers’ level. This we hope would also pave the way for further talks leading to the final settlement of this long standing problem of immovable property.

8. The discussions by the officers could be held immediately, either at Delhi or Karachi, as may be convenient to your Government. As we were privileged to enjoy your hospitality on the last few occasions, we shall be happy to have an opportunity of welcoming the representatives of your Government to India.

With best regards.

Yours sincerely

3235. Press Note issued by the Government of India on the second meeting of the Joint Implementation Committee of the Banking Agreement.

New Delhi, September 18, 1956.

The second meeting of the Joint Implementation Committee of the Indo-Pakistan Banking Agreement was held at New Delhi from 14 September to 18 September 1956. Besides reviewing the progress of implementation of the agreed decisions of March-April 1955, the committee considered the difficulties which had come to light with regard to realization of assets of banks and recommended steps that should be taken for the removal of those difficulties.
It was agreed, inter alia, that apart from giving the banks every facility for disposal of immovable property owned by them, the Government concerned would expedite the sale of evacuee immovable property mortgaged or chargeable in favour of banks in satisfaction of their dues.

In order to minimise procedural delays, it was also agreed that normally the Custodian of Evacuee Property would himself adjudicate upon banks’ claims without insisting upon the banks obtaining decrees from civil courts.

To expedite adjudication of claims, it was recommended that the work should be entrusted to one or more officers of appropriate status who would devote themselves exclusively to the task. It was agreed that in cases where the banks were directed by the Custodian to obtain decree of a civil court, the Custodian would admit the claim on production of such decree without any further enquiry. Where claims were dismissed by the Custodian on technical grounds, the banks’ applications for revival of such claims would be favourably considered.

In cases where the banks have already cleared their liabilities, they would be permitted to remove the surplus funds and records to the other country on fulfilling the usual requirements such as production of income-tax clearance certificate. It was also agreed that wherever banks have not yet filed their claims before the Custodian, they should do so immediately and the Custodian would give priority to the settlement of such claims.

To allow further time for individuals from certain specified areas in either country, who failed to apply for transfer of their accounts within the prescribed date, it was recommended that applications which might be received from them up to 31 October 1956 would be eligible for transfer to the other country.

In the case of jewellery and other valuables pledged with banks by evacuees, it was recommended that they should be given the option to redeem the articles within a specified date. If they failed to do so, the articles would be sold to meet the banks’ claims, the remaining articles if any being permitted to be exported to the other country.

Having regard to the volume of work and procedural requirements involved, the committee recommended that the programme as laid down in the agreed decisions of March-April 1955 for the realisation of assets, transfer of accounts and funds, etc., should be extended by a period of four months.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting of the committee at Karachi from 19 to 21 November 1956.
Letter from Secretary, Pakistan Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation A. Khaleeli to Secretary Ministry of Rehabilitation Dharma Vira.

D.No.2(10)/56-RS

My Dear Dharam Vira

My predecessor, Niaz Muhumad Khan, wrote to C.C. Desai, Indian High Commissioner in Karachi, enquiring whether it will be possible for the Government of India to permit claimants as well as officials of the claims organization to go to India for local verification of the claims of the value of Rs.5 million and above. Your Minister for Rehabilitation wrote to Sardar Amir Azam Khan in reply. He accepted the proposal in principle and suggested that claims of the value of Rs.100,000 or more should be considered on the basis of reciprocity. He also desired that the necessary details regarding arrangements to be made for the verification and valuation of the properties in the two countries should be worked out at officers’ level.

2. Both Governments are now following an identical procedure to compensate displaced persons. The verification of claims received from such persons is an essential part of their schemes. The desire to eliminate bogus and exaggerated claims and thus enable honest and deserving claimants to get a fair deal has promoted the Government of Pakistan to undertake verification of some of the doubtful claims on the spot. I have no doubt that the same desire is responsible for the acceptance of our proposal by your Government. The question of verification is a problem by itself and I suggest that it be not linked up with any other problem in any way whatsoever. In the expectation and hope that this approach is acceptable to the Government of India I am making the following proposals.

3. For the present we should confine on the spot verification to claims worth Rs.1 million and over. The number of persons claiming to have left property worth this amount is one thousand two hundred and odd. Those who claim that they left property worth 1 million and over — the figure suggested in your Minister’s letter runs to twenty one thousand and odd. We would in the first instance like to tackle sizable numbers and on the basis of experiences gained consider the extension of the scheme to lower claims. We propose to depute some six teams to India each consisting of 2 officers and subordinate staff who will collect copies of relevant records and take photographs of properties claimed showing their location, condition, size etc. We will be happy if the Government of India could attach a Liaison Officer to each team in order to assist it in the expeditious disposal of business and obtain maximum cooperation of the local authorities.

4. We would welcome similar on the spot verification in Pakistan by the Government of India of claims of Rs.1 million and over.

5. I shall be glad to hear early from you in this matter.

Yours sincerely
Sd/- (A. Kealeeli)

Dharma Vira, Esq-, ICS
Secretary to the Government of India,
Ministry of Rehabilitation, New Delhi.
In the hope, therefore, that the field of verification will be widened at a later stage according to our previous proposal, we accept your proposal to make a start on reciprocal basis with the verifications of claims of the value of Rs.10 lakhs and more both in India as well as in Pakistan.

During our personal discussion, it was agreed that if the two Governments approve of verification as proposed, you would send to us a list of claims in Pakistan of Rs. ten lakhs and more, so that we could collect the records etc. for a preliminary discussion when a party from Pakistan consisting of your officers would come here to discuss the details of the working of the agreement on verification of the claims. We would send a similar list from our side to you for necessary action. In the course of the discussion with you, it was agreed that the verification teams would include some representatives of the host country, e.g. valuation officers and others.

I would now be glad to have a confirmation from you of the above arrangement so that we might be able to make a start.

Yours sincerely

1. Restoration of Movable Property Included in Exchanged Lists.

The Indian delegation stated that in certain cases the officers of the Custodian’s Organisation or the Rehabilitation Organisation in West Pakistan had declined to restore property included in the exchanged lists. Some of them had written official letters to the Indian Property Field Officer direct stating that the matter should be referred to the Government of Pakistan. It was agreed that fresh instructions would be issued to all the officers concerned to ensure that the property shown in the exchanged lists is restored immediately without further formality.

2. Restoration of Movable Property not included in the exchanged Lists.

It was pointed out by the Indian delegation that in pursuance of the earlier decisions, the Property Attaché of India had referred to the Pakistan Liaison Officer 3,109 cases of shortages. With a view to enabling the Pakistan Ministry of Rehabilitation to expedite enquiries in these cases, the Ministry of Rehabilitation, India, had already furnished to them full particulars for the remaining 2640 such cases. It was also stated that similar particulars for the remaining cases would be supplied shortly.

3. In this connection, the Indian delegation further pointed out that out of the cases of shortages referred to above they had prepared two further lists. The first lists would show the cases in which the authorities in Pakistan had intimated that the properties or the sale proceeds, as the case may be, would be included in the appropriate lists, but had not so far been included in the lists already exchanged by them. In regard to these cases it was agreed that it was not necessary to prepare any supplementary lists. It was also agreed that the property wherever available would be restored forthwith and where such property had already been sold, bank drafts for the sale proceeds would be obtained and furnished within a period of three months.

4. The second list comprising about 550 cases shows the claims preferred by displaced persons for movable property in respect of which they have furnished documentary evidence. It was agreed that the Pakistan Government would complete enquiries into these cases as expeditiously as possible. Pakistan Government would likewise supply to Government of India similar list of cases which will be enquired into by the Government of India.

5. It was also agreed that the Pakistan Government would expedite enquiries into claims for restoration of property left with Clearing Agents, and replies would be given in the first instance to the cases which had already been specifically brought to their notice.

6. It was also decided that both the Governments would take steps to expedite enquiries relating to the claims for Railway consignment in respect of which lists have already been exchanged.

7. The Pakistan delegation promised to complete enquiries into 80 cases referred to Pakistan by India with regard to movable property allotted or acquired by Government, but not included in the lists so far handed over by them.

8. With regard to jewellery and other valuables taken over from evacuees by the former Khairpur State, it was pointed out by the Indian delegation that although some progress had been made at the last exchange of lists, much yet remains to be done. It was stated by the Pakistan delegation that lists of articles which had so far been redeemed by the owners had been furnished and a bank draft for the amount involved would be handed over at the next exchange. The Indian delegation pointed out that sufficient time had already been allowed to the pawners to redeem their articles. They, therefore, suggested that the jewellery and other valuables not redeemed so far should be handed over or in the alternative the money due to the pawners should be given. In this connection they also stated that they would supply a detailed list of persons who had claimed that they had deposited jewellery and valuables with the Khairpur State Authorities in pursuance of their ordinance. The Pakistan Government agreed to examine the matter in the light of the correspondence between the two Governments, in this matter, and to take further action.

9. As regards insured letters, it was pointed out by the Indian delegation that wherever such letters had been passed on to the Custodian, the amounts recovered by them had already been included in the statements relating to seized cash handed over to Pakistan at the various exchanges. They, however, promised that enquiries would be made into individual cases, if any, brought to their notices.

10. Movable property lying with friends and relations.

It was agreed that both the Governments would complete the enquiries in outstanding cases. In this connection it was appreciated that both the Governments could use their good offices only in recovering the property.

11. It was also agreed that as regards extension of time limit for removal of personal and household effects left with friends and relations, instructions may be issued by both the countries on the lines suggested by the Minister of Rehabilitation, India, to the Pakistan High Commissioner in India in his letter No.142/M(R)/63-S dated 4.1.1958.
12. Procedure for payment of Dividends of shares of Joint Stock Companies and the amount due on account of insurance policies.

The Pakistan delegation stated that the State Bank of Pakistan had already issued instructions simplifying the procedure in this behalf. A copy of the instructions was handed over to the Indian delegation.

13. Removal of Restrictions on Payment of Accumulated Dividends on shares and securities in deposit with banks in India.

The Pakistan delegation stated that since there was an agreement that there should be no restrictions on payment of dividends and since accumulated dividends did not acquire the characteristics of capital these should be allowed. The Indian delegation agreed to examine the question.

It was decided that further supplementary lists and bank drafts should be exchanged at Delhi on the 25th and 26th March, 1958. It was also decided that Fire Arms already included in the lists or in respect of which commitments had been made by either Government should be exchanged on the 24th February 1958 at Lahore and Jullundur respectively.

15. Joint Committee.

After reviewing the progress of the work of the Committee, it was decided that a full time Committee should be appointed for a period of six months. The Committee would meet for a period of six weeks at a time alternately in Delhi and Lahore. It was decided that the Deputy Secretaries in the Ministries of Rehabilitation in India and Pakistan should evolve a simplified procedure for the Committee to follow.

16. Deduction of 50% as Custodian Charges on Sale Proceeds of Evacuee Property by the Former NWFP Government.

The leader of the Pakistan delegation repeated the assurance given at the last meeting and stated that a bank draft for the amount involved would be made available shortly.

17. Transfer of Lockers and Safe Deposits.

The Indian delegation reiterated the Government of India’s views that the release of lockers and safe-deposits should be delinked from the question of transfer of bank accounts. The two issues were the subject matter of two separate agreements. The Pakistan representatives pointed out that the Banking Agreement provided for the simultaneous release of lockers and safe-deposits with the transfer of bank accounts. In this connection, the Pakistan representatives also referred to the provisions of the Banking Agreement regarding the en bloc transfer of bank accounts irrespective of question of realization of assets of the banks in Pakistan and also the transfer of funds from India to Pakistan in certain cases to satisfy these liabilities as provided in the Banking Agreement. The Indian representatives explained that so long as the liabilities of the banks towards the Pakistan nationals could be met from the assets of the banks in Pakistan, there was no need for transferring any further funds from India to Pakistan for this purpose. The Pakistan delegation agreed with this view on the assurance given by the Indian delegation that no restrictions would be imposed on the transfer of funds from India to Pakistan, to the extent necessary, in cases where sufficient liquid assets were not available in Pakistan to enable to banks to discharge the liabilities in question. The Pakistan representatives also agreed that likewise they would permit the banks which have no liability to discharge to Pakistan nationals to take away their assets and records from Pakistan without delay.

18. Referring to the difficulties in implementing the decisions on the Banking Agreement, the Indian delegation particularly emphasized the following:—

(a) Arrange for credit to the Indian Banks of all the cash and liquid resources which may have been admitted to be creditable to them;

(b) amend the evacuee property law or issue a notification to make it clear that banks are to be treated as non-evacuees for purposes of enforcement of their claims and realization of their assets in Pakistan;

(c) issue instructions to their Custodian of Evacuee Property to speed up his decisions on pending claims of the banks, to stop further verification of claims which have already been admitted and not to reopen claims which have once and finally been admitted;

(d) give permission without delay for effecting sale of immovable property owned by banks;

(e) admit without further enquiry claims in respect of which banks have obtained decrees from civil courts; and

(f) permit banks with admitted claims to sell immovable properties mortgaged or chargeable in their favour.

19. Pakistan delegation stated that these points were already covered by the decisions under the Banking Agreement. They would however, review the action so far taken to implement these decisions and ensure that no special restrictions are imposed on those banks who wish to continue to function normally in Pakistan, while the liquidation of other banks would be subject to the normal procedures.
20. In regard to the release of lockers and safe-deposits and the transfer of bank accounts, the following agreed decisions were taken:—

(i) On 1\textsuperscript{st} March 1958, India would supply bank-wise totals of Muslim deposits and the number of accounts to be transferred to Pakistan, while Pakistan would give to India the number of safe-deposits and lockers in respect of the 15 banks for which the lists have not so far been supplied. Similar information will be given by Government of India of lockers and safe deposits from India.

(ii) On the 25\textsuperscript{th} March 1958, the two delegations will meet to exchange the detailed lists of bank accounts and of lockers and safe deposits.

(iii) Meanwhile, Pakistan and India will arrange to collect all lockers and safe-deposits at Lahore and Delhi respectively.

(iv) The leader of the Pakistan delegation gave an assurance on behalf of the Pakistan Government that once the lists of bank accounts and lockers and safe-deposits are exchanged on the 25\textsuperscript{th} March 1958 the two issues would stand delinked. In other words, reconciliation of the discrepancies if any, between the claims made by Pakistan nationals with the accounts received from India and the deficiencies or otherwise of the assets of the banks in Pakistan would be processed independently and would not interfere in any manner with the release and transfer of lockers and safe deposits.

(v) On the 31\textsuperscript{st} March, 1958, the lockers and safe deposits would be handed over to the diplomatic representative of India at Lahore. The Pakistan Government would make suitable arrangements for the safe transport of the lockers and safe deposits from Lahore to the India border. Similar action will be taken by India in respect of lockers and safe deposits to be transferred from Delhi to Pakistan.

(vi) The Deputy Secretaries, Ministries of Rehabilitation of India and Pakistan will meet soon to finalise the detailed arrangements required for the collection, handing over and transport of lockers and safe deposits.

21. \textbf{Issue of Payment Authorities for Contractors' Claims.}

The Indian delegation re-iterated their view that the pre-partition claims of contractors against the Central Government should be paid by either country on a territorial basis. However, in deference to Pakistan's wishes in the matter and to avoid further hardship to the claimants in both the countries, they stated that the Government of Indian would be prepared to issue payment authorities in respect of pre-partition claims of contractors against the Central Government. This would be on the clear understanding that the claims of Indian nationals pending in Pakistan would be settled expeditiously and verification reports, security documents or the payment authorities, as the case may be, would be furnished to the Government of India. In this connection, the Indian delegation further pointed out that according to their information a large number of cases in which security documents have to be released have already been finalized by the various authorities in Pakistan and kept pending at their end. It was urged that in such cases the documents should be released forthwith. This was agreed to by the Pakistan delegation.

22. Payment of Compensation for Reserve Bank of India Shares

The Indian delegation stated that the Government of India had examined the suggestions made by the Pakistan Govt. in their letter of 4th September 1956 and had decided that the promissory notes issued by the Reserve Bank of India as compensation for the shares of the banks held by the Pakistan nationals would be enfaced for payment of principal and interest in Pakistan and payment authorities for the cash amounts would be through the Central Claims Organisation. The Indian delegation also pointed out that under the 1953 agreement it was provided that the question of payment of compensation for Reserve Bank of India shares held by Pakistan nationals would be considered only after the Government of Pakistan had settled the claims of joint stock companies for their properties acquired or allotted by Government or quasi-Government bodies in Pakistan. The Government of India have decided to allow the payment of compensation through the Central Claims Organisation in the expectation that on their side the Pakistan Government would settle the claims of joint stock companies as early as possible. The Pakistan delegation appreciated this position.

23. The Pakistan delegation further stated that out of the lists of about 170 joint stock companies furnished by the Government of India, 78 cases have already been examined by R.C. West Pakistan and the position regarding these and the remaining companies would be intimated to the Government of India early.

24. Claims for Defective and Damaged Currency Notes

The Pakistan delegation stated that the assurance asked for by the Government of India in this matter had just been communicated to them.

25. Buried Treasures

It was agreed to extend the date for buried treasure operations till March 31, 1958.
26. Procedure for the Transfer of Savings Bank Accounts, Postal Certificates etc.

With regards to have verification of the remaining unverified accounts and certificates it was agreed that the verification of further lists should be expedited and that the verified lists should be exchanged at the Directorate level at Delhi from 1st March 1958 onwards.

27. As regards unregistered accounts and postal certificates the Pakistan delegation stated that they just issued a reply to the suggestion made by the D.G. P&T India. The Indian delegation stated that he matter would be examined.

28. For procedure for payment of postal life insurance, the Pakistan delegation stated that the communication containing the views of the Government of India in the matter had been received only a few days ago and that they would expedite the examination of the proposals.

29. Transfer of Govt. of India Securities Purchased Through Post Office Savings Bank Accounts now lying with the Deputy Account General Posts and Telegraph Calcutta.

The Pakistan delegation stated that their Government had already received the Government of India’s reply in the matter. The Government of India had agreed in their letter to:

(a) payment of matured values of Indian securities to the Pakistan depositors

(b) payment of accumulated interest on securities already matured and on current Indian securities and

(c) payment of current interest on current Indian securities

The Pakistan delegation however pointed out that the Government of India’s reply did not cover the question of transfer of current Indian securities. The Indian delegation pointed out that a large number of displaced persons had substantial interest in these securities in as much as their contribution to provident fund was invested by the District Boards etc. in these securities. The Pakistan delegation agreed that they would have no objection to the Government of India retaining in India securities to the extent necessary to meet the claims of such displaced persons, and for this purpose they would supply to the Government of India full particulars of amounts standing to the credit of evacuees from Pakistan and invested in these securities. The Government of India would, on their part, transfer the balance of the securities duly encased for payment of interest and principal in Pakistan.

30. Gold Loan Accounts

The Indian delegation pointed out that in pursuance of the agreement arrived at between the two countries, a press note was issued in August, 1957 in both the countries inviting claimants concerned to approach the banks. They were to exercise the options given to them within a period of three months. It was now necessary to proceed in the matter further and accordingly it was suggested that action may be taken on the following lines:

(i) The lists in respect of each bank showing the full particulars of each account should be supplied. The lists should be classified into:

(a) cases in which the banks concerned had already sold the jewelry.

(b) cases in which the claimants concerned had asked for return of the jewelry, and

(c) cases in which no claims had been filed for redemption.

They also desired that pending preparation of the lists, if they had not already been compiled, instructions may be issued for handing over all the surplus sale proceeds to the Deputy High Commissioner of India at Lahore in cases where jewelry had already been sold and for the sale of jewellery in the manner already agreed upon in cases where claimants had not exercised the option of redemption. These suggestions were accepted by the Pakistan delegation.

It was pointed out on behalf of India that they are still to receive nearly 6,300 revenue records from Pakistan; while they had handed over all the revenue records so far asked for by Pakistan. Pakistan promised to hand over the remaining records at an early date. It was decided that the records which were ready should be handed over at Lahore on 8th March, 1958. As regards the settlement reports of Bahawalpur, Pakistan representatives stated that spare copies of the reports were not available. They would, however, make further attempts to obtain printed copies and hand them over to India. It was also suggested by them that an Indian representative should visit Lahore to look into the settlement reports available there so that Pakistan could supply the relevant extracts needed by India.

32. The Pakistan delegation stated that they wanted revenue records of another, 4,700 villages of which a list was supplied by them. They also stated that they were experiencing difficulty in verifying claims relating to certain areas about which India had stated that no records were available. India also promised to supply revenue records wherever available. They also promised to help Pakistan by making local enquiries from areas of which no record was available, if Pakistan furnished a list showing the detailed information wanted by them. They suggested that it would be better if a Pakistan representative visited Delhi and discussed the requirements further. He could also visit the local areas to see what information could be collected. Pakistan accepted the suggestion. They also accepted the suggestion that a comparison of the records relating to undivided provinces should be made at Wagha as is being done in the case of revenue records exchanged between the two Punjabs.
33. Court Deposits

Press notes had been issued by both the countries inviting claims for deposits left in Criminal Courts. It was decided that the claims received by each Government should be forwarded to the other immediately for verification etc.

34. It was also decided that further lists of court deposits covered by the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act and extract of records relating to the deposits should be exchanged at Delhi on the 25th & 26th March 1958.

35. As to the transfer of such deposits it was decided that in the case of cash deposits with the courts in the Centrally administered areas each country should make necessary payment to its own nationals for cash deposits in the courts in the undivided provinces, payment authority should be issued by the Government concerned and passed on to the other in accordance with the arrangements applicable to claims process through the Central Claims Organisation. As for cash deposits in the courts in undivided Punjab, it was suggested by the Indian delegation that as the existing arrangements between the Punjab (Pakistan) and Punjab (India) for the settlement of pre-partition claims were not functioning satisfactorily, payment authorities should be issued as in the case of such deposits made in the undivided provinces. The Pakistan delegation was of the view that in such cases payment authorities should not be issued and payment should be made in accordance with the existing arrangements between the two Punjabs. They, however, promised to examine the matter in consultation with the West Pakistan Government.

36. Where the deposits are in the form of postal certificates and Savings Bank accounts and Govt. securities, it was decided that they should be endorsed either by the courts concerned or the Custodian of Deposits in favour of their opposite number in the other country and physically transferred. This will apply to such deposits in court in all areas. In this connection the India delegation pointed out that out of the list of claims so far handed over by the Pakistan Government, securities of the value of 8.76 lakhs were in the form of Government of Pakistan securities. It was agreed that Pakistan would re-convert these into Government of India securities and transfer them to India. The Indian delegation made it clear that they agreed to this as a very special case on the distinct understanding that this arrangement would not become a precedent for the settlement of other financial issues between the two countries. It was also agreed that the question of transfer of deposits which are now in the form of Pakistan postal certificates will be examined separately.

37. Court deposits in the form of bank accounts will be dealt with in terms of the Banking Agreement after their release by the Courts or the Custodians of Deposits as the case may be.
38. It was further decided that the physical exchange of security documents, postal certificates, valuables, payment authorities etc. should take place on the 15th of April, 1958.

39. Pakistan promised to furnish a statement showing the cash amounts in the 63 cases relating to courts of wards and the Manager Encumbered Estates, Hyderabad (Sind) a list of which was handed over at Lahore, at the next exchange of lists which is to take place on the 25th and 26th March in Delhi.

40. Decrees Obtained by the Collector, Montgomery Against the Punjab National Bank Ltd. And the Status of the Bank

The Indian delegation stated that it has been brought to their notice that despite the provision in the Banking Agreement and the agreed decisions relating thereto that displaced banks should not be treated as evacuee concerns, su moto proceedings have again been instituted against the Punjab National Bank by the Custodian at Lahore. As a result of these proceedings the bank has been handicapped in a number of ways e.g. recovery of loan and advances to Pakistan nationals. The Pakistan delegation assured the Indian delegation that there was no intention whatsoever to take evacuee property proceedings against the displaced banks. This intention of the Pakistan Government has been made amply clear in the Press Note issued by them in 1957. They further stated that the proceedings referred to do not obviously relate to the question of the status of the bank, but may be in connection with other matters. The leader of the Pakistan delegation stated that the Deputy Secretary of this Ministry would be directed to look into this matter personally at Lahore. Thereafter, such action, as is necessary, would be taken.

41. The Pakistan delegation observed that the trouble with the Punjab National Bank has been that it has not been cooperating with the Custodians and other authorities concerned. They suggested that Government of India might advise the bank to be more cooperative. The Indian delegation states that necessary action in the matter would be taken.

42. As for decrees obtained by the Collector, Montgomery against the Punjab National Bank, the Indian delegation pointed out that the bank was not in a position to satisfy the decrees pending realization of its assets in Pakistan. The Pakistan representatives mentioned that assets amounting to nearly 16 lakhs of the bank had been realized and were lying with the State Bank of Pakistan and they were willing to release this for the satisfaction of the decrees of the Collector, Montgomery. They further pointed out that the decrees in question amounted to about Rs.17 lakhs out of which Rs.8 lakhs belong to non-evacuees. It was decided that the Pakistan Government would look into the procedure for refund of the money by the Collector, Montgomery to the depositors and let the Government of India know of the action proposed to be taken.
43. In cases where no specific dates have been prescribed enquiries agreed to by both the Governments would be completed within a period of three months.

44. Next meeting of the Implementation Committee will be held at Delhi on 25\textsuperscript{th} and 26\textsuperscript{th} of March, 1958.

8. Mr. P.G. Zacharia, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.
9. Mr. M.L. Batra, Under Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs.
10. Mr. H.N. Vibhakar,
First Secretary, Indian High Commission in Pakistan.

There was some discussion with regard to the definition of the term “selected areas” in the Pant – Mirza Agreement. The Indian Delegation urged that the “selected areas” should refer only to those parts of India from which there has been a large scale migration of Muslims to Pakistan. It was for this reason that they had suggested that “selected areas” should be only Punjab, Bharatpur and Alwar. The Pakistan Delegation pressed that the term should cover also in addition to Punjab, Alwar and Bharatpur, U.P., Bihar and Delhi in view of the fact that there has been large scale exodus from Delhi to the extent of about 80 per cent and that the Muslims left in U.P. and Bihar are not in a position to look after their shrines there. To resolve this difficulty, the Indian Delegation suggested that the number of important shrines, which should be made the special responsibility of the respective Governments, should be limited to an agreed figure. After further discussion it was agreed that the tentative figure for this purpose may be about 200 shrines in each country. It was clearly understood that this number of 200 was not a fixed one but only a tentative one which may have to be revised at the time of the finalization of the lists of the two countries.

2. In view of the above decision, it was not considered necessary to pursue further the interpretation of the term “selected areas” used in the Pant – Mirza Agreement of 1955.

3. It was agreed that each Government will be responsible for the preparation of the final list of the holy places in the other country which would be placed under the special care of the other Government. Each country would, however, furnish the other country with lists of shrines in its own territory for purposes of check and comparison. The final list of the holy places in the two countries will be agreed to by the Governments of the two countries for purposes of this agreement.

4. It was agreed that the preparation of the list should be completed without undue delay. For this purpose a time – limit of 3 months was considered feasible.

5. The Indian Delegation then suggested certain other problems arising out of the Agreement which will have to be considered at subsequent meetings of the Joint Committee. These points were:-

(a) It was suggested that all income of the shrines in each country should be pooled together and kept in a separate account. The funds in this account should be devoted for the purpose of maintenance and repairs of the holy places;

(b) Each country would agree to the other country sending Khadims, Sewadars, Pujaris, etc. in required numbers at the holy places in other country to look after the shrines. Their pay and other costs will also have to be met from the pooled account mentioned above.
(c) The funds of the account will also have to be devoted for the purpose of feeding and looking after sponsored pilgrim parties which may visit the holy places and shrines at the time of customary occasions of pilgrimages.

(d) The Committee would also have to devote its attention to the consideration of liberalization of travel and other facilities to pilgrims and pilgrim parties to the holy places in the two countries.

The Indian delegation extended a cordial invitation to the Pakistan Delegation to come to Delhi as soon as it may be possible and convenient to them to continue discussions on the points still outstanding. The Indian Delegation hoped that the Pakistan Delegation would be able to come to Delhi for the next meeting in March, 1958.

Restoration of Property Included in Exchanged Lists

1. The Indian delegation pointed out that no movables had been restored since the last meeting of the Implementation Committee and their Property Field officers were still experiencing difficulty in obtaining release of these movables. They specifically pointed out that, property included in lists IV and V was not being released by the Rehabilitation or Custodian authorities in West Pakistan. They stated that the Additional Custodian of Evacuee Property at Peshawar and the D.R.O. Multan had informed them that they had not received any instructions from the Pakistan Ministry of Rehabilitation for release of property included in the aforesaid lists. The Pakistan delegation stated that they had issued necessary instructions in the matter. They suggested that specific cases in which there had been difficulty in obtaining release should be brought to the notice of the Secretary, Pakistan Ministry of Rehabilitation who would look into them. It was agreed that Secretary, Urban to the Rehabilitation Commissioner West Pakistan, and the Additional Custodian, Karachi would prepare a programme by the 5th May, 1958 in consultation with the Property Field Officers of India at Lahore and Karachi respectively for the handing over of property not released so far. The Property Field Officers would then contact the District authorities on the dates laid down for obtaining the property. It was decided that the whole work should be completed within a period of three months.

Restoration of Moveable Property not included in the Exchanged Lists.

2. India pointed out that though they had already given a list of 3,040 cases replies had only been received in 128 cases. They stated that in 768 cases documentary evidence had been supplied in support of the claims. The Pakistan delegation promised to give priority and to complete enquiries in these 768 cases, within a period of four months. Enquiries in the remaining cases would also be expedited. On their side India promised to complete enquiries in all the cases referred to them by the Pakistan Government within four months.

3. It was pointed out by Pakistan delegation that certain third party claims had been shown against trade goods and merchandise and these claims related to income-tax. They felt that income-tax should not be deducted from sale proceeds of evacuee’s movable properties. The Indian delegation pointed out that actually it was the Pakistan Government who had insisted on the recovery of income-tax as third party claims from the sale proceeds of such properties and if they were prepared to reconsider their earlier views, India would be willing to reciprocate in the matter. The Pakistan delegation agreed to examine the matter.

4. The Indian delegation pointed out that the Government of Pakistan had not so far restored property or handed over cheques in any of the 37 cases a list of which has already been provided in which the Pakistan authorities had intimated that the properties or sale proceeds would be included in the appropriate lists. It was further pointed out that it was agreed at the last meeting that in such cases, property wherever available, would be restored forthwith and where such property, had been sold, bank drafts for the sale proceeds would be furnished within a period of three months. Pakistan delegation agreed to take necessary action in this behalf expeditiously and to hand over the property/sale proceeds to the Deputy High Commissioner for India at Lahore.

5. As regards goods lying with the Clearing Agents, Pakistan delegation stated that the matter was still under enquiry. It was mentioned that in some cases the Clearing Agents had admitted that the goods were available with them and though the matter had been taken up by the Property Field Officer, Karachi, with the Custodian, the goods had not been released. The leader of the Pakistan delegation desired that such cases should be brought to his notice and he would see that necessary action is taken.

6. India promised to furnish a reply within fortnight, about the 42 cases of Railway consignments referred to them. Pakistan delegation stated that they had completed enquiries in 99 out of 1352 cases referred to them and had sent a reply to the Government of India. They stated that in 8 cases they had been able to ascertain that the property had been taken over by the Provincial authorities from whom compensation had been asked for. It will be passed on to India when received. They promised to complete enquiries in the remaining cases within a period of 3 months.

7. Pakistan delegation promised to complete enquiries by the end of July, 1958 in the 329 cases referred to them in March 1950, regarding jewellery and other valuables taken over from evacuees by the former Khairpur State. They also stated that some persons formerly belonging to PEPSU had approached them about their jewelry left there but whose names had not been included in the lists given by India. The Indian delegation requested then to furnish a list of such cases and promised to enquire into them.

8. Regarding the cases of insured letters referred to them, India promised to send a reply by the end of May 1958.

9. As regards removal of personal and household effects left with friends and relations, it was agreed that export of only those properties may be allowed (a) Which had been retrieved before 31.12.1957 and in respect of which luggage certificates had been issued but which had not been dispatched by that date, and
(b) Cases in respect of which lists had been exchanged by the Liaison Officers or in respect of which the two Governments were in correspondence.
Procedure for Payment of Dividends on Shares of Joint Stock Companies and the Amount due on Account of Insurance Policies.

10. India pointed out that the procedure for the remittance of dividends adopted by the State Bank-of Pakistan was not as simple and automatic as that laid down by the Reserve Bank of India in that permission of the State Bank of Pakistan has still to be obtained in Pakistan by every company every time it has to remit dividends to non-resident share-holders. The Pakistan delegation observed that the foreign exchange position of Pakistan was not quite comfortable and a certain measure of control with a view to having a proper estimate of foreign exchange requirements was necessary. Nevertheless they would examine the position further to see if the procedure in this respect in both the countries could not be made uniform.

11. The Indian delegation referred to the case of Sind Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd. which had amended its bye-laws whereby members living outside the area of its operation censed to be members of the bank; and were not entitled to any dividends. They also raised the case of Australasia Bank of Lahore, which had laid down in its bye-laws that the Dividends which remained undrawn for more than a year would be forfeited. The Pakistan delegation agreed to examine these cases. They also agreed to furnish a reply in the case of Shri Sunder Singh Dhir, whose shares in Transport Co. Ltd. Rawalpindi had been allotted to refugees in Pakistan, although the Company was a non-evacuee concern.

12. The Pakistan delegation stated that insurance claims were not being paid to the successors of deceased insurants in Pakistan as the Indian Companies insisted that they should produce succession certificates from courts in India. They wanted that whatever facilities were available to evacuees under the Moveable Property Agreement should be extended to their heirs after the death of the evacuees. It was decided that both the Governments should examine the matter again with a view to evolving a suitable procedure for getting over this difficulty on a reciprocal basis.

Removal of Restrictions on Payment of Accumulated Dividends on Shares and Securities in Deposit with Banks in India.

13. The Indian delegation stated that this matter was still under examination and a reply would be sent shortly,

Joint Committee

14. It was agreed that the Joint Committee should start functioning from the 1st June, 1958 and hold its first meeting at Lahore. Each Government would inform the other Government about the name of its representative on the Committee by 15th May, 1958, Deduction of 50% as Custodian Charges on Sale Proceeds of ‘Evacuee Movable Property by the former. N.W. F.P. Government.

15. The Pakistan delegation stated that the West Pakistan Government had agreed to give a cheque for this amount which would be handed over to the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan at Lahore, by the 15th May, 1950.

Issue of Payment Authorities for Contractors’ Claims and Payment of Compensation for Reserve Bank of India Shares.

16. The Indian delegation stated that necessary instructions would be issued within a fortnight.

Claims for Damaged and Defective Currency Notes.

17. The Indian delegation stated that necessary instructions would be issued to the Reserve Bank of India within fortnight.

Buried Treasure

18. It was agreed to extend the date for buried treasure operations till the 31st May, 1958, whereafter no further extension would be made. It was, however, decided that full facilities would be given for export to the other country of all properties retrieved by that date.

Procedure for the Transfer of Saving Bank Accounts, Postal Certificates etc.

19. With regard to the verification of the remaining accounts and certificates, the Indian delegation stated that necessary instructions had already been issued to the Postal authorities in India incorporating the suggestions made by the Director General, Posts and Telegraphs Pakistan in his letter No.F2-7/56 dated 10th January, 1958. A copy of the instructions which, had already been sent to Pakistan was again handed over to the Pakistan delegation for necessary action. It was also decided that the Pakistan Government will depute an officer to start the exchange of verified lists at Delhi from the 1st of July, 1958.

20. As regards unregistered accounts and postal certificates, the Indian delegation stated that the problem could be divided into two parts:-

(a) Accounts opened and certificates purchased before 15th August 1947, and

(b) those relating to post-partition periods. With regard to (a), it was agreed that a further period of six months may be allowed from 15th May, to 14th November, 1958 for the registration of such claims. The two Governments would issue a Press Note to this effect on 1st May, 1958. These accounts will be adjusted through the Settlement Accounts.

Regarding (b), it was agreed in principle that these accounts and certificates should also be allowed to be transferred to the country in which the owner is now residing. The transfer will however, take place up to an agreed date. The Pakistan delegation suggested that adjustment of those accounts and certificates should be made through the Settlement Account. The Indian delegation, however, was of the view, that the settlement of these accounts and certificates should be made on a cash basis. It was agreed that this question might be taken up after the general question of the scope of the Indo-Pakistan Settlement Account in regard to post-partition transactions has been considered at the Finance Ministers’ Conference to be held shortly.

21. As regards Postal Life Insurance Policies, the procedure suggested by the Government of India in their letter No, F.78-4/55-LI, dated the 10th October, 1957, was agreed to subject to the following amendments:—

(a) policies assigned to corporate bodies will be re-assigned through the agency of the Director General Posts & Telegraphs instead of the Central Claims Organisation.

(b) with regard to policies which may lapse hereafter due to the default of the insurant to pay the premium on the specified dates and which the insurant wishes to revive, India will recover penal interest @ 6% in the case of policies which are the liability of Pakistan and Pakistan will recover penal interest @ 8% in the case of policies which are the liability of India.

(c) The settlement of accounts to between the two countries would be made through the Indo-Pakistan Settlement Accounts as and when payments are made or credits are received.

These arrangements would apply only to policies whose holders had migrated to the other country by 30.6.1955.

Transfer of Government of India Securities Purchased through Post Office Saving Bank Account now lying with the Deputy Accountant General, Posts & Telegraphs, Calcutta.

22. The Pakistan delegation agreed to supply full particulars of amounts standing to the credit of evacuees from Pakistan and invested in these securities within a period of two months. It was agreed that the credit for interest, if any, already realized by the Deputy Accountant General, Posts & Telegraphs, on these securities would be afforded to Pakistan through the Settlement Account.
Court Deposits

23. It was agreed that the Ministry of Rehabilitation on either side would take steps to have claims in respect of deposits made by the evacuee in criminal courts verified at an early date.

24. It was also agreed that further lists of court deposits covered by the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act may be exchanged at Lahore on the 10th June, 1958. As for the records pertaining to deposits included in the exchanged lists, it was agreed that in cases where courts had passed final orders, copies thereof will be passed on to the Custodian of Deposits of the other country and where such orders had not been passed, the entire record relating to the case would be transferred. Regarding cases covered by section 5 of the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act, the Indian delegation pointed out that the records were in various regional languages. The Custodian of Deposits (India) therefore called for a summary of the case from the court concerned and it should meet the requirements of the other country if a duly attested summary is passed on to it. It was agreed that in such cases an authenticated copy of the summary may be sent instead of the entire record of the case.

25. The Indian delegation again pressed that in regard to the transfer of court deposits made in undivided Punjab, the same procedure for payment should be followed as in the case of deposits made in undivided Provinces. The Pakistan delegation stated that the proposal would be considered by the Implementation Committee of the two Punjabs at their forth-coming meeting. The Pakistan Government would communicate their final decision in the matter after this meeting.

26. It was agreed that physical exchange of security documents, postal certificates, valuables, payment authorities, etc, by the Custodians of Deposits should take place on 15th May, 1958, at Lahore.

27. As for the statement showing the each amounts in the 63 cases relating to Courts of Wards and the Manager, Encumbered Estates, Hyderabad (Sind), the Pakistan delegation stated that they had not been able to bring this statement with them but would furnish it at Lahore on 15th May, 1958.

28. It was also agreed that a Press Note should be issued by the 1st of May, 1958, fixing 31st July, 1958, as the date for the filing of claims under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act. No claims will be entertained thereafter. All claims received up to that date would be transmitted to the other country by the end of September, 1958.

Declaration of Displaced Banks as Non Evacuee Concerns

29. The Indian delegation stated that according to paragraph 40 of the minutes of the last Meeting, the Pakistan delegation had given an assurance that there was no intention whatsoever to take evacuee property proceedings against displaced banks and that this had been made clear in the Press Note issued by them in 1957. It appeared, however, that the displaced banks had not so far been given non evacuee status by the Custodians and were consequently experiencing considerable difficulties in releasing their dues. The Pakistan Delegation stated that the Banking Agreement and the agreed decisions referred only to the grant of facilities of non-evacuees for purposes of realization of the displaced banks assets in Pakistan and not to the conferment of non-evacuee status on these displaced banks.

30. The Indian delegation stated that the aforesaid Agreement and the subsequent assurances given by Pakistan Government left no room for any doubt that the displaced banks would be declared as non-evacuees. The Indian delegation accordingly reiterated the suggestion made in paragraph 18(b) of the minutes of the January 1958 meeting asking the Pakistan Government to amend the evacuee property law or issue a notification to make it clear that the displaced banks are to be treated as non-evacuees for purposes of enforcement of their claims and realisation of their assets in Pakistan. Unless this is done, the Indian delegation felt, the implementation of the Banking Agreement would become impossible. The Pakistan delegation stated that they would put the point of view of the Indian delegation to their Government.

Decrees obtained by the Collector, Montgomery against the Punjab National Bank Ltd.

31. The Pakistan delegation stated that the difficulties being experienced by the Punjab National Bank in the recovery of loans and advances to Pakistan nationals were examined by the Deputy Secretary of their Rehabilitation Ministry and found to be greatly exaggerated. In their view, the difficulties cropped up because of the non-cooperative attitude of the Bank and devious methods adopted by it. The Indian delegation suggested that the Pakistan Government should inform the Bank of the lapses on its part and the remedial measures which the Bank should adopt. They also pointed out that the Bank had already addressed a letter to the Pakistan Government in February, 1958 stating that the Bank was complying with all the directions given to it and was prepared to carry out whatever further directions are issued by the Pakistan Government. The Pakistan delegation agreed to appraise the Bank of the action required to be taken by it.

32. As for the decrees obtained by the Collector, Montgomery against this Bank, the Pakistan delegation stated that the West Pakistan Government were examining the question of refund of the money deposited by the Collectors to the evacuees and on hearing from then, the Pakistan Government would advise the Government of India.
Transfer of Lockers and Safe Deposits.

33. The Indian delegation stated that they had already collected at Delhi all the evacuee lockers and safe deposits transferable to Pakistan. The progress of sealing and collection at Lahore of safe deposits/lockers in West Pakistan, was, however, far behind Schedule. The work of opening the lockers had not yet been started. It was agreed that Pakistan Govt. would expedite the sealing of safe deposits and lockers by putting one or more officers on the job, so that the entire work is finished by 15th May, 1958. The sealed safe deposits and lockers lying at outstations would also be brought to Lahore by that date.

34. The Indian delegation also stated that a number of objections had been raised by the Custodian’s representative during the course of the sealing of the safe deposits at Lahore. It was agreed that a list of the objections would be given to the Deputy Secretary, Rehabilitation Ministry, Pakistan, who would look into the matter on his return to Lahore. Thereafter a meeting will be held between the Deputy Secretaries of the Ministries of Rehabilitation of the two countries towards the end of April to discuss the outstanding points.

35. As regards third party claims against safe deposits/lockers, the Pakistan delegation agreed to supply the lists of such claims by 31st May, 1958. It was reiterated that only those claims would be included in these lists which were directly related to the contents of the safe deposits and lockers and which had been filed by the end of November, 1955. It was also agreed that if no lists were supplied by 31st May 1958, it would be presumed that there are no third party claim against safe deposits and lockers.

36. The Indian delegation stated that they had to issue a Press Note and advertisements inviting the lockers holders to send to the Ministry of Rehabilitation keys or intimations whether they would like to have their lockers opened. So far about 300 locker-holders have sent keys or intimations. They therefore proposed to open only those lockers for which keys or intimations had been received.

37. The Pakistan delegation stated that this was a new situation and raised the question of bank charges in regard to safe deposits and lockers. The Indian delegation stated that they could be called upon to pay only the charges in respect of safe deposits and lockers which they actually opened. Further, since the owners of safe deposits and lockers were denied access to their safe deposits/lockers for reasons beyond their control, they would like the banks to waive the rental charges for the post-partition period. The Pakistan delegation stated that the banks may demand the charges for the lockers, which are not required to be opened, from the Custodian under whose orders these lockers remained sealed for all this period; and in any case they were not likely to agree to waive any portion of the charges for the safe deposits and lockers actually opened. It was agreed that the two Governments would try to persuade the banks concerned to forego their charges for the unopened lockers and not to levy any rental charges for the post-partition period in respect of safe deposits and lockers which are opened. It was further agreed that the Deputy Secretaries of the Ministries of Rehabilitation of the two countries would meet at Lahore on 15th May, 1958 and discuss the question of charges in the light of the replies of the Banks and report to their respective Governments.

38. It was agreed that safe deposits and lockers would be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at Lahore & Delhi respectively, on 5th June, 1958.

39. In view of the discrepancies and omissions noticed by Pakistan in the lists of Bank accounts of en bloc areas received from India and the difficulties they apprehended in the banks capacity to meet these liabilities without transfer of funds from India, the Pakistan delegation suggested that the delinking of the two issues provided in paragraph 20(iv) of the minutes of the last meeting should be reconsidered. The Indian delegation pointed out that in the last meeting the Pakistan delegation had given an assurance on, behalf of the Pakistan Government that once the lists of bank accounts and lockers and safe deposits are exchanged the two issues would stand delinked. It was on the basis of this assurance that the Indian Government had supplied the lists of bank accounts in en bloc areas to the Pakistan Government, which had not been previously supplied.

40. In regard to the discrepancies and omissions in accounts, the Indian delegation assured that they would examine the position on receipt of the necessary particulars from the Pakistan Government. Similarly, the Pakistan Government would also examine the discrepancies and omissions in the accounts received from Pakistan for which necessary particulars will be made available by India to them. The Indian delegation also reiterated the assurance, given at the last meeting, that no restrictions would be imposed on the transfer of funds from India to Pakistan, to the extent necessary, in cases where sufficient liquid assets were not available in Pakistan to enable the banks to discharge the liabilities created by the transfer of bank accounts in the en bloc areas. In this regard the Indian delegation gave a further assurance on behalf of the Government of India that funds would be transferred to the extent required. They also clarified that this assurance would apply to both the displaced banks and the Indian banks functioning in Pakistan.

41. In view of the clarifications given above, the two delegations agreed that the position as provided in paragraph 20(iv) of the minutes of the last meeting of the Implementation Committee stands and action as agreed will continue for the transfer of bank accounts, lockers and safe deposits from one country to the other.
Gold Loan Accounts

42. The Indian delegation stated that in accordance with the decisions taken at the last meeting of the Implementation Committee, Pakistan is to supply lists in respect of each bank showing full particular is of each gold loan account. The lists were to be classified into:-

(a) cases in which the banks concerned had already sold the jewellery;
(b) cases in which the claimant concerned had asked for the return of the jewellery end
(c) cases in which no claims had been filed for redemption

The Pakistan delegation promised to furnish the lists by 15th July, 1958. A list of 165 people who had approached the Indian Ministry of Rehabilitation regarding their gold loan accounts left in banks in West Pakistan was also handed over to the Pakistan delegation for necessary enquiries.

43. The Indian delegation also pointed out that a list of 21 cases, in which the gold-loan accounts had been adjusted by the State Bank of India and there was surplus jewellery in the accounts, was handed over by the Pakistan representatives to the Indian representatives at Lahore in March, 1958. They suggested that the surplus jewellery in these cases should be handed over to the Deputy High Commissioner for India at Lahore immediately. The Pakistan Government agreed to issue necessary instructions in the matter.

Exchange of Revenue Records

44. The Indian delegation pointed out that as against the 4944 jamabandis that were outstanding from Pakistan at the time of the last meeting of the Implementation Committee only 289 had been supplied in March, 1958. The Pakistan delegation stated that they were making efforts to secure the rest of the jamabandis at the earliest and they would be handed over to India as soon as they were received for the various provincial authorities. On their side, the Indian delegation agreed to supply the jamabandis or other records required by Pakistan, wherever available, in respect of villages in Bharatpur, Alwar, Bikaner, Delhi and the non-agreed areas. They requested the Pakistan Government to send their representative to Delhi so that he could look into these records and get copies.

45. The Pakistan delegation stated that enquiries into the cases of 170 Joint Stock Companies referred, by the Government of India were still in progress. The Indian delegation pointed out that they were told at the first meeting of the Implementation Committee that 78 cases had already been examined by the Rehabilitation Commissioner, West Pakistan and the position regarding those cases would be intimated to the Government of India shortly. They stated that no information had been supplied to them so far. The Pakistan delegation stated that certain discrepancies were found even in those cases and they were being looked into. They promised to have these cases examined expeditiously and to communicate the results to the Government of India. It was suggested that as soon as some cases were finalized, the results would be communicated to the Government of India instead of waiting for the finalization of all the cases. This suggestion was accepted by the Pakistan delegation.

Exchange of Supplementary Lists, Bank Drafts and Fire Arms

46. It was decided that further supplementary lists and bank drafts should be exchanged at Lahore on 18th June, 1958. It was also decided that fire arms already included in the lists or in respect of which commitments had been made by their Governments should be exchanged on 17th June, 1958 at Lahore and Jullundur respectively.

47. The next meeting of the Implementation Committee would be held at Lahore on 16th and 17th July, 1958.

3241. Joint Press Communiqué issued by the Governments of India and Pakistan on the Implementation of the Moveable Properties Agreement.

New Delhi, April 21, 1958.

The fourth meeting of the Implementation Committee, set up under the Moveable Property Agreement between India and Pakistan, was held at New Delhi on 16 and 17 April 1958.

The Committee reviewed the progress made in the implementation of the Agreement and discussed measures to expedite completion of the remaining work, so that relief could be afforded to the affected persons on both sides.

Both the governments would ensure immediate restoration of moveable property in respect of which lists have already been exchanged.
They would also complete, within a period of four months, enquiries into cases, in which documentary evidence has been supplied by the displaced persons in support of their claims.

Further exchange of fire arms of displaced persons will be held on 17 June 1958.

Supplementary lists of moveable property, bank drafts for sale proceeds and further lists of evacuee court deposits will be exchanged at Lahore on 18 June 1958.

The exchange of security documents, postal certificates, valuables and payment authorities, etc. relating to court deposits, whose lists have already been exchanged, will take place at Lahore on 15 May 1958.

It has been decided to fix 31 July 1958 as the final date for the filing of claims under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act. No claims will be entertained thereafter.

The Joint Committee which will look into the third party claims against moveable property and assess the compensation payable for moveable properties allotted or acquired will start functioning from 1 June 1958.

This committee would meet alternately in India and Pakistan and is expected to complete its work within a period of six months.

The date for the buried treasure operations has been extended up to 31 May 1958.

There would be no further extension after this date.

Displaced persons who had opened postal accounts or purchased certificates before 15 August 1947, but did not register their claims by the prescribed dates, will be allowed to register their claims.

For this purpose, a period of six months will be given from 15 May onwards.

Arrangements for settlement of postal life insurance claims have also been agreed upon.

The sealing of safe deposits and lockers belonging to displaced persons which has already been started by the two Governments will be completed by 15 May 1958.

Lockers and safe deposits would be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country at Lahore and Delhi, respectively on 5 June 1958.
It has also been agreed that funds will be transferred from India to Pakistan, to the extent necessary, in cases where sufficient liquid assets are not available in Pakistan to enable the banks to discharge the liabilities created by the transfer of Muslim bank accounts in the en bloc areas.

The other decisions cover arrangements for the exchange of revenue records, gold loan accounts and claims of joint stock companies for payment of compensation.

3242. Letter from Pakistan Prime Minister Firoz Khan Noon to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.
Karachi (May 1958. The letter is not dated)
No. F. 8(3)/58 - PI.
My dear Prime Minister,

The Pakistan delegation to the Implementation Committee set up under the Movable property Agreement has submitted to me its report of the deliberations of the meeting held at Delhi on the 16th and 17th April, 1958. I am glad to find that substantial progress has been made in the matter of implementing the various decisions under the Agreement. The most important item as you know is the release of lockers and safe deposits from one side and transfer of bank accounts from the other. I believe this matter must have been brought to your personal notice by Mian Ziauddin. The two issues were previously linked, but they were de-linked at the 3rd meeting of the Implementation Committee held in January, 1958, in deference to the wishes of the Indian delegation.

2. You would readily agree the matter is essentially one which concerns the displaced persons on both sides. The two Governments are no more than an agency to help the displaced persons to get what is due to them and of which they have been deprived for no fault of theirs for the last ten years. I can give you my assurance on behalf of the Government of Pakistan that there is no intention whatsoever of retaining the lockers and safe deposits which belong to the displaced persons in India. I have no doubt in my mind that you have full sympathy for the displaced persons on this side and that you will be able to give me a similar assurance in respect of the release of bank accounts of Muslims in India, It is possible that you may have to consult the banks before giving the assurance. I shall be grateful if you could take steps to make certain that the banks will transfer the accounts with necessary funds from India to Pakistan. and that this issue will not be linked with any outstanding financial adjustments between the two countries.

3. This matter has been pending for quite some time and the officials who have been negotiating in this matter have not so far been able to resolve it satisfactorily. I therefore thought that it might be more profitable to take up this matter directly with you so that relief may be provided to people on both sides. It may perhaps be possible for Government of India to pay this amount and then recover it from the banks.

4. As soon as I hear from you that there will be no difficulty in the transfer of batik accounts of Muslims from India to Pakistan, I shall issue instructions to my officers to go ahead with the release of lockers and safe deposits.

Yours sincerely

(Firoz Khan Noon)

The Hon'ble Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru,
Prime Minister of India,
New Delhi.

3243. Letter from Rehabilitation Minister Mehr Chand Khanna to Pakistan Prime Minister Firoz Khan Noon.

My dear Prime Minister,

My Prime Minister has forwarded to me your letter No. F.8(3)/58-PI without date regarding the transfer of lockers, safe deposits and bank accounts between India and Pakistan, for sending a reply as he was going out of Delhi for some time.

2. I appreciate your assurance that the Pakistan Government has no intention whatsoever of retaining the lockers and safe deposits which belong to the displaced persons in India. I have no hesitation in reciprocating this assurance in regard to the transfer of lockers and safe deposit and the bank accounts of evacuee from India. This assurance was given by the Indian delegation at the last meeting of the Implementation Committee in the following terms:-

The Indian delegation also reiterated the assurance given at the last meeting that no restrictions would be imposed on the transfer of funds from India to Pakistan, to the extent necessary, in cases where sufficient liquid assets were not available in Pakistan to enable the banks to discharge the liabilities created by the transfer of bank accounts in the en bloc areas. In this regard the Indian delegation gave a further assurance on behalf of the Government of India that funds would be transferred to the extent required. They also clarified that this assurance would apply to both the displaced banks and the Indian banks functioning in Pakistan.

We stand by that assurance.

3. In the light of the assurance given at the last meeting of the Implementation Committee which was accepted by the Pakistan delegation as satisfactory after consulting you on the telephone, I have not been able to understand the difficulty in regard to the matter. If there is anything in which we have not observed the assurance in letter and spirit, kindly let me know and we will certainly take remedial steps.

Yours sincerely

(Mehr Chand Khanna)

The Hon’ble
Mr. Firoz Khan Noon,
Prime Minister of Pakistan,
Karachi.
to meet an extraordinary situation should be suspended in the two countries. We were then hoping for an overall settlement of the problem of evacuee property but no agreement could be reached on the question of immovable property. We, however, decided to do away with the Evacuee Property Law and relaxed several of its provisions in May, 1954. Thereafter the Law was abrogated by enactment of necessary legislation in October 1954 and it ceased to operate in regard to cases where the cause of action arose on or after the 7th May, 1954. It was further provided that no proceedings for declaring any property as evacuee property would be initiated after April 7, 1955.

2. The changes in our legislation were brought to the notice of the Government of Pakistan; we expected that since the idea originated from them, they would also abrogate their Law. No action was, however, taken by them for a long time. In November 1956, they issued an Ordinance (later converted into an Act) which provided inter alia that no person or property not treated as evacuee or evacuee property immediately before the 1st day of January 1957, shall be treated as evacuee or evacuee property, as the case may be, on or after that date. The word “treated”, it appears, was purposely left vague and rendered the objective of the amendment rather illusory as there was no provision in the Pakistan Laws for a formal order of declaration of property as an evacuee property and it was left open to the Custodians to demand possession of any property on the pretext that it had all along been treated as evacuee property. Besides, in anticipation of the contemplated changes in their Law, the Pakistan Government had issued a large number of notices asking the few remaining Hindus residing in that country to show cause why their properties should not be declared as evacuee. The so called abrogation of their Law did not prevent the Custodians from taking action in all these cases. However, those persons whose properties had been held to be non-evacuee by the Custodians/Central Government got some relief as no fresh proceedings could be started against them.

3. We have been informed by our Mission at Karachi that the Government of Pakistan found that despite the issue of the large number of notices, some 25 properties owned by Hindus each worth Rs.10 lacs and over, were still left over and action for declaring them as evacuee property could not be taken in view of the changes made by them in their Law. Besides, they felt that in some previous cases evacuee properties had been declared as non-evacuee without sufficient justification. They, therefore, passed on September 8, 1958, an Amending Act (copy attached) which, as shown in the statement of 'Objects and Reasons' to their Bill, imposes a ban on declaration of evacuee property as non-evacuee in future and provides for a review of doubtful cases by the High Court.

4. We understand that the Amending Act was passed by the National Assembly of Pakistan in great haste and the entire legislative process took only a few minutes. Mr. Dingomal N. Ram Chandani, who was chosen by the Noon Government to represent the Hindu Community in the National Assembly, was not even consulted when the Bill was drafted. The Amending Act is a short one. Section 2 of this Act provides that no person or property treated as evacuee or evacuee property before September 23, 1858, shall be declared to be non-evacuee or as the case may be, non-evacuee property after that date. This would mean that members of the minority community will not in the future be able to get their wrongs redressed even if their properties have been declared evacuee on the most flimsy grounds.

5. A still more drastic provision which has been inserted in the Amending Act empowers the High Court to revise an order passed by a Custodian in a case in which he has on or after the first day of January 1953 declared any person as non-evacuee or any property as non-evacuee property. Such a revision can be made on an application made in this behalf either by the Central Government or by the Government of West Pakistan or by any person. This provision constitutes a serious encroachment on the rights of minorities and has given the authorities in Pakistan a long handle to harass the already suffering minority communities, particularly the Hindus. They would be subjected to costly legal proceedings before the High Court which usually take a long time to conclude. The effect would be that once the proceedings are started, their properties would remain frozen. As such revision applications before the High Court can also be filed by any person, there is unlimited scope for the harassment of Hindus by persons who may be interested in squeezing them out of Pakistan or in acquiring their property. It is feared that almost all the decided cases will be re-opened on flimsy grounds and the properties declared as evacuee properties.

6. The issues in this case are clear. The provisions of the Amending Act are against the principles in furtherance of which the Evacuee Property Laws were abrogated in the two countries. The object apparently is to get hold of the few remaining properties of the members of the minority community which are now left in Pakistan. As this affects the lives of minorities in Pakistan and may also have repercussions in India in normal times we would have been fully justified in lodging a strong and vigorous protest with Pakistan. The conditions in that country today, however, are very abnormal, there being a one man military dictatorship. A protest at this stage might even worsen the existing bad situation. My Secretary, Dharma Vira, discussed the case with M. J. Desai and Rajeshwar Dayal. It was considered that Rajeshwar Dayal should study the position at Karachi and ascertain the reactions of the leaders of the minority community before any action is taken in the matter.

With regards,

Yours sincerely

D.O.No.12/M. R/16 - S 28th May, 1959

My dear General,

Kindly refer to your letter No.425/59-PH, dated the 16th January, 1959, regarding the Evacuee Property Law in Pakistan.

2. We have since been informed that your Government has issued an Ordinance No. XXII of 1959, which has repealed the Pakistan Administration of Evacuee Property (Amendment) Act, 1958, about which I had written to you earlier. Though this Ordinance is a slight improvement in certain respects on the Amendment Act of 1958, the basic provisions of the latter Act have been retained. Cases in which a person or property was declared non-evacuee after the 1st of January, 1953, can still be reopened and such person or property can be declared as evacuee or evacuee property by a Tribunal to be set up under the Ordinance. As pointed out in my letter dated the 16th December, 1958, in India, no person or property can be declared as evacuee or evacuee property after 7th May, 1954. This step was taken to restore confidence amongst the members of the minority community, even though we were fully aware that a good number of properties had escaped the attention of the Custodian and had not been brought within the purview of the Evacuee Property Law. However, it is for you to decide whether similar action should not be taken on your side to assure the minority community in your country.

3. I would, however, like to refer to one important matter. We understand that ownership of properties of non-evacuee owners in Pakistan, who have died after 1st January, 1957, and whose heirs are residing in India, is not being passed on to the heirs and such properties are being treated as evacuee property. In India, there is no such restriction and heirs of non-evacuee owners, even though they are residing in Pakistan, are entitled to inherit the property. But under your Law such properties can be declared as evacuee property on the ground that their owners are residing in India. Such action, apart from depriving a number of Indians from inheriting property in Pakistan, will cause great resentment on this side. I, therefore, sincerely hope that you would be able to reconsider the matter and take suitable action.

With best wishes

Yours sincerely

D.O.No.21(1)/59 the 17th June, 1959

My dear Mehr Chand,

Kindly refer to your D.O. letter No.124/M(R)/16-S dated the 28th May, 1959, regarding the Evacuee Property Law in Pakistan. I received your letter on my return from tour abroad.

I am glad, you have appreciated the improve-ment made by Ordinance No. XXII of 1959. It is our earnest desire that in the interest of evacuees themselves, evacuee property in Pakistan should be listed as such, whether it is in the hands of Muslims or non-Muslims.

As to the question of the disposal of the property after the death of a non-evacuee owner, I cannot envisage any difficulty in respect of its devolution, on the demise of the owner, except in cases where the non-evacuee is a joint owner along with evacuee, and the interests of the joint evacuee owner in the property had remained concealed.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely

D.O.No.960/M(R)16-S.

July 11th, 1959

My dear Azam Khan,

Thank you for your letter No.21 (1)/59-Pl dated 17.6.1959 in reply to my letter of 28th May, 1959, regarding the Evacuee Property Law in Pakistan.

2. There is one other important matter to which I would like to invite your attention, via the Movable Property Agreement which was entered into between Pakistan and India in 1950. In 1953 and then in 1955, high-level conferences were held at Karachi to iron out the differences which had arisen over the interpretation of this Agreement and agreed decisions were reached on all outstanding points. A high-level Implementation Committee was also set up to supervise the implementation of the Agreement and it was to meet alternately at Karachi and Delhi every two months. However, only four meetings of the Committee have so far been held during the last four years and no meeting has been held for the last 15 months.

3. This Agreement was designed to restore the movable property left by evacuees in either country, such as personal and house-hold effects, trade goods and merchandise, seized cash and jewellery, sale-proceeds of movable property, buried treasures, lockers and safe-deposits, property of joint stock companies, etc. The Intention was that the unfortunate people who were forced to leave the country of their origin for reasons beyond their control should at least be restored their movable assets, wherever possible, so as to facilitate their rehabilitation in the country of their migration. The Agreement, therefore, had a distinctly humanitarian aspect. Unfortunately, however, barring a few items such as restoration of personal and house-hold effects, trade goods and merchandise, buried treasures, etc., no progress worth the name has been achieved in respect of other items, though agreed decisions for their speedy restoration were reached on more than one occasion between the two countries.

4. The more important of the unresolved items relate to lockers and safe-deposits of evacuees lying with banks, assets of Joint Stock Companies and status of displaced banks. I give below the factual position regarding these items for your information:-

i) Lockers and safe-deposits

An agreement in regard to the transfer of lockers and safe deposits of evacuee was entered into in March-April 1955 along with the general agreement on movable property. This matter, however, was linked at Pakistan’s request with the transfer of bank accounts of evacuees in the en bloc areas. It was agreed in January, 1956 that the bank accounts of evacuees from Punjab (India) and PEPSU would be transferred to Pakistan along with the funds in certain cases, by 31st October 1956, and by that date the lockers and safe-deposit article would be released. This date was later extended to 30th June, 1957, but the actual transfer could not take place even by that date. At the third meeting of the Implementation Committee held in January 1958, it was explained to the Pakistan representatives that so long as the liabilities of the banks towards Pakistan nationals could be met from the assets of these banks in that country, there was no need for transferring any funds from India to Pakistan for this purpose. This was accepted by the Pakistan delegation on the assurance given by India that no restrictions would be imposed on the transfer of funds from India to Pakistan to the extent necessary, where sufficient liquid assets were not available in Pakistan to enable the banks to discharge the liabilities in question. It was further agreed that detailed lists of Muslim Bank accounts transferable to Pakistan and evacuee lockers and safe-deposits transferable to India should be exchanged in March 1958. We were assured on behalf of the Pakistan Government that once these lists had been exchanged, the two issues, viz. transfer of lockers and safe-deposits and transfer of bank account would stand delinked and the lockers and safe deposits would be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country on 31st March, 1958. The lists were duly exchanged as programmed in March 1958, and we also collected in Delhi all the evacuee lockers and safe deposits for handing over to Pakistan authorities on 31st March, 1958. Pakistan, however, did not take similar action on their side with the result that the transfer of lockers and safe deposits could not take place on the date fixed. At the fourth meeting of the Implementation Committee held in Delhi in April 1958, the Pakistan representatives again re-opened the question of the delinking of the two issues on the plea that they feared that the assets of the displaced banks in Pakistan may not be sufficient to meet the liabilities created by the transfer of Muslim accounts from India and, therefore, it was necessary that funds should be transferred from India to Pakistan along with the bank accounts before the agreement on the transfer of lockers and safe deposits was implemented. However, after discussion and consulting the then Prime Minister of Pakistan, Chaudhuri Nasir Ahmed, Leader of the Pakistan Delegation, again agreed to the two issues remaining delinked on getting an assurance on behalf of the Government of India that funds to the extent required by the banks to meet their liabilities arising from the transfer of Muslim bank accounts would be transferred from India to Pakistan. It was further agreed that the exchange of lockers and safe deposits would take place on the 5th June, 1958.
The Pakistan Government, however, again failed to implement this agreement and raised the question of third-party claims against lockers and safe deposits. There was a specific agreement in 1955 to which the then Finance Minister of Pakistani, Chaudhuri Mohamad Ali, was a party, that third-party claims against lockers and safe deposits would be satisfied only if they related to particular articles lying in the safe deposits and lockers. In spite of this specific agreement, the Pakistan Government took the view that even general third-party claims could be satisfied from the articles lying in the lockers and safe deposits. On our representation that the view taken by them was not in keeping with the earlier agreement, the Pakistan Government agreed to examine the matter further, but no final reply has so far been received in spite of repeated reminders with the result that the matter stands where it was at the time of the Movable Property Agreement.

ii) Assets of Joint Stock Companies

Under the Movable Property Agreement, the Joint Stock Companies with headquarters in the other country prior to 15th August, 1947, were to be treated as non-evacuee companies and their property was to be restored to the owners or compensation given it the property had been acquired or allotted by the Government. Movable property of the evacuee joint stock companies, i.e. companies which had transferred their headquarters to the other country after 15th August 1947 or the majority of whose shareholders had migrated to the other country, although, its headquarters remained in the same country, was also to be restored. We forwarded to Pakistan Government lists of 176 Joint stock companies claiming restoration of their property or compensation in lieu thereof. In spite of the fact that the matter had been taken up at a number of meetings of the Implementation Committee and the representatives of Pakistan repeatedly assured our representatives that the lists furnished by us were being examined, so far not a single claim of any joint stock company has been accepted nor has information been supplied regarding the property of any such company. We were informed as far back as January 1958 that the cases of 78 companies had been examined by the West Pakistan Government and that the information about them would be intimated to us shortly. This has, however, not been done so far, though a number of reminders have been sent.

iii) Status of Displaced Banks

Under the Indo-Pakistan Banking Agreement and the agreed decisions relating thereto, the displaced banks were to be given all facilities for functioning normally as non-evacuee concerns. To enable them to function as non-evacuee concerns, it was essential to give them free control over their assets and properties in Pakistan and facilities to realise their dues in that country. This could be done by declaring them as non-evacuees. We have been pressing the Pakistan Government to issue a notification that these banks are non-evacuees and had suggested that, if necessary, they should amend their Evacuee Property Law for the purpose. At the third meeting of the Implementation Committee held in January 1958, it was brought to the notice of the representatives of Pakistan Government that Custodians in Pakistan were not treating those banks as non-evacuees and that considerable impediments were being placed in the way of their normal functioning. We were assured by the representatives of the Pakistan Government that there was no intention on their part to take evacuee property proceedings against the displaced banks and that this had been made clear in a Press Note issued by them in 1957. In April 1958, at the 4th meeting of the Implementation Committee this matter was again raised because complaints of discriminatory treatment from the displaced banks in Pakistan continued to be received. At that meeting the representatives of the Pakistan Government took a novel plea. They stated that the Banking Agreement did not provide that the displaced banks in Pakistan were to be conferred non-evacuee status. It only provided for their being given non-evacuee treatment. As this was a new interpretation, the Indian delegation had no alternative but to disagree with it and to request the Pakistan Government to implement the Banking Agreement in the light and spirit of the Agreement itself and subsequent assurances. This seems to have had no effect as subsequently the Custodian at Lahore ordered the Punjab National Bank and some other banks to centralise their assets with the State Bank of Pakistan, thereby denying to them the free use of their liquid assets in Pakistan.

5. I have given the above facts to apprise you of the position generally and not to apportion any blame for the non-implementation of the Agreement. My intention is to seek your co-operation in removing the bottle-necks which are impeding the progress of the Agreement. For this purpose, I would suggest that outstanding matters may be discussed either at Karachi or Delhi by the Implementation Committee set up by the two countries under the Agreement or by the Secretaries of the Rehabilitation Ministries of the two countries. Should you consider it necessary, we can have a meeting at our level and discuss the various problems and I cordially invite you to Delhi for this purpose. If you find it difficult to come to Delhi, if you so desire I would be willing to go to Karachi, for the purpose. We should take early decisions on the outstanding problems, because here in India we are winding up the Western Wing of the Rehabilitation Ministry by March 1960 and from press reports it appears that you are also contemplating to complete your work by the end of the year.
6. If, however, for any reason, you are of the view that these meetings will not serve any useful purpose or that further implementation of the Agreement is not possible, then it would be only fair to those concerned that the correct position is made known to them and they are no longer left in false state of expectations. The displaced persons in the two countries have already waited for 12 long years and it would be cruel to make them wait any more if no material results are to be achieved thereby. I should be grateful to have your reactions in this matter soon.

With regards,

Yours Sincerely

3248. SECRET

Letter from Minister for Rehabilitation Mehr Chand Khanna to Pakistan Minister for Rehabilitation Lt. Gen. Azam Khan.

Calcutta, August 3, 1959.

D. O. No. Conf/133/M/16-S. August 3, 1959

My dear Azam Khan,

I hope you have received my letter No.960/M(R)/16 of July 11th, 1959, in connection with the Movable Property Agreement between India and Pakistan.

2. I am now writing in regard to a proposal which was initiated by the Pakistan Government in April, 1956, in regard to the verification of claims.

3. On the 25th of April, 1956, the Secretary in the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation of the Pakistan Government addressed a letter to our High Commissioner at Karachi saying that the Pakistan Government had started the work of verifying claims put in by refugees from India and was anxious that the work of verification should be as accurate as possible. He suggested that it might be a good thing if the Pakistan Government could send their Deputy Claims Commissioners to India to conduct an on-the-spot verification in respect of claims valued at Rs.50 lakhs and above. The Secretary wanted to know if the Government of India would agree to allow these Deputy Claims Commissioners to go to various places in India for such verification. On the 18th June, 1956, I wrote to Sardar Amir Azam Khan, the then Minister for Refugees and Rehabilitation, to say that we would be glad to provide facilities for the verification and valuation of claims relating to immovable properties left in India and that my officers would give all possible assistance to the Pakistan officers in this matter. I suggested, however, in that letter that in my view the process of verification on the spot should be extended to all claims of the value of, say, one lakh or more. Subsequently, Mr. Khaleeli, who had taken over as Secretary wrote to my Secretary, Dharma Vira, on January 28, 1957 suggesting that, for the present, on-the-spot verification should be confined to claims worth one million rupees and over. He proposed to depute some six teams to India, each consisting of two officers and subordinate staff who would collect copies of relevant records and take photographs of properties claimed, showing their location, condition, size, etc. Mr. Khaleeli ended his letter by saying that the Pakistan Government would welcome a similar on-the-spot verification in Pakistan by the Government of India if claims valued at Rs. one million and over. Although we would have been happier to have the scope of the verification widened so as to cover all claims of over Rs. one lakh, our agreement to the proposal made by Mr. Khaleeli was conveyed in a letter from Dharma Vira, on the 22nd February, 1957. Subsequently on the 11th March, 1957, a team of Pakistan officers led by Mr. M. Khurahid Zaman, Claims Commissioner, came to Delhi and had discussions with our Chief Settlement Commissioner here. Matters relating to the principles on which the on-the-spot verification could be done were discussed at a meeting. The question of the formula to be applied in assessing the value of properties was also discussed and the Pakistan delegation said that the formula suggested by my Chief Settlement Commissioner would be considered. Matters did not proceed further until a meeting was held in Karachi in January, 1958, when an agreement was reached between the Rehabilitation Ministers of Pakistan and India that with a view to eliminate bogus and exaggerated claims put in by displaced persons for urban immovable properties left by them to each country, the two Governments would exchange information in regard to such properties and the arrangement would, in the first place, apply to claims valued at Rs.5 lakhs and above. Subsequently in April, 1958, after discussions between my Chief Settlement Commissioner and the Deputy Secretary, Rehabilitation, Pakistan Government a proforma was agreed upon for supplying information about such claims. In May, 1958, the Rehabilitation Secretary of the Pakistan Government wrote a letter to my Secretary saying that they had prepared lists of claims valued at Rs.50 lakhs and above and would be sending them through their High Commissioner at New Delhi for verification. These lists were duly handed over to us in the beginning of July, 1958.
4. An examination of the lists, however, showed that with a few exceptions, the properties mentioned were so vaguely described as to make it virtually impossible to locate them. We, therefore requested the Pakistan Government in our letter dated the 24th July, 1958, to give us more precise particulars of the properties in question, i.e. their municipal numbers or if such particulars were not available, the exact situation, so that the properties could be located. To indicate the type of information required, we sent a short list of 30 claims with particulars of municipal numbers and/or location in Pakistan. The Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan in India, however, informed us in his letter dated the 23rd September, 1958, that his Government had advised that the claimants were not able to give the municipal numbers of their properties as they did not know how their properties were re-numbered after Partition, and were not able to give the old number since most of them had not brought their records. Be added that in their view sufficient information had been given in the applications to enable the Government of India to locate the properties and that no useful purpose would be served by calling upon the claimant to furnish further particulars.

5. Since, in our view, the particulars were quite inadequate to locate the properties, no further progress could be made. Meanwhile, on the 22nd July, 1958, the Rehabilitation Secretary, Pakistan Government, informed us that his Government had decided that only a certain category of claims valued between Rs.2 lakhs and Rs.50 lakhs should be verified by reference to each Government. Since this appeared to be a deviation from what had been agreed upon, we pointed this out to the Pakistan Government in our letter of 28th August, 1958, and suggested that the matter could perhaps be discussed at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee and subsequently between the Ministers concerned. The Rehabilitation Secretary, however, in his letter dated 20th November, 1958, did not agree that the Pakistan Governments proposal constituted any departure from the agreement and said that it was open to the two Governments to seek information only in respect of those claims which were suspected to be bogus and exaggerated. It was not clear how the Pakistan Government or, for that matter, the Government of India, were in a position to decide which claims were bogus and exaggerated in relation to the properties situated in the other country without a verification on the spot or without an exchange of information. With regard to our suggestion that the matter should be discussed at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee, the Pakistan Secretary felt that the implementation could not be brought into the picture at all.

6. Since we did not feel that further correspondence on this question would help matters, we had intended to take up the question at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee. But unfortunately, no such meetings took place after April, 1958, although we made several requests to your Government in this connection.
7. I would, therefore, request you to look into the matter and let me know if the Pakistan Government is still interested in this exchange of information. As I have pointed out in the beginning of this letter, the initiative came from the Pakistan Government at a time when we had progressed more than half way through our scheme of compensation. In consideration of the Pakistan Government's difficulties in assessing the genuineness of claims we had been prepared to give them whatever assistance they might require in the matter. If you are still interested, the best course would be for the Chief Settlement Commissioners or the Rehabilitation Secretaries of the two countries to discuss the issue. We are coming to the end of our work and will start disbanding our Settlement Organisation before long. It would be necessary, therefore, for us to know very early if the Pakistan Government is still interested in getting information in regard to properties left by displaced persons in India. If, however, you are no longer interested you would, perhaps, let us know so that the matter may be treated as closed.

With regards,

Yours sincerely

D. O. No. F.2(1)/59 –PI. August 22, 1959

My dear Khanna,

I acknowledge with thanks your letter No. 960/M(R)/16-S of July 11, 1959, in connection with the Movable Property Agreement between India and Pakistan.
I entirely agree with you that the satisfaction of claims of movable properties abandoned by displaced persons has a humanitarian aspect and will contribute to the welfare and contentment of the people concerned. I am having the matter thoroughly looked into and obtain the latest information on every item included in this problem. Being completely pre-occupied with the urgent and very heavy task of settlement of claims, I may take a little longer than is necessary in formulating my views on this question and communicating them to you. I hope you would not mind this unavoidable delay, but assure you that I will deal with the problem with the sympathy and consideration that it deserves.

Coming now to your demi-official letter No. Conf/133/M(R)/16-S, dated the 3rd August, 1959, I find that the circumstances, in which the proposal for on the spot verification of claims of displaced persons from the two countries was originally mooted have radically changed so far as Pakistan is concerned. As you may probably be aware, we issued a Martial Law Regulation to afford an opportunity to those who had preferred wrong and exaggerated claims to withdraw or modify them within a prescribed period. This Regulation has had a very salutary effect and we are confident that the element of exaggeration in the claims has been almost entirely eliminated. This development has obviated the need for on the spot verification as contemplated previously. As a matter of fact, we have now fairly advanced in our operations for the settlement of claims and transfer of property to the claimants a task which we expect to complete by the end of the year.

In view of these circumstances, I feel that no useful purpose will be served by any further action in implementation of the old proposal for physical verification through visiting teams and we agree with you that the matter should be considered as closed.

With regards,

Yours Sincerely,

Mohammad Azam Khan

High Commission of India

Karachi

DNo.F.37(5)/60-Genl. 12th March, 1960/ 22nd Phalguna 1881 Saka

Subject: Settlement of outstanding issues relating to ‘the Movable Property Agreement - Proposal for early meeting of the Implementation Committee.

The High Commission of India in Pakistan presents its compliments to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relations, Government of Pakistan, and has the honour to invite the Ministry’s attention to the Movable Property Agreement which was entered into between Pakistan and India in 1950. In 1953 and again in 1955, high level conferences were held at Karachi to iron out the differences which had arisen over the interpretation of this Agreement and agreed decisions were reached on all outstanding points. A high-level Implementation Committee was also set up to supervise the implementation of the agreement and this committee was to meet alternatively at Karachi and Delhi every two months. However, only four meetings of the Committee have so far been held during the last four years and no meeting has been held for the last two years.

2. On 11th July 1959, the Rehabilitation Minister of the Government of India addressed a letter to Lt. Gen. Azam Khan, Rehabilitation Minister of the Government of Pakistan, raising various matters connected with the Movable Property Agreement and requested inter alia that an early meeting of the Implementation Committee be arranged. In his reply dated the 22nd August, 1959, the Rehabilitation Minister of Pakistan intimated that he would get the various matters examined and would communicate his views in due course as he was then pre-occupied with the urgent and heavy task of settlement of claims. The High Commission hopes now that the main task of the settlement of claims and rehabilitation of displaced persons has been completed, that the Government of Pakistan will be in a position to consider the proposal of the Government of India for the holding of the next meeting of the Implementation Committee at an early date so that all outstanding issues arising out to the Agreement can be settled.

3. This Mission would like to bring to the notice of the Ministry that the matter was recently discussed by the High Commissioner with the Foreign Secretary to the Government of Pakistan, who kindly agreed to look into the matter. The High Commission would be grateful if the proposal of the Government of India for the early meeting of the Implementation Committee is considered and a reply given at an early date.

4. The High Commission to India avails itself to this opportunity to renew to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs & Commonwealth Relations the assurances of its highest consideration.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations, Government of Pakistan, Karachi.

2. Mr. E. A. Naik, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Finance
3. Mr. M. Shafqat, Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan in India

Advisers
1. Mr. K. A. Rahman, Deputy Director General Post and Telegraphs
2. Mr. K. Z. Sheikh, Deputy Chief Officer, State Bank of Pakistan
Welcoming the Pakistan delegation, the leader of the Indian delegation expressed the hope that the deliberations of this meeting of the Implementation Committee, which was taking place after an interval of 2 1/2 years, would yield fruitful results and that the displaced persons in, either country who had been waiting for 13 long years would be able to salvage their movable assets. The leader of the Pakistan delegation fully reciprocated these sentiments.

1. Payments due in respect of lists of sale-proceeds already exchanged

   (i) It was agreed that the outstanding amounts in respect of lists of sale-proceeds already exchanged would be paid by either Government at the time of the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

   The disputed cases mentioned below which were included in the exchanged lists but could not be settled by correspondence, were discussed.

   (a) Payment, to Messrs. E.M. Elahi, Maqbool Elahi and Reaz Ahmed representing sale-proceeds of trade goods of Hazari Bagh district.
In this case, an amount of about Rs. 78,000/- was shown in the exchanged lists by India, but the list was subsequently modified as third-party claims exceeding the amount payable were found to be outstanding against the party. Pakistan pointed out that the amount had already been disbursed and it was not possible to recover it. India's contention was that, the cheque for the amount had not been given, whereas Pakistan claimed that according to their calculations the amount had been included in the total payments received by them. There were also some cases in which India had also made payments prior to revision of statements by Pakistan. It was agreed that in cases where payments, had wrongly been made and could not be recovered, the party responsible for the initial mistake would bear the loss.

(b) Statement No. IV-A. for Sukkur and Montgomery Districts.

India pointed out that in the lists of Sukkur and Montgomery districts handed over by Pakistan in October 1954, an amount of about Rs. 78,000/- was shown as payable. Pakistan stated that no such lists relating to these amounts were exchanged through the recognised channels and no amount was payable in respect of these districts. The lists officially handed over by Pakistan were nil statements. India stated that Photostat copies of the earlier statements had already been supplied to Pakistan. The original statements handed over by the Pakistan Custodian of Deposits, were shown to the Pakistan delegation at the meeting. Pakistan agreed to examine the matter further.

(c) Payment of about Rs. 28,000/- to Messrs. Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Manufacturing Co. Ltd., India.

India pointed out that this case was examined by the Joint Committee and it was agreed that a cheque for the amount payable to the firm would be given to the diplomatic representative of India at Lahore. Subsequently, the payment of the amount was withheld by the Pakistan Government on the ground that the case of this firm, which was a joint stock company, was under separate correspondence between the two Governments. India suggested that in regard to this payment also the same principle as had been agreed to under (a) above should be followed, Pakistan agreed to examine the matter.

(ii) Deduction of over Rs.3 lakhs as Custodian’s charges by the former N.W.F.P. Government from the sale proceeds of evacuee, properties.

The leader of the Pakistan delegation gave an assurance, that payment of this amount would be made at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.
(iii) Proceeds of properties sold in respect of which commitments had been made that the sale-proceed would be included in the exchanged lists.

India stated that a sum of about Rs.18,000/- was payable by them to Pakistan on this account and they undertook to remit this amount shortly. A list of cases in which, commitments had been made by Pakistan was supplied to the Pakistan delegation, and they agreed to examine it and make payments expeditiously where due.

(iv) Sale-proceeds of movable property auctioned in the presence of Property Field Officer Karachi, where such payments had not already been made.

India stated that an amount of about Rs.22,000/- was due from Pakistan on this account Pakistan promised to examine the matter and to make payment shortly, if found due.

II. Transfer of lockers and safe deposits

Transfer of bank accounts and funds of Muslims from Punjab (I) and allied areas.

Declaration of displaced banks as non-evacuee concerns.

It was agreed that all these issues were closely allied to each other and should be settled together. Pakistan said that while they would not press for the re-linking of the issues of lockers and safe deposits and bank accounts in the en bloc areas, they would like the Muslim bank accounts of the en-bloc area to be transferred to Pakistan along with their funds. India agreed to consider this proposal, if Pakistan on their side agreed to consider the following proposals:—

(a) Only such third party claims would be entertained against lockers and safe-deposits lying with banks as are directly related to the contents of lockers and safe-deposits;

(b) the transfer of lockers and safe-deposits would take place simultaneously with the transfer of bank accounts and funds; and

(c) a notification would be issued by the Pakistan Government under the Evacuee Property Law declaring the displaced Indian banks in Pakistan as non-evacuee concerns.

In connection with the transfers of Muslim bank accounts in the en-bloc areas along with their funds, India suggested that only the difference between the total amounts of Muslim and non-Muslim bank accounts in the en-bloc areas in the two countries may be transferred to Pakistan along with the Muslim bank accounts in case the above proposals were accepted. India also hoped that the Indian banks in Pakistan, once they were declared non-evacuee, would in accordance, with the Banking Agreement, be enabled to realize their frozen assets and, if they, so desired, to repatriate their surplus assets from Pakistan to India. It was also suggested that the banks may be asked to forego their charges in respect of lockers and safe deposits for the period after partition because the lockers and safe deposits remained with the banks for reasons beyond the control of the depositors.

It was agreed that both Governments would consider these proposal and be ready for taking decisions at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

III. Restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies or payment of compensation therefore where properties have been allotted or acquired.

Release and restoration of shares securities, etc. deposited in banks.

Payment of accumulated, dividends on shares or interest on securities deposited in banks.

India stated that the Joint Stock Companies fell into two categories, namely, non-evacuee and evacuee concerns. Those companies which had their registered offices in the other country before 15th, August, 1947, had to be treated as non-evacuee concerns and in their case both their immovable and movable property was restorable. In the case of other companies, which were treated as evacuees, only the movable property was restorable. It was further stated that India had given a list of 176 Joint Stock Companies to Pakistan for verification of their assets; but the assets of not even a single company had so far been verified. Pakistan stated that Joint Stock Companies could be divided into four categories, namely, banking companies, electric supply companies, transport companies and others. The ease of banking companies fell within the purview of the Banking Agreement and would be dealt with in terms thereof. As regards the electric supply companies, they had mostly been acquired by the Provincial Governments or local bodies and the Custodians had been asked to indicate the compensation payable to these companies and the third-party claims outstanding against them. Pakistan would give full information about these companies at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee. As regards the transport companies, it was stated that information about their assets was not available. Efforts were, however, being made to get all possible information about the assets of transport companies as well as of other companies and would be given to India at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee. Pakistan desired that further particulars, if any, of the assets of such Transport companies may be supplied to facilitate verification.

As regards the release and restoration of shares, securities, etc. of Pakistan nationals deposited in banks, India stated that this question was linked up with the restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies. India had already collected the shares and securities in question and would release them as soon as Pakistan was in a position to restore the properties of the Joint Stock Companies.

As regards payment of accumulated dividends or interest on these shares and securities, India stated that dividends or interest on shares and securities deposited in banks were not on par with dividends or interest on share/securities in the possession of the nationals of the other country. Whereas there was an agreement for the remittance of dividends/interest on shares and securities in the possession of the nationals of the other country, there was no agreement between the two countries for the payment of dividends/interest on shares, and securities deposited in banks. It was agreed that this question would be further considered at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

IV. Postal Life Insurance Policies.

The Committee noted with satisfaction the progress of exchange of Valuation Certificates in respect of Postal Life Insurance policies between the two countries during the last few months and hoped that the exchange would be completed by April, 1961, or even earlier. The discrepancies in the number of pending claims would be reconciled between the representatives of the two countries.

In view of the speed at which exchange was taking place, it was not considered necessary to fix target date for completion of exchange. Similarly as fresh claims on policies were expected to be rare, it was agreed that no target date be fixed for the registration of claims.

V. Transfer of Post Office Savings Bank Accounts and Certificates.

Representatives of India and Pakistan informed the Committee of the number and value of the verification lists pertaining to Savings Bank accounts and certificates pending verification with either country and said that the Indian Liaison Officer was in Karachi for exchanging the lists.

It was agreed that action should be taken by the both the Governments to exchange as many lists as possible. The discrepancies that may be pointed out after initial examination of the lists should be got verified by the Post Offices of the respective Governments expeditiously, so that the lists could be exchanged finally during the stay of the Liaison Officer. The remaining lists may be exchanged by post and need not await the next meeting of Liaison Officers.

The procedure for exchange of conjoint accounts is under examination by the D.Gs. P.&T. the Pakistan’s representative promised to expedite his reply so that action to transfer these accounts may be taken.

The Indian delegate suggested that public accounts in Post Office Savings Bank which had hitherto been linked with the Banking Agreement, may also be transferred like ordinary S.B. accounts. The Pakistan delegate promised to consider the proposal. It was agreed that this matter would be discussed at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

VI. Restoration of jewellery and other valuables seized from, or deposited by, migrants from PEPSU (Patiala and East Punjab States Union).

India pointed out that it had verified the claims received from evacuees in Pakistan in respect, of their valuables left in Pepsu and were able to locate property of above 160 evacuees out of the list of 1552 cases referred by Pakistan Those, valuables will be restored. It was further pointed out by them that a list of 329 evacuees who had left their pawned ornaments in Khairpur State before their migration to India had been sent to Pakistan for verification but not a single claim has so far been verified. It was also stated that Pakistan had also not released the seized cash and ornaments and jewellery and bullion which were included in the exchanged lists pertaining to Bahawalpura and other places. The Pakistan delegation promised that the jewellery etc. would be released shortly.

VII. Recognition of succession certificates granted by the courts in Pakistan for recovery of assets in India.

It was agreed that the problem of succession certificates may be confined to the payment of claims of insurance policies as other claims such as those relating to lockers, shares and securities in deposit with Banks and Bank accounts etc were covered under the various provisions of the Movable Property Agreement. Since the heirs of insurers would be put to considerable inconvenience if they were asked to produce succession certificates from courts in the other country, it was agreed that the High Commissioners in the two countries may be empowered to issue succession certificates to the heirs of the insurers provided they obtained such certificates from the courts of their country. It was further agreed that before making payment of the insurance claims, the two Governments would obtain indemnity bonds from the payees that they would indemnify the insurance company against all losses if there were any subsequent claims from the undisclosed heirs of the insurers.

VIII. Issue of payment authorities for contractors' claims.

Pakistan stated that India had accepted the initial liability for claims of contractors for works executed before partition for undivided India. They were, however, not entertaining the claims of certain contractors, whose cases were not covered under para 8 of the Indian Independence (Rights, Properties and Liabilities) Order, 1947, and who did not register their claims under the Press Note of May, 1948. Pakistan pressed that the claims of these contractors should also be paid by India, as they had accepted initial liability for all such claims. India pointed out that Pakistan had not verified a large number of claims of Indian contractors amounting to about Rs.172 lakhs for supplies made and services rendered in Pakistan before partition; nor had they released the security deposits of the contractors to the extent promised. Pakistanis representative stated that the progress of verification of these claims was slow for various reasons and undertook to verify them and send payment authorities expeditiously and also to release the security deposits of contractors without any further delay. On this assurance, India agreed to issue payment authorities in respect of pre-partition claims of Pakistan contractors registered under the 1955 Press Note.

IX. Transfer of Post Office Securities deposited with the Deputy Accountant General, P&T Calcutta.

India stated that it had been agree between the two countries that the, securities of local bodies in East and West Pakistan which were lying with the D.A.G., P.& T., Calcutta would be released after retaining securities to the extent required for meeting the claims of ex-employees of these local bodies, who have migrated to India. According to the claims received by India Government, an amount of Rs.4.97 lakhs was payable to migrant employees of the above local bodies. Accordingly, after retaining securities of this value, India would be transferring securities of about Rs.9.0 lakhs to Pakistan. The question of balance securities, if any, would be examined further.

X. Exchange of revenue records.

India stated that they had already supplied to Pakistan most of the revenue records in respect of evacuee agricultural land in the agreed areas in India, but Pakistan had still to supply about 4,000 revenue records in respect of similar areas in West Pakistan. A detailed list of the villages in the “agreed areas” in West Pakistan, the revenue records of which were due from Pakistan, was supplied to them. Pakistan stated that they had to supply the revenue records only in respect of 1679 villages of the “agreed areas” in West Pakistan. They also stated that 4,981 Jamabandis of “agreed areas” were still due from India, whereas according to India almost all of them had been supplied. It was agree that discrepancies in figures would be reconciled by the officers of both countries. After reconciliation of figures, both countries would try to supply the balance of revenue records expeditiously. Pakistan promised to supply about 300 Jamabandis which were lying ready with them at Lahore in the course of the next few days.

India had also asked for records of payments by individuals in respect of colony rights for about 16,000 individuals of Bahawalpur and Sind, out of which about 5,500 had been received. Pakistan promised to supply the balance by a very early date. Pakistan had also supplied to India village directories of Bahawalpur and N.W.F.P., but similar directories regarding Sind were not available. They agreed to give a list of the villages in the districts of Sind.
As a gesture of good-will, India had agreed to supply Jamabandis in respect of “non-agreed areas” as well. They had already sent to Pakistan 1994; revenue records pertaining to “non-agreed areas” in India. Pakistan furnished a further list of villages of “non-agreed, areas” for which they required revenue records. India agreed to supply immediately 1,700 records of “agree areas” which were readily available with them and to collect and supply the remaining records as soon as possible.

As regards the printed list of gardens in U.P, and other questions about Zamindari rights etc. in that State, India suggested that an officer of Pakistan Government should proceed to Lucknow to personally make the inquiries desired by Pakistan. For this inquiry, India offered to make available to the officer concerned of Pakistan every possible facility. This was agreed to.

In addition, India gave to Pakistan lists of the following 4,380 villages in the “agreed areas” in India which either did not exist or where they were no evacuee lands or where the villages were Jagir, Muafi or Malkiyat Sarkar villages etc. along with necessary certificates:

i) Villages which do not exist. 242.00
ii) Villages where there are no evacuee lands. 3,817.00
iii) Jagir and Muafi villages. 237.00
iv) Villages which are Malkiyat Sarkar. 53.00
v) Villages where the evacuees owned only houses and not land. 31.00

Total 4,380.00

XI Gold Loan Accounts.

India stated that at the third meeting of the Implementation Committee it was agreed that the two Governments would exchange lists of gold loan accounts in the different banks after classifying them as under:—

(a) Cases in which the banks concerned had already sold the jewellery:
(b) Cases in which the claimants concerned had asked for return of the jewellery; and
(c) Cases in which no claims had been filed for redemption.

At India’s suggestion, Pakistan also agreed to issue instructions for handing overall the surplus sale proceeds to the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Lahore in cases where jewellery had already been sold and for the sale of jewellery in cases where claimants had not exercised the option of redemption. Subsequently at the meeting of the Liaison Officers of India and Pakistan held at Lahore in March, 1958, Pakistan handed, over a list, of surplus gold ornaments held by the State Bank of India in Pakistan in respect of certain adjusted gold loan accounts. In terms of the Agreement, these surplus gold ornaments were to be handed over to the Indian Deputy High Commissioner at Lahore. This had, however, not been done so far, nor had other lists in respect of gold loan accounts been handed over to India. A list of 165 such accounts left in banks in West Pakistan had already been handed over to Pakistan.

Pakistan stated that they had written to the Reserve Bank of India to supply the list of gold loan accounts left by Muslims in banks in India, but they had not so far received any reply.

India explained that the Reserve Bank had sent circular letter to all the scheduled and non-scheduled, banks numbering more than 500 and the replies, received from them indicated that there was only one evacuee gold loan account with the State Bank of Hyderabad in which the bank charges exceeded the value of the evacuee’s deposit. The reply from the Reserve Bank of India indicating the steps which had been taken on the Indian side to obtain particulars, relating to Muslim gold loan accounts was handed over to the representative of the State Bank of Pakistan at the meeting.

It was agreed, that Pakistan would hand over the lists of gold loan-accounts left in banks in West Pakistan, at the next meetings India would also hand over a similar list of gold loan accounts if any, with their banks. It was further agreed that Pakistan would, hand over at the next meeting the surplus jewellery in respect of adjusted gold loan accounts, the list of which was given to India in March 1958.

XII. Restoration of Property Included in Exchanged Lists.

India pointed out that there were 56 cases of movables included in exchanged lists, which have not so far been restored. Pakistan promised to look into the matter.

XIII. Restoration of Movables not included in Exchanged Lists.

India state that in 768 cases documentary evidence had been supplied in support of the claims and replies had been received from Pakistan only in a very few cases. Pakistan delegation promised to look into the matter and expedite verification of these cases. India on its part promised to look into similar cases.

XIV. Recovery of Income-Tax dues as third party claims from sale proceeds of Trade Goods and Merchandise.
It was agreed that the present arrangements of deduction of income-tax dues from the sale proceeds of trade goods and merchandise should continue.

XV. Insured Letters.

Pakistan complained that a number of cases of un-delivered insured V. P. and ordinary registered parcels totalling 844 items were pending with Indian authorities for verification. India promised to hand over cheques for amounts already verified at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee and to report progress made in the verification of the remaining claims.

XVI. Non-payment of dividends to share-holders.

Pakistan stated that the case of Sind Provincial Co-operative Bank was not covered by the Agreement because Co-operative Banks were not Joint Stock Companies. However, as the matter was specifically brought to the notice of Pakistan delegation, they would look into it as a special case. They also agreed to supply information regarding the case of Shri Sunder Singh Dhir whose shares in a non-evacuee concern in Pakistan had been allotted to refugees. Pakistan promised to supply the required information at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

A list of cases in which Indian nationals were not getting dividends from Pakistan, on shares and interest on debentures was handed over to the Pakistan delegation. A similar list of Pakistan nationals was handed over to India. The two delegations promised to look into the matter.

XVII. Joint Committee.

It was agreed that the setting up of the Joint Committee was necessary for the adjudication of third-party claims, if any, against the articles in lockers and safe-deposits and for assessment of compensation payable to Joint Stock Companies whose properties had been acquired/allotted. It was agreed that both India and Pakistan would shortly nominate their representatives on the Joint Committee and the date from which the Joint Committee will start functioning will be decided at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee. It was agree that the Committee would work part time but, if necessary, it would have prolonged sessions.

XVIII. Payment of Compensation for Reserve Bank of India Shares.

Pakistan complained that payment authorities and G.P. notes were not being released to Pakistani holders of Reserve Bank of India shares. India pointed out that this question was linked with the question of payment of compensation for the properties of Joint Stock Companies in terms of the 1953 Agreement. It was agreed that consideration of this question be deferred to the next meeting.
XIX. Defective and Damaged Currency Notes.

It was stated by India that out of 67 claims received from Pakistan, payment authorities in 50 cases had already been issued and the remaining cases were being verified.

XX. Cash Amount Relating to Court of Wards and Manager, Encumbered Estate, Hyderabad (Sind).

Pakistan promised to expedite the verification of the 63 cases referred to them, and, to report, progress at the next meeting of Implementation Committee.

XXI. Finalisation of Claims under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act

It was agreed that both countries would expedite verification of claims with a view to early completion of the work.

Pakistan pointed out that the definition of the term ‘evacuee’ in the Evacuee Property Act was different from that appearing under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act, with the result that the deposits of certain evacuees were not treated as transferable deposits under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act. India pointed out that for removing the anomaly two alternatives had been suggested by them to the Government of Pakistan in September, 1958. The first alternative was to widen the definition of “evacuee” under the “Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act” so that it may have the same definition in the two Acts. The second alternative was to agree to the transfer of such deposits in the same way as had been decided in the case of Evacuee Deposits held in Criminal Courts. India preferred the second alternative as this would avoid delay which was inevitable if the “Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act” in the two countries was to be amended, Pakistan promised to examine the matter and to give their definite views at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

XXII. Claims of Indian Nationals for Amounts Advanced against Deposits to Courts of Wards and Manager, Encumbered Estates.

Pakistan stated that this item was not covered by the Agreement, but they promised to examine the matter and to intimate their views at the next meeting.

XXIII. Decrees obtained by the Collector, Montgomery, against Punjab National Bank.

Pakistan stated that enquiries were still being made and the progress would be intimated at the next meeting.

XXIV. Payment of Compensation to Sialkot Electric Supply Company deposited in a Blocked Account with a Bank in Pakistan.
The Indian delegation raised the question of payment of about Rs.9, lakhs placed in the Company blocked account with the Grindley Bank Ltd., Lahore. The remittance of the amount was not allowed in this case as Pakistan held that the compensation had been paid prior to the issue of consolidated implementation instructions in 1955. India pointed out that this was taking a technical view of the matter and was against the spirit of the Agreement. Pakistan stated that this was a closed case but in deference to India’s wishes they agreed to examine the matter and to intimate their views at the next meeting.

XXV. Next meeting of the Implementation-Committee.

It was agreed that the next meeting of the Implementation Committee would be held at Rawalpindi on the 17th and 18th January, 1961. It was also agreed that the meeting of the Implementation Committee under the Banking Agreement would also be held simultaneously.

***************
The leader of the Pakistan delegation welcomed the Indian delegation to the sixth meeting of the Implementation Committee under the Movable Property Agreement at Rawalpindi, and expressed the hope that the deliberations of the committee would result in expeditious implementation of the various provisions of the Agreement in their true spirit.

The leader, of the Indian delegation thanked the Leader of the Pakistan delegation on behalf of his delegation and himself and reciprocated the desire of the Indian delegation to expedite implementation of the Agreement.

I. Payments due in respect of lists of sale proceeds already exchanged

The leader of the Indian delegation stated that they, had brought cheques in respect of the following items:

- i) Sale proceeds included in the lists already exchanged Rs.1,09,258/8/11.

- ii) Sale proceeds included in the statement No.: IX-B of Hazari Bagh District, payable to Messrs. E.M.Elahi, Maqbool Elahi and Reaz Ahmed: Rs.78,402/-.

- iii) Proceeds of property sold in respect of which commitments had been made that the sale proceeds would be included in the exchanged lists by Central Government as well as subordinate offices Rs.17,564/-.

The leader of the Pakistan delegation pointed-out that, there were certain discrepancies in the figures mentioned by India. However subject to further verification, these cheques amounting to Rs.2,05,224.57 np will be accepted.

Pakistan, stated that they had brought cheques in respect of following Items:-

7. Mehla Singh (Bahadurnagar Dairy Farm, Montgomery) Rs. 39,662 13-0.

Total Amount Payable Rs. 3,99,921-11.
OR Rs. 3,99,921 81 np.

Pakistan handed over bank drafts amounting to Rs. 4,03,227-17 naya paisa i.e. Rs.3,305-36 nayapaisa in excess of the above amount.

The leader of the Pakistan delegation further stated that enquiries, regarding other cases were being made from the officials concerned. It was clarified by Pakistan that the list relating to Sukkur was actually in respect of court deposits for which payment authority will be issued in due course.

It was agreed that cheques in respect of the remaining items will be passed on by either country as soon as the amounts were realised, without waiting for the next meeting.

The leader of the Indian delegation desired that as the items included in the list of commitments and items relating to properties sold in the presence of Field Officers were quite old, the process of further verification and payment should be speeded up.

About, the case of M/s Bharat Carbon, & Ribbon Manufacturing Co., Pakistan stated that, a third party claim amounting to Rs.36,495/4/- against this company had been reported within the prescribed period. The amount of compensation due to this Co. was Rs.31,856/8/10, from which administrative charges at the rate of 10% had to be deducted. This being the position, the third party claim exceeded the amount of compensation, payable to the Co. The leader of the Indian delegation stated that after this case had been dealt with by the Joint Committee, India had paid a net amount of Rs.28,666/8/11 to the Co. in good faith. It was decided at the last meeting that in such cases the loss would be borne by the party which was responsible for the initial mistake. As Pakistan had not pressed the third party claim in this case before the Joint Committee, earlier, India wanted that this amount should be paid by Pakistan. Thereupon, Pakistan agreed to pay Rs.28,666/8/11.

The leader of the Indian delegation referred to the case of Ganesh Khopra Mills, Karachi, regarding which Pakistan, had initially paid a sum of Rs.3.07 lakhs on account of sale proceeds of its goods, but later, on cancelled the payment saying that the amount; actually related to the security deposit of the allottee of the Mills. Pakistan agreed to look into this case and intimate the result at the next meeting. Another case mentioned by him was of R.B.Mela Ram of Lahore who had left considerable stocks in his cotton Mill at Lahore. Pakistan said that this was a new case, but they agreed to examine it.

He also suggested that in the case of statements No.VIII and No.IX-A, relating to Kohat it may be checked up whether administrative charges had been deducted at the rate of 50% by the former N.W.F.P. Government. Pakistan agreed to do so.

II. (i) Transfer of lockers and safe deposits.

(ii) Transfer of bank accounts, and funds of Muslims from Punjab and allied areas.

(iii) Declaration of displaced banks as non-evacuee concerns.

It was agreed that the consideration of these items may be postponed to the next meeting.

III. Restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies or payment of compensation therefore where properties have been acquired or allotted. Release and restoration of shares, securities, etc. deposited in banks. Payment of accumulated dividends on shares or interest in securities deposited in banks.

Pakistan pointed out that the value of the assets of 18 electric companies, mostly located in the former West Punjab, had been assessed by the Custodian. It came to Rs.10,23,137/- as against Rs.3,38,12,600/- claimed by India. Besides, there were third party claims against these companies. The leader of the Pakistan delegation explained that this huge discrepancy could be ascribed to the fact that whereas the companies had claimed compensation for both movable and immovable assets, they were actually entitled to claim compensation only in respect of their movable assets as they were evacuees. India was of the view that these companies had shifted their headquarters to India before the due date and therefore they could not be treated as evacuees.

Pakistan agreed to examine the position further on the production of evidence by the companies to the effect that they had shifted their headquarters to India before 15.8.1947 in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Law. Pakistan further agreed to supply a list of these 18 electric companies showing the details of the claims made by them, the amount of compensation accepted by the Custodian in each case and the amount of third party claims pending against these companies.

As regards the transport companies, it was pointed out that the list giving details in respect of their assets had been received from India only recently and action was being taken to verify the value of their assets, based on the information contained in the list. The leader of the Indian delegation pointed out that out of 176 joint stock companies a list of which was furnished to Pakistan a few years back, verification of assets had been made only, in, respect of 18 companies so far. He hoped that action in respect of the remaining companies would be expedited. Pakistan agreed to expedite the verification in respect of the remaining companies. Pakistan stated that accumulated dividends on shares or interest on securities deposited in banks was not being paid to the Pakistani nationals. This point had been raised in the last meeting when India had agreed to examine it. The leader of Indian delegation stated that they had not come to any conclusion in regard to this point and that at the next meeting of the Implementation Committee they would be in a position to give a more definite reply.

IV. Postal Life Insurance Policies.

The Committee noted that the progress of exchange valuation certificates continued to be satisfactory.

V. Transfer of Post Office Savings Bank Accounts and Certificates

It was noted that the progress made regarding the verification of Post Office Savings Bank accounts and Certificates claims was satisfactory. The procedure regarding transfer of conjoint accounts had been under correspondence between the two D.Gs. P&T, and it was hoped that it would be finalized very soon.

As regards public accounts, in post Offices Savings Bank, Pakistan reiterated its stand that this item should follow a decision on the disposal of public accounts in the commercial banks.

VI. Restoration of jewellery and other valuables seized from or deposited by migrants from Pepsu, Khairpur and Bahawalpur.
It was agreed that a programme would be chalked out for the restoration of money or valuables including jewellery seized from or deposited by evacuees from Bahawalpur etc. in Pakistan and Pepsu in India, which had already been included in the exchanged lists. The valuable or the money will be handed over to the representative of the other country on 25.3.1961. Enquires will be processed expeditiously regarding the outstanding cases relating to Pepsu and Khairpur.

VIII. Issue of payment authorities for Contractors’ claims

The Pakistan delegation noted that revised instructions had been issued by the Government of India, for the payment of claims of Pakistan contractors who had executed works before partition for undivided India and had registered their claims under the Press Note of 1955. The leader of the Indian delegation pointed out that the progress in regard to the issue of payment authorities in respect of pre-partition claims of Indian contractors and the release of their security deposits had not been satisfactory. He requested that steps might be taken to dispose of their claims speedily. The Pakistan delegation agreed to take suitable steps and at the same time pointed out that the verification of claims had been slow on both sides. They, therefore, hoped that the Indian authorities would also expedite the work.

IX. Transfer of Post Office Securities deposited with the Deputy Accountant General, P&T, Calcutta.

Pakistan made two points:

i) That the securities of the value of Rs.9 lakhs which were to be returned to Pakistan as a result of the decisions taken at the last meeting of the Implementation Committee had not been returned so far. The leader of the Indian delegation promised to expedite action in this respect.

ii) Pakistan stated that apart from the securities belonging to local bodies, securities purchased through the Post Office Saving Bank deposits of individuals had also to be returned. In this connection they referred to the minutes of the previous meetings. The Indian delegation had some doubt whether securities of individuals were covered by the agreement. They wanted to consult the previous correspondence before expressing any views on this point. It was agreed that this matter would be considered further at the next meeting

X. Exchange of Revenue Records

The demand, of India for the balance of records i.e. Jamabandis, colony right statements, list of villages etc. was analysed. As decided in the last meeting, India had prepared a firm demand giving a list of 2843 villages for which the Revenue Records have yet to be supplied. This list and its break-up has now been supplied to Pakistan. Pakistan agreed to supply the records given in this list.

Colony Right Statements

India needed colony right statements in respect of about 10,500 individuals in Sind. Lists of these statements, giving some particulars in a tabular form were supplied by Pakistan in two instalments. India stated that on examination these lists have been found to be incomplete and inaccurate as indicated below:-

1) Survey numbers of the fields with areas have not been given

2) The total amount due, paid and outstanding on 15.8.1947 has not been shown;

3) In most cases total amount recoverable does not tally with the amount paid and the amount due.

India has returned these lists for correction and completion.

For Bahawalpur, out of the total demand of 5500 colony rights statements, India has received only 700 so far. Pakistan agreed to supply the rest at an early date and stated that about 2000 statements were ready for delivery.

Village Lists:

Lists of villages for Bahawalpur were supplied but they seemed to be incomplete as the number of Jamabandis supplied already exceeds the number of villages given in these lists. Pakistan agreed to supply a complete list and a copy of the list already supplied will be returned to them,

For the N.W.F.P., lists have been received only for Kohat and Peshawar and D.I. Khan Districts in complete form. List for Mardan district is incomplete in the sense that hadbast numbers have not been supplied, while lists for Hazara and Bannu Districts have not been supplied so far. A copy of the incomplete list will be sent to Pakistan for supplying the requisite information.

Village lists of Sind did not exist in any printed form and Pakistan had promised to get lists of villages from the various districts. They stated that out of 9 dis-tricts they have received lists of 6 districts only. These may be supplied while for the remaining three districts lists can be supplied at a later date.

Comparison of Records at Wagah Border:

It was agreed that instead of asking for original jamabandis for comparison at Wagah Border both sides would normally ask for verification through fardat-i-badar. In contested cases original record would also be seen at the Border.
Revenue Records of agreed areas due from India: Pakistan stated that the following records were still due from India.

i) Jamabandis (agreed area) 947;
ii) Fardat-i-badar-do- 8373;
iii) Village directories of Alwar and Bharatpur States and Himachal Pradesh and Delhi Provinces;
iv) Details of evacuee agricultural land in 30 villages of Delhi stated to be in the Delhi Improvement Trust;
v) Information regarding evacuee agricultural assets of 237 jagirs and muafi estates of Alwar and Bikaner.

Since the replies received from States about the non-existence of evacuee land were somewhat vague, India suggested that, in respect of the outstanding jamabandis, instead of repeating a numerical demand it would be of advantage if Pakistan supplied to them a list of the estates concerned arranged alphabetically tahsilwise. Pakistan agreed to do so. India promised, to expedite the supply of information relating to the remaining items referred to above.

Non-Agreed Areas: Pakistan had made a request for the supply of revenue records of 23457 villages of non-agreed areas. Out of these records for 1994 + 1773 + 890 totaling 4660 have been supplied so far. Pakistan stated that on checking this number was found to be 4424. This discrepancy should be reconciled, after mutual checking of the records already supplied. It was stated that records of another 718 villages were lying ready for delivery at Delhi and may be collected by Pakistan.

Pakistan requested that India may arrange for the early supply of the remaining records. They further desired that in the case of records already supplied India would, when so requested in particular cases:

a) provide information regarding zamindari areas abandoned by evacuees and affected by the U.P. Abolition of Zamindari and Land Reforms Act and their details where such areas do not appear in the records supplied;

b) furnish clarification and supply omissions, if any, in the records supplied.

India promised to extend full cooperation and give all possible facilities for the procurement of outstanding records. In order to expedite the work it was agreed that Pakistan will send teams of officers to various district/tahsil headquarters for the speedy collection of the required information and records. The Leader of the Indian Delegation agreed to write to the State Governments concerned to give full assistance to these teams for the completion of their task.
Revenue Groves and Gardens in U.P:
At the request of Pakistan India had recently supplied printed lists of evacuee groves and gardens published in 1953. Pakistan pointed out that these lists related to only nineteen districts and enquired whether it implied that there were no evacuee groves and gardens in the remaining districts. Enquiry to this effect will be made from State Governments and information will be supplied to the Pakistan Government.

On a suggestion made by Pakistan, India agreed to appoint one of their officer’s for co-ordination with the Officer on Special Duty (Central Record Office), Pakistan, so far as the exchange of revenue records and collection of information relating thereto was concerned.

XI. Gold Loan Accounts.
The Pakistan delegation stated that the State Bank of India had revised their previous lists and had added a few new items in respect of which further verification will be necessary. Pakistan, however, agreed to hand over the surplus jewellery in respect of 18 cases of adjusted gold loan accounts. Action on remaining cases would be expedited. The State Bank of India, Lahore, will be instructed to transfer the jewellery to the State Bank of India, Karachi, from where it will be handed over to the Deputy High Commissioner for India.

It was also agreed that Pakistan would have the remaining 165 gold loan accounts settled early. A list of these accounts was supplied to them in April, 1958. They would intimate the result at the next meeting of the Committee.

XII. Restoration of Property included in Exchanged Lists
The Indian delegation stated that they had already requested Pakistan that this property may be disposed of. India hoped that this would be done soon and the sale proceeds remitted to them.

XIII. Restoration of Moveables not Included in Exchanged Lists
India pointed out that a list of 768 cases was handed, over at the fourth meeting of the Implementation Committee. So far the result had not been reported in any case. The leader of the Pakistan delegation promised to look into the matter and to have the disposal of the cases.

India desired, that instead of restoring the recovered properties in these cases, it would be better if the properties were sold and sale proceeds were remitted to India.

XIV. Recovery of Income-Tax Dues as Third Party Claims from Sale Proceeds of Trade Goods and Merchandise
The item is closed.

XV. Insured Letters

India stated that out of the 8 insured letters, 6 had been traced. They had brought a cheque for Rs.10,838/11 N.P. being the amount of these letters. Rs.3,240/- being the amount of the remaining 3 letters, would be remitted as soon as received from the Custodians concerned in India.

Regarding the VP and other parcels, India stated that the total number of cases referred was 744. Out of this only 26 could be traced. The claims in respect of 23 had been settled, whereas in 3 cases the claims will have to be settled by Pakistan by re-issuing the money orders as they were not forwarded to India on account of the suspension of money order service. Pakistan requested that the details of the cases disposed of maybe supplied to the D.G.P. & T., Pakistan.

XVI. Non-Payment of Dividends to Share-Holders

Pakistan stated that a reply had already been sent to India after ascertaining the position from the Sind Provincial Cooperative Bank. The leader of the Indian Delegation suggested that the Government of Pakistan might use their good offices and persuade the Sind Provincial Cooperative Bank to pay these dividends to the share-holders who could not claim the dues within three years, due to circumstances, beyond their control.

Regarding the case of Shri Sunder Singh Dhir, whose shares in a non-evacuee concern in Pakistan were allotted to refugees, Pakistan stated that the matter was being looked into and the outcome would be reported to India within a month. Regarding the lists exchanged in respect of the nationals of either country, who were not getting dividends on shares and interest on debentures, the Committee noted that no remittance had actually been made so far. The leaders of both delegations promised that they would have the matter finalised within a month.

XVII. Joint Committee

Pakistan suggested the name of Mr. Irshad Ali Khan, Additional Custodian of Evacuee Property, Lahore, as a member of the Joint Committee. India proposed the name of Mr. Tara Chand Agarwal, Retired District and Sessions Judge, to be a member of the Joint Committee. It was decided that the Joint Committee would meet from 27th March, 1961 onwards to decide pending cases. The first meeting will be held in Delhi.

XVIII. Payment of Compensation for Reserve Bank of India Shares

India pointed out that as this question was linked with the payment of compensation for the properties of Joint Stock Companies, it would not be possible to pay compensation for the Reserve Bank of India shares or to release the other shares and securities of evacuee lying with banks at this stage. The consideration of the question was therefore postponed to the next meeting.

XIX. Defective and Damaged Currency Notes

India stated that out of a total of 67 cases, payment authorities had already been sent to the Government of Pakistan in 50 cases. In 3 cases, the payment authorities contained discrepancies which were being corrected, 4 cases had been rejected and 10 were pending with the Reserve Bank of India on which action will be expedited.

XX. Cash Amount Relating to Court of Wards and Manager, Encumbered Estate; Hyderabad (Sind).

Pakistan reported that all the 63 cases had been verified. The net cash balances excluding the deficit cases, as on 14.8.1947, amounted to Rs.90,342/15/-. Payment authority will be issued in respect of this amount. A list of these cash balances in respect of the 63 cases was handed over to the Custodian of Deposits, India, at the meeting.

XXI. Finalisation of Claims under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act.

It was agreed that verification of claims pending under this Act would be expedited by both the countries.

It was further agreed that transfer of deposits or payment authorities would be exchanged or issued at Delhi on 27th March, 1961, in respect of the following cases:

By Pakistan
1. Begumbari Devi.
2. Deposits made by residents of East Punjab and Delhi in the Punjab High Court for printing fees, etc.

By India
4. Mr. Z.A. Bhutto.

It was agreed that deposits at Nos. 2 & 4 above though not strictly covered by the definition of 'evacuee' under the Transfer of Deposits Act, would be dealt with under this Act by two Governments. It was further agreed that in the case of Begumbari Devi, Pakistan will give Government of India securities after cancelling their Pakistan enfacement with the requisite clearance.
certificate from the Controller of Exchange, Pakistan, and for 4, India will issue payment authority. In the case of 2 & 3, payment authorities will be issued after consulting the West Pakistan Government and the Punjab (India) Government.

XXII. Claims of Indian Nationals for Amounts Advanced to Courts of Wards, Managers, Encumbered Estate or the Wards of Courts before they came under the Superintendence of the Courts of Wards or Managers, Encumbered Estates.

Pakistan stated that these loans were not covered by the Evacuee Deposits Act. India stated that it would be in the interest of nationals of both the countries if a more liberal interpretation were to be placed on the Evacuee Deposits Act, so as to cover these cases. Pakistan, however, did not agree to this suggestion. India then pointed out that in a good number of cases, the persons who gave loans to courts of wards, etc. have obtained decrees from courts or the courts of wards or Manager, Encumbered Estates in Pakistan and these being decree claims against Government or quasi-Government bodies, could be entertained under sub-clause (v) of the Press Note issued on 15th May, 1955, in respect of contractors’ claims etc. Pakistan suggested that a reference be made to them in this connection, when they would examine the matter.

XXIII. Decrees Obtained by the Collector Montgomery against Punjab National Bank.

Pakistan stated that there was no intention to penalise the evacuee leaseholders on account of their failure to fulfill the conditions of the lease by reason of their migration to India. The intention was to realize the amounts which were due to the West Pakistan Government up to the date of migration. But the case will have to be processed by the Implementation Committee of the two Punjabs.

XXIV. Payment of Compensation of Sialkot Electric Supply Company Deposited in a Blocked Account with a Bank in Pakistan.

Pakistan said that the matter had been reconsidered as desired by India but it was not possible to modify the decision already conveyed.

India suggested that Pakistan might consider converting this blocked account into a non-resident account. Pakistan agreed to consider this suggestion in consultation with the State Bank of Pakistan.

XXV. Next Meeting

The dates for the next meetings of the Implementation Committees under the Movable Property and the Banking Agreements would be fixed later by the two Governments.

3253. Minutes of the Meeting held between N. G. Sen, Officer-in-Charge, ‘Claims’-cum-Custodian of Deposits and Mr. Ali Raza. Custodian of Deposits, Pakistan in connection with Item on Sale Proceeds Under the Moveable Property Agreement.

New Delhi, July 3, 1961.

Paragraph - I

Regarding discrepancies in relation to payments made by India at the last Meeting of the Implementation Committee held at Rawalpindi in February, 1961, the Pakistan representative stated that the discrepancies would be intimated to India as and when discovered. India promised to take prompt action for reconciliation on receiving intimation about the discrepancies.

As regards the exchanged list relating to Sukkur, according to the clarification given by Pakistan at the last meeting these were amounts relating to Court Deposits pertaining to the District Judge, Sukkur. The Pakistan representative stated that the payment authority for the amounts would be handed over along with the other payment authorities for Court Deposits under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act.

The Pakistan representative stated that the results of enquiry into the cases of other commitments, including amounts of sale proceeds for property sold in the presence of the Property Field Officer, could not yet be finalised. The representative of India also reminded Pakistan for the refund of sale proceeds wrongly passed on to Pakistan in respect of two persons viz: Ch. Umrao Khan of Bharatpur and Mohd. Raffi. Pakistan agreed to make enquiries into the matter and expedite action.

In addition the Indian representative mentioned in particular the case of M/S Calcutta Tanneries and that of M/S Durga Datt Jaigopal for sale proceeds of amount of Rs. 1,94,367/10/3 and Rs.1,60,631/15/- respectively for which Pakistan representative agreed to take steps for early finalization. The Indian representative also drew special attention to the hard case of Shri Ram Dass, Jeweller of Rawalpindi, who left 335 statues and sculptures etc, of various dimensions for which a photostat copy of the receipt issued by the Taxila Museum was sent under letter of June, 1957. Pakistan promised to investigate into the matter and intimate the results, at an early date.

A statement in proforma No. III (a) relating to Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Manufacturing. Co. Ltd. Lahore was handed over by Pakistan along with a Bank Draft for Rs.28,666.50 N.P. as agreed to in the previous meeting.

Regarding the cases of Ganesh Khopra Mills and R.B. Mela Ram of Lahore, the Pakistan representative stated that enquiries were still in progress and the results would be intimated shortly and the cheque for the amounts due, if any, would be passed on to India without waiting for the next meeting. With regard to Statement No.VIII and No.IX-A, relating to Kohat, Pakistan representative stated that they had already sent a reply to the effect that the deduction made on account of administrative charges in these statements were at the rate of 10% and no share of the Provincial Govt. at 50% was deducted from either of them.

Paragraph - XII

Pakistan representative stated that instructions for the disposal of the property involved in 56 cases under this item had already been issued. The Bank Drafts for sale proceeds of such property will be passed on to India as soon as they are received from the local officers.

Paragraph - XIII : Restoration of Moveables not Included in the Exchanged List. Enquiries were finalised by Pakistan in the following two cases:-

1. Wholesale Cloth Association, Bhalwal, District Sargodha,
2. Ram Dass Jewellers of Rawalpindi.

The Bank Drafts for the amounts of Rs.21,551.09 N.P. in respect of item (1) and Rs.768.94 N.P. in respect of item (2) respectively were handed Over to the Indian representative. Out of these two cheques, the one for Rs.21,551.09 N.P is dated 20th January, 1961. The Indian representative accepted this cheque on the assurance of the Pakistan representative that this cheque would be revalidated, if it was found time-barred. Pakistan representative assured that special steps would be taken to expedite enquiries into all the remaining cases referred to by India. Pakistan representative also drew attention to the cases of enquiries from their side pending with India. He promised to supply a consolidated list of all these cases for further action by India. India promised to look into each individual case after this list is received.
Item No. XV

The following two cheques and one Bank Draft were handed over by India to Pakistan together with a statement showing the particulars of the senders and the payees:

I. Declaration of Displaced Banks as Non-Evacuee Concerns

The leader of the Indian delegation recapitulated the discussions formal as well as informal, held in this connection between the two delegations at the last meeting of the Committee at Rawalpindi in February, 1961. At that meeting Pakistan’s stand was that only the functioning banks or banks which desired to function in Pakistan should be exempted from the operation of the Evacuee Property Act and the non-functioning banks should not be so exempted. The point of view of India was that according’ to the Banking Agreement, all banks whether functioning or non-functioning, were entitled to exemption from the operation of the Evacuee Property Law. Thereafter, it was for the Pakistan Government to allow them to function or not to function and those which functioned in Pakistan would naturally not repatriate their funds out of Pakistan and if they subsequently wanted to do so, they would be governed by the regulations normally applicable to foreign banks in that country. The non-functioning banks should, however, be enabled to realise their assets, discharge their liabilities and thereafter to take their surplus assets, if any, to India. It was added that so far as the actual repatriation of the assets of the non-functioning banks was concerned, if so convenient to Pakistan, the process could be staggered over a limited period to be agreed upon between the two countries.

The head of the Pakistan delegation stated that his Government had considered the matter further and had decided to exempt all displaced Indian banks from the operation of the Evacuee Property Law and to declare them, as non-evacuee concerns. This was, of course, subject to the right of the Pakistan Government after this declaration to permit or not to permit a bank to operate in Pakistan. He added that the mode of repatriation of the surplus assets of the non-functioning banks from Pakistan to India would be a matter for discussion between the two Ministers.

2. Transfer of Bank Accounts and Funds of Evacuees from the En-Block Areas

It was agreed that after the Pakistan Government had issued the notification exempting the displaced banks from the operation of the Evacuee Property Law in Pakistan and declaring them as non-evacuee concerns, the transfer of bank accounts and funds from the en-block areas would take place along with the funds as decided under the Banking Agreement. It was also agreed in principle that joint accounts of individuals and accounts of sole proprietary concerns will be treated like individual accounts. It was hoped that the process of transfer of bank accounts and funds will be completed within a period of three months.

3. Transfer of Lockers and Safe Deposits

It was agreed that the transfer of lockers and safe deposits will take place simultaneously with the transfer of bank accounts and funds from the en-block areas. Only such third party claims would be entertained against lockers and safe deposits lying with banks as were, directly, related to the contents of lockers and safe deposits. The two Governments would also use their good offices to persuade the banks not to charge any rent for the safe custody of lockers and safe deposits for the period subsequent to independence. It was further agreed that the list of third party claims received against the contents of lockers and safe deposits before the 30th November, 1955 (after which date no such third-party claims could be entertained) would be exchanged with the list of lockers in which India was interested on 1st August, 1961 at Lahore.

The date for the exchange of lockers and safe deposits and bank accounts and funds was tentatively fixed as 30th September, 1961. The mechanics of transfer would be worked out at Delhi on 7th July 1961.

4. Restoration of Properties of Joint Stock Companies and Payment of Compensation Therefore Where Properties have been Acquired or Allotted.

5. Release and Restoration of Shares, Securities etc. Deposited in Banks.

6. Payment of Accumulated Dividends on Shares and Securities in Deposit with Banks.

It was agreed that these matters would be further discussed at Delhi on 7th July, 1961.

7. Exchange of Revenue Records.

The leader of the Indian Delegation intimated the present position in regard to the supply of these records particularly from the U.P. He also made an alternative suggestion to expedite the supply of the information required by Pakistan. The leader of the Pakistan Delegation suggested that the matter be further discussed between the two Ministers. This was agreed to.

EVACUEE PROPERTY

3255. Minutes of discussions between the P. & T. Members of the Implementation Committee of the Indo-Pakistan Movable Property Agreement.

Calcutta, 3 – 6 July, 1961

Item No, IV- Postal Life Insurance policies

So far 372 claims have been sent by India to Pakistan. Uptil 15.6.1951(?) (1961), 264 claims and 2 refund cases had been settled by issue of valuation certificates; 108 claims are pending, India has settled so far 101 claims and 42 are pending with them. It was stated that settlement of most of the pending cases had been delayed due to certain difficulties. It was agreed that action should be taken to expedite their settlement and in that connection it was further agreed that both the Administrations would try to persuade the claimants to restrict their demands, as agreed to by the Deputy Director-General, Postal Savings Bank, Pakistan, and Deputy Director-General, Savings Bank, New Delhi, in a meeting held at Karachi on 27.2.1961.

Item V(i) - Transfer of Post Office Savings Bank Accounts and Savings Certificates

It was stated by the Pakistan representative that a review of the work done so far showed the position regarding verification of claims as below:-

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>No. of lists</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pakistan claims</td>
<td>Rs.60,09,403/-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indian claims</td>
<td>Rs.1,85,09,557/-</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

It was agreed that the work regarding exchange of verified lists should be resumed as soon as the two Administrations have sufficient number of verified lists to exchange.

Item V(ii)- Conjoint Accounts

Final concurrence to the procedure by the D.G.P.&T New Delhi is awaited by the Pakistan Administration. The former stated that this would be sent very shortly.

Item V(iii)-Court deposits held as P. O. Savings Bank accounts or Savings Certificates

In this case, Indian representative stated that they had sent their concurrence in the draft procedure in respect of the transfer to Director General, P &T. Karachi on the 4th July, 1961.
Item IX- Transfer of Government of India Securities held by Pakistan nationals and deposited with the D.A.G. P&T Calcutta.

The Pakistan representative stated that so far no progress seems to have been made as regards the transfer of securities held by local bodies or by individuals. The Indian representative stated that his Government had agreed to the transfer of these securities and action is being taken to finalise the procedure in that regard. Both the representatives believed that this should expedite settlement of Savings Bank and Postal Certificates work generally, and agreed that the exchange of verified-lists in respect of S. B. & Postal Certificates would be taken up again and completed expeditiously.

Item XV (i)- Parcels

The Pakistan representative stated that his Administration had furnished to the Indian Administration a list of 884 parcels in respect of which claims had been received by that Administration from their nationals. The Indian Representative pointed out that in one of the lists received by the Ministry of Rehabilitation, India, from the Ministry of Rehabilitation, Pakistan, there was a difference of 100 due to omission of serial numbers 281 to 380. This difference was also pointed out by the Ministry of Rehabilitation, India to the Ministry of Rehabilitation, Pakistan on the 15th July, 1958.

Attempts were made by the Indian Administration to trace the disposal of these articles, but some information could be had only in respect of 26 of them. A statement showing full particulars of these 26 articles and information which could be collected as regards their disposal has been furnished to the Pakistan Representative. Three of these articles were sent to Pakistan and there is no record either of their return to the office of posting or of receipt of V.P. Money Orders in lieu thereof. Information is also available that three other V.P. articles were delivered in Pakistan but V. P. money orders had not been forwarded to India owing to suspension of money order service. In view of the lapse of time and the fact that relevant records are not available, the India Representative stated that it was not possible to collect any more information in respect of these 26 parcels or the remaining ones and further attempts have to be abandoned.

Item XV (ii)-

Insured letters

Out of the 9 insured letters regarding which claims had been preferred by the Pakistan Administration, the Indian Representative had handed over, at the last meeting a cheque for Rs.10,838.11np to the Pakistan Administration regarding 6 letters. A cheque for Rs.3,240/- being the amount of the remaining letters, was also handed over by the Indian Representative to the Pakistan Custodian of Deposits on 4th July, 1961.

3256. Minutes of the meeting of the Rehabilitation Ministers of Pakistan and India held at Calcutta on Thursday, the 6th July, 1961.

1. Declaration of displaced Indian banks as non-evacuee concern:

The Ministers of Rehabilitation, Pakistan and India, considered further the question of declaration of displaced Indian banks as non-evacuee concerns in Pakistan. The two Ministers confirmed the decision taken at the Secretaries meeting on 5th July, 1961, that Pakistan Government will issue a notification to exempt all displaced Indian Banks from the operation of the Evacuee Property Laws and to declare them as non-evacuee concerns.

As for the mode of repatriation of the surplus assets of the Indian Banks which either do not wish to function in Pakistan or are not permitted by the Pakistan Government to operate in that country, it was agreed by the Ministers that this matter should be left for decision between the Finance Ministers of the two countries.

2. Exchange of revenue records:

The present position in regard to supply of revenue records in respect of non-agreed areas was explained to the Rehabilitation Minister, Pakistan. After discussion between the two Ministers it was agreed that the various alternatives to ensure the speedy supply of these records would be discussed further at the official level at Delhi on 7th July and a decision taken. The Rehabilitation Minister of India assured the Rehabilitation Minister, Pakistan that every effort will be made by India to supply the information required by Pakistan as expeditiously as possible.

3. Preservation and maintenance of Religious Shrines of the Minority Communities:
The two Ministers also discussed the question of preservation and maintenance of the religious shrines of the minority communities in either country. The Minister of Rehabilitation, India, stressed the desirability of convening an early meeting of the Joint Committee of the representatives of the two Governments, which had last met at Karachi in January, 1958. The Minister of Rehabilitation, Pakistan, informed the Minister of Rehabilitation, India, that his Government agreed to the holding of the meeting of the Joint Committee in September or October, 1961.

Item I.

(i)  Payment due in respect of lists of sale proceeds already exchanged.
(ii) Restoration of property included in the exchanged lists
(iii) Restoration of movables not included in the exchanged lists
(iv) Insured letters

(paragraphs 1, 12, 13, 14, and 15 of the sixth meeting)

The minutes of the discussion held between Mr. Ali Raza and Mr. Sen given in Annexure I were considered. (see Document No.………..) It was agreed that Rs.9,528-8-9 remitted to Pakistan wrongly in respect of sale proceeds of the property of Choudhary Umarao Khan of Bharatpur and Mr. Mohammed Rafi of Delhi would be refunded by Pakistan after verifying, that these amounts had been received by Pakistan.
The leader of the Indian delegation referred to cases in which assurances had been given by the authorities in Pakistan that the details would be included in the supplementary lists, or in which property had been admitted to have been sold or, lying undisposed of with the Custodian. The leader of the Pakistan delegation said that he would take steps to expedite the finalisation of these cases and on going back to Pakistan he would look into the matter with a view to providing a machinery to have these cases expedited. Similar action will be taken by India in regard to any list supplied by Pakistan of such cases.

It was also agreed that Pakistan would take early steps for the payment of sale proceeds of the movable property sold in the presence of the Indian Property Field Officer amounting to Rs.19,926-4-0.

In regard to the court deposit of Rs.77,413-13-9 pertaining to the District Judge, Sukkur, the Pakistan representative stated that the delay in the payment of this amount had been caused as a copy of the verified list had not been passed on by the Court concerned to its Accounts Officer who would prepare the payment authority on its basis. This difficulty was being experienced in other cases of court deposits as well. It was agreed that special efforts would be made on both sides to overcome these procedural difficulties and to expedite the process of payments. However, it was agreed that whatever securities and other valuable documents were lying in courts and which had already been verified may be exchanged as soon as possible and the process of such exchange will not be held up for meetings of the Implementation Committee but will be continuous. Pakistan gave three lists comprising 130 cases of seized fire-arms, 57 cases of household effects and trade goods and 101 cases of payment of sale proceeds which have not been included in the exchanged lists by India. India agreed to make enquiries about these cases and to communicate the results to Pakistan.

Item II.

(i) Transfer of lockers and safe deposits

(ii) Transfer of bank accounts and funds of Muslims from Punjab and allied areas

(iii) Declaration of displaced banks as non-evacuee concerns

These items had already been discussed and decided upon at Calcutta. The only point to be considered in Delhi was the mechanics of the transfer of lockers and safe deposits and bank accounts between the two countries. So far as the transfer of lockers and safe deposits is concerned, the mechanics for their transfer had been settled between representatives of the two countries in February, 1958. Those arrangements were considered again and the following decisions were taken:-
(i) Safe deposits:

All evacuee safe deposit articles in the custody of banks at stations other than Lahore would be brought to Lahore by the end of August, 1961. Before they are shifted from out-stations to Lahore, they would be inspected by a representative each of the Custodian and the diplomatic representative of India in Pakistan in the presence of the representative of the bank concerned. In cases where the original packing is considered to be unsafe for transport to Lahore and from there to India, the box or packets in question would be repacked in fresh containers without disturbing the original seals and marks and the new packages or boxes will be sealed jointly with the seals of the aforesaid three representatives. India would take similar action with regard to inspection and re-packing wherever necessary and removal of safe deposit articles to Delhi.

In order to facilitate inspection, sealing and removal of safe deposit articles, both the Governments would draw up a programme for the purpose, keeping in view the target date of 30th September, 1961, for their handing over, and communicate it to the diplomatic representative of the other country and the banks concerned immediately and in any case, before the middle of August, 1961.

The safe deposit articles so collected in Lahore and in Delhi will be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the country concerned on 30th September, 1961 at Lahore and Delhi.

At the time of taking over, small packets would be put into bigger containers by the diplomatic representative in the presence of the representative of the Ministry of Rehabilitation/Custodian of the country handing over such containers. Such containers would again be locked and sealed with the seals of the Ministry of Rehabilitation/Custodian and the diplomatic representative.

Both the Governments would ensure that the safe deposit articles handed over to the diplomatic representative of the country are allowed to cross its border without Customs check or other formalities.

These articles may be transported from Lahore/Delhi either by rail or by road, whichever is found more convenient by the diplomatic representative concerned. In either case, the Government concerned would provide adequate armed escort up to its border to ensure safe transport of the movables in question.

(ii) Lockers,

The lists of lockers in which either country is interested and the third-party claims against the contents of those lockers and safe deposits received by either country before the 30th November, 1955, would be exchanged between the two countries on 1st August, 1961 at Lahore. Steps will also be taken to invite the parties who have lodged claims against the lockers, and safe deposits, to appear before the Joint Committee on a date not later than 31st August, 1961. The Joint Committee will consider and adjudicate these claims in accordance with the Consolidated Implementation Instruction No.3.

All lockers, the list of which has been received from the other country, will be opened by the banks concerned in the presence of the Custodian and the diplomatic representative of the other country and their contents will be repacked and sealed jointly with the seals of the aforesaid three representatives. Thereafter, the sealed packages from stations outside Lahore and Delhi will be brought to Lahore, and Delhi by the end of August 1961.

The arrangements for repacking and removal etc. of contents of lockers which are opened will be the same as those laid down for the safe deposit articles.

In order to facilitate the sealing and removal of the contents of lockers, both the Governments would draw up a programme for the purpose, keeping in view the target date of 30th September, 1961 for their handing over and communicate it to the diplomatic representative of the other country and the bank concerned immediately and in any case, before the middle of August, 1961.

The contents of the lockers so collected in Lahore and Delhi will be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country on 30th September, 1961, at Lahore and Delhi.

For the handling and safe transport of the contents of the lockers between India and Pakistan, the facilities provided for the handling and safe transport of safe deposits between the two countries will be provided for the contents of lockers also. The mechanics of the transfer of bank accounts with funds from en bloc areas has been worked out by the Implementation Committee of the Banking Agreement,-

Item III.

(i) Restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies or payment of compensation therefor where properties have been acquired or allotted.

This matter was considered further. The leader of the Indian delegation suggested that the cases of companies which can produce evidence of having shifted their headquarters outside Pakistan before 15th August, 1947, should be considered by the Government of Pakistan for the restoration of their immovable property also. The leader of the Pakistan delegation stated that the agreement in regard to the status of joint stock companies had already been incorporated in the Evacuee Property Law of their country, and therefore, any representation or appeals in regard to the status of Joint stock companies could be considered only by the Custodian and not by any other authority. According to him, this was clearly a case in which the Government of Pakistan could not interest themselves directly. He, therefore, suggested that the joint stock companies concerned should, if they so desired, approach the Custodian and get their status determined in accordance with the law.

Pakistan supplied a further list of 15 joint stock companies showing details relating to their evacuee status, assets and liabilities etc.

Item III

(ii) Release and restoration of shares, securities, etc. deposited in banks

It was agreed that this item was linked with the restoration of the properties of Joint Stock Companies or payment of compensation therefor where properties had been acquired or allotted. This item might pend further progress in respect of the restoration where due, of the properties of Joint Stock Companies.

(iii) Payment of accumulated dividends on shares or interest in securities deposited in brinks.

The leader of the Indian delegation stated that his Government had decided to release these accumulated dividends and to allow their remittance to Pakistan,

Item IV.

(i) Postal Life Insurance Policies

(ii) Transfer of Post Office Savings Bank Accounts and Certificates

(iii) Conjoint Accounts

(iv) Court deposits held in the form of Post Office Savings Bank Accounts or Certificates

(v) Transfer of Government of India Securities deposited with the Deputy: Accountant General P&T., Calcutta.

(vi) Parcels

(Paragraphs IV, V, IX and XV of the minutes the sixth meeting).

The minutes of the discussion held on, 6th July between the P.& T. Members of the Implementation Committee of the Indo-Pakistan Movable property Agreement given in Annexure II were considered and confirmed. (see Document No.3255)
It was further agreed that items relating to postal parcels and insured letters the work of which had nearly completed, should be taken off the list of items discussed at the meetings of the Implementation Committee.

Item V. Restoration of jewellery and other valuables seized from or deposited by migrants from Pepsu, Khairpur and Bahawalpur.

(Para VI of the minutes of the Sixth Meeting).

Pakistan explained the steps taken by them to locate the cash and jewellery in respect of Sadiqabad, Rahimyarkhan and Ahmadpur East tehsils of Bahawalpur. These will be handed over to India through the diplomatic representative as soon as possible without waiting for the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

As for Khairpur, Pakistan stated that an officer had been specially deputed to finalise the cases of redemption of jewellery deposited in the Khairpur treasury which had been pawned with the evacuees by the Muslim local residents. The list of these persons will be prepared shortly.

As for PEPSU, India said that they will take steps to get the process of verification of cash and jewellery seized in this State expedited.

It was agreed that the exchange of verified lists relating to Khairpur and PEPSU will take place at Delhi on the 22nd August and the actual restoration of property and cash in respect of all the three areas, viz., Khairpur, Bahawalpur and PEPSU will take place on Tuesday, the 5th September through that diplomatic representatives of the respective countries.

Item VI. Issue of - payment authorities for contractors claims

(Para VIII of the minutes of the Sixth Meeting).

The Committee noted that some progress regarding verification of these claims had been made since January, 1961 and hoped that the speed of verification and issue of payment authorities and release of security documents would be accelerated.

Item VII. Gold Loan Accounts

(Para XI of the minutes of the Sixth Meeting)

The lists in regard to gold loan accounts under the three categories specified in the minutes of the meeting held on 22nd/23rd January, 1958, were, exchanged. India said that they would ascertain the wishes of the pawners whether they would redeem the valuables by remitting money from India to Pakistan, or would like the valuables to be sold by the banks in Pakistan and the balance amount, if any, to be remitted to them. They would send this information to the Pakistan Government by the 15th August, 1961.
Pakistan stated that the three gold loan accounts out of the list of 21 previously given had since been cleared with the State Bank of India, Lahore, and the surplus jewellery relating to these accounts would be handed over to the diplomatic representative of India shortly.

Item VIII. Non-payment of dividends to shareholders
(Para XVI of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

Pakistan gave a list of cases in which the shareholders were experiencing some difficulty in the receipt of dividends from the Indian companies. India promised to look into the matter. India also referred to similar cases on their side which were brought to the notice of Pakistan at previous meetings. Pakistan promised to expedite these cases.

Item IX. Joint Committee
(Para XVII of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

It was noted that the Joint Committee will be meeting shortly at Lahore to resume its work. It was agreed that the committee will so fix its programme as to be able to decide the third-party claims against the contents of lockers and safe deposits in accordance with the programme laid down by the Implementation Committee.

Item X. Payment of compensation for Reserve Bank of India shares (Para XVIII of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

Pakistan urged that these claims related to payment of compensation to individuals who were under-going unnecessary hardships because of the delay in payment. India agreed to examine the matter and communicate the result as soon as possible.

Item XI. Defective and damaged currency notes
(Para XIX of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

As indicated by the present position, this item has nearly been exhausted. It was agreed that this might in future be discussed between the two Central Claims Organisations and not appear on the agenda of the Implementation Committee.

Item XII. Cash amount relating to Court of Wards and Manager, Encumbered Estate, Hyderabad (Sind).
(Para XX of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

The Pakistan Government has handed over payment authority for Rs.90,342-15-0 and this might now be treated as a closed item.
Item XIII. Finalisation of claims under the Transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act (Para XXI of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

Pakistan stated that in regard to the cash court deposits of Begumbari Devi and Khan Moinuddin Khan Lodhi of Sirsa and the cash deposits made by residents of East Punjab and Delhi in the Punjab High Court for printing fees, etc. there were difficulties in transferring these cash deposits because of an agreement between the two Punjabs about such payments. Whilst the Pakistan Government were agreeable to the transfer of the deposits being made in these cases, they felt that the actual transfer should be made in accordance with the procedure already laid down and not under a new procedure, India pointed out that at the last meeting of the Implementation Committee it was decided to treat these cases on a separate footing, and it was for this reason that India in respect of the deposit of Mr. Z. A. Bhutto even though his case was not strictly covered by the transfer of Evacuee Deposits Act. However in view of the insistence of the Pakistan Government that the procedure previously agreed in regard to such payments should be followed, it was decided that exchange in regard to the securities of Begunbari Devi and Khan Moin-ud-Din Khan Lodhi of Sirsa and payment of Mr. Z.A. Bhutto would take place on 22nd August, 1961, at Delhi.

Pakistan also agreed to supply on 22nd August, 1961, a verified list of the deposits made by the residents of East Punjab and Delhi in the Punjab. High Court for Printing fee; etc.

Item XIV. Claims of Indian nationals for amounts advanced to courts of wards, Manager, Encumbered Estates, or the Wards of Courts before they came under the superintendence of the Courts of Wards or Manager, Encumbered Estates.
(Para. XXII of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

A reference in regard to cases where decrees had been obtained by Indian nationals against the courts of wards or Manager, Encumbered Estates, but the decrees could not be executed so far, has already been made, to the Pakistan Government. Pakistan agreed to have the examination of this reference expedited. India also added that there were certain cases of Indian nationals in which though the decrees had not been obtained, the Courts of Wards or the Manager, Encumbered Estates, had admitted the liability. Even so, such persons were not able to realize the money. He urged that in equity such persons should also be enabled to realize their dues in Pakistan. For instance, in the shape of non-resident accounts. Pakistan promised to examine a specific case of this nature if it was referred to them.

Item XV. Decrees obtained by the Collector. Montgomery against the Punjab National Bank

(Para XXIII of the minutes of the meeting).

This is a closed item and should be taken out of the agenda. It will be processed between the two Punjabs.

Item XVI. Payment of compensation of Sialkot Electric Supply Company deposited in a blocked account with a bank in Pakistan (Para XXIV of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

Pakistan informed India that it had now been decided that this account would be treated as a non-resident account in Pakistan, This item will now be treated as closed.

Item XVII. Exchange of Revenue Records

(Para X of the minutes of the sixth meeting).

(1) Non-agreed areas

Pakistan stated that in view of the delay that had occurred in the supply of revenue records in regard to non-agreed areas they had decided to review their approach to the problem which they wanted to solve on the basis of these records. The alternative suggestion made in this connection, viz, supply of extracts from the Custodian’s records was then considered, and Pakistan enquired if the extracts would include the position of the migrants or the d.ps. before the enforcement of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition & Land Preforms Act came into force. India explained that these extracts would reflect that position. It was clarified by India that the record supplied would include all rights in agricultural lands (including groves and gardens) that had been taken over as evacuee property by the custodian. These records could be authenticated by a certificate that the Custodian’s ‘records’ were based on revenue records and other evidence and would contain particulars of all rights in agricultural lands taken over by the Custodian as evacuee property on the date of migration of the evacuee. India promised to make special arrangements for the supply of these extracts within a period of two months.

(2) Agreed areas

(i) Since the last meeting of the Implementation Committee, Pakistan has supplied 624 Jamabandis and certificates regarding evacuee interests. These include 49 not mentioned among 2843 villages referred to in the minutes of the last meeting. The unsatisfied demand of India now stands at 2268 and Pakistan has agreed to supply the same expeditiously

(ii) Colony Rights statements India asked for about 10500 colony rights statements at the time of the last meeting. Pakistan promised to return the lists to India expeditiously complete in all respects. Pakistan stated that colony right statements covering a break up of 2700 Asamis had been delivered to India.

(iii) Village Lists 65 Directories have been given by Pakistan. According to India, directories of 18 Tehsils of Sindh including Khairpur and 7 of N.W.F.P. and Baluchistan were still due. Pakistan promised to supply the same after checking up the demand.

Pakistan has supplied lists of Hazara, Bannu, and Mardan Districts as demanded by India.

(iv) Comparison of Records at Wagah Border Representatives of both countries agreed that work of comparison at Wagah border was progressing smoothly and satisfactorily.

(v) Revenue Records of agreed Areas due from India
   (a) India promised to expedite supply of 947 special Jamabandis.
   (b) Officer on Special Duty (Pakistan) would get in touch with Financial Commissioner, Punjab, (India) and the latter would get the 8676 outstanding Fardat-i-badar cleared.
   (c) India handed over directories of Delhi State. Directories of Alwar, Bharatpur and Himachal Pradesh would be supplied when received from the States. India promised to remind these States.
   (d) India handed over the information asked for regarding 30 villages of Delhi State,
   (e) India has received information regarding 237 Jagirs and Muafi estates of Alwar and Bikaner from the Rajasthan Government, and after checking it up, the same would be supplied to Pakistan.

It was agreed that Shri Y.L.Taneja, Deputy Chief Settlement Commissioner, Government of India, Ministry of Rehabilitation, on behalf of India and Mr. Sutan Mohammad, Settlement Commissioner on behalf of Pakistan would collect and exchange the necessary information in respect of lands.

XVIII. Next meeting

It was agreed that the next meetings of the Implementation Committees under the Movable Property and Banking Agreements will be held from 24th to 27th October, 1961, at Rawalpindi.

3258. Joint communiqué issued on the detailed procedure for the transfer of Bank Accounts of evacuees and the collection of the contents of lockers and safe-deposits from India and Pakistan.

New Delhi, July 10, 1961.

Further meetings of the Implementation Committees set up under the Movable Property and Banking Agreements were held at New Delhi on July 7 and 8, 1961.

In pursuance of the decision taken by the Rehabilitation Ministers of Pakistan and India at Calcutta, the mechanics for transfer of bank accounts of evacuees together with funds from the en-bloc areas were worked out. All the accounts along with the funds will be transferred on September 30, 1961. Regarding non-en-bloc areas, it was agreed that verified lists of accounts will be exchanged and the procedure for payment will be examined further.

It was also agreed that facilities for the realization of the assets of the Indian displaced banks in Pakistan would be provided in accordance with the provisions of the agreements already arrived at between the two countries.

A detailed procedure was also drawn up for the collection of the contents of lockers and safe deposits at Lahore and Delhi and their handing over to the diplomatic representative of the other country.

It was decided that the lists of lockers in which the two countries are interested and of third party claim against lockers and safe deposits received up to November 30, 1955, would be exchanged at Lahore on August 1, 1961. The contents of lockers and safe deposits will be brought to Lahore and Delhi by the end of August 1961. Simultaneously, the Joint Committee consisting of the representatives of the two countries would examine and decide the third party claims against the lockers and safe deposits. The contents of lockers and safe deposits collected at Lahore and Delhi would be handed over to the diplomatic representative of the other country on September 30, 1961.

India agreed to release securities worth about Rs.9 Lakh belonging to the local bodies in Pakistan and lying with the D.A.G., P&T, Calcutta. They also agreed to release the accumulated dividends or interest on the shares and securities of Pakistani nationals, lying with the banks in India.

There were further exchanges of cheques for sale proceeds of movable property and of securities and payment authorities in respect of court deposits.

3259. Minutes of the 5th Meeting of the Implementation Committee on the Banking Agreement held at Karachi on the 12th December, 1961.

PRESENT

PAKISTAN
1. Mr. M. H. Sufi, Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation and Works.
2. Mr. E. A. Naik, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance, Department of Economic Affairs.
3. Mr. S. Azhar Ali, Deputy Chief Officer, Banking Control Deptt, State Bank of Pakistan.
4. Mr. Khair Din, Section Officer, Ministry of Finance.

INDIA
1. Shri Dharma Vira, Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.
2. Shri R. K. Seshadri, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Finance.
3. Shri S. Prasada, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.
4. Shri W. T. Korke, Deputy Chief Officer, Department of Banking, Reserve Bank of India, New Delhi.
I. Cancellation of the orders freezing the assets of Indian displaced banks

The Pakistan representatives stated that the orders issued by the Custodian of Evacuee property, Pakistan in 1958, freezing the assets of Indian banks had been withdrawn. Copies of the cancellation orders were furnished to the Indian representatives in the meeting.

The Indian representatives pointed out that the Punjab National Bank had been required to deposit securities or the realised sale proceeds of the movable property pledged or hypothecated to them with the State Bank of Pakistan. The Indian representatives desired that those restrictions, unless they were imposed under the normal banking laws of Pakistan, might also be withdrawn. The Pakistan representatives promised to look into this matter and to send a communication to the Ministry of Finance, Government of India, by the end of January, 1962.

II. Procedure for the transfer of accounts and funds to and from the en bloc transfer areas;

The Committee noted that on the 30th November, 1961, bank drafts of Rs.8.71 lakhs were furnished by India to Pakistan and of Rs.2.25 lakhs by Pakistan to India in respect of the verified accounts.

The Pakistan representatives pointed out that verified accounts of Muslim individuals of the value of Rs.35,652/- had not been transferred by India on the 30th November, 1961. The Indian representatives stated that the matter was under correspondence with the bank concerned and that they would get these accounts, along with funds transferred to Pakistan as early as possible.

The Indian representatives pointed out that against their claims amounting to Rs.5.82 lakhs, Pakistan finally admitted accounts of the value of Rs.5.13 lakhs. The Pakistan representatives stated that against the accounts of Rs.12.63 lakhs due to be transferred from India to Pakistan, India admitted accounts of the value of Rs.11.67 lakhs, fit was agreed that the two Central Banks would exchange detailed statements explaining the discrepancies by the 15th January, 1962.

The Indian representatives pointed out that in addition to the accounts of Rs.5.13 lakhs already transferred from Pakistan to India on the 30th November, 1961, two accounts of the value of Rs.11,700/- held by the National City Bank were also eligible for transfer to India. The Pakistan representatives explained that in the case of one of these accounts, funds had already been transferred to India, while in the other case, the head office of the bank in India had stated that the transfer of funds was not necessary. The Indian representatives stated that they would check up from the bank in India whether the funds had actually been transferred in the first case and would also find out from the bank the reasons why it was not considered necessary to transfer the funds to India in the latter case. It was agreed that, if the funds had not previously been transferred to India and if the bank desired to have them transferred, the necessary transfer would be permitted.

The Indian representatives mentioned that certain accounts of non-Muslim individuals not included in the figure of Rs.5.82 lakhs mentioned above were pending verification in Pakistan. The Pakistan representatives agreed to get these accounts verified by the 15th January, 1962.

As regards the joint accounts of individuals and the accounts of sole proprietary firms, the Indian representatives pointed out that such accounts of the value of 35,656 held by the Punjab National Bank and the State Bank of Patiala had been transferred from India to Pakistan on the 30th November, 1961 along with the necessary funds. No account in this category was, however, transferred from Pakistan to India on that date. It was agreed that the two Central Banks would verify all the joint accounts of individuals and the accounts of sole proprietary firms eligible for transfer on en bloc basis, and would exchange the verified lists by the 15th January, 1962.

The Indian representatives referred to paragraph 8(c) of the agreed decisions incorporated in the Review of the Banking Agreement, 1956, and stated that they would like the accounts of partnership firms and companies, clubs, institutions, societies, trusts and statutory bodies to be transferred and paid in accordance with the general arrangements agreed upon between the two countries in regard to the accounts located in the agreed and the non-agreed areas. They would also like the accounts operated upon after the 31st December, 1947, joint accounts of provident funds of evacuee teachers of private educational institutions and accounts of contractors whose security deposits had been released by the pledgee Government departments to be transferred and paid in both the countries on the same basis.

The Pakistan representatives agreed that the shares of evacuee teachers of private educational institutions in the conjoint accounts of provident funds kept with commercial banks and the accounts of contractors (other than companies and partnership firms) the documents relating to which had been previously pledged with Government departments but had been released by the latter subsequently, would be eligible for transfer from one country to the other on an en bloc on matching basis according as these accounts were located in the agreed or the non-agreed areas. They pointed out that the released security deposits of contractors, who were companies or partnership firms, would be transferable on the same basis as would be applicable to the accounts of companies and partnership firms. They further pointed out that the accounts of companies and partnership firms falling in the agreed areas had been excluded from the benefit of en-bloc transfer. Consequently such accounts, whether they were located in the agreed areas or the non-agreed areas, would be transferable on a matching basis only.

As regards the accounts of clubs, institutions, societies, trusts and statutory bodies, the Pakistan representatives stated that no agreement had been reached between the two countries with respect to their exemption from the evacuee property laws or with respect to their eligibility for transfer from one country to the other. Since the segregation of the interests of evacuees and non-evacuees in such accounts involved practical difficulties, which could not be easily resolved, the Government of Pakistan did not find it feasible to bring these accounts within the purview of the Banking Agreement.

The Pakistan representatives agreed that the accounts of evacuee depositors which were operated upon after the 31st December, 1947 should be eligible for transfer from one country to the other provided the depositors concerned had made specific requests for their transfer, and provided also that such accounts falling in the agreed areas were in existence on the 31st December, 1947.

III. Procedure for the transfer and payment of accounts transferable on a matching basis:

The Indian representatives referred to paragraph III (3) of the minutes of the fourth meeting of the Implementation Committee held at New Delhi and stated that they had prepared a classified list of undisputed accounts eligible for transfer from India to Pakistan on a matching basis, showing separately the value of the accounts up to Rs.250, Rs500, Rs.750, Rs.1000 and more, than Rs.1,000. They said that if a similar list of undisputed verified accounts transferable from Pakistan to India was also ready, the question whether payments could be made immediately on the bank-wise matching basis could be examined at the next meeting. The Indian representatives added that after some progress had been made in this direction, they would be prepared to consider if payments could be undertaken on the basis of overall matching between the two countries.

It was agreed that the State Bank of Pakistan would prepare a list similar to the one prepared by the Reserve Bank of India in respect of undisputed accounts eligible for transfer to India on a matching basis. The statements would show under separate headings (a) Individual accounts, joint accounts of individuals and accounts of sale proprietary firms in the non-agreed areas and (b) accounts of partnership firms and companies in the non-agreed areas. The two Central Banks would exchange such lists by the 11th January, 1962. The Pakistan representatives reiterated their stand that the transfer of accounts on a matching basis was intended to involve matching on country-to-country basis and not on bank-to-bank basis. In their view, this was the only practical method of settling this issue expeditiously. The bank-wise matching basis would be more complicated and would involve inordinate delay in the transfer of accounts and should, therefore, be discarded in favor of the overall matching basis which would be much simpler.

IV. Grant of facilities to the banks for realization of their assets.

The Indian representatives referred to paragraph 6(a) of the agreed decisions incorporated in the Review of Banking Agreement, 1956, and pointed out that Indian banks were experiencing certain difficulties in realising the amounts due to them against the mortgage of Immovable property, in view of the provisions of the Satisfaction of Charges (Evacuee Property) Rules, 1961, issued by the Government of Pakistan in March, 1961 and the notification issued by the Chief Settlement Commissioner in July, 1961, supplementing the provisions of these Rules. The Indian representatives stated that in particular the provisions of Rules 4 of the said Rules, which limited the total amount receivable by a bank, and the requirement that the charges would have to be proved before the Chief Settlement Commissioner were somewhat onerous from the point of view, of the Indian banks. The Indian delegation suggested that the question of liberalising the provisions of these Rules might, if possible, be considered;

The Pakistan representatives stated that the Satisfaction of Charges (Evacuee Property) Rules, 1961 applied to every individual whether the individual was a Pakistani or a non-Pakistani. The Indian banks were not being discriminated against so far as the provisions of these Rules were concerned. It would not, therefore, be possible for the Government of Pakistan to make an exemption in favor of the Indian banks.

The Indian representatives then referred to paragraph 1(c) and 2(vii) of the agreed decisions incorporated in the Review of the Banking Agreement, 1956, regarding the realisation of the amounts due to the banks in respect of movable properties pledged or hypothecated to them and suggested that appropriate general instructions might be issued by the Pakistan Government to the various Government departments and also to the Custodian of Evacuee Property for restoring to the banks the amounts due to them on account of admitted or verified claims and granting other necessary facilities to the Indian banks as envisaged in these paragraphs. The Pakistan representatives, agreed to issue the necessary instructions and to furnish copies thereof to the Government of India by the end of January, 1962. They however made it clear that it would be for the banks themselves to pursue their claims with the appropriate authorities in Pakistan.
V. Inclusion of banks working under both schemes or in liquidation within the scope of the Banking Agreement.

The Indian representatives stated, that a statement showing the particulars relating to the banks which were in liquidation or which were working under schemes of arrangement had been supplied by the Reserve Bank of India to the State Bank of Pakistan. The representative of the State Bank of Pakistan stated that this statement was received by the Bank only a few days ago and that they would take some time to analyze it.

It was agreed that the State Bank of Pakistan would examine this list and would prepare a similar list in respect of banks working under schemes of arrangement or in liquidation in Pakistan for supply to the Reserve Bank of India as soon as possible. In the light of the information furnished by the State Bank of Pakistan, the Government of India would direct the banks which were in liquidation or were working under schemes in India but had taken no steps for the payment of their liabilities in Pakistan to apply to the appropriate authorities in Pakistan for getting’s schemes sanctioned for their Pakistani branches or for making arrangements for the liquidation of their affairs in Pakistan as early as possible.

As regards the suggestion made by Pakistan delegation in the last meeting that the funds for the payment of accounts at these banks, should be allowed to be remitted from one country to the other irrespective of the area in which these accounts were located, the Indian representatives stated that their Government was unable to agree to this suggestion. The Pakistan representatives pointed out that if their suggestion regarding remittance of funds was not accepted, then the decisions already taken in the last meeting of the Implementation Committee with respect to the accounts of evacuees at these banks would be of no avail.

It was agreed that the position in regard to this item would be considered further in the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

Joint Press note issued after the end of talks between the implementation committees.

Joint Press Note

December 13, 1961

The Implementation Committees set up under the Movable Property and the Banking Agreements, met at Karachi from 11th to 13th December, 1961. The Committees reviewed the progress made in the implementation of the decisions taken at their previous meetings held at New Delhi in July 1961. It was noted that as agreed at the last meeting the Pakistan Government has issued a notification declaring the displaced Indian banks as non-evacuee concerns and has also issued, instructions for de-freezing their assets in Pakistan. It was further noted that bulk of the lockers, safe deposits and bank accounts of evacuees in the en-bloc areas had been exchanged on 30th November, 1961. It was decided that the exchange of the remaining lockers, safe deposits should take place on 15th January 1962, and that the transfer of the remaining bank accounts in the en-bloc areas should be expedited. It was further agreed that early steps should be taken to start the exchange of the bank accounts in the non-agreed areas on a matching basis.

2. It was also noted with satisfaction that the work relating to the exchange of revenue records had almost been completed and it was decided that the residual work should be finished expeditiously

3. The other items discussed at the meeting were the release of gold loan accounts and shares and securities of evacuees lying with banks and the accumulated dividends thereon, payment of compensation for assets of Indian Joint Stock Companies in West Pakistan and the Reserve Bank of India shares belonging to evacuees. With regard to the gold loan accounts, it was decided that in cases where the banks have sold the jewellery and gold deposited by the evacuees for recovery of their dues, the surplus sale proceeds and or jewellery and gold should be handed over on 15.2.1962. In cases where the loanees have expressed their desire to redeem their valuables the jewellery and gold should be released on 15.2.1962 provided the bank charges are paid prior to that date. Regarding release of accumulated dividends on shares and securities of evacuees lying with banks it was decided that instructions would be issued expeditiously for the payment of these dividends to the holders of shares and securities in either country. As for Joint Stock Companies, it was agreed that where the company was held to be non-evacuee, both its movable and immovable property would be restored or compensation paid in lieu thereof and in cases where the company was an evacuee its movable assets would be restored or compensation paid in lieu thereof. In both cases, the third party claims would first be satisfied. Simultaneously with the payment of compensation for the assets of Joint Stock of companies the shares and securities of evacuees lying with banks would be released and compensation paid for the Reserve Bank of India shares held by the evacuees.

India has agreed to release the Government of India securities purchased by Pakistan nationals through the P. O. Saving Bank and held in the custody of the DAG P & T, Calcutta.

Item - IV. Postal Items

(i) Postal Life Insurance

The exchange of valuation certificates in case of Postal Life Insurance policies continues to make satisfactory progress. Lists of pending items have been exchanged and verified by each side.

(ii) Transfer of Post Office Savings Bank accounts and Savings Certificates;

The exchange of verified lists was resumed at Karachi with effect from the 15th February, 1962. It was agreed that the progress of exchange of lists during the last six weeks had been rather slow and that it should be accelerated.

(iii) Conjoint Accounts

(iv) Court deposits held as Post Office Savings Bank accounts or Savings Certificates.
The final remarks have been sent by the Indian Administration to the Director General of Pakistan Post Office. The Pakistan representative stated that they are under check with Audit and that orders would be issued in the matter very soon.

(v) Transfer of Government of India securities held by Pakistan Nationals and deposited with the Deputy Accountant General Posts and Telegraphs, Calcutta.

(a) Securities of Local bodies: The Indian representative undertook to expedite action in accordance with item IV(v)(a) of the minutes of the 8th meeting and promised that the Director-General of Posts and Telegraphs, New Delhi, will supply the Director-General of Pakistan Post Office, Karachi, information in the form of following statement by the 30th April, 1962.

(a) Name of the Local body.

(b) Particulars of the securities held.

(c) Amount of claim as made out by the ex-employee.

(d) Amount of claim of ex-employees of local bodies who are now Indian nationals as verified by the local body.

(e) Particulars of securities proposed to be held back after taking into consideration the interest accrued thereon.

(f) Particulars and amount of the securities proposed to be released to the local body.

Thereafter the Director General Pakistan Post Office will arrange collection of the safe custody receipts in respect of these securities which are proposed to be enfaced for payment in Pakistan from the local bodies concerned and depute an officer to collect those securities from the Senior Deputy Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, Calcutta. Director-General Pakistan Post Office, will intimate the date on which his officer will visit Calcutta.

(b) Individual Securities: It was noted that the Government of India, Ministry of Finance (Communications Division) had issued instructions to the Senior Deputy Accountant-General, Posts and Telegraphs, Calcutta, in their communication No.1838 (A)-PTI/62, dated the 24th March, 1962 for the transfer of securities held by individuals to the Deputy Controller, P&T., Dacca, duly enfaced for payment in Pakistan.

(vi) Post partition accounts and certificates:
It was agreed at the 4th meeting of the Implementation Committee that post-partition accounts would also be transferable, but the decision could not be implemented for want of an agreement on the method of settlement. It has now been agreed that post partition Savings Bank Accounts and Certificates transferred by 31st March; 1948, will be recognised as regular and the initial liability in respect thereof will be assumed by the country to which these accounts were transferred and adjusted through Indo-Pakistan Settlement Account as a special case.

3262. Minutes of the 9th Meeting of the Implementation Committee under the Moveable Property Agreement held on the 29th to 31st March, 1962 at New Delhi

Present

India

1. Shri Dharma Vira, I.C.S., Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.
2. Shri A. N. Mehta, Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan.
3. Shri R. K. Seshadri, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Finance,
4. Shri S. Prasada, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.

Pakistan

1. Mr. M. K. Sufi, C.S.P., Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation & Works,
2. Mr. E. A. Naik, C.S.P., Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance
3. Mr. M. Rahman, Deputy High Commissioner, for Pakistan in India
4. Mr. K. A. Rehman, Deputy Director General, P.&T.
Welcoming the Pakistan delegation to the ninth meeting of the Implementation Committee, Shri Dharma Vira expressed satisfaction at the good progress made in the last two meetings with the cooperation of the leader of the Pakistan delegation. He also assured that India would make an intensive drive to completely liquidate as many cases as possible in the near future so that the next meeting should see the end of the labours in regard to this agreement.

Mr. Sufi thanked the leader of the Indian delegation for the welcome accorded to his delegation and reciprocated the assurance that Pakistan would try to settle all outstanding items in a spirit of accommodation and understanding.

The Committee then took up the agenda and reviewed the position regarding the progress made in the implementation of the decisions taken at the last meeting.
ITEM I. Exchange of sale proceeds of movable property

(i) Cases of “Commitments” made by Pakistan.
Out of 32 cases 9 had been finalized and their cheques delivered to India. The Pakistan representative promised to get the disposal of the remaining 23 cases expedited.

(ii) Cases of sale proceeds of movable property auctioned in the presence of Diplomatic representatives.
Out of the 13 cases, sale proceeds in regard to four cases had already been passed on to India. In one case, the return was nil because there were third party claims exceeding the amount of the sale proceeds. In another case payment had already been made in 1958. The Pakistan representative handed over bank drafts for Rs.3,398.37 nP. representing sale proceeds of four cases of Karachi and for Rs.333.25 nP for three cases of Larkana. All the cases under this head have thus been finalised and the item would be treated as closed.

(iii) Cases of movable property in which India had asked Pakistan to auction the movable property and to pay the sale proceeds to India.
Out of 56 cases, the sale proceeds of 9 cases amounting to Rs.702.50 had been handed over to India. The Pakistan representative handed over further bank draft for Rs.994.10 nP. representing the sale proceeds of 10 more cases. He added that efforts would be made to finalise the remaining 37 cases also expeditiously.

Pakistan also handed over a bank draft for Rs.999.50 nP. in respect of the sale proceeds of the seized property of Shri D.C. Sharma of Rawalpindi.

(iv) Cases of property allotted or acquired
The position in regard to these cases was stated by the Pakistan representative to be as follows:

(a) Calcutta Tanneries: A cheque for Rs.59,437.30 nP was handed over to India.

(b) Durgadutt Jai Gopal: This case was still under enquiry.

(c) Ramdas Jeweller: The Pakistan representative on the Joint Committee would fix an early date for a Joint inspection of the statues at the places where they were located.

(d) Rai Bahadur Mela Ram Mills: This case might be treated as closed as there were third party claims in excess of the sale proceeds.

(e) Ganesh Khopra Mills: The case was still under enquiry. The Pakistan representative promised to get the enquiry expedited.
(v) Cases referred by Pakistan to India

At the last meeting, India had stated that 4 cases had been finalised. Of these, cheques in respect of two cases relating to Mr. Yusuf Adam of Flex Boot House of Indore and Mr. Manzur Ilahi of English Electric Store at Meerut, amounting to Rs.29,867.72 nP had been given to Pakistan. The cheque regarding the case of Messrs. Shahabuddih Mohd. Ibrahim amounting to Rs.1,800/- was handed over to Pakistan. The cheque pertaining to the case of Mr. Manzoor Hussain had, however, not yet been received from the Custodian of Evacuee Property, Punjab. He had been directed to expedite the remittance. As soon as it was received, it would be handed over to Pakistan.

The Pakistan Government had handed over for enquiry a list of 238 cases in July, 1961 and a further list of 225 cases in December, 1961 in all 513 cases. Out of these, 385 cases related to fire-arms and 323 to movable property. In 37 cases, India had already informed Pakistan that the property was not traceable. The remaining cases were being pursued with the State Governments/Custodians of Evacuee Property.

(vi) Cases referred by India to Pakistan.

India had handed over a list of 291 new cases to Pakistan in December, 1961. The Pakistan representative stated that these cases were under enquiry.

(vii) New lists handed over at this meeting

Pakistan handed over a list of 235 cases while India gave a list of 404 cases. Pakistan handed over another list of 16 cases which they wanted to be enquired into specially. Similarly, India handed over a list of 7 such cases. Both the Governments would try to finalise these cases before the next meeting of the Implementation Committee.

It was agreed that special efforts will be made to finalise the cases at (v), (vi) and (vii) above either way before the next meeting of the Implementation Committee and if by then no progress could be made in any of these cases, they should be treated as untraceable and dropped. This would, however, not apply to cases referred to in sub-paras (i) to (iv) above, where documentary evidence already existed and enquiries were being made on the basis of the available evidence.

ITEM II. Transfer of lockers and safe deposits

(i) Lockers/safe deposits to be transferred from India to Pakistan

The Indian representative stated that contents of all the four outstanding lockers of M/s Sayed Mohd. Zaki Hussain, Sarvatullah Kirmani and Mussamat Kaniz Bai lying with the Bank of India Ahmedabad and Central Bank of India Lucknow were, handed over to the representative of the Pakistan Government on 30.1.1962. Sale proceeds of the contents of one other locker amounting to Rs.3,735.56 were also handed over to him on that date. The cheque for the sale proceeds of another locker for Rs.484.50 nP. was handed over to Pakistan.

Regarding the locker of Haji Vali Mohd. S/o Abba Khanoo in the State Bank of Saurashtra, it was explained that this locker actually belonged to Marium Bai Trust and this fact was borne out by the waqf deed, an affidavit of Haji Vali Mohd. made on 30th April 1952 and the payment of hire charges of the locker by the Trust. The Pakistan representative suggested that the question of this locker might be further examined by the Joint Committee. This was agreed to.

As for the supplementary list of 11 lockers sent by the Pakistan Government, it was stated that the locker belonging to Hakim Abdus Samad Khan had already been handed over to Pakistan on 30.11.1961. As regards the locker shown in the name of Mr. Laloo S/o Mr. Gathi, it had been found that there was no branch of Central Bank of India at Barnala in Patiala State. As for the safe deposit of Mr. Salamat Ali Shah, in the Patiala Treasury, it was not a safe deposit with a bank and was therefore not covered by the agreement. It was agreed that the Pakistan Government would give further clarification in regard to this locker. Further enquiries regarding the remaining 8 lockers would be completed within a period of two months.

(ii) Lockers to be handed over by Pakistan to India

The Indian representative enquired about the position of 14 lockers and two safe deposits in the National Savings Bank Ltd., Multan which is under liquidation. The Pakistan representative stated, that the liquidator had informed them that these lockers and safe deposits were not traceable in their records.

The Indian representative pointed out that one of the above safe deposits belonging to Shri Ram Ditta Mal, opened under the authority of the Custodian, Pakistan, was included in Statement No. II-B handed over to India. The contents of this safe deposit should be handed over to India. The Pakistan representative requested that a reference may be made to the Pakistan Government about this safe deposit.

The Indian representative then referred to the case of 12 lockers with the National Bank of Lahore, in which the ledger sheets relating to these lockers were not traceable. There was, however, other sufficient collateral evidence to establish that these lockers belonged to non-Muslim evacuees. This evidence included, permits granted by the Additional Custodian, Lahore, decree of a court in Lahore and original receipts granted by the bank to the depositors. The Indian representative suggested that as an additional safeguard, the Pakistan Government might put in a press advertisement inviting claims against these lockers from their nationals and asking them to indicate the contents of the lockers. These claims should be filed, within, two months from the date of advertisement. In cases where no claims are received, the contents of lockers might be handed over to India while in those where claims are received, the matter might be examined by the Joint Committee. The Pakistan representative agreed to this proposal.

Regarding the two cases, one lying in the Traders Bank Ltd. and the other in the Lahore Safe Deposit Vault, in which certain ornaments had been found bearing chits showing that they were pledged by Muslims, it was agreed that the Joint Committee would determine the amounts payable by the pawners, including principal and interest which would be calculated at 3% per annum after 15.8.1947. For the period prior to 15.8.1947, interest would be calculated at the rate mentioned in the chit and if there is no such recital at 3% per annum.

As regards, the locker of the Frontier Bank with the Central Bank of India, Lahore, it was agreed that since the valuables deposited by the Frontier Bank belonged to individual evacuees, they should be treated on the same lines as gold loan accounts. These valuables would be handed over to the owners on payment of the bank’s dues in Pakistan. The valuables belonging to Pakistani nationals would be left with the bank.

The Indian representative pointed out that the contents of one locker and one safe deposit had been detained in Pakistan, because they consisted of fire-arms. As there was already an agreement regarding the exchange of fire arms between India and Pakistan, it was suggested that these fire-arms might be handed over to India. The Pakistan representative agreed to this proposal.

(iii) Rental charges of lockers and safe deposits of Muslim evacuees

The Indian representative stated that the Indian banks, viz., the State Bank of India, Central Bank of India, Punjab National Bank, United Commercial Bank and the Punjab & Sind Bank had agreed to levy the same charges in regard to the above lockers/safe deposits as they had levied in the case of lockers/safe deposits; of non-Muslim evacuees with their branches in Pakistan. On this basis, a revised bill would be sent to the Pakistan Government, for payment. This was agreed to.

ITEM III. B

(i) Restoration of properties of Joint Stock Companies or payment of compensation therefor where properties have been acquired or allotted.

The Pakistan representative handed over a copy of the Gazette notification regarding the Kamani Electric Company, Lahore; Chicago Radio & Telephone Company, Lahore and the Sardar Carbonic Gas Co., Rawalpindi, divesting the Custodian of Evacuee Property or any other person authorised by him, of the properties belonging to these Joint Stock Companies.

As regards the other four companies, namely, Punjab Electric Power Company Ltd. Gujrat & Montgomery, Gojra Electric Supply Co. Ltd., Fazilka Electric Supply Co. Ltd. and the Okara Electric Supply Co. Ltd. the Pakistan representative stated that while the first three companies had given notices to the Registrar, Joint Stock Companies under section 72(2) of the Indian Companies Act, the fourth company had not given any such notice. He added that mere giving of notice u/s. 72(2) regarding the transfer of their registered offices from one place to another was not sufficient evidence of the transfer. In addition, there should also be evidence about the physical transfer of the office to the new place.

This view was borne out by the judgment of the East Punjab High Court in the case of Batala Engineering Co. The Indian representative felt that the facts of the case of the Batala Engineering Co, were different from those of the case’s of the above 4 companies.

The Indian representative further stated/that In addition to the Companies, whose list was furnished at the last meeting, there were ten other companies whose cases had to be considered. A list of such companies was handed over to the representative of Pakistan. One of these Companies namely the Mukand Iron & Steel Company had its registered office in India from the very beginning. This company should be treated on the same lines as the three companies in respect of which divesting orders were proposed to be issued by Pakistan. Regarding the other nine companies, their cases were similar to those of the four companies referred to in the preceding paragraph. He said that this was the last and final list of cases of Joint Stock Companies, which could be regarded as non-evacuee concerns. He urged that the cases of all those companies should be examined in a spirit of accommodation without undue emphasis on technicalities because a number of other items under the agreement were held up for wants of agreement on this particular item.

The Pakistan representative agreed to consider these cases in that spirit. It was further agreed that the Joint Committee would prepare a report on these cases within a month after which the leaders of the two delegations would meet together to finalise them.

(ii) Release and restoration of shares, securities etc. deposited in banks

Some lists of shares, securities, etc. have already been exchanged between the two countries. It was agreed that an exchange of further lists would take place at the end of April, 1962.

The Indian representative pointed out that there were a few cases where the banks had sold the shares and securities of the evacuees lying with them under instruction of the owners. The latter had been asking for repatriation of the sale proceeds to them. There were only a few cases of this kind, but the hardship involved was considerable. He, therefore, suggested that if the Pakistan Government were willing to consider the repatriation of these sale proceeds on a reciprocal basis, he would be prepared to consider the matter. The Pakistan representative agreed to consider this proposal and to intimate his views soon.

(iii) Payment of accumulated dividends on shares and interest on securities deposited in banks.

The Pakistan representative pointed out that instructions for the release of the accumulated dividends and interest on shares and securities lying with banks had not been issued, so far. The Indian representative promised to look into the matter with a view to expediting the issue of these instructions.

ITEM IV: Postal Items.

Please see Appendix I.

ITEM V: Restoration of jewellery and other valuables seized from or deposited by migrants from Pepsu, Khairpur and Bahawaluur.

Pepsu Jewellery;

The representative of India stated that all the jewellery that could be traced had been handed over to Pakistan on the 15th January, 1962 and no other jewellery was traceable. The representative of Pakistan said that efforts to trace the remaining jewellery would be continued, because jewellery had been restored only in 248 out of 1552 cases referred to India by Pakistan. The representative of India said that efforts would be made to trace the jewellery in the remaining cases, as far as possible, but the matter was not free from difficulties in view of the conditions prevailing in Pepsu at the time of the partition. In this context the representative of Pakistan mentioned the case of the jewellery, of Begum Jamil Hassan Razvi and desired that special efforts might be made to trace this jewellery. The Indian representative said that efforts had been made in the past to trace this jewellery but without success. However, another attempt would be made to trace this jewellery.

Jewellery pawned with evacuees from Khairpur State.

The representative of Pakistan, handed over a bank draft for Rs.13,877.35 nP. in respect of the redemption proceeds of 101 cases out of 151 outstanding cases. He added that efforts would be made to trace the proceeds of the remaining 50 cases. The Indian representative handed over a further list of 39 fresh claims of Khairpur Pawnees, which the Pakistan, representative agreed to investigate.
Bahawalpur jewellery.

The representative of Pakistan stated that efforts to trace the jewellery seized from the evacuees from Ahmedpur East and Sadiqabad Tehsils of Bahawalpur; had not succeeded so far. An officer had specially been deputed, to trace this jewellery and he was already working with the local officials in Bahawalpur.

ITEM VI. Issue of payment authorities for contractors claims.

It was noted by the Committee that a large number of claims of contractors were lying unsettled on both sides. Both the delegations agreed that the settlement of such claims should be expedited as much as possible. The Indian representative particularly referred to the slow progress in the verification of Indian contractors claims against Provincial Governments. The Pakistan representative promised to take up the matter with the Provincial Governments with a view to expediting the issue of payment authorities.

ITEM VII. Gold Loan Accounts

The accounts fall under three categories:

i) Cases in which banks have already disposed of the jewellery, and the sale proceeds are to be restored after adjusting the amount of the bank’s dues.

ii) Cases in which the jewellery and gold is still with the banks and the account holders have informed the banks that they will redeem their jewellery and gold and pay the banks dues.

iii) Cases in which no claims have been filed for redemption.

The number of accounts in category (i) is 123. After adjusting the bank’s dues, there is surplus jewellery in 29 accounts and there, are surplus cash sale proceeds amounting to Rs.84,523/-/8. Out of the above 29 cases, surplus jewellery in 21 cases has been handed over to India. Jewellery in the remaining 8 cases is stated to be with the Deputy Custodian, Bahawalpur from whom enquiries are being made. The surplus cash sale proceeds of Rs.84,523/-/8 were transferred by the banks to the Deputy Rehabilitation Commissioners and by the latter to the Settlement Organisation, and the corresponding credits and debits are being traced. It was agreed that efforts would be made to trace the surplus jewellery of the said 8 accounts and the surplus cash sale proceeds of Rs.84,523/-/8 during the next one month and thereafter they would be handed over to India after deducting the bank’s dues in respect of category (ii) accounts.

The number of category (ii) accounts is 87. The Pakistan Government intimated the bank dues of only 25 accounts amounting to Rs.51,402.34 nP, India, informed Pakistan that this amount might be deducted from the surplus cash sale proceeds of the accounts of category (1) and the balance amount along with the surplus jewellery of category (i) and the jewellery of category (ii) be handed over to India. The Custodian-Pakistan made parcels of jewellery of the above 25 accounts in the beginning of March 1962, but did not hand over these parcels to India, because payment of the bank dues relating to these accounts had not been made. He also did not adjust them against the surplus sale proceeds of the accounts of category (i) because their credits had not been traced. It was agreed that the amount of Rs.84,523/-/8 would be traced, during the next one month and Rs.51,402.34 nP. adjusted against it on account of the bank dues of the above 25 accounts. Thereafter the jewellery of these accounts would be handed over to India.

The Indian representative enquired whether the bank charges in respect of the other 22 cases in category (ii) where the account holders had opted to redeem their jewelers had been obtained. Pakistan replied that banks were being reminded to give this information and as soon as it was received it would be communicated to India.

Regarding the remaining 40 accounts in category (ii), the Indian representative said that they had already informed Pakistan that the banks, might be asked to dispose of the jewellery and to adjust if their charges against the sale proceeds and to remit the surplus to India. Pakistan agreed, to expedite action in these cases.

As regards category (iii) containing 211 accounts, it was agreed that the Pakistan Government would ask the banks to dispose of the jewellery of all the pawnees except those who have already exercised the option to redeem the jewellery and whose list would be sent by India by the 15th April, 1962. In the former case, the surplus amount after adjustment of the bank’s dues and in the latter case the jewellery would be sent to India.

ITEM : VIII. Non-payment of dividends to share-holders.

The Pakistan representative stated that enquiries were being made into the cases of Mr. Sunder Singh Dhir who held shares in the New Rural Transport Company, Rawalpindi and of other evacuees who held shares in Lahore-Harike Transport Co. and a reply would soon be sent. He added that it might not be possible to restore the shares which had already been allotted to others, but the compensation therefore along with the dividends if any would be paid to the evacuee owners.

Complaints of Pakistan nationals regarding non-payment of dividends

The Indian representative read out the replies received from the Custodians in 11 cases in which they had been able to make some enquiries. It was felt that this type of enquiry was not likely to yield any fruitful results and in order to facilitate enquiries from the Reserve Bank of India, definite details of cases should be given in which permission to remit the dividend had been applied for but not given by that bank. The Pakistan representative stated that he would try to furnish a statement giving the above details in respect of the cases referred by Pakistan to India.

Complaints of Indian nationals for non-payment of dividends.
The Indian representative enquired about the result of the enquiries by the Pakistan Government in regard to the 6 cases referred to them at the last meeting. The Pakistan representative promised to examine the position and to send an early reply.

ITEM IX: Joint Committee

Please see Appendix II.

ITEM X. Payment of compensation for the Reserve Bank of India shares

The Indian representative stated that this item was linked with the payment of compensation for the assets of Joint Stock Companies, when a decision was taken about the latter item, there would not be any difficulty in disposing of this item.

ITEM XI. Claims of Court of Wards

The representative of India referred to the reply received from the Pakistan Government in regard to the claims of evacuees who had advanced loans to the Courts of Wards or Manager, Encumbered estates. In that letter, it had been stated that these cases could not be considered to be “Decree claims for money payable by or lying with the Government or quasi Government bodies”, because the claims were not covered by decrees. The representative of India pointed out that he had got these claims checked up again and out of 134 cases registered with the Central Claims Organisation, India, copies of decrees in 84 cases were on the files and in several other cases the claimants had furnished decree numbers. As these were decrees of Courts of Wards or Manager, Encumbered Estates in Pakistan, they fell in the category of Decree claims for money payable by or lying with Government or quasi Government bodies. The Pakistan representative, suggested that a reference on those lines should be made to Pakistan, which would be examined.

ITEM XII. Exchange of Revenue Records. Non-Agreed Areas.

At the time of the last meeting Pakistan-stated that Custodians records supplied by India were being checked. This had been done. The figure of 21,347 given by India has been accepted, Pakistan has now furnished a list of 1839 estates, records of which according to Pakistan have not been received by them. India promised to examine the list and supply records where still found outstanding. If any clarification of the records already supplied is needed by Pakistan, India would clarify the same.

Pakistan asked for extracts from Custodians records for another 5060 estates. India’s representative explained that they had set up special staff for meeting the original demand of 21,891 estates, which had since been disbanded, after the supply of the available records. It would therefore not be possible to meet the fresh demand as quickly as before. Efforts would, however, be made to supply them as soon as they could be collected.

2. Agreed Areas.

739 Jam bandies out of a total of 1247 outstanding against Pakistan, have since been received by India, leaving a balance of 458 including 38 plus 21 mentioned in the minutes of the 8th meeting of the Implementation Committee. These 789 jamabandies are being examined by India, and if there is any duplication etc. the figures would stand correspondingly corrected.

Pakistan stated that 311 jamabandis were ready for delivery and promised to supply the balance as early as possible. Correspondence regarding records of further 152 estates stated to have been supplied by Pakistan, was in progress out of which India had received records of 19 estates. Pakistan promised to look into the matter regarding the rest.

3. Colony Rights Statements.

Pakistan's representative stated that the entire demand regarding 2100 Assamis of Bahawalpur State had been met. India stated that actually records of 195 Assamis had been supplied and the letter of the Deputy, Commissioner of Bahawalnagar purporting to cover the balance of records did not meet their requirements. India suggested a certificate in a particular form (copy given) and Pakistan agreed to furnish the same early.

Pakistan's representative stated that information regarding the Colony rights statements of Sind promised by Pakistan at the last meeting was still being collected and would be made available to India shortly.

4. Village Lists.

Eight Directories of Sind and four of N.W.F.P. have been supplied by Pakistan since the last meeting. Wine Directories of Sind were said to be lying ready for delivery to India and Pakistan promised to supply the remaining four after collection.

5. Comparison of record at Wagah Border.

Progress of comparison of record at Wagah, Border had since improved because of the introduction of the system of issue of Fardat-e-Badar instead of production of original record at the border. This arrangement has been accepted by both sides and would be followed, as far as possible.

6. Revenue Record of Agreed Areas.

(a) As a result of premised examination Pakistan has now furnished a revised demand for 40 instead of 126 Janabandis. India promised to examine the list and furnish the outstanding records, if any.
(b) Out of a total of 5126 Fardat-e-Badar mentioned by Pakistan at the last meeting, balance according to Pakistan now was 739 for Rajasthan and 1629 for East Punjab. India promised to dispose of the outstanding Fardat-e-Badar expeditiously and pointed out that 447 Fardat-e-Badar were due from Pakistan and Pakistan promised to dispose of the same expeditiously.

(c) Copies of letters regarding Directories of Alwar and Bharatpur sent by Pakistan have been received recently and the matter is under examination by India.

ITEM XIII. Next meeting.

It was agreed that the next meetings of the Implementation Committees under the Movable Property and the Banking Agreements would be held in Pakistan in early July 1962.

3263. Letter from Pakistan Ministry of Finance to Secretary to the Government of West Pakistan regarding stopping of funds representing sale proceeds of immovable properties.

Rawalpindi, September 24, 1965.

Government of Pakistan
Ministry of Finance
(External Finance Wing)

No. 5(4) EF/EXP/63 September 24, 1965

To : The Secretary, Government of West Pakistan,
Revenue Department, Lahore,

Subject: Stopping transfer of funds representing sale proceeds of immovable properties in West Pakistan by non-Muslims of India through unauthorised channels.
Sir,

I am directed to refer to the correspondence resting with this Ministry’s letter No. 5(4)-EF/EXP/63 dated August 29, 1965 on the above subject, and to say that the sale of urban property by non-residents is already covered by the Executive Instructions issued by Government of West Pakistan vide letter No. 764-65/434-St. dated Feb. 27th 1965. If this is satisfactory then there would be no necessity to seek to affect special registration for the agricultural property. It is considered that what has been done by the West Pakistan Govt. for urban property can and should be done for agricultural property as well. The only difference may be that since agricultural property can also be sold or otherwise disposed off through the agency of the Revenue officers under the Land Alienation Act and not necessarily through registration of the deeds under the Registration Act. Similar instructions will have to be given to the Revenue authorities also in charge of mutations proceedings.

2. The problems of non residents both arising in respect of urban and agricultural property can, in the opinion of this ministry, therefore, be taken care of by executive instructions, under the existing laws. What the law is needed for, and in the country’s present situation that is the major problem is to cover the acts of resident Pakistanis. This can perhaps be done in more unobtrusive manner by amending definition of “Non-resident” in the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act to include also persons who, a registration Officer, Revenue Officer, Custodian or other Officer appointed to deal with property whether urban or rural has reason to believe, intends to leave the country.

3. I am to request that the matter may kindly be considered in the light of above and view of the provisional Govt. communicated to this Ministry of their earliest convenience.

Yours obedient Servant

No.5519-67/984-LRII, dated the 8th April, 68

From: Mr. A.H. Qureshi, S.PK,CSP
Secretary to Govt. West Pakistan, Revenue Department.

To:
   i) All Commissioners of Divisions in West Pakistan.
   ii) All Deputy Commissioners & Settlement Officers in W. Pakistan.
   iii) Colonization Officer, Thal Project Colony, Bhakkar.

Sub: Stopping transfer of funds representing sale proceeds of immovable properties in West Pakistan by non Muslims to India through unauthorised Channels.

Sir,

I am directed to enclose herewith a copy of letter No. 5-3-EF/EX/63 dated the 14th/24th September 1966 from the Government of Pakistan Ministry of Finance (External Finance Wing) Rawalpindi on this subject. It has been decided that no mutations should be sanctioned in respect of the properties (rural as well as urban) of non residents (Hindus, Sikhs and Christians etc.) who have migrated to India unless a certificate is produced from the State Bank of Pakistan certifying that the consideration money had been placed in a blocked Account with a Bank authorised to deal in Foreign Exchange in Pakistan, in the name of beneficiary.

Attention is also invited to Section 5(1) of the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1947, which lays down that no payment can be made to anybody on behalf of any nonresident without the permission of the State Bank of Pakistan and under section 6 of the said Act, such payments can only be made to blocked Account which can be operated upon in accordance with the condition laid down by the State Bank. It should please be ensured that these provisions of the Foreign Exchange Regulations Act, 1947, are rigidly endorsed in all such cases.

These instructions should be carefully complied with by all the Revenue Officers sanctioning mutation. Similar instructions have already been issued to all the Registering Authorities in the West Pakistan vide this Department memorandum No.764-65p434-St. dated the 26th Feb.65 (Copy enclosed for information).

The Government of Pakistan is being requested to amend the definition of ‘non-resident’ in the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1947, so as to include also a person whom a Revenue Officer, Registering Officer, Custodian or any other Officer appointed to deal with these properties whether urban or rural, has reason to believe, that he intends to leave the country. After this is done the Revenue Officers shall be able to refuse the mutations of resident Pakistanis who intend to sell their properties with a view to leaving the country.

TOP PRIORITY/TOP SECRET

Letter from Deputy Commissioner Jacobabad (Pakistan) to Tehsildar etc regarding stopping of transfer of funds representing sale proceeds of immovable properties of non-Muslims.

Jacobabad (Pakistan), April 27, 1968.
Office of the Deputy Commissioner
Jacobabad

No. ST – 332/68 Dated 27th April, 68
To
The Mukhtiarkar,
Kandhkot (By Name).
The Tehsildar, (By Name).

Subject: Stopping transfer of funds representing sale proceeds of immovable properties in West Pakistan by non-Muslims to India through un-authorised channels.

Enclosed herewith please find copies of secret letter No. 5519-67/984-LRII dated 8th April, 68 of the Secretary to Government of West Pakistan, Revenue Department for your strict compliance.

2. You are requested to see that the above orders are very strictly enforced. No mutations should be sanctioned in respect of the properties (rural as well as urban) of non-residents (Hindus, Sikhs and Christians etc) who have migrated to India, unless the required certificate of State Bank of Pakistan is produced.
3. Attested copies of the mutations which have been effected in the names of non-Muslims after the recent war should please be sent to this office along with original. V.Fs: VII through some reliable S.T. within three days without fail for verification so that a consolidated report may be sent to the Govt. accordingly. Beside no mutations (in respect of rural as well as urban property) should be effected in the names of non-Muslims but the detailed facts only should be to this office. If any mutation in any revenue records is changed hereafter that revenue officer will render himself liable to severe disciplinary action. This should be read very carefully and dealt with on personal/top priority basis.

4. The Mukhtiarkars and City Surveyor Officer, Jacobabad should also please send their details in respect of Jacobabad town (i.e. in respect of urban area). Receipt of this letter be please acknowledged.

3266. Statement by the Ministry of External Affairs submitted to the Lok Sabha in fulfillment of the Assurance on Starred Question No.1599.

New Delhi, June 23, 1977.

An agreement was reached between India and Pakistan in July – August, 1953 in terms of which the two Governments decided to ensure that places of religious worship in both the countries are properly protected, maintained and their sanctity preserved, and increased facilities are given for visits of pilgrims to places of worship. In May, 1955, discussions were held between the Home Ministers of India and Pakistan and an Agreement was reached which is popularly known as the Pant – Mirza Agreement. In terms of this Agreement, it was decided, among other things, that a Joint Committee of representatives of the two governments should be formed to work out details of implementation of the 1953 agreement. The Committee was to prepare a list of important shrines in West Pakistan and certain selected areas in India, the protection and preservation of which were to be the special responsibility of the government concerned.

2. The Joint Committee at its first meeting in January, 1958, tentatively decided that the number of important shrines, the preservation and maintenance of which should be made the special responsibility of the concerned government, should be limited to 200 in each country. List prepared were to be furnished to the other country. An invitation was extended to Government of Pakistan in February 1958 for holding the second meeting. Subsequently on a number occasions, the matter was raised both informally and in writing at various levels with the Government of Pakistan. But, the Government of Pakistan were unable to give a positive response to the request for holding a second meeting of the Joint Committee.

3. No further agreement was reached on the subject until September 14, 1974, when as part of the normalization process, a protocol on visits to religious places was signed at Islamabad by the Foreign Secretaries of India and Pakistan. The Protocol provided for an agreed list of shrines being drawn up for facilitating visits to such shrines. It also provided that “every effort should continue to be made to ensure that places of religious worship mentioned in the agreed list are properly maintained and their sanctity preserved.”

4. The agreed list covers the following shrines:

Shrines in India
2. Shrine of Hazrat Nizamuddin Aulia, Delhi.
4. Shrine of Hazrat Mujadid Alaf Sani at Sirhand Sharif.

Shrine in Pakistan
1. Nankana Sahib.
2. Gurudwara Panja Sahib, Hasanabdal.
5. Gurudwara Janam Asthan, Lahore.
9. Gurudwara of Sixth Guru, Mozang, Lahore.

5. The maintenance of the shrines in India and Pakistan mentioned in the agreed list is the responsibility of the government of the country where the shrines are located.

INDIA-PAKISTAN RELATIONS

SECTION - XV

FINANCIAL ISSUES
Order issued by the Government of Pakistan defining the Monetary System for Pakistan and authorizing the Reserve Bank of India to function as the Reserve Bank for Pakistan.

Karachi, August 14, 1947

14 August 1947

Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947

In exercise of the powers conferred by section (9) of the Indian Independence Act, 1947, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, the Governor-General is pleased to make the following Order:

PART I

Introductory

(1) (i) This Order may be called the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947.

(ii) It shall come into force on the 15th day of August 1947.

(2) In this Order, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,

(a) ‘the Bank’ means the Reserve Bank of India;

(b) ‘India notes’ means currency notes of the Government of India and bank notes of the Bank, other than Pakistan notes;

(c) ‘Pakistan notes’ means bank notes of the Bank inscribed in the manner provided in sub-section (ii) of section (5) of Part II of this Order;

(d) ‘India rupee coin’ means rupee coin which is for the time being legal tender in India and includes one-rupee notes;

(e) ‘India subsidiary coin’ means coin of a lower denomination than one rupee which is for the time being legal tender in India;

(f) ‘Reserve Bank Act’ means the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934;

(g) ‘section’ means a section of the Part of this Order in which the word occurs:

and other expressions have the same meaning as in the Reserve Bank Act.

PART II

Provisions to have effect as part of the law of Pakistan

(1) The provisions of this Part shall have effect as part of the law of Pakistan.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Part, the Bank shall, until the 30th day of September, 1948, manage the currency of Pakistan and carry on the business of banking in Pakistan.

(3) Until the Pakistan Legislature otherwise provides, the standard monetary unit of Pakistan shall be the India rupee.

(4)(i) Until the 30th day of September, 1948,

(a) the Bank shall accept moneys for account of the Government of Pakistan and the Provincial Governments in Pakistan, make payments up to the amount standing to the credit of their accounts respectively, carry out their exchange, remittance and other banking operations, including the management of the public debt, and generally afford to them similar facilities to those which the Bank affords to the Government of India, or as the case may be, the Provincial Governments in India:

(b) the Government of Pakistan and each Provincial Government in Pakistan shall entrust the Bank with the management of the public debt and with the issue of any new loans:

(c) the Government of Pakistan and the Provincial Governments in Pakistan shall entrust the Bank with all their money, remittance, exchange and banking transactions in Pakistan, and in particular, shall deposit free of interest all their cash balances with the Bank:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall prevent the Government of Pakistan or any Provincial Government in Pakistan from carrying on money transactions at places where the Bank has no branches or agencies and from holding at those places such balances as they may require:

Provided further that the provisions of this sub-section, so far as they relate to management of the public debt, the issue of new loans and exchange operations, shall not have effect after the 31st day of March 1948.

(ii) The conditions on which the Bank shall perform the functions mentioned in this section shall be the same as those regulating similar transactions between the Bank and the Government of India, or as the case may be, a Provincial Government in India, subject however to such adaptations and modifications as may be agreed upon between the Government concerned and the Bank, or as may, in default of agreement, be prescribed by the Governor-General of Pakistan.

(5) (i) India notes shall, until the 30th day of September 1948, be legal tender at any place in Pakistan in payment or on account of the amount expressed therein.
(ii) On and after the 1st day of April 1948 the Bank may issue in Pakistan bank notes of the Bank inscribed with the words ‘Government of Pakistan’ in English and Urdu, and such notes shall be legal tender in Pakistan in payment or on account of the amount expressed therein:

Provided that notwithstanding anything contained in any enactment or rule of law to the contrary, the Government of India shall not be deemed to be liable to pay the value of any notes so inscribed; neither after the 30th day of September 1948 shall the Bank be so liable.

(iii) The Bank shall, up to the 30th day of September 1948, have the sole right to issue bank notes in Pakistan, and before the expiry of that day, the Government of Pakistan shall not issue any currency notes.

(iv) No person in Pakistan other than the Bank shall draw, accept, make or issue any bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note or engagement for the payment of money payable to bearer on demand, or borrow, owe or take up any sum or sums of money on the bills, hundis or notes payable to bearer on demand of any such person:

Provided that cheques or drafts, including hundis, payable to bearer on demand or otherwise, may be drawn on a person’s account with a banker, shroff, or agent.

(v) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, no person in Pakistan other than the Bank, shall make or issue any promissory note expressed to be payable to the bearer of the instrument.

(vi) Any person contravening the provisions of sub-section (iv) or sub-section (v) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to the amount of the bill, hundi, note or engagement in respect of which the offence is committed.

(vii) No prosecution under this section shall be instituted except on complaint made by the Bank.

(6)(i) Notwithstanding anything contained in any enactment or rule of law to the contrary, no person shall of right be entitled to recover from the Bank or the Government of Pakistan the value of any lost, stolen, mutilated or imperfect India note or Pakistan note.

(ii) The Bank may with the previous sanction of the Government of Pakistan prescribe the circumstances in which, and the conditions and limitations subject to which, the value of lost, stolen, mutilated or imperfect Pakistan notes may be refunded as of grace.
The value of lost, stolen, mutilated or imperfect India notes may be refunded as of grace in Pakistan in the circumstances and subject to the conditions and limitations prescribed for the time being in that behalf as respects India under section 28 of the Reserve Bank Act.

Coinage

(7)(i) India rupee coin and India subsidiary coin shall continue to be legal tender in Pakistan to the like extent and subject to the same conditions as immediately before the 15th day of August 1947 for such period or periods, not expiring, in the case of any coins, sooner than one year from the introduction of corresponding Pakistan coins, as the Government of Pakistan may determine:

Provided that India one-rupee notes shall not be legal tender in Pakistan after the 30th day of September 1948.

(ii) No Pakistan coins shall be issued except in pursuance of a law of Pakistan, and before the 1st day of October 1948, no Pakistan coin shall be issued of a denomination different to that of India coin in circulation at the commencement of this Order.

(8) During the period in which the Bank is managing the currency of Pakistan,

(a) any Pakistan coins issued shall on demand be supplied by the Government of Pakistan to the Bank against payment of their nominal value in such quantities as will, in the opinion of the Bank, be required for circulation in Pakistan, and the Government of Pakistan shall not put any coins in circulation in Pakistan except through the Bank in pursuance of a demand made under this clause;

(b) the Bank may deliver to the Government of Pakistan any Pakistan coins which will not in its opinion be required for circulation in Pakistan against payment of their nominal value, and no Pakistan coins shall be disposed of by the Bank otherwise than for the purposes of circulation or by delivery to the Government of Pakistan under this clause;

(c) the Bank shall on demand issue India or Pakistan rupee coin in exchange for legal tender notes:

Provided that, if any Pakistan coins have been issued, the Bank shall not, after the 31st day of March 1948, issue India coins, except to the extent that Pakistan coins are not, in the opinion of the Bank, available in sufficient quantities for the purposes of circulation;
(d) the Bank shall on demand issue legal tender notes in exchange for legal tender coins;

(e) the Bank shall in exchange for legal tender notes of five rupees or upwards supply legal tender notes of lower value or legal tender coins in such quantities as may in the opinion of the Bank be required for circulation;

(f) if the Government of India or, as the case may be, the Government of Pakistan, at any time fails to supply coins to the Bank, the Bank shall be released from its obligations under clause (c) or clause (e) to supply such coins to the public.

(9) Notwithstanding anything contained in any enactment or rule of law to the contrary, the Government of India shall not be liable to pay the value of any one-rupee note inscribed with the words, ‘Government of Pakistan’ in English and Urdu.

(10) (i) The Indian Coinage Act, 1906, shall, until other provision is made by a law of Pakistan and subject to the provisions of this Order, apply to Pakistan, and in such application

(a) for section 1 there shall be substituted the following section, namely:

‘1. Short title and extent. (1) This Act may be called the Pakistan Coinage Act. (2) It extends to the whole of Pakistan’;

(b) references to the Central Government shall be construed as references to the Government of Pakistan.

(ii) Rules made under the Indian Coinage Act, 1906, and in force immediately before the commencement of this Order shall be in force in Pakistan until they are modified or rescinded under that Act as in force in Pakistan.

Duties of Bank regarding Exchange

(11) Up to the 31st day of March 1948, the Bank shall sell to or buy from any authorized person who makes a demand in that behalf at its office in Karachi foreign exchange at such rates of exchange and on such conditions as the Government or Pakistan, in consultation with the Government of India, may, from time to time by general or special order determine:

Provided that no person shall be entitled to demand to buy or sell foreign exchange of the value of less than two lakhs of rupees.

Explanation. In this section ‘authorized person’ means a person who is entitled to buy or sell foreign exchange under the Foreign Exchange Regulations Act, 1947, to buy or, as the case may be, sell the foreign exchange to which his demand relates.
Control of Scheduled Banks, etc.

[Articles (12, and (13) relate to the balances to be held by the Reserve Bank, the returns to be made by the Pakistan scheduled banks and the Provincial co-operative banks, together with the related penalties. Ed.]

Miscellaneous

(14) (i) The Bank shall not be liable for the payment of any stamp duty in Pakistan in respect of Pakistan notes or India notes.

(ii) The Bank shall not be liable to pay Pakistan income-tax or super-tax on any of its income, profits or gains:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall affect the liability of any shareholder in respect of Pakistan income-tax or super-tax.

(iii) For the purposes of any provisions of the Indian Income-t Act, 1922, as in force in Pakistan, which relate to the levy and refund of income-tax, any dividends paid under section 47 of the Reserve Bank Act shall be deemed to be 'Interest on Securities'.

(15)(i) The Reserve Bank Act shall cease to be part of the law of Pakistan, and the status of the Bank in Pakistan shall be that of corporation existing only by virtue of the law of India and capable of suing and being sued as such in Pakistan; and accordingly effect shall be given to the said Act by Courts in Pakistan only in so far under the rules and principles of law determining the cases in which, law other than Pakistan law is to be applied in Pakistan, the proper law to be applied is the law of India.

(ii) Nothing in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, shall apply to the Bank.

(16) (i) If any person in Pakistan makes a false declaration in any declaration furnished by him in pursuance of a requisition under sub section (1) of section 56 of the Reserve Bank Act, he shall be deemed in Pakistan to have committed the offence of giving false evidence defined in section 191 of the Indian Penal Code, and shall be punishable under the second paragraph of section 193 of the said Code.

(ii) Nothing contained in any declaration furnished under the said sub-section (1) shall operate to affect the Bank with notice of any trust, and no notice of any trust express, implied or constructive shall, be receivable by the Bank.

(17) The Banking Companies (Restriction of Branches) Act, 1946, and the Banking Companies (Inspection) Ordinance, 1946, shall until the 30th day of September 1948 apply also to the whole of Pakis-tan, and in such application references to the Central Government shall be construed as references to the Government of Pakistan and for clause (b) of subsection (1) of section 5 of the said Ordinance, the following shall be substituted, namely:

‘(b) notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (7) of section 12 of Part II of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, the Government of Pakistan shall refuse to declare the banking company to be a Pakistan scheduled bank, or if the banking company has been so declared, shall by notification in the Official Gazette, cancel such declaration.’

PART III

Provisions to have effect as part of the law of India

(1) Until the 30th day of September 1948, the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, shall have effect [with the following additions, substitutions and omissions]

(2) Until the 30th day of September 1948, the Government of India shall send as soon as may be to the Government of Pakistan notice of any proposal to introduce, or move an amendment to, a Bill in the Indian Legislature which affects the coinage or currency of India or the constitution or functions of the Bank.

PART IV

Adjustments between Governments and other miscellaneous Provisions

(1)(i) In this section ‘Government’s Bank profits’ in respect of any period means the sum of

(a) any amounts payable in respect of that period to the Government of India by the Bank under section 47, or sub-section (2) of section 37, of the Reserve Bank Act, and by the Issue Department under sub-section (2) of section 34 of that Act, and

(b) any other profits accruing in that period to the Government of India by reason of any revaluation of the gold held by the Bank, less any amount debited to the Government of India in that period under sub-section (2) of the said section 34:

Provided that the Government’s Bank profits in respect of the period commencing on the 1st day of July 1948 and ending on the 30th day of September 1948 shall be deemed to be one-quarter of the said profits in respect of the year ending on the 30th day of June 1949.

(ii) The Government of India shall pay to the Government of Pakistan that portion of the Government's Bank profits in respect of the period commencing on the 1st day of July 1947 and ending on the 30th day of September 1948 which bears to the total of such profit in respect of the said period the same proportion as the total value of the Pakistan notes in circulation in Pakistan on the 30th day of September 1948 plus the total value of India notes returning from circulation in Pakistan in the period commencing on the 1st day of October 1948 and ending on the 31st day of March 1949 bears to the total value of India and Pakistan notes in circulation in India and Pakistan on the 30th day of September 1948:

Provided that if a declaration is made by or on the authority of the two Governments to the effect that they are agreed that on or about the 1st day of January 1949 India notes are still returning from circulation in Pakistan to a considerable extent, the provisions of this sub-section and of sub-section (2) of section 4 shall be construed and shall have effect as if for the references in those provisions to the 31st day of March 1949 there were substituted references to the 30th day of September 1949.

(2)(i) In respect of the period commencing on the 15th August 1947 and ending on the 30th September 1948 the Government of India shall pay to the Government of Pakistan the profit, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, on the net amount of India subsidiary coins which are actually passed into circulation in Pakistan during that period less the loss, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, on the destruction of any India subsidiary coins returned from Pakistan during that period and destroyed as not being fit for reissue.

(ii) If in respect of the period mentioned in sub-section (i), the amount of India subsidiary coins returning from circulation in Pakistan exceeds the amount of India subsidiary coins actually passed into circulation in Pakistan during that period, the Government of Pakistan shall pay to the Government of India the loss attributable to that fact, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, together with the loss, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, on the destruction of any India subsidiary coins returned from Pakistan during that period and destroyed as not being fit for reissue.

(3)(i) Any India coins other than one-rupee notes retired from Pakistan (whether from circulation, from the Bank’s balances, from Treasury balances, or from small coin depots) by reason of the introduction of corresponding Pakistan coins shall be disposed of as follows:

(a) Coins, other than nickel brass and quaternary silver coins, shall be accepted against payment to the Government of Pakistan of their bullion value. In addition, so long as the issue of such coins continues in India, the cost to India of minting the same amount of coin in the same form shall be paid to the Government of Pakistan.

(b) Nickel brass and quaternary silver coins shall be disposed of by the Government of Pakistan for their bullion contents direct.

(c) The Government of Pakistan shall not dispose of any coins as coin but may dispose of their bullion contents in any other manner desired by them.

(ii) One-rupee notes of the Government of India shall be exchanged into Pakistan notes before the 30th day of September 1948, and the Pakistan Government shall return the notes so exchanged to the Government of India without payment.

(4)(i) As soon after the 30th September 1948 as practicable and subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), there shall be transferred from the Issue Department of the Bank to the Government of Pakistan assets, which, as valued for the purposes of the Reserve Bank Act, have together a value equal to the total liability in respect of the Pakistan notes outstanding on that day.

(ii) India notes which may be legal tender in Pakistan on the 30th September 1948 or in respect of which the rights of encashment in Pakistan exist on that date shall be accepted by the Government of Pakistan at par until the 31st March 1949, and there shall from time to time on the demand of the Government of Pakistan be transferred from the Issue Department of the Bank to the Government of Pakistan assets which as valued for the purposes of the Reserve Bank Act, have together a value equal to the amount of notes accepted by the Government of Pakistan under this sub-section.

(iii) In transferring assets under this section, Pakistan rupee securities and the advances, if any, taken by the Government of Pakistan from the Bank shall first be set off against the liability for Pakistan notes and India notes accepted by the Government of Pakistan, and only in respect of the balance of that liability shall the other assets of the Issue Department, consisting of gold, sterling securities, India rupee coin, Pakistan rupee coin and Government of India securities be transferred in the proportions in which assets of those classes respectively may be held by the Issue Department on the 30th day of September 1948.

(iv) Any India rupee coin transferred under the foregoing provi-sions of this section shall be disposed of in accordance with the provi-sions of section 3 as if it were retired rupee coin, and any Pakistan rupee coin remaining with the Bank after the transfers under this section shall be made over to the Government of India for disposal otherwise than as coin.

(v) The Government of Pakistan shall, if the Bank so desires, take over from the Bank all or any of the property held by the Bank in Pakistan for the purpose of carrying on its business against payment of the value of that property as shown in the books of the Bank.

(vi) The Government of Pakistan shall be entitled to

(a) the same fraction of the amount of the Reserve Fund of the Bank as on the 30th day of September 1948 which would accrue to the Government of India if the Bank went into liquidation on that date, as the fraction of the uncovered debt of the Government of India for which the Government of Pakistan becomes liable on the 15th day of August 1947;

(b) the same fraction of the other surplus assets of the Bank which would exist on the 30th day of September 1948 if the Bank went into liquidation on that date remaining after deducting there from the sums payable for a proportionate period in respect of the financial year of the Bank current on that date to the Government of India and the shareholders of the Bank, as the fraction of the assets of the Issue Department which. The Government of Pakistan takes over:

Provided that any payment due under this sub-section shall be credited as a capital payment in reduction of the debt, if any, due by the Government of Pakistan to the Government of India.

(5) The agreement made in pursuance of section 45 of the Reserve Bank Act between the Bank and the Imperial Bank of India shall, so far as the context so permits, have effect subject to the following adaptations, namely:

(a) References to India and British India shall be construed as including references to Pakistan;

(b) references to the Governor-General-in-Council in relation to his general banking business, his accounts, and sums due to or from him, and references to Government in relation to receipts and disbursements dealt with on account of Government shall be construed as including references to the Government of Pakistan and to the Provincial Governments in Pakistan;

(c) References to banks included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank Act shall be construed as including references to Pakistan scheduled banks.

3268. Telegram from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan

New Delhi, November 8, 1947.

No. 311

I understand that West Punjab Government has passed an order requiring owners and managers of safe deposit vaults to resume work by 20th November failing which that Government will take possession of the vaults. I shall be grateful for urgent information as to whether this report is correct. If it is, I must lodge the strongest possible protest against the order of the West Punjab Government. Conditions in Lahore and other towns where safe deposit vaults are located are so insecure for non-Muslims that the managers and their staff will be incurring grave personal risk in attempting to resume work by 20th November. Moreover, I am reliably informed that number of Muslim depositors is less than 5%. The Managing Director of one of the safe deposit companies went to Lahore some time ago and tried to open the vault but was prevented from doing so. If in these circumstances West Punjab Government take possession of the vaults that would mean expropriation of property worth an immense amount of money.

Our Minister for Refugees has telegraphed to you suggesting an Inter-Dominion Conference on various matters on the 11th of this month. I understand that no reply has yet been received by him. I hope it will be possible for this conference to be held soon and the subject of safe deposit vaults may be included in the agenda. Pending such discussion, I would ask that the order said to have been issued by the West Punjab Government should be withdrawn.

I shall be grateful for a very urgent reply.

Telegram from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan.

New Delhi, November 15, 1947.

Please refer to my telegram No. 311 of November 8 about safe deposit vaults to which I have not received a reply. The matter is causing the gravest anxiety to a very large number of depositors who are in India and I trust that you will accept the suggestion to postpone any action in regard to these vaults until the matter has been discussed at the next Inter-Dominion Conference.

2. If you must insist on opening these vaults after the next three or four days I would ask that the vaults be opened in the presence of our Deputy High Commissioner and other officers accompanying him. Depositors now resident in Pakistan may open their lockers, but lockers belonging to persons now resident in India should not be touched. As soon as business of residents in Pakistan has been completed the vaults must be put under double lock, the key of one lock being retained by a representative of the West Punjab Government and the key of the other lock being retained by the Deputy High Commissioner or an officer nominated by him for the purpose. We will be prepared to make available as many officers as may be necessary so that one of our officers will be present at each safe deposit vault to operate the double lock and afford access to persons resident in Pakistan during specified hours. I suggest that this arrangement is absolutely essential until the matter is discussed further at the next Inter-Dominion Conference. I would emphasise that persons resident in Pakistan should be afforded access to lockers only after complete identification and with reference to entries made in safe deposit vault registers. You will appreciate that if the foregoing drill is not observed there is grave danger to the security of property belonging to depositors now resident in India and the Government of India would take a most serious view of any such situation.

3. I shall be grateful for an urgent reply to this telegram.

3270. Telegram from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan

New Delhi, November 23, 1947.

Your telegram* dated 18th November regarding opening safe deposit vaults in Lahore in which you pointed out that West Punjab Government had promised full protection to these vaults and the workers to the satisfaction of the Managers of the vaults. I have now received report from our Deputy High Commissioner that when vaults were opened a large and unruly crowd of Muslims gathered before premises, shouted provocative slogans and insisted that valuables in vaults should not be allowed to be removed. Local authorities were unable to control crowd and Managers had to stop functioning. I understand also that District Magistrate has issued an order prohibiting removal by any person of any article deposited or lying in safe deposit vaults of any bank without his previous permission in writing. In view of this and of danger of attack from Muslim mobs the vaults have stopped functioning. In view of assurances of West Punjab Government, I can only express surprise at this development. I am sure you will agree that the position is an impossible and I shall be glad to be informed what further steps you propose to take.

* Liaquat Ali Khan informed Nehru that a decision to open the vaults had been taken after promising full protection to the workers and vaults.

Sterling Assets of the Reserve Bank of India

(2) The two Dominions will negotiate separately with H.M.G. for release beyond 1st January 1948. The Reserve Bank will open a separate account or accounts with the Bank of England to which will be transferred from its present Account No. 2 a sum equivalent to the release made by H.M.G. to Pakistan together with the amount fixed as Pakistan’s working balance. Pakistan’s exchange operations will be conducted through these accounts. In assessing the total sterling holdings of the Reserve Bank for purposes of paragraph 1 (a) above the amounts standing in the Reserve Bank’s Accounts Nos. 1 and 2 will be taken into account together with the amount in the ‘Pakistan’ accounts with the Bank of England either through the Reserve Bank or otherwise.

(3) From the 1st January, 1948 onwards, each Dominion will retain separately its own foreign exchange earnings and its own foreign exchange expenditure will be debited against these earnings (By the term ‘its own’ earnings of expenditure is meant the earnings arising out of exports from, and the expenditure due to imports into ports within the territory of each Dominion). Invisible earnings and expenditure will be allocated according to the territory in which the transaction giving rise to them takes place.

(4) The Government of India will transfer from Account No.1 of the Reserve Bank of India to the similar account of Pakistan when established a sum in sterling equivalent to the difference between Rs 6.95 crores and the c.i.f- value of ‘items actually imported into Pakistan ports between the 1st July and the 31st December, 1947.

Provided that if India is not allowed to carry forward the entire sum standing to its credit in Account No.1 on 31st December 1947, the payment above mentioned will be reduced in proportion to the reduction in the amount agreed to be carried forward.

II

Decision of the Partition Council with regard to sharing of the Sterling Assets of the Reserve Bank

It was agreed in the Pakistan Council on 1st December 1947 that in addition to the sterling to which Pakistan would entitled under paragraph 4(3) of Part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank)
Order, 1947, an amount of sterling calculated as below will be made available to Pakistan in the manner stated below:

(a) The total of the Sterling assets in both the Banking and Issue Department on the 30th September 1948 will be taken together.

(b) From this total will be deducted the lump sum payable to H.M.G. at the time of the final settlement of the sterling balances on account of the capitalization of pensionary liability for H.M.G.’s military stores and fixed assets as on 1st April 1947, in India.

(c) Out of the remaining balance a sum in sterling which taken together with the gold held in the Issue Department will be equal to 70 per cent. of the total liabilities of that Department as on 30th September 1948, will be allocated in the manner prescribed in paragraph 1(3) of Part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947.

(d) Of the remainder, 17 ½ per cent will be allocated to Pakistan.

(e) The difference between the total of what will fall to the share of Pakistan under (c) and (d) and what Pakistan would obtain under Paragraph 4(3) of Part IV of the of Order is the amount of the additional sterling to be made available to Pakistan.

(f) In regard to the amount of this additional sterling, India agrees to sell to Pakistan from its Account No. II of similar Account Sterling for Indian rupees on demand being made by Pakistan up to the 31st December 1967.

Extracts from the minutes of the Partition Council meeting held on 1st December 1947.

Case No.P.C./200/20/47.

(a) Financial settlement between India and Pakistan.

(b) Allocation of a Cash balance to Pakistan.

(c) Pakistan’s share of the excess of liabilities over assets.

The financial settlement with Pakistan will be on the basis set out in paragraph 3 of the paper constituting item 8 of the agenda for the Partition Council, subject to any specific agreement reached on matters affecting the financial settlement.

2. The entire public debt outstanding on the 14th August 1947, including undated debt, will be valued in the manner set out in paragraph 5 of that paper with the modification that the rate of interest will be rounded off to the nearest one eighth of one per cent.

3. The answers to the questions in paragraph 6 of the paper are—

(a) The rate of interest should be determined on the average yield over a period of two years preceding the date of Partition of the rupee and sterling securities with an unexpired currency of 15 years of over rounded to the nearest one eighth of one per cent.

(b) The instalment would be payable on the 15th of August of each year but no instalment will be payable for the first four years from the date of partition (i.e. in 1948, 1949, 1950, and 1951).

(c) The total debt will be repaid in Indian rupees in 50 annual equated installments for principal and interest combined, the last instalment being payable on the 15th of August, 2001 A.D.

4. Pakistan’s share of the uncovered debt (referred to in para 3 (c) of the agenda) will be 171/2 per cent.

5. The percentage mentioned in para 4 above will apply to all cases, such as the liability for pensions, the allocations of reparations, the allocations of the sale proceeds of surplus stores, etc. in which it has been agreed by the Partition Council that an asset or liability debt should be divided in the ratio of the uncovered debt.

6. In addition to the 20 crores already made over to Pakistan, 55 crores will be allocated to Pakistan in full and final settlement of its claim for a share of the undivided Government’s cash balance and of the cash balance investment account.
3272. Press Note issued by Pakistan Ministry of Finance on the Indo-Pakistan talks on Sterling balances.

Karachi, December 12, 1947.

The existing financial agreement between the United Kingdom and India for the release of sterling balances during the current year for both the Dominions expires on December 31, 1947.

The question of the further release of the sterling balances for the next half-year for the Dominions of Pakistan and India is to be taken up shortly with His Majesty’s Government.

In order to exchange preliminary ideas between the two Dominions in connection with the further release of sterling from January 1, 1948 the Government of India sent a delegation to Karachi consisting of Mr. V. Narahari Rao, Finance Secretary, and, Mr. B.K. Nehru, Joint Secretary.

The talks that have taken place between the representatives of the two Governments covered a number of matters. The talks were held in a very cordial atmosphere and complete agreement has been reached on all the issues involved.

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

* At the end of the talks, the Indian Finance Secretary said in Karachi that the three-day proceedings were conducted in a cordial atmosphere and outstanding issues were settled in a friendly manner. These talks were to be followed with further talks with a delegation from the United Kingdom. This delegation was expected in the second week of January 1948 for preliminary talks first in Karachi and then in New Delhi, where Pakistan delegation was also expected to join in the negotiations. However, since India withheld Pakistan’s release of funds, in view of the Pakistan’s involvement in the Kashmir aggression, Pakistan did not send its delegation. Reacting to Pakistani boycott of the Delhi talks when the British delegation had arrived, New Delhi said that since an agreement had already been reached with Pakistan on their respective shares of the sterling balances, the presence of Pakistani delegation was not considered necessary to conclude negotiations with the British Government. The British before arriving in Delhi, had a round of consultations with Pakistan in Karachi, from where it arrived in New Delhi on January 8, 1948.
3273. Statement issued by the Cabinet Secretariat of the Government of Pakistan giving details of the Financial Settlement between India and Pakistan.

Karachi, December 12, 1947.

As soon as the principle of partition was accepted by the major political parties, the Interim Government appointed a Special Committee of the Cabinet to examine the administrative consequence of partition and to take necessary steps for the transfer of power to the two Dominions. This committee was composed, at the outset, of His Excellency the Governor General Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan, Sardar Patel and Dr. Rajendra Prasad. From July 1 this Special Committee of the Cabinet was replaced by the Partition Council, again with the Governor General the Chairman, and two representatives each of the Indian National Congress and the Muslim league as the parties which would be called upon to form the Dominion governments after partition.

Sardar Patel and Dr. Rajendra Prasad, with Mr. C. Rajagopalachari as alternate, represented the Congress while the Quaid-i-Azam and Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan, with Sardar Abdur Rab Nishtar as alternate, represented the Muslim League. The Cabinet Committee later the Partition Council—worked through a Steering Committee composed of two officers—Mr. H. M. Patel and Mr. Mohammad Ali.

In addition there was appointed 10 Expert Committees which among them covered the whole field of administration and dealt with important and varied subjects, such as division of the armed forces, of the existing administrative organization, of records of personnel, and of assets and liabilities; problems relating to currency and coinage, domicile and nationality, trade and economic controls, central revenues and budget and accounts.

Steering Committee

It was the function of the Steering Committee to ensure that concrete proposals were evolved within the given time by these Expert Committees, adequately dovetailing into each other to form a comprehensive whole and to present these proposals to the Partition Council for decision, and after obtaining these decisions to take steps, wherever necessary, for implementing them.

The Partition Council was continued after August 15 by an order issued by the Governor General under the Indian Independence Act 1917. Its composition was revised, two members being drawn from each of the Dominion Cabinets; India’s representatives continued to be Sardar Patel and Dr. Rajendra Prasad Pakistan being represented by such Ministers as were able to attend the meetings which were held in Delhi.
Expert Committees began investigations in the third week of June and were called upon to submit their reports within a month. Over a considerable area the committees were able to make agreed recommendations, while the Steering Committee which considered the reports in the first instance was successful in reaching agreement on the bulk of the unsettled points. The field of differences was further reduced by the Partition Council leaving over on the August 15 only a few important matters to be settled by the Arbitral Tribunal. The Partition Council had not altogether given up hopes of an agreed solution being found by discussion, and its confidence in this respect has been fully justified.

The first important problem as to reconstitute the personnel of the civil machinery of the undivided Government of India into two cadres to serve the two Dominion Governments. For the purpose, it was decided to give every Government servant an opportunity to select the Government he wished to serve and also to say whether he wished to have opportunity to reconsider his choice within a period of six months from the day of transfer of power. Separate cadres were then drawn up on the basis of replies received, but actual transfers had necessarily to be arranged over a period of time.

To enable the new Government to function effectively, provision was made on an agreed basis for the supply to Pakistan of office equipment, furniture stationary etc. belonging to the old Government of India. It was also decided to make over to the Government of Pakistan records and documents of exclusive concern to them and to duplicate those of common interest.

Division of Assets

It was no easy task to list and divide the assets of the then Government of India, but when the problem was examined in detail by the departmental sub-committee of the Expert Committee on Assets and Liabilities there was found a wide measure of agreement regarding the allocation of the fixed assets on a territorial basis. The division of the railways, telegraph lines, the post offices the mints, etc. was decided in this manner.

Moveable stores obviously could be shared on this basis, and the basis adopted varied with the type of stores. Thus, the railway rolling stock was divided on the basis of mileage-cum-traffic, while other stores were divided on the basis, broadly speaking of maintenance requirements. Before August 15, 1947, agreed decision had been reached on the division of all fixed assets other than ordnance factories and of all movable stores expect army stores and stocks of lease-lend silver.

Disagreement

No agreement could also be reached on the basis for the division of the cash balances of the old Government of India and sterling assets of the Reserve Bank of India. Nor was agreement reached as to the share of each Dominion of the old Government of India liabilities though, as regards the initial responsibility for the liabilities of the old Government of India, it was agreed that India should assume it, subject to Pakistan contributing its share fixed either by agreement between the two Dominions, or if agreement were not possible, as determined by the Arbitral Tribunal. In regard to the central revenues accruing in the two territories after August 14, 1947. It was decided by the Partition Council, on the report of the Committee on Central Revenues, that each Dominion b would retain the amounts collected in its territory. India agreed, however, to discuss at a later date if Pakistan so desired its proposal for pooling and sharing the revenues collected up to March 31, 1948. Arrangements were also agreed upon for the avoidance of double taxation of income.

As regards contracts, certain principles for the allocation of contracts to one or the other Dominion, or for sharing the rights and liabilities arising from them, or for terminating them were evolved and the contracts of the old Government are being dealt with in accordance with these principles.

Currency and Coinage

Complete agreement was reached in the Partition Council over the issues considered in the Committee on Currency and Coinage except the allocation of the sterling assets held by the Reserve Bank. As Pakistan naturally wished to have its own coinage and currency as soon as possible, end in view undertook to make available for a period of time a portion of the capacity of the Nasik Security Printing Press and of the Mints at Calcutta and Bombay.

Since, however, it would take some time to have the new coins and overprinted notes ready, it was decided that the existing Indian currency and coinage should remain common to both Dominions up to March 31, 1948 and that the Reserve Bank of India should be the common currency authority and the central bank for the two dominions.

Transitional Period

It was realized, however, that it would take some time before the Pakistan over-printed notes could be issued in sufficient numbers to replace adequately the India notes already in circulation. It was agreed, therefore, that the period from April 1, 1948, to Sept 30, 1948 would be treated as a transitional period and during that period India and Pakistan notes and coins would circulate freely in Pakistan, the India notes and coins being gradually withdrawn. The Reserve Bank of India would of course, continue during the transitional period as the common currency authority.
On October 1, 1948, Pakistan would like over the management of its own currency and the currency reserve held by the Reserve Bank will be allocated between the two Dominions under the provisions of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947.

Trade And Economic Controls

When the questions relating to trade and economic controls were examined it was found that the long terms policies to be pursued by the two Dominions could, only be discussed after the new Governments had time to examine their respective problems. Meanwhile, it was agreed that until March 31, 1948, the status quo should be maintained as far as possible and modifications in and removal of controls should not be effected except by consultation between the two Dominions.

It was decided that during the interim period terminating on February 29, 1948, firstly, no customs barriers should be raised between the two Dominions; secondly, existing import and export policies should be continued; thirdly, existing customs tariffs, excise duties and cesses should be left unchanged; fourthly no restrictions should be imposed on free movement of goods and remittances, including capital equipment and capital; and fifty, no transit duties or taxes should be levied on goods passing from one territory to another and the existing trade channels or pattern of trade should not be interfered with.

Pakistan, however, reserved the right to revise her attitude in regard to these matters in view of the fact that her proposal that the Customs Revenue should the pooled and shared during the interim period had not been accepted.

The two Dominions have now agreed to initiate discussions with a view to formulating policy in regard to the trade and economic relations of the two Dominions.

Nationality and Domicile

When the jurists examined the question of nationality and domicile they came to the conclusion that as India and Pakistan would both the members of the British Commonwealth their citizens would continue to be regarded as British subjects. No immediate change was, therefore, called for as a result of partition; the two Dominion Governments could be left to formulate their respective nationality laws at their convenience.

The partition council further decided that the passport rules should be amended so that there should be no restrictions on the movement of persons from one Dominion to another. It is, of course, open to either to introduce such restrictions later.
Foreign Relations

The arrangements agreed to in regard to foreign affairs were embodied in the Indian Independence (International Arrangements) Order, 1947. According to this order the membership of all international organizations, together with the rights and obligations attaching to such membership, devolves upon India. It being left to Pakistan to apply for membership of such international organisations as it desires to join.

Rights and obligations under the international agreements to which pre-partition India was a party devolve upon both Dominions and can, if necessary be apportioned between them, such rights and obligations as have exclusive territorial application devolving exclusively upon the Government of the territory to which they relate.

Division of Armed Forces

As for the armed forces, it was agreed to personnel would be divided on a territorial basis with the exception that Muslims from India and non-Muslims from Pakistan would have the option to choose the Dominion which they wished to serve. The division of regimental centres, installations, equipment, stores, etc. raised innumerable complex problems mainly of an administrative nature which were dealt with by the Armed Forces Reconstitutions of the Partition Council.

By August 15, sufficient progress had been made to enable the two new Government to assume operational control over the Army, the Navy and the Air Force. A good deal of work of the re-constitution of forces, however, remained and for this purpose a Joint Defence Council was established, consisting of the Governor General of India as independent Chairman and the Defence Ministers of India and Pakistan as Members. A Supreme Commander was appointed to act as the executive authority of the council.

Ordnance Factories

By November 30, 1947, when the organisation under the Supreme Commander was abolished, virtually all the work of the reconstitution except that of actually dividing and moving the stores had been completed. The Joint Defence Council has been reconstituted with slightly modified functions and is working through an executive committee consisting of the Defence Secretaries of two Dominions and at least one Service Chief from each Dominion.

The Joint Defence Council which dealt with hundreds of complicated military problems was able to reach agreed decisions on all except two issues which at one time it was agreed to refer to the Tribunal, namely, the division of ordnance factories and the division of army stores.
Details of Agreement

A renewed attempt was made in the last fortnight to settle all the outstanding issues. As announced on December 9, 1947, complete agreement has been reached between the two Dominion Governments on all outstanding issues relating to partition and it will no longer be necessary to seek the assistance of the Arbitral Tribunal, so far as the two Dominion Governments are concerned.

The details of agreement reached on the more important of these matters are given below:

Cash Balances

(a) The undivided Government of India’s Cash Balances as on the date of partition are estimated at a little under Rs.400 crores, inclusive of the securities held in the Cash Balances Investment Account. Of these, Pakistan’s share has, by agreement, been fixed at Rs.75 crores, including Rs.20 crores already made available to Pakistan.

Sterling Assets

(b) Under paragraph 4 (3) of Part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, Pakistan’s share of sterling assets will be the ration of the notes in circulation after adjusting any expansion against Pakistan securities in that Dominion. It has now been agreed that India should sell to Pakistan, for Indian rupees, additional blocked sterling up to an agreed limit as and when demand is made until December 31, 1947.

Uncovered Debt

(c) The Government of India have assumed initial responsibility for all the liabilities of the old government, subject to an equitable contribution by the Pakistan Government. It was agreed that Pakistan’s share would be made up of the value of assets, physical and financial, which lie in Pakistan or are taken over by the Pakistan Government plus the share allocated to Pakistan of the uncovered debt, namely, the excess of liabilities over assets of the undivided Government, less the liabilities assumed directly. By the Pakistan Government. Pakistan’s share of the uncovered debt has now by agreement been fixed at 17½ per cent.

Valuation of Assets

(d) For the valuation of the assets taken over by the two Dominions it has been agreed that book values should be adopted; in the case of the strategic railways, however, the book value by agreement is being written down by about 50 per cent to a figure of Rs.14.45 crores.

Pakistan Debt

(e) With regard to the payment of debt by Pakistan to India, it has been agreed that the total amount annual equated instalments for principal and interest combined. The instalments will be payable on August 15, each year but no instalments will be payable for the first four years from the date of partition, the first instalment being due on August 15, 1952.
The rate of Interest adopted will be the same as the average yield over a period of two years preceding the date of partition of the rupee and sterling securities of the Government of India with an unexpired currency of 15 years or over, rounded to the nearest one-eighth of one per cent.

Pensions

(f) Each Dominion will continue to disburse the pensions now in payment in its territory, India continuing to pay the overseas pensions. The value of all pensions, both part-earned pensions and pensions in issue, will be capitalized and the liability shared in the ration agreed upon for sharing, the uncovered debt.

To the extent that the capitalized value of the pensions disbursed by a Dominion is more or less than its share thus determined, an appropriate adjustment will be made in the financial settlement.

Military Stores

(g) It has been decided that Pakistan’s share of the military stores will be one-third of the stocks held in India and Pakistan on the date of partition or one-third of the maintenance and reserve requirements of the two dominions calculated on an agreed basis, whichever is less.

The balance, if any, will fall to India’s share.

(h) No physical division of ordnance factories will take place the Indian Dominion taking full liability for their book value. India has agreed to make available to Pakistan a sum of Rs.6 crores to be drawn as and when required for the setting up of ordnance factories and some other essential Institutions like a Security Printing Press. This amount will be added to Pakistan’s debt to India.

Both India and Pakistan may justifiably take pride in the achievement of a satisfactory settlement of these issues.
I told Pandit Nehru that he would find Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan in a very chastened mood, since he obviously was frightened at the situation, which appeared to me to be getting out of his control. I thought he would accept any appeal to U.N.O. in order to break the impasse and bring the fighting to an end, although his desire was to link the plebiscite with the appeal to cease fighting. Pandit Nehru said that this was out of the question, that the Government of India would never agree to this, and that he intended to tell Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan so. I begged him to let me explain this in a quiet and tactful manner for I felt I would probably get him to accept it provided it were not done in a provocative way.

I told Pandit Nehru that Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan was most anxious to know whether it was intended to repudiate the payment of the balances due to Pakistan or to delay them until a settlement was reached on Kashmir. Pandit Nehru said that there was no question of repudiation and that India meant to stand by her obligations in this matter, though the date of payment was one which the Cabinet had not yet settled, as they were waiting to find out how matters were going to turn out in Kashmir. I begged him not to mention this latter fact to Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan, since I considered that we could never get any agreement with him under undue pressure, and that, so far from this factor being helpful, I considered it would wreck the prospect of any settlement. He agreed with this.

II

As Recorded by Jawaharlal’s Nehru:

Government House at 10 p.m. to keep an appointment with Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan who had arrived earlier in the evening. I was taken to the Governor-General first as he was anxious to see me before I saw Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan. Although he intended speaking to me for a few minutes only, actually our conversation lasted for nearly an hour, while, presumably, Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan was waiting for me.

2. Lord Mountbatten told me that he had had an hour’s talk already with Liaquat Ali Khan and had found him in a friendly mood, eager to come to some kind of a settlement. In fact he had never found him so chastened. He said that it would be a tragedy if we could not take advantage of these circumstances now and put an end to the fighting in Kashmir, of course on terms advantageous and honourable to India. A continuation of the conflict, whatever the result, would mean a very great deal of trouble to India and even more so to Pakistan and would stop progress for a long time. Lord Mountbatten was greatly worked up and made repeated appeals both on national and personal grounds. He said that he had never been so exercised about any matter as this one because he felt that so much was at stake. The next day would be vital in the history of India. We were very near a settlement and the highest statesmanship and the good of India demanded that we should take advantage of the present favourable circumstances to bring about such a settlement. Favourable circumstances evidently referred to Liaquat Ali Khan's desire for a settlement. Lord Mountbatten referred to the great increase in the prestige of India all over the world if we could bring about a settlement and to our immediately applying ourselves to the various internal problems which demanded our attention. The settlement of course should essentially be on the lines we have repeatedly laid down, i.e., reference to the U.N.O. to stop the fighting and when this is done and peace and order restored a plebiscite under U.N.O. auspices.

3. Lord Mountbatten also said that Liaquat Ali Khan was greatly exercised at the possibility of the Government of India repudiating or going back on the financial settlements arrived at. These settlements according to Liaquat Ali Khan had taken place nearly a month ago and nothing had been done yet to implement them. Was the matter going back to the Arbitral Tribunal for decision?

4. I stated in reply that there was no question of our challenging or repudiating the financial agreements arrived at. The only question that arose was when to make the payments. We would stand by the agreements and the Arbitral Tribunal would not be concerned with them. Our difficulty was that if we made any payments now, when a kind of undeclared war was going on between us, that money would be used in carrying on that war against us. It would be foolish for us to make those payments until this Kashmir business had been settled.

5. Lord Mountbatten said that the money was really Pakistan's, i.e., it was a joint fund and this part of it therefore belonged to them. He appreciated however our difficulty, but would suggest that we should not emphasize this fact of non-payment in our difficulty, but would suggest that this would raise further difficulties. We might make it clear that so far as the financial agreements were concerned we did not challenge them.

New Delhi, December 22, 1947.

Pandit Nehru recalled that I had, at one of the earliest of the previous series of meetings held at Delhi between the Prime Ministers, read out a note expressing my Government’s policy that all the agreements should hang together. He said that he considered the present situation to be tantamount to undeclared war, in which, in the opinion of the Government of India, Pakistan was encouraging the aggressors. It was not the question to hand over large funds to Pakistan in these circumstances.

Liaquat Ali Khan pointed out that these funds did not in any way belong to India; they were Pakistan’s legal share of the cash balances. It was not a question of a loan or a gift being made. He considered that they should be handed over straightaway.

Mohammad Ali made the point that all the financial agreements had been made on their own merits. With this Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar agreed, but gave his view that the whole background in reaching these agreements had been the intention to reach an overall settlement.

3276. Telegram from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan,

New Delhi, December 30, 1947.

Your letter dated 23rd December regarding payment of Pakistan share of balances on basis of Inter-Dominion Financial Agreements. As I already informed you verbally the Government of India stand fully by these agreements and will implement them. The sole question at issue is the actual time of payment. There is and can be no question of repudiation of agreements. The decision on the financial issue was only one of several major points of controversy between the two Dominion Governments. It was clearly stated on several occasions that an overall settlement upon agreements on all these points should be arrived at and they should be implemented simultaneously. This was stressed in a note given to you on the 26th November, at the meeting the Partition Council on the financial issue. It was repeated on subsequent occasions and a public statement of it was made by Sardar Patel* in the Constituent Assembly.

On the major issue of Kashmir all our attempts to reach a settlement failed because Pakistan has continued in spite of our request not to assist aggression on Indian Dominion territory. On the 22nd December I handed to you a letter on this subject. The situation is becoming graver every day and in these circumstances we feel justified in postponing payment every day for the present. I repeat once again that our intention is merely to suspend implementation and not repudiate agreements.

* On 12 December while presenting the details of the financial settlement between the two Dominions, Sardar Patel hoped “the new State of Pakistan and their government will regard this settlement as a gesture of our friendliness and goodwill. The successful implementation... depends on the continuation of the spirit of accommodation and conciliation on both sides...."
3277. Extract from the press conference of the Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

New Delhi, January 2, 1948.

Q: Has the Government of India repudiated the financial settlement between the two Dominions?

JN: The Government of India has not repudiated anything. We accept completely that decision arrived at by agreement just as we could have accepted a decision of the Arbitral Tribunal if the matter had gone to it. But having accepted that decision, the question arose of making these large payments. You can well appreciate that when we are charging the Pakistan Government with aiding and abetting an invasion of India, we can hardly make any large payments to carry on or to encourage these military operations and war against India. No State can do it. Normally, a state freezes the credits of the other party in such circumstances. We have not frozen anything in that sense. All that we said was that we accept this agreement but there must be an overall settlement and we shall honour it completely.

Frankly, the Government of India hoped that the fairly generous gesture on its part would help in solving the other difficulties, including the Kashmir problem. It did not and the consequence was, as had been pointed out to the Pakistan Government, in the present circumstances, it was just not possible for us to pour money into their coffers, which might very well be used against us. We are prepared to pay that money just as soon as circumstances permit, and we will pay it undoubtedly.

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

* Pakistan Government expressing its resentment said that the agreement arrived at in Karachi on 13th December last year had nothing to do with Kashmir or any other political problem and if the Government of India go back on their word they would be guilty of a gross breach of faith before the bar of world opinion. It was stated that there was a complete agreement during the talks without any ifs and buts. The Representatives of both the Dominions signed the minutes fully conscious of the fact that there were no loopholes which could justify future evasions on the part of either party to the agreement. The Agreement therefore must be honoured and implemented in letter and spirit and if India decides to treat it as a mere scrap of paper it can only do so at the risk of an irretrievable damage to her reputation for honesty and fair play in the eyes of the world. Regarding Kashmir the Pakistani stand was that it never recognized Kashmir’s accession to India and it was therefore a separate issue.

Sir,

I have the honour to enclose a copy of an Aide Memoire received from the Ministry of Finance of the Government of Pakistan and to request that the reply may kindly be forwarded as soon as possible. In view of the urgency of the matter a copy of this letter with a copy of the enclosure has been forwarded to the Ministry of Finance Govt. of India direct.

I have the honour to be
Sir

AIDE MEMOIRE

The Government of Pakistan much regret to note that the Government of India are avoiding implementation of the terms of the financial agreement to which they recently pledged their word and are endeavouring to make implementation contingent on the settlement of certain extraneous matters unconnected with these financial items of partition. In particular, the Government of India are putting difficulties in the way of the Reserve Bank transferring the further 55 crores of the cash balances of the undivided Government as they stood on the 14th August last, to the credit of the Government of Pakistan although the Government of India had agreed that 75 crores would be the share of those balances to be allotted to Pakistan.

The view of the cash balances taken by the Government of Pakistan is as follows:

The balances as on the 14th August, 1947 were not the property of the Government of India alone but were to be held on trust by the Reserve Bank of India pending an agreement as to final allocation between the two Dominions. The agreement as to Pakistan’s share was reached last December and the balance of Pakistan’s share should have been allocated to Pakistan’s account with the Reserve Bank of India forthwith. The Government of India has no right to withhold any part of Pakistan’s agreed share and it is the Reserve Bank’s duty to credit now the balance of 55 crores to the account of the Government of Pakistan.

The effects both financial and otherwise, of the action of the Government of India in avoiding implementation of the agreement are likely to be so far reaching that in the opinion of the Government of Pakistan, unless the Government of India change their attitude and implement the financial agreement at once it will be quite pointless to hold the Joint discussions in New Delhi with the representatives of the Government of India and of His Majesty’s Government on the subject of the sterling balances and dollar expenditure which had till now been contemplated. In this case the Government of Pakistan would regretfully have to limit their discussions to bi-lateral talks in Karachi with the representatives of His Majesty’s Government.

His Majesty’s Government have been informed of this decision.

3279. Press Conference of Pakistani Finance Minister Ghulam Mohammad regarding implementation of Financial settlement.

Karachi, January 8, 1948.

Pakistan’s Finance Minister, Mr. Ghulam Mohammad, at a Press conference in Karachi categorically asserted that the Government of India had interfered with the Reserve Bank of India, apropos of the latter’s discharge of duties towards the Pakistan Government and said: “The Pakistan Government regard the interference of the Government of India with the Reserve Bank of India not only as an unfriendly act, but as an act of aggression.”

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad said that while the Government of India were operating on their share of the cash balances they had asked the Reserve Bank of India not to credit the Pakistan Government with Rs.55 crores of the cash balances that belong to the Pakistan Government.

“As regards the cash balances in the custody of the Reserve Bank of India,” he said “these cash balances vest in His Majesty for the purpose of the two Dominions. Therefore, one Government or another cannot direct the bank. If the bank refused to credit the Pakistan Government with their share of cash balances, as asked for, the issue will have to be taken at a higher issue”

The Finance Minister Pakistan who was addressing his first Press conference on matters of finance concerning the Government of Pakistan said: “The Reserve Bank of India not only holds Rs.55 crores our share of the cash balances for us but it also holds assets of approximately Rs.125 crores belonging to Pakistan which are a cover for our currency.

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad disclosed “We have called upon the Reserve Bank to forthwith credit our share of the cash balances – Rs.55 crore to us. We do not want to take any hasty step in this matter. We wish to try all means of understanding.

“If the Reserve Bank of India fails to transfer this agreed amount to our account we have urged that the Government of India should not be allowed to operate on the joint cash balances without the approval of the Government of Pakistan. At present the Government of India are operating on their share of the cash balances which they are using for expenditure in Kashmir and on various other anti-Pakistan measures.

Kashmir Never Mentioned

“The Reserve Bank should be un-influenced by any political party in power”, said the Pakistani Finance Minister.
"All the faith we have in their impartiality may vanish if they succumbed to the political pressure that is being brought to bear on them."

Of the recently signed Indo-Pakistan financial agreement, Mr. Ghulam Mohammad said: "At no stage of the discussions which led to the signing of the Indo-Pakistan agreement was the question of Kashmir ever mentioned or considered. If it had been, Pakistan would never have been a party to the agreement.

"No one of us had the slightest indication that the Kashmir problem would be dragged in. If this agreement depended on Kashmir, we would not have signed it."

"The India Government, by asking the Reserve Bank not to credit Pakistan with Pakistan's share of the cash balances, are indulging in pure political blackmail. The reason given is that India is not repudiating the agreement but only postponing it till the Kashmir issue is settled. I accuse them of bad faith. The question of Kashmir never came up before the Partition Committee and it was not a part of this agreement. If the India Government think that we will sell Kashmir for this money they are mistaken. I ask the world and international opinion to judge how the big brother, India is treating the infant state of Pakistan. India's attitude regarding stopping of payment of Pakistan's share of cash balances and military stores is nothing but one of pressure polities and blackmail. I fail to understand how the Kashmir issue is now linked with the Indo-Pakistan financial agreement. For when the discussions were held apropos of this and when the agreement was signed the problem of Kashmir was there and yet not a mention of Kashmir was made. I pledge my honour that there is not a word in it—the agreement relating to Kashmir."

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad then quoted from Sardar Patel's speech in the Constituent Assembly of India in which Sardar Patel stated that out of about Rs.400 crores held in India for the old Government of undivided India it had been agreed between the Governments of the two Dominions that Pakistan's share would be Rs.75 crores. Sardar Patel admitted that the issue of Kashmir was not before the Partition Council which approved of the financial settlement.

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad made the point that the Deputy Prime Minister of India in his speech on the agreement in the Constituent Assembly in New Delhi, did not mention the question of Kashmir as linked with the financial agreement at all. "Under the Pakistan Monetary System and Reserve Bank Order, 1947, the Bank till the end of September of this year will manage the currency of Pakistan and carry on the Pakistan's banking business".

He said: "The Reserve Bank of India belonged to both the Dominions. It is not as it is commonly thought the property of the Government of India. Technically it belongs to the shareholders. The Bank will afford similar facilities to Pakistan which it affords to the Indian Union. It is the responsibility of the Reserve Bank of India under this order to give Pakistan the same treatment as it does to the Union of India. These conditions were clearly understood before partition was finalized.”

“Again, regarding cash balances in the custody of the Reserve Bank of India according to the act mentioned, these cash balances vest in His Majesty for the purpose of the two Dominions. Therefore, one Government or another cannot direct the bank. If the bank refused to credit the Pakistan Government with its share of cash balances, as asked for, the issue will have to be taken at a higher level”.

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad added: “We have received Rs.20 crores, but the Reserve Bank of India has not credited the rest to us under pressure from the Government of India”.

He explained: “The Government of India through unilateral action have stopped the payment of these Rs.55 crores by the Reserve Bank of India to the Government of Pakistan. Sardar Patel in his speech in the Constituent Assembly, had categorically stated that in addition to the Rs.20 crores already made over to Pakistan Rs.55 crores will be allocated to Pakistan in full and final settlement of its claim of its share of the undivided cash balances and cash accounts.

Ways and Means Advance

Referring to the ways and means advances (short loans) Mr. Ghulam Mohamad said: the Reserve Bank of India, which was consulted at every step apropos of financial matters relating to the two Dominions before the partition of the sub-continent, itself gave the following advice that Pakistan must have enough cash till September of this year.

“As long as there are sufficient notes in the banking department of the Reserve Bank—and there the Pakistan Government should agree that their requirements of cash was not covered by cash balances, should be covered by ways and means advances from the bank on which the bank would charge an interest of half per cent.”

“We agreed to this suggestion at the advice of the Reserve Bank authorities. But now though they have notes they are refusing to give us short loans as required by Pakistan. On the expansion of currency it was agreed, on the suggestion of the Reserve Bank, that only when there are no more notes in the banking department and no ways and means advances can be taken, then only can currency be expanded. Now the Reserve Bank of India states that there is no clause of the Act which enables Pakistan to expand its currency.”
“This matter was discussed with the representatives of the India Government in New Delhi on December 2 and it was agreed that the Pakistan Government could settle the removal of any top limits to the expansion of its currency with the Reserve Bank of India. The Government had no objection to this. The Reserve Bank of India is now not giving us ways and means advances while there is no limit to the ways and means advances that it can and does make to the Government of the Indian Union.”

“It was also agreed that the Pakistan Government cold nominate two directors on its behalf on the Board of the Reserve Bank of India and the Indian Union Government would appoint these Directors. At present we have one director on the Board and the other has been nominated by us but has yet to be appointed by the Government of India. The Reserve Bank of India should be uninfluenced by any political party in power.”

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad said that he had been told but how true it was, he could not guarantee, “that some of the Directors of the Reserve Bank of India had opposed the India Government’s directions to withhold the payment of Pakistan’s share of cash balances.”

The Finance Minister then accused the Reserve Bank of “failure to carry out, its obligations justly, fairly and impartially”.

He added: “The Reserve Bank of India is being influenced by the pressure and wishes of the Government of India which desire to put political pressure on us. We find it difficult to believe that the Reserve Bank of India would risk its international reputation if it were not for the Government of India who are determined to strangle Pakistan financially and economically. The Government of India now want to achieve their aim of economically strangling Pakistan through these means as they have failed to achieve this end otherwise.”

“The attitude of the Reserve Bank has been unhelpful and our confidence in its reliability and integrity is being shaken and unless we see symptoms of honest, fair and straightforward dealing in this matter of implementation of their obligations what remains of the confidence will be entirely destroyed. The Reserve Bank of India was a party to all these agreements, as it advised both sides before partition, and it should honour these agreements, as it advised both sides before partition. If the Reserve Bank wants to be impartial and fair why does it not also stop the payment out of cash balances and ways and means advances to the Indian Dominion also?”

He said that recently he had asked the Governor of the Reserve Bank to come to Karachi for discussions with him, but he could not come as he was indisposed. Instead, his deputy came for discussion. The reason that he could gather for the withholding of the cash balances of Pakistan was that under Sections 11 and 30 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, the Government of India have the power to remove Directors or supersede directors of the bank and dismiss its Governor and Deputy Governor and as such the Reserve Bank had to carry out the instructions of the Government of India and could not afford to disregard their wishes.

Finally, Mr. Ghulam Mohammad said: “When before the partition the question of Pakistan’s representation on the Board was under consideration we were assured that Pakistan could till such time they established their own monetary authority rely in the impartiality and integrity of the distinguished members of the Board of Directors of the bank who would not be influenced by any political party in India and who would as honourable men discharge their duties fairly, equitably and honestly towards Pakistan and India.”

“Let us hope that at the very first impact of hard realities these distinguished men would withstand pressure from the Government of India which is fast adopting fascist methods.”

3280. Mintues of a Meeting convened by Governor General Lord Mountbatten with Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan.

Lahore, January 11, 1948.

Mountbatten explained to Liaquat Ali Khan that the loan of 55 crores was being withheld temporarily because Indian public opinion would see it as the financing of Pakistan’s attack on Kashmir and the Government would lose public support. The prior settlement of the Kashmir issue was therefore necessary.

Pandit Nehru asked Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan whether it was not a fact that the Pakistan expenditure required about 5 crores a month. Mr. Liaquat nodded his head; and Pandit Nehru then pointed out that the ten crores should tie Pakistan over for at least two months, by which time he sincerely hoped that the balance of the 55 crores could be paid since he felt certain that the Kashmir question would have been resolved by then.

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖
With regard to the recent arrangements between India and Pakistan about the outstanding financial problems between the two Governments the Finance Minister of Pakistan at a Press conference held by him at Karachi has made some astounding statements and has accused the Government of India and the Reserve Bank of breach of faith and improper conduct.

It is very surprising that a responsible Minister of Pakistan should have thought fit to give expression to such wild statements and sentiments. My purpose today will be to give plain and unvarnished account of these negotiations leaving it to the world to judge whether the Government of India has not acted in the most honourable, generous and friendly spirit and to what extent Pakistan has responded to this.

I shall first attempt to give categorical answers to some of the untenable statements read by the Pakistan Finance Minister. Mr. Ghulam Mohammad has stated that "while the Government of India were operating on their share of the cash balances they had asked the Reserve Bank of India not to credit the Pakistan Government with Rs.55 crores of the cash balances that belonged to the Pakistan Government. He then goes on to say that 'these cash balances vest in His Majesty for the purpose of the two Dominions.'"

Having made these two astounding statements he goes on to accuse the Reserve Bank of partiality in having failed in its duty to transfer Rs.55 crores from the cash balance of the Government of India to the credit of the Pakistan Government.

No Instructions To Bank: With regard to the first charge, I can say in the most categorical terms that the Government of India have not given any instructions to the Reserve Bank of India regarding the transfer of any amount from our cash balances to the credit of the Government of Pakistan. The statement of Mr. Ghulam Mohammad has, therefore, no relation to fact or truth. There was no occasion for the Reserve Bank to make any reference to the Government of India about the question of cash balance and consequently no occasion for the Government of India to give any instructions in this matter.

I understand that the Reserve Bank received the first demand in this matter from the Pakistan Government only on the 8th of this month in a memorandum handed over to the Deputy Governor of the Bank at Karachi. I also understand... that the Governor to whom this memorandum was telegraphed by the Deputy Governor has sent an appropriate reply.

So far as the Government of India are concerned, the only reference that came from the Reserve Bank regarding any transaction between the Bank and the Government of Pakistan was in relation to a request from the Pakistan Government for temporary accommodation from the Bank. The Government of India made it clear to the Bank that it was a matter for the Bank alone to decide.

I understand that the Reserve Bank has already given Rs.5 crores as ways and means advance to the Pakistan Government and that the Bank was also going to give a further advance of Rs.5 crores on this account. From this plain statement of fact, the world can judge the propriety of a responsible Minister of a Government making an unfounded charge against another Government.

With regard to Mr. Ghulam Mohammad's statement that the cash balances vest in His Majesty for the purpose of the two Dominions, I can only express my surprise that an experienced Minister should make such an irresponsible statement without ascertaining the facts.

The position regarding cash balances as follows: Before the partition the cash balances of the then Government of India with the Reserve Bank was Rs.375 crores. On August 14, 1947, after the Partition Council had decided that a working balance of Rs.20 Crores should be allocated to the Pakistan Government the then undivided Government of India issued an order to the Reserve Bank allocating the balance between the two Dominions, as mentioned by the Deputy Prime Minister.

We also made it clear that the allocation was provisional and subject to readjustment when the balance to be transferred to Pakistan had been finally decided. A copy of this order was endorsed to the Pakistan wing of the then Finance Department and so far no objection has been raised to this allocation on the date of partition. It follows from this arrangement that there is no balance of the old undivided Government with the Bank.

The practical issue is who is competent to operate upon the cash balance? It is plain that after transferring 20 crores to Pakistan as Pakistan's opening cash balance on August 15, 1947, the remainder of the cash balance of the undivided Government of India was credited as the opening cash balance of the Dominion of India, and the only party competent to operate upon that cash balance is the Dominion of India and it is not open to the Reserve Bank of India to deal with that balance otherwise than in accordance with the instructions of the Government of India.
The Finance Minister of Pakistan seems to be under the impression that the Reserve Bank has failed in its duty in not transferring Rs.55 crores out of our cash balances to the credit of the Government of Pakistan on the basis of a settlement supposed to have been arrived at between the two Governments on this matter.

Assuming that the settlement between the two Governments is a final and unconditional settlement how is the Reserve Bank to take legal notice of such a settlement? If two clients of a Bank come to an agreement amongst themselves regarding their financial transactions, is the Bank under such circumstances to take notice of the agreement of its own accord and make adjustments in the accounts of its clients without any positive instruction from the client affected by such transfers? Even a novice in financial matters will not expect a Bank to act in such an irregular and illegal manner.

The Government of India has certain cash balances with the Reserve Bank and it is the Government of India alone and not any other authority that can issue instructions to the Reserve Bank about the operation of these balances.

The whole matter to my mind is so ridiculously simple that any further explanation or elaboration is unnecessary. The Reserve Bank would be acting in an illegal manner if it transferred any part of our cash balances to anybody’s credit without a definite instruction from us.

Let me now take this opportunity of explaining the exact legal and constitutional position of the Reserve Bank of India. The Reserve Bank is an independent Corporation created by an Act of the Indian Legislature and is bound only by the Act constituting it. Its relations to the present Government of India are governed by the provisions of the Reserve Bank Act.

The only modification that has been made in this matter as contained in Section 15(i) of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order 1947. The wording of this section is as follows: “The Reserve Bank Act shall cease to be part of the law of Pakistan and the status of the Bank in Pakistan shall be that of a corporation existing only by virtue of the law of India and capable of suing and being sued as such in Pakistan; and accordingly effect shall be given to the said Act by courts in Pakistan only in so far as under the rules and principles of law determining the cases in which law other than Pakistan law is to be applied in Pakistan, the proper law to be applied is the law of India.”

While the Reserve Bank is no doubt acting in its banking side as the common bankers for the two Dominions, the legal and constitutional relations of the Bank with the Pakistan Government is not by any means the same as the Bank’s relation with the Government of India. It is of course no part of the policy of the Indian Government to interfere in any way with the relations of the Bank with Pakistan so long as the Bank acts in accordance with the provisions of the law governing the activities of the Bank. I can say categorically that in fact there has been no interference.

I hope the statement both of law and fact that I have made will make it clear that the Finance Minister of Pakistan is not sure of the legal position and is very wrong in his statement of facts.

No Breach of Faith: I shall now say a few words in connection with his charge that the Government of India have been guilty of a breach of faith in not implementing the terms of the financial settlement recently arrived at.

My colleague, the Deputy Prime Minister who was directly concerned with these negotiations as the representative of India on the Partition Council has already given you a detailed account of the negotiations. So far as I am concerned there was a meeting of the representatives of the two Dominions on 27th November 1947 in which I took part. These discussions related to the allocation of the cash balances, the sharing of the uncovered debt, and other outstanding financial arrangements between the two Dominions.

I found that there was a genuine desire on both sides to settle these matters without the necessity of protracted proceedings before the Arbitral Tribunal. Within a few hours, we reached certain tentative conclusions regarding the allocation of the cash balances and the sharing of the uncovered debt.

On the following day, namely, 28th November 1947, there was a meeting at Government House at which H.E. the Governor-General and the Prime Minister of Pakistan were present. At this meeting a note by Sardar Patel was read out on these negotiations. In this statement it was stated specifically that “the object of our present discussions is to iron out all our differences. We should not therefore regard the settlement on these two issues as final until a settlement is reached on all the outstanding partition and other matters. No announcement should therefore be made until such an overall settlement is reached. I referred to matters other than partition matters. I did so advisedly.”

The meeting naturally took note of Sardar Patel’s caveat and it was with the full knowledge of this statement that the negotiations were resumed. By the 1st of December agreement on all the major financial issues was reached and the agreed conclusions were reported at a meeting of the Partition Council which was held on that day. The Partition Council decided that an agreed record should be prepared by Mr. H. M. Patel and Mr. Mohammad Ali and treated as part of the proceedings of the Council. The agreed note of the conclusions was finalized on 2nd December. In the meantime discussions on Kashmir and evacuee property continued at the Ministerial level.
Request To Arbitral Tribunal: On 3rd December 1947, the Arbitral Tribunal met and the representatives of Pakistan and India made a statement that the prospects of all the references being settled were very good and that a further meeting of the Partition Council was to be held on 8th and 9th December 1947 at Lahore and that thereafter the situation would be clearer.

I would invite you to make a special note of the language used by the representatives of the two Governments before the Arbitral Tribunal. They said that “the prospects of all the references being settled are very good.”

If the details regarding the financial matters were really settled in a final form on December 2, why should the representatives of the two Governments not have stated that the matters have been settled finally? Far from saying that they have stated that the prospects of settlement were very good.

It is obvious from this statement that it was understood by both the Governments that the decisions reached the previous day were only tentative and that something more remained to be done to give them finality. What really held up a final announcement of this settlement was the Kashmir issue on which agreement had not yet been reached. The Kashmir issue was set down for discussion at the Lahore meeting.

Kashmir Issue: The discussions on Kashmir were resumed at Lahore and it looked as if an agreement might still be reached a view which I notice was then shared by Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan also. On 9th December, Sardar Patel briefly mentioned the result of these negotiations on the floor of the Indian Parliament.

He made it clear that these agreements did not stand alone. He said: “I know there is considerable anxiety in the House and outside about the main question that gives us trouble that is the question on Kashmir that question is not before the Partition Committee and it is not part of this conference but the manner and the method and the time by which these will be executed will be decided later. I can only announce this today that we are all anxious that in it is possible all issues should be settled. Including that of Kashmir, so far as possible simultaneously. Every effort will be made to that end. If it is not successful we shall act in a manner which is to the best interest of the Dominion of India.”

On 12th December Sardar Patel made a fuller statement on the financial settlement on the floor of the House. He again, emphasized: “The successful implementation of these conclusion obviously depends on continuation of the spirit of accommodation and conciliation on both sides. Discord and estrangement on any vital issue—we have many vital issues yet to settle—is bound to place the good work which we have achieved in jeopardy.”

It should be noted that the Pakistan High Commissioner was present in the gallery of the House when this statement was made by Sardar Patel.
Linking of Issues: On 13th December there was another meeting of the Arbitral Tribunal and the representatives of both the Dominions mentioned before the Tribunal that all references from the Centre to the Tribunal had been settled and that notices of withdrawal would be handed in due course.

It should again be noted that the Pakistan High Commissioner was present when this statement was made before the Arbitral Tribunal. If really the Pakistan government objected to the linking up of the financial issue with that of Kashmir why did they make this statement before the Arbitral Tribunal on the 13th December when they knew that Sardar Patel in both his statements on the subject had made it clear on the floor of the Parliament that the implementation of the financial settlement would depend on the amicable settlement of other issues including that of Kashmir.

The only inference that can be made in the light of this sequence of events is that the Pakistan Government knew from the very outset of the negotiations that the Indian government would implement any financial agreement only if there was a satisfactory settlement on the Kashmir and other issues. It was with the full knowledge of this unambiguous attitude of the Indian government that the representatives of the Pakistan Government made a statement before the Arbitral Tribunal on 13th December.

In the light of what I have stated the world can judge what value should be given to the Statement of the Finance Minister of Pakistan that “none of us had the slightest indication that the Kashmir problem would be dragged in. If this agreement depended on Kashmir we would not have signed it.”

India’s Generosity: It is not necessary for me to dwell upon the subsequent correspondence that has passed between the two Prime Ministers on this matter. The Finance Minister of Pakistan has accused us of bad faith and has stated that the Government of India want to achieve their end of economically strangling Pakistan. If we had the slightest intention of economically strangling Pakistan we would not have been so generous in the matter of the financial settlement.

Our generosity in this respect has been appreciated by a journal of the standing of the Economist of London. In its issue of 3rd January 1948, the Economist has observed that “India showed a very generous lead in the recent financial negotiations and it was no doubt expected that Pakistan would reciprocate over jute. But that reciprocity is evidently not forthcoming.”

The Pakistan High Commissioner himself in an interview to the Statesman dated 7th December, 1947 has expressed satisfaction at the financial settlement reached between the two Dominions. Asked what Pakistan’s main gains were he said: “Cash balances and time.” Pakistan’s share of the cash balances was reasonable, he explained. “It would help us to settle down.” It was bound to have a psychological effect which would restore confidence. Pakistan had also gained time as the liabilities were to be paid in annual installments over a period of 50 years.

That was the immediate reaction of the Pakistan High Commissioner to the terms that we had so generously agreed to. Commenting on the settlement Sir Archibald Rowlands, the Financial Adviser to the Pakistan Government said:
"With the cash balances agreed on in Delhi alone the country could manage for an indefinite time."

It would appear in the light of subsequent events that our generosity has been ill-placed. The accusation of political blackmail which Mr. Ghulam Mohammad has leveled against us is perhaps only a cheap way of gaining sympathy for Pakistan.

Notwithstanding all these provocations, our position is absolutely clear. There is no question on our part of repudiation of the agreements which have been reached between the two Dominions. As we have always made it clear from the very outset, these agreements are a part of a wider settlement and we shall implement the agreement as soon as a settlement is made on the other issues.
Meanwhile, we will not be deterred from what we consider to be the right path by any campaign of hectoring, bullying and scandalizing on the part of responsible Minister of a neighbouring country.

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

New Delhi, January 12, 1948.

Statement of Sardar Patel at the Press Conference:

Friends, I am sure all of you have read the Press Statement of Mr. Ghulam Mohammad, Finance Minister of Pakistan, on the payment of cash balances to the Pakistan Government. The Finance Minister of Pakistan has had a varied career of responsibility as a civil servant — Finance Minister of Hyderabad State—and a participant in “big business.” One would not normally expect in his statement the defects of suppressio veri and suggestio falsi. But I regret to observe that not only does his statement abound in these, but in his utter desperation at seeing financial anticipation wrecked by the sections of his own Government in regard to Kashmir, he has cast discretion and judgement to the winds and descended down to the familiar arts of a bully and blackmailer.

I use these epithets deliberately, for to anyone reading his statement dispassionately it would be obvious that he has tried to browbeat the Reserve Bank of India into submission, by a liberal use of threats and insinuations, has charged the Government of India with bad faith in the hope that the charge would gain for him his coveted ransom, and has tried to invoke the assistance of international opinion in the expectation that the threatened exposure before the world would make the Government of India bend in its attitude on this subject. I quite concede that the desperate situation in which he finds himself calls for rather drastic remedies but we are entitled to expect of him a balanced approach to this problem rather than these filibustering tactics, the failure of which is, as certain as daylight. Further, in his overzeal to achieve his object by all manner of means, the Pakistan Finance Minister has, as I would presently show, paid little attention to truth and shown little regard for facts.

Let us first deal with his statement that “none of us had the slightest indication that the Kashmir problem would be dragged in” his accusation of bad faith and similar other statements of an accusatory nature. To deal with these I would give in brief a resume of the course of negotiations. The series of meetings held between the representatives of the Pakistan and Indian Governments in the last week of November were intended to iron out all our differences including the question of Kashmir. The discussions held were not confined to mere partition issues, but covered Kashmir, refugees and other important evacuation matters as well. On November 26, talks on Kashmir were held in an atmosphere of hope, goodwill and cordiality and were continued simultaneously with the discussions on financial and other questions on subsequent days. On November 21, informal and provisional agreement was reached on the two issues of division of cash balances and the sharing of the uncovered debt. The Pakistan representatives were in some haste and tried to hustle us into agreeing to announce these agreements. We resisted it. Indeed on the evening of November 27, I issued a statement to the Press asking them not to speculate on the nature of the talks, but to wait until an authoritative statement was issued after talks had concluded. Here is what I said then:

“All-out efforts are being made for a settlement on all outstanding matters, but any speculations on the nature of the talks would do more harm than good. All that I can say at present is that discussions are being held in a friendly and cordial atmosphere and the Prime Minister and the Finance Minister of Pakistan Government are staying on till Saturday.

“A detailed statement will be issued when the talks are concluded. Till then reports about any settlement on any individual item or issue between the two Governments must be regarded as premature and lacking authority.”
The next morning I made it clear in my statement which was read at the meeting at Government House at which both the Prime Minister and the Finance Minister of Pakistan were present that we would not regard the settlement of these issues as final until agreement had been reached on all the outstanding issues. I made it quite clear then that we would not agree to any payment until the Kashmir affair was settled. Accordingly, no announcement of the agreement was made. In the meantime, the Pakistan representatives postponed their departure and talks on Kashmir and other matters were continued with rather varying results on different issues. Working in this somewhat improved atmosphere, we reached a settlement on all other outstanding issues relating to partition, and the informal agreement was reported to the Partition Council at its meeting on December 1, though they were to be reduced to writing later. This was completed, on December 2, but it was agreed even then not to make an announcement on the subject until after the Lahore discussions on Kashmir and other outstanding issues had been, as was then hoped, successfully concluded.

This position was further confirmed by the submission made on December 3, by both parties before the Arbitral Tribunal that the prospects of all the references being settled were very good, that a further meeting was to be held on December 8 and 9 at Lahore and the situation would then be clearer. The discussions were resumed at Lahore on December 8 and 9. But in the meantime it was found that feverish attempts were being made by Pakistan Government to secure the payment of Rs. 55 crores which it had been agreed to allocate to Pakistan out of the cash balances. We resisted these attempts. Nevertheless, evidently in an attempt to isolate the issue and force our hands and contrary to the understanding reached, the Pakistan High Commissioner on December 7 gave a Press interview announcing the agreement reached on the financial issues. We, however, stuck to our previous position and reiterated it during the Lahore discussions though in deference to Pakistan's insistence on the announcement of the agreement on financial issues, we agreed to make a short statement on December 9 in the Legislature which was then sitting in Delhi. Even then, the Pakistan Finance Minister showed such indecent haste in rushing to the press in this matter that he actually gave an interview on the subject on December 7 itself. Pakistan's game then became quite clear. Armed with this understanding on the question of public announcement by use of the agreement on financial issues, their attitude on Kashmir stiffened and the prospect of agreement which seemed so near at Delhi receded. I then felt it necessary in my statement to the Assembly on December 9 to make it quite clear that the implementation of this agreement was to be as far as possible, simultaneous with the settlement of the Kashmir issue. The Pakistan Government did not take any exception to this statement at the time. In the subsequent detailed statement which I made on December 12 in the presence of the Pakistan High Commissioner, I again repeated that the successful implementation of this agreement depended on the continuation of goodwill, spirit of accommodation and conciliation on many other vital issues. Quite obviously, Kashmir was one such issue. Pakistan still made no protest. To all approaches for payment of the Rs. 55 crores, we returned a negative answer.

Then came the final talks on Kashmir issues on December 22. It was then for the first time during these discussions that the Pakistan Prime Minister took exception to our stand that the financial and Kashmir issues stood together as regards implementation and asked for immediate implementation of the payment of Rs.55 crores. We made it clear to him then and subsequently in our telegram dated December 30 that we stood by the agreement but that in view of the hostile attitude of Pakistan Government in regard to Kashmir the payment of the amount would have to be postponed in accordance with our stand through-out the negotiations.

Thus, it is our case that far from our having done anything unfair to Pakistan or in breach of any agreement, it is the Pakistan representatives who were all the time trying to soft-pedal the Kashmir issue in order to secure concessions from us on the financial issues and to manoeuvre us into making an isolated public announcement on the subject without reference to other vital issues between the two Governments. We consistently and success-fully resisted this despite attempts of the Pakistan High Commissioner and Finance Minister to force our hands. Far from there being bad faith on our part, (we) genuinely and sincerely meant this settlement as part of an overall settlement which would have been conducive to the maintenance of friendly and peaceful relations between the two sister Dominions.

It is also our claim that in agreeing to these terms of the financial settlement, we were actuated by generous sentiments towards Pakistan and a sincere desire, as I made clear in the Partition Council, “to see Pakistan grow into a prosperous neighbour.” We hoped that Pakistan would reciprocate on other issues which unfortunately still divided us. That the financial settlement was attractive to Pakistan and would be a great asset to Pakistan’s economy is clear from the statements issued by the Pakistan High Commissioner and Sir Archibald Rowlands. It is, therefore, quite plain that having secured terms which were essential to hold Pakistan’s finances together, the Pakistan Government failed in their obligation to respond to India’s gesture on other issues.

I would also point out that the Government of India took a more comprehensive view of our obligation to the securing of a just and peaceful settlement than the Pakistan Government. We realized throughout that neighbourly relations between ourselves and Pakistan could be restored and maintained only if the spirit of amity, tolerance and goodwill pervaded throughout the entire field of controversy; the Pakistan Government obviously intended to take undue advantage of our generous attitude and exhibit these virtues in a narrow, restricted and selfish sphere. The need for a comprehensive view was and still is quite clear. Apart from other factors, India has taken over the entire debt of undivided India and depends on Pakistan's bonafides and goodwill to make equated payment by easy and long term instalments of its debt to India after a four-year moratorium period. We cannot, therefore, afford to let conflicts endanger our credit and security and throw into the melting pot some of the vital points in the financial agreement itself. Obviously, therefore, India must provide against strained relations worsening into open breach and, thereby, as I was careful to point out in my statement of December 12 “placing all the good work achieved in jeopardy.”

We were, therefore, fully justified in providing against Pakistan’s possible continuance of aggressive actions in regard to Kashmir by postponing the implementation of the agreement. We have made it clear to the Pakistan Government more than once that we stand by the agreement which we reached. The agreement does not bind the Government of India to any fixed date for payment and we cannot reasonably be asked to make a payment of cash balances to Pakistan when an armed conflict with its forces is in progress and threatens to assume even a more dangerous character, which would be likely to destroy the whole basis of the financial agreement and would endanger other parts of the agreement, such as arrangements for taking over of debt, division of stores, etc.

The Pakistan Finance Minister claims the amount of Rs.55 crores as belonging to Pakistan. He has apparently overlooked the fact that on August 14, 1947, after the Partition Council had decided to allocate the working balance of Rs. 20 crores to the Pakistan Government, then undivided Government of India issued an order in the following terms to the Reserve Bank.

“Please transfer twenty (half of forty) crores from Central closing cash balance on the 14th instant to Pakistan and balance to Indian Dominion as opening balance on the 15th.”

A copy of this telegram was endorsed to the Pakistan wing of the then Finance Department, and no objection was, or has been since raised to this accounting. It follows from this that so far as the bank accounts are concerned, there is no balance of the old undivided Government to be operated upon the money standing in the name of the Indian Dominion and its is only on the authority of the Indian Dominion that any share can be allocated to the Government of Pakistan. The relevant portion of the Partition Council minutes also runs thus:

“In addition to the Rs.20 crores already made over to Pakistan, Rs.55 crores will be allocated to Pakistan in full and final settlement of its claim for a share of the undivided Government’s cash balance and of the cash balance investment account.”
It is clear therefore, that nothing belongs to Pakistan until the Government of India transfer the amount to its account.

This clear-cut position makes the Pakistan Finance Minister’s outburst against the Reserve Bank appear somewhat hysterical and hectoring. Obviously, the Reserve Bank cannot do anything without the specific instructions of the Government of India who are the only competent authority to operate the account. He has accused the Government of India of interfering in the discharge of its duties towards the Pakistan Government and has characterized this alleged interference not only as an unfriendly act, but as an act of aggression.

I wish to say in the most emphatic terms that this accusation is completely baseless and devoid of any element of truth whatsoever. As I understand that the Reserve Bank of India first received the demand for the payment of Rs.55 crores on January 6 in a memorandum handed over to the Deputy Governor of the Reserve Bank at Karachi. I also understand that the Governor to whom this memorandum was telegraphed, by the Deputy Governor, has sent an appropriate reply. So far as the Government of India are concerned, I would say that when the Reserve Bank mentioned an approach by the Pakistan Government for temporary accommodation from the Bank, the Government of India made it clear to the Bank that it was a matter for the Bank alone to decide. Indeed, the Government of India have made every effort to avoid dragging the Reserve Bank into the controversy. The blame for attempting to force the Reserve Bank into taking sides must rest with the Pakistan Finance Minister. Neither the manner nor the nature of the attempt reflects creditably on the honesty of purpose and motives of the Pakistan Government.

Gentlemen, I think I have said enough to prove how unfounded and insubstantial are the allegations made by the Pakistan Finance Minister against the Government of India. We have also shown how we have held consistently to the position that the settlement of financial issues cannot be isolated from that of other vital issues and has to be implemented simultaneously. There can be no question of our repudiating the agreement reached. We only desire that an appropriate atmosphere conditioned by the agreement must be created for its implementation. If the Pakistan Government press for payment of cash balances in advance, it is obvious that they are motivated by factors wholly opposed to the spirit underlying the agreement. We are thus fully justified in resisting these machinations which, if successful, would vitiate the very basis of the agreement and adversely affect, by facilitating Pakistan’s aggressive designs on India, the implementation of other vital parts of the agreement.
Some Questions and Answers

A correspondent referred to Mr. Ghulam Mohammad’s remark that “Pakistan would not have been a party to sell Kashmir for Rs.55 crores”. Sardar Patel commented: “He thinks Kashmir belongs to Pakistan. It is a part of the Indian territory. Any decision on the Kashmir issue rests neither with Pakistan Government nor with the Government of India, but with the people of Kashmir alone, so that the question of sale or purchase of Kashmir does not arise.”

Mr. Chetty added: “If we wanted to buy anything we wanted to buy the goodwill and friendship of Pakistan.”

The correspondent next drew attention to Mr. Ghulam Mohammad’s remark that “if the agreement depended on Kashmir we would not have signed it” and asked whether any agreement had been signed. Sardar Patel replied: “I have not signed any agreement nor has anybody asked Mr. Ghulam Mohammad to sign any agreement. The signatures of such people have no value.”

Referring to the remarks of Mr. Chetty that India had been generous in the matter of the financial settlement the correspondent asked what made the Government of India feel that generosity was called for. Mr. Chetty replied: “Generosity was occasioned by a desire on both sides to settle down and take to constructive work and, therefore, we wanted to help the Pakistan Government. Naturally, we expected that generosity on our part would have reciprocal response. We were terribly disappointed.

“Strictly on merits, I am sure that the Arbitral Tribunal would not have allocated Rs. 75 crores out of the cash balances to Pakistan that we have done. What are exactly these cash balances? We have borrowed Rs. 2,400 crores from the people of India and a part of that borrowing we keep in cash. Can you expect us to undertake the liability for the entire debt of the undivided India and at the same time hand over a part of the proceeds of the loan to another person? It cannot be done. Really, both the Governments are entitled to get as cash balances the amount normally required as till money.

“The Arbitral Tribunal would have decided that the requirements for till money would be met by about Rs. 20 crores or Rs. 30 Crores, but we generously gave Rs. 75 crores to help Pakistan to make a start. We knew that they had no money market, that they had still to build up their credit as a Government and it was with the utmost friendly feeling that we agreed to give such a large amount of cash balances.”

Question : Did you make this large allocation because you felt that Pakistan had destroyed with its own hands its mechanism of trade, commerce, banking and insurance, and you thought a large financial help was necessary to put them on their feet again?

Mr. Chetty: We really wanted to help them in their difficulties.

Question: Can the Reserve Bank go on lending money to Pakistan indefinitely?

Answer: It cannot, when there is no security.

Question: Have you taken steps to see that Pakistan does not take possession of the cash lying with the Reserve Bank in Pakistan by force?

Answer: Notwithstanding what I have said I still expect some sanity from the Pakistan Government.

Sardar Patel added: “Such an act will mean Pakistan driving us to war. We shall meet such a contingency.”

Replying to another question, Mr. Chetty made it clear that the sterling balances belonged to the Reserve Bank and an agreement had been reached about the share of India and Pakistan of the balances.

When a correspondent asked information about the Hyderabad loan to Pakistan and another asked for confirmation of the report that 90 aeroplanes belonging to India had been impounded by Pakistan as a retaliatory measure Mr. Chetty replied that these issues were separate. He could not tell the exact position regarding aeroplanes.

No. D. 208/48-OSV (OSVI). the 13th January 1948

Subject: Visit of Pakistan delegation to Delhi for joint discussions with representatives of India and His Majesty’s Government on Sterling balances.

The Secretary to the Government of India in the Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations presents his compliments to the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India and has the honour to forward herewith an Aide Memoire in reply to the Aide Memoire from the Ministry of Finance of the Government of Pakistan received with his First Secretary’s letter No. F. 9(6)-PC/48-6 dated the 7th January, 1948.

AIDE MEMOIRE

The Government of India have considered the Pakistan Government’s aide-memoire regarding the visit of Pakistan Delegation to Delhi for joint discussions with representatives of the Indian and His Majesty’s Government on sterling balances. The Government of India are unable to see the validity of the reasons given by the Pakistan Government and have noted the decision with regret.

12 January, 1948.
Excerpts from the Press Conference of Pakistan Finance Minister Ghulam Mohammad on implementation of the Financial Agreement.

Karachi, January 14, 1948.

The Finance Minister of Pakistan, Mr. Ghulam Mohammad, at a Press Conference at Karachi reiterated that the cash balances held by the Reserve Bank of India vest in His Majesty for the joint purposes of the Dominions of Pakistan and India.

At the Press conference, which was a rejoinder to the position taken by India Mr. Ghulam Mohammad categorically stated that the Kashmir question was never connected at any stage of the discussions which led to the recent financial and military stores agreement between India and Pakistan.

He made the point that the action of the Government of India in ordering the Reserve Bank of India by a letter on August 14, 1947 to transfer twenty crores of Rupees to Pakistan and credit the rest of the cash balances to India was "invalid and illegal".

He stated that the Pakistan Government had never received a copy of this letter from the Government of India. He called the action on the part of the Government of India as “unilateral” and said that the Pakistan Government was never consulted.

He put it down as an “invalid and illegal” order because he maintained that there was no joint undivided Government of India on August 14.

Mr. Ghulam Mohammad contended that on July 19, 1947 two Provisional Governments (one for Pakistan and the other for India) had come into being for the transitional period and thus the then Provisional Government of India had no right to make such an order without the prior agreement of its counterpart.

The Pakistan Finance Minister termed the Indian contention as unacceptable that the only party competent to operate on the cash balances was the Government of India and they alone could issue instructions to the Reserve Bank about the operation of these balances.

“My answer is that these cash balances vest in His Majesty for the joint purposes of the Dominions of India and Pakistan. “They were vested with His Majesty the King for the joint purpose of the two Dominions.”

Referring to the statement in the New Delhi Press Conference that “the undivided Government of India issued an Order In the following terms to the Reserve Bank: “Please transfer twenty half of forty crores from central closing cash balance on the 14th instant to Pakistan and balance to India Dominion opening balance on the 15th. Mr Ghulam Mohammad said the order was issued on August 14. This is a very significant date.

"The order is alleged to have been issued by the joint undivided Government of India. There was no undivided Government of India functioning on that date. According to the Executive Council Transitional Provisional Order 1947 there were created two provisional Governments on July 19, 1947, so, there were two Finance Members Mr Liaquat Ali Khan for Pakistan and Mr. C. Rajagopalacharia for India. "Each of these Provisional Governments were dealing with its own business and consulting each other on matters of common concern. Mr Liaquat Ali Khan had left New Delhi few days before August 14 and I categorically state that the Pakistan side of the Government was not consulted and therefore never concurred with the issue of the unilateral order contained in the letter of August 14 to the Reserve Bank of India. Moreover the Order was never signed by us. The first time we learned about this Order was when it came to us as an enclosure to a letter from the Reserve Bank of India the day before yesterday (January 12).

"I reiterate that the Pakistan side of the Government was never consulted," he insisted.

Apropos of who was the legal authority to order the Reserve Bank to transfer cash balances, Mr. Ghulam Mohammed said: "These cash balances are today in the custody of the Reserve Bank but they are the property of His Majesty for the joint purposes of the two Dominions and unless an agreement has been reached either by arbitration or otherwise between the two Dominions they still remain vested in His Majesty for the joint purposes of India and Pakistan. "Therefore now the point arises who can order the Bank to transfer the cash balances? We hold that the two Governments as notified in identical terms by the Governments of the two Dominions the Reserve Bank should act in accordance with the agreement. No further communication was necessary. We have however sent the Reserve Bank a formal letter. Legally it must act on this".

"We are justified in asking the Reserve Bank of India not to pay anything to the Government of India out of the cash balances unless it credits us with our share of the cash balances. We have done so, and we hope that the Reserve Bank will act in accordance with the correct position in this matter."

On the responsibilities of the Reserve Bank of India towards Pakistan the Finance Minister said: "According to section four of the Pakistan Monetary System and Reserve Bank Order 1947 the Reserve Bank has to carry out the banking exchange remittance work and afford the same facilities to Pakistan as it extends to the Government of India."
Statement by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on the question of payment to Pakistan.

New Delhi, January 15, 1948.

The Government’s decision in regard to the payment of the cash balances to Pakistan has been taken after the most careful thought and after consultation with Gandhiji. I should like to make it clear that this does not mean any change in our unanimous view about the strength and validity of the Government’s position as set out in various statements made by distinguished colleagues of mine. Nor do we accept the facts or arguments advanced in the latest statement of the Finance Minister of Pakistan.

We have come to this decision in the hope that this generous gesture, in accord with India’s high ideals and Gandhiji’s noble standards, will convince the world of our earnest desire for peace and goodwill.

We have sought to remove one major cause of dispute and argument between India and Pakistan and we hope that other problems will also be resolved. But let it be remembered that people of Kashmir are suffering from a brutal and unprovoked invasion, and we have pledged ourselves to help them to gain freedom. To that pledge we shall hold and we shall do our utmost to redeem it. We seek their freedom not for any gain to us, but to prevent the ravishing of a fair country and a peaceful people.

3286. Press Communiqué issued by the Prime Minister’s Secretariat on the Implementation of the India – Pakistan Financial Settlement.

New Delhi, January 15, 1948.

Press Information Bureau
Government of India

The Government of India have fully clarified their position in regard to the financial settlement arrived at between them and the Government of Pakistan. They have declared that they abide by that settlement, but that the implementation of it in regard to the cash balances, must be considered as a part of an overall settlement of outstanding question in issue between India and Pakistan. They regret that the Finance Minister of the Pakistan Government should have advanced arguments which are unsupported by facts and which they cannot accept. The factual position has been clearly stated in the statements issued by the Deputy Prime Minister and the Finance Minister of the Government of India. The facts and arguments contained in these statements represent the unanimous opinion of the cabinet. They regret that the Finance Minister of the Pakistan Government should have again challenged the incontrovertible facts which justify the position taken up by the Government of India both on legal and other grounds.

The Government have however shared the world-wide anxiety over the fast undertaken by Gandhi ji, the Father of the Nation. In common with him they have anxiously searched for ways and means to remove ill-will, prejudice and suspicions which have poisoned the relations of India and Pakistan. Impelled by the earnest desire to help in every way open to them in the object which Gandhi ji has at heart, the Government have sought for some tangible and striking contribution to the movement for ending the physical suffering of the Nation’s soul and to turn the nation’s mind from the present distemper, bitterness and suspicion to constructive and creative effort. The Government are anxious to remove as far as possible, without detriment to the national good, every cause which leads to friction between India and Pakistan.

In view of the appeal made by Gandhi ji to the nation, the Government have decided to remove the one cause of suspicion and friction between the two States which, consistently with national honour and interest, it is in their power to remove. They make this spontaneous gesture in the earnest hope that it will be appreciated in the spirit in which it is made and that it will help in producing an atmosphere of goodwill for which Gandhi ji is suffering crucifixion of the flesh and thereby lead this great servant of the nation to end his fast and still further to his unparalleled service to India.
The Government have decided to implement immediately the financial agreement with Pakistan in regard to the cash balances. The amount due to Pakistan on the basis of this agreement, i.e., Rupees fifty-five crores, minus the expenditure incurred by the Government of India since the 15th August on Pakistan account, will therefore be paid to the Government of Pakistan.

This decision is the Government’s contribution, to the best of their ability, to the non-violent and noble effort made by Gandhi ji, in accordance with the glorious traditions of this great country, for peace and goodwill.

3287. Statement by the Government of Pakistan regretting Indian decision to deduct expenses incurred on behalf of Pakistan.

The Government of Pakistan have received from the Government of India a copy of the Communiqué issued by that Government announcing their decision to implement immediately the Financial Agreement with Pakistan in regard to the cash balances.

While the Pakistan Government note this change of attitude on the part of the Government of India with satisfaction they regret that the Government of India should still adhere to the arguments advanced by them to justify their previous attitude.

The Government of Pakistan maintain and re-emphasize that, as their Finance minister has made amply clear, the position formerly taken up by the Deputy Prime Minister and the Finance Minister of India was both factually and legally incorrect and untenable.

The Pakistan Government note with surprise that the Government of India intend to transfer the sum of Rs 55 crores after deducting the expenditure incurred by the Government of India since August 15 on Pakistan account, which position is again untenable and wrong, because the financial agreement does not provide for any such deductions to be made from Pakistan share of the cash balances before it is transferred. There is no provision in the agreement for deduction of any kind. Further, since August 14, not only has the Government of India met certain expenditure on behalf of Pakistan but the Government of Pakistan have also met some expenditure on behalf of India.

These transactions will be adjusted between the two Governments in accordance with the procedure agreed to by both the authorities in the Partition Council according to which such expenditure will have to be certified and accepted by the Auditors General of Pakistan and India respectively before the question of payment arises.

The deduction of any figure from the cash balances of Pakistan at the present stage by the Government of India would be quite arbitrary and contrary to the agreed procedure, and would consequently be unacceptable to the Pakistan Government.

The Pakistan Government trust that the Government of India will reconsider this new condition introduced by them, for which there is no justification, and transfer the full Rs 55 crores.

The Government of Pakistan will discharge their obligations, if any with regard to expenditure incurred after the August 14, as soon as they have been duly checked and accepted as correct by the two Auditors General.

The Government of Pakistan must point out that the allocation of the cash balances is only one item in the financial agreement and impress that the Government of India should implement the other items without delay, particularly the transfer of Pakistan due share of military stores and equipment. They further hope that all action in the economic field which has been operative for some time against Pakistan shall cease, as such action is not only against existing agreements but constitutes an unfriendly act.

The Government of Pakistan reiterate that they are not only ready and willing but anxious to establish harmonious and friendly relations between the two Dominions and thereby restore peace and goodwill between two neighbouring states, which is bound to help the cause of peace not only in this sub-continent of India but throughout the world at large.

Financial Settlement between India and Pakistan

Para 9 of the Indian Independence (Rights, Property & Liabilities) Order, 1947, has placed on the Indian Dominion liability for such loans, guarantees and other financial obligations of the Governor-General-in-Council as were outstanding at the time of the partition subject, under para 13(2) ibid, to Pakistan paying a just and equitable contribution as may be agreed upon and in the absence of agreement determined by the Arhitral Tribunal.
2. The provisions in the order set out above supersedes all the discussions in the Expert Committee and the final settlement with Pakistan will now take the form of an inter-State debt by that Dominion to India. It is now necessary to decide the lines on which this debt should be repaid.

3. Pakistan’s final debt will be made up of –
   (a) the value of physical assets taken over by it because they lie in Pakistan territory or (as in the case of movable stores) their allocation has been agreed on between the two Governments; plus
   (b) the financial assets taken over by it such as the cash balance allocated to it, and the miscellaneous assets such as outstanding loans assigned to it: plus
   (c) its share of the net excess of liabilities including the liability for pensions over assets compendiously described as the “uncovered debt”: less
   (d) the value of liabilities taken over by it such as the liability for Postal Cash Certificates and Postal Savings Bank deposits outstanding in that Dominion on the date of separation, the provident fund balances of Government servants transferred to Pakistan etc.

4. There has been agreement over a fairly wide filed in the allocation of assets and liabilities except that the method of valuing the Railway assets taken over by Pakistan, the cash balance to be allotted to Pakistan and the relative shares of the two Dominions in the uncovered debt are being referred to arbitration. There has also been no agreement on the method of discharging the liability for pensions and this is being put up separately for decision by the Partition Council. A decision on all these points, whether by agreement or by arbitration, will only affect the amount of the debt and will not determine the method by which it will be repaid.

5. There is however one point affecting the quantum of debt on which the decision of the Partition Council is required, viz., the method of valuing the public debt for the purpose of the financial settlement. In the case of Burma the present value of the liability for principal and interest was calculated taking into account the interest payments, discounts, the date of redemption etc. The rate of interest was based on the average yield over the preceding 2 years of loans with a currency of 15 years and over rounded to the nearest quarter per cent. This procedure, it is suggested, should be adopted in the present case. For this valuation, non-dated loans may be taken as repayable on the earliest date on which the option to repay becomes available to Government. As a matter of convenience for all such loans 1986, the date on which option in respect of the bulk of the undated loan becomes available, maybe taken.
8048  INDIA-PAKISTAN RELATIONS

6. It is presumed that Pakistan will repay to India its share of the liability, which is obviously to be discharged in Indian rupees, in a certain number of equated instalments for principal and interest combined. The decision of the Partition Council is now required on the following matters:-

(1) The rate of interest that should be adopted. It is suggested that the rate of interest should be not less than the average rate paid by the Government of India on its present outstanding public debt but should approximate to this.

(2) The date from which the annual instalments of payment should begin.

(3) The number of annual equated instalments. In the case of Burme, on separation, it was decided that repayment should be in 45 instalments. The first payment started in 1937 itself. In the recent Treaty between Burme and U.K. Government, the period of payment is fixed of 20 years.

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

The financial discussions between the Pakistan and United Kingdom delegations relating to Pakistan’s Starting balances have concluded and the financial agreement of August 14, 1947, has been extended to June 30, 1948. As a result of this extension, there will be transferred to a new account to be opened by the Reserve Bank of India for the conduct of transactions relating to Pakistan the sum of £ 10 million by way of a working balance.

There will be a further transfer of £6 million for Pakistan from the No. 2 Account (blocked sterling). In addition, there will be currently available to Pakistan a balance carried forward from 1947. This amount has been estimated to be of the order of £4 million.

In view of the world-wide dollar shortage and the strain to which the central reserves of the sterling area are being subjected, the Government of Pakistan have agreed to restrict their net drawings on the central reserves for hard currencies to a total of £3.3 million in the current half year.

Pakistan will of course, have available at her disposal her own earnings of hard currencies in addition to the £3.3 Million.

Award of the Arbitral Tribunal regarding share of assets and liabilities of the East and West Punjab.

Lahore March 27, 1948.

The Arbitral Tribunal has given its award on all the 33 disputes between the East and West Punjab Governments. The award has fixed East Punjab’s share of the assets and liabilities of the undivided Punjab at 40 per cent.

According to the award, the East Punjab will continue to supply electricity to the West Punjab till the end of March 1949, subject to the provision that during the period from March 1948 to September 1948 the West Punjab will be entitled to 50 per cent of the total amount generated at the Mandi project while this share will be reduced by one-quarter in the period from October 1 to December 31 and by another quarter in the remaining three months of the financial year. The rebate charges will be six pies* per unit. The Tribunal has fixed the value of the canals at twice the amount spent in their construction. According to the 40/60 ratio, the East Punjab will receive about Rs. 16 crores for canals alone. The Tribunal has also ruled that irrigated Crown land in colony areas, including irrigated forest plantations should be evaluated and that the East Punjab should receive its 40 per cent share of the total value, estimated at about Rs. 11,25,00,000.

The Tribunal has upheld the East Punjab Government’s claim for the division of the Lahore Museum and has appointed Mr. S.N. Gupta to supervise the division which will be carried out by representatives of the two provinces. Points of dispute arising during the process of the division will again be reviewed by the Arbitral Tribunal.

There will however, be no division of the Central Workshop Amritsar, the Irrigation Research Institute Lahore, the Government College, Lahore the Central Training College, Lahore, the Agricultural College, Lyallpur, Veterinary College Lahore, the Punjab College of Engineering and Technology, Lahore, the Rasul Engineering and Technology, Lahore the Rasul Engineering School and the Soil Research Laboratories, Lahore.

Media reports said that all but five of the decisions had been unanimous. The five important cases where the chairman had to give an award included the questions of fixing the two provinces’ share of the assets and liabilities of the undivided Punjab, and evaluation of canals and the Crown land in colony areas.

* 12 pies were equal to one anne which was 1/16 of the rupee.
3291. Press Note issued by the Government of Pakistan clarifying the legal position of Pakistan’s currency.

Karachi March 27, 1948.

The Government of Pakistan wish to clarify the position regarding Pakistan currency which will begin to be issued from April 1. According to the arrangements agreed upon between the Dominions of Pakistan and India, at the time of the partition in August last, the Reserve Bank of India will continue to be the Currency and Banking Authority of the Government of Pakistan till September 30, 1948. The management of Exchange Control and Public Debt is, under the same arrangements to be taken over by Pakistan from April 1. The agreed plans also provide for the issue of Pakistan notes and metallic coins from April 1, and to this end arrangements have been made by the Reserve Bank of India. Discussions have recently been held with the Government of India and the Reserve Bank to reconsider the dates from which the Reserve Bank was to be relieved of its functions in Pakistan in respect of currency, exchange control and public debt. The discussions have not been concluded but it is expected that agreement will be reached to enable Pakistan to take over the control of banking and currency from a date earlier than October 1, 1948.

CONTROL OF EXCHANGE

For the sake of convenience it is also contemplated that Pakistan should take over the control of exchange and public debt from the same date as banking and currency, though arrangements exist for taking them over if necessary, from the original date, namely April 1, 1948. From April 1 Pakistan notes and coins will be put into circulation. Pakistan notes are India notes inscribed with “Government of Pakistan” both in English and Urdu. This has been done to avoid further delay which would have occurred if Pakistan notes had from the very beginning been notes of distinctive design. India notes will however, remain legal tender in Pakistan for a specified period which will be announced in due course. Pakistan coins will be in distinctive designs but they will be issued in the same categories as the present India coins.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS

It is not intended, at least for some time to impose any restriction on transfer of funds between India and Pakistan. Similarly it is not proposed to establish exchange control. Fears have been entertained by some uninformed persons regarding possible depreciation of the Pakistan rupee. The Government of Pakistan most emphatically express it as their considered view that there is no ground in theory or in fact for apprehending any depreciation of Pakistan currency.
The fears that have been expressed on this score are obviously due to the propaganda carried by persons who are either totally ignorant or are unfavourably disposed towards our new state. Patriotic citizens of Pakistan should beware of such subtle propaganda the object of which is to undermine the stability of the State. According to all economic and other factors our currency promises to be one of the strongest currencies of the world.

3292. Letter from Pakistan High Commissioner in India to Ministry of Finance.

New Delhi, March 29, 1948.

Office of the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India
New Delhi.

29th March, 1948

Dear Mr. Nehru,

Will you kindly refer to your letter No. J.S.(F) 17/48 dated the 23rd March, 1948 regarding the Pakistan Monetary System and Reserve Bank (Amendment) Order, 1948.

The proposals have been considered by the Govt. of Pakistan and I have been directed to make the comments which are contained in the following paragraphs.

2. In Section 6 it is proposed that before the share of Pakistan in the Sterling securities held in the Issue Dept. is determined provisions will be made for certain liabilities which are specified therein. The excess of such liabilities over the amount of sterling assets available in the Banking Department will be reduced from the amount of sterling assets in the Issue Department, and the balance left

* A Press Note issued by the managers of the Reserve Bank of India at Karachi, Lahore and Dacca on the same day clarified that Pakistan-inscribed note “will be legal tender only in Pakistan while India notes will remain legal tender in Pakistan (also) up to the September 30, 1948”. The Press Note while stating the legal position said that normally “the currency notes of a country are legal tender in that country only and not in any other but India notes have been allowed to continue as legal tender in Pakistan up to a specified date as a transitional arrangement” because if they had been divested of their legal tender character before the process of exchanging them for Pakistan-inscribed notes had been completed, great inconvenience would have been caused to a large number of Pakistanis still in possession of India notes.” in that Department will be regarded as available for distribution between India and Pakistan on the basis of note circulation.

It will be recalled that the proposal of our delegation was that the division of sterling assets should be made without making any notional reduction and on the basis of actuals. If later it is found in the light of adjustments on account of lump sums payable to H.M.G. that the total amount of sterling assets in the Issue Department should have been less than the amount which was actually divided the share due to each Government can be re-determined and such adjustments as are found necessary can be made.

The provision that has actually been made in the draft amendment order to the affect that an estimated sum of 450 crores will be retained by the Government of India is unnecessary and a little unfair.

It is unfair in another sense also. It is proposed that the entire amount payable to H.M.G. on account of H.M.G. stores, fixed installations etc. should be reduced from the common pool of sterling assets. In making such reduction it is only fair to bear in mind the stores which are actually allocated physically between the two dominions.

Some amendments are necessary to ensure the division of sterling assets on an absolutely fair basis.

3. A definition of ‘Pakistan rupee coin’ has been included in the amendment order for which there was no occasion.

In Section 7 of the amendment order it has been provided that any one rupee notes transferred to the Government of Pakistan under the provisions of Section 4 shall be returned to the Government of India without payment. These rupee notes will be transferred as part of the assets and it is not fair that they should be handed over to Government of India without payment. They should be treated in the same way as rupee notes coming out of circulation.

4. In order to ensure that the division of assets of the Reserve Bank between India and Pakistan is made as fairly as possible, no material change should be made in the composition of the assets of the Issue Department without the consent of both Governments.

5. In transferring gold bars under Section 5 of the amendment order the number of gold bars to be transferred on each occasion shall be determined with due regard to the progressive value of transferable assets and not with reference to the value of each instalment separately.

6. In Section 13 of the Amendment Order it is laid down that there shall be no restrictions on the transfer of securities of funds. In regard to securities it is presumed that in regard to securities of Government of India now en faced for payment of interest in Pakistan there would be no restriction on their being en faced for payment of interest in India after 31st March, 1948 (sic). This should be clarified by a suitable addition in the draft agreement.

Yours sincerely

3293. Agreement on Modification in Monetary Arrangements between India and Pakistan.

March 31, 1948.

In modification of the provisions of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, and the agreement made in December 1947, regarding the division of sterling balances, the Governments of India and Pakistan agreed as follows:

1. Date of termination of Reserve Bank’s function in Pakistan. The Reserve Bank will continue to function in Pakistan up to the 30th June 1948 in all respects as at present, i.e. as the currency authority, the banker of Government, agents for the management of public debt and for the exercise of exchange control.

2. Reduction of currency chest balances in Pakistan. The work of destruction or removal to India of India notes and coin held in currency chests in Pakistan will be accelerated so that the balances left over on 30th June 1948 will be reduced to the minimum possible. The Pakistan Government will ensure that all possible facilities are provided to the Reserve Bank for this purpose.

3. Mode of transfer of assets of the Issue Department.

(a) If at the close of business on the 30th day of June 1948, the currency chests in Pakistan contain an excess of India notes and India or Pakistan rupee coins over the amount of Pakistan note put into circulation up to that date, the Pakistan Government undertakes the obligation to return as expeditiously as possible to the Reserve Bank of India such excess unconditionally and shall not be entitled to receive any assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank in respect, thereof. All the currency chests in Pakistan shall be deemed to be transferred from the Reserve Bank to the Pakistan State Bank at the close of business on 30th June 1948 and the State Bank shall give a certificate to the Reserve Bank acknowledging the value of the excess as stated above and the obligation to return it unconditionally.

(b) The Pakistani Government undertakes that no Indian notes shall be put into circulation from the currency chests after the 30th June 1948.

(c) If at the close of business on the 30th day of June 1948, the value of Pakistan notes put into circulation exceeds the value of India notes and India or Pakistani coin held in the currency chests in Pakistan, the Reserve Bank of India will give to the State Bank of Pakistan a certificate acknowledging the value of the deficiency and the obligation to transfer to the Pakistan State Bank equivalent assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank on the surrender of the certificate.

(d) Except in regard to the assets equivalent to the deficiency mentioned in (c) above, which will be transferred as soon after 1st July 1948 as possible the physical transfer of assets of the Reserve Bank to the Pakistan State Bank shall be made only the return to the Reserve Bank of India of the excess specified in the certificate referred to in sub-paragraph (a) and shall be subject to the procedure outlined in the next succeeding sub-paragraphs.

(e) As on the 1st July 1948 the Reserve Bank will issue a certificate recognizing the obligation of the Bank to deliver to the Pakistan State Bank assets equivalent to the Pakistan notes in circulation on 30th June 1948 on discharge by the Government of Pakistan of the liability to return the excess in currency chests as on 30th June 1948 in terms of sub-paragraph (a). The certificate will give particulars of the assets to be delivered.

(f) After the Pakistan State Bank has completed the return of the excess specified in sub-paragraph (a) any further details of the notes and coins from the currency chests as on 30th June 1948, will entitle the Pakistan State Bank to proportionate assets of the Issue Department in respect of the notes. Such delivery shall be made to the Reserve Bank of India at any office in India in multiples of Rs. five crores except in the last instalment, and the Reserve Bank will transfer as early as possible proportionate assets except that in the case of gold the transfer will take place in not less than a complete bar, any excess being met in subsequent instalment. The certificate issued under (c) above will be modified from time to time as transfer of assets takes place.

(g) After the completion of the delivery of India notes and coins from the currency chests equal to the Pakistan notes in circulation on 30th June 1948, the Pakistan State Bank will deliver to the Reserve Bank in the manner as stated in (f) above, India notes returning from circulation after the 30th day of June 1948. Pending physical transfer of the assets the Reserve Bank will issue a certificate to the State Bank of Pakistan that assets equivalent to the amount so delivered are held by them on behalf of the State Bank and these certificates will be amended or cancelled from time to time on physical transfer of the assets.

(h) The State Bank of Pakistan will transfer India notes to India only by sea. If the State Bank of Pakistan makes a claim that any consignment of notes has been irretrievably lost in transit from Pakistan to India, the Reserve Bank of India shall accept liability for the value of notes which it is satisfied have in fact been irretrievably lost.

4. Return of India notes. India notes withdrawn from circulation in Pakistan up to 30th June 1949 and delivered to the Reserve Bank by the State Bank of Pakistan will count for sharing in the Profits of the Reserve Bank up to 30th June 1948 and the division of the assets of the Issue Department as on 30th June 1948.

5. Cost of remittance. The cost of remittance from Pakistan to India of India notes and coins held in currency chests on 30th June 1948 shall be borne by the Reserve Bank. The cost of remittance of India notes and Government of India one-rupee notes and coins withdrawn from circulation and delivered to the Reserve Bank shall be borne by the State Bank of Pakistan. The cost of transfer of gold and other assets from India to Pakistan shall also be borne by the State Bank of Pakistan.

6. Mode of transfer of Pakistan Government cash balances and bank deposits. The amount standing to the credit of Pakistan’s Central and Provincial Governments at the Reserve Bank on 30th June 1948 and the amounts required for meeting the Reserve Bank’s liabilities to banks in Pakistan on 30th June 1948 shall be paid (a) in Pakistan currency to the extent that such currency is available with the Reserve Bank in the Banking Department on that date; (b) by transfer of the balance in the Reserve Bank’s Pakistan Account with the Bank of England to the credit of the State Bank of Pakistan Account with the Bank of England; and (c) the balance by transfer from the Reserve Bank’s No. II Account to a similar account of the State Bank of Pakistan with the Bank of England.

7. Allocation of sterling balances. (i) For the purpose of determining Pakistan’s share in the assets of the Issue Department, the amount of sterling in the Issue Department will be notionally decreased by an amount which together with the amount of sterling in the Banking Department will be sufficient for the following liabilities:

   (a) The lump sum payable to His Majesty’s Government at the time of the final settlement of the settlement of the sterling balances on account of the capitalization of the pensionary liability, for H.M.G.’s military stores and fixed assets as on 1st April 1947 in India, etc.

   (b) The cash balances of the Central and Provincial Governments of Pakistan to the extent they are payable in sterling as provided in paragraph (6);

   (c) The amounts required by the Reserve Bank to meet its liabilities towards banks in Pakistan; and

   (d) The amount equal to the balance at the credit of the Reserve Bank’s Account No. I with the Bank of England.

   (ii) The deficiency left in the Issue Department by the above notional transfer of sterling to the Banking Department will be notionally filled by an increase in the Government of India’s securities held in the Issue Department. The increase of each kind of security will be proportionate to the amounts of those securities held in the Issue Department on 30th June 1948.

   (iii) To the extent considered necessary by the two Governments His Majesty’s Government will be advised of the above arrangements.

8. Liability for one-rupee notes. The Pakistan Government will assume liability for the Pakistan inscribed one-rupee notes issued up to 30th June 1948. In addition, the Pakistan Government will assume liability towards the Government of India in respect of the Government of India one-rupee notes in circulation in Pakistan on 1st July 1948. The latter liability will be taken to be equal to the amount of Pakistan inscribed one-rupee notes put into circulation up to that date and this amount shall be added to Pakistan’s debt to India. The Government of Pakistan shall be entitled to receive abatement of the debt so added equal to the amount of one-rupee Government of India notes returned by them up to 30th June 1949. It will be for the Government of India to impose a ban on the import of such notes into India after 30th June 1948.

9. Provision for Burma’s claim. The transfer of profits and assets of the Reserve Bank to Pakistan will be provisional pending settlement of Burma’s claim to its share of these profits and assets, subject to readjustment when Burma’s claim is settled.

10. Exchange Control. Until 30th June 1948 there will be no exchange control as between India and Pakistan, nor will any restrictions be placed on the transfer of funds or securities form one Dominion to the other, whether such transfers are on capital account or current account.

11. Amendments to Monetary order. Necessary amendments in the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947 will be made to give legal effect to this agreement.

12. Pakistan Coinage. The Government of India will furnish to the Government of Pakistan figures for the production and supply of Pakistan coins by India mints for each category of coin for the period up to the 31st March, 1948. On the basis of these figure the Government of Pakistan will determine their further requirements from India mints and will intimate them to the Government of India. Should the Government of Pakistan decide that India mints should cease to produce Pakistan coins, they will give a notice of one month to the Government of India. If the Government of Pakistan decide not to employ the India mints for Pakistan coinage for the period originally agreed upon, the Government of India will be prepared to consider requests for helping the Lahore Mint in the matter of supply of stores.

Letters Exchanged between Ministry of Finance and Pakistan High Commissioner in India relating to allocation of sterling balances.

New Delhi, March 31, 1948.

Ministry of Finance
New Delhi

31st March 1948

Dear Mr. Zahid Hussain,

In the Agreement signed by us today, in sub-paragraph (i) of paragraph (7) relating to the allocation of sterling balances, it is stated that for the purpose of determining Pakistan's share in the assets of the Issue Department, the amount of sterling in the Issue Department will be notionally decreased inter alia by an amount equal to "the lump sum payable to His Majesty's Government at the time of the final settlement of the sterling balances on account of the capitalization of the pensionary liability, for His Majesty's Government's military stores and fixed assets as on 1st April, 1947 in India, etc." It is the understanding of my Government that, if the lump sum in contemplation has not been paid by the 30 June, 1948, it will be assumed for the purpose of this adjustment that the sum payable to His Majesty's Government is Rs.450 crores. If, in fact, the payment is more or less than this amount, a subsequent adjustment will take place between the Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan.

2. I shall be glad if you will confirm that this is also the understanding of your Government.

Yours Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Narhari Rao,

I acknowledge receipt of your letter dated the 31st March, 1948 reading as follows:

"In the Agreement signed by us today, in sub-paragraph (i) of paragraph (7) relating to the allocation of sterling balances, it is stated that for the purpose of determining Pakistan’s share in the assets of the Issue Department, the amount of sterling in the Issue Department will be notionally decreased inter-alia by an amount equal to ‘the lump sum payable to His Majesty’s Government at the time of the final settlement of the sterling balances on account of the capitalisation of the pensionary liability, for His Majesty’s Government’s military stores and fixed assets as on 1st April, 1947 in India, etc.’ It is the understanding of my Government that, if the lump sum in contemplation has not been paid by the 30th June, 1948, it will be assumed for the purpose of this adjustment that the sum payable to His Majesty’s Government is Rs.450 crores. If, in fact, the payment is more or less than this amount, a subsequent adjustment will take place between the Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan.

2. I shall be glad if you will confirm that this is also the understanding of your Government.”

3. I have pleasure in confirming that what you have stated is also the understanding of my Government.

Yours sincerely

3295. Joint Order issued by the Governors General of India and Pakistan regarding Pakistan's Monetary System.

New Delhi, March 31, 1948.

Ministry of Law (Reforms)
NOTIFICATION

New Delhi, the 31st March, 1948

No. G. G. O. 42.-The following Order made jointly by the Governors-General of India and Pakistan is published for general information:—

The Pakistan Monetary System and Reserve Bank (Amendment) Order, 1948

Whereas in the exercise of the powers conferred by section 9 of the Indian Independence Act, 1947, the Governor General of India was pleased to make on the 14th day of August 1947 the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as “the principal Order”);

And Whereas an agreement has been reached between the Dominions of India and Pakistan that the provisions of the principal Order should be modified and supplemented in certain respects;

And Whereas sub-section (5) of section 19 of the Indian Independence Act, 1947, provides that any power conferred by that Act to make any Order includes power to revoke or vary any Order previously made in the exercise of that power;

Now, Therefore, in the exercise of the powers aforesaid and of all other powers enabling them in that behalf, the Governor General of India and the Governor General of Pakistan, acting jointly, are pleased to make the following Order:—

1.(1) This Order may be cited as the Pakistan Monetary System and Reserve Bank (Amendment) Order, 1948.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. In section 2 of Part I of the principal Order, after clause (ee), the following clause shall be inserted, namely:-

“(ee) ‘Pakistan rupee coin’ means rupee coin which is for the time being legal tender in Pakistan, and not in India, and includes the one rupee notes referred to in section 9 of Part II of this Order.”.

3. In Part II of the principal Order,—
(1) in section 2, sub-section (1) of section-4, sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 5, sub-section (9) of section 12, sub-section (1) of section 13 and section 17, for the word “September” wherever it occurs the word “June” shall be substituted;

(2) in sub-section (1) of section 4, the second proviso shall be omitted;

(3) to section 6, the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

“(4) The provisions of this section shall have effect only up to the 30th day of June, 1948.”;

(4) in sub-section (2) of section 7, for the word “October” the word “July” shall be substituted; and

(5) in section 11 for the figures and words “31st day of March” the figures and words “30th day of June” shall be substituted.

4. In Part III of the principal Order,—

(1) in section 1, in the opening paragraph for the word “September” the word “June” shall be substituted, in clause (13) for the figures and words “31st day of March” the figures and words “30th day of June” shall be substituted, and the proviso shall be omitted; and

(2) in section 2, for the word “September” the word “June” shall be substituted.

5. In Part IV of the principal Order, —

(1) in section 1,—

(a) in sub-section (1), the words “in respect of any period” and the proviso shall be omitted, and for the words “payable in respect of that period” the words and figures “payable in respect of the year ending on the 30th day of June, 1948” shall be substituted;

(b) for sub-section (2) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:

“(2) The Government of India shall pay to the Government of Pakistan an amount which bears to the Government’s bank profits the same proportion as the total value of Pakistan notes in circulation in Pakistan on the 30th day of June, 1948 plus the total value of India notes returning from circulation in Pakistan in the year commencing on the 1st day of July, 1948 bears to the total value of India notes and Pakistan notes in circulation in India and Pakistan on the 30th day of June, 1948.”.
(2) in sub-section (1) of section 2 for the word “September” the word “June” shall be substituted;

(3) for sub-section (2) of section 3 the following sub-sections shall be substituted, namely,:

“(2) There shall be added to the debt due by the Government of Pakistan to the Government of India an amount equal to the amount of one-rupee notes of the Government of Pakistan issued up to the 30th day of June, 1948.

(3) The Government of India shall have no liability, whatsoever in respect of the one-rupee notes of that Government circulating in Pakistan after the 30th day of June, 1948.

(4) The Government of Pakistan shall exchange at par all one-rupee notes of the Government of India returning from circulation in Pakistan after the 30th day of June, 1948, and shall return to the Government of India all notes so exchanged.

(5) The debt due to the Government of India by the Government of Pakistan shall be deemed to be reduced by an amount equal to the amount of the notes returned under sub-section (4) of this section before the 1st day of July, 1949, or to the amount mentioned in sub-section (2) of this section, whichever is less.”;

(4) in section 4—

(a) for the word “September,” wherever it occurs, the word “June” shall be substituted;

(b) in sub-section (2), for the words and figures “until the 31st March, 1949, and there shall from time to time on the demand of the Government of Pakistan” the following shall be substituted, namely, :

“until the 30th day of June, 1949, and on the delivery of such notes to the Bank from time to time in instalments of not less than five crores of rupees each, there shall”;

and for the words “amount of notes accepted” the words “amount of notes delivered” shall be substituted;

(c) in sub-section (3), for the word “accepted” the word “delivered” shall be substituted, and after the figures “1948” the words “and in accordance with, following provisions of this Part” shall be added and

(d) sub-section (4) shall be omitted;
sub-sections (5) and (6) of section 4 shall be made a separate section and re-numbered respectively as sub-sections. (1) and (2) of section 14, section 5 shall be renumbered 15.; and before the said sections 14 and 15 as so renumbered, the following sections shall be inserted, namely,

“5. All transfers of gold under the provisions of section 4 shall; except in the last instalment, be in such number of gold bars as do not exceed in value the amount due to be transferred in gold in that instalment.

6. For the purpose of determining Pakistan’s share of sterling securities and Government of India securities under the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 4,—

(a) the amount of sterling securities held in the Issue Department of the Bank on the 30th day of June, 1948, shall be deemed to be reduced, and the amount of Government of India securities so held on that day shall be deemed to be increased by the amount by which the amount of sterling held in the Banking Department of the Bank on that day falls short of the aggregate of—

(i) the amounts payable in sterling to the Government of the United Kingdom in pursuance of any agreement that may be reached as to the final settlement of the sterling balances,

(ii) the amounts payable in sterling to the Government of Pakistan and the Provincial Governments in Pakistan under the provisions of section 11, and

(iii) the amount of the balance at the credit of the Bank’s account No. 1 with the Bank of England; and

(b) the increase in each kind of Government of India securities under clause (a) shall bear the same proportion to the total increase as the amount of that kind of securities held in the Issue Department of the Bank on the 30th day of June, 1948, bears to the total amount of Government of India securities so held on that day.

7. Anyone-rupee notes of the Government of India transferred to the Government of Pakistan under the provisions of section 4 shall be returned by that Government to the Government of India without payment, and any other India rupee coin so transferred shall be disposed of by the Government of Pakistan in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 3 as if it were retired rupee coin.
8. Any Pakistan rupee coin remaining with the Bank after the transfers have been effected in accordance with the provisions of section 4 shall be made over to the Government of India for disposal otherwise than as coin.

9.(1) The Government of Pakistan shall as expeditiously as possible, return to the Bank at its office in India all India notes, India rupee coin and Pakistan rupee coin held in the currency chests of the Bank in Pakistan on the 30th day of June, 1948, and no such notes or coins shall be put into circulation from those currency chests in Pakistan after that day.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in the preceding sections of this Part,—

(a) no assets of the Issue Department of the Bank shall be transferred to the Government of Pakistan until so much at least of the notes and coins referred to in sub-section (1) of this section has been delivered to the Bank as reduces the value of the remainder held in Pakistan to an amount equal to or less than the value of Pakistan notes in circulation on the 30th day of June, 1948; and

(b) the Bank shall be entitled to withhold from the value of all or any of the assets to be transferred thereafter to the Government of Pakistan from the Issue Department of the Bank an amount equal to the value of the remainder of the said notes and coins which are for the time being held in Pakistan.

10.(1) The cost of remittance from Pakistan to India of any notes or coins under the provisions of section 9 shall be borne by the Bank.

(2) The cost of remittance of any notes, coins, gold and securities under the provisions of sections 3 and 4 shall be borne by the Government of Pakistan.

11.(1) The amounts standing to the credit of the Government of Pakistan, or any Provincial Government in Pakistan, with the Bank on the 30th day of June, 1948, shall be paid by the Bank—

(a) in Pakistan currency, to the extent that such currency is available in the Banking Department of the Bank on that date; and

(b) the remainder, by transfer from the balance in the Bank’s Pakistan account with the Bank of England, and to the extent that such balance is insufficient, by transfer from the Bank’s No. II account with the Bank of England.
Any amount that banks in Pakistan may require the Bank to transfer to the Government of Pakistan out of their deposits with the Bank in order to comply with the requirements of any law for the time being in force in Pakistan shall, if the transfer is to be made after the 30th day of June, 1948, be paid by the Bank by transfer from its No. II account with the Bank of England.

12. The transfer to the Government of Pakistan of the Government's Bank profits under the provisions of section 1 and of the assets of the Issue Department of the Bank under the provisions of section 4 shall be provisional pending the settlement of Burma's claim to a share of the Bank's profits and assets and shall be subject to readjustment when that claim is finally settled.

13. Until the 30th day of June, 1948, there shall be no exchange control as between India and Pakistan, nor shall any restrictions be placed on the transfer of funds or securities from one Dominion to the other, whether such transfers are on capital account or current account; and

(6) in section 15, as renumbered by clause (5) above, after the words "the context so permits" the words and figures "and until the 30th day of June, 1948," shall be inserted.

Press Note issued by the Government of India regarding Tripartite Discussions between the Government of India, Government of Pakistan and Reserve Bank of India fixing June 30th 1948 as the new date for Pakistan to take control of the management of its Exchange Control from the Reserve Bank of India.

New Delhi, April 1, 1948.

The Reserve Bank will manage the currency of Pakistan and carry on banking business in that Dominion until June 30 and not until September 30.

There will be no exchange control between India and Pakistan until June 30. The tripartite talks between the representatives of the Government of India and Pakistan and of the Reserve Bank of India on the currency and exchange problems concerning the two Dominions which commenced in Bombay on March 10 have now been concluded in New and the decisions arrived at are embodied in an Order issued under the joint signatures of the Governors General of India and Pakistan in the Gazette of India Extraordinary dated March 31, 1948. According to this Order the Reserve Bank will manage the currency of Pakistan and carry on the business of banking in the Dominion until June 30 and not until September 30 as contemplated under the original Pakistan Monetary System and Reserve Bank Order of 1947. The Pakistan Government will now assume responsibility in respect of its exchange operations and the management of Public Debt from April 1, and until June 30 the Reserve Bank will continue to function in Pakistan in all respects as at present i.e., as the currency authority, as banker to the Government and as agent for the management of public Debt and for the exercise of Exchange Control. Until June 30, at least there will be no exchange control as between India and Pakistan nor will any restriction be placed on the transfer of funds or securities from one Dominion to the other whether such transfers are on capital account or current account.

A provision has also been made in the Order regarding the withdrawal of Indian Notes from Pakistan, the manner in which the assets of the issue Department of the Reserve Bank will be shared between the two Dominions on the termination of the monetary arrangements and other consequential matters. While Mr. V Narahari Rao Finance Secretary and Mr. B. K. Nehru, Additional Secretary represented the Government of India, Mr. Zahid Hussain Assisted by Mr. St. John Turner, Currency Adviser to the Pakistan Government and Mr. Anwar Ali Deputy Secretary, Pakistan Ministry of Finance, represented Pakistan in the talks.
My dear Zahid Hussain,

With reference to your letter dated the 29th March 1948, I state below the position as it has since emerged as a result of the discussion we had with you on the points made therein. The reference are to paras of your letter.

Para 2. The point raised therein has been disposed of by the agreement which has been concluded.

Para 3. The definition of Pakistan rupee coin was included in the amendment Order to rectify an omission in the original Order in the interest of clarity.

As regards the provision made in section in 7 of the amendment Order for the return of Government of India one rupee notes by the Government of Pakistan without payment, this merely serves to bring out more clearly the provision in section 4(4) of Part IV of the original Order. It will be observed that the Government of India is under a reciprocal obligation to return without payment any Pakistan one rupee notes falling to its share as part of the assets of the Issue Department.

Para 4. It was agreed that no such stipulation was necessary as there was no reason to suppose that the Reserve Bank would during the period of the joint monetary arrangements regulate its operations otherwise than in accordance with central banking principles and its obligations under the Reserve Bank Act and the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order.

Para 5. It is confirmed that intention is that the amount to be transferred in gold should take account not only of the amount due in gold in the instalment but also the outstanding balance, if any, remaining to be transferred on account of the previous instalments.

Para 6. The presumption made in this paragraph is confirmed. The Government of India have already issued instructions that there will be no restrictions on Government of India securities enforced for payment of interest in Pakistan up to 31.3.1948 being re-enforced for payment of interest in India.

Yours Sincerely
(V.Narahari Rao)

3298. Record Note of the meetings held on 3rd and 4th May 1948 between the Representatives of India and Pakistan.

May 4, 1948.

The Pakistan representatives first raised the question of the payment by India of the sum of Rs.6 crore which India had agreed to make available to Pakistan for the setting up of Ordnance Factories and other unique institution. It was explained by the Indian delegation that the agreement was to make this money available only as and when required and the mere fact that a provision of Rs.6 crores had been included in the Pakistan budget did not mean, particularly in the present difficult supply conditions, that the money was immediately required. The Pakistan representatives pointed out that a part of the expenditure had already been incurred whereas the rest was to be incurred shortly and firm indents had already been placed. In view of the December agreement payment was to be made on the basis of requirements and not after actual disbursement. It was agreed that the necessary funds will be placed at Pakistan's disposal for meeting the expenditure to be incurred by them in the near future including the expenditure already incurred. The Pakistan delegation agreed to review the position once again and intimate their requirements to India.

2. The payment of the balance of Rs.5 crores out of the allocation of Rs.75 crores as Pakistan’s share of the cash balance of the undivided Government was next raised. It was explained by the India representatives that Pakistan’s share of the joint military expenditure after the partition was certain to exceed Rs.5 crores and since Pakistan had provided no finance for meeting this joint expenditure and India had carried this expenditure for months, this amount should be treated as an on account payment for Pakistan’s share. Pakistan contended that the allocation of the cash balance was a separate transaction and should not be mixed up with the recovery of Pakistan’s share of the joint military expenditure, the adjustment of which should be left to take its course in accordance with the prescribed procedure. The Pakistan representatives suggested that the adjustment of joint military expenditure could be expedited by the Military Financial Advisers or Auditors General of the two Dominions working in consultation in the immediate future. India could not accept this contention for the reasons already mentioned.

3. The payment of the pre-partition liabilities still outstanding was then considered. The Pakistan delegation proposed that the joint account of the undivided Government should be kept open for a further three months. The Indian delegation made it clear that they could not accept this and the viewpoints of the respective Governments in this matter, as set out in the correspondence between them, were restated. The Pakistan delegation contended that as the Government of India would not agree last December to reimburse the payments made on account of the prepartition liabilities Pakistan had actually made no payments between then and the 24th March when they were resumed on India agreeing to accept the debits for payments made till the 31st March and that they only asked to be placed in the same position as if this interruption had not actually occurred. The Indian delegation pointed out that there was an earlier agreement that till 31st March each Government will pay the claims arising in its area pending subsequent adjustment, that Pakistan had no justification for stopping payments and that such stoppage did not by itself confer any right to Pakistan for an extension of the date. The India delegation also pointed out that after the unconditional allocation of the available cash balance of the undivided Government the fact that India agreed to pay from its cash balance the prepartition liabilities up to the 31st March was in itself a concession and that the current sharing of the outstanding liabilities was a the only fair and equitable arrangement. The Pakistan representatives pointed out that the fact that there was an agreement whereby India was to reimburse Pakistan in respect of pre-partition claims, clearly recognized that this was to be done in spite of the allocation of the cash balances. The agreement on proportion liabilities, therefore, stood by itself and required to be fully implemented. In view of the fact that its working had been considerably impaired by India’s attitude, the only way of implementing it now was to extend the period up to which the joint account would remain open by three months from the date of decision by the conference.

Asked about how the liabilities still remaining after the joint account was closed, even on Pakistan’s proposal, would be met; the Pakistan representatives suggested that after the closing of the joint account each Dominion should take final liability for the outstanding claims in its area.
The Pakistan delegation made it clear that they could not discuss the problem further unless an agreement was reached on the question of extending the period of the joint account.

The India Delegation stated that as it had not been possible to reach any settlement, India would meet the legal liability to third parties for supplies and services rendered to the undivided Government before partition and Pakistan’s share of this would be added to its debt. Asked if the Pakistan authorities would be prepared to check the claims arising in their area and pass them on to India for payment the Pakistan representatives replied in the affirmative.

The Indian delegation pointed out that if this position was reached it would follow, as a corollary, that there will be no sharing of any further pre-partition receipts. The Pakistan representatives could not agree to this as in their view any specific decisions already taken must be implemented by themselves.

The point was also made by India that any cash realizations from the disposal of surplus military stores and any receipts from HMG as a result of the final allocation of the defence expenditure would not also be shareable and would be set off against the payment to H.M.G. on account of surplus Stores and installations for which the rupee finance will be found by India. The Pakistan representatives stated that this was a new point and would have to be further considered by them.

4. The payment to the Provinces of the provincial share of the income tax up to the 15th August 1947 and other similar payments that the old Central Government would have been made but for the partition was then raised. The India representatives pointed out that this was in a category different from that of the claims of third parties like contractors. These could reasonably be considered as so many promises by the old Government to the provinces and it was for the Dominion Government concerned to pay (or not to pay) to the provinces now in its area the amount which would have been paid by the old undivided Government. Obviously, the India Dominion could not be expected to pay anything on this account to the provinces in Pakistan after the available cash balance of the undivided Government, from which these payments would have been met by that Government had been allocated between the two Governments and Pakistan had received something like 23% of the available cash balance. The Pakistan representatives strongly refuted this suggestion and maintained that no distinction could possibly be drawn between claims of Provincial Governments and third parties. The legal position in this respect was clear beyond doubt. They also pointed out that this view was being advanced by India for the first time for ever since the question of the payment of the Provincial share of Income Tax to the Provinces was taken up with India in November 1947, India had always pointed out that payment could not be made as the accounts figures were not yet available and had at no stage questioned the propriety of such payments being made by the Dominion of India. India did not accept this contention.

5. The Pakistan delegation then raised the question of paying the Pakistan opted staff arrears following the implementation by India of the Pay Commission's recommendations. It was argued that the undivided Government had more than once announced its intention to give effect to the Commission's recommendations and that irrespective of what Pakistan did after the partition the employees who had opted for Pakistan should get their arrears as employees, till partition, of the undivided Government of India. The employees had a perfectly valid claim against the Government of India for the period from 1st January 1947 to the 14th August 1947 and this claim was supported by the legal provision. The India delegation could not accept this view. The Indian Dominion alone had decided to implement the Commission's recommendations and foot the entire bill for it. The Pakistan Government had not only not implemented the recommendations of the Pay Commission but had on the other hand objected to the Indian Government implementing the recommendations in respect of their own staff in a joint establishment. The Pakistan delegation held that the non-acceptance by the Pakistan Government of the Indian Pay Commission's recommendations was not very relevant for even if the recommendations had been accepted, the arrear liability for the period from the 1st January 1947 to the 14th August 1947 would have in any case devolved on the Government of India.

6. The question of adjusting the debits raised by the Pakistan Accounts Officers in respect of payments mad up to the 31st March was then discussed. The Pakistan representatives contended that the reversal of these debits was unjustified and said that the correctness of these was under reexamination. They reiterated their offer to withdraw such of the debits as they may find to be unjustified. The Indian delegation pointed out that the amounts involved were of an improbable magnitude and there was clear evidence that substantial amounts had been debited on account of book adjustments for which there was no authority. It also appeared that in East Bengal debits had been raised, not for actual payments, but for lump sum imprests with disbursing officers, like Collectors, for payment of claims. In view of these obvious irregularities India could not, even provisionally, accept these debits but the undertaking that debits for actual payments would be accepted, subject to subsequent verification by audit, would be honoured.

7. The Pakistan representatives then mentioned a number of points about the Railways. Their first complaint was that the East Bengal Railway had not been receiving the share of revenue due to it for cross traffic. It was pointed out that the normal process of adjustment between Railways through the exchange of Division Sheets had not been functioning properly, and the Indian Railways on their part had also not received their share of the receipts in respect of traffic originating in Pakistan Railways. It was agreed that the Railway Boards of the two Dominions should get together and evolve a suitable procedure for expediting these adjustments. The Pakistan representatives also complained that the Jodhpur State had demanded advance payments before transferring a section of the railway line to Pakistan and that this did not conform to the normal arrangements between the Dominions. It was explained that the assets in question for which payment had been claimed belonged to the Jodhpur State and not to the Indian Dominion and that workable arrangement could best be devised in discussion with the authorities concerned instead of importing the inter-dominion procedure into the matter. It was, however, agreed that Pakistan Railway Board might address the Railway Board India in this matter who would take up this matter with the Jodhpur State through the States Ministry. Similarly with regard to a complaint that the E.I. Railway was asking for an advance payment in respect of supplies of boulders, it was agreed that the system of advance payments was irksome and that the procedure for supplies and payments should be discussed between the Railway Boards and settled.

8. A number of miscellaneous points were then discussed. It was mentioned that a number of employees who had either retired or were on leave pending retirement without opting for either Dominion could not get their dues settled. The problem mainly concerned the Secretary of States services, the Railways and Defence Services and it was agreed that the authorities concerned in both dominions should in mutual consultation evolve a common procedure for the verification and early payment of the claims. It was also agreed that the Auditors General of the two Dominions should discuss and settle the procedure for the settlement of the accounts between the two Dominions at a very early date. The existing procedure had not worked well and the matter was of some urgency as the Reserve Bank would cease to be the common banker from the 1st July 1948. Another outstanding point was also mentioned, viz. the procedure for the transfer of pensions between the Dominions and the financial adjustments between them. This still remained to be discussed and the meeting decided that this should be taken up as early as possible.

The meeting also discussed the question of the audit of Joint Accounts and it was agreed that the audit of these accounts should be expedited and the respective Auditors General should make arrangements to that effect.
The Government of India have been considering for some time the question of arranging for the speedy payment of the outstanding claim in respect of supplies and services rendered to the undivided Government of India up to and before the date of partition.

2. At the time of the partition there was an arrangement between the two Dominions that each Dominion will pay the claims arising in its area subject to subsequent adjustment but a large number of claims, particularly those relating to the areas now included in Pakistan, are still outstanding due partly to disturbances in the Punjab and the large scale movement of populations and partly to the discontinuance of payments by the Pakistan Government from about the middle of last December owing to a difference of opinion between the two Governments about the liability for these payments. In order to avoid hardships to the suppliers and contractors, the Government of India, after careful consideration, have decided that they should undertake the initial liability for these payments, and recover Pakistan's share through the debt settlement. They have accordingly decided to prescribe the following procedure for the collection, check and payments of these claims:

(a) All bills and claims in respect of supplies and services rendered to the late Government of India up to and inclusive of the 14th August 1947, whether in the areas now in India or in Pakistan should be submitted to the Government of India by the 1st of July 1948 at the latest.

(b) The bills or claims should be sent to the officer mentioned below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Claims relating to</th>
<th>Officer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Civil Departments.</td>
<td>Accountant General, Food, Relief and Supply, Akbar Road, New Delhi.</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Railways —

B & A Railway Chief Accounts Officer, E.I.R., Fairlie Place, Calcutta.

These officers will tabulate the claims and arrange, where necessary, to have them checked before payment by the appropriate authorities in Pakistan.

(c) All uncashed cheques issued by the authorities mentioned in para (b) above should also be sent to the same officer as other claims.

(d) If any bills or claims have already been submitted to the Pakistan Government or the authorities in Pakistan a duplicate copy should be sent with particulars of the authority to whom the bill or claim was preferred and the date on which it was sent.

(e) After the bills have been duly checked, the Government of India will arrange to make payment direct to claimants residing in India. For claimants residing in Pakistan payment will be made either by demand draft or through the Pakistan Government.

3. The Government of India have no doubt that the public will realize that the checking and payment of the outstanding claims is bound to take some time. They propose to expedite the settlement of these claims as much as possible and the public can co-operate in achieving this by sending in their bills and claims as quickly and completely as possible.

1. Attach hereto draft of a Payments Agreement under consideration by the Governments of India and Pakistan setting out the conditions for the conduct of financial transactions between the two countries. You will notice that the agreement contemplates provision for all payments beyond an agreed amount to be settled through the No.2 Accounts of India and Pakistan. I have advised the two Governments that I foresee no objection to this mode of settlement as soon as No.2 Account is opened in your books in the name of Pakistan which is due to take place with effect from the 1st July 1948 on the establishment of the State Bank of Pakistan. I shall be obliged to receive your confirmation of this. Such transfers do not involve any actual payment by the United Kingdom but merely permit the settlement of certain transactions between two countries holding No.2 Accounts because of the ready availability of these means of payment.

2. I shall very much appreciate it if your reply is sent to me during the course of the day as a decision on this point is necessary before the matter can be finalized between the two Governments and there is very little time left for completing the preliminary arrangements.

************

I write to thank you for your letter of today’s date enclosing a draft of a Payments Agreement under consideration by the Governments of India and Pakistan setting out the conditions for the conduct of financial transactions between the two countries. I note that the Agreement provides for certain capital transaction to be settled through the No. 2 Accounts of India and Pakistan. From a brief study, I see no objection to this mode of settlement as soon as the No.1 Account in the name of Pakistan is opened in the Bank’s books, provided always that —

(a) Nothing occurs during the present inter-governmental negotiations in London which would make the suggested arrangements impossible or undesirable.

(b) No current transaction involving either Dominion is to be settled by a transfer through No.2 Account as this would lead to a possible demand for extra releases to No.1 Account by the recipient.

************

I write to acknowledge with many thanks the receipt of your letter of the 10th June 1948 conveying your views on the draft Payments Agreement between India and Pakistan enclosed with my letter of the same date. During the currency of this Agreement, which will be for one year from the 1st July, 1948, it is the intention of the two Governments not to distinguish between current and capital transactions. The arrangement under which the deficit of one country with the other will be met is indicated in para.3 of the cable attached to the draft Agreement which states that the holding limit of each other’s currency will be limited to Rs.15 crores. Thereafter, settlement will be made in current sterling to the extent of £7½ million irrespective of the transaction. And that once this limit is reached all further settlement would take place over the No.2 Accounts of the respective countries. The extent of the rupee holding and the limit up to which payment would be made in current sterling has been reached after mutual consultation, bearing in mind the foreign currency resources of each country, and whilst it is anticipated that a large proportion of the transactions will probably be financed within the limits set out above a provision has been made to take care of any overflow that may actually result from the operation of these arrangements. We have no data to project a possible balance of payments position of the two countries. And as the current resources at the disposal of India and Pakistan are limited, it has been mutually agreed that the best course would be to adjust the excess over the agreed amount in No.2 sterling without taking into consideration the fact whether the excess has arisen out of capital or current transactions. It is hoped that the experience gained by the working of this Agreement will enable the countries concerned to have a more complete picture of their individual requirements. I may, however, assure you that it is not the intention of either India or Pakistan to make any additional demand on the U.K. authorities for an extra release of current sterling as a consequence of this arrangement. In view of this explanation, I hope you would have no objection to India and Pakistan utilising their No.2 Accounts for the settlement of transactions, both current and capital, arising out of the Agreement under reference.

************

Thank you for your letter of the 14th June regarding the proposed one-year Payments Agreement between India and Pakistan. Mr. Beale has told me of his conversation with you on the subject.

I note from your letter that it is not the intention of either of the Governments to ask for extra releases of sterling as the result of settlements over No.2 Account for transactions between the two Dominions. However, I feel that, in view of the uncertainty as to the possible course of payments and the lack of data on which to base any forecast, it would be wise to have a clear understanding that the arrangement for settlements over No.2 Account should be reviewed if it should be found that settlements of material amounts in respect of current transactions by this means were producing an unwelcome situation. It may be that the clause in the Payments Agreement to which reference is made in paragraph 6 of the telegram to New Delhi which was enclosed with your letter of the 10th June is intended to cover this contingency, but I feel it would be better to provide for it more specifically.

Subject to an understanding that these arrangements would be open to review in the light of experience, and subject of course to proviso (a) in my letter of the 10th June, I can now say that there will be no objection to transfers between the No.2 Accounts of India and Pakistan for the purposes set out in the enclosures to your letter of that date.

Draft letter from the State Bank of Pakistan to the Reserve Bank of India.

State Bank of Pakistan

Dear Mr. Governor,

I write to place on record the understandings reached between representatives of our two Banks. In arriving at these understandings our representatives have made the following assumptions:

(1) The Government of Pakistan will become a member of the International Monetary Fund as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made and for that purpose will declare the par value of the Pakistan rupee to be Re.1 = 0.268601 grams of fine gold, and that this parity will be accepted by the authorities of the Fund.

(2) The rate of exchange of Indian rupee 1 = Pakistan rupee 1 (hereinafter referred to as the official rate) will not be varied by either of our two Governments except after due notice and mutual consultation.

(3) Subject to any special arrangements that may be made between our two Governments in respect of the property of evacuees there will be no exchange control nor any restrictions placed on the transfer of funds or securities between India and Pakistan whether such transfers are on capital or current account.
4. Notwithstanding (3) above there may be restrictions placed upon the movement of gold between the two Dominions.

2. The understandings reached are as follows:

1. Our two Banks will collaborate to maintain the Indian and Pakistan rupees at parity with each other and to that end will take steps to enforce the use of the official rate as the basis of all transactions involving a relationship between the two currencies in the markets under their control.

2. The Reserve Bank of India shall sell Indian rupees to the State Bank of Pakistan as may be required —

(a) against Pakistan rupees to be credited at the official rate to the Reserve Bank of India’s account with the State Bank of Pakistan provided the balance standing to the credit of that account is not thereby increased above a maximum of Pakistan Rs.15 cores: and thereafter

(b) against sterling to be credited at the Pakistan official sterling parity to the Reserve Bank of India’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England.

3. The State Bank of Pakistan shall sell Pakistan rupees to the Reserve Bank of India as may be required —

(a) against India rupees to be credited at the official rate to the State Bank of Pakistan’s account with the Reserve Bank of India provided the balance standing to the credit of that account is not thereby increased above a maximum of Rs.15 cores: and thereafter.

(b) Against sterling to be credited at the Indian official sterling parity to the State Bank of Pakistan’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England.

4. The Reserve Bank of India shall have the right at any time to sell to the State Bank of Pakistan against all or part of the Indian rupees held by that Bank; either Pakistan rupees at the official rate or sterling from the Reserve Bank of India’s account No.1 with the Bank of England at the Indian official sterling parity.

5. The State Bank of Pakistan shall have the right at any time to sell to the Reserve Bank of India against all or part of the Pakistan rupees held by that Bank, either Indian rupees at the official rate or sterling from the State Bank of Pakistan’s account No.1 with the Bank of England at the Pakistan official sterling parity.
(6) In the event of either the Government of India or the Government of Pakistan taking action which results in a depreciation of its currency, in terms of the other Indian rupees held by the State Bank of Pakistan or Pakistan rupees held by the Reserve Bank of India shall be revalued on the basis of the new parity and the account of whichever Bank incurs a loss as a result thereof shall be written up by the credit of additional Indian or Pakistan rupees as the case may be.

(7) In carrying out the operations described in sub-para graphs 2 and 3 above no distinction shall be made in the first instance between current and capital transactions. The two banks will agree upon a formula which will indicate roughly the extent of current and capital transactions. Capital transactions as thus determined will be adjusted through the No.2 Accounts of our two banks with the Bank of England, consequential readjustments being made in the other accounts of the banks.

(8) Any Indian rupees held by the State Bank of Pakistan shall be held and invested only as may be agreed by the Reserve Bank of India and any Pakistan rupees held by the Reserve Bank of India shall be held and invested only as may be agreed by the State Bank of Pakistan.

(9) The Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank Pakistan shall maintain close contact on all technical questions arising out of these arrangements.

3. I propose that the provisions of this letter shall constitute an agreement between our two Banks which shall come into force on the 1st July 1948 and shall remain in force for one year, but shall be reviewed three months before the date of its termination. Provided always that in the event of either of our two Dominions ceasing to be a member of the scheduled territories as defined in the United Kingdom Exchange Control Act, 1947, the provisions of this agreement shall cease to have effect pending consultation between our two Banks with the approval of our respective Governments.

4. I shall be grateful if you will signify your agreement with the proposals contained in this letter. Upon receipt of confirmation of your agreement I will write to you again with regard to the technical measures necessary to give effect to these arrangements.

3303. Agreement on Payments between India and Pakistan.

Karachi, June 30, 1948.

Agreement made this Thirtieth day of June 1948 between the Dominion of India and the Dominion of Pakistan.

Whereas the provision contained in Section 13 of Part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, as subsequently amended, which Prohibits exchange control as between India and Pakistan and any restrictions on the transfer of funds or securities from one Dominion to the other, is due to expire on the thirtieth day of June 1948:

And whereas it is to the advantage of both the Dominions that no unnecessary restrictions should be placed on exchange transactions and the transfer of funds and securities between the two Dominions;

It is hereby agreed as follows:—

Article I

The official rate of exchange as between the India rupee and the Pakistan rupee will continue to be at par, and will not be altered by either Government except after due notice and mutual consultation.

Article II

As soon as the necessary arrangements can be made the Government of Pakistan will become a member of the International Monetary Fund, and for that purpose will declare the par value of the Pakistan rupee to be equal to 0.268601 grammas of fine gold.

It is assumed for the purposes of this Agreement that this parity will be accepted by the authorities of the Fund.

Article III

(1) There shall be no exchange control as between India and Pakistan, nor shall any restrictions be placed on the transfer of funds or securities from one Dominion to the other, whether such transfers are on capital account or current account. In particular there shall be no restrictions on transfer of evacuee funds in private hands. The transfer of evacuee funds in the hands of Custodians of Evacuee Property will be arranged after mutual consultations between the Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan (hereinafter referred to as “the Reserve Bank” and “the State Bank”, respectively) in order to ensure orderly transfer without undue strain on exchange resources.

(2) Nothing contained in the preceding paragraph shall apply in relation to the transfer of gold or silver (in whatever form) between the two Dominions. Either Government may impose restrictions on such transfer, subject to such exemptions in regard to evacuee property as may be agreed upon by the two Governments.

Article IV

(1) The Reserve Bank, acting as agents of the Government of India, shall sell to the State Bank, acting as agents of the Government of Pakistan; India rupees to such extent as may be required for payments which persons in Pakistan are permitted under the exchange regulations in force in Pakistan to make to India: and such sale shall be —

(a) against Pakistan rupees to be credited at the official rate of exchange to the Reserve Bank’s account with the State Bank, provided that the balance standing to the credit of that account is not thereby increased above a maximum of fifteen crores of Pakistan rupees: and thereafter

(b) against sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the Reserve Bank’s No. I Account with the Bank of England, provided that the total amount of sterling so transferred shall not exceed seven and a half million pounds: and thereafter

(c) against sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the Reserve Bank, No.II Account with the Bank of England.

(2) The State Bank acting as agents of the Government of Pakistan, shall sell to the Reserve Bank, acting as agent of the Government of India, Pakistan rupees to such extent as may be required for payments which persons in India are permitted under the exchange regulations in force in India to make to Pakistan: and such sale shall be—

(a) against India rupees to be credited at the official rate of exchange to the State Bank’s account with the Reserve Bank, provided that the balance standing to the credit of that account is not thereby increased above a maximum of fifteen crores of India rupees: and thereafter

(b) against sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the State Bank’s No.I Account with the Bank of England, provided that the total amount of sterling so transferred shall not exceed seven and a half million pounds: and thereafter against sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the State Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England.

Article V

(1) The Reserve Bank shall have the right at any time to sell to the State Bank against all or part of the India rupees held by that Bank either India rupees at the official rate of exchange or sterling from the State Bank’s No.I Account with the Bank of England at the official sterling parity.

(2) the State Bank shall have the right at any time to sell to the Reserve Bank against all or part of the Pakistan rupees held by that Bank either Pakistan rupees at the official rate of exchange or sterling from the State Bank’s No.I Account with the Bank of England at the official sterling parity.

Article VI

In the event of either Government taking action which results in a depreciation of its currency in terms of the currency of the other Dominion, India rupees held by the State Bank or, as the case may be, Pakistan rupees held by the Reserve Bank, shall be revalued on the basis of the new parity and the account of whichever Bank incurs a loss as a result of such revaluation shall be written up by the credit of additional India rupees or Pakistan rupees, as the case may be.

Article VII

The Reserve Bank and the State Bank will collaborate to maintain the India and Pakistan rupees at parity with each other and to that end will take steps to enforce the use of the official rate as the basis of all transactions involving a relationship between the two currencies in the markets under their control.

Article VIII

Any India rupees held by the State Bank shall be held and invested only as may be agreed by the Reserve Bank and any Pakistan rupees held by the Reserve Bank shall be held and invested only as may be agreed by the State Bank.

Article IX

The Reserve Bank and the State Bank shall maintain close contact on all technical questions arising out of the present Agreement.

Article X

This Agreement shall come into force on the first day of July 1948 and shall remain in force for a period of one year, but shall be reviewed three months before the date of its termination:
Provided that if during the currency of this Agreement the transfer of funds from one Dominion to the other assumes such large proportions as to involve undue strain on the foreign exchange reserves of that Dominion, the two Governments shall consult together with a view to modifying the Agreement:

And Provided always that in the event of either of the two Dominions ceasing to be a member of “the scheduled territories” as defined in the Exchange Control Act, 1947, of the United Kingdom, the provisions of this agreement shall be in abeyance pending consultations between the two Governments.

In witness whereof the Secretary to the Government of India in the Ministry of Finance and the Secretary to the Government of Pakistan in the Ministry of Finance, having been duly authorized by their respective Governments, have appended their signatures.

In connection with the Agreement between the Dominion of India and the Dominion of Pakistan for the avoidance of unnecessary restrictions on exchange transactions and the transfer of funds and securities between the two Dominions, which we have signed today, it is the understanding of my Government that transfer of funds on account of unusual receipts or payments on Government account shall be arranged after mutual consultations between the Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan in order to ensure orderly transfer without undue strain on exchange resources. I shall be grateful if you will confirm that this is also the understanding of your Government.

Yours sincerely,

The following are the highlights of the agreement between Britain and India on India’s sterling balance signed in London on July 9, and published today:

In view of the current level of the off the balance in India No. 1 account no further transfers from No. 2 to No. 1 account will take place in the 12 months ending July 30, 1949. Maximum transfers from No. 2 to No. 1 account off£ 40 million in each of the two following years. But no transfers unless the balances on the No. 1 account at the end of any month is less than £60 million. India’s net drawings of hard currencies form the central reserves in the twelve months ending July 30, 1949 will not exceed the equivalent of £15,000,000.

FINAL SETTLEMENT

India will pay £100,000,000 for defence, stores and fixed assets taken over by the Government of undivided India on April 1, 1947. This payment will be a full and final settlement for the Governments of both India and Pakistan. Sterling pension obligations of the Dominion of India will be capitalized at £147,605,125 and those of the provinces of India at £20,516,341. Britain will help India to obtain imports, including non-ferrous metals, cotton and plywood.

3306. Letters exchanged between Pakistan and British Governments on Agreement on Sterling Balances.

July, 1948.

Letter No. 1: From the Chancellor of the Exchequer to the Finance Minister, Pakistan:

My Dear Minister,

As the result of the consultations provided for in paragraph 9 of Sir Jeremy Raisman’s letter of February 21, 1948 to Mr. Abdul Qadir which extended the agreement signed in London on August 14, 1947, (herein after called the “Principal Agreement”) between the Government of the U.K. and the Government of Pakistan, the following arrangements have been agreed upon between our Governments for the extension of the Principal Agreement:

PRINCIPAL AGREEMENT

1. The principal agreement as modified by Sir Jeremy Raisman’s letter to which I have referred above and as further modified by this letter, shall be extended to June 30, 1949. Of the balance available in the Pakistan No. 1 Account on June 30, 1948, the sum of £2 millions shall be regarded as an addition to the working balance referred to in paragraph 4 of Sir Jeremy Raisman’s letter thereby increasing that balance to £12 millions.

2. These shall be transferred from the No. 2 to the No. 1 Account of the State Bank of Pakistan in the period July 1, 1948 to June 30, 1949, (a) the sum of £5 millions forthwith and (b) another sums not exceeding £5 million for the purpose of meeting Pakistan’s expenditure on special requirements for goods and execution of capital projects for the resettlement and rehabilitation of refugees. These special transfers shall be made as and when required by the Government of Pakistan for these purposes.

3. The Government of Pakistan undertake so to limit expenditure in “hard currency” areas that net drawings on the central reserves in the year July 1, 1948 to 30, June 1949 do not exceed the equivalent of £5 millions. This figure for the net drawing on the central reserves has been agreed in the light of Pakistan’s needs for supplies necessary for the development of her economy and in particular of her productive capacity.

HARD CURRENCY AREA

4. For the purpose of the preceding paragraph the “hard currency area” means: The whole of the continents of North, Central and South America.
and adjacent islands but excluding Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, and any territories which are part of the Sterling Area, the monetary area of the French Franc area, the Belgian monetary area, Japan, the Philippines, the Portuguese monetary area but excluding Portuguese India the joint U.S.-U.K. Zones of Germany, provided (a) that not more than £750,000 of any surplus earned by Pakistan with Japan shall be taken into account for the purpose of determining Pakistan’s hard currency earning and (b) that this list may be varied by agreement between the two Governments.

TERMINATION

6. Further consultation shall take place before the termination of the principal Agreement as extended by this letter with a view to extending it further or replacing it by another agreement or agreements. Such consultation shall have particular regard to the total transfers of sterling required in the No.2 to the No. 1 Account for the ensuing period or periods, but in order to enable Pakistan to prepare plans in advance the Government of the United Kingdom undertake that in addition to the balances then existing on the No 1 Account a further sum of at least £5 millions shall be transferred in the 12 months July 1, 1949. to June 30, 1950, and a further £5 millions in the ensuing 12 months. Further, any part of the special transfer referred to in paragraph 3 (b) above which remains unspent on June30, 1949 shall be available for the same purpose until June30, 1951. Without prejudice to these agreed arrangement the question of Pakistan’s requirements in respect of refugees may be raised again if desired, in the course of the further consultation envisaged under paragraph G above.

EXECUTION

8. Arrangements shall be made by agreement between the two Governments for consultation to take place from time to time with regard to matters arising out of the execution of the principal Agreement as modified by Sir Jeremy Raisman’s letter of February 21 1948. I should be grateful to have your confirmation that this letter correctly sets out the understanding reached between us that it, together with your reply, constitute an extension in terms of paragraph 1 of this letter of the Principal Agreement.

Yours sincerely

Letter No. 2: From the Chancellor of the Exchequer to the Finance Minister.

Pakistan:

My Dear Minister.

BRITISH ASSETS

I write with reference to the arrangement that have been discussed between our Governments regarding the final settlements of the amount Payable in respect of Defence stores and fixed assets taken over by the Government of undivided India on April 1, 1947.

2. My understanding of the decision reached at the discussions is as follows:

   (a) A sum £ 100 million will be paid by the Government of India in respect of all Defence stores and fixed assets, including surplus stores and equipment with units of the Armed Forces which were the property of the Government of the United Kingdom and which were, taken over by the Government of undivided India on April 1, 1947. This will also cover stores in transit on that date.

FINAL SETTLEMENT

   (b) The payment mentioned above will be in full and final settlement between the Government of the United Kingdom on the one hand and the Governments of India and Pakistan on the other in respect of all Defence stores and fixed assets located in undivided India which were the property of the Government of the U.K.

3. I shall be grateful if you would confirm to me and to the Finance Minister of India that this is also the understanding of your Government.
4. I am sending a similar letter to the Finance Minister of India with the request that he should confirm to both of us that this is also the understanding of his Government.

Yours sincerely

Letter No3: From the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the Finance Minister, Pakistan:

My Dear Minister,

I write with reference to the arrangements that we have discussed regarding the purchase of an annuity by the Government of Pakistan from the Government of the U.K. for the purpose of meeting the Sterling pensionary obligation of the Dominion of Pakistan and of the Provinces of Pakistan.

CAPITAL SUM

2. It is my understanding that the Government of Pakistan will pay to the Government of the U.K. Capital sum of £8,166,848 (which sum shall qualify under article iv. 2 (v) of the Principal Agreements for a transfer from the No 2 Account to the No 1 Account of the State Bank of Pakistan with the Bank of England and that, in consideration of this payment, which will be made not later than August 15, 1948 the U.K. Government will pay to the Government of Pakistan during each of the financial years 1948-49 to 1997-98 inclusive the amount set out against that year in the annexure to this letter. The amount payable in each year will be paid in twelve equal monthly installments on the first working day in each month. The first six monthly installments in the financial year 1948-49 will, as a special case, be paid on September 1st 1948.

3. If in any year the actual disbursements of pensions excluding payments of the commuted value of pensions and on account of disbursements of Provident funds exceed the amount of the annuity received by the Government of Pakistan the U.K. Government will agree to the transfer of the amount of this excess from the No 2 Account to the No 1 Account. Conversely, should the actual disbursements in a year fall short of the annuity received by the Government of Pakistan the difference will be adjusted by a transfer from the No1 to the No2 Account.

4. Further, the Government of the United Kingdom will agree to the transfer from the No 2 Account to the No 1 Accounts as and when required of such sums as may be necessary to meet the charges arising out of the payment of the commuted value of pensions and disbursements on accounts of provident funds.

5. Subsection (iv) of paragraph 2 of Article IV of the Principal Agreement is modified in accordance with the understanding set out in paragraphs 3 and above.

6. The administrative arrangements for the disbursements of pensions in the U.K. which are now in force will continue for a period of three years commencing with April 1st 1948.

7. I shall be grateful to have your confirmation that this is also the understanding of your Government.

Yours sincerely

Copy of the enclosed letter dated July 9, 1948.

PURCHASE OF ANNUITY

My Dear Minister,

I write with reference to the arrangements that we have discussed regarding the purchase of an annuity by the Government of India from the Government of the United Kingdom for the purpose of meeting the sterling pensionary obligations of the Dominion of India.

2. It is my understanding that the Government of India will pay to the Government of the United Kingdom a capital sum of £147,605,125 (which sum shall qualify under Article IV 2(v) of the Principal Agreement for a transfer from the No 2 Account to the No 1 Account of the Reserve Bank of India with the Bank of England and that in consideration of this payment, which will be made not later than August 15, 1948, the Government of the United Kingdom will pay to the Government of India during each of the Financial years 1948-19 to 2007-2008, inclusive, the amount set out against that year in the annexure to this letter. The amount payable in each year will be paid in twelve equal monthly installments on the first working day in each month. The first six monthly installments in the financial year 1948-49 will, as a special case, be paid on the 1st September 1948.

EXCESS

3. If in any year the actual disbursements of pensions excluding payments of the commuted value of pensions and on account of disbursements of provident funds, exceed the amount of the annuity received by the Government of India, the Government of the U.K. will agree to the transfer of the amount of the excess from the No 2 Account to the No 1 Account. Conversely should the actual disbursements in a year fall short of the annuity received by the Government of India the difference will be adjusted by a transfer from the No 1 Account to the No 2 Account.

4. Further, the Government of the U.K. will agree to the transfer from the No 2 Account to the No 1 Account as and when required of such sum as may be necessary to meet the charges arising out to the payments of the commuted value of pensions and disbursements on account of provident funds.

5. Subsection (iv) of paragraph 2 of Article IV of the Principal Agreement is modified in accordance with the understandings set out in paragraphs 3 and 4 above.

PERIOD

6. The administrative arrangements for the disbursements of pensions in the U.K. which are now in force will continue for a period of three years commencing with April 1 1948, i.e. U.K. Government will on behalf of the Government of India, continue to disburse military pensions and administer the un-transferred sections of the Family Pension Funds while civil pensions will be disbursed by the High Commissioner for India. The detailed arrangements for implementing this decision so far as it relates to military pensions and Family pension Funds, will be agreed upon between our two Governments.

7. Before the expiry of the period of three years mentioned in paragraph 6 above consultations shall take place between our two Governments as to the arrangements after that period.

8. I shall be grateful to have your confirmation that this is also the understanding of your Government.

9. I am sending a copy of this letter to the Finance Minister of the Government of Pakistan with the request that he should confirm to both of us that his Government concur in the amount of the annuity mentioned in paragraph 2 above.

Yours sincerely

Letter No. 5: From the Chancellor of the Exchequer to the Finance Minister
Pakistan:

My Dear Minister,

You have emphasized to me that Pakistan is in a special position in view of her need to develop her economy for the first time as an independent State. I agree that this is so and that the UK should do what it can to help Pakistan in this task. You have also expressed anxiety about Pakistan difficulties in obtaining certain commodities which are essential both for her current need and for her economic development which she is anxious to procure as far as possible from within the sterling area or from soft currency countries. Members of your delegation have had discussions during the past fortnight with our departments’ representatives about the goods in which you are particularly interested and we have done our best to inform you of the extent of the assistance which we can give you in present circumstances. I should like to assure you that the Government of the United Kingdom appreciate your problems and within the limits of what is possible will do its best to help.

Yours sincerely

(Sd/-)

3307. Extract from the Minutes of the Inter Dominion Conference held in New Delhi from 22nd to 25th November, 1948.

The question of payments due to the India High Commissioner at United Kingdom for stores purchased by him on behalf of the Pakistan Government was also discussed. The Indian representatives pointed out that the Pakistan Government had already been addressed suggesting that for payments due up to the 1st January, 1948, reimbursement may be made in rupees and for subsequent purchases reimbursement should be made in sterling or other foreign currency in which the expenditure had been incurred. India had also suggested that Pakistan should pay in advance for stores purchased at U.K. The Pakistan representatives pointed out that so far as payments in U.K. were concerned there was already a revolving credit of £1,00,000/- for financing these payments. They agreed that the necessary funds should be made available for keeping these credits moving so that the necessary funds could always be available at the disposal of the High Commissioner. In regard to the purchases in the United States they were prepared to make similar arrangements. It was agreed that the two Dominions should instruct their High Commissioners and Embassies in Washington to discuss the matter further and settle the procedure locally.

Pakistan representatives also suggested that the outstanding contracts which were wholly for purposes of the Pakistan Dominion or Provinces should, if possible, be transferred to Pakistan Government. Similarly, the possibility of splitting up contracts so as to isolate supplies relating to Pakistan should also be considered. The Indian representatives had no objection in principle to this, if suppliers had no objection and such transfer was legally possible. They would pursue this further with their High Commissioner in London.

3308. Letter No.S-30(7) dated 3rd January 1949 from Shri A. Khaleeli, Joint Secretary to the Govt. of Pakistan Ministry of Education and Industries, Karachi to the Secretary to the Govt. of India, Ministry of Industry and Supply, New Delhi.

Subject: Transfer of Pakistan contracts for imported stores from India Supply Mission to the Embassy of Pakistan in the United States of America, Washington.

With reference to your telegram No.P-1/56(4), dated the 19th November 1948, on the above Subject, I am directed to say that instructions have been issued to the Embassy of Pakistan in the United States of America to take over Pakistan contracts from the India Supply Mission after signing a letter of assignment for every contract. The Embassy of Pakistan has also been asked to arrange for payments to the India Supply Mission in respect of the contracts in question according to the agreement arrived at in the Inter-Dominion Conference held in New Delhi from the 22nd to 25th of November 1948 (relevant extract from the minutes of the conference is enclosed for convenience of reference).

2. With regard to the departmental charges required to be paid in this connection, I am directed to state as follows.

The departmental charges which, as the Government of India are aware, stated at 3 percent are made up of 1 per centum for inspection and 2 percentum for procurement. In so far as inspection charges are concerned, they become payable in respect of those machines only which are inspected by the India Supply mission. The Mission has separately billed the Pakistan Embassy in Washington the cost of inspection of these machines. The Embassy will make payment against these bills.

In so far as charges for procurement are concerned, our Embassy from Washington reports that contracts in question had been placed by the India Supply Mission before partition and that very little, if any, processing of these contracts has been done since partition. It follows that the India Supply Mission is not entitled to charge 2 percent for procurement.

3. In the light of what is stated above, I am to request that necessary instructions may kindly be conveyed to the India Supply Mission under advice to this Ministry in so far as departmental charges claimed by that Mission from Pakistan Embassy in Washington are concerned.

Lahore, April 23, 1949.

PART I—COMMERCIAL BANKS

SECTION I—COMPLAINTS REGARDING THE TRANSFER AND DELAY IN PAYMENT OF MUSLIM ACCOUNTS

1. It was agreed as follows:—

(a) In the case of banks functioning in both or either of the Dominions, if any Muslim accounts have been transferred from West Pakistan to India without application from the depositors, such accounts should be re-transferred to Western Pakistan to a branch of the same bank or if the bank has no branch, action will be taken as in (c) below.

(b) In the case of banks which are functioning in East Punjab and East Punjab States and have also branches in West Pakistan, the accounts of all Muslim depositors in East Punjab and East Punjab States should be transferred to their branches in West Pakistan, except in the following cases:— (i) Where the accounts have been in operation in East Punjab and East Punjab States after 31.12.47 and no request for the transfer of the account has been received. (ii) Where a specific request for the retention of the account in East Punjab and East Punjab States has been received. In order to remove the possibility of any objection from depositors against the transfer of their accounts, it was agreed that the bank concerned will immediately advertise the proposed transfer of all Muslim accounts and invite the depositors to inform the banks within a period of one month if they have any objection to the transfer of their accounts to Pakistan. All Muslim accounts to be transferred should be transferred by 30.6.49 as far as possible. (c) Lists of Muslim accounts with banks functioning in East Punjab and East Punjab States, which have no office in West Pakistan, should be kept with a bank in West Pakistan to be specified for the purpose and arrangements should be made with that bank for payment of such deposits in Pakistan on receipt of applications from the depositors. (d) Muslim accounts with banks in India but outside East Punjab and East Punjab States will be transferred to a branch of the bank concerned in Pakistan on simple application from the depositor, leaving the detailed formalities, if any, to be complied with in Pakistan before payment is made. Such applications should preferably be made through the branch of the bank in West Pakistan. (e) The arrangements set out in sub-pares (a), (b), (c) and (d) will not apply to banks under a scheme of arrangement.

2. Banks under schemes of arrangements Banks under a scheme of arrangement in one Dominion should also apply to a High Court of the other Dominion for sanction of a scheme of arrangement for creditors in the other Dominion.

3. Indemnity Bonds As in the case of succession certificates, the desirability of entering into some mutual arrangement whereby in cases of loss of fixed deposits, cheque books and pass books, indemnity bonds obtained or executed, in one Dominion, are accepted in the other Dominion was recognised and it was agreed that the legal implications will be examined by the two Governments.

4. Inactive Accounts It was agreed that it was desirable that the banks in both the Dominion particularly in the “evacuee areas”, should notify the names and addresses of those depositors who have not operated their accounts from 31.12.47 to 31.3.49, to the Central Banks of the respective Dominions. The information so collected by the Central Banks will be exchanged between them to facilitate the tracing of constituents or their successors and the disposal of the balances. The Central Banks of the two Dominions will examine this further and work out a detailed scheme for the exchange of this information.

SECTION II COMPLAINTS OF BANKS

5. The Pakistan representatives agreed to examine the complaints of the banks in regard to orders issued by the West Punjab Government requiring the payment of security deposits of contractors to the C.M.A., Lahore Cantonment.

6. Grant of permits to bank staff for a minimum period of one year: It was agreed that the Pakistan Government will consider the grant of permits to bank staff permanently stationed in West Pakistan and certain specified officers of the head office for a period of one year at a time, the permits to cover the whole of West Pakistan wherever necessary.

7. Removal of bank records and remittance of surplus funds It was agreed that if banks which are not functioning in Pakistan normally, deposit an amount equal to their outstanding liabilities in West Pakistan, they should be permitted to remove their account books and to remit surplus funds provided certified copies of accounts in respect of outstanding liabilities are kept in Pakistan so long as they are outstanding. Vouchers etc. pertaining wholly to accounts in Pakistan will not be removed if arrangements can be made by the State Bank of Pakistan for their custody. The amount of the deposit to be retained in Pakistan will be verified by the State Bank and the deposit will be made in favour of a bank approved by the State Bank.

NOTE: The outstanding liabilities in the case of a bank under a scheme of arrangement, mean liabilities outstanding in terms of the scheme sanctioned by a High Court in Pakistan. It was agreed that similar arrangements will be made in the case of the Indian Branches of the Australasia Bank.

8. (a) Non-payment to banks of sale proceeds of goods hypothecated to them but requisitioned or sold by Provincial Governments in Pakistan.

(b) Requirement that suits should be filed before goods pledged to banks can be sold by them.

(c) Requirement that the sale proceeds of goods mortgaged with banks should on realisation by the banks be handed over to the Custodian of Evacuee Property. The position as it emerged out of the discussions is as follows:

1. In the case of pledged stocks, i.e. stocks pledged with possession with banks functioning in Pakistan (Possession by the bank not necessarily implying that the stocks are in premises belonging to or leased by the bank), the banks can sell the stocks and deposit with the Custodian only the surplus sale proceeds. Functioning banks will include those which have schemes of arrangement sanctioned for Western Pakistan and are actually working there. Indian representatives raised the question that the surplus sale proceeds should be treated as bank deposits and credit directly to the evacuee's account at the banks. It was pointed out by Pakistan representatives that the question was really of academic interest as in most cases the bank's claims exceed the value of the pledge stocks, but promised to consider the suggestion.

(ii) In the case of hypothecated stocks, although the entire sale proceeds had to be deposited with the Custodian and the banks have to register their claims with him, the Custodian is allowing exemptions from this requirement to banks which have been complying with the orders regarding the submission of returns etc. and the exempted banks enjoy the same facilities as in (i) above. The banks should, therefore, represent their cases individually to the Custodian and on his admitting the claim, they will be entitled to adjust their dues against the sale proceeds as in the case of (i) above.

(iii) No suits are required to be filed in courts in regard to stocks pledged or hypothecated, the Custodian himself finally admitting the claims.

(iv) A recommendation has been made to the two Governments by the Inter-Dominion Commission on Evacuee Property that in the case of mortgages of immovable property also, suits will not be required to be filed in civil courts and that the claims will be registered and admitted by the Custodian on production of mortgage deeds and such other evidence as may be required in any particular case.

(v) As a further concession to scheduled banks the Inter-Dominion Commission on Evacuee Property have recommended that the Custodian should register claims in respect of unsecured debts incurred by the evacuees with the banks on proof of the debts supported by an acknowledgment from the debtor. The Custodian will also be prepared to register claims against other property where the stocks or other pledged security disappeared without requiring acknowledgment from the debtor. Scheduled banks for this purpose will mean all banks included in the Reserve Bank schedule at the date of partition.

(vi) In all cases where the claims have been admitted by the Custodian, banks will not be required by the Custodian to file suits and obtain decrees from the civil courts and no evacuee debtor against whom a claim is admitted by the Custodian will be allowed to sell or exchange property until the admitted claims are first cleared; provided that in the case of those banks which are not functioning in Pakistan though they may have got schemes for payment to their Pakistan constituents sanctioned by competent authority, the form which clearance of the bank’s claims should take, would be decided by the Custodian. Cases of difficulty may be referred to the Inter-Dominion Commission on Evacuee Property.

(vii) Banks should get their claims admitted by the Custodian in respect of pledged or hypothecated stocks alleged to have been taken over by Government and similarly in respect of factories allotted by Government. The banks will produce such evidence as is available to them about the disposal of such stocks. The Custodian will also make enquiries as to where the goods have gone etc. and will arrange payment when it is found that Government have, in fact, taken over the stocks. It is understood that the Custodian has already asked the West Punjab Government for information about the stocks taken over by them, and will claim sale proceeds or compensation in all such cases from that Government. He explained that he would endeavour to correlate this information with the bank’s claim and where he can link up the information received from the two parties, will not insist on the banks proving that the West Punjab Government had taken over the stocks.

(viii) The posting of the Custodian’s nominees with banks is not at all compulsory and the banks are entirely free to have them withdrawn.

(ix) Goods pledged with the banks which are not saleable in Pakistan will be permitted to be removed by the Custodian after ascertaining from the Rehabilitation Commissioner that he does not want to take over the goods on payment. This would of course be subject to export and import restrictions in force for the time being. After sale the bank will render accounts to the Custodian and it should be understood that this does not absolve the bank from proving its claim before the Custodian.

SECTION III

9. Difficulties of the Imperial Bank regarding transfer of certain categories of accounts.

(a) Teachers Provident Fund Accounts: It was stated that no ban had been imposed on the transfer of provident fund accounts of the evacuee teachers.

(b) Minors’ Accounts: The question was separately under the consideration of the Inter-Dominion Commission in Evacuee Property and its recommendations would cover the points at issue.
(c) Accounts of Companies, Private Firms and Clubs: The West Punjab Government will examine the point raised and communicate its decision urgently. There should ordinarily be no difficulty in transferring the accounts of institutions which have wholly evacuated and have no liabilities in Pakistan.

SECTION IV

10. Establishment of an agency to watch the implementation of decisions: It was agreed that the two Governments should nominate two representatives from each side to watch the implementation of the decisions taken.

PART II—CO-OPERATIVE INSTITUTIONS

1. Co-operative institutions in the East and West Punjab including the Punjab States now merged in the East Punjab and Delhi. In pursuance of the discussions which took place between the representatives of the Government of East Punjab and West Punjab in the three meetings held on 15th March, 1948, 2nd April, 1948 and 27th May 1948, the minutes whereof are attached as Annexures I, II and III to this Agreement, the following agreement was reached:-

(a) The Government of East Punjab will take steps for the removal of the “stops” recorded against the securities belonging to the Punjab Provincial Co-operative Bank Ltd. Lahore, or other Co-operative Institutions of West Punjab and N.W.F.P., the orders to take effect on receipt by the Reserve Bank of India, Delhi, of the securities of the face value of Rs. 1,04,65,500 mentioned in (b) below.

(b) Against the net sum of Rs. 2,26 lakhs odd arrived at by the Registrars of the two Provinces as payable to East Punjab the Punjab Provincial Co-operative Bank Ltd. Lahore will hand over to the Reserve Bank of India, Delhi, duly endorsed in favour of the Ambala Central Co-operative Bank Ltd. Ambala, securities of the face value of Rs. 1,04,65,500 deposited with them by the co-operative institutions now located in the East Punjab and in addition securities of the face value of Rs. 41,00,000 now agreed to be made available to the East Punjab, and the balance will be kept back by the Punjab Provincial Co-operative Bank Ltd. Lahore, pending the final adjustment of unverified claims and the drawing up of the final balance-sheet as in (e) below. The East Punjab Government will first arrange that the Punjab Provincial Co-operative Bank Ltd. Lahore gets the necessary authority for transferring the securities of the face value. value of Rs. 1,04,65,500 mentioned above. Securities of the face value of Rs. 41,00,000 mentioned above will be delivered duly endorsed to the Reserve Bank of India, Delhi, within three weeks of the receipt of intimation by the West Punjab Government of the removal of the “stops” as in (a) above and the vacation of the injunctions, whichever is later.

(c) The East Punjab Government will immediately on the receipt of securities of the face value of Rs. 1,04,65,500 by the Reserve Bank of India, Delhi, as in (a) above take steps for the withdrawal of the pending suits relating to the title of the securities held by the Punjab Provincial Co-operative Bank Ltd. Lahore.

(d) The Registrars of Co-operative Societies of the East and West Punjab will take steps as soon as the transfer of securities mentioned in (b) above has been effected to issue the necessary authority to their respective Provincial Co-operative Banks to make payment of the deposits payable on account of the depositors who have migrated from the other Province.

(e) In order to facilitate the final settlement of the matter the two Registrars will immediately take steps to examine the unverified claims and complete the verified claims and complete the verification by the 31st August, 1949, and prepare a final balance-sheet together with a list of claims, if any, on which agreement could not be reached by them.

NOTE: Deposits of Muslims who have stayed on in Delhi Province and in the district of Gurgaon will not be transferred for payment in West Punjab.

2. Co-operative Institutions in the Patiala and East Punjab States Union, the Alwar and Bharatpur States, Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh, N.W.F.P., Khairpur and Bhawalpur and Delhi

(a) It was agreed that the two Dominions should invite claims from displaced depositors. Wide publicity should be given in the Press inviting the claims. Claims should be invited to reach the Registrars of Co-operative Societies of West Punjab and East Punjab respectively by the 15th June, the necessary advertisements being issued by the two Dominion Governments by the 15th May 1949. These claims should then be listed by the receiving Registrar and passed on to the Registrar in the other Dominion for verification.

(b) The authorities of the States and Governments in India and Pakistan mentioned above should also prepare lists of Muslim and non-Muslim depositors respectively and these lists will be exchanged between the two said Registrars by the end of June 1949. Reasonable facilities will be provided for the inspection of records for verification of deposit accounts in both the Dominions.

(c) Steps should be taken to have the claims verified and settled by 31.8.1949, the payment to displaced depositors in both Dominions being arranged through the Registrar of Co-operative Societies, East Punjab, for those in India, and the-Registrar of Co-operative Societies, West Punjab, for those in Pakistan.

3. Shares held in co-operative institutions of all types in the Provinces and States mentioned in Sections 1 and 2 It was agreed that data regarding shares held by displaced persons and institutions should be collected as. in Section 2. Arrangements should then be made for the purchase by the institutions concerned of the shares held by evacuee share-holders, at the face value, after adjusting any outstanding that may be due from the share-holder. It was agreed that necessary legal steps should be taken to enable the institutions to acquire the shares in the above manner. 4. The implementation of this agreement will be progressed by the Inter-Dominion Committee set up by the Inter-Dominion Conference of the 2nd April, 1949, for dealing with the East and West Punjab problems arising from partition matters but not covered by the partition Agreement. This Committee will associate the Registrars of East and West Punjab in the matter.

PART III

The decisions in Parts I and II are subject to ratification by the Dominion Governments. The ratification will be intimated to each other by the 10th May, 1949. The Agreement will be published on the 12th May, 1949.

ANNEXURE I

A conference between the representatives of the Co-operative Departments of the West Punjab and the East Punjab was held at 10 A.M. on the 15th March, 1948, in the room of Mr. K. Headington and was attended by the following:

2. M.R. Sachdev, Esq., ICS, Chief Secretary, East Punjab.
4. R.S. Ram Rattan, Chief Liaison Officer, East Punjab.
5. Mr. K. Headington, Banking Adviser, West Punjab.
6. K.B. Sh. Fazl-i-Ilahi, Registrar, Cooperative Societies, West Punjab.
2. The following decisions were agreed to:

(1) All Government Securities belonging to East Punjab Cooperative Institutions and lodged with the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd., Lahore, either for safe custody or for purpose of overdraft or for collection of interest will be transferred by the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd., Lahore before 31st March, 1948 to the depositor Banks concerned provided that the East Punjab Central Cooperative Banks concerned owing the Government Securities, pay up their liabilities, if any, to the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd., Lahore and provided also that such institutions repay the deposits of their evacuee individual depositors, the evacuee individual depositors of their constituent societies, and societies whose membership consists entirely of Muslims, who have evacuated. The Central Banks in the West Punjab will also repay the deposits of their individual evacuee depositors, the deposits of the evacuee individuals of their constituent societies and of the societies which consisted wholly of non-Muslim evacuees.

(2) In order to execute the above decisions, two Registrars should immediately exchange lists of deposits and have the balance adjusted before the 31st March, 1948.

(3) In the case of primary societies of which the membership is mixed, no division of assets will be undertaken, but it is understood that deposits of individuals of such societies who have evacuated will be repaid before the 31st March, 1948.

(4) In the case of societies whose membership consisted entirely of evacuees, all assets will be transferred to the dominion to which the evacuees have migrated and the Registrar concerned will register necessary amendment in their bylaws making such change of address permissible.

(5) The debts owed by the societies, which as a result of partition, have now gone over to the other dominion will be paid to the creditor Central Bank by the Provincial Bank of the dominion concerned by adjustment or otherwise as may be agreed to by both the Registrars.

(6) The amounts paid by the Industrial Societies (now in Pakistan) in the advertisement fund of the Amritsar Industrial Bank will be paid back by the Industrial Bank to the Punjab Provincial Bank, Lahore.

(7) All amounts received by the Industrial Cooperative Bank, Amritsar, on account of war supply orders will be adjusted or paid by the Industrial Bank to the Societies concerned as may be settled by the two Registrars.
(8) All amounts belonging to employees of Cooperative institutions by way of salary, provident fund, security deposits, etc., will be repaid by institutions of both the dominions through their respective Provincial Banks before the 31st March, 1948.

(9) The question of the division of assets of:

(i) Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd., Lahore,
(ii) Punjab Cooperative Union, Lahore,
(iii) North Western Railway Coop. Society, Lahore,
(iv) Industrial Cooperative Bank, Amritsar was considered, but it was pointed out that since the matter was before the Arbitral Tribunal it could not be discussed being subjudice.

(10) All decisions arrived at will be implemented by the Governments of the West Punjab and the East Punjab.

(11) It is recommended that the date 31 March, 1948 may be extended to 30th April, 1948 in regard to all the decisions referred to above. It is essential that the two dominions extend the date of the enfacement of securities for payment of interest to 30th April, 1948.

(12) Shares and interest of members of Transport Societies and Ex-Soldiers’ Goods Transport Societies will be transferred to the dominion concerned. The Registrars will arrange this.

ANNEXURE II

In order to implement the decisions arrived at between the representatives of the Cooperative Societies Departments of the West Punjab and the East Punjab held on 15th of March 1948, the following action may be taken:

(a) The Ambala Central Cooperative Bank will secure necessary authorities from the institutions in the East Punjab whose securities are lodged with the Punjab Provincial Coop. Bank Ltd., Lahore in order that the latter institution may transfer those securities which are due to be sent to the East Punjab institutions, to the Ambala Central Cooperative Bank Ltd., which is to serve as Provincial Bank for the East Punjab.

(b) The Central Banks, Unions and other Cooperative Societies in East Punjab will give necessary power to the Ambala Central Cooperative Bank Ltd., to authorise the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd., Lahore to repay the deposits of the Muslims in these institutions. The same kind of power will be obtained by the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank from similar institutions in the West Punjab in order to repay the deposits of the non-Muslim depositors with these institutions, through the Ambala Central Cooperative Bank.

(c) In order to verify the deposits, the deposit accounts together with the loan accounts issued on the security of deposits and pronotes will be brought to Lahore for check. Such books of those institutions which have already been checked need not be brought again.

(d) As it will not be possible to bring the books of the primary societies for verification, the Registrars on each side will have lists of Muslim depositors in the East Punjab and of non-Muslim depositors in the West Punjab prepared through their staff and attested under their own signatures after they have satisfied themselves with regard to the accuracy of these lists and bring to Lahore.

(e) All the lists of the depositors and the registers will be brought to Lahore by both the Registrars on 10th of May, 1948.

(f) After the lists have been verified and necessary authorities for their return to the depositors concerned delivered, the balance of the securities and deposits left will be made over by the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank to the Registrar, East Punjab for conveying to the Ambala Central Coop. Bank.

(g) By depositors in the above clause is meant the deposits of evacuee individual depositors, the evacuee's deposits of their constituent societies and societies whose membership consists entirely of Muslims or non-Muslims, as the case may be, who have evacuated.

(h) Since it is reciprocal, the Registrars agree that such societies should be considered “entirely” Muslim societies whose membership consists of 90 per cent Muslims or the deposits of which societies in the central institutions are contributed by Muslims to the extent of 90 per cent. The same definition will apply to the “entirely” non-Muslim societies in the West Punjab. The Registrars will decide and furnish lists of such societies with their deposits under their signatures after satisfying themselves with regard to the accuracy of information supplied with regard to each society. The words “wholly of non-Muslim evacuees” in para 2 of clause (i) will also be considered to have the same meanings as “societies consisting entirely of non-Muslims”.

2. Since the execution of the decisions could not be done up to 31.3.1948, the work involved was heavy and could not be completed during the Easter Holidays for which days only the banks could spare their books, the extension of time has had to be done. The Registrars will get sufficient staff at Lahore on 10th May, 1948 in order that the work gets completed as soon as possible.

3. As suggested under para 1 lists of deposits of individuals in the primary societies will be brought duly attested by the Registrars on 10.5.1948 and the deposits will be repaid after 10.5.1948.

4. The phrase “consisted entirely of evacuees” will be taken in its literal sense in this clause, because this clause deals with the division of assets. The Registrars of each side will have a list prepared of societies which consisted entirely of evacuees together with their assets and attest the same under their signatures after satisfying as to their accuracy. When the lists of societies are prepared they will be transferred from the registers of one Registrar to that of the other and their assets will also be transferred to the other dominion. The Registrars concerned may then undertake necessary amendments of the bylaws of these societies, making a change of address.

5. A list of the societies which as a result of partition have now gone over to the other dominion may be prepared by the Registrar of each dominion concerned together with the amount of loan due by each such society to the Central institutions which will be attested by the Registrars under their signatures after satisfying themselves with regard to the accuracy of each such list. The transfer of the liabilities will be done by adjustment of the balance due by societies in one dominion to the other by transferring the balance due from the dominion from which it is due to the other.

6. A list of the amounts due by the Amritsar Industrial Cooperative Bank received by it in the accounts of the Industrial Cooperative Societies in the advertisement fund now in West Punjab will be prepared and signed by the Registrar, East Punjab, after satisfying himself with regard to the accuracy of this list. The accounts due by the Amritsar Industrial Cooperative Bank will be paid to the Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank, Limited, Lahore by adjustment. The Amritsar Industrial Cooperative Bank will give necessary powers to the Ambala Central Cooperative Bank to authorise the Provincial Cooperative Bank, Lahore to make necessary adjustment of the balance that is to be transferred from the Provincial Cooperative Bank, Lahore to the Ambala Central Cooperative Bank.
7. A list of amounts received by the Industrial Cooperative Bank, Amritsar on account of War Supply Orders will be prepared and attested by the Registrar with regard to its accuracy. The amounts due by the Industrial Cooperative Bank Amritsar to the societies in West Punjab after recovering its dues will be paid to the Provincial Cooperative Bank, Ltd., Lahore by adjustment. The procedure followed will be as mentioned in clause 6 above.

8. The necessary authority will be obtained by the Registrars concerned for the transfer of the salaries, Provident Fund, Security Deposits, etc., of the employees of the Cooperative Institutions. Lists of all such amounts due will be prepared and attested by the Registrars concerned pertaining to each such institution after satisfying as to the accuracy of such lists. The adjustment of amounts will be done according to the procedure laid down in clause 6.

(9), (10) and (11) require no action by the Registrars.

12. A list of shares and interests of members of Transport Societies and ex-soldiers' transport societies will be prepared and signed by the Registrars concerned after satisfying themselves about the accuracy of such lists. The transfer of such shares and interest will be undertaken through the Provincial Banks of each Dominion according to the procedure laid down in clause 6. All lists mentioned in the above clause will be brought by the Registrars to Lahore on 10.5.48. Interest on all kinds of deposits will be paid up to 29.2.48 at the stipulated rates by the institutions concerned.

ANNEXURE III

Proceedings of a Meeting Held in the Office room of the Financial Commissioner, Development, West Punjab, Lahore, on 27th May, 1948

Present:

Mr. J.W. HEARN, CSI., CIE.,
Financial Commissioner, Development, West Punjab.

Mr. P.K. KAUL, ICS.,
Financial Commissioner, Development, East Punjab.

Mr. ZAHUR HUSSAIN,
Deputy Registrar, Cooperative Societies, West Punjab.

Ch. RAM SARUP,
Registrar, Cooperative Societies, East Punjab.
Mr. K. HEADINGTON, CBE.,
Banking Adviser to Govt., West Punjab.

It was decided that the question of the division of assets of the
(i) Punjab Provincial Cooperative Bank Ltd., Lahore;
(ii) Punjab Cooperative Union, Lahore;
(iii) North Western Railway Cooperative Society, Lahore; and
(iv) Industrial Cooperative Bank, Amritsar should be considered by both departments and both Governments with special reference to the method, if any, by which the assets of evacuees could be paid to those evacuees.
At the same time the possibility of a division of the assets and owned funds of these institutions may be investigated. The views of each Government would be communicated to the other at the earliest possible time, but not later than the middle of June 1948, and the differences, if there are any, would be considered at a subsequent meeting to be held in Simla.

2. The two Registrars would with immediate effect draw a deadline on which the balance-sheet showing the claims and counter-claims between the East Punjab and the West Punjab Cooperative Departments should be drawn up in terms of the agreement arrived at between the two Governments in the first meeting. After that date it will then be necessary only to consider the outstanding and presumably comparatively minor items.

3. If, as is probable, the West Punjab Cooperative Department will have to pay to the East Punjab Cooperative Department after the drawing up of the balance-sheet, then the West Punjab Cooperative Department will be entitled to keep sufficient margin to cover outstanding items and the remainder, subject to orders of Government, will be paid.

Ministry of Finance
(External Finance Division)

Detailed record of the Inter-Dominion discussions held at Karachi on the 23rd May, 1949 To consider The Renewal of the Payments Agreement Between India and Pakistan.

Present

Indian Delegation
1. Mr. B.K. Nehru, I.C.S. (Leader)
2. Mr. P.J. Jeejeebhoy.
3. Mr. L.R.S. Singh
4. Mr. N.D. Nangia.
5. Mr. P.S. Narayan Prasad.
6. Mr. K.L. Rathee.

Pakistan Delegation.
1. Mr. Abdul Qadir. (Leader)
2. Mr. Anwar Ali.
3. Mr. J.I. Kennan.
4. Mr. N.B. Uqaili.

First Meeting at 10.30 a.m.

Mr. Abdul Qadir. Welcoming the Indian delegation, expressed the hope that a satisfactory conclusion would be arrived at on the problem of the settlement of payments between India and Pakistan. Mr. Nehru thanked the Pakistan delegation for the welcome and reciprocated the hope expressed by Mr. Qadir. Mr. Nehru then suggested that the best course would be to specify the issues involved and thereafter proceed to discuss them. As far as he could see the points for discussion were—

(a) whether existing Payments agreement should be extended: and

(b) if so, whether any changes were considered necessary in its main terms.

Mr. Qadir accepted the procedure but suggested that the question of the settlement of the Indian rupee holdings of the State Bank of Pakistan as on the 30th June 1949 should be considered first. Mr. Qadir proposed that those rupee holdings should be settled in free sterling. He made the points that the current agreement year should be treated as a separate unit and the balance outstanding at the end of that year must therefore be settled first, the agreement for the next year being considered on a altogether new basis. Mr. Nehru replied that this proposal was not acceptable to the Indian delegation as its acceptance would mean the wiping out of the results of the existing Agreement. It was never the intention that the settlement of the rupee balance held by either country would take place at the end of the year, since such settlement would in effect amount merely to the deferment by 12 months of payment in sterling. It might as well have been agreed to settle the accounts in free sterling during the currency of the agreement since none of the parties was short of free sterling at the time the current agreement was signed. The holding by one country of the currency of the other was a quid pro quo for not having exchange control. It is a fundamental principle of all such agreements that the accounts outstanding at the end of a year are carried forward to the next year when the agreements are renewed. The settlement of the India rupee balances held by the State Bank of Pakistan on the 30th June 1949 could be achieved only by absorbing it in the new limit to be fixed for the next year for such holdings. Mr. Qadir said that the continuance of the existing agreement should not mean continued accumulation of balances and they must know the results of the working of the existing agreement before they could consider the terms of a new Agreement. Mr. Nehru replied that this was an impossible situation as the balance could not be settled without knowing what arrangements would operate in the next year. He suggested that, though in view of the continued accumulation of India rupee holdings by the State Bank of Pakistan India would prefer the imposition of exchange control, he was willing to continue the existing payments Agreement without exchange control.

2. Identifiable Capital Transactions.

Mr. Qadir proposed that identifiable capital transactions, such as, sale proceeds of evacuee property, Government securities, etc., should be separated from the current transactions, the former being settled through Account No.2 and the latter in free sterling. Mr. Nehru accepted the proposal but suggested that current income from evacuee property should be settled in current sterling. He enquired about the position of the remittance of evacuee funds through Custodians of Evacuee Property. Mr. Anwar Ali explained that the present position was that evacuee funds were required to be registered with the Custodians of Evacuee Property which could then be remitted to India without any let or hindrance by the Custodians. Mr. Nangia enquired whether only unusual payments on Government account would be passed through the Account No.2 or whether other capital transactions would also be settled in this manner. It was agreed that all identifiable capital items whether on Government or private account, which should be listed and specified by mutual consultations, could be passed through the No.2 Account.

3. Limit on Settlement in Current Sterling

Mr. Qadir was of the view that there should be no limit and the whole adverse balance of payments should be settled in current sterling. Mr. Nehru said that this would necessitate imposition of exchange control as India was not in a position to take on unlimited liability for payment in current sterling. If exchange control was not to be established, then the only way to limit the liability to pay in sterling was to provide in the agreement for a rupee holding limit higher than the existing limit of Rs.15 crores and to have a limit on settlements through current sterling. Mr. Qadir complained that the accumulation of Pakistan’s holding of India rupees was the result of India not selling goods to Pakistan although the latter was very anxious to purchase from India goods like cotton textiles, coal, iron and steel, matches, etc. Pakistan was being forced, Mr. Qadir continued, to go to other markets because, apart from export restrictions imposed by India, the prices of Indian goods were high owing to (a) excise duties, (b) export duties and (c) the agents’ commission of 15% on cotton textiles. Moreover, the cloth supplied by India was of a low quality. Mr. Singh replied that the question of the removal of excise and export duties was being considered by the two Governments and it should now be possible to send more goods from India to Pakistan. In fact, things had already begun moving for the last two or three months as a result of the policy of liberal exports to Pakistan. There was some difficulty about the period of validity of letters of credit but that also had been solved as it was agreed to extend the date of letters of credit. There would be a still greater measure of liberalisation of exports from India to Pakistan and the exchange of commodities would, therefore, take place in larger quantities. Mr. Nehru said that India was keen to sell goods to Pakistan but the latter was not anxious to buy. Apart from sugar, the prices of Indian goods sold to Pakistan were comparable to those of other foreign goods. India was doing her best to supply as much coal as possible but, there was the transport difficulty which was standing in the way of even internal movement of coal in India. India was supplying iron and steel which was purchased by her against payment in dollars. Mr. Nehru dispelled the doubt that India was taking any advantage of the Payments Agreement.

If, however, Pakistan insisted on throwing an unlimited liability on India for settlement of accounts in free sterling there would be no alternative but to impose exchange control. Mr. Jeejeebhoy mentioned that under the International Monetary Fund regulations capital transactions were required to be segregated.
from current transactions and for this purpose also it was necessary to have exchange control. Mr. Qadir replied that there was no exchange control between Australia and the United Kingdom and India and Pakistan could likewise do without exchange control. Mr. Nehru said that the analogy of Australia did not apply to India because whereas the former had full use of her entire sterling resources the latter could operate only on a small sector of her sterling balances. Mr. Anwar Ali made the point that Pakistan’s funds were blocked either in India in rupees or in sterling with the result that she could not make purchases from other countries. Mr. Qadir said that Pakistan’s resources were extremely limited as her balance in Account No. 1 was standing at the minimum working balance figure of £12 million against her balance of £20 million in January 1948 and £35 million in July 1948. Pakistan had to depend entirely on imports from foreign countries whereas India herself was a manufacturer of certain goods.

4. Exchange Control.

Asked about Pakistan’s views on the imposition of exchange control between India and Pakistan, Mr. Qadir said that both the Governments wanted to facilitate trade by removing all barriers in the form of export/import restrictions, excise duties, etc. The imposition of exchange control would, therefore, run counter to the policy of both Governments. Moreover, apart from remittances of sale proceeds of evacuee property and Government’s securities, there was no likelihood of any movement of capital from India to Pakistan, particularly because the rate of interest in both the countries was the same. Mr. Nehru said that when trade was running between the two countries in the normal course it was necessary for one to hold the currency of the other up to a reasonable limit for a reasonable time.

5. Proposals.

On being asked by Mr. Qadir, Mr. Nehru made the following proposals:—

(a) Extension of the existing agreement in its present form;

(b) If, however the present holding limit of each other’s currency was not acceptable to Pakistan, fixation of a new holding limit, and, if so,

(c) absorbing the present balance in the new holding limit.

Mr. Nehru made the point that, it was essential for Pakistan to start accumulating India rupee balances to enable her to repay India’s debt. Mr. Qadir replied that in the present state of their economy they were not in a position to do this. Mr. Anwar Ali then examined Mr. Nehru’s proposals and made the following counter-proposals:—

(i) Identifiable capital transactions should be settled in blocked sterling;

(ii) the rest of the transactions should be settled in free sterling;

(iii) there should be no provision for any holding limit of each other’s currency;
(iv) India rupees held by Pakistan on the 30th June 1949 should be settled in free sterling on that date: and

(v) there should be no exchange control between India and Pakistan.

Mr. Nehru said that we could not rule out the likelihood of large scale transfers of capital from India to Pakistan for investment purpose. Mr. Qadir replied that a provision could be made for mutual consultations in the event of such a contingency arising during the currency of the agreement. Mr. Nehru said that Pakistan's proposals were all right if they were accompanied by the imposition of exchange control which would serve as a sort of safety valve to enable India to limit her liability for payment in current sterling. Mr. Anwar Ali suggested that they could fix quantitative limits on Pakistan's exports of Jute and Cotton to India, which would serve the same purpose as exchange control itself. Mr. Nehru replied that, apart from these commodities, there were other items of exports and invisibles also, as for example, remittances, which would have to be cut out if the balance was running heavily against India. Mr. Nehru denied Mr. Qadir's allegation that the existing agreement had been varied in agreeing to settle capital transactions in blocked sterling as it already existed as embodied in the letters exchanged between the two parties. Mr. Anwar Ali said that they were prepared to agree to the settlement of capital transfers through the No.2 Account, the rupee holdings being considered as a sort of compensation for unidentifiable capital transactions. The only item that remained, therefore, was the trade balance which should normally be settled through current sterling. The acceptance of India's proposal would mean part settlement of the trade balance in blocked sterling, which was not desirable. Mr. Nehru replied that the settlement in blocked sterling was really for unidentifiable capital transactions, the rupee holding being considered as a compensation for not having exchange control and, in view of India's extremely difficult sterling position, it was not possible to give up the principle of part settlement in blocked sterling. If the Pakistan delegation accepted this principle the Indian delegation of course, be prepared to consider a reasonable figure for the free sterling payable. Mr. Qadir, then accepted the principal of agreeing to a rupee holding limit to be considered, after which the settlement should be in free sterling without limit. He said that the existing limit of Rs.10 crores for settlement in current sterling was too low and Pakistan should not be forced to export her goods for payment in blocked sterling. Mr. Nehru then promised to consider a reasonable limit for current sterling and it was accordingly decided to continue the discussions on this point in the afternoon.

Second Meeting At 4 p.m.

Mr. Qadir referred to the discussions held in the morning and said that Pakistan was not prepared to consider any limit on settlement in current sterling and put forward the following revised proposals:—
(a) that the balance of Pakistan's India rupee holdings on 30.6.1949 must be settled in free sterling and the new agreement should be considered on an entirely new basis.

(b) indentifiable capital transactions may be settled in blocked sterling.

Mr. Nehru replied that this meant wiping out the current Agreement and therefore creation of an altogether new situation. If Pakistan insisted on the settlement of her existing India rupee balance in current sterling before considering the next Agreement, then we would ask for a moratorium similar to the one granted to Pakistan in the matter of repayment of India's debt. In any case, the existing balances of Indian rupees held by Pakistan could be paid back in current sterling only by convenient instalments to the extent that our sterling exchange position permitted, which could not be predicted till after some months. Mr. Jeejeebhoy said that there was no precedent for such a settlement of existing balances unless Pakistan intended having no fresh Agreement. This demand was a departure from the normal international practice. Mr. Qadir insisted on the settlement of the existing balance and said that the present situation had been created by India herself by imposing (a) export restrictions and (b) excise and export duties. He further stated that India was deliberately avoiding export of goods to Pakistan. For instance, in spite of several requests and reminders no cars had been exported to Pakistan since December, 1947, even against payment in dollars. He mentioned that Mr. Venkataraman, Industry and Supply Secretary of the Government of India, had written to him that there was some difficulty raised by the Central Board of Revenue regarding rebate on customs duties. Messrs. K.R.K. Menon and L.K. Jha were also stated to have agreed, at some Inter-Dominion meeting, to the export of cars to Pakistan. Similarly, India had imposed heavy excise duty on matches with the result that Pakistan was forced to purchase this commodity from other countries. The Agent's commission of 15% charged on Indian exports of cotton textiles to Pakistan was unreasonably high, the result being that Indian textiles could not compete with other foreign textiles in Pakistan. Mr. Qadir made it clear that Pakistan was really anxious to have from India more goods and not free sterling. Mr. Nehru suggested that if Pakistan was not prepared to accept a limit on the payment in free sterling the best course would be to postpone those discussions and resume them along with the talks on the Commodities Agreement next month. Mr. Nehru said that it was impossible for India to take upon herself unlimited liability and that if there was no agreement the settlement of existing rupee balances would have to take place according to international practice. Mr. Qadir suggested that Pakistan would be prepared to agree to a limit of Rs.50 crores up to which settlement could be made in current sterling. Mr. Nehru replied that it was impossible to accept such a high limit because even taking the current year's position, when India could not export goods to the extent she desired, the balance against India was of the order of Rs.19 crores. Now that the goods had started moving from India to Pakistan the next year’s limit should be of the order of, say Rs.15 crores. Mr. Qadir said that when India was purchasing cotton from Egypt by payment in current sterling there was no reason why she was not agreeable to settlement of trade balance with Pakistan in free sterling. The Pakistan delegation insisted on the current year’s balance being settled in sterling and reiterated that the new agreement could be on the basis of settlement of identifiable capital transactions through blocked sterling, the rest of the transactions being settled in current sterling, without limit. Mr. Nehru replied that the Indian delegation was not prepared to accept the position and suggested that the matter should be considered further along with the Commodities Agreement. It was decided to meet again at 11.30 a.m. on the 24th May 1949 to consider the draft of an agreed record of discussions and of a Press Note on the subject.

India’s View-Point.

India wished the existing payments agreement to continue for another year. The India representatives’ view-point, as it emerged after some discussions, was as follows:-

(a) The existing holding limit of Rs.15 crores in rupees should be carried forward to the next year.
(b) Balances of payments in excess of Rs.15 crores should be settled in free sterling up to Rs.15 crores and thereafter in blocked sterling.

(c) There should be no exchange control.

Pakistan’s View-Point.

(a) The existing balance held in rupees should be eliminated by settlement in free sterling,

(b) Identifiable capital transfers e.g. remittances of sale proceeds of evacuee property, payment on the maturity of Government securities, etc. should be adjusted through the No.2 Account.

(c) All other transactions should be settled in free sterling.

(d) There should be no exchange control.

The Pakistan representatives pointed out that both on a point of principle, as also their own exchange difficulties, payments on account of current transactions must necessarily be settled in free sterling without the imposition of any limit. This was necessary in order to enable Pakistan to go to other markets should India fail to supply goods. The Pakistan representatives emphasised that they were more interested in goods than in free sterling and urged India to liberalise her exports to Pakistan which would automatically reduce the payment to be made in free sterling.

The India representatives could not agree to the existing rupee holding being immediately liquidated in sterling as it was contrary to the normal international practice. They hold that this could only arise if there was no Payments Agreement between the two Doninions in which case the manner in which India would liquidate the rupee holdings would form a subject matter of mutual discussions. India representatives also stated that unless the existing holding limit in rupees was retained and a limit placed on the settlement in free sterling, imposition of exchange control could not be avoided, as India’s exchange position did not permit of her taking on an unlimited exchange liability.

It was felt that it would be advantageous to resume these discussions along with the talks on the Commodities Agreement between India and Pakistan, when the picture regarding the balance of payments on current account would be clearer. It was accordingly agreed that the talks regarding the payments agreement may for the present be deferred and resumed along with the talks regarding the Commodities Agreement.

3311. Agreement Supplementary to the Payments Agreement between the Governments of India and Pakistan.

As a result of the review provided for in Article X of the Agreement dated the 30th day of June, 1948 for the avoidance of unnecessary restrictions on exchange transactions and the transfer of funds and securities between the Dominion of India and the Dominion of Pakistan (hereinafter called the Principal Agreement), the Government of India and the Government of Pakistan have agreed as follows:

1. The Principal Agreement is extended for a period of one year terminating on the 30th June, 1950, subject to the modifications contained in the following paragraphs.

2. Article II of the Principal Agreement shall be omitted.

3. For Article III of the Principal Agreement the following Article shall be substituted:

   “(1) There shall be no exchange control as between India and Pakistan, nor shall any restrictions be placed on the transfer of funds or securities from one Dominion to the other, whether such transfers are on capital account or current account.

   (2) Nothing contained in the preceding paragraph shall apply in relation to the transfer of gold or silver (in whatever form) or currency and bank notes or coins between the two Dominions. Either Government may impose restrictions on such transfer, subject to such exemptions in regard to evacuee property as may be agreed upon by the two Governments.”

4. For Article IV of the Principal Agreement, the following article shall be substituted:

   “(1) The Reserve Bank of India (hereinafter referred to as “the Reserve Bank”), acting as agents of the Government of India, shall sell to the State Bank of Pakistan (hereinafter referred to as “the State Bank”), acting as agents of the Government of Pakistan, India rupees to such extent as may be required for payments which persons in Pakistan are permitted under the exchange regulations in force in Pakistan to make to India: and such sale shall be against Pakistan rupees to be credited at the official rate of exchange to the Reserve Bank’s account with the State Bank, provided that if the balance standing to the credit of that account on the last Friday of any month or the previous working day if Friday is a Bank holiday, exceeds a maximum of fifteen crores of Pakistan rupees, the excess over this amount on the said day shall be settled in the following manner:

(a) in sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the Reserve Bank’s No. 1 Account with the Bank of England, provided that if after any transfer in sterling has been made in accordance with this clause, the balance in the Reserve Bank’s Account with the State Bank on the last Friday (or the previous working day if Friday is a Bank holiday) of any month falls below fifteen crores of Pakistan rupees, there shall be re-transferred from the Reserve Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England to the State Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England sterling against payment in Pakistan rupees at the official sterling parity to the extent of such short-fall but the total amount of any such retransfers shall not exceed the total amount of sterling credited to the Reserve Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England in previous settlements under this Agreement; provided further that the net amount of sterling so transferred during the period of the present agreement shall not exceed fifteen million pounds: and

(b) thereafter in sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the Reserve Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England

(c) Provided always that if there have been any non-transfers of sterling to the Reserve Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England in terms of clause (b) of this paragraph (other than transfers under Article IV A) any retransfers of sterling in terms of clause (a) of this paragraph shall first be made from the Reserve Bank’s No.II Account but the amounts so retransferred from the Reserve Bank’s No.II Account shall not exceed the net amount credited to that account under previous settlements in terms of this paragraph.

(2) The State Bank, acting as agents of the Government of Pakistan shall sell to the Reserve Bank, acting as agents of the Government of India, Pakistan rupees to such extent as may be required for payments which persons in India are permitted under the exchange regulations in force in India to make to Pakistan; and such sale shall be against India rupees to be credited at the official rate of exchange to the State Bank’s account with the Reserve Bank, provided that if the balance standing to the credit of that account on the last Friday of any month or the previous working day if Friday is a Bank holiday, exceeds a maximum of fifteen crores of India rupees, the excess over this amount on the said day shall be settled in the following manner:—
(a) in sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the State Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England, provided that if after any transfer in sterling has been made in accordance with this clause the balance in the State Bank’s Account with the Reserve Bank on the last Friday (or the previous working day if Friday is a Bank holiday) of any months falls below fifteen cores of India rupees, there shall be retransferred from the State Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England to the Reserve Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England sterling against payment in India rupees at the official sterling parity to the extent of such shortfall but the total amount of any such retransfers shall not exceed the total amount of sterling credited to the State Bank’s No.1 Account with the Bank of England in previous settlements under this Agreement; provided further that the net amount of sterling so transferred during the period of the present agreement shall not exceed fifteen million pounds; and

(b) thereafter in sterling to be credited at the official sterling parity to the State Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England.

(c) Provided always that if there have not been any transfers of sterling to the State Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England in terms of clause (b) of this paragraph (other than transfers under Article IVA) any retransfers of sterling in terms of clause (a) of this paragraph shall first be made from the State Bank’s No.II Account but the amounts so retransferred from the State Bank’s No.II Account shall not exceed the net amount credited to the account under previous settlements in terms of this paragraph.

(3) Any Pakistan rupees held by the Reserve Bank on the 30th day of June, 1949 shall be carried forward and shall form part of the balance of Pakistan rupees to be held by the Reserve Bank in accordance with paragraph (1) and any India rupees held by the State Bank on the 30th day of June, 1949 shall be carried forward and shall form part of the balance of India rupees to be held by the State Bank in accordance with paragraph (2).

5. The following Article shall be inserted as Article IVA of the Principal Agreement:—

“(1) In effecting the settlement in sterling as required by Article IV, transfers on account of “identifiable capital transactions” between India and Pakistan which have been ascertained by the Reserve Bank and the State Bank in consultation with each other, shall be adjusted as follows:—
(i) If the net movement is an inflow of capital into India, by transfer of sterling from the State Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England to the Reserve Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England against payment in India rupees at the official sterling parity.

(ii) If the net movement is an inflow of capital into Pakistan, by transfer of sterling from the Reserve Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England to the State Bank’s No.II Account with the Bank of England against payment in Pakistan rupees at the official sterling parity.

(2) For the purpose of this Article, the expression “identifiable capital transactions” shall mean the following:—

(a) transfers of funds arising out of sales of evacuee property in accordance with the procedure to be agreed between the Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan:

(b) transfers of Provident Fund balance of evacuees as effected through the Central Organizations set up by both the Governments;

(c) the amounts paid or realized in the Dominion of India by the Government of Pakistan, the Provincial Governments in Pakistan and the State Bank, and the amounts paid or realized in the Dominion of Pakistan by the Government of India, the Provincial Governments in India and the Reserve Bank, on account of purchase or sale of Government securities and treasury bills, provided that this arrangement shall not apply to investments made in accordance with Article VIII of the Agreement;

(d) Payments made in one Dominion in respect of the discharge value of securities enfaced for payment in that Dominion on redemption of loans of the other Dominion or a Province of the other Dominion;
and

(e) any other special receipts or payments as may be agreed upon between the Governments of the two Dominions.

6. This agreement shall be deemed to have come into force on the 1st day of July, 1949, and shall remain in force for a period of one year from that date, but shall be reviewed within three months before the date of its termination.

In witness Whereof the undersigned having been duly authorized by their respective Governments have signed the present Agreement and have appended their signatures.

My dear Ambegaokar,

In connection with paragraphs 5 of the Agreement supplementary to the Payments Agreement between the Governments of India and Pakistan dated the 30th June, 1948, signed by us today in which provision has been made for adjustment in Account No. II Sterling in respect of identifiable transactions, it is the understanding of my Government that where the same result can be achieved by direct adjustment through the Sterling accounts of the Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan with the Bank of England, the Settlement will be effected by such adjustment without having recourse to payment in rupees.

I shall be grateful if you will confirm that this is also the understanding of your Governments.

Yours Sincerely

Sd/- Abdul Qadir

3312. Letter from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Finance Minister Ghulam Mohammad.

New Delhi February 1, 1950

My dear Ghulam Mohammed,

You will remember telling me that Ambegaonkar (Secretary Dept. of Economic Affairs, GOI) had said in Colombo that the Government of India might not accept the decision of the International Monetary Fund if this decision maintained the Pakistan value of the rupee at the present level. I have enquired from him as to what happened on that occasion. He tells me that the proposal made at Colombo by Sir Henry Wilson Smith (Additional Treasury Secretary Govt. of the UK) was that India should provisionally accept the rate declared by Pakistan, and Pakistan, on their side, should get a decision on the par value from the International Monetary Fund. To this, Ambegaokar replied that this proposal would not be acceptable to India for various reasons which he indicated.

You further told me that Pakistan’s ban on cloth was really due to the fact that the Government of India refused to permit Pakistan from buying cloth in India with the money they had in India. I am informed that there is no kind of restriction on the withdrawal of the rupee balance held by Pakistan. In fact, out of these balances held by Pakistan at the time of devaluation, they have already withdrawn about four crores for various expenses.

Yours sincerely,

Jawaharlal Nehru

Letter from Pakistan Ministry of Finance to the Ministry of Finance regarding allocation of Postal Insurance Policies.

Government of Pakistan
Ministry of Finance.
Office of the Financial Adviser
(Communications) Karachi,

My Dear Narayanaswami,

Will you kindly refer to your D.O.No.296-CIII(III)/50, dated 17th February 1950, to Shoaib, forwarding a copy of Mr. Rangachari’s D.O. No.5122-B/48, dated the 1st April, 1948; regarding Postal Life Insurance Policies together with its enclosures and your D.O.No.622-CIII(III)/50, dated 23rd/27th March, 1950? I agree with Mr. Rangachari’s proposal of the allocation of Postal Insurance Policies between the two Dominions in respect of Government servants being made according to the final option of the insurants as on 15th February, 1948.

2. As regards other holders of Policies who have migrated to a Dominion other than the one on whom their liability for the policies had devolved on 15th August 1947, according to the Partition Council’s decision it is felt that in view of the large scale migration on both sides even after 15th February 1948, that date will not go far enough to solve the difficulty. It is, therefore, suggested that each Dominion Government may assume liability with effect from 15th August 1947 in respect of Postal Life Insurance Policy holders in accordance with their residence on 31st March, 1949. This proposal is also being communicated to your administration through the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations in reply to Government of India, Ministry of External Affairs letter No.D.8672/49-Pak-II, dated the 25th August, 1949.

3. As a corollary to this arrangement all premia received after Partition by one Dominion will be passed on to the other assuming the final liability, the evaluation of all the policies referred to in paras. 1 and 2 above being made as on 15th August, 1947.

4. If you agree you may kindly instruct the Accountant General Simla to arrange transfer of records regarding the P.L.I. policy holders who opted for or are resident in Pakistan by Deputy Accountant General, Dacca. It may be mentioned that the lists already furnished by the Director General Posta & Telegraphs to the Deputy Accountant General Posts and Telegraphs, Calcutta in this respect will not require any items to be deleted there from and so the transfer may be affected in accordance with the data in these lists. Supplementary lists required in view of the extension of the date will be complied and forwarded by the Director General, Posts and Telegraphs shortly.

Yours sincerely

Sd/- M. Ahmed

***************

Note on the above letter in the Ministry of Finance:

Ministry of Finance
(Communications Divisions)

A large number of representations have been and are still being received by the P. & T. Department in connection with the pre-partition Post Office Savings Bank Accounts, Post Office Certificates and Postal Life Insurance Policies of displaced persons who have come away from Pakistan. The main point of these representations is that it is impossible for them to deal direct with the authorities in Pakistan and to recover their legitimate dues and that the Govt. of India should, therefore, take the responsibility of settling these claims and making the necessary adjustments with Pakistan Government subsequently on the basis of agreements between the two countries.

2. In regard to pre-partition Post Office Savings Bank accounts, the arrangement agreed to by the Partition Council in 1947 and subsequently modified at the Inter-Dominion Conference of November, 1948 is that

(a) Each country is liable for the deposits located in its territory, on 14.8.1947.

(b) For transfers, applied for up to 31.3.1948, adjustments to the extent of outstanding balances in the accounts on 14th August 1947 will be made through the debt settlement and

(c) For, transfers applied for between 1.4.1948 and, 31.3.1949 payment will be made in cash by the transferring country to the other, country.

The transfer of an account is regarded as complete once the particulars have been verified by the Post Office at which it stands registered and intimated to the Post office at which the new account is to be opened in the other country. The new accounts having been opened in this manner the depositors are allowed to operate on them independently of the process of settlement of accounts between the accounts officers of the two countries, since otherwise the agreement would not be of any significance so far as the depositors are concerned.

3. In the case of Post Office Certificates, the arrangement is

(a) that each country is liable for the certificates held in its territory on the date of separation.

(b) For transfers between the date of partition and up to the 31st March, 1948, the necessary adjustments will be made through the debt settlement and

(c) for transfers after 1.4.1948 and in respect of applications received up to 30th June, 1949, the liability will remain with the Government in whose territory the certificate was registered on the date of the partition and the Government to which the certificate may be transferred will recover the discharge value of the certificate as and when the certificates are discharged.

The procedure for the transfer of these certificates is similar to that indicated in respect of Post Office Savings Bank accounts.

4. The verification of these pre-partition Savings Bank accounts and certificates was being carried on by both the countries until recently when following devaluation Pakistan suspended verification and intimated that the verification would be resumed only after an official rate of exchange had been fixed for the two currencies. The present position therefore is that in a large number of cases where this verification has been suspended, the Savings Bank depositors and certificate holders are unable to operate on their accounts or encash their certificates. It has been suggested that in such cases payments may be allowed on the execution of an indemnity bond with two solvent sureties and on the production of the pass books or the relevant cash certifications as the case may be.

As the process of verification by itself does not ensure payment by Pakistan, and as the execution of an indemnity bond will give us sufficient protection against erroneous payment, it is for consideration whether the above suggestion should not be accepted.

5. In case of Postal Life Insurance fund the liability for the policies was taken over by the Government to whose territory the policy holder was transferred or, in whose territory the insurant was residing and paying his premium on 15.8.1947. Here again the position has been complicated by the large scale migration which took place after the Partition. It is desirable that some arrangement should be made which is mutually acceptable to both the countries and which will enable policy holders who migrated after partition to settle their claims with the Government of the country to which they have migrated.
It was suggested recently in one or two cases of this kind that payment might be allowed on the execution of an indemnity bond and the production of the life insurance policies but this suggestion was not accepted as it was thought that it would cause serious repercussions.

6. This question of P.L.I. Fund has been the subject of correspondence with Pakistan Government for some time and as early as April 1948, Mr. Rangachari sent a D.O letter to Mr. Shoaib F.A.C., Pakistan suggesting that the classification of the data for the purpose of the valuation of the fund as on 15.8.1947 should be with reference to the policy holders as on 15th February, 1948, which was the last date for the exercise of the final option. As a corollary, premiums received after 15th August 1947 by the country different from the one which accepted final responsibility for the policy in question will be transferred to the credit of the latter Government.

A reply has now been received from Mr. Mushtaq Ahmed accepting Mr. Rangachari’s proposal to allocate the policies between the two Dominions according to the final option of the insurants as on 15th February 1948. As regards the other policy holders who migrate after the partition, Mr. Mushtaq Ahmed has suggested that in view of the large scale migration even after 15th February 1948 the liability may be assumed in accordance with the residence of the policy holders on 31st March, 1949.

As a corollary to the above arrangements all premia received after partition by one country will be passed on to the other which assumed the final liability; the evaluation of all the policies will however be made as on 15th August 1947.

The proposals of the Pakistan Government are in my view reasonable and may be accepted.

Settlement of dispute with Pakistan regarding release of assets of the issue Department of the Reserve Bank.

The Joint Secretary to the Cabinet.

The Cabinet agreed that negotiations with the Pakistan Government for the Settlement of Pakistan's Claims in respect of the assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank may be started on the lines suggested in the Finance Minister's summary for the Cabinet.
Ministry of Finance
(Department of Economic)

SUMMARY FOR THE CABINET:

Settlement of dispute with Pakistan regarding the release of the assets of the Issue Dept. of the Reserve Bank.

1. The dispute which has arisen in regard to the sharing of the assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank with Pakistan was reported to Cabinet in the Summaries dated the 1st March 1949 and 16th April, 1949. In brief, India’s case was that Pakistan was entitled, under the Monetary Arrangements Order, to a share of the assets equivalent only to the India and Pakistan notes in circulation in Pakistan on 30.6.48. Pakistan, on the other hand, claimed assets in respect of all the India notes collected by her up to 30.6.49 which included a considerable portion of India notes which found their way into Pakistan after the date of currency separation.

2. Though officially Pakistan has stuck to her contention, she has given indications in informal talks that she would be prepared to settle the matter on an equitable basis. On India’s side, though our stand is legally correct, it is realized that as there is no means of distinguishing between the notes which were in circulation in Pakistan on 30.6.48 and those which went into Pakistan subsequently, the only way of settling the dispute is to accept a reasonable figure as the amount of currency in circulation in Pakistan. The total amount of Pakistan and India notes collected by Pakistan up to 30.6.49 was Rs.176.67 crores, out of which assets in respect of Rs. 127.66 crores have been released up to March 1949. The Proposal which has emerged as a result of informal talks is that out of the outstanding amount of Rs.49.01 crores, half should be held eligible for assets and the remaining half should be treated as foreign exchange by Pakistan. This would mean that out of a total circulation of currency amounting to about Rs. 1,275 crores on 30.6.48, an amount of Rs. 152.27 crores will be treated as currency, in circulation in Pakistan. This comes to about 12% and seems to be a reasonable proportion. As already stated, it is impossible now to assess the exact amount.

3. If India agrees to settlement on the above basis, she will save gold worth about Rs. 80 lacs at statutory price and, in addition, a little over double this amount represented by the difference between the statutory price and the market price of gold. Pakistan’s share in the profits of the Reserve Bank for the year ended June 30, 1948, and the surplus assets of the Reserve Bank of that date will also be reduced by about Rs. 60 lacs since this is also determined on the basis of the note ratio fraction. On the other hand, the possible disadvantage in agreeing to treat the balance of Rs.24.5 crores as foreign exchange is that this might give Pakistan a ground, under the old payments Agreement, for claiming payment of a portion of this in current sterling. - and this seems to be the main reason, which has induced Pakistan to accept this compromise, - where as if they were treated as counting for assets, Pakistan would get a proportionate share of blocked sterling only. It should be possible however, for India to take the line that the claim for payment can be considered as having arisen only on the date the decision regarding the settlement of assets is taken and since the Payment Agreement is no longer operative, Pakistan is entitled only to get credit for the amount in India rupees.

4. Pakistan has given considerable publicity to the fact that India has withheld the release of the assets against Rs.49 crores of India notes, and she has been urging for an early settlement of this matter. Though we were justified in refusing to give the assets so long as Pakistan claimed assets in respect of all notes collected by her, there is no valid ground for continuing to withhold them after she has accepted our stand and is prepared to settle on that basis. Pakistan’s claim in this respect is based on the provision of the Monetary Arrangements Order and cannot be linked up with other claims we have against Pakistan. Against such claims we shall have the balance under the Payments Agreement amounting to about Rs.20 crores and also the further amount of Rs.24.5 crores which would be treated as foreign exchange collected by Pakistan. In any case, the fact that we have other claims on Pakistan cannot justify our withholding from the state Bank of Pakistan the assets against the currency liability taken over by it and depriving it of the income from such assets.

5. It is therefore proposed that negotiations may be conducted for a settlement on the basis suggested above. It is proposed, however, to take up at the same time the following connected issues:

(i) Under the provisions of the Monetary Order, Pakistan has assumed liability for India one rupee notes in circulation in Pakistan. After the 30th June 1948, the Pakistan State Bank has exchanged India one rupee notes for Rs.3,96,30,750 but it is contended that Pakistan is liable to return to the Government of India, without payment, only Rs.2,70,65,999 on the ground that the liability for India one rupee notes in circulation in Pakistan on the 1st July 1948 is to be assessed finally as equal to the Pakistan one rupee notes in issue on that date. This contention is not valid because under the order Pakistan is required to return all one rupee India notes to us. The Pakistan State Bank is also refusing to deliver to the Government of India, without Payment, India rupee notes for Rs.3,31,92,426 in the Pakistan’s Surplus Stock account which represents merely note from for which no Payment can be made. Furthers, there is evidence to show that considerable amounts of Pakistan one rupee notes have been passed on into India from Pakistan after the date of currency separation and have thus become the liability of India. It is proposed that as a condition of the settlement of the question of assets of the Issue Department, Pakistan should be asked to hand over all the one rupee India notes in her possession and also to give credit for an amount which would compensate India for the India rupee notes which have come over from Pakistan, and became her liability. This amount cannot be exactly determined and must be a matter of negotiation. India’s representatives should try to get Pakistan to accept liability for Rs.2 crores on this account which seems to be a reasonable amount but they should be permitted to agree to such lower figure as may be necessary during negotiations.

(ii) A payment of £12.28 million is due from Pakistan in respect of Defence Stores. Pakistan has refused to pay this amount on the ground that the price of the stores has not been correctly assessed. If all the sterling to which Pakistan is entitled in respect of the assets of the Reserve Bank is handed over, we shall have no means of recovering this amount. It is, therefore proposed that as condition of settlement we should ask for to set off an amount equal to at least 90 percent of the value of the Defence Stores transferred to her. This will amount to about £11 millions.

(iii) Pakistan is, under the Partition Agreement, entitled to 17 ½ % (£1.31 million) in the outstanding balance of £7.5 million in the silver Redemption Reserve which is at present held in the U.K. It is proposed that we should agree to allow for an adjustment of this amount in the settlement of the Sterling part of the assets.

(iv) There is also a further dispute in regard to the interest on sterling and rupee securities which would fall to the share of Pakistan. Pakistan has contended that she is entitled to the interest from 1.7.48. even though the securities themselves did not become liable to be delivered until Pakistan had delivered the corresponding rupee notes. Though we have not so far agreed to this, Pakistan’s contention is tenable; and it is proposed that as a set off against this amount, we should ask to be reimbursed the incidental charges incurred by the Reserve Bank and certain dues which were left unadjusted when the accounts for the year 1947-48 were rendered.

6. The object of this note is to obtain Cabinet approval for opening talks on the above lines for the settlement of Pakistan’s claims in respect of the Issue Department Assets. It is unlikely that a settlement would be arrived at immediately since some of our demands would not be readily accepted by Pakistan and it may take months before agreement is reached. It is, however, necessary in view of the pressing demands by Pakistan that the Finance Ministry should be authorized to start negotiation and given directions in regard to the lines on which to conduct them.

7. The Deputy Governor, Reserve Bank, the Partition Secretariat and the External Affairs Ministry are in agreement with these proposals which have been approved by H.M. Finance. Cabinet’s approval is solicited.

3315. Minutes of the Secretaries’ Committee meeting held on Wednesday the 2nd August, 1950 in the Ministry of External Affairs, under the Chairmanship of S. Dutt, Secretary (Commonwealth Relations) to decide on the agenda items for the next India – Pakistan Conference on Financial Settlement.

New Delhi, August 2, 1950

The following were present:

1) Mr. S. Dutt, Secretary (CR) Ministry of External Affairs, (Chairman).
2) Mr. C.N. Chandra, Secretary, Ministry of Rehabilitation.
3) Mr. C.C. Desai, Secretary, Ministry of Commerce.
4) Mr. B.B. Ghosh, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Defence.
6) Mr. M.V. Rangachari, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance.
7) Mr. S.K. Banerji, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs.
8) Mr. B.B. Saksena, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Industry & Supply.
9) Mr. N.C. Deb, Director, Finance (Budget), Ministry of Railways (Railway Board).
10) Mr. B.S. Bhatnagar, Under Secretary, Partition Secretariat.

2. The list of items suggested by Pakistan (List I) and the list of items suggested by ourselves (List II) were scrutinized. It was felt that as both the lists are very long an attempt should be made to select important items out of both lists which should be given priority for discussion at the next Indo-Pakistan Conference. It was decided that the following items out of the two lists should be selected for this purpose, and Pakistan informed. If Pakistan insists on the discussion of all their items, we shall have to agree.

List I (Items suggested by Pakistan):

1. Transfer of divisible assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank of India, to the State Bank of Pakistan.
2. Treatment of Rupee balances held by the State Bank of Pakistan with the Reserve Bank of India.
3. Transfer of interest on the Government of India and sterling securities falling to the share of the State Bank of Pakistan out of the divisible assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank of India.
4. Division of the profits of the Reserve Bank.
4A. Financial settlement and other financial issues outstanding between East and West Bengal.
6. Claims of Provincial Governments and local bodies in Pakistan against the Government of India.
7. Non-receipt of Pakistan's share of warlike stores and equipment.
8. Non-receipt of Jerrican factory.
9. Payment by India for unique institutions.
10. Payment by India of claims of Contractors, etc., in Pakistan relating the pre-Partition period.
11. Division of Silver Redemption Reserve Fund.

List II. (Items suggested by India).

1. Financial settlement arising out of the decision reached regarding claims of Provincial Government servants and employees of local bodies and States to provident fund and pensions.
2. Delay in reimbursement of sterling pensions, etc. paid by the High Commissioner for India in London and recoverable from the Pakistan Government.
3. Return of deposits and refund of revenue.
5. Payment for Military Stores.
6. Payment to India of Sale proceeds realised in Pakistan from disposal of Surplus His Majesty's Government Stores.
7. Arrear payment pertaining to the Plan Period -- Payment by Pakistan of the amount received by her from United Kingdom on this account.
8. Claims for stocks of iron and steel abandoned by Iron and Steel stock holders in Punjab (P) at the time of partition.
9. Settlement of pending claims relating to pre-partition sales of surplus stores to persons, who have since migrated to India.
10. Export licenses for machine tools lying at Karachi imported by the Government of India before partition for certain parties of Indian Union against indents placed abroad by the Machine Tool Controller.
11. Delay in making payment by Pakistan authorities of contractors/suppliers’ bills in cases where supplies have been effected to consignees in Pakistan in the post-partition period against pre-partition contracts.
12. Rs. 2.27 crores outstanding against Pakistan on account of imported wheat etc. supplied to Pakistan and supplies made under the scheme for joint procurement of foodstuffs for the armed forces.
14. Non-settlement by the Pakistan Railways of pre-partition claims for refund of fares, freight (including rebates) etc., relating to what is now exclusively the Dominion of Pakistan.
15. Notices issued by the Collectors of Lyallpur and Shahpur Districts calling upon non-Muslim evacuees to show cause why the building sites purchased by them in certain colony districts in Punjab (P) should not be resumed by the Punjab (P) Government and the purchase price forfeited.
16. Payment by Punjab (P) to Punjab (I) of the latter’s share of the amount of purchase price of Crown lands in colonies payable by instalments after partition in accordance with the award of the Arbitral Tribunal.
17. Overall financial settlement between the two Punjabs.
18. Third parties’ claims payable by Punjab (P).
19. Transfer of pre-partition pensions of migrants from one province to the other.
3. It was decided that those ministries which have not already sent their briefs in a form which can be communicated without alteration to the Pakistan Government should immediately amend their briefs and send them to the Ministry of Externals Affairs, as our briefs have to be sent to the Pakistan Government by the 10th August.

4. It was decided that, as far as possible, an attempt should be made at the simultaneous exchange of briefs on both sides on a fixed date.

ANNEXURE

Note on the financial settlement agreed to between India and Pakistan as a result of the Partition of British India.

Before the partition of India which became effective as from 15th August 1947, all German enemy assets as well as enemy assets other than German which were then held vested in India were vested in a Custodian functioning as the Custodian of Enemy Property for the whole of undivided India. Immediately before the date of the partition, German enemy assets vested in the Custodian within the frontiers of undivided India were accounted for as follows:—

(a) Assets in liquid form held as cash balance of the Custodian with the Reserve Bank of India at Bombay
   Rs. 3,07,79,500

(b) Other assets
   Rs. 8,99,500

2. The assets mentioned at (a) above in fact represented the Sale or disposal proceeds of assets which had already been received by the Custodian from various sources, including sources which are now located in Pakistan. The whole of this amount was held in Bombay with the Reserve Bank of India but the amount had merged in the cash balances of the Government of undivided India. The share of the two successor Governments in this went to them along with their share of the cash balances of the undivided Government when this balance was divided.

3. At the time of partition the following agreements were reached in regard to the allocation of reparation asses between India and Pakistan:—
1. The Government of Pakistan should assume full responsibility for the administration of vested enemy assets in their area as from the date of partition. (Appendix-A)

2. The share of reparations allotted to undivided India should be divided between India and Pakistan in the same proportion as the uncovered debt of the undivided Government of India is allocated. (Appendix-B)

3. Pakistan's share of the uncovered debt will be 17½ per cent. (Appendix-C)

4. By a decision of the Partition Council taken on the 1st December 1947, it was agreed that the cash balances of the undivided Government should be divided as follows:

   “In addition to the 20 crores already made over to Pakistan, 55 crores will be allocated to Pakistan in full and final settlement of its claim for a share of the undivided Government's cash balance and of the cash balance investment account”.

As the cash balances of the Custodian of Enemy Property were held merged in the Cash balance of the Government of undivided India, the whole amount of Rs.3,07,79,500 mentioned at (a) in paragraph 1 above was taken into account in the financial settlement referred to above. The share of the Government of Pakistan in that amount of Rs.3,07,79,500 at the agreed rate of 17½% was Rs.53,86,400 and it was implicit in the financial settlement that the equivalent of the credit due to Pakistan in respect of her share in the amount of Rs.3,07,79,500 was duly adjusted in the various transactions that took place within the framework of that settlement.

5. In regard to assets other than those in liquid form, which have been shown at Rs.8,99,500 at (b) in paragraph 1, the relative decision mentioned in paragraph 3 above required that such assets should be divided according to the test of their actual physical location. It was in due course verified that such of these assets as fell to be taken over by the Custodian of Pakistan accounted for a total of Rs.44,400. These items were accordingly released from the control of the Indian Custodian and vested in the Pakistan Custodian by appropriate notifications issued by the Governments on various dates between August and December 1948.

6. The net position, therefore, was that in the process of the division of the cash balances of the Government of undivided India, the Government of Pakistan had in fact been placed in a position to obtain as her share of the German assets in liquid form credits accounting for a total of Rs.53,86,400. When a pro-forma separation of the relative shares of India and Pakistan in the net chargeable value of German enemy assets was made on the basis of the valuation details given in the joint replies of the two Governments to the Fifth Annual Questionnaire of the IARA, it was established by a due process of valuation that Pakistan was entitled to receive as her share of those assets only an aggregate amount of Rs. 41,61,040, including an allocation of Rs. 41,46,300 as her share in assets in liquid form. As against this, a scrutiny of the accounts of payments received by the Indian Custodian of undivided India up to the date of the partition revealed that as on that date only an amount of Rs. 6,88,500 could be identified as amount due to funds which had originated from sources which are at present located in Pakistan. This particular situation was mainly due to the fact that practically all the important German enemy firms accounting for the bulk of the German assets in India were located at the two major ports of Bombay and Calcutta, which are now included in the Union of India.

(2) Office of Controller of Enemy Trading and Enemy Firms and the Custodian of Enemy Property.

We recommend that on the date of separation the Government of Pakistan should assume responsibility for the administration of vested enemy assets in their area. For this purpose they should enact legislation on the lines of the Trading with the Enemy (continuance of the Emergency Provisions) Act, 1947.

Provisional allocation between the Dominions of Reparation Assets

Note of the Steering Committee

The Partition Council have approved an agreement between the Commerce Department (Pakistan) and the Commerce Department (India) that the share of reparations allotted to the undivided India should be divided between the Dominions of India and Pakistan in the same proportion as the uncovered debt of the undivided Government of India is allocated.

No decision on the proportion in which the uncovered debt is to be allocated has yet been reached and this is one of the first issues that is being referred to the Arbitral Tribunal. It is reasonable to assume that the decision of the Tribunal will be available in about two months.

3. Pending the decision of the Tribunal, it would be convenient to take a provisional decision on the share of India and Pakistan, leaving the necessary adjustments to be made later when the decision of the Tribunal is available. The Steering Committee recommend that the proportion may be provisionally fixed as 4 to 1 in favour of India, or in other that Pakistan's share will be 20% of the total.

Extract from the Minutes of the meeting of the Partition Council held on Wednesday, the 29th October, 1947

Case No. PC/189/19/47 Proposed provisional allocation between the two Dominions of the share in reparation allotted to India

The Partition Council approved that reparations allotted to India should be shared provisionally by the two Dominions on the basis recommended by the Steering Committee.

Appendix C

Extract from the Minutes of the Partition Council meeting held on 1st December 1947.

Case No.P.C./200/20/47

(a) Financial settlement between India and Pakistan
(b) Allocation of a Cash Balance to Pakistan
(c) Pakistan’s share of the excess of liabilities over assets

The financial settlement with Pakistan will be on the basis set out in paragraph 3 of the paper constituting item 8 of the agenda for the Partition Council, subject to any specific agreement reached on matters affecting the financial settlement.

2. The entire public debt outstanding on the 14th August 1947, including undated debt, will be valued in the manner set out in paragraph 5 of that paper with the modification that the rate of interest will be rounded off to the nearest one eighth of one per cent.

3. The answers to the questions in paragraph 6 of the paper are—

(a) The rate of interest should be determined on the average yield over a period of two years preceding the date of Partition of the rupee and sterling securities with an unexpired currency of 15 years of over rounded to the nearest one eighth of one per cent.

(b) The instalment would be payable on the 15th of August of each year but no instalment will be payable for the first four years from the date of partition (i.e. in 1948, 1949, 1950, and 1951)

(c) The total debt will be repaid in Indian rupees in 50 annual equated instalments for principal and interest combined, the last instalment being payable on the 15th of August 2001 A.D.

4. Pakistan’s share of the uncovered debt (referred to in para 3(c) of the agenda) will be 17½ per cent.

5. The percentage mentioned in para 4 above will apply in all cases, such as the liability for pensions, the allocation of reparations, the allocation of the sale proceeds of surplus stores, etc. in which it has been agreed by the Partition Council that an asset or liability should be divided in the ratio of the uncovered debt.

6. In addition to the 20 crores already made over to Pakistan, 55 crores will be allocated to Pakistan in full and final settlement of its claim for a share of the undivided Government’s cash balance and of the cash balance Investment account.

 ITEM No.8
 Financial Settlement between India and Pakistan
 (Note by India)

Para 9 of the India Independence (Right, Property and Liability) Order 1947, has placed on the Indian Dominion liability for such loans, guarantees and other financial obligations of the Governor-General-in-Council as were outstanding at the time of the partition subject, under para 13 (2) ibid, to Pakistan paying a just and equitable contribution as may be agreed upon and in the absence of agreement determined by the Arbitral Tribunal.

2. The provisions in the order set out above supersedes all the discussions in the Expert Committee and the final settlement with Pakistan will now take the form of an inter-State debt by that Dominion to India. It is now necessary to decide the lines on which this debt should be repaid.

3. Pakistan's final debt will be made up of —

   (a) the value of physical assets taken over by it because they lie in Pakistan territory or (as in the case of movable stores) their allocation has been agreed on between the two Governments; plus

   (b) the financial assets taken over by it such as the cash balance allocated to it, and the miscellaneous assets such as outstanding loans assigned to it; plus

   (c) its share of the net excess of liabilities including the liability for pensions over assets compendiously described as the "uncovered debt"; less

   (d) the value of liabilities taken over by it such as the liability for Postal Cash Certificates and Postal Savings Bank deposits outstanding in that Dominion on the date of separation, the provident fund balances of Government servants transferred to Pakistan etc.

4. There has been agreement over a fairly wide field in the allocation of assets and liabilities except that the method of valuing the railway assets taken over by Pakistan, the cash balance to be allotted to Pakistan and the relative shares of the two Dominions in the uncovered debt are being referred to arbitration. There has also been no agreement on the method of discharging the liability for pensions and this is being put up separately for decision by the Partition Council. A decision on all these points, whether by agreement or by arbitration, will only effect the amount of the debt and will not determine the method by which it will be repaid.

5. There is however one point affecting the quantum of debt on which the decision of the Partition Council is required, viz., the method of valuing the public debt for the purpose of the financial settlement. In the case of Burma the present value of the liability for principal and interest was calculated taking into account the interest payments, discounts, the date of redemption etc. The rate of interest was based on the average yield over the preceding 2 years of loans with a currency of 15 years and over rounded to the nearest quarter per cent. This procedure, it is suggested, should be adopted in the present case. For this valuation, non-dated loans may be taken as repayable on the earliest date on which the option to repay becomes available to Government. As a matter of convenience for all such loans 1986, the date on which option in respect of the bulk of the undated loan becomes available, may be taken.

6. It is presumed that Pakistan will repay to India its share of the liability, which is obviously to be discharged in Indian rupees, in a certain number of equated instalments for principal and interest combined. The decision of the Partition Council is now required on the following matters:—

1. The rate of interest that should be adopted. It is suggested that the rate of interest should be not less than the average rate paid by the Government of India on its present outstanding public debt but should approximate to this.

2. The date from which the annual Instalments of payment should begin.

3. The number of annual equated instalments. In the case of Burma, on separation, it was decided that repayment should be in 45 instalments. The first payment started in 1937 itself. In the recent Treaty between Burma and U.K. Government, the period of payment is fixed at 20 years.

3316. Letter from Ministry of Rehabilitation to Ministry of Finance and Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, August 27, 1950.

Government of India.
Minister of Rehabilitation

My dear Kamat,

Will you please refer to your letter No.2391-EPVII/50 Dated 24th August, 1950, regarding exchange of Pakistan Currency brought in by refugees from East Bengal. We have given thought to the difficulties mentioned by you in continuing the exchange concession, but, nevertheless, we feel that there is no alternative for us but to continue it so long as the present exodus continues.

2. We are not aware why the Government of Pakistan decline to take over Pakistan notes in excess of Rs.69.87 lakhs. Sub para (ii) of para B of the prime Ministers agreement provides that a sum of Rs. 150/- may be taken by each adult migrant and Rs. 75/- by each migrant child to the other country as a part of movable personal effects. Though the Agreement does not mention in what currency the amount should be taken and what should be the method of future disposal of that currency, it is quite obvious that under the facilities given to migrants in the Agreement only the currency of the country from which the migration takes place can be taken, and to be of any use to migrant at all, arrangements must be made for the exchange for such currency. For the proper implementation of the Minorities Agreement it is only logical to conclude that each Government will have to help the other Government by taking over its currency accumulated in the territories of the other, as a result of the migration facilities allowed. I would, therefore, suggest that the matter may be taken up once again at high level with the Government of Pakistan. Meanwhile instead of unlimited exchange we may restrict it to the limits proscribed in the Agreement.

Yours sincerely

(C.N. Chandra)

3317. TOP SECRET

Letter from Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs S. Dutt to High Commissioner in Pakistan and Deputy High Commissioners in Lahore and Dacca.

New Delhi, September 1, 1950.

Government of India
Ministry of External Affairs.

D.O. No.733/50-S New Delhi, 1st September, 1950

Dear Dr. Sita Ram/, Shri Y. K. Puri /Shri S.K. Basu,

Pakistan currency worth about Rs. 92 lakhs has now accumulated with the Reserve Bank of India. A large part of this currency has been brought by refugees from East Pakistan who, under the April Agreement, are entitled to bring cash with them into India at the rate of Rs.150/- per adult and Rs. 75/- per child. The Government of Pakistan are now making it difficult for us to transfer to them the accumulated Pakistan currency. They have agreed to take over Rs.25 lakhs unconditionally and 34 lakhs they have offered to accept subject to certain conditions which we find difficult to accept and the balance they have flatly refused to take over. At the same time, some of the Pakistan currency is likely to cease to be legal tender in a short time. The question of the disposal of the currency now held by us is, therefore, a matter of utmost urgency.

2. We have reason to believe that Pakistan authorities use their diplomatic bag service for the transfer of jewellery and currency from India. This is against diplomatic practice, but in order to save themselves from loss and in the process to cause loss to the Government of India, Pakistan has not hesitated to adopt this improper practice. It has been suggested to us that we adopt similar means to transfer Pakistan currency now in our stock to our High Commissioner in Karachi and the Deputy High Commissioners in Dacca and Lahore. They can utilize the money thus remitted for financing their respective offices. Part of the money they can also deposit in their accounts in the local banks. It is appreciated, of course, that if large deposits are made on any particular day, that fact itself may rouse suspicion among the local authorities. At the same time, it might be argued, particularly in respect of the Deputy High Commissioner’s office in Dacca, that members of the minority community intending to migrate to India had deposited their cash reserves with the Deputy High commissioner. Would you kindly let me know (i) how much Pakistan currency you could either utilize for your office or unobtrusively deposit in your account in Pakistan every month, (ii) and how often, and (iii) in how many installments you would like the total amount that you could dispose of in the manner indicated to be transmitted to you. The procedure of transmission will have to be devised carefully. Adequate safeguards will also have to be devised for the safe custody of the money in your office until it is either disbursed or deposited in the Bank. If you have got any suggestions to make in this regard, kindly let me have them.

3. Please treat this matter as urgent. I shall be grateful if this letter is kept in your personal custody.

Yours sincerely

Sd.(S. Dutt)
Letter from Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan Khub Chand to Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs S. Dutt.

High Commissioner for India
Damodar Mahal Karachi-5

D.O. No. 1/DHC/50. 7th September 1950.

My dear Dutt,

Will you please refer to your demi-official letter No.733/50-S dated the 1st September,1950, to the High Commissioner?

2. In view of the attitude adopted by the Pakistan Government over the question of currency brought by Hindu refugees from East Pakistan and the suspicion that the Pakistan authorities use their diplomatic bag service for transfer of jewellery and currency from India, we need have no compunction in transferring at least a part of our surplus Pakistan currency to meet the requirement of this Mission in Karachi.

3. It is clearly impossible, without serious risk of detection by the Pakistan Government, to make deposits, even in installments, with our bankers in Karachi. You will observe from the enclosed copy of letter No. SBP/RET dated the 26th August, 1950, from the Imperial Bank of India, Karachi (with enclosure) (not reproduced here) that the State Bank of Pakistan has, in exercise of powers vested under the Banking Companies (Control) Act of 1948, already been apprised of the position regarding the accounts of Foreign Missions, including the Indian High Commission. Expenditure has, particularly since devaluation, been incurred largely from credits afforded in Pakistan rupees by the Imperial Bank of India. Any deposits, particularly if they happen to be substantial, will not escape the notice of the State Bank of Pakistan and the Pakistan Government will not hesitate to charge India with undiplomatic conduct.

4. We appreciate, however, that ways and means must be found for utilizing the Pakistan currency you hold. We cannot depend on the Pakistan Government coming to an early settlement of the question of deposits of East Pakistan refugees acceptable to India. We suggest, therefore, that, your surplus Pakistan currency be utilized as follows:-

(a) The normal monthly expenditure of the High Commission in Karachi is Rs.45--50,000/-. We can immediately reduce our drawls from the Imperial Bank to Rs.15—20,000/- a month without arousing suspicion. The balance, representing mainly the pay and allowances of the junior staff and contingent expenditure of the High Commission, can be met out of your cash remittances.

(b) Passage and other expenditure on non-Muslim refugees and other entitled personnel can be met in Pakistan currency as the steam-ship companies concerned have branches in Karachi where payment might be accepted by them.

(c) Whatever the temporary financial difficulties of Government, there is no escape eventually from the provision of suitable residential accommodation for the Deputy High Commissioner and the India-based staff, as also of accommodation for offices of the High Commission. The Deputy High Commissioner has considerable diplomatic and other obligations and a suitable house is available, at a cost of Rs.2½-3 lakhs, in close proximity to the residence recently secured at a cost of Rs. 4,10,000/- for the High Commissioner. We have nine other married officers of whom six can be accommodated in the two other buildings which have recently been purchased at a cost of Rs.5 lakhs. As regards the ministerial staff, it is unsatisfactory for their morale not to provide suitable accommodation. At present barely two Clerks are provided with married accommodation and that too in the Swami Narain Temple, which is mainly used as a transit camp for refugees etc. The other Clerks, most of whom are married, live in the Chidakashi Mandir, which is run as a hostel for them, and have been separated from their families throughout the period of their stay in Karachi. At a cost of Rs.6 — 8 lakhs suitable buildings could be secured to accommodate 20 married and 10 unmarried members of the ministerial staff. Apart from this, this the High Commission requires a permanent office, with scope for future expansion, in keeping with the importance to India of this Mission. Such a building could be provided with lines for the inferior staff at a cost of about Rs.6 lakhs. In this way about Rs. 14½ — 17 lakhs could be utilized. There is reason to doubt that delay in purchasing accommodation in Karachi is false economy as the prevailing rents are uneconomic and the cost of sites and buildings is mounting up rapidly. Direct expenditure by the Mission on Government account is unlikely to arouse suspicion or comment as we can assert that we keep a large reserve with the Mission to meet emergent expenditure.

5. We have considered the possibility of purchasing gold but there are no substantial Hindu dealers while Muslim dealers cannot be relied upon. We gather that Pakistan currency is in demand in Kabul. Perhaps you will consider the possibility of disposing of a part of your surplus with the help of our Mission in Afghanistan.

6. If you accept the proposals made in paragraph 4 above, we could accept remittance of Rs.15 -- 20 lakhs over next three months to be received in monthly or other convenient installments. The amount will be kept in a separate Mission safe under double lock, the keys being held by the High Commissioner and the First secretary, who normally handles the finances of the Mission. The amount should be sent by diplomatic bag on a reliable Indian operated aircraft. An officer should keep a watchful eye on the bags while in transit although he should not be styled officially as courier.

7. As desired by you, this correspondence is being kept in the personal custody of the High Commissioner.

Yours sincerely

Shri S. Dutt, I.C.S.,

Ministry of External Affairs,
New Delhi.
I give below my replies to your queries under items (i), (ii) and (iii) of para 2 of your letter:

(i) our average monthly expenditure since January 1950 has been Rs. 33,500/-. We can, therefore, expect to utilize this amount per month.

(ii) I suggest that instead of making deposits in instalments, our 12 months’ requirement with some additional margins totaling Rs. 5 lakhs may be deposited in our account at a time. My reason is that making deposits in instalments, may raise questions every time we make such deposits. This may be avoided if our entire 12 months’ requirement amounting roughly to about Rs.5 lakhs be deposited in one instalment in our accounts. Some sort of explanation may be devised and kept ready for any casual questions that may be put. We shall think out a plausible explanation.

(iii) In one single instalment of Rs. 5 lakhs and if that be not possible, in five or six weekly instalments. Safe custody in our office will be ensured pending deposit in our accounts.

As regards transmission to us, with a view to ensuring safety a responsible officer from this Mission may personally bring the bag from Calcutta.

Yours sincerely,

Letter from Deputy High Commissioner in Pakistan at Lahore to Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs S. Dutt.

Lahore, September 25, 1950.

Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan
144, Upper Mall, Lahore

No. TS.50/2 September 28, 1950

Dear Mr. Dutt,

Please refer to your D.O. No. 733/50-S of 1st September, 1950 with regard to Pakistan currency accumulated with the Reserve Bank of India. I am sorry that owing to other preoccupations I could not again call on you and resume discussion of this matter.

2. At present we have a loan account with the Imperial Bank of India Lahore and roughly speaking our account with the Bank is over-drawn by about Rs. 2,50,000/-, on which we are paying a considerable amount as interest. The monthly expenditure of the Mission in Pakistan Currency amounts to about Rs. 20,000/- In addition we finance the East Punjab police, the War Pensions Appeal Tribunal, the Organization for Recovery of Abducted Women, and a number of other Government of India and Punjab (India) representatives. The total monthly expenditure on these varies from Rs. 15,000/- to Rs. 20,000/-. A great deal of this expenditure is dispersed in cash which has to be drawn from the Imperial Bank. It would be possible for us to meet the major portion of the expenditure from Pakistan currency held by us in cash. In addition we make into the Bank deposits from various items of receipt such as income from our service, visa fees, amounts realized from evacuee property work and so on. We have found by previous experience that if we deposit a large round sum in the Bank exceeding Rs. 50,000/-, there is some small talk about it among the bank employees, but that if odd sums amounting to as large as Rs. 15, 000 to Rs. 20,000/- are deposited there is no comment. It is true that the Government of Pakistan can at any time call on the Imperial Bank of India to furnish them details of our bank account and can, therefore, come to know that our deposits have been greater than our withdrawals, but I do not see that they can call upon us to explain this fact. They do know that we keep taking money in connection with work of evacuation of property and if need be we can explain that under the recent Indo-Pakistan movable property agreement we have been receiving considerable funds on account of evacuees which we cannot transmit to India because of the exchange deadlock. My advice would, therefore, be, so far as Lahore office is. Concerned that:-
(i) A sum of Rs. 2,00,000/- may be kept here in cash to defray the expenses of this office and of the other Government of India or Punjab (India) offices or agencies.

(ii) A further sum of Rs. 4,00,000/- should be gradually deposited in our account with the Imperial Bank of India so as to wipe out the deficit and to provide a credit balance of Rs. 1,50,000/-

3. You have mentioned certain currency which is no longer legal tender in Pakistan but which is accepted at present by the State Bank of Pakistan which it may cease to do after some time. I take it that these are old Reserve Bank of India notes over-printed with the word “Pakistan”. Such notes are being brought at present to us by evacuees from the Frontier States and from Azad Kashmir and we regularly cashing them at the State Bank of Pakistan without any question being raised. These amounts naturally vary and we shall have no difficulty in increasing these amount to the extent necessary. I would, therefore, suggest that if the Government of India adopt the suggestion under consideration Rs.1,00,000/- worth of such notes may be sent to me which I shall exchange gradually from the State Bank of Pakistan.

4. At present owing to the excess of exports from Pakistan over imports from India Pakistan currency is required by Indian traders in Punjab (India) to finance the excess imports from Pakistan. They are having considerable difficulty in finding this currency. If the Government of India agree to such a course it would be possible for me, unobtrusively to pay out Pakistan currency in cash at Lahore and obtain in exchange India currency at Amritsar. The actual deficit across the borders is of the magnitude of Rs. five to six crores, but so far as I am concerned, the first need is of secrecy and, therefore, the amount I can so dispose of in the manner suggested must be limited to what I can do without any leakage. For the present I think I can manage about Rs.3,00,000/-this way plus the Rs.1,00,000/- I shall have obtained by exchanging non-current Pakistan notes for current Pakistan notes. In all, therefore, I can deal with Rs.10,00,000/-. I need not, of course mention that the amount I have mentioned is that which I hope to be able to deal with the necessary amount of secrecy and discretion.

5. I will now await the decision of the Government of India in this matter. If the decision is to accept these suggestions under consideration, arrangements may be made to transmit the Rs. 10,00,000/-i.e Rs 9,00,000/- in current notes and Rs.1,00,000/- in non-current notes to me. Personally I think that instead of entrusting large amounts to the Diplomatic Bag it would be better if the notes were delivered to me in installments at Delhi or Amritsar and I am allowed to make my own arrangement for bringing them to Lahore.
6. Certain incidental points will arise. The first question is the safety of the cash amount kept at Lahore. While I cannot accept personal responsibility for such large sums of money being kept in my personal custody, I think that the safest plan would be to keep the money in a special safe in my own residence. I can assure the Government that in that case the risks of ordinary theft, fire etc. would be nonexistent. As the matter is top secret the accounts would be kept in my personal office. The cash amounts will be kept with me as in a currency chest in a treasury and as and when any cash amount are taken out for expenditure or as and when they are returned to the Government of India in the shape of Indian money, the A.G.C.R. will be advised accordingly and the amount adjusted as happens in cases of transfer from a currency chest to a treasury.

7. In regard to the question of installments I should like the Rs. 1,00,000/- of non-current notes and Rs. 3,00,000/- of current notes to be sent to me immediately. This should be followed by two installments of Rs. 3,00,000/- each to be sent to me on requisition by me for which I would give roughly one month’s notice.

Yours sincerely

Shri S. Dutt, I.C.S.,
Secretary to the Government of India,
Ministry of External Affairs,
New Delhi.

The letter was marked by Shri S. Dutt to Secretary Ministry of Finance, Department of Economic Affairs for his information, who returned the letter to Shri Dutt with the following Note.

Returned with thanks.

2. Out of nearly Rs. 92 lakhs of Pakistan currency accumulated with us, we have already sent Rs. 25 lakhs across to Dacca. The Reserve Bank expects to receive credit for this amount very shortly. It is proposed that as soon as the Reserve Bank’s account is credited, a part of this amount should be utilised for the repayment of the over- drafts taken by High Commissioners offices in Pakistan from the Imperial Bank so as to save on interest charges. The E.A. Ministry are being asked separately to communicate this to the High commissioners’ offices.
3. As for the balance of our accumulations of Pakistan currency, we have written to the State Bank of Pakistan urging on them to accept the entire balance. This letter was issued last week and will be sometime before we get any reply. I agree that no further action need be taken on the attached letter till we get a reply to our letter to the State Bank of Pakistan.

4. While the consignment of Rs. 25 lakhs sent to Dacca included as much as possible of the Pakistan currency which has ceased or which is shortly to cease as legal tender in Pakistan, we still have Rs. 60,000/- in one rupee notes which, it is understood, will shortly cease to be legal tender in Pakistan. We have authorized the Reserve Bank of India to sell this currency at par at not more than Rs.150/- per person going to Pakistan. If is found difficult to dispose of this amount in this way, we may wish to resort to the suggestion made in Mr. Puri’s letter for this amount and will write to E.A Ministry in due course.

Letter from Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan, Lahore to Secretary Ministry of External Affairs S. Dutt.

Lahore, October 5, 1950.

Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan
144 Upper Mall, Lahore

Dear Mr. Dutt,

In continuation of my letter No. TS/50/2 dated 28-9-50 I should like to mention two or three further points which have occurred to me in regard to the disposal of the accumulated Pakistan currency notes held by the Reserve Bank of India.

2. In the movable evacuee property agreement between India and Pakistan it has been provided that the safe deposits and lockers belonging to India nationals will be allowed to be brought out wholesale to India. While this general principle has been accepted the details offer considerable difficulty. The Indian nationals have to pay certain charges to the banks. In some cases the charges are small amounting only to hire charges for the lockers of the safe deposits. In other cases considerable amount of Jewellery has been pledged to the bank against a loan and in such cases the entire loan money with interest has to be paid. The amounts due to the banks on these accounts form a part of their assets in Pakistan and as far as is ascertainable at present the State Bank of Pakistan has no intention of allowing these assets to be transferred to India. In other words if the bank transfers the safe deposits and jewellery to India and recovers the charges in India, obviously the bank’s assets in Pakistan will have been reduced by the amounts of these charges. The State Bank of Pakistan will, therefore, either insist that these charges be paid in advance in Pakistan or alternately require a guarantee from the banks that they will charge Indian nationals Indian money at Rs. 144:100 and require a guarantee from the Government of India that this money will be allowed to be retransferred to Pakistan through the Starling Exchange Account in London. This entails that our Indian nationals will per force have to pay these charges at the ratio of 144:100. Government of India will have to countenance the compulsory realization in India at such an exchange rate and will also have to lose some sterling holdings as against the money realized from displaced persons in India in India rupees. All this seems highly unsatisfactory and I may, therefore, suggest to the Ministry of Rehabilitation, Government of India that all these charges should be paid by us in advance in Pakistan money. It is of course a separate issue whether the payment in Pakistan should be against a prior deposit of the equivalent number of rupees in India by the displaced persons or whether the Government of India should make the Payment straight-away and subsequently recover from the displaced persons in India by instructing the banks to hold the safe deposits or Jewellery till the charges are paid to them on behalf of the Government of India. The main point here is that in either case the accumulated Pakistan notes could to a considerable extent be utilized in making payment of bank charges to the banks in Pakistan. There is considerable merit in this proposal because in the first place the displaced persons will be helped by not having to pay at the ratio of Rs. 144:100 and by paying only at par, secondly the Government of India will avoid the embarrassment of allowing recovery at Rs. 144:100 in Indian territory and thirdly the saving of Sterling. In addition the Government of India would be able to dispose of some of the Pakistan currency accumulated with the Reserve Bank of India and will obtain in return the equivalent number of Indian notes. As the Payments to the banks will be made on behalf of the displaced persons the payments will not pass through our currents with the Imperial Bank of India. They will not, therefore, come under the scrutiny of Pakistan as part of our own accounts and the Pakistan and the Pakistan currency so utilized will, therefore, be outside the Rs.10,00,000/- I had already mentioned in my previous letter.

2. You will recall that I had accepted one deposit of Rs.1,00,000/- from an Indian national. Subsequently at your instance this Rs.1,00,000/- was sent to the High Commissioner for payment for Sopariwala’s property at Karachi. We have not yet paid the Rs.1,00,000/- to this gentleman in Indian money If you finalise the scheme shortly it will be possible to pay this gentlemen back his money in Rs.1,00,000/- worth of Pakistan currency notes which he will now be able to dispose of himself.

3. The general position at the moment is very favourable to the disposal of Pakistan currency notes. I am, therefore, very anxious that if the scheme is to be given effect to, it should be started off at the earliest possible moment rather than coming into operation when the circumstances may have changed. It is not for me to say whether the scheme should or should not be given effect to but if it is to be brought into operation then the sooner the better. My personal views, as expressed to you verbally, were that it would a great pity to lose a large sum like Rs. 40 or 50 lacs especially in the present stringent financial situation and that one way or the other we must take advantage of all possibilities to get back India money for the accumulated Pakistan currency.

Yours sincerely

Ministry of Finance
(Economic Affairs Department)

No. 3435 – EF VII/50 the 9th October 1950

My dear Dutt,

In my note on your connected file, I had stated that the Reserve Bank were trying to dispose of over-printed Pakistan notes of one rupee denomination to persons going across to Pakistan. They have accumulated about 60,000 in these notes. A report has just been received from the Reserve Bank that they have not been able to dispose of more than Rs.400/- in this way and it appears therefore that there would be considerable difficulty in disposing of these notes before 1st of November by which date they cease to be legal tender in Pakistan. I am informed that they will not be en-cashed even by the State Bank of Pakistan after 31-10-50. To avoid any loss therefore it seems to be essential that some arrangements should be made to transfer these notes to Lahore well before 31-10-50, so that Puri can get them exchanged at the Lahore office of the State Bank of Pakistan.

I shall be grateful if you would write to Puri and let us know what arrangements can be made for the transfer of these notes most of which is in the Calcutta office of the Reserve Bank.

Yours sincerely

Extract from the letter of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan.

New Delhi, December 11, 1950.

Pakistan Assets. I think you do me less then justice in saying that I have summarily dismissed the question of release of Pakistan assets. In my very first letter dated 18th January 1950 (paras 7 to 10), I had referred in detail to the disagreement which had arisen between the two Government on this issue and also drawn your attention to the large financial claims by Government of India which have been outstanding for a long time. By way of illustration of these claims I may mention the sums due to us on account of the military stores transferred to Pakistan, the payment of sums realized by the sale of surplus stores, and the share of expenditure incurred by India on the Joint Defence Council. It would not be correct to say that the question of release of Pakistan assets is a matter on which negotiations between the two Government have failed. In fact there have already been informal discussions and correspondence with the Governor of the State Bank of Pakistan and with your Finance Ministry and some progress has been made in clarifying the issues. You are aware that this question along with certain other financial issues in dispute has been placed by your Government on the agenda of the Inter-Dominion Conference at the Secretariat level. On our side too, we have proposed a number of financial issues for discussion at this Conference. I am sure you will agree that it is desirable to treat all these outstanding issues together rather than deal with them piecemeal. This Conference, which was to be held on the 4th September, has to be postponed to suit the mutual convenience of the two governments. I understand that it is going to be held on the 18th of this month.

Yours sincerely

Jawaharlal Nehru
Letter from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to Finance Minister C. D. Deshmukh regarding payment by Pakistan of Partition debt.

New Delhi, May 25, 1951.

My Dear Deshmukh,

To the other day at a Cabinet meeting, you spoke about the talks you were going to have with Ghulam Mohammad (Finance Minister of Pakistan). Among other things, you mentioned that we held about 50 crores on behalf of Pakistan. Further that Pakistan owed us a large sum of money as a part of the debt settlement, and that this would begin to be paid from June 1952 onwards in annual instalments of about 10 crores a year. This process of repayment was going to last 30 or 40 years.

Normally speaking, according to our commitments, we should pay the 50 crores to Pakistan straightaway and gradually realise the sum due to us on the debt settlement in the course of the next 30 years or more.

It was exceedingly unlikely that we would be able to realize the full sum or any part of the debt settlement from Pakistan. In the circumstances, is it right or desirable for us to part with 50 crores cash now, when we are more or less convinced that we would not get our dues from Pakistan later?

I shall not repeat the argument here. I have given a great deal of thought to this matter since then and I confess that the more I think of it, the less I like the prospect of our breaking our pledged word. This kind of things goes against the grain. But even looking at the strictly practical aspects, I gravely doubt if this will bring any real advantage to us. Pakistan will make a tremendous fuss about it and hold us up before the world as a country which dishonours its solemn agreements. We shall have little to say in answer. This will inevitably affect our trade or other relations that we might have with Pakistan and it will be a continuing and running sore, constantly talked about. It might well affect the political questions between us and Pakistan also. Our reputation in other countries will necessarily suffer and, in a sense, our credit will go down.

So that, quite apart from any moral or suchlike consideration (and I do not wish to ignore these), it is very doubtful how far we shall profit by any such move.

Of course you have to make this proposal to Ghulam Mohammad, but it seems to me quite certain that he will reject it. The utmost he may possibly agree to is to deduct next year’s instalment of the debt settlement, that is about 10 crores. What then are we to do? I feel more and more convinced that if we fail in our attempts to get our proposal accepted, we should not refuse to pay what is due to Pakistan now.
I am conveying my thoughts to you because this matter has troubled me. Of course we must consider it in Cabinet whenever you think that the time has come for it.

Yours sincerely,
Jawaharlal Nehru

3325. Letter from Ministry of Defence to Pakistan Ministry of Defence.

New Delhi, the 25th August 1953.

Government of India
Ministry of Defence

No. 70837/PS3(e)/1957 – S/D (AG) New Delhi, the August 25, 1953

To
The Secretary,
Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Defence,
Rawalpindi.

Subject: Division of Regimental Private and Personal Funds.

Sir,

In accordance with the decision reached recently by the Steering Committees of India and Pakistan in Karachi, I am directed to forward the following two lists of amounts due to Indian Army units from Pakistan Army units on account of division of regimental private and personal funds:

(a) List of amounts due on account of division of regimental private funds - Appendix ‘A’;

(b) List of amounts due on account of credit balance in personal funds - Appendix ‘B’. (List of amounts due to EME, TD and Category ‘A’ establishments will be sent later) [lists not attached]

The adjustment of these claims has been outstanding for a long time now and it is desirable that a settlement should be effected at an early date. I am to request that early steps may please be taken to verify tile claims and to convey to this Ministry the result of verification.

Lists in respect of amounts due to Pakistan Army units from our Army units on this account may also be forwarded to this Ministry for similar action.
2. It is proposed that the overall balance due as a result of the verification should be refunded by the Government concerned to the other. Allotment of credits due to units by adjustment among the units and from any overall refund received should be regarded as an internal matter of the Government concerned. In this connection I am to state that there should be no difficulty in the matter of rate of exchange as the rate at the time to which the claims pertain was 'at par'.

3. It will be observed from the list of Appendix 'B' that no claim in respect of amounts due on account of deposit and share money left with Military Cooperative Societies in Pakistan has been included therein. These claims are required to be processed through the Registrar, Cooperative Societies in terms of the Indo Pakistan Agreement on Banking of April 1949. Our claims on this account have accordingly been sent through the Registrar and have mostly been accepted by the corresponding Pakistan authorities. The settlement of these claims is however stated to have been held up under instructions issued by the Ministry of Defence, Government of Pakistan, prohibiting the transfer to India of accounts of Military Cooperative Societies. I am to request that the matter may be investigated with a view to allowing settlement of the claims being effected in accordance with the Agreement on Banking of April 1949, at an early date.

4. I am further to add that some of our units left their public funds and regimental (public) funds in Pakistan or irregularly divided the same with Pakistan units. These funds are to remain with the unit in accordance with the decision reached at the Fifth meeting of the Executive Committee of the Joint Defence Council held on 18th March 1948. It is therefore requested that arrangements may be made for

(i) acceptance of debits on account of such funds, left or irregularly divided with Pakistan units, by MAG Pakistan;

(ii) transfer to India of such funds left with Banks in Pakistan.

Yours faithfully

Sd/- Nagendra Singh
Joint Secretary to the Government of India

(with reference to sub paragraph (b) of 1 above it was added at the end: Government Of Pakistan were subsequently intimated that EME, TD and other Category ‘A’ establishments have no claims outstanding on account of division of regimental private and personal funds vide Government of India Ministry Of Defence letter No.70837/PS3(e)/2667-S/D(AG) dated 31 Oct 53.)
3326. Letter from the Government of India, Ministry of Works, Housing and Supply to Secretary Government of Pakistan, Ministry of Industry and Commerce.

New Delhi, October 30, 1953.

Government of India
Ministry of Works, Housing and Supply

No. PII-233(1). New Delhi, dated the 30th October 1953

From : Shri T.C. Puri, I.C.S,
Deputy Secretary to the Govt. of India

To : The Secretary to the Govt. of Pakistan, Ministry of Industries and Commerce, (Industries Division), Karachi.

Subject : Transfer of Pakistan contracts for imported stores from India Supply Mission Washington to the Embassy of Pakistan, Washington—Adjustment of payments.

Sir,

I am directed to say that the question of reimbursement to the Government of India of expenditure incurred by the India Supply Mission, Washington, on purchases of stores for Pakistan has been outstanding for a considerable period. The Government of India would feel grateful if this outstanding issue is settled early and in this connection would request that the authorities concerned may be given suitable instructions in the matter, as indicated below:-

(1) The Government of Pakistan in their letter No. S-23(20)/49, dated 17.10.49 (copy enclosed) had instruct the, Accountant General, Pakistan Revenues, Pakistan, to accept debits for the rupee equivalent of an amount of $113,394.89 whenever raised by the Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply), New Delhi. The Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) is accordingly being instructed to raise the necessary debits separately.

(2) A sum of $107,735.28 paid as advance by the India Supply Mission, Washington to M/S Harnischefeger Corporation for supply of 4 Dragline Excavators for the Sind Public Works Department, will, as suggested in the Government of Pakistan letter No.S-30(7), dated 15.6.49 (copy enclosed for reference) be treated as an asset taken over by Pakistan and to be adjusted in the overall financial settlement between the two Dominions. No debit is being raised by the Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) at present for this amount.
Besides the above, certain payments were made by the India Supply Mission for miscellaneous supplies on behalf of Pakistan, up to 31.12.47 which are recoverable from Pakistan Government as detailed below:

(i) for supplies paid for by the India Supply Mission up to 31.12.1947 which is recoverable in Rupees in connection with supplies arranged and freight paid in certain cases. (Details of payments will be given in the statement of debits which Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) New Delhi will raise against Accountant General, Pakistan Revenues, Pakistan). 26,014.91

(ii) Recoveries to be made in dollars by India Supply Mission, Washington from Pakistan Embassy, Washington for supplies paid for after 1.1.1948 -

(a) Payments for miscellaneous items and freight charges made from January 1948 to November 1949. $33.92

(b) Another sum of $440.74 is also due on account of stores despatched by the India Supply Mission, Washington to consignees in Pakistan through the Director of Supplies, Bombay in 1948.

This is being investigated and if it is established that the stores were actually supplied to the ultimate consignees in Pakistan, the India Supply Mission will be instructed to recover the amount from the Pakistan Embassy, Washington. $ 440.74

(iii) Recoveries to be made in sterling by the High Commissioner for India, London from the High Commissioner for Pakistan, London on account of ocean freight charges incurred in sterling for shipment of stores arranged by India Supply Mission from U. S to Pakistan. Sterling Equivalent of $ 1,275.76 Plus Pound 95-7-0

With regard to adjustment of payments referred to in (3) (i) above in rupee equivalent, the Pakistan Embassy in Washington was asked by the India Supply Mission to certify the acceptance of these claims before a debit could be raised against Accountant General, Pakistan Revenues, Pakistan. The Pakistan Embassy could not, however, verify the claims as they had no means of checking the details. A copy of the Pakistan Embassy’s letter is enclosed in this connection.

It is requested that the Accountant General, Pakistan Revenues, Pakistan may be instructed to accept these debits also. Instructions may also please be issued to the Pakistan Embassy, Washington, and the High Commissioner for Pakistan in London, to accept the claims when preferred by their respective counterparts.

(4) Attention is also invited to the Government of Pakistan letter No. S-30 (7) dated 3.1.49 (copy enclosed for ready reference) regarding the levy of departmental charges in connection with the services rendered by the India Supply Mission for procurement of stores for Pakistan. In the circumstances explained therein, the Govt. of India agree to the levy of 1% departmental charges wherever the India Supply Mission have rendered procurement service only in respect of Pakistan contracts.

The India Supply Mission, Washington, who were instructed accordingly claimed, $31,530.00 from the Pakistan Embassy in connection with the following contracts:

In addition to the above, contracts covering stores destined to India and Pakistan were procured and shipped by the India Supply Mission and in this connection it is proposed to recover 2% Departmental charges from the Pakistan Embassy, Washington, to cover procurement and shipment in respect of the payments made for these supplies.

The Embassy of Pakistan apparently are awaiting instruction from your Government, vide copy of their letter No. P.1238/48, dated 25.8.1952 to the India Supply Mission, Washington, enclosed. It is requested that necessary instructions may please be issued to the Pakistan Embassy to accept the claim for departmental charges as and when preferred by the India Supply Mission, Washington.

2. I am to request that necessary instructions as indicated above may please be issued early to the authorities concerned under advice to this Government. A very early action will be highly appreciated.

Yours faithfully

Deputy Secretary to the Govt. of India
Copy forwarded to:-

(1) Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply), New Delhi with Reference to his u.o. No.OP/162, dated 17th August 1953. This Ministry agrees to the suggestion contained in his U.O.No.OP/89/Vol.II/3679, dated 28.3.1953, regarding the removal of the amount of advance of $107, 735.53 paid by India Supply Mission to Harnischfege Corporation from the suspense account. This transaction has been noted for taking into account at the time of overall financial settlement with the Government of Pakistan.

Necessary debits may now please be raised against the Accountant General, Pakistan Revenues, Pakistan, for the following amounts which are recoverable in rupees:-

(a) Amount indicated in para 2 of your U.O. dated 30.7.52. $113,394.89

(b) Amount shown in Statement I for supplies made by ISM before 15.8.47 liability for which is that of Pakistan Government. $79.54

(c) Amount shown in Statement II for supplies made upto 31.12.47.

   (i) Net amount arrived at as indicated in para 4 of your U.O. dated 30.7.52. $25,887.40

   (ii) Amount shown in para 4(2) of your U.O. dated 30.7.52 provisionally included, subject to clarification from ISM, Washington. $7.65

   (iii) Ocean freight charges paid by ISM before 31.12.47 and Recoverable in rupees-vide statement sent under your U.O. dated 16.4.53. $5.31

   (iv) Ocean freight charges paid by High Commissioner for India, London for supplies made by ISM before 31.12.47 vide items 2-4 of statement sent under your U.O. dated 16.4.53. $35.01

(2) The Director, India Supply Mission, Washington, by Diplomatic Air Bag, with reference to his letters No.PD-85, dated 24.1.52 and 27.5.52.
After a further careful scrutiny of the statements forwarded by Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply), it has been decided that the claims for the following amounts only need be preferred by you against the Pakistan Embassy in Washington for recovery in dollars:

(i) Statement showing payment for miscellaneous items and freight charges incurred by you during January 1948 and November 1949. (Statement sent herewith). $ 33.92

(ii) Departmental charges for services rendered by India Supply Mission claimed from Pakistan Embassy as indicated in your letter No.PD-85, dated 19.9.1949. $31,530.00

Any additional amount to be recovered on account of subsequent supplies for which payments have been made as also the payments made to Pakistan for supplies against common-purpose indents should be levied, according to the nature of services rendered at the rate of 1% for purchase and 1% for shipment. If inspection has been arranged, actual charges incurred should be claimed separately.

The details of amounts claimed from Pakistan Embassy may be furnished to this Ministry in due course.

In your letter No. PD-85, dated 24.1.52, you have indicated that the amount of $7.85 which the Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) originally included in Statement III as recoverable from Pakistan Embassy, cannot be claimed from Pakistan Embassy, as it related to payments before 1.1.48.

The Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply), has, however, pointed out that these payments were reported by the India Supply Mission in their statement of payments for February and August 1948. As the statements rendered by the India Supply Mission are a summary of cash transactions which occurred during a particular month, the, Deputy Accountant General is unable to follow the remarks that these payments were made in August and October 1947.

The correct position may please be elucidated, before the Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) is requested to transfer this amount to Statement II.

(3) The High Commissioner for India, London, by Air Bag. The Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) New Delhi, has reported that in respect of certain stores supplied to Pakistan by the India Supply Mission against prepartition contracts, ocean freight charges were paid by the High Commissioner, London, in sterling. The details of these freight charges are contained in the statements received from the Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) which are sent herewith. It is requested that these charges may please be recovered from the High Commissioner for Pakistan, London, as these payments were made after 1.1.1948 and are hence recoverable in foreign currency. The action taken in the matter may please be intimated to this Ministry early.

(4) The Director General, Supplies and Disposals, New Delhi (Shri S.S.Venkatakrishnan). The Director, India Supply Mission has intimated that certain stores shipped from USA through the Mission intended for consignees in Pakistan were despatched to the Director of Supplies, Bombay, in 1948. Details of these consignments are given in the attached statement; it is not clear whether the stores were ultimately passed on to the consignees in Pakistan or delivered to indentors in India. If the former, proof of diversion of stores to and receipt of them by the ultimate consignees in Pakistan may please be obtained from the Director of Supplies and Disposals, Bombay, and furnished to this Ministry to enable the India Supply Mission to effect necessary recoveries of payments from Pakistan Embassy. If, on the other hand, the stores were distributed to indentors in India, full particulars of the names of consignees in India to whom they were despatched, may please be furnished to enable the Deputy Accountant General (Industry and Supply) to effect the necessary recoveries from the parties concerned. An early action is requested.

3327. Statement by the Official Spokesman of the Ministry of External Affairs.

New Delhi, January 7, 1954.

The Government of India has noted with regret a statement by Mr. Mohammed Ali, the Pakistan Prime Minister at Dacca on January 2, to the effect that India had denied Pakistan her share of military equipment at the time of Partition.

This statement is not borne out by facts as the Pakistan Government very well knows and it is a matter of regret that this allegation should have been made by the Pakistan Prime Minister without ascertaining the full facts.

The military stores and equipment which happened to be in this sub-continent at the time of partition were obtained during the war and were the property of the Government of the United Kingdom. Neither Pakistan nor India could, therefore, claim these military stores and equipment without payment. After partition, it was agreed between the Governments of the United Kingdom, India and Pakistan that the Government of India would pay to the Government of the United Kingdom the value of the British-owned military stores and equipment left behind in this sub-continent and that the Pakistan Government would pay to the Government of India for the military store and equipment received by the former. The manner of payment was also agreed between the two Governments at Karachi. In accordance with this Agreement, India made the full payment to the Government of the United Kingdom and proceeded to recover from Pakistan, in the first instance, the money for the military stores and equipment sent to Pakistan from the 15th August 1947 up to the end of July 1948.

A formal demand for the payment of a sum of about Rs.15 crores was made in September 1948. Pakistan refused to pay, thereby going back on an agreement solemnly reached. The matter was again discussed at an Inter-Dominion Conference in December 1948 and, at that conference, Pakistan accepted the liability and promised to make payment immediately, but in actual fact went back on this agreement and made no payment. To protect her financial interests India had, therefore, no other alternative but to stop further supplies. India expressed readiness to resume supplies as soon as Pakistan paid for the military stores and equipment already supplied and agreed to pay for future supplies. It is surprising therefore, that an allegation should be made that India had denied Pakistan her share of military stores and equipment at the time of Pakistan.

* Since Pakistan media continued to make official inspired accusations against India for failing to supply the military stores left over by the United Kingdom at the time of Partition, the High Commission of India in Pakistan reissued this press note in Karachi on January 25, 1954.

D.O.No.PII/53/679237/ 1 March 1, 1954

Dear Dr. Mehta,

Will you please refer to your secret d.o. letter from Camp Kalabagh dated the 9th February regarding, the Press controversy on the division of military stores bet-ween India and Pakistan? You must have since seen a Press Note by our Ministry of Defence in reply to Pakistan’s Press Note of the 5th February.

2. The Prime Minister desires that you should hand over an Aide Memoire to the Government of Pakistan in this connection, a copy of which is enclosed.

3. You may be aware that a question was asked in the House of the People on the 23rd February 1954 on this issue. Replying to that question, the Prime Minister invited the Member’s attention to the Press note referred to above. He also added that he did not consider that any purpose would be served by lodging a formal protest with the Government of Pakistan but that their attention was being drawn to this matter. A note for supplementaries prepared by the Ministry of Defence regarding this question is also attached herewith for your information. This note gives detailed figures which are for your background informa-tion.

Yours sincerely

(M.J. Desai)

High Commissioner for India in Pakistan,

**************

Aide Memoire.

Of late an unfortunate controversy has been developing in the Pakistan Press over the alleged non-supply by India to Pakistan of the latter’s share of military equipment at the time of partition. To correct the wrong impression that these allegations might create, the Government of India have issued certain press notes. The Government of Pakistan has also issued similar press notes, reiterating the allegations which are not supported by facts and which appear to be based on some misunderstanding. The correct position in regard to the division of military stores between India and Pakistan is as follow:

2. At the time of partition there were large quantities of stores in depots in India and Pakistan, which had been supplied by the U.K. during the last war. At an Inter-Dominion Conference held at Karachi in May 1948 it was agreed between the two Dominions that all stores which belonged to the U.K. but which that Government were not interested in taking away for their use, would be acquired. India agreed to make the initial payment to the U.K. Government, and the Pakistan Government on their part agreed to reimburse India in cash their share of the payment made to the U.K. Government. It was agreed that payment would be made by Pakistan within a period of 30 days from the date of the Sterling Balances Agreement, for the stores located in Pakistan on the 15th August 1947 and for the stores received by Pakistan up to the 30th June 1948, in accordance with the formula already agreed upon for the division of the stores. Pakistan further agreed that for stores supplied after the 30th June 1948, payment would be made monthly for stores received in the previous month but one. The sterling Balance Agreement was signed on the 9th July 1948, and, according to this agreement, the following payments are due from Pakistan:

(a) In respect of U.K. stores in Pakistan on the 15th August 1947; and Rs. 11.38 Crores
(b) For stores supplied to Pakistan up to the 30th June 1948. Rs. 3.26 Crores

In addition, a sum of Rs. 1.83 crores is also due from Pakistan from stores supplied since the 30th June 1948, for which no formal claim has yet been sent.

3. At the time of partition several Joint Committees were set up to examine in detail the quantities due to India and Pakistan of various kinds of stores lying in depots in the two countries. It may be emphasised that not only was Pakistan entitled to a share of the stores held in India, but India also was entitled to her share of the considerable quantities of various kinds of stores lying in depots in Pakistan. Despatches were, therefore, to be made from either country of the other’s share of those stores. While in accordance with the decisions of the Joint Committee, despatches were going on from India to Pakistan, according to the availability of wagons, there was very little movement from Pakistan to India. Further, when the Government of Pakistan failed to honour the Karachi Agreement to make payment to India for the UK-owned stores already in Pakistan as well as for such stores sent from India, there was no other alternative for the Government of India but to suspend further despatches. It was made clear at the time, however, that despatches would be resumed as soon as the Government of Pakistan honoured the financial agreements already reached.

4. In the Inter-Dominion Conference held in November 1948, the Pakistan representatives made a suggestion that Pakistan should be given her share of the India owned stocks before making any payment to India for the U.K. stores for which India had already made payment to the U.K. Government. The Indian representatives were unable to agree to this suggestion for the following reasons.

(i) The suggestion amounted to Pakistan’s repudiation of the Agreement of May 1948, which was the basis for the Sterling Balances Agreement with the U.K. Government.

(ii) As there was no segregation of stores as India-owned and U.K.-owned, it was physically impossible to supply first a share of the India-owned stores and then a share of the U.K.-owned shares.

(iii) India had agreed to make payment to the U.K. Government not only in respect of India’s share but so in respect to Pakistan’s share of the U.K. stores, on the distinct understanding that the Government of Pakistan would make certain payments within 30 days from the date of the Sterling Balances Agreement.

(iv) The suggestion in effect amounted to India making an advance to the Pakistan Government to enable them to acquire their share of the U.K. owned stores, for which the Government of India had paid in full.

The Pakistan representatives appreciated the force and the correctness of these considerations and at a conference in December 1948, agreed to make immediate payment for stores lying in Pakistan on the 15th August 1947 as well such stores supplied by India to Pakistan up to the 30th June 1948. They also agreed to make payment in accordance with the Karachi Agreement of May 1948, for stores sent subsequently. In spite of this further agreement, no payment has so far been made by Pakistan.

5. The method of payment which was agreed upon did not mean that Pakistan would be paying for the stores received as if they were all U.K. owned stores. It was assumed that the stores supplied were all U.K.-owned and partly India-owned in the proportion in which the stores were valued as such at the time of the Sterling Balances negotiations. The Government of India billed Pakistan only for that portion of the stores which could be taken to be U.K. owned and evaluated it at the rate at which they made payment to the U.K. Government. According to this arrangement, Pakistan would have got their share of India-owned and U.K.-owned stores gradually and would have paid only for U.K stores as received.

6. In the Press Note issued by the Pakistan Government certain misleading impressions were sought to be given by quoting exaggerated figures and picking out individual items in respect of which they may or may not have received their due share. There are many similar individual items in respect of which India has not received her share from Pakistan. Nevertheless in their Press Note, the Government of India have replied to such statements only in a general way, as they are convinced that no useful purpose will be served by their doing so and thereby indulging in mutual recriminations on matters, which do not affect the main issue.

7. The Government of India are deeply disappointed that the Government of Pakistan, knowing full well all the facts and the previous history of the case, should now be giving publicity to the suggestions put forward by them in the past, but accepted by themselves as untenable as far back as December 1948. Allegations of this nature are not conducive to friendly and good neighbourly relations between the two countries and the Government of India earnestly hope that the Government of Pakistan would now take all necessary steps to set the unfortunate controversy at rest.

My Dear Rangachari,

Would you kindly refer to your demi-official letter No.B-12(2)/53, dated the 4th December, 1953, relating to the settlement of outstanding financial issues between the two Punjabs?

2. As already intimated in S.M. Khan's letter to Trivedi, No.Neg.10/1/53, dated the 26th August 1953, we had in fact asked both East Bengal and the Punjab (Pakistan) Governments to contact their counterparts and to take further necessary action in pursuance of the minutes of the joint meeting of the Indo-Pakistan Steering Committees. The Punjab (Pakistan) Govt. have since been in communication with us with regard to certain difficulties which are holding up further progress in the matter. It is perhaps this uncertain position which created some misunderstanding to which Nawab Singh has referred in terms that no instructions had yet been issued to the Punjab (Pakistan) Government.

3. The points raised by the Punjab (Pakistan) Government together with our comments, where necessary, are stated below:-

(a) Assets and Liabilities of the Irrigation Branch, and Civil Supplies Department.

The Punjab (Pakistan) Government intimated that the Sub-Committees of the Chief Engineers and the Civil Supplies Department have not yet completed their task and consequently no further progress can be made until they have submitted their reports. We have asked them to expedite this matter.

(b) Audit scrutiny of the Punjab Suspense Account.

No procedure is stated to have so far been finalised for the audit of the Punjab Suspense Account. According to the information given by the Punjab (India)’s representatives to the meetings of the Punjab Implementation Committee held on the 29th and 30th January, 1954, the procedure is said to be under the consideration of the Government of India.

We shall be grateful if the Government of India could expedite the matter and ask their Auditor General to advise the Auditor General of Pakistan of the agreed procedure so that both the Auditors General could undertake audit of the Punjab Suspense Account without further delay.

(c) Pensionary Liability.

The Punjab Government have stated that this is another item which is likely to take considerable time as the liability involved is to be determined on actuarial basis. We, however, advised the Punjab Government that on the analogy of the decision taken at the Indo-Pakistan Conference on Eastern Zone Problems held at Calcutta during September 1953, this liability should for the present be excluded from the balance sheet and the two Punjab Governments should endeavour to arrive at some what similar arrangements as agreed to at the aforesaid Conference and, set a definite time limit for the finalisation of the balance sheet.

Yours Sincerely

No.B-12(2)/53 New Delhi, the 21st May, 1954

My Dear Abdur Rehman,

Will you kindly refer to your D.O. No.Neg.10/9/53, dated the 10th May, 1954 regarding the question of financial issues between the two Punjabs?

2. We have written to our Punjab Government to expedite with their counterpart in Pakistan the determination of the assets and liabilities of the Irrigation Branch and Civil Supplies Department. We have also suggested that for the present the pensionary liability may be excluded from the balance sheet of the undivided Punjab.

3. The question of the audit of the Punjab suspense transactions is part of the wider question of the audit of various transactions arising out of the partition which are still outstanding. We are taking this up with the Comptroller & Auditor General and I expect that it will be for him and the Auditor General of Pakistan to arrive some time at a mutual arrangement in this behalf. We are having this in view.

Yours sincerely,

OFFICE MEMORANDUM

Subject: Secretaries’ Committee for Pakistan matters — Settlement of Provident Fund dues of employees of the undivided Central Government who had opted for Pakistan provisional at the time of partition and were killed in Pakistan before the 15th February 1948, without revising their option.

The undersigned is directed to refer to this Ministry’s O. M. No.P.II/53/679114 A/1-2, dated the 10th June, 1954, circulating for the approval of the Secretaries’ Committee, a proposal on the subject mentioned above contained in the Partition Secretariat’s Note attached to that Office Memorandum.

2. The proposal has been considered and approved by the Secretaries’ Committee.

(V.C. Trivedi)
Secretary, Secretaries’ Committee

PARTITION SECRETARIAT

Note For The Secretaries Committee

Subject: Settlement of provident fund dues of employees of the undivided Central Government who had opted for Pakistan provisional at the time of partition, and were killed in Pakistan before 15.2.1948 without revising their options.

At the time of partition every Central Government servant was given an opportunity to elect the Government which he wished to serve, after the partition. An employee could, exercise his option finally or provisionally. While the final options were irrevocable, in the case of a provisional option the employee was permitted to change his option once and that before the 15th February, 1948. The option so exercised was to be treated as final. Any provisional option not revised before the 15th February, 1948, was to be deemed as final on that day.

2. Subsequently, due to communal disturbances following the partition, a number of cases arose in which provisional optees for India/Pakistan migrated to Pakistan/India without notifying a change in their first option. The matter was taken up with the Government of Pakistan and with their concurrence it was decided to treat such persons as having finally opted for the Government of the country to which they migrated provided they reported for duty in that country before the 15th February, 1948.

3. The Ministry of Railways have reported some cases of railway personnel who had provisionally opted for Pakistan at the time of partition but were killed in Pakistan before 15th February, 1948, without revising their option. The families of the deceased employees, who have migrated to India, are experiencing great hardship due to the non-settlement of their claims in respect of the provident fund of the employees concerned.

4. Under the partition arrangements, the liability for the balances in the State Provident funds was taken over by the Government to whose service the Government servant was transferred.

5. Technically the provisional options exercised by Central Government employees at the time of partition are to be treated as final and irrevocable if they were not, revised by the 15th February, 1948. Accordingly the options exercised by the employees under reference became de jure final options for Pakistan and consequently the responsibility for the settlement of their provident fund balances devolves on the Government of Pakistan. In such cases the Railway Board have been informing the families of the deceased employees to claim payments from the Government of Pakistan through the agency of the Central Claim Organisations. However the Pakistan Government do not seem to have settled any claim so far.

6. These cases deserve consideration on compassionate grounds. The individuals were killed in Pakistan within a few weeks after the partition and thus they could not revise their options, which under the rules they were entitled to do up to the 15th February, 1948. The fact that their families have migrated to India may be sufficient ground to assume that the employees would have also revised their options, for India, had death spared them. Further the settlement of these claims by the Government of Pakistan may take a very long time. In some cases they have refused to accept liability alleging that the individuals had revised their options for India final, although the Pakistan authorities have not been able to substantiate this by documentary evidence. The Ministry of Railways (Railway Board) have suggested that the Government of India may settle these claims. The Minister for Railways has expressed his opinion on one of these cases as under:

“I notice that this employee exercised his option for Pakistan (Provisional) on 27.6.1947 and was killed on 8.9.1947, that is within a few weeks of his option. I wonder how he could have been expected to change his declaration into India (final) within this short period as apparently all employees were given time up to March, 1948 to enable them to change or confirm their original option. In fact a general question arises as to the cases of all those employees who, whatever their option, might have been killed earlier than the last date up to which they were allowed to change their option. In cases like the present one, there is not the least doubt that the employee would have exercised his option to return to India as an Indian optee. I do wish that something positive is done in such hard cases, and there may not be many now at this distant date which are still outstanding....”

7. Incidentally it may be mentioned here that the Government of India have already decided on compassionate grounds, to assume initial liability for the payment of provident fund and pensions in the following categories of hard cases, although according to strict interpretation of the Partition Council’s decisions, the liability therefor devolves on the Government of Pakistan:

(i) those who opted for Pakistan but proceeded on leave preparatory to retirement on or before 15.8.1947, and

(ii) those who opted for Pakistan but refused to go to that country and were consequently discharged from services by authorities in India.

8. Although the proposal now under consideration might mean a modification of the partition arrangement, the Government of Pakistan have nothing to lose by this arrangement and are not, therefore, likely to object to it. There may also be no difficulty in getting the fund accounts from the Pakistan authorities in respect of these claims. The arrangement will be reciprocal and Pakistan will be asked to pay in similar cases, if any, in Pakistan.

9. The exact number of outstanding cases is not available but it is not expected to be large. The Railway Board’s estimate of the number of cases on their side is 15.

There may be some similar cases arising in other departments and the decision taken would apply to all such cases also.
10. As over 6 years have already elapsed and the families of the deceased employees are experiencing great hardship on account of non-payment of their dues, it seems desirable that the Government of India should settle these claims on compassionate grounds and make whatever adjustments may be necessary with Pakistan. This concession will be limited to persons whose families migrate to India. The Ministries of Railways (Railway Board), Finance and Home Affairs have been consulted and they agree with the proposal. The matter is now referred to the Secretaries Committee for a decision.

3332. Letter from the Indian Partition Secretariat to the Pakistan Ministry of Finance.

New Delhi, July 3, 1954.

Government of India

From : Shri M.V. Rangachari,
Joint Secretary to the Government of India.

To : The Secretary to the Government of Pakistan,
Ministry of Finance, Karachi.

No. B-2(223)/54 the 3rd July, 1954

Subject: Settlement of provident fund dues of employees of the undivided Central Government who had opted provisionally at the time of partition and were killed in the Dominion of their choice due to communal disturbances before 15.2.1948 without revising their options.

Sir,

I am directed to say that the Government of India have been considering for sometime the question of settlement of provident fund dues of employees of the undivided Central Government who had opted for Pakistan provisional at the time of partition and were killed in Pakistan before the 15th February, 1948 without revising their options. As the Government of Pakistan are aware under the partition arrangements in such cases the country for which the options was made and in which the employee died is liable for the payment of provident fund balances. A number of such claims in respect of employees killed in Pakistan particularly on the Railways side, are however, reported to be pending settlement by the Government of Pakistan. In order to alleviate the hardship caused to the dependents of the deceased employees by the delay in settling the claims, the Government of India have decided to pay the claims of those who migrated to India soon after the death of the employee initially subject to recovery from the Pakistan Government.

2. I am now to suggest that the Government of Pakistan may also take similar action in regard to claims, if any, of families new in Pakistan of those killed in India, to avoid further delay in their settlement.

3. The Government of Pakistan would appreciate that this step has been taken on purely compassionate grounds and it is hoped that they would agree to the arrangement being reciprocal.

4. An early reply is requested.

Yours faithfully

(M.V. Rangachari)
Joint Secretary to the Govt. of India

Note from Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations to the Indian High Commission in Pakistan.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations
Karachi

No. I (I).14/54

the 15th December, 1954.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations Government of Pakistan, presents its compliments to the High Commission for India in Pakistan and with reference to the Aide Memoire handed over by the Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan to the Foreign Secretary on March 6, 1954, has the honour to state that the Government of Pakistan equally regret the unfortunate press controversy regarding the division of military stores and equipment between India and Pakistan. The Government of Pakistan are no less desirous than the Government of India that this controversy should be set at rest and it was with this intention that the Government of Pakistan issued its press note of 15th February 1954, bringing out the correct position of the matter but it is noted with regret that the Government of India continued to publicise incorrect data and inaccurate versions.

2. There is no dispute in regard to the fact that the payment for the U.K. owned stores was made to H.M.G. by the Government of India and that on the basis of the Karachi Agreement of May 1948, payment of the amounts due from Pakistan to India was to start within thirty days from the date of reaching the Sterling Balances Agreement with H.M.G. This latter Agreement was concluded on 14th July 1948 but no claim was received by the Government of Pakistan from the Government of India till about the middle of September 1948, i.e. nearly two months after the Sterling Balances Agreement. Besides, supplies of stores to Pakistan were stopped by India in July, 1948, i.e. before the expiry of the period of thirty days from the date of the Sterling Balances Agreement. This was contrary to clause No.C.II of the Karachi Agreement itself which precedes the payment clause of that Agreement (viz. C.III) and clearly lays down that the previous decision of the Joint Defence Council regarding the physical division of Defence Stores between the two Dominions was to remain unaffected by the payment clause in question. It was thus the Government of India who initiated action contrary to the provisions of the Karachi Agreement. That Government's statement that they discontinued despatches of stores to Pakistan as a result of Pakistan's failure to make payments is, therefore, not correct. While, therefore, having regard to the breach by the Government of India of the “Division of Stores” agreement, the Government of Pakistan were fully justified in withholding payments, nevertheless, payment of Rs.2.35 crores on account of United Kingdom owned installations was made by the Government of Pakistan to the Government of India in February 1949 and an offer was also made to the Government of India of an 'on account' payment of Rs.5 crores as early as March 1949 provided the Government of India was agreeable to dispatching Pakistan's share of Defence stores in fulfillment of the Joint Defence Council's decision and the Inter-Dominion Agreement of May 1948. This, however, was not accepted by the Government of India who continued to ignore the agreements solemnly reached between the two Governments.
3. Adverting now to the allegations made against the Government of Pakistan in the Government of India’s press note of 22nd February 1954, it may be stated that the Government of India’s statement to the effect that the value of stores purchased from the United Kingdom Government was considerably more than that of the stores held to belong to undivided India is not correct. In fact the position was just the reverse. This would be proved by the fact that according to the statistics supplied by the Government of India themselves in their Ministry of Finance (Defence) Letter No. 17-B dated the 17th September 1948, the book value of United Kingdom owned stocks (excluding factory stores and surplus stores which are governed by separate “payments agreement”) held on 14th August 1947 in the Indo-Pakistan sub-continent was Rs.108.03 crores as against India owned stocks of the same category valued at Rs.146.10 crores.

Secondly, the allegation made in the same press note that “while India supplied about 50 to 60 percent of the stores due to Pakistan, Pakistan sent only a negligible portion of what was due from her to India” is also misleading. According to the statistics maintained in Pakistan, out of the stocks held in Pakistan on the date of partition, the total value of all types of stores retained for Defence requirements was Rs.28.39 crores and the balance of corresponding stores held in India at the time of partition was of the value of Rs.225.74 crores. Pakistan transferred to India stores of the book value of Rs.4.38 crores from 15th August 1947 to 30th June 1948 which represents about 15% of the stocks held in Pakistan on 14th August 1947, whereas supplies by India during the same period, as verified, by the Government of Pakistan, amounted to the book value of Rs.4.75 crores only (and not Rs.8.75 crores as given in the claim preferred by India) representing 2% of the stocks held in India on 14th August, 1947. This clearly disproves the Government of India’s allegations.

On the basis of the position of stocks held in Pakistan on the date of partition and the transfers effected between the two Dominions upto 30th June 1948 as indicated above, the book value of stores in Pakistan on 30th June 1948 amounted to Rs.28.76 crores as against Pakistan’s share of Rs.48.70 crores (1/3rd of Rs.146.10 crores) from India owned stocks and Rs.36 crores (1/3rd of Rs.108.03 crores) from United Kingdom owned stores. Thus on that date stores valued at Rs.20 crores and Rs.36 crores from India owned and United Kingdom owned stocks respectively were still due to Pakistan from India. These figures speak for themselves and fully justify the Pakistan Government’s statement that the Government of India failed to supply Pakistan’s share of Defence Stores according to the Partition Agreement.

It will be seen from the above that the Government of India failed to implement the “Division of Stores” Agreement on which depended implementation of the “Payments Agreement” and therefore the Government of India's allegation that the Government of Pakistan failed to make payments is clearly without foundation.

4. The Government of Pakistan hope that the above statement of facts and figures will set this unfortunate controversy at rest and trust that in the interest of good neighbourhood relations the Government of India would refrain from publicizing incorrect statistics and inaccurate statements about the Government of Pakistan’s refusal to make payments alleged to be due to the Governments of India for defence stores.

5. The Ministry avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission the assurances of its highest consideration.

3334. Agreement reached at the meeting of the Steering Committee to discuss outstanding issues.

The Steering Committees appointed by the Governments of India and Pakistan for discussion of outstanding issues met jointly at Karachi on the 26th, 27th and 28th of February 1955.

The Indian Steering Committee consisted of:

1. Mr. S. Dutt.
Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs.

2. Mr. M.V. Rangachari
Secretary, Ministry of Finance.

3. Mr. V.C. Trivedi,
Director, Pakistan Division, Ministry of External Affairs.

The Pakistan Steering Committee consisted of:

1. Mr. M.S.A. Baig,
Joint Secretary, Ministry of F.A., & C.R.
2. Mr. M.A. Mozaffar,
    Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance.

Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan, High Commissioner for Pakistan in India and Mr. R.T.
Chari, Deputy High Commissioner for India in Pakistan attended by invitation.
Both the Steering Committees were assisted by Advisors. The meetings of the Steering Committees were held in an atmosphere of cordiality and the lists of outstanding items prepared by both the Governments were scrutinised and classified, the procedure for discussions at the various levels was formulated and Ministries and Divisions concerned are being asked by the Steering Committees to take up their outstanding items with their counterparts and to report the progress of the negotiations by the 15th April. It is expected that there will be discussions and meetings at Ministers’ level for resolving some of the items. The Steering Committees have agreed to meet again at Delhi on the 11th of March when they will attempt to resolve some of the issues which are capable of solution at their level.

   Government of Pakistan.
2. Mr. H.S. Negi, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance, Government of India
2. Mr. M.A. Mozaffar, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance, Government of Pakistan

3. Mr. S. Than, Commercial Secretary, Indian High Commission, Karachi.
3. Mr. Nasirud Din, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Finance, Government of Pakistan

4. Mr. R. Saran, Under-Secretary, Partition Secretariat, Government of India
4. Mr. B. Zaman, Assistant Secretary, Ministry of Finance, Government of Pakistan

Items on Pakistan’s List

16(a). Division of the assets of the Canteen Stores Department: There was no disagreement in regard to the amounts to be allocated between the two countries from the surplus assets of the Canteen Stores Department. The only disagreement was on the limited question of how the share of Pakistan in the sum allocated to the Government of India to cover the expenditure incurred before the Partition should be paid. It was agreed on behalf of India that the liquidators will pay direct to the Government of Pakistan her share as in the past.

16 (c). Division of Prize Money: It was agreed that the one third amount should be divided in the ratio of 82 1/2 : 17 1/2 for India and Pakistan.

16 (d). Division of U.P. Gift for the National War Academy: It was agreed that Pakistan’s share should be credited to her through the debt settlement.

17 (a). Transfer of Defence Welfare Funds: There was no disagreement about the sums due to the respective Governments in the welfare funds. The actual transfer of the balances and/or securities would be effected in the same way as the transfer of any balances held outside Government accounts in either country in respect of regimental funds. It was agreed that the details of the latter should be exchanged at an early date (within a period of 2 months) and thereafter the cash or securities should be transferred simultaneously between the two countries.

27. Payment of pension to Mrs. Annie Sims out of the Securities of the Biddulph Military Trust Fund: It was agreed to divide the assets of the Biddulph Military Trust Fund in the ratio 3 : 1 between India and Pakistan. India would pay the pension initially and recover Pakistan’s share currently in the same ratio.
28. Allocation / apportionment of Central Charitable Endowments between India and Pakistan: It was agreed to divide the assets of the Birdwood Sword of Honour Fund in the ratio of 2:1 and the Indian People’s Famine Trust Fund in the ratio of 82 1/2 : 17 1/2 for India and Pakistan. Pakistan agreed to drop its claim regarding the division of the assets of the Indian Institute of Science.

29. Allocation and settlement between (a) the Central Government and Provinces, and (b) one Province and another, of part liability in respect of divisible pensions for service rendered by Government servants before partition: It was agreed that the proposals made by the Government of Pakistan in their letter No. 7586-B/50 of 19-9-50 should be further examined and reply expedited.

30. Transfer and monetary settlement of the Provident Fund balances of ex-Secretary of State’s officers and other officers who were borne on the Provincial cadres but were transferred from one country to the other as a result of their option at the time of partition: It was agreed that, subject to the exceptions mentioned below, the country for which the officer concerned had opted should assume the liability for the balances in his Provident Fund Account as on the date of partition, the adjustment, if any, between a Central Government and its Provinces/States being left to them. The necessary adjustment between the two Central Governments would be made through the debt settlement. The exceptions were (a) Officers of the former Provinces of the Punjab and Bengal would not be covered by this agreement; and (b) If any balances had already been transferred and monetary settlement effected, these cases would not be re-opened. The two Governments would exchange within a period of 3 months a statement giving the names of officers and the balances in their Provident Fund Account as on the date of partition, which would be settled in this manner.

31. Settlement of liability of Provinces in respect of service under them by Government servants now serving in the other country

AND

109. Allocation and adjustment of the liabilities on account of Provident Fund, Pension, Leave etc. of Provincial Government servants who were on deputation with the Central Government at the time of partition and opted for either country: In view of the practical difficulties in allocating leave and pension liabilities of serving officers, it was suggested that the two Governments should consider if on the analogy followed in the case of separation of Burma, leave and pensionary liabilities should not be taken over without any financial adjustment by the Government for whom the Government servants had opted or by whom they had been re-employed. The liability for unpaid Provident Fund balances would be settled as suggested against item No. 30 above.
32. Financial adjustment in respect of prepartition pensions paid in British colonies on behalf of India and Pakistan: It was stated that as consequent on the agreement between India and the U.K. under which the liability for all Sterling pensions payable by the Central and State Governments in India, including those paid in British colonies, had been transferred to the United Kingdom Government with effect from 1st April, 1955, any sums recoverable from States in India by the Government of Pakistan on account of Sterling pensions initially paid by them would be reimbursed to them by the U.K. Government. The representatives of Pakistan Government noted the position.

33. Settlement of accounts with the oil companies for supply of P.O.L. received by Defence Services and Civil authorities since the outbreak of the last World War: It was stated on behalf of the Government of India that the accounts with the oil companies had not been finally settled. Only some payments had been received and the amount so far recovered would be intimated to the Government of Pakistan.

34. Settlement of accounts relating to prepartition sale of arms and warlike equipment to Afghanistan and Tibet: It was stated that no amount was outstanding from Tibet in respect of arms and warlike equipment. It was also understood that no supplies had been made after partition under the orders of the Joint Defence Council, but this was subject to verification. No recoveries had been made from Afghanistan in respect of the amount outstanding at the time of partition.

48. Recovery from the Reserve Bank of India of the loss of Rs. 35,500 incurred as a result of fraudulent payments at the Imperial Bank of India, Karachi, due to the negligence of the Bank’s staff:

Pakistan’s representatives agreed to drop this claim.

49. Payment due from India on account of minting charges and metallic value of retired India coins taken over by the Reserve Bank of India up to 30-6-1951: It was agreed that the claim for outstanding minting charges (estimated at about Rs. 4.5 lakhs) should be waived and the Government of India would request the Reserve Bank to pay the charges incurred on the remittance of those coins. The remittance charges were stated to be about Rs. 95,000 and an audit certificate of the actual amount spent would be furnished by the State Bank of Pakistan.

50. Financial adjustment for transfers of Postal Certificates between India and Pakistan With reference to the Indo-Pakistan Agreement of April, 1949: it was agreed that for determining the liability of each country in respect of Post Office Certificates transferred on or before the 31st March, 1948, the date of application for transfer should be treated as the date of transfer.
51. Realization of arrears of taxes on income due from evacuee assesses: The matter was discussed, but no decision was taken.

52. Allocation of liability for refund of revenue and return of deposits relating to the prepartition period

AND

143. Incidence of liability for outstanding deposits relating to prepartition Central contracts: It was agreed that the two Governments should examine whether each Government should not initially pay the dues of claimants in its area and adjust such payments through the debt settlement.

104. Audit of the Punjab Government Suspense Account

AND

140. Test Audit of Joint Account (Central): It was agreed that the Auditor General of the two countries should be requested to evolve a suitable procedure for the test audit of these transactions and accounts. It was felt that if an arrangement could be made by which each Auditor General conducted an independent test audit of these accounts and transactions in his country and gave a certificate of audit to the other Auditor General, such a certificate should be accepted for the purposes of settlements arising out of partition.

107. Extra Pakistan remittances: reimbursement to the State Bank of Pakistan by the Reserve Bank of India in respect of the drawing made under the Reserve Bank of India Remittance Facilities Scheme up to the 30th June, 1948, and paid by the State Bank of Pakistan and its agencies after that date: It was agreed that the two Central Banks should be invited to examine the matter again with a view to fixing the responsibility for any delay that might have occurred in making a claim or in making a reimbursement and take appropriate action under intimation to the two Governments.

108. Reimbursement by the Reserve Bank of India to the State Bank of Pakistan on account of remittance charges from Pakistan to India of Reserve Bank’s chest balances of the 30th June, 1948: It was agreed by India that the Reserve Bank of India would be advised to reimburse the cost of moving the chest balances from the mofassil chests to headquarters in Pakistan. It was stated by Pakistan that this amount was estimated to be Rs. 65,000.

110. Transfer of service records of certain workmen of the Calcutta Mint who opted for Pakistan: It was agreed that the records of service of the workmen of Lahore, Alipore and Bombay Mints and of those of the India Security Press, Nasik, which had not yet been exchanged, should be expeditiously collected and exchanged within a period of two months.
139. Adjustment through Debt Settlement of the miscellaneous receipts realized by either of the successor Government after 31.3.48 but relating to the prepartition period: The item was dropped.

141. Transfer of pensions, provident fund accounts and insurance policies of optees and others applied for before the formation of Central Claims Organisation: It was found that there was a large disparity between the figures collected by either side of outstanding Provident Fund accounts, insurance policies and pension cases awaiting transfer. It was agreed to prepare and exchange lists of outstanding cases within a period of two months, if necessary, liaison officers should be sent thereafter to expedite the transfers.

ITEMS ON THE INDIAN LIST

53. Remittances from India to Pakistan and vice versa on private account for current and capital transactions: This item was generally discussed and it was agreed that individual cases of hardship should be brought to the notice of the State Bank of Pakistan who promised to enquire into them and take appropriate action. A reply to the Government of India letter No. 551-SF/55, dated 22.3.1955 addressed to the Government of Pakistan on this subject would be sent shortly. In regard to the money orders, it was explained that the Pakistan Government had no system of money orders with foreign countries and they were not yet ready to introduce a money order system between the two countries.

54. Allocation of liability between India and Pakistan for the return of lend-lease silver to U.S.A.: This item was discussed and it was agreed that it should be left for a decision at ministers’ level in view of the fact that two connected matters viz. items 3500 and (iii) had been classified under category “B”.

55. Claim against Pakistan arising out of Pakistan coinage work done by Bombay and Calcutta mints and supplies made by India Security Press: It was agreed that the cost of minting charges of Pakistan coins minted at the Indian mints on or after the 15th August, 1947, should be calculated on the basis of charges made in accordance with the rules in force on the date of partition for coinage executed at Indian mints for foreign Governments, subject to the condition that no element of profit should be added to these charges. The actual minting charges to be claimed from Pakistan would be supported by an audit certificate.

GENERAL

The above agreement would be subject to ratification by the two Governments.

No. Neg.10/10/55. October 20, 1955

My dear Trivedi,

Please refer to your letter No.P.II/54/679110/201, dated September 2/3, 1955 regarding discussion of items relating to Hyderabad Funds.

2. The Pakistan Steering Committee had not agreed to discuss items relating to Hyderabad Funds, in the joint meeting of Indo-Pakistan Steering Committees held in Karachi on 26th, 27th and 28th February, 1955. It will be seen from the minutes of this meeting that while Pakistan Steering Committee stated that they were precluded from discussing items relating to Hyderabad, the Indian Steering Committee had stated that no dispute between the two Governments should be excluded from the discussion and that it was only a question of at what level the discussion should take place. They also opined that it should be discussed at the Prime Ministers' level. It will, therefore, be clear that no decision was arrived at in this behalf. The suggestion of the Indian Steering Committee was, however, considered by the Government of Pakistan, who later on informed the Government of India that the matter should be discussed at Ministerial level by the Hon'ble Minister for Finance on our side. No reply was, however, given to this suggestion by the Government of India. In the meanwhile the matter was re-considered by the Government of Pakistan and it was decided that since we do not recognize the forcible occupation of Hyderabad State by India, it is not possible to discuss items relating to Hyderabad Funds and the Government of India were informed accordingly.

3. The question of revision of agreement unilaterally, therefore, does not arise as there existed no agreement on the subject.

Yours sincerely

A. Salim Khan

V.C. Trivedi, Esq.
Director, Pakistan Division,
Ministry of External Affairs,
Government of India, New Delhi.
I called on Syed Amjad Ali, Minister for Finance and until recently Pakistan’s Ambassador to the United Stated on Saturday the 19th November. I have known him for some years and he is good friend of mine. Even so, I thought that I should officially call on him in his capacity as Finance Minister and I did so on Saturday, the 19th November, 1955.

2. First of all, I told him that there was some correspondence between our Minister for Finance, Shri C.D. Deshmukh and his predecessor Chaudhri Mohamad Ali for a meeting between the two Finance Ministers to settle some of the outstanding financial issues, without which further progress could not be made by the Steering Committees of the two countries. The meeting could not be arranged as Ch. Mohamad Ali was rather busy with constitutional and other problems in the country. I told him that it was high time that problems arising out of partition, which was effected more than 8 years ago should be brought to an end, particularly where private parties were concerned. The two governments must meet and on a basis of give and take or mutual accommodation, must bring an end to these perpetual problems so that both sides may know where they stand, false hopes may not be entertained and justice may be done to all private parties, who could not otherwise get their claims settled in the absence of a directive from the Finance Ministers. I told him that at the last visit of Shri M.V. Rangachari, our Finance Secretary, it was intended by Ch. Mohamad Ali that the two Finance Secretaries should meet and settle most of the problems, thus reducing substantially the area of disagreement for which the two Finance Ministers may meet later and on which they may give their findings one way or the other. It was the intention of Mr. Mumtaz Hasan, the Pakistan Finance Secretary to have such a meeting as soon as the agreement reached in April or May this year was ratified by the two governments. That agreement had been ratified, and it was now time for the two Finance Secretaries to meet with a specific direction from the two Finance Ministers that they would have full authority to consider every outstanding matter and to settle them as far as possible. I told Syed Amjad Ali that nothing would come out of the forthcoming meeting of the two Secretaries, if they did not have this authority and if on every issue they pleaded the necessity to make a reference to the Minister.

3. Syed Amjad Ali agreed with me and said that he would ask Mr. Mumtaz Hasan to have a meeting with our Finance Secretary, who would be Mr. H.M.Patel and that he would give full authority to his Secretary to go as far as possible in writing-off the outstanding problems. We may now expect a move towards a meeting between the two Finance Secretaries in the near future. Whatever may be the other preoccupations, priority should be given to this meeting, and there being no question of prestige as regards the venue of the meeting.

4. The next point I took up with Syed Amjid Ali was the liberalization foreign exchange for visitors between the two countries. I told him that the present system was so absurd and unworkable as to lead to evasion from the very beginning. It was the intention of both governments to facilitate and encourage mutual visits, and for this purpose also liberalization of the foreign exchange allowance was necessary. I told him that on the last occasion when I discussed this with Mr. Mumtaz Hasan he said that he was watching the effects of devaluation and would be ready to take up this matter sometime in January. I was only asking for advance consideration of the problem by a month so that if there is agreement about liberalization, it could come into force with effect from January 1, 1956. The Finance Minister said that he would discuss the position with his Secretary. I told him that, so far as India was concerned, we would be prepared to go to almost any length in the direction of liberalization of the foreign exchange allowance.

5. The next matter taken up was liberalization or grant of facilities for the remittance of funds from one country to the other by workers and employees for the maintenance of their families residing in the other country. I told him that this would be one of the remedies for the reduction of migration of Hindus from East Bengal. Some of these people had families in India, but in the absence of facilities for remittance of funds, they found it difficult to stay on in East Bengal and to maintain their families in West Bengal. The result was that they took out migration certificates and left East Bengal. Similarly, there were people who had come to India for employment but who kept their families in East Bengal. In their case also facilities for remittance would suppress the urge for bringing their families to India on migration certificates. It should not be understood that the proposal for remittance facilities was merely intended to benefit the Hindus. There were better educational facilities in India which were being availed of in large numbers by Muslims of East Bengal, but they had to contend with the difficulty of remittance of funds. We had no objection to such students coming to India, but facilities must be provided to the parents to send regular monthly remittances. I reminded Syed Amjad Ali that liberalization of remittances was also recently advocated by Mr. Hamidul Huq Chowdhry, their Foreign Minister and that it was also one of the measures recommended by the Indian Rehabilitation Ministers (sic) who met recently at Darjeeling. Syed Amjad Ali told me that he would have the matter examined in consultation with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. He was, however, not sure that the foreign exchange position of the country would permit any substantial liberalization of the rules, regarding remittance of funds from one country to the other, the benefit of which he thought would go more to India than to Pakistan.

6. I told Syed Amjad Ali that the agreement made in April last between Dr. Khan Sahib and Shri Mehr Chand Khanna regarding improved communication facilities provided that as soon as possible through booking to destinations in either country should be encouraged. So far this was not done because there was a fear that black marketing in the exchange rate might be indulged in, in view of the wide disparity between the official and the non-official rates of exchange. Now that the two rupees had been brought to parity, this particular difficulty was overcome and it should be comparatively more easy to introduce a system of through booking to destinations in the other country. I told Syed Amjad Ali that I had discussed this matter with Mumtaz Hasan last month and that he too was favourably disposed towards it. He was to consult other Ministries and I hoped that a stage had now come when we could push the matter to a definite conclusion. The Finance Minister said that he would ask his Secretary to go ahead with the proposal.

7. I told Syed Amjad Ali that the Indian Rehabilitation Minister, Shri Mehr Chand Khanna had written a letter recently to Ch. Mohamad Ali, when he was Finance Minister, suggesting an early meeting between the two ministers to take up consideration of the question of settlement of immovable evacuee property in the two countries. The problem relating to movable property had now been settled, and the stage had come when the next question of immovable property could be tackled between the two governments. Syed Amjad Ali said that he was new to the Ministry and that he doubted if it would be possible for him to have a meeting with our Rehabilitation Minister for another three months, during which he would be extremely busy with constitutional matters.

8. Finally, I told Syed Amjad Ali that I deplored the recent signs of a deterioration in the relations between the two countries. For instance, the continued demonstrations by riff-raffs in the name of Kashmir served no useful purpose and merely acted as an irritant to the Indian High Commissioner and to the people of India. People in India believed that the Government of Pakistan must be at the back of these demonstrations, as otherwise they would have been withdrawn long ago. Even I felt that way, I added.

9. Then I referred to some of the editorials in papers like Evening Star, which referred to Hindus as idolatrous cow-worshipping primitive Hindus, whose hands were stained with the blood of innocent Muslim women and children and who were responsible for the desecration and defilement of Muslim mosques and places of worship. I told him that there was not an iota of truth in all this and that in fact Muslims were coming to me in numbers wishing to return to India even without claim to property or restoration of employment. Such writings, I told him, did not create the right atmosphere for the settlement of problems or for the forging of friendship which was desired by the two governments. I then drew his attention to the recent fantastic story about espionage on behalf of the Indian High Commission. He smiled and told me that I should bring these facts to the notice of Ch. Mohamed Ali when I saw him next. He agreed generally that maligning and malicious writings did not help to create the right atmosphere in which the two countries could solve the outstanding issues and could march together towards greater cooperation and better understanding.

10. My relations with Syed Amjid Ali are such that I could tell him anything without being misunderstood. However, I had met him officially and used restraint and guarded language and did not take any liberty because of our personal friendship or relationship. I must add that he is a very fine gentleman, one of the few people in Pakistan who are not reconciled to the fact of Partition and who would not hesitate to say so on suitable occasions. It is a pleasure meeting him and discussing our problems with them. I do not know to what extent, in the atmosphere prevailing in Pakistan, he would be able to have his way and to mould the policy of his department against the pressure of the civil service which still continues to be the main citadel of anti-Indian feeling in this country.

3338. Letter from Ministry of External Affairs to Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations.

New Delhi, December 12, 1955.

Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations
New Delhi

My Dear Dehlavi,

I understand from your High Commission here that you are dealing with Indo-Pakistan matters and accordingly I am writing in connection with Salim Khan’s letter No. Neg.10/10/55 of the 20th October 1955 to Trivedi regarding discussion of items relating to Hyderabad funds.

We are greatly surprised at the argument advanced in Salim Khan’s letter. It is quite correct, as he states, that there was a difference of opinion between the two Steering Committees at their meetings in Karachi in February 1955. But though the Pakistan Steering Committee felt itself at that time precluded from discussing these items, there was subsequently the letter dated the 22nd March 1955 from your Ministry signed by Kaiser intimating your Government’s decision that the items be discussed at ministerial level.

The plain meaning of this communication surely is that the Government of Pakistan agreed to discuss the items and were communicating the level at which they wished them to be discussed. As this was in accordance with the view of the Indian Steering Committee at the February meetings, no further discussion of the matter was required and Kaiser’s letter was acknowledged in Trivedi’s letter No.P.II/54/679110/1-2 of the 24th March 1955. Salim Khan says that no reply was given to the Government of Pakistan’s ‘suggestion’. But if you will refer to Kaiser’s letter, you will see that it intimates a decision of the Government of Pakistan. This decision we naturally accepted because as I have already said it amounted to acceptance of our own views.

Subsequently in reply to our letter P.II/54/67110/201 dated the 5th April ratifying the decisions of the Steering Committees, the Government of Pakistan in your Ministry’s letter No.Neg.16/9/55 dated the 25th May 1955 on their part also ratified the decisions except that regarding the Hyderabad items they reiterated the decisions in Kaiser’s letter of the 22nd March 1955.

If therefore subsequent to their ratification, the Government of Pakistan reconsidered the agreed decision regarding Hyderabad items viz. that they should be discussed at ministerial level, it certainly amounts to unilateral modification of the ratified decisions and the Government of India are unable to accept the contention which Salim Khan’s letter seems to advance either that Kaiser’s letter of the 22nd March 1955 was not a decision of the Government of Pakistan but only a suggestion or that Trivedi’s reply of the 24th March 1955 was not an acceptance of that decision.

I am therefore, directed to reiterate the position stated by Trivedi in the last sentence of his letter of the 2nd September 1955 to Salim Khan and to request that the Government of Pakistan would be so good as to reconsider the position taken by them.

Yours Sincerely

(S.R. Isar)

New Delhi

D. O. No. B-112(11)/56 12th January 1956

My Dear Chandubhai,

I am writing this with reference to your D.O. No.HC/55/3 of November 20th, to the Finance Minister. You had enclosed with that D.O., a copy of the note recorded by you after your call on Syed Amjad Ali, Pakistan Minister of Finance on Saturday the 19th November. As we have not heard anything further since that date, I am assuming that the further developments which you anticipated have not yet taken place. As we see it, if the two Finance Secretaries meet, their talks are likely to make progress only if they meet “with the specific direction from the two Finance Ministers as they would have full authority to consider all outstanding matters and to settle as far as possible”. Nevertheless, if a proposal for a meeting between the two Finance Secretaries is received from Pakistan, we would agree to it, for obviously we cannot reasonably decline to talk even if we have grave doubts of the talks leading to anything worthwhile. In any event, the earliest such a meeting could take place would be after the Budget Session.

Yours sincerely,

D.O.No.545- AC/56. the 28th February, 1956

My dear Rangachari,

As your are aware, during the Indo-Pakistan Financial Conference of June 1955, the question regarding the allocation of liability between India and Pakistan for the return of lease-lend silver to the USA was postponed for discussion at the Ministers’ Conference on outstanding financial issues. It looks, however, as though it would take a little more time before the two Finance Ministers can meet. Since the liability in respect of lease-lend silver will become due for discharge in April, 1957, it is desirable to come to an early settlement of this question. I suggest that if a secretariat level meeting could be held either at Karachi or New Delhi, as may be convenient to you, it may help to finalise this matter. What do you feel?
2. Your High Commissioner also recently met our Finance Minister as well as myself and suggested that a Secretariat-level conference may be held to discuss the various financial issues before the two Finance Ministers meet. I, for my part, am agreeable to a preliminary discussion, in which we might try and see to what extent we can prepare the ground for the Finance Ministers’ Conference. If necessary, we could have more than one meeting for this purpose, subject to your convenience.

3. Your preoccupations and mine with the budget and other matters may point to early April as the likely time for the kind of meeting suggested. I should, however, like to know your wishes in the matter.

4. I shall be grateful for an early reply.

Yours sincerely

My dear Mumtaz,

Will you kindly refer to your D.O. letter No.545-AC/56 dated the 28th February 1956?

We shall be glad to have a meeting at secretariat level on the remaining outstanding financial issues, including the question of liability for the return of lease-lend silver. I suggest that the discussion may be held at Delhi, where all of you will be most welcome, some time about the 20th of April, if it is convenient to you. As soon as the dates are fixed, we could agree on the issues to be discussed. It will assist in expediting a disposal of these items if instead of ranging over the whole field we confine the discussion to a limited number of select and important items.

With kind regards,

Yours Sincerely

D.O.No.Neg.;10/10/55 March 27, 1956

My dear Isar,

Please refer to your D.O. No.P.II/54/679110/201 dated the 12th December, 1955, addressed to Mr. Dehlavi regarding discussion of items relating to Hyderabad Funds.

2. I am sure you will agree that a mere arrangement for a list of subjects for discussion cannot be called an “Agreement” (with a capital A) in the sense in which this word is used to denote an International Agreement. If an item of a programme or agenda is subsequently deleted by one side, the other side may not entirely like it, but I do not think the deletion will bear the language suggesting departure from an International compact formally arrived at.
3. I regret very much that for the reasons already stated, the Government of Pakistan is unable to revise its decision not to discuss item Nos. 51, 93 and 94 of the list relating to Hyderabad Funds.

Yours sincerely,
(M.S. Shaikh)

No. 836/SEA/56 31st March 1956.

My dear Desai,

The Pakistan Government have been suggesting for some time that the outstanding financial issues between the two countries should be discussed at a Secretariat level meeting. We had agreed to this and a meeting was originally suggested for some time at the end of April. Mumtaz Hasan has written to ask if the 25th of April would be convenient to us but as we have a meeting of the National Development Council early in May, we have now proposed that the meeting be held from the 7th of May instead of the 25th of April proposed by him.

The main purpose of the meeting is to discuss at official level the various items reserved by the Steering Committees for consideration at the Ministers’ level. I enclose lists showing the items thus reserved from among those proposed by India and Pakistan (Lists A and B) and of certain other matters which we are interested in (List C). So far as India is concerned, the items thus reserved are not many. We might discuss these and also some of the other general issues in which we are interested. We are asking Mumtaz Hasan to let us know which of the items in the Pakistan list he wishes to discuss. I shall let you know as soon as we hear from him. Meantime, this is to keep you informed of the developments.

Yours sincerely

Letter from Finance Minister C. D. Deshmukh to Pakistan Finance Minister Chaudhri Mohammad Ali.

New Delhi, March 16, 1956.

No. 919/PSF/55

My dear Mohammed Ali,

I understand that the Steering Committees of the two countries have agreed, at their recent meeting in Karachi, that a number of items in the list of outstanding matters between the countries may be discussed at the Minister level. These items, so far as they concern the Finance Ministers, have all been raised by the Pakistan Government. I feel it would be a good thing if we could go over them together and see if as many of them as possible could now be settled. I do not know if you would be free in the near future for this purpose but I shall be very happy if you could accept our invitation and come to New Delhi for a discussion at any time convenient to you. I hope it will be possible for you to accept.

With kind regard,

Yours Sincerely

Letter from Indian High Commission in Pakistan to the Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations.

Karachi, April 18, 1956.

High Commission of India
Karachi

No. F.20 (4)/56 – Genl. The 18th April, 1956.

Subject: Division of Military Stores

The High Commission of India in Karachi present its compliments to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations and with reference to their Note
No. I (I)/14/54 dated the 15th December, 1954, has the honour to say that the Government of India have in no way failed to honour the agreement regarding the division of military stores; and, they do not therefore accept the reason advanced by the Government of Pakistan for non-payment, in accordance with the agreement reached in May, 1948. Moreover, it was not incumbent on the Government of India to accept “on account” payment of Rs. 5 crores against more than three times the amount outstanding from the Government of Pakistan, since August 1948. In fact, the Government of India had offered to resume the supplies of military stores as soon as the payments agreement was fully honoured.

The High Commission avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Government of Pakistan the assurance of its highest consideration.

INDIAN ITEMS

Item 1. Allocation of liability between India and Pakistan for the return of Lend/Lease silver to U.S.A.

The matter was discussed and agreement reached as set out in enclosure I to this record.

Items 2-6

(2) Overall partition settlement between the two countries.
(3) Overall financial settlement between the two Punjabs.
(4) Payment for Military Stores.
(5) Arrear payments pertaining to the Plan period -- payment by Pakistan of part of the amount received from HMG.
(6) Payment to India of sale proceeds realized in Pakistan from disposal of surplus HMG and American Stores.

These were informally discussed and the two delegations will report back to their respective governments the trend of the discussions.

Item 7. Allocation of J.D.C. expenditure between India and Pakistan.

It was agreed that the Financial Advisers (Defence) of the two countries should meet at an early date and suggest means of finalising this item.

Item 8. Revision of arrangements for the allocation of leave and pensionary liability between the Governments of Bombay and Sind.

It was agreed that the proposals below should be considered by the two governments:

(a) Subject to the adjustment in para (c) below, the liability for the divisible pensions will fall on the two countries in which the pensions are now being paid and brought to account.
(b) No point will be raised about contributions for leave and pension, passages and grants for horse and saddlery already paid by Sind to Bombay in discharge of its liability. Each side will take over whatever liability remains in respect of officers taken over by it.

(c) The liability of Bombay and Sind in respect of the divisible pensions of pensioners in payment on the date of partition or who might have retired shortly thereafter or moved from one country to the other would be determined and settled as follows:-

(i) The average of the payments brought to account in the two countries on account of these divisible pensions in the three years ending 1950-51 and the share recoverable by the one from the other under the allocation in force immediately before the partition will be ascertained by each country from its Auditor General.

(ii) The annual liability as thus calculated assumed by one country on behalf of the other will be capitalized on the assumption that it tapers off to nil over an agreed period. In ascertaining the present value of this liability an agreed rate of interest will be assumed.

(iii) After the liability has thus been capitalized, the net difference will be added to Pakistan’s partition debt to India if India is found to have assumed a net liability or deducted from Pakistan’s debt to India if Pakistan is found to have assumed a net liability.

(iv) No adjustment will be made between the two countries in respect of these divisible pension paid by either side after the partition.

(d) The Governments of Bombay and Sind or their successors will settle with their respective central Governments how to settle the liability which has been assumed by them on behalf of the other in accordance with the arrangements set out above.

Item No. 9. Outstanding points between the two Punjabs arising out of the implementation of the Banking Agreement of 1949, Part II- Cooperative Institutions.

It was stated that the transfer of the balance of securities due to India in accordance with the agreements between the governments of the two countries was in process of being made.
Item No.10. Realisation of arrears of taxes on income due from displaced persons.

This was discussed but no conclusion was reached.

Item No.11. Settlement of third party claims against undivided Punjab and Bengal.

It was agreed that the Governments concerned in both countries should be asked to expedite the settlement of these outstandings and refer their difficulties to their Central Governments.

Item No.12. Revalidation of time-barred cheques issued by the officers of undivided Punjab.

It was agreed that the authorities in both countries should implement the latest agreement on the subject.

Item No.13. Payment of pensions to displaced persons from East Bengal.

It was agreed that the representatives of the West Bengal Government and East Pakistan Government should meet and the two Central Governments should assist in progressing the matter.

Item No.14. Remittances from India to Pakistan and vice versa on private account for current and capital transactions.

The matter was discussed at some length and conclusions reached as set out in the enclosure II to this record.

PAKISTAN ITEMS

Item 1. Transfer of divisible assets of the issue Department of the Reserve Bank of India.

Item 2. Payment by the Reserve Bank of India of the value of Pakistan one-rupee notes and coins received by it between 1.4.1948 and 30.6.1948.

Item 5. Share of Pakistan in the profits arising from demonisation of High Denomination notes.

Item 7. Wrong debits against Pakistan Government’s account.

Item 8. Settlement of rupee balances held by the State Bank of Pakistan with the Reserve Bank of India.

Item 10. Payment by India for Unique Institutions.
Item 11. Division of profits of the Reserve Bank of India

Item 12. Transfer of interest on Government of India and sterling securities falling to the share of the State Bank of Pakistan out of the divisible assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank of India.

Item 13. Pakistan's claim for payment of her share in the recoveries effected by India which are chargeable under Article 4 of the Schedule to the Indian Independence (International Arrangements) Order, 1947.

Item 14. Claim for compensation due to non-supply to Pakistan of her share of defence stores.

Item 15. Compensation for property requisitioned in East Pakistan during the last world war.

Item 16. Settlement of claims of Provincial Governments, States, Cantonments Boards and other Local Bodies in Pakistan against the undivided Government of India.

Item 17. Settlement of pre-partition claims of Pakistan nationals for supplies and services rendered to the undivided Government of India.

Item 19. Financial Settlement between East and West Bengal. Implementation of awards of Arbitral Tribunals by West Bengal and Assam, and of decisions of Separation Council, Application Committees and Indo-Pakistan Agreement of December, 1950, particularly payment by West Bengal of amount due to East Bengal and transfer by Assam of Provident Fund balances of opted Government servants, together with up-to-date interest there on and payment by both of pre-partition claims against undivided Assam and undivided Bengal.

These items were informally discussed. The question of bringing them along with similar items in India list into a broad overall settlement was discussed at some length and it was agreed that the two delegations should report to the respective government the trend of these discussions for further action.

Item 3. Return of quaternary silver coins belonging to the Government of Pakistan but wrongly transferred by the Reserve Bank of India during the times of its control.

And

In view of the agreement reached on the allocation of liability for lend/lease silver, these items were dropped.

Item 9. Resumption of monetary settlement of Inter-Governmental transactions.

It was agreed that the question of clearing up the past transactions and providing for the current settlement of future transactions should be taken up by the two governments with their respective Auditor General and the latter invited to consult each other and advise on the procedure to be adopted.

item18. Division of the Reserve Fund and the surplus Assets of the Reserve Bank of India between Pakistan and India.

It was noted that credit will be given in the debt settlement for Pakistan’s share of the reserve fund and the surplus assets of the Reserve Bank in accordance with the partition arrangements.

These agreements are subject to ratification by the two Governments.

Enclosure – II

Remittances from India to Pakistan and Vice Versa on Private Account for Current and Capital Transaction

I. Current Remittances. It was agreed that both Governments would endeavour to review their regulations with a view to removing all discrimination that might be practised against the other country alone. They would further instruct their administrative officers to ensure that remittances to the other country were not discriminated against administratively. Orders removing discriminations will be issued simultaneously by both sides. The Reserve Bank of India and the State Bank of Pakistan will refer to each other cases where discriminations or administrative difficulties practiced by the other party have come to their notice.

2. Individual items were then discussed and the following decisions reached:–

(i) Profits:- The Pakistan representatives agreed to examine the question of removal of the distinction made against the Indian Companies operating in Pakistan requiring them to produce a certificate from the Income-tax Officer that income tax has been paid on the profits earned by them in Pakistan instead of the facility allowed to all other foreign concerns to produce an auditor’s certificate that adequate provision has been made for payment of all taxes before permitting remittance of profits. They have also agreed to examine their policy with regard to the retention of that part of the Funds which are transferred between 31.12.1947 and 27.2.1951 by Indian Companies.

(ii) Dividends and Interest:- The Pakistan Government representatives explained that the State Bank of Pakistan had now obtained a list of non-resident shareholders from most of the Pakistani Companies and individual shareholders in India were no longer required to submit the information which is normally available with the companies themselves. The banks in India could now be informed that there was no difficulty in receiving remittance of dividends from Pakistan to India and any case where such a difficulty is experienced should be brought to the notice of the Central Directorate of the State Bank of Pakistan, Karachi, who will see that such remittances are not held unduly.
(iii) Insurance Premia And Surplus Funds Of Insurance Companies: It was explained that the need for the certificate for the purpose of remitting surplus funds arose because Indian Insurance Companies were not paying claims of insurants in Pakistan. The Pakistan Government have promised to look into the matter and remove this condition regarding the certificate if the need for it has ceased.

(iv) Money Order Remittances: The Pakistan Government have taken a decision to resume money order remittances between the two countries. The D.G., P&T Karachi has already addressed the D.G., P&T New Delhi to work out the procedure in this behalf.

(v) Pensions: The Pakistan representatives have agreed to grant remittance facilities in respect of private pensions on a reciprocal basis. As regards Government pensions, they explained that the item was separately under consideration as a partition arrangement.

(vi) Income From Property: The Pakistan representatives promised to consider the abolition of the distinction made between “migrants” and “permanent residents”. Specific cases where difficulties are experienced in getting remittances from Pakistan are to be brought to the notice of the State Bank of Pakistan, Central Directorate, Karachi.

(vii) Refund of Income Tax: Remittance is now being permitted by Pakistan. Any case where the party may have got the refund but remittance has not been allowed, should be brought to the notice of the State Bank of Pakistan, Central Directorate, Karachi.

(viii) Proceeds of Exports: It was explained that the procedure requiring documentary proof in support of remittances was applied to all countries and was not discriminatory to India.

II. Capital Remittances: The Pakistan representatives stated that their attitude towards the general questions of capital remittances depended on whether or not India would permit debits on their account to be raised against their “Main Account” with the Reserve Bank of India. They had exhausted all their sterling in Account No.2 and this source of financing capital remittances was no longer available to them. It was explained to them that the use of the “Main Account” for this purpose was tantamount to transferring it to Pakistan. This was a ‘B’ question on which no answer could be given at the Secretariat level.

The Pakistan Government representatives, however, agreed, without prejudice to the above, to examine general questions of capital transfers on a reciprocal basis.
(2) Provident Fund balances, gratuities, bonuses, arrears of pay, etc.

In view of the hardship involved, the Pakistan representatives agreed to consider the question of the general liberalization of remittances of these items on a reciprocal basis. They also promised to look into hard cases falling under this category which have been or will be referred to them or to the State Bank of Pakistan.

(3) Compensation for acquired property

The Pakistan representatives have promised to examine the case of Sialkot Electric Supply Company, Sialkot and any other case of this type as and when it is brought to their notice.

(4) Blocked funds of Indian businessmen

The Pakistan representative agreed to look into this provided details are furnished.

III. Redemption Proceeds of Securities

The Pakistan representatives complained that redemption proceeds of securities was a current item for which remittance facilities were not allowed by India to Pakistan though such remittance facilities were permitted to other countries. It was explained to them that Pakistan also did not grant such remittance facilities on their side, but the Government of India would look into this question as part of their desire to remove all discriminations.

(2) The Pakistan representatives also complained that in a case of one Lt. Col. Aziz Khan of Karachi, remittance of maturity proceeds of his insurance policy after deduction of a loan taken from a Trust in Bombay was not being permitted though an application was made to the Reserve Bank of India by the Trust. It was agreed that the Reserve Bank should be asked to look into this case and report to the Government of India reasons for not permitting the remittance. It was confirmed by the Indian representatives that maturity proceeds of policies were treated as current payments by India. Remittance of loans against policies and surrender value of policies were also freely allowed by India.

IV. It was suggested that the representatives of the Reserve Bank of India, Bombay and the State Bank of Pakistan, Karachi discuss individual cases of hardship or where discrimination or administrative delays might have been noticed, periodically — after say every three months — to facilitate smooth functioning of the exchange control in both the countries. The first such meeting will take place early in September, 1956.
3347. Press Note issued by the Government of India on Financial Talks between India and Pakistan.

New Delhi, May 10, 1956.

Representatives of the Governments of India and Pakistan have met each other over the last three days to discuss various financial matters affecting the two countries arising out of the Partition particularly those which are still outstanding.

There was a most useful and cordial exchange of views between the two delegations and the discussions led to a substantial agreement in regard to the facts of each particular matter in dispute so as to enable Ministers of the two countries when they meet to come to a final decision.

The two delegations have agreed that both Governments will examine the possibility of facilitating remittances between the two countries with the object of mitigating as far as possible the hardship caused to individuals.

3348. Note from Pakistan Ministry of Foreign Affairs to High Commission of India in Pakistan.

Karachi, April 12, 1957.

No.I (I) -14/12/56. 12 April, 1957

Subject: Division of Military Stores

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Commonwealth Relations, Government of Pakistan, presents its compliments to the High Commission for India in Pakistan and with reference to their Note No .F.20(4)/56- Gen 1/2399, dated the 1st April, 1956, has the honour to say that the provisions in the Karachi Agreement of May, 1948 in regard to the payments for HMG Stores was to come into force 30 days after the conclusion of the Sterling Balance Agreement with U.K. The payments were thus due to commence from the middle of August, 1948 (which date has also been indicated by the High Commission in their note under reply).

On the other hand, supply of stores to Pakistan had been stopped by the Government of India in July, 1948. This clearly indicates that the onus of non-compliance with the agreement does not rest with the Government of Pakistan.

2. The Ministry also wishes to reiterate that the Government of Pakistan paid a sum of Rs.2.35 crores for the U.K. owned installations in Pakistan and offered to make an on-account payment of Rs. 5 crores provided the Government of India was agreeable to dispatch Pakistan’s share of Defence stores. Even though the offer was not acceptable to the Government of India, it establishes once again that the Government of Pakistan has always abided by the agreements between the two countries.

3. The Government of Pakistan finally consider that this controversy, which arose as a result of reports appearing in the press, may now be treated as closed as the question of division of defense stores has already been classified as item B and will come up for discussion between the Finance Ministers of the two countries along with other financial issues.

4. The Ministry avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the High Commission the assurances of its highest consideration.

The High Commission for India in Pakistan, Karachi.

3349. Statement by the Minister of Finance T. T. Krishnamachari in the Lok Sabha in response to the Calling Attention Notice regarding Financial Settlement between India and Pakistan.

New Delhi, September 5, 1957.

Sir, With your permission I propose to make a short statement on the outstanding financial issues between India and Pakistan in regard to which I answered a question on the floor of this House on the 8th of last month. Since then, certain statements have been made in the Pakistan National Assembly which may convey a wrong impression.

The House will remember that in August last year a statement was laid on the table of the House listing the more important of the outstanding financial issues. These were last discussed in May 1951 between the Finance Ministers of the two countries. They have been the subject matter of a number of subsequent discussions at Secretariat level, but for a variety of reasons into which I do not think it necessary to enter, it has not been possible to arrange a meeting at Ministerial level.
In March 1955 my predecessor invited the then Pakistan Finance Minister for a discussion but owing to his other preoccupations he was unable to come. About a fortnight back I received a suggestion from the Pakistan Finance Minister that we should meet and discuss the outstanding issues. I have accepted his suggestion and I hope that the meeting will take place as soon as possible after I return from my impending visit to the United States and Europe.

The outstanding issues between the two countries fall into three broad categories. The first relates to the determination of partition debt. Our estimate of this debt, so far as it concerned the two Central Governments, is that it will be of the order of Rs.3000 million. If the debt arising out of partition of the provinces is also taken into account it may be higher.

The figure I mentioned gives only the order of the sum involved. The partition debt at the Centre is repayable in 50 equated installments, the first of which fell due on the 15 August 1952. Six installments are today overdue. In the Budget for 1952-53, we took credit for a payment of Rs. 90 million on this account. Even on this very rough and clearly low figure, the amount overdue is over Rs. 500 million.

The second category deals with matters arising out of the separation of the currencies of the two countries. The most important item is the assets remaining to be transferred out of the assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank of India. The value is about Rs. 490 million. Then other items are relatively small and do not involve any substantial amount.

The third category relates to what may be broadly called post-partition transactions. A large volume of payments have been made in each country on behalf of the other which will have to be cleared up. On our side the sum is of the order of Rs.230 million. I do not know what the sum on the Pakistan side is. All this will have to be gone into with the assistance of the Auditors General on both sides.

Then we have a sum of Rs.165 million due to us on account of Defence stores supplied after partition to Pakistan for which under an agreement entered into in May 1948 they are due to pay us. There are also some rupee balances held by Pakistan in India about which there has been some argument. The sum thus held is Rs.130 million.

I do not wish to weary the House with a recital of the less important items. It is our intention to discuss all the items, both major and minor, in a frank and friendly way and strive to reach an overall settlement. I do not, therefore, wish to say anything or take up any position in regard to any individual matter falling to be discussed, whatever the temptation or the provocation for it, which might in any way affect the discussion which we propose to have with the Pakistan Government. I only wish to emphasise that on the major outstanding issues we should reach an overall settlement fair to both the countries. This will be our approach at the ensuing meeting.

D.O. No. PII/54/679110-1-2 6th /7th September, 1957

Dear Mr. Nabi,

Please refer to my d.o. letter No.PII/54/679110/1-2 dated the 2nd April, 1957, sent in acknowledgement of your d.o. letter No. Neg: 16/3/55-IV dated the 15th March, 1957, regarding the Supplementary list of outstanding disputes and cases with the Government of India.

2. We have completed examination of your supplementary list of seven outstanding disputes and cases (Items No.145 to 151) and our comments thereon are offered below seriatum:—

Item 145: Miscellaneous pending cases.

(i) Restoration of Fire-arms.

(ii) Transfer of a sum of Rs.3679/- from Gun and Shell factory.

(iii) N.A.A.F.I.Profits.

(iv) Indian fighting services club — Pakistan’s share of fund.

(v) Grant of visas to visit India—

(a) Serving personnel of Defence Services.

(b) Retired/released personnel of Pakistan Defense services.

(vi) (a) Payment of amount on account of Mess bills recovered from RIASC but not transferred to RPASC.
(b) Outstanding Mess bills- RIAF Officers- due to RPAF messes.

(vii) Division of Army and Depot animals

(viii) Recovery of pre-partition outstanding against non-Muslim staff etc. migrated to India.

It has already been agreed to classify this item as ‘C-4’ and to include it in the agenda of the proposed meeting of the Defence Secretaries of India and Pakistan for discussion of ‘C-4’ items. (D.O. letter No. PII/54/679110/1-2 dated the 28th October 1955, from Shri S. Chaudhuri to Mr. Iqbal Athar, formerly Deputy High Commissioner for Pakistan in India, refers).

Item 146: Claims for compensation of Rs.1,77,95 in connection with accident to Bharat Airways Skymaster, VT-CYK.

We do not agree to this item being classified as ‘C-4’ and suggest that the matter may be left over for consideration by the Indo-Pakistan Steering Committees as and when they meet next.

Item 147: Karachi Port Trust’s claims for fees, wharfage and railway haulage charges, etc., on certain aircrafts imported by India from United Kingdom after partition. (Rs.28,468/9/-).*

We agree to this item being classified as ‘C-4’ and included in the agenda of the proposed meeting of the Defense Secretaries of India and Pakistan for discussion of ‘C-4’ items.

Item 148: Pakistan’s claim for payment of her share of Rs.2,63,233/- recovered by India after partition from H.M.G. In connection with the construction of lighters.

This matter has already been disposed of vide letter No.4-M(2)/55 dated the 25th October, 1956 from the Government of India in the former Ministry of Transport to the Government of Pakistan in the Ministry of Communications (Communications and Transport Division). The item may, therefore, be excluded from the Supplementary list.

Item 149: Defalcation of money of various insolvent estates by Mr. Parkash Chand Mahanjan as Interim Receiver in Civil cases in the Lahore District.

In the discussions held at Karachi between the representatives of the Ministry of Refugees and Rehabilitation (Pakistan) and the Ministry of Rehabilitation (India), it was agreed that the property under the management of an official assignee, or official liquidator or other officer appointed by a civil or revenue court should be regarded as property under the control of that court for purposes of restoration under Consolidated (Implementation Instruction No.(8). In view of this position, the West Pakistan Government have only to include the amounts brought over to India by Shri Parkash Chand Mahajan in their lists of transferable deposits with the remark that the money has already been transferred to India.

Item 150: Partition of books of reference

This subject has already been included for discussions, at a Secretariat level Conference, by the Government of Pakistan in the Ministry of Education as part of Pakistan item 26, viz., "Division of historical records between East and West Bengal" vide their letter no.11-5/55-Gen dated the 6th July, 1955, to the Government of India in the former Ministry of Education. As the subject is already covered by Pakistan item 26, need for a separate item is not understood. In this connection, letter No. F.50-11/55 dated the 7th January, 1956, from the Government of India in the former Ministry of Education to the Government of Pakistan in the Ministry of Education also refers.

Item 151: Proposal for the grant of clearance certificate to migrants

We agree to this item being classified as ‘C-1’.

Yours sincerely

My dear Mumtaz,

You have doubtless seen the correspondence between our Finance Ministers about their meeting to discuss the outstanding financial issues between the two countries. From our side we propose that at the meeting of Ministers they should consider the items which, in our official discussions in May 1956, we left over for discussion by the Ministers. We also propose that there should be a meeting of officers a day or two previous to the meeting of Ministers, at which the other items left over from the last official meeting may be discussed.

2. I shall be glad if you will kindly let me know what items you propose to bring forward for the meeting both at Minister and at officer level from the list of Pakistan items discussed at the last official meeting.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

3352. Statement by the Finance Minister Morarji Desai in the Lok Sabha on the Pakistan’s Partition Debt.

New Delhi, May 7, 1959.

With your permission, Sir, I propose to make a short statement on the partition debt of Pakistan to India, about which I answered a question in this House on the 21st of last month and in the Rajya Sabha on the 28th, with reference to certain comments which have appeared in the Press as from a spokesman of the Pakistan Government which give a misleading impression.

The House will remember that on the 5th September, 1957, Shri T.T. Krishnamachari made a statement on behalf of Government on the financial issues between the two countries and dealt at some length with the various outstanding items. Nothing has since happened necessitating a change in any of the facts or figures given by him.

In regard to the partition debt, it has been suggested that there is no basis for the figure of Rs. 300 crores mentioned by us and that the question of payment arose only after the debt had been determined. In regard to the size of the debt, there is nothing new about the figure of Rs. 300 crore. It was an estimate made as far back as 1948 and has been repeated as such many times. As pointed out by Shri Krishnamachari in his statement, it gave only the order of the sum involved. In our view, it may be actually somewhat higher. But I was surprised to see the statement from the Pakistan Government that this figure of Rs. 300 crores had no basis. I understand that, as far back as 1952, broad details of a balance sheet, which gave a higher figure of the debt, were supplied to the officers of the Pakistan Government by our officers. There was some correspondence about some of the figures furnished by us but, eventually, this correspondence, like correspondence on many other matters, petered out. In view of this, it is hardly correct to say that there was no basis for this figure.

It is difficult to understand the argument that payments fell due only after the debt is determined. On this pretext, no payment need ever be made simply by refusing to accept any figure as the correct figure of the debt. While the final figure would take some time to work out, the broad dimension of the sum involved is, in our view, quite clear and could easily be settled. We have already seven annual instalments overdue under the partition arrangements and the eighth instalment will fall due next August. When claims are made for other payments as due here and now, the fact that India has already overdue to her a large sum on account of the partition debt cannot be brushed aside on the spacious ground that the debt has not been worked out.

I was equally surprised to see the statement that a sum of Rs 180 crores was due to be paid to Pakistan. We do not have any details of this claim. So far as we know, the highest figure mentioned so far has been about Rs.100 crores. This was a figure which was communicated to us in a letter from the late Mr. Ghulam Mohammed in 1950. This included the sum of Rs.49 crores on account of currency assets which was specifically mentioned in Shri Krishnamachari’s statement also. The balance related to a number of miscellaneous items the exact figure in regard to which still remains to be determined. A figure of Rs.100 crores was also mentioned in the Pakistan National Assembly by the Pakistan Finance Minister on the 28th August, 1957. The figure now put out is much higher but as I said we have no details.

I have mentioned certain figures on both sides. But it is obvious that they only give the broad dimensions of the picture and that the various claims and counter-claims will have to be discussed and accepted before a settlement is reached. For some years, we have tried to work out the figures and reach a settlement at official level but, in view of the large sums involved and the peculiar problems which some of the issues pose, it has not been possible to do so. The major issues have, therefore, to be settled at Government level. My predecessor had invited the Finance Minister of Pakistan for a discussion but for a variety of reasons, it has not been possible to hold meeting. It is my intention to renew the invitation and I hope it will be possible to hold an early meeting, discuss all the outstanding items and claims on both sides and reach a solution fair to both the countries. Meanwhile I venture to suggest that there is no reason to get unduly concerned by the mention of an odd figure or an individual claim, whether in the Press or elsewhere.

PAKISTAN ITEMS

1. Division of the Reserve Fund and the assets of the Reserve Bank of India between Pakistan and India
2. Indian securities en faced for payment in Pakistan - restriction on sale in India.

   (These two items were not discussed see item 7 of the Indian list).

3. Division of Canteen Stores Department’s Assets.

   Pakistan representatives drew attention to their May, 1959 letter in which the share of Pakistan at Rs.49.73 lakhs as worked out by India was confirmed. India’s representatives promised to look into the matter.

4. Transfer of Pakistan’s share of Armed Forces’ Welfare Funds.

   It was pointed out by Pakistan that the assets of Army Welfare Funds had been checked and Pakistan’s share determined but those relating to Regimental Funds on either side were in the process of being verified. Pakistan representatives suggested that Regimental Funds need not be linked with the Welfare Funds. The Indian representatives, however, were of the view that the question of transfer of Pakistan’s share of Defence Welfare Funds could be taken up only after the lists of Regimental Funds had been verified.

5. Refund of wrong debits raised by Punjab (India) against West Pakistan on account of Amritsar Irrigation workshop India’s representatives were of the view that this item related to the period when the Accounts Officer of either side were entitled to make financial adjustments against the balances of the other Government and there might be similar items on the other side also. The obvious course in such cases would be to take them into account in the over all settlement between the two Punjab Governments. Pakistan’s view, however, was that as the amount involved was heavy and was the result of a wrong adjustment, the refund should be made currently in cash.

6. Test Audit of Joint accounts of Bengal.

   Pakistan representatives referred to the Agreement of June 1955 and felt that each country should be given an opportunity to examine the accounts certified by the Auditor General of the other country. The Indian representatives were of the view that such an examination after 12 years of Partition would be impracticable. Further, such an examination could not be restricted to the transactions of the two Bengals, but would have to be extended to the other divided Provinces as well as to the two Central Governments. Pakistan representatives stated that the agreements reached on the subject relating to the two Bengals on the one hand and the two Punjabs and the two Central Governments on the other, should be adhered to.
7. Arrangements for payment of Pensions to pensioners of India residing in Pakistan and vice versa who migrated from one country to the other after the 30th June, 1955.

(i) Both the countries’ representatives recognised the human aspect of the question and agreed that in respect of persons who migrated from one country to the other after 30th June, 1955, but before 30th June, 1959, arrangements should be made either through their respective High Commissioners or through the normal banking channels for the Payment of pensions.

(ii) It was further agreed that Provident Fund moneys of Government servants and employees of Local Funds and semi-Government institutions also should be allowed to be transferred likewise.

(iii) These arrangements would also apply to migrants who belong to partitioned provinces. For persons who migrated before the 1st July, 1955, separate arrangements should be worked out by discussion in the Separation Councils of Bengal and Assam and Partition Committee of Punjab. If any difference of opinion persisted, it should be remitted to the Centre.

8. Grant of permission to Indian pensioners for accepting re-employment in Pakistan.

Pakistan representatives stated that instances had occurred where the Accounts Officers in India had asked their counterparts to stop payment of Indian pension to pensioners who had migrated to Pakistan and had been re-employed there. The Indian representatives agreed to look into the matter.

9. Payment of King’s Police Medal Allowance and Indian Police Medal Allowance to pensioners who have migrated from India to Pakistan and vice versa.

It was agreed that payment should be made on either side and adjusted through the Inter-Settlement Account as in the case of pensions.

10. Payment of Wasiqa pensions to Wasiqadars who have migrated from India to Pakistan.

The Indian representatives agreed to look into the matter and inform the Pakistan Government.

11. Claims of Pakistan Provinces and States against Indian Provinces and States on account of supply of foodstuffs.
It was agreed that the statements of dues should be exchanged between the two Governments and the settlement of the account processed by the Ministries concerned.

12. Transfer of Post Office Savings Bank Accounts and Postal Certificates pertaining to the Post-partition period belonging to migrants from one country to the other.

According to the Indian representatives this item was linked up with the deliberations of the Implementation Committee on the Movable Property Agreement and could not, therefore, be settled in isolation.

13. Indian securities held by Junagadh in an Indian Bank at Karachi.

Pakistan representatives stated that because these securities were held by the Nawab in his name and were still in his possession, his right to claim the benefits accruing under those securities should be accepted. India’s representatives pointed out that these securities had been declared to be the property of the state and not of the former Nawab and consequently accrued to the successor State in India in which Junagadh had since been merged.

14. Transfer of money from India to Pakistan in respect of pre-partition compensation claims of Pakistani nationals arising under the Workmen’s Compensation Act, 1923.

India’s representatives agreed to look into this matter.

15. Payment of pensions to Hyderabad state pensioners residing in Pakistan.

India’s representatives pointed out that this item could not be considered in isolation and had necessarily to be examined along with the other items concerning Hyderabad.

16. Division of assets of Indian Red Cross Society.

India’s representatives stated that there were no difficulties about the transfer of interest accruing on these balances. The transfer of balances could be permitted only after an agreement was arrived at between the two Governments on capital transfers.

INDIA’S ITEMS

1. Allocation of J.D.C. expenditure between India and Pakistan.

The Pakistan representatives mentioned at the meeting that the Indian brief on the subject was received from the Indian High Commissioner in Pakistan on the 23rd of July, 1959. This subject was under examination in the Financial Adviser’s Office. It was agreed that the two Financial advisers should meet and discuss the outstanding points.

2. Revision of arrangements for the allocation of leave and pensionary liability between the Governments of Bombay and Sind.

The Pakistan representatives stated that the amount of the adjustment was declining and the question would resolve itself in the near future. It was accordingly agreed that the existing arrangements should continue.

3. Outstanding points between the two Punjabs arising out of the implementation of the Banking Agreement of 1949, Part II-Cooperative Institutions.

The position in respect of the issues raised by India was explained by the Pakistan Delegation.

4. Settlement of third party claims against Undivided, Punjab and Bengal.

(a) In respect of Punjab,

(i) It was agreed that each side should settle the pre-partition claims of its own nationals and adjust them through the balance sheet.

(ii) In regard to the claims against local bodies it was agreed that payments made by each side to its nationals should be adjusted through the Inter-Governmental Settlement Account.

(b) The question relating to Bengal was discussed and it was agreed that it should be remitted to the Separation Council.

5. Revalidation of time-barred cheques issued by the Officers of Undivided Punjab.

It was agreed that the remaining cheques should be verified and revalidated or re-issued as early as possible, and payment made by each Government to its nationals and adjusted through the balance sheet.

6. Payment of pensions to displaced persons from East Pakistan.

After some discussion, it was decided to defer the consideration of this item. See also item 4(b) above.

7. Remittance from India to Pakistan and vice versa of private account for current and capital transactions.
The Indian representatives brought to notice the difficulties experienced by the Indian companies in Pakistan in remitting their current profits to India. It was also reported that there was a discrimination against the Indian companies in Pakistan in so far as they were required to obtain Income Tax Clearance Certificates before their profits could be remitted to India. Further, the State Bank of Pakistan was insisting on such profits being remitted through the transfer of Government of India securities held in Pakistan. According to Pakistan representatives this was not a case of discrimination and the difference arose from the fact of local conditions. Sometimes difficulties were experienced in the matter of repatriation of profits, but these were not peculiar to the Indian concerns.

As regards the remittance of profits through securities, Pakistan's view was that these were current transfers and not capital transfers. Furthermore, under the partition arrangements, these securities were freely transferable to India and were the liability of the Indian Government. The Indian representatives were, however, of the view that these arrangements came to an end with the imposition of Exchange Control and that unless there was an agreement between the two Governments on capital transfers, the securities could not be transferred. The remittance of current profits had to be allowed separately and should not be linked with capital transfers.

The Indian representatives referred to the hardship experienced by the beneficiaries of the Mohsin Endowment Fund in West Bengal on account of non-transfer of the income of the Fund from East Bengal. It was agreed that this should be remitted for discussion between the representatives of the two Bengals.

2. The agreements recorded above are subject ratification by the Governments of India and Pakistan.

New Delhi, August 3, 1959.

The Finance Ministers of India and Pakistan assisted by officials of the two Governments, met in New Delhi, from July 31 to August 2, 1959, to discuss various monetary and financial issues outstanding between the two countries. They went over the whole ground, and, while there was a meeting of minds on many matters, it was realised that for an overall settlement it was necessary to obtain further details, particularly, in regard to the partition debt before the discussions could be carried any further. It was accordingly agreed that representatives of both the countries should meet and discuss details as often as necessary so as to enable them to obtain an agreed picture before the end of this year. The two Finance Ministers would meet shortly thereafter to take final decisions.

The officials took the opportunity of reviewing certain other outstanding matters and it was found possible to clear a number of them. In particular, it was agreed that in respect of persons who migrated from one country to another after June 30, 1955 but before June 30, 1959, arrangements should be made either through the respective High Commissioners or through the normal banking channels for the payment of their pensions. It was further agreed that Provident Fund moneys of such Government servants and employees of Local Funds and semi-Government institutions also should be allowed to be transferred likewise. These arrangements would also apply to migrants who belong to the partitioned Provinces.

There was a full and free exchange of views in a very cordial atmosphere and it is hoped that this will be a prelude to an early and satisfactory settlement between the two countries.

3355. Statement by Finance Minister Morarji Desai in Lok Sabha on the Financial Talks held between India and Pakistan in New Delhi on Pakistan’s Partition Debt to India

New Delhi, August 6, 1959

The House will remember that I made a statement on the floor of the House on the 7th May, 1959, in which I gave a short account of the various major items in dispute between the two countries and the order of the sums involved in each. At our meeting, we broadly reviewed the various items in an effort to arrive at an over-all settlement. I believe it was common ground between us that these disputes should be settled as soon as possible in the interest of both the countries, that considering the magnitude of the sums involved in some of the claims it would be difficult to take individual items separately for settlement and that our efforts should be directed towards the simultaneous settlement of all the major issues. It was really not a question of holding up one matter because something else was held up. Ultimately, whatever one country has to pay to another has now to be paid in foreign exchange and when claims are outstanding on both sides, a simultaneous settlement of these claims is more or less inescapable.

While on a number of items the sums involved are either easily ascertainable or could be estimated with a fair amount of precision, the real difficulty arises in connection with the partition debt due to India, of which seven annual instalments are already overdue while a further instalment will fall due on the 15th of this month. It is obvious that some agreed estimate, however tentative, of this debt is necessary if an overall settlement of the various items has to be made. Honourable Members will remember that certain figures of how the debt should be worked out were sent to Pakistan some years ago. There was some correspondence on those figures but matter was not further pursued. We both realised that it was essential to get the dimensions of the debt before further progress could be made. At the last meeting, officials of the two Governments got down to the real task of getting the figures originally prepared, checked and agreed. Obviously, in the short time available, it was not possible for them to make more than a good beginning in this essential process. We both agreed that both countries should proceed vigorously with the checking and finalisation of these figures so that in the next few months at least a close approximation of the sum involved would be available on the basis of which a settlement would be reached. It is our intention to see that this is vigorously pursued.

A number of points of detail also arose during the discussions about which further information had to be obtained by either side. This will all be collected so that when we next meet we shall have as full a picture as possible of the various issues.
I do not think that this House or the public outside should feel any sense of disappointment that the meeting has not produced immediate results. Considering the long period over which the various claims have been in dispute, I am sure the House will appreciate that it is not easy to reach conclusions without the necessary details. The sums involved are also so large that it would be unfair to both the countries to take snap decision. The real gain of the meeting is that the ice has been broken and I am looking forward to the various matters requiring further examination being dealt with expeditiously in both the countries so that when the next meeting of the Minister is held, it may be possible to reach a satisfactory settlement. I would in this connection make one appeal. A settlement will be greatly assisted in my opinion if in both the countries’ exaggerated claims are not put out and isolated issues given undue prominence.

TOP SECRET

Letter from Special Secretary, Ministry of Finance M. V.
Rangachari to Commonwealth Secretary, Ministry of External Affairs M. J. Desai.

New Delhi, November 4, 1959.

D.o.No. 0242-SS/59 November 4, 1959

Ministry of Finance
New Delhi

My dear Desai,

During our discussions last month in Karachi, the Pakistan officials raised the point that on the analogy of the decision taken in respect of Chief Commissioner’s Provinces, the assets in the tribal areas should also be excluded from the balance sheet of the Central Government as on the date of the partition. Actually, at the time of the partition while the Muslim Members wanted the assets and liabilities of the Chief Commissioner’s Provinces to be treated as though they were Central assets and liabilities, the India side took a different line which was upheld by the Law Ministry and endorsed by the Partition Council. Thereafter, there was some correspondence between the Pakistan Government and us on the subject of the exclusion of the assets in the tribal areas and we maintained that they should not be excluded. This correspondence was between the Foreign Ministries of the two Governments and on our side, the last letter I can trace is No. D.2206/52-PAK-I dated the 3rd June, 1952. While from the strictly technical point of view, the line taken by us is justified, we have to take a further look at the problem in the context of coming to a reasonable settlement in the changing climate of our relations. On merits, there is something to be said for the view that where the Central Government in territory not constituted into a separate province discharges the functions which fall in both the provincial and central lists of subjects, the assets relatable to subjects which fall in the provincial field should be excluded. This is broadly the line we took in the case of Chief Commissioner’s provinces although, except in Coorg, the assets in these provinces were created by the revenues of the Central Government, including the revenue under provincial heads, in precisely the same way as assets in the tribal areas and agencies. We did not reach any decision on this issue at Karachi and we reserved it for further consideration at our next meeting to be held later this month. The total amount involved in these assets appears to be of the order of Rs.7½ crores, the bulk of which would lie in Pakistan, which is obviously the reason why they are asking for the assets to be excluded. Subject to any comments which you may have, I propose to maintain the line already taken by us but to concede the Pakistan point as a concession if we do reach a settlement, which is bound to involve some concessions by both sides. We have also to remember that we shall be getting nowhere by sticking to the letter of the various agreements and that, over a fairly wide field where figures are not available, we may have to reach a settlement by broad approximations. In view of this, I hope you will concur in our view. I shall be glad of your comments at an early date.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

D.O. No. T. 1119 –CS/59 November 13, 1959/Kartika 22, 1881 (Saka)

My dear Rangachari,

Thank you for your letter No. 0242-SS/59 dated the 4th November, 1959, about the Pakistani contention regarding the assets of Tribal Areas.

2. I enclose for your information our files Nos. 18A-6/48-Pak.I and P.II/679174/201, which contain the previous correspondence between the Governments of India and Pakistan on the subject.

3. I agree with you that you should have freedom of manoeuvre to exclude the assets of the Tribal Areas from the balance sheet of the Central Government in case you find during the negotiations that by making a concession on this point you would be gaining elsewhere in the context of an overall settlement, which must necessarily be reached by broad approximations.

4. Since the earlier decision on these assets was taken by the partition Council, You would no doubt consider whether you should seek the Cabinet’s approval in this matter.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

3358. Statement by Finance Minister in the Lok Sabha on Financial Talks between India and Pakistan.
New Delhi, November 19, 1959.

Sir,

With your permission, I propose to make a short statement regarding the further progress in the discussions on the outstanding financial issues between India and Pakistan, which were begun when I met the Finance Minister of Pakistan last August.

The House may remember that after the last meeting, I made a statement on the floor of the House in which I mentioned, among other things, that both countries should proceed vigorously with the checking and finalization of the various figures relevant to the drawing up of the debt settlement between the two countries. In accordance with the arrangement than made, officials of the two Governments met in Karachi between the 15th and the 18th of last month to examine the various figures of assets and liabilities. They covered fairly wide ground and agreement was reached on the facts of a number of individual items. Certain points required further clarification or the collection of additional material. This has been taken in hand by both the sides. It is expected that the next round of official discussions will be held early next month and it is hoped that it will be possible to complete at this meeting most of the examination of the figures required. The results of this examination will then be considered by the Ministers on both sides and a decision taken. The official discussions are largely of the nature of fact-finding and it will obviously not be for the officials to take any decisions. I am hoping that these discussions will be successfully completed and that it will be possible for two Governments to reach a settlement on all the issues together at an early date.

3359. Statement by Finance Minister in Lok Sabha on Indo – Pakistan talks on Financial Settlement.

New Delhi, December 18, 1959.

Sir

With your permission I propose to make a short statement on the talks held here last week between the officials of the two Government on the Financial Issues outstanding between India and Pakistan. Honourable members will recall the statement I made in the House on the 19th of November regarding the first round of these discussions held in Karachi last October. In the meeting last week these discussions were continued and the bulk of the remaining ground in regard to the outstanding matters was covered. Some items, relating mainly to the balance sheet of the Central Government, still remain to be cleared and it has been tentatively agreed that a further meeting should be held towards the end of this month to clear these up. As I mentioned in my last statement, the official discussions are largely of the nature of fact-finding with reference to the arrangements for evaluation of assets and liabilities and their allocation as settled at the time of partition. I am sure the House will not expect me to mention details of the various points on which the officials have been able to agree or disagree. The proper occasion for this will be when the discussions have been completed and a report made by them to the two Governments and the latter have had an opportunity of considering it. Meanwhile, I would suggest that no credence be given to the rather fanciful accounts of what is alleged to have been discussed at the meeting which have been appearing in the press.

Statement by Finance Minister in Lok Sabha on Indo-Pakistan talks on Financial Matters.

New Delhi, February 9, 1960.

Sir

With your permission I propose to make a brief statement on the recent talks between the officials on the financial issues outstanding between India and Pakistan. In the statement made by me on the 18th December last, I had indicated that a further meeting would be held towards the close of the month to clear up a few items relating mainly to the balance sheet of the Central Government. The officials of the two Governments accordingly met for four days at Delhi and concluded their discussions on the 3rd January, 1960. This completed the rounds of official level talks for evaluation of the assets and liabilities of the undivided Central Government and divided provinces and their allocation between the two Governments on the lines settled at the time of partition. It was possible to arrive at an agreement on the data relating to most of the items. However, a few items which needed further consideration were left over for discussion at the time of the meeting between the two Ministers. The programme for this meeting will be settled in consultation with the Finance Minister of Pakistan. As I stressed in my earlier statements, these discussions between the officials of the two countries are mainly of a fact finding nature. The Hon’ble members will, therefore, appreciate that it will not be appropriate for me at this stage to indicate the details of these talks until the Ministers have had an opportunity of considering the matter and the whole position is thereafter reviewed by the respective Governments. It is my earnest hope that with good-will on both sides, it would be possible to arrive at a satisfactory settlement on these issues in the near future.

My dear C.S.,

I left Rawalpindi yesterday morning when it was already clear that financial talks had bogged down, and unless there was a belated recognition by the Pakistanis of their moral obligations, there would be a stalemate.

2. Now that the final outcome of the talks is known, there is great interest regarding the nature of the issues on which agreement could not be reached. I have explained the position in a general way to several of my colleagues, but I think we should be prepared to meet a whispering campaign by the Pakistanis, who might not yet come out with an open propaganda barrage in the hope that something may yet be salvaged and to avoid adverse reactions on other aspects of our mutual relations.

3. We should lose no time in informing certain Missions, particularly the Americans, of the trend of the talks and the impossible position adopted by the Pakistanis in accordance with their general maxim: “Surrender what is yours but give me what I claim to be mine”.

4. I would be grateful if Mathrani could be asked to send us urgently a note on the talks, emphasizing the particular matters which should be highlighted in explaining Pakistan’s grasping attitude.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

Statement by Finance Minister in Lok Sabha on the India–Pakistan Talks on Financial Matters held in Rawalpindi.

New Delhi, March 30, 1960.

Sir

I propose, with your permission, to make a short statement on my recent visit to Pakistan for the discussion of the outstanding financial issues between the two countries with the Finance Minister of Pakistan. As the House is aware, I had a preliminary discussion on these issues with the Pakistan Finance Minister last August, about which I made a statement in the House on the 5th September. At that meeting we agreed that the officials of the two countries should get together and sort out the figures to be entered in the balance sheets of the Centre and the divided States, on which the partition debt would have to be determined. The officials had three meetings, one at Karachi and two in New Delhi, and I am glad to say that they have been able to get down to agreed figures over most of the field. Some major matters have, however, proved rather intractable. These include the valuation and allocation of certain Defence assets, the determination of the amount of income tax arrears at the time of the partition, including the unassessed income on that date which might have come in for subsequent assessment and the valuation of the pensionary liability. The amounts involved in these items are substantial and the material for determining the amounts is neither readily available nor complete. Although the officials did their best to see if agreed figures could be produced, they have been unable to do so and the matter had finally to come before the Ministers. During my stay in Pakistan, I had a number of discussions with the Pakistan Finance Minister on these items and the various other outstanding issues. In regard to most of the latter, the figures involved are either agreed or available and it is largely a question of fitting into an overall settlement. But such a settlement is not possible until the figure of the partition debt is settled and our current dues of the installments in repayment which should have commenced in August 1952, are known. We made an earnest attempt to see if gaps in the balance sheets which the officials could not fill, could be settled on some ad hoc basis, but I regret that we were unable to do so, with the result that the position remains as before. In the last few months, there has been a growing feeling in both the countries that the series of discussions which were initiated last year would result in an early settlement. I have no doubt that there will be some disappointment at the fact that the last round of talks had not resulted in a settlement. None would have been happier than I if this has come to pass. I have not, however, unduly worried about our failure to reach a settlement. As I have said more than once in this House, the issues involve large sums of money about which it is neither safe nor easy to take snap decisions. Our desire to reach a fair, final and overall settlement is shared by the Pakistan Finance Minister. Our discussions were held in a very cordial and cooperative spirit and the House will realize how anxious we were to reach a settlement from the fact that we continued our discussions till almost the last minute before I had to leave for the airport to catch the plane for my return journey. Both of us feel that we should make a further effort to bridge the gap between us and we have decided to have another meeting at an early date. I would only ask the House and the public to bear with me patiently until these discussions have been completed.

D.O. No F. 31/255/NGO, April 1, 1960/Caitra 12, 1882 (Saket)

My dear Ambassador/High Commissioner etc.,

You would have seen the statement made by Finance Minister on the results of the recent financial talks held at Rawalpindi between the Finance Minister of India and the Finance Minister of Pakistan. I enclose a copy for ready reference.

2. I also enclose copy of a top secret note recorded by Shri Rangachari giving the background of the discussions, which indicates clearly that the Pakistanis have not the slightest intention of honouring any of their commitments regarding Partition Debt and that all this elaborate exercise of negotiations has been undertaken only to mislead international opinion about the positive and constructive approach of the present regime as distinguished from the previous regimes in Pakistan.

3. I would particularly invite your attention to para 3 and the opening sentence of para 4 of Shri Rangachari’s note.

4. We will be grateful if you and your colleagues would whenever opportunity occurs explain to the political leaders and the officials of the Government to which you are accredited the impossible position adopted by the Pakistanis which amounts, in effect, to a complete repudiation of their debt liabilities, to counter any whispering campaign that the Pakistanis may start against us.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

TOP SECRET

Note by Special Secretary Ministry of Finance on the India –
Pakistan Financial Talks held in Islamabad in March 23 –

New Delhi, March 28, 1960.

The official Delegation from India reached Rawalpindi on the 22nd evening and had a series of discussion with the officials of the Pakistan Government on the three following days. I was present at most of these discussions and, with the Minister’s approval I also had a separate talk with the Pakistan Finance Minister lasting over an hour, on the 25th.

2. The official discussions were more or less confined to settling the outstanding points connected with the balance sheets of the Centre and the divided provinces. On most of these, agreement was reached: but the issues on which this was done were relatively minor. On the major issues as to the valuation and allocation of Defence Works, outstanding arrears of income tax and pensions, although we had long and involved discussions, no agreement was possible. Fantastic figures were put out by the Pakistanis, all calculated to reducing the assets, which they are supposed to have taken over, and inflating the liabilities, the net effect of both of which is to reduce their partition debt to a negligible figure. At the official level, we were prepared to consider any reasonable approximation, even if the figures could not be pegged to anything in the actual accounts and records. But there was no response from the Pakistan except to suggest that we launch on further enquiries which would be both time-consuming and expensive and may not lead to any worthwhile results. At this point, the official discussions were closed and the outstanding matters submitted to the Ministers for further directions or decision.

3. My meeting with the Pakistan Finance Minister lasted more than an hour.
He started off with a curious statement that a lot of what he said would be off the record if quoted would be promptly denied by him. I said that if that was his position I would take an identical line. In any case I said that there was nothing wrong in our exchanging ideas on a purely personal basis if this would help in a reasonable settlement, particularly as both of us had the advantage of an intimate acquaintance with the problem. He agreed that at the time the partition arrangements were made the fact that the adjustment would involve problems of foreign exchange was not realized fully. He mentioned some vague idea of first working out the debt and the 50-year installments on the basis of the agreed rate of interest and then working it back-ward to its present value on a six per cent interest basis. I said that this made no sense to me; the partition debt is an amount due on the date of the partition and could not be worked down to a lower figure by this curious device. He did not pursue this further. He came on to a second idea that we should work out the debt and the installments, put down the figures each year against the installment of sums due from us to Pakistan and calculate interest on the outstanding at the rate charged by the World Bank on its loans. I again pointed out that this also made no sense. For one thing, the World Bank’s interest rate was an irrelevant consideration. For another, if the interest on the currency assets were omitted, as they should be, because Pakistan would be getting its share in the ordinary course, India would always be in the position of a creditor after 1952, when the first installment fell due. This curious proposal would really be to his disadvantage. He dropped this also and went on to a rambling series of comments on the major items in dispute mentioned in the previous paragraph. These were mostly in the nature of a repetition of the arguments mentioned at the official level. My only comment on all this was that, at this stage, a solution was possible on an ad hoc basis, that to the extent to which I could claim to know my Minister’s mind. He was always open for a reasonable settlement and that any attempt to start a roving enquiry over the two countries to establish facts about Defence Assets or income tax arrears would be completely impracticable. He said that he appreciated this. But again trailed off into vague statements about the over valuation of Defence Assets at the time of the partition and the colossal amount of income tax arrears. Actual and un-assessed, outstanding at the time of the partition. He also made a cryptic statement that politically he would find it difficult to justify any settlement which involved payment by Pakistan. He did not elaborate this and when I mentioned that from our point of view any debt settlement with a 50-year schedule of payments had to involve payment of installments by Pakistan. He started talking of international debts, what we did to Burma and so on. He seemed a little shocked when I suggested that this was not far removed from repudiation and did not talk about this further. The entire discussion was extremely friendly and before I left, he mentioned how anxious he was to reach a settlement and get this problem out of the way. I reported the gist of these discussions to the Minister immediately on my return.

4. On the last day of the discussions, the Pakistan officials produced a statement which placed the partition debt at Rs. 121 crores. This is almost equal to the various sums due from us to Pakistan and it was suggested that we should take the two as more or less balancing out. This is a completely absurd position. On any reckoning, taking a most favorable view of the Pakistan claims, the partition debt cannot be less than Rs.250 crores or so. Any settlement on the lines suggested by the Pakistan would mean a writing off half the debt. This would be completely indefensible from the financial point of view. The figure suggested by them does not also make any sense because they themselves have all along thought in terms of an annual repayment of Rs. 7 crores odd to us which give a debt of about Rs. 200 crores. More than once the Pakistan Finance Minister asked me the basis on which we had claimed an annual repayment of Rs. 9 crores some years ago. I explained to him that this figure was purely _ad hoc_ and that all the time we were thinking of an emerging debt of Rs. 250 to 275 crores and we had put in a lump figure of Rs. 9 crores as at that time the rate of interest to be applied to the loan was not finally worked out. At one stage I got the impression that they were thinking of a middle figure between Pakistan’s Rs. 7 crores odd and our Rs. 9 crores but no offer of such a kind was ever made.

5. So far as meetings at official level were concerned. I feel that no useful purpose will be served by them hereafter. The issues have become fundamental and will have to be decided at the political level. For this purpose, a further meeting of the Minister which the Pakistan Finance Minister suggested, would be useful. But at the official level there is no hope of reaching agreed figures on the items still in dispute.

6. This note is for the Minister’s information. A copy of this will be sent to Secretary. Commonwealth Relations after FM has seen.

Letter from High Commissioner for India in Pakistan Rajeshwar Dayal to Commonwealth Secretary M. J. Desai.

Karachi, April 2, 1960.

High Commissioner India
Karachi

No. HC/100/60 April 2, 1960/ Chaitra 13, 1882 Saka

My dear C.S.,

I had sent you a brief letter (No. HC/90/60 dated 28th March) on the conclusion of Shri Morarji Desai’s visit to Pakistan. I am now sending a more detailed report on the Finance Minister’s trip.

2. Shri Desai was in Pakistan for seven days in all. He arrived in Karachi on the 21st by air from Delhi. I was with him on this flight. Mr. Shoaib was at the airport to receive him. There was a large array of photographers and press correspondents. Some old friends and admirers of Shri Desai were also there to welcome him. The fact that the Pakistan Delegation to the Trade Talks headed by the Commerce Minister arrived by the same plane contributed to make the reception more crowded and tumultuous. There was, however, no one from the Foreign Office to receive our Minister. (Subsequently the Chief of Protocol told me that no offence was meant, as Mr. Shoaib himself was receiving our Minister!)

3. Shri Desai and his private Secretary were lodged at the State Guest House and were well looked after. On the 22nd Shri Desai laid a wreath on Jinnah’s tomb and was taken round the Korangi colony and the industrial area. That evening I gave a reception in his honour which was attended by Messrs. Shoaib, Manzur Qadir and Hafizur Rahman, Heads of Mission in Karachi and prominent citizens. This was followed by a buffet dinner given in his honour by Mr. Shoaib.

4. The next morning, Shri Desai attended the Pakistan Day parade when he was introduced to the President. Later, he made a formal call on the President, at which I was also present. In the evening, he attended the National Day reception at the President’s House and was later entertained to dinner by the president. At the morning meeting the President harped on his familiar theme of the growing pressures from the north, the two giants, the Soviet Union and China, trying to press down towards the Persian Gulf in the west and Bay of Bengal in the east.

5. At this dinner, besides the President himself, Shri Desai and an A.D.C., only Messrs. Shoaib, Manzur Qanzur and Hafizur Rahman were present. It is curious that I was not asked as I should have been when a senior Cabinet Minister was being entertained. The President’s insistence on my presence when he entertained Shri Jai Prakash Narayn was, by contrast, equally strange.
It was rather lamely explained that the dinner was confined to Cabinet Ministers. Apparently, the Pakistanis wanted the President to have a tete-a-tete with our Minister. But if they believed that by such tactics they could place Shri Desai in a position of disadvantage – four against one – during the discussions, they must have been sadly mistaken.

6. As it happened, it was Manzur Qadir who did most of the talking at the dinner. He referred to the “fresh difficulties” which had cropped up during the Canal waters’ negotiations at Washington, on which he expatiated at length. Our Finance Minister made it clear that the points now being raised by Pakistan sought to upset the broad agreements which had already been reached. He also took the line that he came to Pakistan mainly to effect a financial settlement and that he was not in a position to discuss other disputes or issues between the two countries.

7. The next day, on the 24th, we took off for Rawalpindi along with Mr. and Mrs. Shoaib. At the Karachi airport, the Minister was assailed by press correspondents and some of the questions related to the statement made by President Ayub Khan the previous night in this message to the Nation, wherein he had stated that “real trust between India and Pakistan can be brought about only if there is a satisfactory solution of the Kashmir problem”. Our Finance Minister’s replies to the press correspondents were, as usual, straightforward and forthright. He maintained that there could be friendship between India and Pakistan even if some of the disputes like Kashmir remained unsolved for some time. In answer to other questions, he said that India had shown trust in Pakistan all along. “It is we who are not trusted”, he added, There were further questions at Lahore and Rawalpindi airports, but our Minister dealt with them in characteristic fashion, friendly but firm.

8. At Karachi the two Finance Ministers did not get round to talking about the financial issues. They got together for serious business as soon as they reached Rawalpindi, but it was soon evident that the gulf between the respective positions in regard to some of the major issues was too wide to be negotiated in a hurry. The following day the two Ministers and their Advisers tried to break the deadlock for about five hours, but in vain.

9. On the 26th our delegation took a day off to visit Peshawar and the Khyber pass. The arrangements were excellent and we were pleasantly surprised when the Pakistan Government agreed to bring Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan over to Peshawar to meet Shri Desai. Later, the two leaders proceeded by road to Utmanzai so that Shri Desai could visit the tomb of Dr. Khan Sahib. During this visit, Shri Desai had an opportunity to have a free and frank talk with Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan who openly expressed his repugnance to the present regime, undeterred by the presence of a police officer in the car. Badshah Khan looked well enough for his years and his indomitable spirit seemed unbroken.
10. There was a dinner by the President for our Finance Minister on the 26th which was attended by the various Ministers and other high dignitaries. Some serious political discussion did take place, although there was foreboding in the air about the impending failure of the talks. It was on this occasion that the question of the Supreme Court’s judgment on the Berubari issue was raised.

11. Despite the last minute efforts on the 27th to find a rough and ready solution, the Ministers had to decide regretfully to break off negotiations and to try again after a decent interval. As Shri Desai announced to the press, the two Finance Ministers “agreed to disagree”. He made it clear to Mr. Shoaib that he was not in a position to write off huge sums of money and that unless the Pakistan Government showed a more realistic attitude in regard to their proven obligations, there was no point in carrying on the conversations. Shri Desai however, refused to divulge the specific points on which disagreement had arisen nor the figures involved.

12. Shri Desai left Rawalpindi the same day for Amritsar via Lahore. I had deputed one of our First Secretaries to accompany him to Amritsar.

13. Though the talks ended in failure, our Finance Minister’s visit to Pakistan was indeed worthwhile. The fact that he spent seven valuable days in Pakistan during the Budget Session of the Indian parliament showed to the world the importance which India attached to the settlement of these issues with Pakistan. Everyone who came in contact with the Finance Minister was impressed by his personality, friendliness and sincerity. On the other hand, Pakistan has come in for criticism on the ground that she missed an excellent opportunity to make a deal with India. The impression is gaining ground even among Heads of Mission who had a soft corner for Pakistan that the Pakistanis are becoming too avaricious and that their appetite for free gifts is becoming well-nigh insatiable. The other day, my Australian colleague expressed considerable dissatisfaction about the way in which aid from Australia was being utilised in this country. According to him, only 40% of such funds were put to proper use while the rest was squandered. In order to remedy the situation, he is proposing to bring a special officer from Australia who would supervise the administration of such aid in Pakistan. The Canadian High Commissioner also has expressed to me his regret and disappointment at the failure of the talks. We are explaining our stand to friendly missions, who have shown appreciation of our position.

14. One may wonder why our Finance Minister was invited here at all if the Pakistan attitude on the financial issues was so intractable and unreasonable. Could they have hoped that in order to achieve a settlement, India, would be prepared to write off huge sums clearly owing to her? But Shoaib is too shrewd a man to have so grossly misjudged the situation. As an outsider, with any particular support within the Cabinet except what he can command as a technical expert, he was perhaps not in a position to accept any considerable liabilities. It may be that he wished to demonstrate that a settlement could be reached only on a basis of give and take, and with a view to getting a fresh mandate from the President. What Shaikh as a military man who heads a powerful clique in the Cabinet and among the Punjabis could do to achieve the border settlements, a mere technician without any political backing like Shoaib, could not accomplish.
